The VIEW is pleased to note the general unanimity with which the press of the State endorse the candidacy of Maj. J. G. Harris for State Superintendent of Education. He is worthy and well qualified for the position.

Dr. W. C. Cross, ex-senator from Bibb and Tuskaloosa counties will bring suit against the Medical Association of the State of Alabama for $50,000 damages, in order to vindicate himself of the charge of "unprofessional conduct" brought against him at the annual session in Mobile a short while ago.

The Age-Herald has been twitting the Advertiser on being in league with the Republican party. A number of compliments on Lew. Parsons have been seen in the editorial columns of the Age-Herald but not in the Advertiser, and the A.-H. evidently seeks to blind the public eye to the fact that it is itself on the road to Lew. Parson's radicalism, which is of a very bad character.

Just let a poor, oppressed individual attach his signature to a mortgage or crop lien; then he is on the high road to a famished home, with a through ticket via the rugged route of twenty per cent. junction, where sure connection is made with through trains to his final destination. This route can be effectually avoided by raising "hog and hominy" at home.

Real estate at Maplesville, we learn, is being held at fancy prices owing to the prospective railroad from Montgomery to Tuskaloosa. We can't buy anything in that line ourselves and out of good will to Maplesville we say that we would like to see prices remain low until some growth has accrued. High prices will frighten many good people away. Maplesville may have to unite in a strong pull in order to get the road to come to that place and not cross at some other point offering greater inducements, and larger freight shipments. We would be glad to see Maplesville grow, and suggest that the first thing to do is to make sure of the road.

AN ACT

To enable planters, farmers and crop growers to convey by mortgage unplanted crops.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, That it shall be lawful for planters, farmers and crop growers to mortgage their crop or crops before the same shall be planted, and that such mortgage shall convey the legal title to the same extent as if such crop or crops, were at the time of the execution of such mortgage already planted; provided, that no such mortgage shall be valid so as to convey the legal title, if executed prior to the first day of January of the year in which the crop is grown.

Approved February 23, 1889.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Concord Locals.

Cotton planting is the go.

Miss Edna Wilson, with her sister, Miss Jenny, visited their home at Randolph last week.

Mr. Robert Killingsworth's little child, who was kicked by a mule some time ago, is improving.

We learn that Mr. Henry Latham, of Talladega, will soon move to his place in this neighborhood.

Miss Jenny Wilson, of Randolph, has a very good school in the Killingsworth neighborhod.

Maplesville Dots.

Some of our brave youths are not easily deterred when their minds are fully made up to do a gallant act. One started to church with a young lady friend. They fell in a mud-hole, somewhat to the injury of their best clothes, pulled out, got another buggy and made the trip; a heavy rain fell in a few hours, and the creek rose so they did not get home until next day.

Mr. Robert Martin has been enjoying some buggy rides of late. He was not alone.

We are glad to say Mr. T. U. Crumpton's friends are enjoying his visits again.

Some of our children had a most enjoyable picnic last Saturday. They caught more fun than fish.

Mrs. N. W. Foshee, Mrs. Gullahorn, Mrs. G. Smitherman and Miss Alpha Smitherman, have all been to Selma trading.

Mrs. G. Smitherman has gone to see Mr. Jackson, of Randolph, who is dangerously ill.

Friends of Mrs. McCary and Miss Ella Dudley are happy to see them on their return from Birmingham.

Mr. Herbert Woolley has been home sick the past week.

More mysterious strangers have been riding around here who will not tell their business. Conjectures are that they are looking out railroad localities.

Stanton Notes.

The school exercises of the Stanton Institute came off on Friday evening of the 12th inst., in the presence of an immense audience. There could not be found standing room for a great many. The pupils acquitted themselves with much credit. Showing they had been handled by skillful teachers. The speeches and recitations were interspersed by songs and music from Mrs. Little's music classes making the entertainment doubly interesting. Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Mamie Harwood and Mrs. Little for this enjoyable occasion. We only wish that we could have more of them.

Mr. C. W. Plant has been authorized to let out the contract to build the Methodist church at this place. We hope in the near future to see it completed and dedicated to God, when we Methodists can worship God under our own "vine and figtree." The Stanton Society of this place gave a very pleasent and interesting entertainment Sunday evening. Showing that they are well posted in the Missionary work. Their president, Mrs. M. A. Hare deserves much credit for training and putting to work in the Master's vinyard these young people who instead of spending their Sabbaths in questionable pleasures meet at the house of God, labor and pray for the salvation of the heathen.

There is also another Missionary Society here organized recently by Mrs. Bunkly, of Montgomery, with the following officers: President, Mrs. W. W. Little; Vice Presidents, Mrs. C. W. Plant and Mrs. R. S. Marshall; Recording Secty, Mrs. Joseph Taylor, Treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Stewart; Corresponding Sect'y, Miss Ida Stewart; Missionary Advocate, Miss Sarah Stewart; Literary committee, Mrs. M. E. Glover, Mrs. Maggie Stewart and Miss Annie McArthur. You see we are not negecting the heathen.

Mrs. J. W. Prichard has returned home from a visit to her aged mother in Dallas.

Mrs. Virgie G. Weaver, of Selma, is visiting Mrs. J. A. Harwood.

Miss Mary McGee, who has been teaching in Arkansas, has returned to her father's, Mr. O. P. McGee, to recruit her health. We hope she may soon be well again, when she can renew her labor of love.

We shall try to be at the Teachers Institute to be held in your city on the 26th and 27th inst.

Curiosities of Law.—Meek-looking Gent—What's the matter, my good man?" Irate Stranger—"I'm going to have that woman arrested She inveigled a dollar out of me on false pretences. Can you arrest a woman for that?" "Yes, sirce!" "my! my! Law is a curious thing. Why, a regular fury of a woman inveigled me into marrying her by false pretences—pretended she was an angel; and the law not only won't let me arrest her, but makes me support her."—N. Y. Weekly.

Notice to Delinquents.

STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY,

TO

Mrs. Rebecca Busby,
Calera Land Co.
Mrs. Nancy Sims,
John S. Storrs,
James Henly, estate of
J. L. Vines,
J. T. Hefflin, administrator of the estate of Edward Gant, Roswald & Stoll,
C. C. Mitchell,
Susan Melton,
Mrs. S. Elsworth,
T. L. Jackson,
W. H. Merritt,
M F Fuller,
Grell & Kohn,
G W Harrison,
Unknown Owners.

The tax collector has filed in my office a list of delinquent tax payers and real estate upon which taxes are due. Each of you are reported as delinquents and the following lands are reported assessed to each of you as follows:

BEAT TWO.

Mrs. Rebecca Busby, n ½ of n w q of n w q and n ½ of n e q of n w q, sec 6, t 23 r 14. State tax 15 cents, county tax 12 cents, cost and charges 50 cents. Total 77 cts. Printer's fee $1.94

Calera Land Company, S ½ of n w q s ½ and n e q s 15 t 24 r 14, s w q and e ½ and e ½ of n w q s 17 t 24 r 14, w ½ of s w q and n ½ n w ½ of s w q s 19 t 24 r 14 e ½ of n w q n e q and s ½ of s 21 t 24 r 14 n e q, n ½ of s e q, s e q of s e q and w ½ of s 28 t 24 r 14, n e q, n ½ of s w q, s e q of s w q, s e q and n w q of s 25 t 24 r 14 all of s 27 t 24 r 14, the s w q the w ½ of n w q, the n e q and the e ½ of the s e q s 29 t 24 r 14, the n ½ of the n w q, the s w q of the s w q, the n e q of the s e q, the e ½ of n e q, the s w q of n e q s 31 t 24 r 14, n e q of s w ½ e ½ of s e q, n w q of n e q and s e q of n e q of s 35 t 24 r 14, e ½ of n w q, n w q of n w q, s thirty-five t twenty-four r fourteen, s e q of s e q s 13 t 24 r 13, all of s 35 t 24 r 13, n ½ of n e q s 27 t 24 r 12, n w q of s 15 t 24 r 13 n e q, s w q, e ½ of s e q and s w q of s e q s 25 t 24 r 13. State tax $62.50, county tax $50, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $113.00. Printer's fee $11.40.

Mrs. Nancy Sims, The e ½ of n w q the n w q of the n e q, the w ½ of the s e q and the s half of the s w q s 14 t t 23 r 12. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $5. Pr's fee $2.30.

John S. Storrs, The s ½ of the n w q and the s w of the n e q s 16 t 23 r 13. State tax $1, county tax 80 cts, cost and charges 1.00 Printers fee $2.80

BEAT THREE.

Estate of James Henley, The n ½ of the n e q and the s w q of the n e q s 11 t 21, r 13. State tax $1, county tax 80 cents, cost and charges, 50 cents, total $2.30. Printer's fee $1.90.

J. L. Vines, The s w q of the s w q s 8 t 22 r 14. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 50 cents, total $1.40. Printer's fee $1.65.

Unknown owner, The n w ½ of the s e q sec 2 t 21 r 13. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges $1, total $5.50. Printer's fee $1.65.

BEAT FOUR.

J. T. Hefflin, Administrator of the estate of Edward Gant, deceased, The w ½ of s 6 t 21 r 14, the s ½ of sec 32 t 22 r 14, the n w q of the n w q and the s ½ of the s e q s 10 t 22 r 14, the w ½ and the w ½ of the e ½, the s e q of the s e q of s 4 t 22 r 14, the s ½ of the s w q s 2 t 22 r 14, the w ½ of the s w q s 14 t 22 r 14, the s e q of the s w q and the s w q of the s e q s 21 t 22 r 14, the n e q of s 34 t 22 r 14, the n w q of the n e q and the s e q of the n w q of s 35 t 22 r 14. State tax $12.30, county tax $9.84, cost and charges $1.00, total $23.14. Printer's fee $6.10.

Roswald & Stoll, Part of the e ½ of s w q s 7 t 21 r 15, the w ½ of the n w q s 14 t 20 r 16, and the e ½ of the n e q s 4 t 20 r 16. State tax $3, county tax $2.40, cost and charges $1.00, total $6.40. Pr's fee $2.65.

C. C. Mitchell, The s e q of the s e q s 35 t 23, r 15. State tax 25 cents, county tax 20 c, c & c $1, total $1.45. Pr's $1.65

BEAT FIVE.

Susan Melton, The n e q of the n e q s 32 t 21 r 16, Also one house and lot in Verbena. State tax 58 cents, county tax 46, cost and charges 50, total $1.54. Printer's fee $1.80

Mrs. S. Elsworth, The w ½ of the n e q s 10 t 21 range 15. State tax 40 cents, county tax 32 cents, cost and charges 50 cents. Total $1.22. Printer's fee $1.67.

T. L. Jackson, One house and lot in Verbena. State tax 13 cents, county tax 10 cents, cost and charges 50 cents, total 73 cents. Printer's fee $1.30

W. H. Merritt, The n e q of the n e q s thirty-two t twenty-one r sixteen. State tax twenty-five cents, county tax twenty cents, cost and charges $1.00. Total $1.45. Printer's fee $1.70.

BEAT EIGHT.

M. F. Fuller, One house and lot in Clanton Ford. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 50 cts. Total 1.40. Printer's fee 1.45.

Grell & Kohn, The s w q of the n w q s 34 t twenty r 11. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total 1.90. Printer's fee $1.67.

G. W. Harrison, The w ½ of s w q and s e q of s w q s 18 t twenty r 11. State tax 60 cts., county tax 48 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total two dollars and eight cents. Printer's fee 1.85.

Unknown Owner, The n e q and the n ½ of the s e q, and the e ½ of the n w q s one t twenty range eleven. Tax for 1887, state one dollar and sixty cts., county one dollar and twenty-eight cts., tax for 1888, state one dollar and sixty cents, county one dollar and twenty-eight cents, cost and charges two dollars. Total 7.76. Printer's fee 2.80.

This is to notify each of you to appear before me on Monday, the 13th day of May, 1889, and then and there show cause why a decree for the sale of said lands should not be made for each of the above amounts specified, and charges thereon, due for State and county taxes and costs.

H. J. CALLEN,
April 4th, 1889. Judge of Probate.

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Messrs E. V. Jones & A. D. Bentley will be in Clanton April 25th, and 26th.

Southern Pacific Tea Company.

Importers and Jobbers of Fine Coffees, Teas and Spices.

Fresh Roasted Coffee Daily. Also Coffee Roasted to order. Manufacturers of CAMPBELL'S BAKING POWDER.

Second Avenue, Between Twenty-first and Twenty-Second Streets,

Birmingham, Alabama.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.

ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!

HAS NO HOOPS!

NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!

NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!

HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.

PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS; SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.

LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.

CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.

Factories: Portland, Me., Peterboro, N. H., Watertown, Mass., Oswego, N. Y., Lockport, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Winona, Minn.

FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS. FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.

Apr25-6

AN ACT

To declare void and of no force the sales of land for taxes made by the tax collectors in this State previous to the first day of January, 1881, where such lands were bid in for the State, and have not been redeemed by the owner, or other persons entitled under the laws of the State to redeem such lands, or that have not been sold or transferred by the State under any law governing the sale or transfor of lands sold for taxes, and to remise, release and quit claim all the title of the State therein to the owner thereof.

Sec 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, That all sales of land made by the tax collectors in this State previous to 1881, for unpaid taxes, where such lands were bid in for the State, and have not been redeemed by the owner or other persons entitled under any laws of this State to redeem such lands, or where such lands have not been by the State sold or transferred under laws governing such sales or transfers to other persons, are hereby declared void and of no force and effect, and the State hereby remises, releases and quit claims unto the owner of such lands all of its rights, title, interest in and to such lands.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That the Auditor shall correct the records of land sales in the Auditor's office in accordance with the provisions of this act, and shall certify such corrections to the Probate Judge of the several counties.

Approved Feb. 18, 1889.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,

REFRESHING SLEEP,

HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul19 y

Chancery Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Adam Schuessler, Admin'r, &c., vs. James A. Dudley, et al. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of the confirmation in the Supreme Court of a decree rendered by the Chancellor in vacation, on the 23d day of January, 1888, for the 7th District, Northeastern Chancery Division of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., on Monday, the 27th day of May, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following described real estate situated in Clanton, Chilton county, Ala., to-wit: Lots one, three, seven, nine, ten, eleven, thirteen, fifteen and sixteen in Block Five, Lying on the east side of the South and North Alabama Railroad.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

April 24th, 1889.

Chancery Sale

—OF—

REAL ESTATE.

M. K. WELCH vs. S. E. WELCH. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of a decree rendered by the Chancery Court sitting for Chilton county, I, as Register of said Court, will sell at public outcry, on Monday, the 6th day of May, 1889, at the courthouse door in Clanton, between the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate to-wit: The n w ½ of the n e ½ of sec 2, township 21, range 14 east.

Terms of sale—one half cash, the remainder payable on the [illegible] day of November, 18[illegible], to be secured by note with two solvent sureties.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

Clanton, Ala., March [illegible], 1889.

DR. TAYLOR'S

SURE

CHILL CURE

WARRANTED

PURELY VEGETABLE.

A SURE & SAFE CURE FOR

CHILLS AND FEVER

BILIOUS and INTERMITTENT FEVER

ALL MALARIAL DISORDERS,

AND ALL DERANGEMENTS OF THE STOMACH & BOWELS.

AN EFFECTIVE REMEDY FOR ALL

Liver & Kidney Complaints

Price 50 cts. a Bottle. Trial Bottles 25 cts.

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE. Prepared Only by

RICHARDSON-TAYLOR MED. CO.,

302 S. Fourth Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Call for a Copy of Book "OUR FAMILY TROUBLES," to be had at all stores, or sent for two cent stamp.

tapr26

NOTICE NO. 8678.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 21, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on May 4, 1889, viz: Lollie Fuller, widow of Jacob Cooper, Homestead entry 15145 for the n w ¼ of section 15 township 20 north range 15 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Cato Price, Albert Price, Madison Tyas, James Cooper, all of Verbena, Ala.

Mar28 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8686.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
March 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on May 4th, 1889, viz: Thomas J. Smith, homestead 13105 for the n w ¼ of s e ¼ and n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 10 township 22 north range 15 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Clecker, George Jones, Sr., George Jones, Jr., W. M. Gore, all of Clanton, Ala.

mar28* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 5624.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 1, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on April 27th, 1889, viz: William P. Headley, Homestead entry No. 10862 for the s e ¼ of sec 24, township 21 north of range 18 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Madison Popwell, Ezekiel Cooper, Lee Hays, Aram C. Mims, all of Kincheon, Ala.

mar21* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

$100,000 TO LEND AT A LOW RATE OF INTEREST.—We are prepared to loan money cheap on improved lands in Chilton county. We can secure loans on land, the title to which is vested in married women, without trouble or delay. BRING YOUR LAND DEEDS. Address

E. V. JONES, OR
A. D. BENTLEY,
Rockford, Ala.

January 28, 1889—(3m)

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $6,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

BAINS & PORTER,
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIA
1026 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS
Birmingham, Ala.
Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices.
P. O. BOX 570. June

THOMAS FOSHEE
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE.)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDIS
Maplesville, Alabama.
I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage here extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSH

SAM. H. HARRIS
—DEALER IN—
WALL PAPER
Paints, Oils, Glass, Mouldi
AND PICTURE FRAMES
Send for prices and samples of Wall Paper and Paints.
312 North 20th Street, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Competent Workmen sent to any part of the State.
[ma17-y]

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, A
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and done.
No. 7, North Court Street

H. M. MANCHA,
—DEALER IN—
Wall Paper, Windo
SHADES, MOULDINGS
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY.
Will send samples on application.

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMA
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marb
—Manufacturer of all kinds of—
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE W
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street, Birmingham, - - Alaba
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWAR
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d St
Birmingham, Ala.
12 29-3

OTTO STOELKER,
THE JEWELER.
REMOVED TO NO. 33 DEXTER AVENUE
New Goods! Large St
Finest Display of Fine Diamonds in Alabama. [illegible]
Silver Watches. Wedding and Holiday Goods in Great [illegible]
OTTO STOELKER,
THE JEWELER [illegible]

PORTER
RAINS & PEEBLES.)
DRUGGISTS.
Will Receive Prom
tion.
QUORS A SPECIA
EEN 19th and 20th STREETS
ham, Ala.
's Oils at Company's Prices.
June

FOSHEE
N. W. FOSHEE.)
ER IN—, Groceries
D—ERCHANDIS
, Alabama.
e liberal patronage here pectfully,
THOMAS FOSHE

HARRIS,
ER IN—PAPER lass, Mouldin
RE FRAMES
of Wall Paper and Paints.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
to any part of the State.
7-y]

OM, ontgomery, A PENED—
TAILOR ROOMS,
Goods, Scouring and Court Street.

ANCHA,
R IN—r, Windo
OULDINGS
D—PER HANGER
E, MONTGOMERY.
s on application.

ARBLE WORKS
. HOLT,
WORKMA
ER IN Italian Marb
all kinds of
AND STONE W
Twenty-Fourth Street,
Alaba

LEEPER,
Retail Dealer in SH, BLINDS HARDWARE
s Ave. and 22d St am, Ala.

OELKER,
WELER
DEXTER AVENUE
Large S Rich Jewelry
oliday Goods in Great Va
OELKER
DEXTER AVENUE, MONT

GO TO BLANK BROS, LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., APR. 25, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.
—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:45 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:20 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:00 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:17 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:20 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:52 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	6:20 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Spring Time.

[For the VIEW.]

I love the merry spring time,
When all is bright and gay;
When through the woodlands merry birds
Are singing all the day.

I love the merry spring time
When buds are bursting forth;
From the icy chains that bound them,
Through all the winter's dearth.

I love the merry spring time,
When flowers are blooming fair,
When wafted from the dewy vale,
Sweet perfume filled the air,

For God hath clothed in beauty
The spring times happy hours,
And gives to cheer earth's children,
Its sunshine and its flowers.

GEORGIA A. JONES.

The Allen building is going up rapidly.

MRS. E. Chilton is visiting relatives in Montgomery.

Miss Lilla Gulledge, of Verbena, is spending some time with friends in Clanton.

All who want money, remember the dates and meet Messrs. Jones & Bentley, with your land deeds.

The Methodist Sunday School will picnic at Corderie's Mill. Time to be fixed upon next Sunday.

Senator John T. Morgan has placed us under renewed obligations by sending us interesting congressional documents.

Messrs. Bentley and Jones will be in Clanton to-day and tomorrow with money to loan on farming lands.

Rev. Mr. Sanders preached two feeling sermons Sunday morning and evening. And had two large congregations each time.

Rev. J. M. McCord will preach at the Clanton Baptist Church on Sunday next. He and the pastor having exchanged pulpits for that day.

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or billious. For sale in 50 cent. and one dollar bottles by all leading druggists. jul20

Mrs. Sampey, mother of Mr. W. L. Sampey and Mrs. M. C. McRee, of this place, returned to her home in Miss., last Monday after spending several days with her children.

The scribe made a pleasant trip to Jemison and Strasburg on Friday. The VIEW has good friends in both places, who are always ready to show their appreciation in a substantial way.

Mr. R. Ehrman and his little daughter Helen returned home from Cincinnati on Monday. They were accompanied by Miss de Salterne an accomplished German preceptress who will fill the position of governess in Mr. Ehrman's family.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at low prices for cash. Shoes for spring trade now in. Groceries go all the year, the present is no exception. Everything guaranteed as represented. Fair dealing at fair prices is my plan for holding trade, and my sales will prove that the people are treated well. Give me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Holt are both quite unwell.

Dr. A. M. Rambo, of Verbena, gives our town frequent professional visits.

Concert.

Miss Annie Mahone and her music pupils entertained an audience at the Academy on the 13th inst. Miss Annie is an accomplished and pains-taking teacher and her pupils reflect credit upon her as well as on themselves.

New Saw Mill.

Mr. C. J. Stewart is at work building a new saw mill at Lomax. He hopes to have a postoffice reestablished at that place when his mill begins operation and the citizens of that locality are much interested in the success of his efforts.

Burglars' Raid.

On Monday night burglars succeeded in effecting an entrance to the stores of R. Ehrman, Dr. A. E. Bivings, and W. L. Sampey. Efforts were made to break into the safes in each store, but without success. At Sampey's the safe door knob was pulled entirely out, breaking off inside the safe. A few dollars in change from the cash draw and some canned goods was all that the thieves managed to carry away from this store. At Ehrman's the safe was not seriously damaged, and the clerks reported that the only things missing were a small amount of clothing and two watches. Dr. Bivings safe was not damaged and he reports the loss of one ham.

The burglars it seems were not practiced hands but there is no clue as to their identity. They effected an entrance through the doors in each case.

Brutal Assault.

A white tramp assaulted and beat Mrs. Tom Sellers who lives near Lomax, very badly, on last Saturday morning. He was after money and inflicted the beating in hopes of compelling the lady to turn over to him what funds she had in the house. In this he failed. Sheriff Hayes says he did not hear of the affair untill Monday morning and the tramp had then made his escape good.

Mr. C. J. Stewart, of Lomax, who lives half a mile from the Ellis house, reported at the VIEW office Monday afternoon that the lady was then able to sit up and move about the house, though she had been beaten unconscious by her assailant. Mr. Stewart further said that it is thought the assault was made for another and more devilish purpose than robbery.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

The rainfall for the week just closed was apparently above the average; this was beneficial to the soil on account of the deficit the first part of the month, particularly in south and portions of middle Alabama. The highest reported precipitation for the week was 3.40 inches. There was a severe hailstorm near New Market on the 13th that did some damage.

The temperature was near an average, but there were two quite cool days just following the rainfall, the cloudy weather however prevented frost and the tender vegetation was not injured.

There was a sufficiency of sunshine for plant growth and farming operations.

The crop prospects continue good, and the chances for an excellent yield of fruit were never better. The good season of the past week has advanced vegetation very rapidly. The cotton has not been all planted yet, but some of the seeds that were placed in the soil a week or more since are coming up and are doing well.

P. H. MELL,
Director.

We have a speedy and positive cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, in Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. A Nasal Injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton, Ala.

For Sale at a Bargain.

The neat cottage residence of J. C. Lawrence is offered for sale at the low price of $500, all cash, or $600, one-third cash, balance in one and two years. A splendid opportunity to purchase a nice house cheap. Parties desiring to purchase can apply at this office.

For Sale!

Rice and Sweet Potato seed by L. A. Thornton.
Clanton, Ala., March 18, 1889.

Excerpts from the Kicker.

The last issue of the Arizona Kicker contains the following cheerful paragraphs:

Not a success—Last Saturday night, soon after 11 o'clock, some gentleman whose identity is unknown to us fired a charge of buck shot through the side window of our editorial room directly at the spot where our cat is usually placed. Had the cot been there we should have been inquested on and buried ere this. But the cot wasn't there. We are not purty, but we are no hayseed. We haven't slept twice in the same spot for the last twelve weeks. We have learned the ways of this community at considerable cost and trouble, and we don't propose to plant ourselves as a midnight target. We feel sorry for the gent who wasted his energies and amunition. He doubtless went away from the window feeling that he was entitled to credit for doing a smart thing. Come again old chap."

Returned—Major Jim Smith created quite a sensation by descending from the stage as it reached town last Friday evening. We had no sooner notified him that his subscription to the Kicker had expired than he handed us two big silver dollars for a renewal. The major has put in the past year in State prison, having been sent there by mistake as his friends are convinced. He served his term like a man, and has returned to the bosom of his family and society. He has cards out for a 'high coffee' day after to-morrow, and the elite will be there in legions.

HOW'S THIS!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN, & MARVIN, Druggists, Toledo.
E. H. VAN HOESEN, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

The Old Soldiers.

St. Louis, April 16.—A special from Wichita, Kan., to the Post Dispatch, says the Old Soldiers Colony left this a. m. for Oklahoma Seven hundred covered wagons were in line, all showing inscriptions in keeping with the occasion and journey. Over 2,000 boomers were in wagons. They will endeavor to locate together in the country around Lisbon where the land office for the Western division of the teritory will be located.

A Home Comfort!

We the undersigned citizens of Prattville, Ala., have each purchased a new Improved Home Comfort Cooking Range from the traveling salesman of the Wrought Iron Range Company, and find them to be far superior in every respect to anything we have ever seen or tried in the way of a cooking apparatus and would advise any friend or neighbor to secure one at their earliest convenience, as we consider them the cheapest stove that can be used, and know by experience that they are the best?

CHAS. S. G. DOSTER,
Attorney at Law.
JOHN BURNS,
Foreman Cotton Factory.
W. G. BECKWORTH,
Foreman Gin Shops.
J. C. BURNS,
Traveling Salesman Pratt Cotton Gin.
W. F. MIMS, Merchant.
M. D. FISHER,
Foreman Pratt's Foundry.
G. C. SPIGNER,
Undertaker and Liveryman,
J. W. KILLAUGH,
Workman in Gin Shops.

The Philadelphia Times prints the following: "One of the original fourteen members of the Fourth Michigan Cavalry, who captured Jeff. Davis on May 24th, 1865, in Elwell county, Ga., yesterday applied to Clerk Bird for a marriage license. It was Casper Knoble. He is a strapping swiss, who was born in the Canton of Bern in 1835. He is a widower and intends to marry widow Annie Steal. Mr. Knoble proudly displayed the memorial medal presented to him and his thirteen comrades for the great capture which they made. In speaking of the events he said that only one of the captors was dead. He told how Col. Pritchard had detailed them to hunt for the President of the Confederate States who was trying to escape to a seaport town with his family. After two days hot search they overtook Mr. Davis. He was in an ambulance with his wife and children. There were also two wagon loads of retainers with him. Mr. Knoble says that Davis was not arrayed in petticoats, as portrayed at the time, but in full grey suit of a confederate general. He was greatly surprised but took his capture every philosophically. Mr. Knoble made a prize of Mr. Davis' shirt collar, which he expects to wear at his approaching wedding. Mr. Knoble also said that the government appropriated $1500 to each of the captors, but that he received only $200. He says he would like very much to know who get the balance.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

It Has Never Failed.

Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) has cured hundred of cases of Scrofula, Eczema and other contagious blood diseases, after other treatment had been tried and failed. You do yourself and family great injustice unless you give this excellent remedy a trial. Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for illustrated "Book of Wonders" filled with letters from persons cured by B. B.B.

MR. M. J. ROSSMAN, Greensboro, Ga., writes: "I have a lady friend who has been entirely cured SCROFULA of an ugly scrofulous breaking out of the skin, and the use of two bottles of B. B. B. effected an entire cure. I know of several cases of blood diseases cured speedily by the use of B. B. B.

E. G. TINSLEY writes: My mother and sister used B. B. B. for scrofula and ulcerated sore throat SORE THROAT and received more benefit from its use than all other remedies they ever used.

A. H. NICHOLS, 110 Gray St., Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My wife for several years has been suffering with what physicians term Eczema, affecting her whole body, limbs and scalp. It appeared that her whole skin would shed off in scales about once a week, leaving the surface red and tender, and sometimes cracked open. Her general health failed, and for a while it was thought she would die, as several doctors and numerous patent medicines failed to give ECZEMA any relief. My brother-in-law, Mr. J. B. Cummings, was selling the B.B.B and insisted that I should try it on my wife. I did so, and to our utter astonishment she commenced improving at once, and three bottles, costing only $3, effected an entire cure. It is wonderfully quick in action."

D. M. MCRAE, Waynesboro, Miss., writes: "My BOILS sister was aflicted with boils which sadly impaired her health, and she lost flesh and strength each day. One bottle of B B. B. acted like magic and produced a complete cure." (9
[sep27 ow 1y]

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST.
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[feb 14 5]

All kinds of blank deeds and ... notes for sale at this office.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS
Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN
nov 8-y.

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses,
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Bogacki & McDonald,
Sash, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Glass, Paints and Oils, Artists' Materials, Pictures and Frames, Window Shades.
118 COMMERCE STREET, Wholesale ...
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

Clanton High School

Will be opened on the first Monday in September and will continue nine scholastic months. The session will be divided into two terms. The first ending Friday before the first Monday in February, and the second will begin on the following Monday and will end with May. We will thoroughly prepare young men and ladies for college or give them a certificate of graduation. We expect to be assisted by an accomplished lady. Patronage is earnestly desired.
Very Respectfully,
aug16 A. J. SCOTT, Principal.

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on Watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
Correspondence solicited.
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than ...
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billious Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all, but will cure any Liver, Billious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.
(Successors to Wm. Condell,) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best
Cough Medicine.
If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov29-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES

JAPAN'S PRESS.

NOVEL FEATURES OF ORIENTAL NEWSPAPERS.

Columns of Japanese Papers Run From Right to Left—"Straw Editors"—A Japanese Composing Room.

It is only eighteen years since the first newspaper was published in Japan, says Frank G. Carpenter. Still, 61,000,000 copies of newspapers were sold in 1884, and the increase of 1879 was double that of 1876. At present Japan has 575 daily and weekly newspapers, and its dailies number ninety-seven. It publishes thirty-five law magazines and 111 scientific periodicals. It has thirty-five medical journals and an equal number of religious newspapers. Its people read eight different story papers, and 102 papers cater to the agricultural, commercial and industrial classes. It has its Punch or Puck, and this is filled with cartoons and witticisms taking off the public men of the Mikado Empire just as Puck and Judge do those of our Republic. All of these papers are published in Japanese. They are read by the natives of the country, and the work upon them is done entirely by native labor. They are the outgrowth of the new civilization, and they are the great educators of the people.

A Japanese newspaper looks strange to foreign eyes. If one could take about 1,000,000 tea box letters and put them in six-inch rows up and down four or eight pages about the size of this newspaper he might get some idea of the general appearance of the paper. If he could know that each of these letters represented a whole word and that half a dozen of them made a sentence, he might add to his conception. His picture however, would be far from a true one. The Japanese papers are the direct opposites of ours. The columns run from right to left across the page instead of up and down it, and the lines are perpendicular instead of horizontal. You begin at the top of a line to read instead of at the side, and when you have read about six inches of these ideographic characters you come to the column line and go back to the top and read down again. The columns are twice as wide as ours, and they do not seem to have the flaming headlines that prevail in American newspapers. The periods, instead of being dots, are circles as big around as a pea, and there are no such things as capitals. The Japanese newspaper office uses five thousand different characters, and these are a mixture of the Japanese and the Chinese.

A JAPANESE NEWSBOY.

The first part of a Japanese journal is made up of official notifications and official reports. Then come the contents of the paper, and directly after this the editorials. "This part," said one of the leading editors as he pointed to me the hieroglyphics composing it, "is the brains of the paper, and the press is a great maker of public opinion and a strong factor in all governmental matters in Japan."

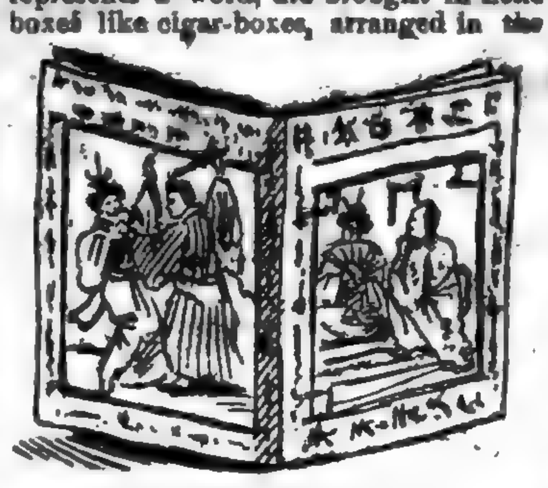
"But where are the editors' names?" said I.

"The names of the real editors of a Japanese newspaper," was the reply, "are never published in the paper. Our nominal editors are men of straw, whom we employ for this purpose. They get from $20 to $30 a month as salaries, and they act as proofreaders or local reporters. We have, as you know, a rigid censorship of the press, and whenever a paper publishes anything offensive to the Government its editors and publishers are liable to be fined, imprisoned or banished. When such is the case the names of these straw editors are sent in and they undergo the punishment. Of course we pay their salaries while they are in prison, but the whole thing is a farce and a shame."

A SCENE IN THE COMPOSING ROOM.

The editors' names do not hence appear on the editorial page, and they are in the last column and last line of the newspaper. They stand at the end after the advertisements. Following the editorials come the telegrams and local news. These are mixed together and there are a number of columns of them. Then comes the foreign news and then correspondence and letters of travel.

It takes about 150 men to run the Nichi Nichi Shimbun office and the editorial rooms contain many low tables. The editor-in-chief, in Japanese dress, introduced me to a score and more of brown-skinned gentlemen in Japanese gowns, who stopped writing up and down sheets of rice paper with camel's hair brushes as I entered. Tea was brought in in little cups holding as much as you could put in the smallest egg-cup. A cigarette was offered me and a box of charcoal put beside me to light it. We chatted for some time through the editor, who spoke English, on the changes in newspaper work going on over the world. I found my remarks published in the newspaper the next morning, and I wish I could give your readers here a quotation from them. It all looks the same to me, however, and I would be as liable to clip a section of a love story as of my interview had I not my guide to help me. As we talked the reporters worked busily away in the next room, and I saw the exchange editor in a blue dressing-gown clipping and marking with his red ink and brush the articles intended for the chief editor's eye. On the same floor and adjacent to the editorial room I heard the tramp of many feet, and I was told [illegible] came from the composing-room and that it was made by the dozen boys who were gathering type for the compositors. I looked in. The type was arranged in long cases standing on the floor propped against each other at an angle of forty-five degrees in the shape of a tent. These cases were six feet high and from fifty to sixty feet long, and they were packed with type in compartments like those of an American press-room. The printers do not select the type as with us. The words of an article are gathered before they begin to put it together for the paper. The type or words, for each type represents a word, are brought in little boxes like cigar-boxes, arranged in the order in which it is to go to the paper and the compositor sets it up in his composing-stick. It thus takes much leg work to get up a Japanese newspaper, and these boys have to run from one end of the room to the other many times to get the different ones of the five thousand characters which go to make up the Japanese vocabulary of letters.



A JAPANESE ILLUSTRATION.

Compositors are paid from $10 to $30 a month, and it will be interesting here to give the salaries of the men employed on a Japanese newspaper. The editor-in-chief receives $100 a month, and the other men connected with the editorial room range from that down to $30 a month. Reporters receive from $15 to $20 a month, and foreign correspondents get about $50 a month.

The leading papers of Japan use illustrations only when the occasion demands it. They publish pictures of noted men as they become prominent, and when the late nominating conventions were held the American legation here was besieged with reporters who wanted photographs of Thurman and Cleveland and of Harrison and Morton. They found out that Mr. Dunn, one of the secretaries of the Legation, was a cousin of Senator Thurman, and they wanted as full a report about him as would be required from a gossipy American correspondent. The red bandana handkerchief puzzled them, and their versions of Senator Thurman's snuff-taking were as varied as their character. I doubt not that new characters were invented to express their ideas, for there is no snuff in Japan, and the handkerchiefs the natives use are of paper. I have been interviewed by a number of the reporters, and my talks have furnished several columns of printed hieroglyphics and a section of a Japanese paper would make a very interesting American newspaper illustration.

The cheaper papers of Japan run largely to wood-cuts and they publish great pictures of the most harrowing scenes. In one you may see a murder portrayed in which an almond-eyed girl is killed by an almond-eyed villain. In another is a love scene and in a third a scene of Japanese sorrow, and death is told in pen and ink that seems to weep. In all of these the Japanese dress and features are carried out and the illustration is on the whole about as good as that you find in American newspapers.

Japanese newspapers are cheap. The best dailies cost thirty cents a month or a cent and a half a copy. The papers do not make much money, still they have great influence. I was told by one of the men connected with the Government that the newspaper could make or overthrow a public man or minister in Japan, and public opinion seems to have as much weight here as it has in America. I find the newspaper men of Japan to be very bright men, and in fact there is no class of subjects which they do not discuss. Their editorial articles comprise finance, commerce, Christianity, and the thousand and one new subjects which are now interesting old Japan.

The papers are taken by all classes of people from the Mikado to the coolie, and the number of subscribers increases every day. Tokio has a press club which meets once a month and which frequently entertains foreign visitors.

There are three English papers published in Japan. These are all issued at Yokohama and their prices form quite a contrast with those of the Japanese newspapers. They cost twenty cents a copy, or from $18 to $25 a year, and the news in them is almost entirely Japanese and of other foreign countries rather than American.

There is a movement going on in Japan for the throwing away of Chinese characters and the adoption of the same alphabet that we use. There are two societies in Tokio in favor of some reform in this direction, and one of them wants to adopt the Japanese alphabet proper, which consists of forty-seven letters. There will probably be a change to one system or the other, and I have heard it predicted that English will eventually be the language of Japan.

A JAPANESE STENOGRAPHER.

I saw a shorthand writer in one of the offices here take down Japanese conversation, and I could not see that his pot hooks looked any different from those of the reporters of Congress. It will be impossible, however, for Japan ever to use the type-writer while she sticks to the Chinese characters. In the mean time a large part of the Empire is learning English, and Japan has the best educational system of any of the oriental nations. School attendance is compulsory and there are three million children in the public schools. More than one million of these are females and Japan has 142 high schools. It has sixty-five normal schools, and there are about 1800 pupils in the Imperial University here. There are 108 technical schools containing 8000 students, and 1834 schools are maintained by private funds. The future of Japan it is impossible to predict, save that with this system of education it can not but continue to advance.

THE total appropriations made by each of the several Congresses since 1874 are as follows: Forty-third, $840,794,921; Forty-fourth, $694,[illegible],272; Forty-fifth, $708,605,953; Forty-sixth, $727,695,698; Forty-seventh, $777,555,948; Forty-eighth, $85[illegible],409; Forty-ninth, $846,345,514; Fiftieth, $817,[illegible]; Total, $6,632,217,981.

CARL DUNDER.

Some Things He Wonders Over.

Sometimes my neighbor comes to me und says: "Mr. Dunder, I doan' like to make you feel bad, but dot poy of yours goes mit der gallows if you doan' pehave him petter. He hits my dog mit some snowballs yesterday." Vhell, der next day comes und somepody preaks my vindow mit a snow ball, und vhen I goes oudt to shpeak aboudt it he calls me oldt Knickerbocker. I look at him closely, und lo! he vhas dot same neighbor's poy! I can't make oudt how she vhas.

Sometimes my neighbor comes to me und says: "Mr. Dunder, you doan' lif in dis country so long sah I do, und I like to tell you dot it was agin some law if you put ashes around. I shpeak to you pecause I vhas your friendt." "Vhell, dot makes me' ashamed, und I goes off und puys a box. In two days a policeman comes along und says my neighbor keeps more ashes, swill, dead cats und strawbeds in his yard dan he sees pefore in two hoonered years, und he goes py der Recorder Court und pays a fine. I can't make oudt how she vhas.

Sometimes my frendt comes to me und says: "Say, Mr. Dunder, doan' make some fool of yourself. If der poys like you to run for aldermans in our ward, decline mit thanks. Dere vhas no money in it, und der papers abuse you like some tiefs." Vhell, dot settles me, but vhen I goes py der polls to wote, lo! my frendt vhas on der teeket for aldermans und is elected! Somepody tells me he pays more sah $500 to be aldermans. I can't make oudt how she vhas.

Sometimes my frendt come in und says: "Say, old chappie, I haf always said I like to help you to a good thing, und der time vhas now come. I know a man on Rivard street who vhas awful hard oop. You can puy dot house und lot fer one tousand dollar, und he vhas wort eighteen hoonered. If you take her I warrant you make one tousand dollar in a year." Vhell, I pelief dot, und I puys der place. In two weeks I find out dot my frendt makes $100 commission on dot sale, und dot I vhas sheated by tree hoonered. I can't make oudt how she vhas.

Sometimes dot neighbor on my left hand comes to me and says: "Say, Dunder, oldt poy, I doan' hurt your feelings for one million dollar, but I like to shpeak mit you a leedle. You haf some beer wagons drive oop in front of your house, and my wife vhas afraid der public shall pelief it vhas us who vhas taking beer. Be some good fellows und haf der wagons go in der alley." Vhell, dot looks reasonable, und I make 'em do it, but in four days my neighbor comes home so drunk on whiskey dot I haf to help him in his house, und his wife says it vhas nopody's peesness. I can't make her oudt.

Sometimes, sah I go to shurch on Soonday, I find all der saloons open, der poys playing ball, and peoples going off on picnics. When I goes inside der minister looks right at me und says: "It preaks my heart dot so many heathen in Africa vhas on der broad road to destruction. Please come down mit some contributions, to save 'em." I come down, but I can't make her oudt."—Detroit Free Press.

Poisoned by Burning Fur.

A singular case of wholesale poisoning that came near proving fatal is reported from the Morning Side School, in Sioux City, Iowa, taught by Miss Hattie Conniff. Shortly after school was called on a recent forenoon a peculiar odor was noticed, and searching for the source, the teacher opened the door to the closet where the scholars kept their wraps. A fur cap, belonging to one of the boys, had fallen into a bucket containing hot ashes, and was sending off clouds of smoke. The teacher seized the bucket and started for the door, but when half way across the room was overcome by the smoke, and dropped into the nearest seat almost unconscious. A boy then took the bucket, but at once succumbed and fell to the floor. Twenty of the pupils who sat where the smoke reached them were deathly sick, and were unable to rise alone. By superhuman efforts the teacher managed to get the door open, and the fresh air revived her so she helped the children out doors, where they lay on the ground in agony. At the end of three hours all had recovered sufficiently to be taken home, but were very weak. It is supposed that poison was contained in the coloring matter of the cap, and that it was set free by the burning.—Washington Star.

Some Mexican Superstitions.

It is believed that the murderer who has slain his victim with sword or dagger will escape if the body falls upon its side or back; but if the body falls face downward, then the murderer surely soon will be captured and put to death. This belief is said to be so firmly rooted among the people of northeastern Mexico that when a murdered man falls upon his face his slayer makes no effort to escape, and even sometimes voluntarily surrenders himself to justice.

If a bride, while dressing for her wedding, is pricked by a pin so that the blood flows, great misfortune impends.

If two persons think of the same thing at the same time, a soul is loosed from purgatory.—Scribner's Magazine.

AN OLD TIME PATRIARCH.

It is easy to recall to mind his familiar figure as he sits, during Winter evenings, in his favorite corner.

In his easy chair, with pipe in hand and his silver-rimmed "specs" pushed back until they find a soft resting place on his beloved snow-white head, with eyes sparkling and his face beaming with pleasure as he calls back old memories of days long gone by, he is likely to talk something after this fashion:

"It's a long time since I was a boy. Ah, but that was many years ago. Sixty long years have gone and the good Lord knows they were short enough. I was then as spruce and peart as as any chap thereabouts.

"Oh, but we boys were boys! Things have changed a heap since those days. Boys then didn't take much stock in stylish clothes, and they didn't carry canes like they do now. Clothes and canes didn't cut much taper then, but it was good hard sense and work.

"The boy who could do the biggest day's work—could cut the most wood, split the most rails, plow the most corn, was the most envied, for he was sure to have the sweetest and best lookin' gal at the 'singin' school' or 'apple peelin.'

"I tell you those were good old times!

"I didn't think anything of going thirty miles or more to see your grandmother, and we didn't have very good roads either, but generally had to follow some old Indian trail.

"Talkin' about sickness then, there was no sickness like now. If we had a cold, a pain, or anything, there was the best medicine in the world found in any log cabin home you came across. Why, I remember that my old grandmother, God bless her soul, she's been dead these fifty years or more, could make the best home made medicine for miles around. Her 'sarsaparilly' couldn't be beat. Come to think I just read in the paper about somebody who is making this same old log cabin medicine, under the name of 'Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla.'

"It does seem splendid to think that you can buy those good old home cures at the druggist's nowadays.

"Mebbe you think people were not healthy in those days, but I tell you that it was mighty seldom anybody was sick long when they had such good old grand-mother medicine so handy.

"People used to be stronger, healthier and they lived longer, when I was a boy."

Explorer Stanley.

The march of Stanley, the African explorer, from the shores of the Congo river to Lake Albert Nyanza is one of the most wonderful achievements in the history of exploration in any part of the world. No explorer has hitherto attempted so dangerous a journey—one fraught with inconceivable difficulties—and the success of the expedition can only be comparatively described by saying that Stanley has outdone himself. He led his forces 2,000 miles in 160 days through the dense African forest, braved savage enemies, endured agonies of thirst and hunger, was exposed to deadly fevers, and his total losses in his marching force, up to the date of the letter from him, were 190, out of a total of 389 men. One of the great obstacles to his march was the hostility of the Arab slave-dealers, who persuaded many of his men to desert, robbed and murdered the stragglers of his party, and laid waste by fire large tracks of country which he had to traverse. By his matchless generalship, his indomitable pluck, his patience in enduring unutterable perils, Stanley has fairly won the title of the greatest explorer of this country, if not indeed of all in the years since Columbus crossed the terror inspiring western ocean.

A Great Scamp.

Some miscreant who will be a marked man if he is ever discovered, played a contemptible and most scurvy trick on the Chicago Freie Presse. At an early hour yesterday morning the party above alluded to broke a window in the office and entered the composing apartments. He did not come to steal anything, because he was well enough posted not to go near a newspaper office to pilfer, particularly after the opulent editors and the reportorial Vanderbilts had gone home. He wanted pi—good, old German pi. His soul yearned for it and he got it. Going to each of the printers' cases, he grabbed handfuls of German and Sanscrit type, and with the abandon of a thorough villain, distributed them where they would do the most harm. Lower-case "m's" came into friendly juxtaposition with small-cap "x's" and "ffi's," and "ffl's" were en rapport with the "$" of our daddies. The whole alphabet was thus treated. This little irregularity was not discovered until several columns of matter had been set, and then the proof-readers began to talk in a language unfitted for use in Sunday-Schools.

THE king of the Belgians has long cherished the idea of paying a visit to the Congo, and thus starting a boom. this information comes from an exalted functionary at the Belgian court, and its accuracy is beyound doubt. His majesty will penetrate as far into the interior of Africa as may be considered safe for a king, and he may be absent from Europe over a year. Before starting, a regency will be appointed.

What will cure the worst case of dyspepsia? What will insure a hearty appetite and increased digestion? What will cure general debility and give a new lease of life? What will dispel nervous depression and low spirits? What will restore exhausted mothers to full strength? What will strengthen nerves and muscles? What will enrich the blood? What will enable you to overcome weakness, wakefulness and lack of energy? What will prevent chills and fever and other effects of malarial poison? Brown's Iron Bitters. It is well to know this.

The jute bagging trust will only ask the farmer $3,000,000 extra for bagging in 1890.

A Radical Cure for Epileptic Fits.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease which I warrant to cure the worst cases. So strong is my faith in its virtues that I will send free a sample bottle and valuable treatise to any sufferer who will give me his P. O. and Express address. Resp'y,
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle

You Need It Now

To impart strength and give a feeling of health and vigor throughout the system, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems peculiarly adapted to overcome that tired feeling caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system it purifies and renovates the blood. We earnestly urge the large army of clerks, book-keepers, teachers, housewives, operatives and others who have been closely confined during the winter and who need a good spring medicine, to take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For years at irregular intervals in all seasons I suffered the indescribable burning and itching of blood poisoning by ivy. It would break out on my legs, in my throat and eyes. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, as a blood purifier, with no thought of it as a special remedy for ivy poisoning, but it has effected a permanent and thorough cure." [illegible], Wentworth, N. H.

Purifies the Blood

"Hood's Sarsaparilla purified my blood, gave me strength, and overcame the headache and dizziness, so that I am able to work again. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to others whose blood is thin or impure, and who feel worn out or run down."—[illegible], Lowell, Mass.

"We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for years, and recommend it as the best spring medicine or blood purifier. Our boy is nine years old and has enjoyed good health ever since we began giving it to him. We are seldom without it."—[illegible], [illegible], N. H.

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. Give it a trial.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is the cheapest medicine I can buy."—F. B. [illegible], Belleville, Ill.

The Spring Medicine

"Every spring for years I have made it a practice to take from three to five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I know it purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system of all impurities. That languid feeling, sometimes called 'spring fever,' will never visit the system that has been properly cared for by this never-failing remedy."—W. H. Lawrence, Editor Agricultural [illegible], Indianapolis, Ind.

Creates an Appetite

"I wish to enroll my name as one of those who have derived health from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For many years I have taken it, especially in the early spring, when I am troubled with dizziness, biliousness, unpleasant taste in my mouth in the morning. It removes the bad taste, relieves my headache and makes me feel greatly refreshed. The two bottles I have used this spring have been worth many dollars to me. I advise all my friends to take it."—[illegible], Town of Lake, Chicago, Ill.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

The Women Praise B. B. B.

The suffering of women certainly engages the sympathy of every true philanthropist. Their best friend, however, is B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm). Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for proofs.

H. L. Cassidy, Kennesaw, Ga., writes: "Three bottles of B. B. B. cured my wife of scrofula."

Mrs. B. M. Laws, Zalaba, Fla., writes: "I have never used anything to equal B. B. B."

Mrs. C. H. Gay, Rocky Mount, N. C., writes: "Not a day for 15 years was I free from headache. B. B. B. entirely relieved me. I feel like another person."

James W. Lancaster, Hawkinsville, Ga., writes: "My wife was in bad health for eight years. Five doctors and many patent medicines has done her no good. Six bottles of B. B. B. cured her."

Miss S. Tomlinson, Atlanta, Ga., says: "For years I suffered with rheumatism, caused by kidney trouble and indigestion. I also was feeble and nervous. B. B. B. relieved me at once, although several other medicines had failed."

Rev. J. M. Richardson, Clarkton, Ark., writes: "My wife suffered twelve years with rheumatism and female complaint. A lady member of my church had been cured by B. B. B. She persuaded my wife to try it, who now says there is nothing like B. B. B., as it quickly gave her relief."

Increased the Bill.

Customer—"I see you are advertising full sets of teeth for $8." Dentist (cautiously)—"Y-e-s, sir. Do you live at home?" Customer—"No, I board." Dentist (with dignity)—"You certainly cannot expect an $8 set to be of any use in a boarding house, sir. My charge to you will be $25."

WOMEN are now authorized to practice medicine in Canada, a license having been granted to Miss Mitchell, a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston.

Lung Troubles and Wasting Diseases can be cured, if properly treated in time, as shown by the following statement from D. C. FREEMAN, Sydney: "Having been a great sufferer from pulmonary attacks, and gradually wasting away for the past two years, it affords me pleasure to testify that SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod Liver Oil with Lime and Soda has given me great relief, and I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering in a similar way to myself. In addition, I would say that it is very pleasant to take."

Trade is fairly good throughout the country, barring the coal and iron industries.

Children Cry for It.

If a child will take a medicine with pleasure, you may know that it is not in any way offensive to the taste. Children like Hamburg Figs, and it is no longer necessary to disgust them with castor-oil. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

THE Mother's Friend, used before confinement, lessens pain and makes labor comparatively easy. Sold by all druggists.

Bronchitis is cured by frequent small doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption.

Cleanse the System

DO IT NOW

With that most reliable medicine—Paine's Celery Compound. It purifies the blood, cures Constipation, and regulates the liver and kidneys, effectually cleansing the system of all waste and dead matter.

Paine's Celery Compound

combines true nerve tonic and strengthening qualities, reviving the energies and spirits.

"I have been troubled for some years with a complication of difficulties. After trying various remedies, and not finding relief, I tried Paine's Celery Compound. Before taking one full bottle the long troublesome symptoms began to subside, and I can truly say now, that I feel like a new man. Digestion has improved, and I have gained ten pounds in weight since I have commenced taking the Compound."
HONESTUS STEARNS, Felchville, Vt.

$1.00. Six for $5.00. At Druggists.
WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

ANY ONE CAN DYE

DIAMOND DYES

A Dress, or a Coat, Ribbons, Feathers, Yarns, Rags, etc. Any Color FOR TEN CENTS and in many other ways SAVE Money, and make things look like NEW, by using DIAMOND DYES. The work is easy, simple, quick; the colors the BEST and FASTEST known. Ask for DIAMOND DYES and take no other.

For Gilding or Bronzing Fancy Articles USE DIAMOND PAINTS.
Gold, Silver, Bronze, Copper. Only 10 Cents.

Baby Portraits.

A Portfolio of beautiful baby pictures from life, printed on fine plate paper by patent photo process, sent free to Mother of any Baby born within a year. Every Mother wants these pictures; send at once. Give Baby's name and age.
WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO.,
BURLINGTON, VT.

TRADE S.S.S. MARK

In 1883 I contracted Blood Poison of bad type, and was treated with mercury, potash and sarsaparilla mixtures, growing worse all the time. I took 7 small bottles S. S. S. which cured me entirely, and no sign of the dreadful disease has returned.
J. C. NANCE,
Jan. 10, '89. Hobbyville, Ind.

My little niece had white swelling to such an extent that she was confined to the bed for a long time. More than 20 pieces of bone came out of her leg, and the doctors said amputation was the only remedy to save her life. I refused the operation and put her on S.S.S. and she is now up and active and in as good health as any child. MISS ANNIE GEESLING.
Feb. 11, '89. Columbus, Ga.

Book on Blood Diseases sent free.
SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

AFTER ALL OTHERS FAIL CONSULT Drs. LINN & LOBB

New York Offices 59 Clinton Place (Eighth St.), or 329 North Fifteenth St., Philadelphia, Pa., for the treatment of Blood Poisons, Skin Eruptions, Nervous Complaints, Bright's Disease, Strictures, Impotency and kindred diseases, no matter of how long standing, or from what cause originating. Ten days' medicines furnished by mail. Send for Book on SPECIAL Diseases. FREE.

JONES HE PAYS THE FREIGHT.

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60. Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

ASTHMA CURED

German Asthma Cure never fails to give immediate relief in the worst cases, insures comfortable sleep; effects cures where others fail. [illegible] $1.00, of Druggists or by mail. [illegible] for stamp. DR. R. SCHIFFMANN, St. Paul, Minn.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. So strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send two bottles free, together with a valuable treatise on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

ORATORS say Piso's Cure for Consumption is THE BEST for keeping the voice clear. 25 cents.

BEST ON EARTH for Fancy and Household. Words of Praise and Verses to Agents free. Guaranteed to please. J. W. [illegible], [illegible] Dryades St., New Orleans, La.

[illegible]

Bick's Pills. [illegible]

AN HONEST DOCTOR,

finding his patient suffering from that most common of American maladies—Billious Dyspepsia, or, in other words, from Torpid Liver, associated with indigestion, advised him to go to the drug store and get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery the world-famed remedy for such ailments.

Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing and strengthening them and healing their diseases. As an appetizing restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. It is the only medicine of its class, guaranteed to benefit or cure, in all diseases for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

Copyright, 1888, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors.

$500 OFFERED for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head by the proprietors of DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness, difficulty of clearing throat, expectoration of offensive matter; breath offensive; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Thousands of cases result in consumption, and end in the grave.

By its mild, soothing, antiseptic, cleansing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. Only 50 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Women Sold.

According to the reports from Hodeida, one of the largest ports of Arabia, on the Red Sea, slaves are still smuggled across from Africa in large numbers, and in spite of the activity of the British, French and Italian cruisers. It is charged that the Turkish officers connive at the trade and receive bribe money amounting to $2 a head on the slave importations. In this part of Arabia, slaves from the Zanzibar coast and the Souden were formerly introduced in large numbers, finding employment chiefly in the harems and at domestic service. The blockade has practically cut off these sources of supply, and most of the slaves now imported are Galla and Abyssinian girls, who can be taken to the coast at the narrow part of the Red Sea and shipped across in a night. Most of these girls are destined for the harems, and the more attractive among them sell at the comparatively cheap rate of $120 to $300 apiece.

THE Episcopal bishop of Glasgow, Scotland, inhibited Canon Wilberforce from talking temperance in the churches of that diocese, because he co-operates with the ministers of the Church of Scotland in his work.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Constructed entirely of best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock, they are unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable cast-iron imitations which are often sold for the genuine article and are not only unreliable, but dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON Revolvers are all stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents and are guaranteed perfect in every detail. Insist upon having the genuine article, and if your dealer cannot supply you an order sent to address below will receive prompt and careful attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices furnished upon application.
SMITH & WESSON,
Mention this paper. Springfield, Mass.

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS. 10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!

Don't buy before getting our prices and circulars. THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO., NASHVILLE, TENN. Name this paper.

$160 FARMERS SAW MILL. [illegible] Also Hench's Improved Circular Saw Mill With Universal Log Beam Rectilinear Simultaneous Set Works and Double Eccentric Friction Feed. Manufactured by the SALEM IRON WORKS, Salem, N. C. Write for circulars.

A BIG OFFER!

We will make you a present of a building lot adjoining one of the most promising cities of the West, and pay the taxes on it for two years, if you will do a slight service for us in your town. Send us your name, and we will write you full particulars. Address THE NORTHWEST CO., 69 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50 FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

MOTHERS' FRIEND MAKES CHILD BIRTH EAS[illegible] IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT. BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Ely's Cream Balm Price 50 Cents, WILL CURE CATARRH Apply Balm into each nostril. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y.

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD in HEAD HAY FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM

SENT FREE! Every reader of this paper, who expects to [illegible] A WATCH, send for new Illustrated Catalogue for 18[illegible] which we send Free. J. P. STEVENS & BRO., Jewelers, 47 Whitehall Street, ATLANTA, GA.

SOUTHERN DYE HOUS[illegible] All kinds of Silk, Cotton or Woolen Goods handsomely dyed or cleaned. Suits a Specialty. EXPRESS PAID ONE WAY. 24 Walton St., ATLANTA, GA.

Look Here! Orders for the Shannon Lett[illegible] Files and Cabinets, Docum[illegible] Filing Cabinets, Rapid Roll[illegible] Coppiers, the Schlicht Index[illegible] Metal Roller Shelving; ma[illegible] styles of Office Desks, and th[illegible] latest improved Bank and Offi[illegible] Furniture and Devices solicit[illegible] at the Atlanta Agency, by H. FRANKLYN STARKE, Manage[illegible] 26 Peachtree Street, ATLANTA, GA.

SINGERS who have used Piso's Cure for Consumption say it is BEST OF ALL. Sold everywhere.

WATCHES Catalogue free. Send once. Cheapest place in America to buy. H. M. NORTON, Cobalt, Fla.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. Sold by Druggists.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease. G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y. We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction. D. R. DYCHE & CO., Chicago, Ill. Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mfd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio. $1.00. Sold by Druggists.

A. N. U. [illegible]

The Gold Hunters' Adventures in Australia by Wm. H. Thomes. [illegible] ONE EXCITEMENT, HARDSHIP and CONFLICT, ever written. A splendid volume of 564 Pages, and [illegible] Illustrations, [illegible] PRICE ONLY 25 CENTS! [illegible] LAIRD & LEE [illegible] Chicago, Ill.

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE PRICE 25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

TOWER'S SLICKER[illegible]

Rates of Advertising.
[illegible]

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1889. NUMBER 27.

Special Advertising.
[illegible]

2018 1st AVENUE. CAHEEN'S 2020 1st AVENUE.

Comparisons are Odious,

But not so with us. We particularly invite and truly crave for comparison. We are leaders of fashion and the pillar of LOW PRICES. Our untold facilities enable us to sell goods cheaper than other houses can buy them. Our long business experience enables us to buy goods that the people want, and our cash capital enables us to have them at all times.

OKLAHOMA.

GREAT RUSH OF EMIGRANTS INTO INDIAN TERRITORY.

THE PROMISED LAND SETTLED AT LAST—RACE BY LOCOMOTIVE AND HORSE—THE TOWN OF GUTHRIE STARTED—SEVERAL KILLINGS.

Early breakfast were the rule at the hotels and restaurants in Arkansas City, Kan., on Monday, the day that by proclamation of President Harrison, Oklahoma was opened to settlement, and the streets leading down the slope to the depot were thronged with men, all traveling in one direction, but everyone differently equipped; some carried absolutely nothing in their hands, evidently thinking they could go through better for not being handicapped by weights. Very many had blankets, several had satchels, and some men were so loaded down with implements that if they had any idea of taking part in the mighty foot race they would probably abandon it in the course of a few hours. But a marked characteristic of the crowd was the great number of spades and axes carried. Of guns there were quite a number, but the persistent rumors as to disarming every one entering the territory, no doubt led to several being left behind. Several men were knocked down and more or less hurt. The company's arrangement to prevent a general rush to one train was to so arrange matters, that no one could know which train could pass first, and the secret had been admirably kept. The newspaper correspondents had, by prior arrangements, all met and were all waiting for the promised signal to guide them to their car of the first train. It had become generally known among the members of the surging crowds, that the press car would be attached to the first train, and the moment the door was opened, a wild rush was made to it, and it was hard work for the actual correspondents to get aboard. Capt. George Cooper, the celebrated boomer, had been promised the honor of pulling out the first train with engine No. 367, and the lucky man was assisted by Harry F. Livingston, who runs the engine regularly. His fireman was B. T. Rodgers, and the conductor was B. C. Peck. The locomotive was attached to the press car and then rapidly switched on to one of the side trains in waiting. Then the trip south commenced, amid shouting and cheering. There could not have been less than 5,000 men who had failed to secure seats, although a score of flat cars had been fitted up with plank seats, which were crowded with eager boomers. Two men got on the cowcatcher of the locomotive, but had to be removed. On a latter train, however, a man rode the whole journey of eighty-nine miles on the cow-catcher. After the train had got clear of the yard limits, a young fellow made a rush at the press baggage car, and it was thought he was run down, but he had succeeded in swinging himself upon the truck, on which he rode 28 miles, without getting hurt. There were only two ladies on the train. Among the other passengers were 180 members of the Arkansas City Old Soldiers' Colony. These rode to Seward and then tramped six miles to the land they desired, and where they propose to start a Grand Army post and start something in the way of a town. The conductor collected 1,024 tickets on this train. The road runs nearly due south to the state line. Except that there were large numbers of spectators on the lookout, there was no incident of special interest between the time the mighty shout went up at the depot and the arrival at Chilocco, just inside the Indian Territory.

The northern and central portion of the Cherokee strip is one vast prairie, absolutely level and abounding in evidence of fertility. Nearer, there is more timber and the grass is less rich and plentiful, but all the strip is good for farming. The enormous bunches of cattle presented a grand spectacle, but the number of dead animals seemed very large. At one place there must have been at least 200 carcasses lying close together. At Red Fork station, twenty-five miles from the line, a halt had to be called, as the cattle train was blocking the road ahead. In less than five minutes, the second train caught up, and halted but a score of yards behind. It was now after 11, and all hope of reaching the line by noon was abandoned, though so good time was made subsequently that the boomers became more cheerful again. The train on starting passed the long cattle train unloading at the stock yards. In nearly every car there were dead and dying steers. At least one hundred carcasses had been dragged out. Every aperture in the baggage car had to be closed to exclude as much as possible of the unbearable stench. The train had now got well up with the rear guard of the boomers in the wagons. These were making the very best of their chance, and running their horses at a lively gait. The land continued to get more and more rough and hilly, and scrub oak got more general.

At noon precisely there was a loud whistle from the engine, answered by a shout from the train, and they were in Oklahoma at last. Before the train had crossed the line fifty yards, a man sprang off, regardless of the danger. He fell pretty heavily, but was on his feet in a few seconds, collected his baggage, which he had thrown out ahead, and was turning sods before the train was out of sight. For quite a little distance, perhaps half a mile, no other settlement was noted. Horsemen were seen in the distance, and wagons were also pressing on towards the better land further south. On the summit of the ridge, a little to the east, two horsemen were seen racing and urging their steeds to their utmost. Considering that the land passed through was of a quite poor character, far below the average of Oklahoma, this points to the conclusion that there must have been nearly enough boomers within the territory to take up all the best claims before any law-abiding boomers had crossed into it. When the word to advance was given at the north line, the boomers started forward at various rates of speed. All who desired to locate anywhere near the track in the north end of the territory found themselves forestalled. Some turned back in disgust, and others pushed further on into the interior.

The process of securing the lots, as in general adoption, is simple in the extreme. First of all, a stake is driven in the ground with or without a placard placed, for the name of the claimant. Then the new owner paces off the ground he proposes to occupy for a residence or business house. There is at least a charm of variety about the laying out of Guthrie. Some people contented themselves with twenty-five feet front, while others took forty and fifty, but most of the claimants had a fair idea of where the streets ought to be, and left the necessary space for them. After determining the location of the corners of the lots, some prudent claimants took the additional precaution of digging a trench to denote the street line. Others placed stakes or flags at the corners. Others again turned a sod, or dug a hole, the idea being that any work being done on the lot secured it. Altogether, ten trains got in before 8 p. m., and making due allowance for those that went on to Oklahoma City, there must have been at least 6,000 people in Guthrie three hours after the territory was legally open for settlement. It was wonderful the manner in which disputes among the newcomers were settled in this early part of the proceedings. Sometimes half a dozen men would pounce on a lot simultaneously, or nearly so. Each would commence to stake out, but after a little while a general agreement would be come to, every applicant but one would rush off and secure an undisputed lot. The number of soldiers present is large enough to insure order. Capt. Hayes and his company of cavalry, who escorted the settlers to the border, rendered them most valuable service. He induced the Santa Fe road to permit him to lay planks beside and between the tracks of the railroad bridge and get emigrants over. A soldier with a red flag half a mile from the east end of the bridge, prevented any trains from approaching until the bridge was clear. In spite of the precautions, a woman and two children and a number of cattle were drowned at the bridge.

Thieves were busily engaged at work on the trains and many a poor boomer was fleeced of his all. There were no less than fifty professional thieves under surveillance by detectives—among them "Crooked Legged Baker," who did an active business in the "lightning change act" in Pennsylvania in 1885. The mayor of Arkansas City issued a proclamation permitting stores to be kept open Sunday for the convenience of boomers. They were well patronized. A disturbance took place at Purcell, between rival land speculators and their adherents, in which revolvers and Winchesters were fired freely, but without any serious result. A special from Guthrie says, that three men who took claims were foully murdered by claim jumpers. The name of their assailants and the victims could not be learned. A vigilance committee is scouring the country in search of the miscreants, who, it is said, will be lynched at once, if caught.

VERY LATEST.

Guthrie City continues to grow rapidly. Tuesday night there were over 700 tents pitched, and thousands of people walked about all night, while others took what rest they could on the ground and around the depot. Before Guthrie had been invaded for an hour, the new population found itself confronted with a grave though unforeseen difficulty in the shape of a veritable water famine. The trains were mobbed as they pulled up, and every drop of drinking water consumed. Then there was a rush to the railroad water tank. Then some enterprising individuals filled buckets at the creek and peddled water among the crowd at five cents a glass. This water was clearer than from the tank, but it was very unpleasant. Two of the new banks secured locations, but one of them had to go half a mile behind the land office before he could find a vacant lot. The Guthrie House (hotel) opened business with thirteen tents, and managed to provide very fair accommodations for a limited number. Twenty-eight land lawyers had their shingles out in quick time and did considerable business in the way of advising town lot seekers. While a crowd was waiting at the depot the word was passed around that there was "spiked cider" in town. There was a rush to a tent from which a man was serving out very weak whiskey and water slightly sweetened, and which he described as apple cider. The soldiers did not interfere, except to give the enterprising joint a liberal patronage. As night came on a military guard was placed around the land office. A man who killed S. T. Cornis, of Missouri, on the other side of Cottonwood creek was caught by a posse of thirty men from Guthrie, twelve miles north of the city. He refused to surrender, and he was killed at a volley. Reference to the books shows his name to be C. V. Land. Five hundred men in Arkansas City have pledged themselves to go over to the Cherokee strip and stake claims, and let the consequences be what they may. The fertility of this strip, so useless to the Indians, has been remarked upon heretofore. There seems nothing unreasonable in obtaining it at once, and to do so will avert a great trouble that now seems inevitable. The number of boomers and others who have selected Oklahoma City for a location is not so large as at Guthrie, but a very substantial start has been made toward establishing a really solid city. Over 3,000 persons have made arrangements for the immediate erection of business and residence houses, and are now at work on them. Martin Colbart, a wealthy half-breed Chickasaw Indian, who deals largely in cattle, was killed on the eastern boundary of the newly opened territory by a man named Nolan, from Purcell. Conductor Grady has a claim near Oklahoma City. While his train was running twenty miles an hour, he leaped from his caboose and struck his claim. His brakeman ran the train into the yards at Arkansas City, and the last heard of Grady was, he was still on his claim awaiting the arrival of his train. Brakeman Charlie Danvers jumped from his train, swam the Cottonwood river, and took a claim. A sixty-room hotel will be shipped from Kansas City and ready for business at Guthrie.

TELEGRAPHIC.

The Cherokee strip, Indian Territory which is now in the process of being gobbled, comprises nearly 8,000,000 acres, being thus nearly four times as large as Oklahoma, and it far transcends the latter in beauty and fertility. Excitement in Arkansas City, Kan., over the prospective full seizure of the strip is intense. Crowds of fugitives from the famine, thirst, frost and heat of Guthrie are swelling as each train on the railroad comes in. Fierce resentment is breathed against the government for the outrageously unfair manner in which the country was thrown open. The federal machinery, from the President down to the last deputy, is passionately denounced.

Gen. Boulanger and party arrived at Dover, England, on Wednesday. A large number of the friends of the general gathered on the pier and received him with cheers. The passage from Ostend was a rough one, and the general suffered from sea-sickness. The police commissary from Calais watched the party on behalf of the French government. The crowd outside the station numbered 2,000 persons. They groaned and hissed the general, as well as hooted and cheered him. In an interview, Boulanger expressed himself as grateful for English hospitality. He said he would do nothing that might tend to embarrass England's relations with France.

DEFEATED.

One hundred and fifty-eight cities and towns outside of Boston give the following vote on the prohibition constitutional amendment: Yes, 48,354; no, 55,398. The vote of Boston is: Yes, 11,060; no, 31,075. The amendment is defeated by from 35,000 to 40,000 majority. The Mass., amendment was "The manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors to be used as beverages, are prohibited. The General Court shall enact suitable legislation to enforce the provisions of this article."

ALL RIGHT!

A dispatch from Victoria announces, that the sealing schooners going from that port into Behring Sea this season "will be armed, and will not tamely submit as heretofore to piratical American cutters."

SOUTHERN BRIEFS.

ITEMS OF GREAT INTEREST TO INTELLIGENT PEOPLE.

NEW ENTERPRISES—RAILROAD PERILS—HEAVY RAINS—GOOD CROPS ASSURED—WHAT THE TELEGRAPH REPORTS—GENERAL NOTES.

ALABAMA.

A boiler explosion at the Bessemer Rolling Mills, on Tuesday, killed Dave Ballser and a man named Davis.

The Lady Ensley furnace was blown in at Sheffield. The fire was "touched off" at 11.30 a. m., and at 5 p. m. everything was progressing satisfactorily. Much has been expected from this furnace, and the people of Sheffield are much elated at the "blow in." Col. Ensley, the owner, says that he will show Birmingham iron makers a revelation in cheap iron manufacturing from his Lady Ensley furnace, and it is for this reason people in the Sheffield district hail the lighting of the Lady Ensley fires with joy.

GEORGIA.

The Enquirer-Sun newspaper of Columbus, is in the hands of the sheriff.

H. D. Stanley, proprietor of the Commercial hotel, at Athens, died very suddenly, Wednesday, of heart disease. He was a veteran soldier.

A rain storm, accompanied by a 52 mile an hour wind, struck Atlanta on Wednesday and did considerable damage. The Iva street Mission church was blown down.

William P. Leach and Harry Howell, two firemen of Atlanta, were crushed to death on Wednesday, by the falling of the walls of Capt. Jackson's building which was burned on Sunday. The men were in charge of a line of hose, playing on the smouldering ruins, when a sudden storm came up and blew down the walls on them.

Nine companies of the 4th U. S. Artillery will take post at Atlanta in a few days, and as many young Southern men are among its officers, the society belles are in a flutter of excitement. Property in the vicinity of the new barracks has jumped up amazingly in value. Post "Hancock" is said to be the finest barracks of any in the country.

The fiend that attempted to burn the Altamaha hotel at Jesup a couple of weeks ago, accomplished his purpose Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock. It appears that the party or parties first used coal oil, in the first instance, and then applied the torch under the building, and, in consequence, was not discovered until too late to arrest the flames.

The finding of a big pit in an unfrequented part of Peter's Park in Atlanta on Tuesday, led to an investigation by the police. The fact was developed, that a hidden box bound with iron bands and containing valuables, had been buried there by burglars several years ago. The thieves served out their imprisonment, came back, dug up the box and escaped with it.

An effort has been made by the alliance men to induce the cotton factories in Columbus to put in machinery for the manufacture of cotton bagging. Most of them express the fear, however, that the farmers will not stand together, and as yet it is not settled that any of them will make the venture. The West Point mills, it is said, have already agreed to manufacture the bagging of cotton.

DELAWARE.

While crossing the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad at Newport, Wednesday, John Wade, aged sixty-two years, his wife, Matilda, aged fifty-nine years, and James M. Linderman, aged thirteen years, were all killed by being struck by an express train.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Fifty thousand dollars was subscribed in Raleigh for the building of a cotton factory.

In Gaston county, at a cotton mill, a row occurred between six young men. Robert Pinckney and Samuel Evans were badly cut in the melee.

The funeral of Mrs. Theodore B. Lyman, wife of the Protestant Episcopal bishop were held at Raleigh on Monday. Her body was taken to Baltimore, Md., for burial.

At Newberne, while children's Easter services were in progress, a pistol shot was heard by the congregation, and a negro boy, named Harris, was seen to fall into the gutter. He was stone dead, the bullet having passed through the brain. It was found that he had been assassinated by another negro lad named Lemuel Hatch.

William K. Vanderbilt, worth $50,000,000, will build near Asheville the most magnificent private residence in the South. Some months ago he began the purchase of property near Asheville, and now owns 4,000 acres, on which he will shortly erect a mansion. The cost of the estate when completed will be over $1,000,000.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Council of Administration of the Department of Georgia, G. A. R., has authorized the formation of a post of white soldiers of Charleston. There is already a post of colored men in Beaufort which is attached to the Department of Virginia. The post just formed in Charleston, is composed of some of the best men of the city.

F. W. Macusser, a Northern man who settled in Charleston after the War, but who has always voted with the whites in the state elections, says he saw President Harrison in Washington, and that the removals and appointments will commence on the 1st of May. The President, he says, intends to ignore the old party leaders and appoint young Democrats and Republicans to office in the state.

MISSOURI.

The New York and Philadelphia syndicate which stole into St. Louis about three weeks ago and paid $3,500,000 for the Laclede gas works, has captured the other gas company at the nominal cost of $5,500,000, making the total investment in St. Louis of $9,000,000 in less than a week. The Standard Oil people compose the syndicate.

TENNESSEE.

The rate committee of the Southern Passenger Agents' Association, at its recent meeting, resolved that "party rates," both state and interstate, be discontinued. This means that after April 24th, parties of ten or more are not to be allowed the reduced rates usually granted to such parties.

TEXAS.

The movement inaugurated by the Austin Statesman, in aid of the Austin Confederate Home, is rapidly taking shape. It is universally commended by all classes of citizens.

VIRGINIA.

In the presence of a select company of about 80 representative business men of New York, and a respectable sprinkling of naval officers and newspaper men of Washington, the new dry dock of the Chesapeake Dry Dock and Construction Co., was formally opened at Newport News Thursday, when the monitor Puritan was docked. The dock is the largest by far in the United States.

At Grigby's precinct, in Castlewood district, while an election on the liquor license question was progressing quietly, on Wednesday, a difficulty occurred between Wm. Porter and Swin Howell. Porter walked up to Howell, a revolver in hand, saying: "I'm going to shoot you," and fired one or two shots, wounding Howell mortally. Howell killed Porter in one shot. Several were killed and wounded in the fight that followed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

NOTES.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the new British minister, has arrived in Washington.

The resignation of Nicholas M. Bell, superintendent of foreign mails in the post-office department, has been accepted by the post master general.

The President has appointed the following commission to negotiate with the Sioux Indians in Dakota: Gen. Geo. Crook, U. S. A., Hon. Charles Foster, of Ohio, and Hon. William Warner, (commander-in-chief of the G. A. R.), of Kansas City, Mo.

Paul Van der Voort, of Nebraska, has been appointed superintendent of mails at Omaha, Neb. Henry A. Thomas, of Massachusetts, has been appointed superintendent of mails at Boston, Mass., vice Peter J. Hughes, resigned. Thomas has had fifteen years' experience in the mail service.

Rear Admiral Kimberly has forwarded to the navy department a report from Chief Engineer Kirstedt, stating that the engine of the Nipsic has been tried and worked well. The propeller is considerably bent, and its effective area much reduced. The report says that the ship can be moved by steam if required.

The United States Supreme Court, in an opinion rendered by Justice Bradley, holds that the law of limited liability of steamship companies applies to cases of loss of life and injury to person as well as to cases of loss or injury to merchandise or goods. The case in which this opinion was delivered was that of John H. Butler, Nathaniel Beach et al, appellants, vs. the Boston and Savannah Steamship Co., growing out of the loss of the steamship City of Columbia, near Martha's Vineyard in 1884. The decision of the Circuit Court of Massachusetts in favor of the steamship company was affirmed.

OVER THE GLOBE.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS AND EXCITING EVENTS.

FRANCE'S PERIL—STRIKES—THE WESTERN BOOM—DEATHS OF EMINENT MEN—ACCIDENTS, FIRES AND SUICIDES.

A slight shock of earthquake was felt in Cairo on Tuesday.

Lord Brownlow will succeed Lord Londonderry as viceroy of Ireland.

The Duke of Edinburgh is prostrate from fever, and is returning to England on board the Alexandria.

The thirteenth day of the Minneapolis, Minn., car strike, began with the desertion of twenty old men.

At St. Paul, Minnesota, on account of the strike, four policemen are required on each car to keep it running.

The Czar has ordered Baron Moherenheim, Russian ambassador at Paris, to return home during the Paris Exhibition.

The municipal government of the City of Mexico will remove from the streets telegraph, telephone and electric light poles.

Father Agostiano, the famous preacher of Rome, at the conclusion of his sermon Sunday, caused a sensation by invoking the divine blessing upon King Humbert and the Italian army.

King Christian, of Denmark, has intimated that he will confer a decoration upon Capt. Murrell, of the steamship Missouri, in recognition of his services in rescuing the Denmark's passengers.

The Quebec House of Commons read the third time and passed Prof. Weldon's bill providing for the extradition of criminals not covered by extraditions. The retroactive clause was stricken out.

Postmaster Henry G. Pearson, of New York, died on Sunday. Mr. Pearson's death was from hemorrhage, caused by cancer of the stomach. He was forty-five years of age. His death occurred on the thirteenth anniversary of his wedding.

The Spanish Catholic Congress meets in Madrid. Cardinal Cenavides will preside and 1,600 clergymen and laymen will be in attendance. The object of the Congress is to pronounce in favor of the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope, and the extension of the influence of the church in the schools.

There was serious rioting in Vienna, Austria, arising out of the strike of the tram car drivers. The workmen in sympathy with the strikers blocked the streets and overcame the police. A force of cavalry had to be called out to quell the disorder. Many persons were injured and a large number arrested. The socialists side with the strikers.

The French ambassador at Brussels informed Prince De Chimay, Belgium minister of foreign affairs, that the meeting of the Boulanger committee in Brussels impressed the Paris government unfavorably. The cabinet thereupon sent an official to the hotel at which Boulanger is stopping to warn the general that he must leave Belgium of his own accord, or the government would expel him.

The steamship Missouri, with 365 of the people from the wrecked steamer Danmark, arrived at Philadelphia, Pa., on Monday. All were well on board with the exception of three persons, who are ill but doing well. All of the Danmark's passengers look hearty and bright, and show no signs of the hardships which they must have necessarily endured. Nearly all the immigrants are bound for western points, and they will be forwarded direct for their destination.

YELLOW FEVER.

Surgeon-General Hamilton, of the Marine hospital service at Washington, D. C., was informed on Tuesday by the president of the board of health of Sanford, Fla., that a case of yellow fever existed in that city. Dr. Hamilton says that every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease, and no danger is apprehended.....Health Commissioner Stewart of Baltimore, Md., received a dispatch from Surgeon General Hamilton, of the marine hospital, notifying him that at Santos and Rio, two ports from which the coffee importers of Baltimore receive almost all of their coffee, the yellow fever is raging with greater violence than ever before. The doctors at Rio have become so much alarmed at the prospective loss of the commerce of the country that they now call the disease a "access pernicious," hoping that the new name will allay the fears of proposed tourists.

WENT DOWN.

The British bark "Wandering Minstrel," which sailed from Honolulu December 10, 1887, has been heard from. She was wrecked at the Midway Islands February 1, 1888. The crew [illegible]

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Pay as you go.

Hold integrity sacred.

An evil eye can see no good.

Never fool in business matters.

Observe good manners, endure trials patiently.

Pride costs us more than hunger, thirst and cold.

Have the courage to wear your old clothes until you can pay for new ones.

It is not the ability to be idle, but the ability to work, that constitutes happiness.

Cheerfulness is an excellent wearing quality. It has been called the bright weather of the heart.

The man or woman with agreeable manners will make headway in the face of the worst difficulties.

Four things come not back—the spoken word, the spent arrow, the past life, the neglected opportunity.

Prudence is that virtue by which we discern what is proper to be done under the various circumstances of time and place.

It is not always safe to judge from appearances, but it is pretty safe to judge from disappearances, at least in the case of defaulters.

Tea From Ship to Kettle.

A sling raised and lowered by a donkey engine had just deposited on a New York dock several chests of tea, with such barbaric inscriptions as Tong Mow and Gold Elephant, when the idea occurred to a Mail and Express reporter to trace the intricate way of its contents to the tea urn. And it was Vesey street it came to from the gloom of the great east side storehouses.

Tea mixing is done both over the counter or out of sight, the latter when a special brand of mixed tea is put upon the market to sell on its name. The mixing machine, into which five or six different kinds of tea will often be poured, consists of a number of semi-cylinders about a center bar, which, as it revolves, pours the contents of one cylinder into another, eventually letting the mixture fall into a drawer at the bottom. Mixing over the counter is a very simple operation, that of weighing out and shaking together in the proportion of two of black to one of green. As there are four primary varieties of green tea and two or three of black, and as each of these is subdivided into innumerable grades and flavors, the mixtures are likewise innumerable.

"It is a fallacy," said a Vesey street merchant who had just displayed his mixing machine, "to imagine, as some people do, that a good tea can be mixed with even so small a quantity of an inferior grade without the poorer distinctly showing itself in the flavor of the mixture. The reputable houses," he said, "do not attempt such a thing. Even grades are mixed together."

Sweet Cassava.

A plant destined to be in general cultivation in Louisiana in the future is the sweet cassava, a native of South America, already largely grown in Florida. The plant is a bush five or six feet in height and forming, with the leaf stems projecting from the stalk, a circular mass about two feet in diameter. The edible portion of cassava is the roots. The roots are cleaned and grated, when required for table use, and thus prepared are adapted to be made into custards, puddings and other dishes much in the way as tapioca, which is the manufactured product of another species of cassava. The roots are an excellent food for horses, cows and hogs, and for this reason are likely to be largely raised as the cassava plant becomes better known. The plant is grown from the stalks like sugar-cane and experiment has [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 2, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - -	$1.50
One copy six months - - - -	75
One copy four " - - - -	50

Yellow fever is again in Florida; one case reported at Sanford in that State about a week ago resulted fatally.

The Hawes trial has been going on at Birmingham for more than a week. The evidence has thus far been very damaging to Hawes.

A fight for possession of a claim occurred in Oklahoma between two Texans and two Kansans. One Kansas man was killed and the other wounded, which means the Texans have the claim. In Oklahoma rows that are to be, money can be bet on Texans as winners.

The astonishing news comes from the east that Col. Fred Grant bites off the end of a cigar, lights it, and inserts it between his teeth in exactly the same manner that his distinguished father used to perform the same feats. This must have been the reason why the president made him minister to Austria.

Mr. J. M. Scott, in his correspondence for the Dispatch gives Sheriff Hayes the following complimentary mention:

Sheriff Lee Hayes came into town yesterday, having in charge Bud Allen and Jim Smith charged with grand larceny, and lodged them in the county jail. One of them, by the way, is the man who so stubbornly defied Mr. Hayes' predecessor, and eluded arrest. Mr. Hayes has, on many former occasons displayed his propensity as officer of the law whenever he goes for the guilty beings. He is a good sheriff, and the right man in the right place.

Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, although a South hater "from away back," had some very pretty things to say about Southerners in a recent speech.

We give here an extract from his speech. He said:

I know too, when I say these things, that I am saying them to my countrymen, I am saying them of men with as gallent, noble and and honorable traits (where the race prejudic does not get possession of their souls,) as ever existed on the face of the earth. They have some qualities which I cannot even presume in an equal degree to claim for the people among whom I myself dwell. They have an aptness for command which makes the Southern gentleman, wherever he goes, not only a peer but a prince. They have a love for home. They have the best of them most of them, inherited from the great race from which they came the sense of duty and the instinct of honor as no other people on the face of the earth. They are lovers of home. They have not the mean traits that grow up somewhere in places where money-making is the chief end of life. They have, above all, and giving value to all, that supreme and superb constancy which without yielding to the temptation of wealth, without getting tired and without getting diverted, can pursue a great public object in and out year after year and generation after generation.

A few years ago the South bought of others all its hardware and agriculural implements. Now it realizes its wealth of coal and iron, and in three years has started 79 iron furnaces. 52 implement factories, and about 300 machine shops and foundries. Twenty thousand miles of railroad have been built in the southern states since 1880, and more than $700,000,000 expended in building new roads and improving old ones. There are now in those states more than 300 cotton mills using 1,800,000 spindles, against 180 mills and 700,000 spindles in 1880. The value of cotton goods made there in 1888 was nearly $50,000,000 as against $21,000,000 in 1880. The value of the agricultural products of the south in 1888 was $800,000,000, against $579,000,000 in 1880. In 1880 the amount of grain raised in that section was 430,000,000 bushels, and in 1888 it was 626,000,000 bushels. More than a score of car, and locomotive works in the south are now supplying rolling stock for the 20,000 miles of railroad built since 1880; 300 canning factories have been opened in three years to use up southern fruit; and glass, brick, furniture, vehicles and a host of other articles are now being made at home out of the south's own raw materials. This is solid prosperity. This is substantial progress. This is raising the south from the dependent condition of a purely agricultural section to the independent manhood of symmetrically devoted people. It carries out the American system of supplying home demands with home products and insures for home products a prefitable home demand.—Economist.

The National Alliance.

The president of the National Farmers' Alliance and Co-Operative Union, Mr. C. W. Macune, has issued a call for a meeting of that body to assemble in Birmingham on the 15th day of May, for the purpose of deciding upon the necessity of all the States co-operating in the conflict with the jute bagging trust; the ability of the order in each State to assist in the conflict; to ascertain whether in the adoption of a substitute, a sufficient supply can be secured for all sections, and if not of one substitute to determine how many substitutes will be necessary, and what quantity of each, and to adopt measures for the guidance of the brotherhood throughout the season and select appropriate committees to carry out their plans.

The meeting is to be composed of each State business agent; each State exchange, one delegate; each state executive committee, one delegate; each president of State Alliance to appoint one delegate, and is to be one of the ablest and most important gatherings of farmers ever held in the country. It means war to the knife on the bagging combine.

It Looks Like Business.

The following letter relating to the extension of the Alabama Midland Railroad from Montgomery to Tuskaloosa, will be self-explanatory:

BAINBRIDGE, GA., April 8.

W. C. Jemison, Tuskaloosa, Ala.,

Dear Sir:—I received your valuable telegram by mail from Montgomery, and one by wire sent by you to Captain Joseph, and replied to you touching the subject matter therein referred to.

It is our fixed purpose to begin the construction of the Northern Division at or near Maplesville, on the E. T. V. & Ga. road, working back to Montgomery and northwest to Tuskaloosa. This action is mainly due to the fact that the building of the bridge at Montgomery will necessarily delay us some months, and it is for the double purpose of expediting the work and satisfying our friends at Tuskaloosa, and other points beyond Montgomery. As well as I can now recall the terms of my proposition, it was to place in the field our engineering forces within two weeks after we received formal notice that Tuskaloosa would meet us in our proposition, and within three and a half months from that time beginning active construction, as by that time our forces on the Midland road will, in all probability, be through with their work.

I will now report that since my visit to your city, when I had the disappointment and misfortune to find you absent, our principal engineer, Capt. T. H. Walker, has made a careful examination of the whole country, spent one day in your city, and is now surveying the Alabama river to furnish me data which the Government requires of us before approving our bridge plans at that point.

This will consume about one week, when he will begin the relocation of the first 50 miles, and the survey and location of the next 60 miles which I trust will bring forcibly to your mind that we are prepared to cary out in good faith and at once the proposition made you, and which we confidently expect your people to accept.

I shall be pleased to hear from you at this point.

Yours Very Truly,
J. W. WOOLFOLK,
Pres't. M. T. & M. Ry. Co.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

AUBURN, April 27.—Rain fell on two days of the week and was well distributed. The large number of bright warm days affected the crops favorably.

Much of the cotton has been planted since the last bulletin and there is some complaint that the seed is not coming up well, and replanting is deemed necessary in portions of state. Corn and oats are doing well, and the last rain has added renewed vigor to all vegetation. The fruit is still in excellent condition, and one observer says it is better than we have had for years. Wheat, clover and grasses are very luxuriant. Farmers all over the state are in good spirits.

Mr. Wm. M. Garrett of Mount Willing furnishes the following interesting item: "A most remarkable hail storm passed over this community on the 23rd at 4 o'clock p. m., doing great damage to gardens, fruits and stripping the limbs from the forest trees. In some localities the hail drifted twelve or fifteen inches deep, remaining on the ground until late the next day.

P. H. MELL, Director.

District Meeting.

ED. VIEW:—Please publish the following program of our district meeting in the next issue of the VIEW:

The annual meeting of the 3d district of the Unity Association, will convene with Providence Church on Friday before the 5th Sabbath in June, 1889:

PROGRAM:

Friday morning 10 o'clock. Devotional exercises conducted by Eld. Isaac Bice or the church's pastor.

At 11 o'clock, Organization.

2 o'clock p. m. "What kind of men ought Churches Select for Deacons, and what is the special work of Deacons"; opened by Eld. J. L. Long, and Oliver Mullins.

7 p. m. "What is the Scriptural Posture of Public Prayer," by elder J. R. Caldwell and W. L. Sampey.

Saturday, 9:30 a. m., "Ought all Church Members Contribute to the Support of their Pastors, and to What Extent Ought Pastors to be Supported"; by H. W. Caffey and W. H. Lawrence.

1:30 p. m. "What is Gospel Discipline," J. W. Wright, D. D., and Elder Hardy Jones.

7:30 p. m. "In what way do the Scriptures Teach that Contributions Shall be Gathered for the Support and Spread of the Gospel and for Charitable Objects." Elds. Jefferson Falkner and J. A. Mullins.

Sunday 9:30 a. m. "Of What Use is the Sunday School, and if of Any Use Who Ought to Attend it," by Brethren J. E. White and P. C. Dennis.

Eleven o'clock a. m. "Is Missions a New Testament Doctrine? If so who are Exempt from Contributing?" by Eld. A. E. Burns.

The church invites everybody to attend. Especially the ministry, and particularly the brethren whose names are on the program. COMMITTEE.

How Yellow Fever Was Inducted Into Decatur.

A desperate refugee.

A resolute, fearless quarantine officer.

A dash through a car window.

So the story of the induction of yellow fever into Decatur runs, if truthfully told.

In the early September, 1888, a man named Livingston refugeed from Jacksonville and came eastward. He stopped a day or so in Atlanta and then started for Birmingham. Before getting into the Magic City he was stopped by a quarantine officer, and not answering questions exactly straight was put off and not allowed to enter town. Subsequent events entitle Birmingham's quarantine inspector to a gold medal.

Livingston failing to obtain entrance into Birmingham obtained a buggy and drove around the city to a point on the railroad, There he purchased a ticket for Decatur. Arriving at Decatur a quarantine inspector locked the door in the rear and examined passengers as they came out the front door. Livingston having learned something from his former experiences with quarantine sat in his seat. Picking his time when the passengers were massed around the inspector at the door Livingston swung himself out of a rear window and quickly disappeared in the crowd on the street. He got in with Spencer and spent two or three nights with him. In a week Spencer was down with fever; in ten days Decatur was in the midst of a terrible epidemic.

AN ACT

To amend section 1428 of the Code.

Section 1.—Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, That section 1428 of the Code of Alabama, be, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows: Section 1428. —The overseers of public roads are authorized and empowered, and in precincts where there is no constable or sheriff shall be required to serve all process that may be issued from the magistrate court in the election precinct, against defaulters to work on such overseer's road and such overseer shall receive the fees for such service as are allowed by law to constables for the same but such overseer must only serve such process where there is no constable in the precinct in which such process is issued by the justice of the peace.

Approved, February 28 1889.

Official:

C. C. LANGDON,
Secretary of State.

Where are you going my pretty maid?
I'm going to the dry goods store she said.
May I go with you, my pretty maid?
You may if yu'll wait out side she said
How long shall I wait for you my pretty maid?
Until I look over the samples, she said
And how many samples, my pretty maid?
Some of calico, some of silk, some of pique, some of linen, some of lawn, some of velvet,—ribbons, trimmings, buttons, gloves, laces, embroideries——
I cannot go with you, he gloomily said.

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 75 cents, we will sell them Shiloh's System Vitaliser, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by A. E. Rivings, Clanton.

Southern Pacific Tea Company.

Importers and Jobbers of Fine Coffees, Teas and Spices.

Fresh Roasted Coffee Daily. Also Coffee Roasted to order. Manufacturers of CAMPBELL'S BAKING POWDER.

Second Avenue, Between Twenty-first and Twenty-Second Streets.

Birmingham, Alabama.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.

ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!

HAS NO HOOPS!

NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!

NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!

HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.

PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS; SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.

LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.

CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.

Factories: Portland, Me., Peterboro, N. H., Watertown, Mass., Oswego, N. Y., Lockport, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Winona, Minn.

FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.

FULL PRICE LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.

Apr25-6

What a Barrel Holds.

A barrel of whisky contains a good deal more than any other barrel the same size; for in addition to its regulation forty-two gallons, it also contains.

A barrel of headaches, of heart aches, of woes.

A barrel of curses, a barrel of blows.

A barrel of tears, from a world-weary wife.

A barrel of sorrow, a barrel of strife.

A barrel of all-unavailing regret.

A barrel of cares, and a barrel of debt—full measure.

A barrel of hunger, poison, of pain.

A barrel of hope forever blasted and vain.

A barrel of falsehoods, a barrel of cries.

That fall from the maniac's lips as he dies.

A barrel of poverty, ruin and blight.

A barrel of terrors that grow in a night.

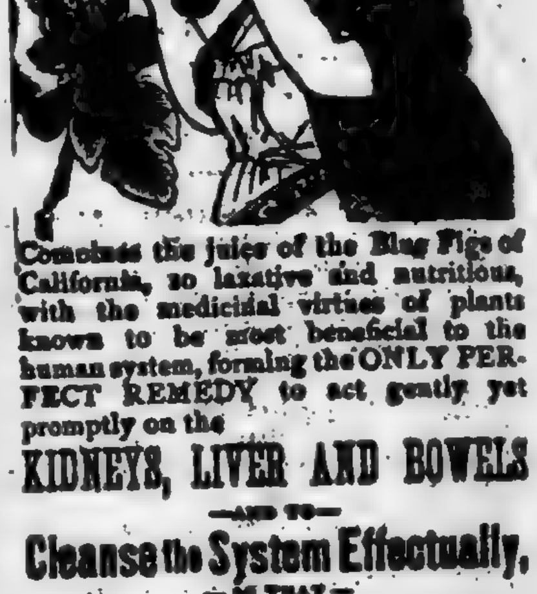
A barrel of crimes, and a barrel of groans.

A barrel of an orphan's most pitiful moans.

A barrel of serpents, that hiss as they pass.

From the head on the liquor that glows in the glass.

SYRUP of FIGS



Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,

REFRESHING SLEEP,

HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul19 y

Chancery Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Adam Schuessler, Admin'r, &c., vs. James A. Dudley, et al. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of the confirmation in the Supreme Court of a decree rendered by the Chancellor in vacation, on the 23d day of January, 1888, for the 7th District, Northeastern Chancery Division of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., on Monday, the 27th day of May, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following described real estate situated in Clanton, Chilton county, Ala., to-wit: Lots one, three, seven, nine, ten, eleven, thirteen, fifteen and sixteen in Block Five, Lying on the east side of the South and North Alabama Railroad.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

April 24th, 1889.

Chancery Sale
—OF—
REAL ESTATE.

M. K. WELCH vs. S. E. WELCH. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of a decree rendered by the Chancery Court sitting for Chilton county, I, as Register of said Court, will sell at public outcry, on Monday, the 6th day of May, 1889, at the courthouse door in Clanton, between the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate to-wit: The n w ¼ of the n e ¼ of sec 2, township 21, range 14 east.

Terms of sale—one half cash, the remainder payable on the 30th day of November, 1889, to be secured by note with two solvent sureties.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

Clanton, Ala., March 25, 1889.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

DR. TAYLOR'S SURE CHILL CURE

WARRANTED

PURELY VEGETABLE.

A SURE & SAFE CURE FOR

CHILLS AND FEVER

BILIOUS and INTERMITTENT FEVER

ALL MALARIAL DISORDERS,

AND ALL DERANGEMENTS OF THE STOMACH & BOWELS.

AN EFFECTIVE REMEDY FOR ALL

Liver & Kidney Complaints

Price 50 cts. a Bottle. Trial Bottles 25 cts.

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE. Prepared Only by

RICHARDSON-TAYLOR MED. CO.,

303 S. Fourth Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Call for a Copy of Book "OUR FAMILY TROUBLES," to be had at all stores, or sent for two cent stamp.

tapr26

NOTICE NO. 8678.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 21, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on May 4, 1889, viz: Lollie Fuller, widow of Jacob Cooper, Homestead entry 15145 for the n w ¼ of section 15 township 20 north range 15 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Cato Price, Albert Price, Madison Tyas, James Cooper, all of Verbena, Ala.

Mar28 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8686.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
March 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on May 4th, 1889, viz: Thomas J. Smith, homestead 13105 for the n w ¼ of s e ¼ and n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 10 township 22 north range 15 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Clecker, George Jones, Sr., George Jones, Jr., W. M. Gore, all of Clanton, Ala.

mar28* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 5624.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 1, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on April 27th, 1889, viz: William P. Headley, Homestead entry No. 10862 for the s e ¼ of sec 24, township 21 north of range 13 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Madison Popwell, Ezekiel Cooper, Lee Hays, Aram C. Mims, all of Kincheon, Ala.

mar21* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

$100,000 TO LEND AT A LOW RATE OF INTEREST.—We are prepared to loan money cheap on improved lands in Chilton county. We can secure loans on land, the title to which is vested in married women, without trouble or delay. BRING YOUR LAND DEEDS. Address

E. V. JONES, OR
A. D. BENTLEY,
Rockford, Ala.

January 28, 1889—(3m)

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

BAINS & PORTER.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chem Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

SAM. H. HARRIS,

—DEALER IN—

WALL PAPER,

Paints, Oils, Glass, Mouldings

AND PICTURE FRAMES.

Send for prices and samples of Wall Paper and Paints.

312 North 20th Street, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Competent Workmen sent to any part of the State.

[ma17-y]

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala

—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dy done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

H. M. MANCHA,

—DEALER IN—

Wall Paper, Window

SHADES, MOULDINGS,

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.

204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY.

☞ Will send samples on application. ☜

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.

THOS. H. HOLT,

PRACTICAL WORKMAN

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Marble

— Manufacturer of all kinds of —

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WOR

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, - - Alabam

nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,

—AND—

BUILDERS' HARDWARE.

Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Str

Birmingham, Ala.

12 20 6

OTTO STOELKER,

THE JEWELER.

☞ REMOVED TO NO. 22 DEXTER AVENUE. ☜

New Goods! • Large Sto

Finest Display of Fine Diamonds in Alabama. Rich Jewelry. Fine G Silver Watches. Wedding and Holiday Goods in Great Variety.

OTTO STOELKER,

nov15 THE JEWELER, 22 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOM

GO TO BLANK BROS, LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 2, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COUNTY CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:45 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:20 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:00 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:17 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:20 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:52 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	6:20 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

The Harmony club will have their picnic to-morrow at Corderie's mill pond.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips have returned to Clanton to reside. We are glad to welcome them back.

Miss Anna Reddish has been appointed postmistress at Verbena, vice Mr. A. L. Haralson, removed.

Our good friend, Mr. S. J. Manning, of Jemison, was in Clanton Saturday. He is the "Jolly Sam" of his town.

The county Teachers Institute was very well attended, every portion of the county being represented.

It seems that Hon. Oscar R. Hundley, of Huntsville, Ala., has really gone over to the Republicans. The Huntsville Democratic papers have "thrown him up".

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or billious. For sale in 50 cent. and one dollar bottles by all leading druggists. jul20

The "blind tiger" seems to be flourishing. It seems that some evil must accompany every good, and the "tiger" is generally at the heels of prohibition. The next grand jury will have some important work to take in hand.

Mrs. T. G. Holt has recovered sufficiently to be up. Mr. Holt is still very unwell and has been so feeble as to cause some anxiety on the part of his many warm friends. He is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism. We hope to see him well and about again soon, with his pleasant smile and cheerful word.

It is rumored that a white cap representative will visit this locality and organize a local guild. The white caps seem to be coming south with a rush. Their object seems to be to perform what ever work the juries leave undone. Evidently they are not afaid of Herculean tasks.

During the assembling of the teachers last week, it was our pleasure to make the acquaintance of Prof. Dewberry, of Montgomery, a principal of the Montgomery city schools, and editor of the Alabama Teacher's Journal; a publication for which every teacher should subscribe.

While the Teachers were assembled in our city it was the pleasure of the VIEW man to have under his "vine and fig-tree," Capt. J. A. Harwood, of Stanton Academy, and Prof. J. L. Ruffin, Jr., of Jemison High School. We feel proud to have such intelligent and polished gentlemen in the list of our county's teachers.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at low prices for cash. Shoes for spring trade now in. Groceries all the year, the present is no exception. Everything guaranteed as represented. Fair dealing at fair prices is my plan for holding trade, and my sales will prove that the people are treated well. Give me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Detailed Proceedings of the Chilton County Teachers' Institute.

The Chilton County Institute met in the academy at Clanton at 10 o'clock a. m., April 26. The exercises of the day were opened by prayer by Prof. J. L. Ruffin, of Jemison, after which Hon. W. A. Collier, of Clanton, delivered an address of welcome to the teachers in behalf of the citizens of Clanton. He assured the teachers of their hearty welcome, and very eloquently referred to the public schools as the moulders of future destinies, and of the great men who had come from the old field school and of the parental responsibilities of teachers.

County Superintendent R. E. R. Hicks followed, making some timely remarks upon the progress of education in the county.

Prof. J. L. Ruffin, Jr., was elected secretary of the institute.

After an organization was completed the teachers of the county teachers' institute were enrolled in alphabetical order.

On motion a committee composed of the following teachers was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws for the institute: Profs. E. D. Acker, J. A. Harwood and Miss F. A. Collins, to report in the afternoon. An informal recess was then taken, after which the regular program was taken up. On the subject of school discipline, Prof. J. W. Moore spoke with enthusiasm. Among things he said, was the great importance of school discipline; opposed corporal punishment, and urged the great importance of teaching pupils to think, and setting before them the proper example. He was followed by Profs. Hicks, Corderie and Ruffin, each making very argumentative speeches on the proper method to pursue for good school discipline. The institute then took intermission until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The subject of "Teachers' Field" was opened by a paper from Miss S. A. Pitts, who handled her subject with skill, making some very noticeable points, among which was a description of territory assigned to teachers' labor and experience, fidelity, example and proper organization of teachers. Prof Hinton opened the discussion, making some timely remarks upon the duty of the teacher in reference to shaping the minds of the next generation. He was followed by Profs. Harwood, Acker and Corderie each making some valuable suggestions in reference to moral principles, parental work, and the reason why cheap teachers should not he had.

The subject of uniform text books was introduced by a short paper from Prof. W. C. Robinson and was ably discussed by others principally among whom were Profs. Corderie, Acker, Harwood and Scott.

Upon the subject of "Relation of Teachers to Parent," Prof. Scott entertained the audience with an eloquent speech, urging the importance of teacher governing his own school regardless of parent or trustee.

Prof. Corderie followed, bringing down the house with laughter and applause, as he referred to his former home in Coosa, and the way of doing business there.

NIGHT SESSION.

Prof. Corderie was introduced and arose amidst applause. He spoke long and well; his arguments were full of sound sense, and were received with approbation by the audience.

Prof. Harwood followed in his usual eloquent manner, after which the institute adjourned to meet again at 8 o'clock of the 27th inst.

SECOND DAYS SESSION.

The subject of high-graded schools was brought before the institute by a paper from J. A. Harwood. He spoke very eloquently and showed that he had given his subject study and thought. His comparisons were beautifully made, and the thought was excellent. He was followed by Prof. Speer, saying that the high graded schools were very essential to higher education of the poor, who were not financially able to attend colleges of the state. That they would place Christianity, civil government culture and refinement upon a higher plane, and urged the importance of urging the establishment of these schools through our representatives. He was followed by superintendent Palmer, who spoke upon the unlimited benefits of teachers' institutes, saying that the teachers were becoming more professional and better organised; that educational interests were being advanced more rapidly, and that teacher, parent and child were all elevated to a certain extent by these institutes.

Primary education was ably discussed by Miss Kate Sherrel and Profs. Ruffin, Corderie, Hunter, Acker and Dewberry, each giving the methods which they used. Webster's speller was condemned by some, but was ably defended by Prof. Corderie, highly entertaining the audience with his usual wit, humor and ridicule, after which the institute adjourned until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The subject of self-culture of teachers was opened by a paper from Miss Gamma Midleton, saying that mental development was similar to nature's as the mind is exercised, it expands as the body; that teachers grow stronger as they cultivate themselves. The discussion was opened by Prof. Scott. He spoke very eloquently upon the progress of education in the last few years, and as education advances better teachers were needed to further the interests of this grand and glorious cause. That obstacles of the past have been overcome by our predecessors, and we were now upon vantage ground. That we are great by work and not by nature. "Every man is the architect of his own fortune." Prof. Dewberry and others followed. Their speeches were argumentative, urging the great importance of self-culture. A closing speech was made by Superintendent Palmer.

The closing exercises were excellent. Many of the teachers told the manifold benefits of which the institute had been to them. The institute adjourned at 5:45 to meet again in July.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

For Sale at a Bargain.

The neat cottage residence of J. C. Lawrence is offered for sale at the low price of $500, all cash, or $600, one-third cash, balance in one and two years. A splendid opportunity to purchase a nice house cheap. Parties desiring to purchase can apply at this office.

A Home Comfort!

We the undersigned citizens of Prattville, Ala., have each purchased a new Improved Home Comfort Cooking Range from the traveling salesman of the Wrought Iron Range Company, and find them to be far superior in every respect to anything we have ever seen or tried in the way of a cooking apparatus and would advise any friend or neighbor to secure one at their earliest convenience, as we consider them the cheapest stove that can be used, and know by experience that they are the best?

CHAS. S. G. DOSTER,
Attorney at Law.
JOHN BURNS,
Foreman Cotton Factory.
W. G. BECKWORTH,
Foreman Gin Shops.
J. C. BURNS,
Traveling Salesman Pratt Cotton Gin.
W. F. MIMS, Merchant.
M. D. FISHER,
Foreman Pratt's Foundry.
G. C. SPIGNER,
Undertaker and Liveryman.
J. W. KILLAUGH,
Workman in Gin Shops.

Attention Fishermen.

The Greensboro Watchman offers a premium to the person sending it the best "fish story" between now and the 15th of June. The premium offered is the Watchman for one year. As the VIEW can readily obtain more "fish stories" than it needs, we propose to offer the VIEW one year free to the party presenting us the largest fish between this date and the 1st of July. Those with "fish stories" can correspond with the Watchman, and those with fish can call on the VIEW.

"The Little Brown Jug."

We saw one hanging very conspicuously on Main Street the other day. It was a reminder of what a power in the land is the "little brown jug," and what a death-grip it holds upon its weak, red-nosed and purple-faced votaries. Hanging high it seemed to glory in its strength and to say: "How weak is man, that I, a thing of clay, should have the power to make him fall down and worship me."

The Methodists will picnic Friday before the fourth Sunday in this month.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successul Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough, we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton. jan 10

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

DID YOU KNOW IT?

Did you know catarrh is a blood disease? Well it almost invariably is, and frequently is a symptom of inherited blood poison. The tendency to catarrh may lay dormant in the system half a man's lifetime and then suddenly become active and the disease at once severe and troublesome.

R. C. EDWARDS, Lampasas Springs, Texas writes: "For over four years I have been a great sufferer from a terrible form of Nasal Catarrh. I was greatly annoyed with a constant roaring in my head and my hearing became very much impaired.

The discharge from my nose was profuse and very offensive, and my general health impaired. I tried most all prominent physicians, but they did not cure me, and I used various advertised preparations without benefit.

I then went to the drug store of T. E. Smith & Bro., and purchased B. B. B., and to my utter astonishment and satisfaction, the use of ten bottles has restored my general health, stopped the roaring sensation, entirely healed and cured the nasal catarrh, and I am proud to recommend a blood remedy with such powerful curative properties.

The business men of our town know of my case."

W. A. PEPPER, Fredonia, Ala., writes: "I cannot refrain from telling you what a glorious medicine you have. For two years my mother has suffered with a severe Catarrh of the head and ulcerated sore throat. She resorted to various remedies without effect, until she used B. B. B., which cured her catarrh, and healed her sore throat."

CATARRH

R. C. KINNARD & SON, Towaliga, Ga., writes: "One of our neighbors has been suffering from catarrh for several years, which resisted all treatment and medicine resorted to. We finally induced him to try the efficacy of B. B. B., and he was soon delighted with an improvement. He continued its use, and was cured sound and well."

CATARRH

☞ Write to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for "Book of Wonders" sent free. (30)

[sep27 cw 1y]

Insure Your Property against Fire.

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[feb 14 3]

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,

BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers

Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜

Birmingham, Ala.

mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.

MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS

Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery OF ALL KINDS.

MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜

nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.

Lyman & Stone.

BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.

SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

Blank Books, Letter Presses,

PRINTERS' STOCK.

Fine Stationery a Specialty.

2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,

Steam Printers and Binders,

1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay

INSURE WITH

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,

Montgomery, Alabama.

Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.

Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.

W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Bogacki & McDonald,

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Glass, Paints and Oils, Artists' Materials, Pictures and Frames, Window Shades.

119 COMMERCE STREET, Wholesale Block,

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

nov1-6m

Clanton High School

Will be opened on the first Monday in September and will continue nine scholastic months. The session will be divided into two terms. The first ending Friday before the first Monday in February, and the second will begin on the following Monday and will end with May. We will thoroughly prepare young men and ladies for college or give them a certificate of graduation. We expect to be assisted by an accomplished lady. Patronage is earnestly desired. Very Respectfully, aug16 A. J. SCOTT, Principal.

READ THIS!

I have removed my stock of Confectioneries

—AND—

Fancy Groceries

into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.

I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.

Very respectfully,

dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,

Photographer,

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen, Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER.

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE

(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HERBINE

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than pills.

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billious Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Billious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine. If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.

The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.

Easy and pleasant to use.

Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

nov22-y

ALLEGER'S

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

FROM $85 to $53.

This Elegant Parlor Organ, style 70, containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells. Stool and Book free. For only $53.00. With right and left couplers. "Warranted for 6 years."

It is only necessary to send references as to your responsibility from any banker, postmaster, merchant or express agent and the Organ will be shipped promptly on ten days' trial.

Circular free to all.

[illegible]

H. W. ALLEGER,

Washington, [illegible]

OSTRICH FARMING.

PLUCKING THE BIRDS ON A CALIFORNIA RANCH.

Struggles of the Birds—Pulling the Feathers—Dexterity Necessary—Value of the Crop of Plumes.

A pluck at the Kenilworth ostrich farm having been announced for Monday, a party of visitors took the train from Los Angeles for the scene of this unfamiliar form of harvesting. The ostrich farm which is situated about seven miles northeast of Los Angeles, occupies a very pretty valley at the foot of one of the coast ranges, not far from the Burbank station, on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

The ostriches are confined in a number of large corrals, in which the birds have free room to run about scoop out their primitive nests and make themselves generally quite at home. Four of these corrals are occupied by pairs of full-grown imported birds, at the present time occupied in laying eggs. In other corrals are young birds, natives of California, which appear to be quite as healthy and promise to be as fine as their African parents.

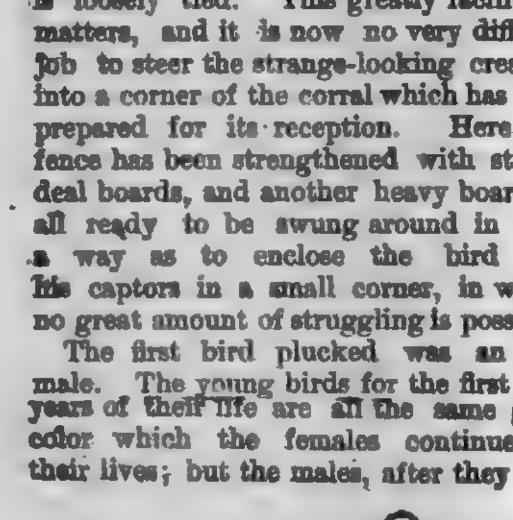
MALE OSTRICH SITTING ON EGGS.

Plucking the birds is by no means a light undertaking. The one thing which makes ostriches manageable at all is that they cannot either fly or leap, or if they can they are not aware of their powers. Hence an ordinary post and rail fence five feet high is sufficient to confine birds standing perhaps seven feet high, even when they are making the most desperate efforts to escape from the hands of their spoilers. But if they cannot fly they can run and kick, and a kick from one of their great strong legs is an experience which nobody cares to try. Thus in catching them it is always necessary carefully to avoid getting in front of them, for they can only kick straight forward.

When plucking is to begin three men enter the corral and approach the birds. They try to get the one they wish to catch up into a corner, but as the bird soon sees that his best chance lies in keeping in the open, he races first down one side of the corral, then up the other, making it appear as though it were an almost hopeless task to try and catch him. His strides are enormous, but his great feet and the muscles of his thighs are so strong that he comes along with a strangely easy, springy gait, in which very little is seen of the foolish awkwardness which is the first characteristic to strike strangers when they see the bird at rest.

After several quite vain attempts to reach the bird as he runs past, the quickest of the men throws himself upon one of the huge wings, and the first time, perhaps, finds himself sprawling on the ground, with a handful of broken feathers to reward him for his pains. Soon, however, somebody is fortunate enough to get a good hold, and by the time he has been dragged half way round the inclosure the other two men also are to be seen firmly attached to some part of the body or wings of the bird. Then a sack is rapidly produced from the belt of one of the men and slipped over the head and long neck, at the lower end of which it is loosely tied. This greatly facilitates matters, and it is now no very difficult job to steer the strange-looking creature into a corner of the corral which has been prepared for its reception. Here the fence has been strengthened with strong deal boards, and another heavy board is all ready to be swung around in such a way as to enclose the bird and his captors in a small corner, in which no great amount of struggling is possible.

The first bird plucked was an old male. The young birds for the first two years of their life are all the same gray color which the females continue for their lives; but the males, after they are about two years old, become very handsome. They turn quite black, thus making a very handsome setting for the great white plumes which adorn their wings and tails. As they approach any one who is looking at them their beautiful bright breasts remind him forcibly of funeral plumes. But when the black feathers come to be plucked they are found to be only black at the tips, and even here they seldom reach perfect blackness, except in the mass. The feathers singly are of a dark brownish color, shading off into something approaching very near to black at the tips. Occasionally, but very rarely, a truly black feather is found, but nearly all the black plumes and tips sold in the stores are dyed. Only the wing and tail feathers are pulled, the curly-looking tips on the breast which arouse the cupidity of some of the ladies, being left untouched.

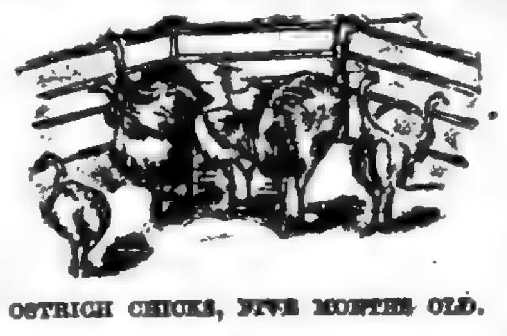


OSTRICH BEFORE PLUCKING.

The three men who have hold of the bird force him up tight against the corner of the inclosure, and the one of them who is doing the plucking—in this case the proprietor—stands on the side away from the wing on which he is going to commence operations. He raises the wing, and drawing it toward him over the body of the bird he selects the feathers which he considers marketable, and grasping them one by one firmly in his hand gives them a good hard pull and out they come. First the great white plumes, then the smaller whites and then the larger blacks. It must be a somewhat painful operation for the bird, as the feathers have a tight hold and the wing bleeds more or less at most points from which several feathers adjoining one another have been drawn. Every now and then a renewed struggle on the part of the ostrich and an effort, not always unsuccessful, to shake off the sack which is over his head, bears witness to his not relishing the situation.

As fast as the feathers are pulled, and this is done very quickly, they are handed over the fence to a man standing close by with a box. Then the ladies have their chance. The amount of discussion which is required before the onlookers can decide which of the feathers is most worthy to be chosen to remind them of the occasion is surprising. First nothing less than one of the great white plumes at the end of the wing is good enough, and as these are selling to-day at from $1 to $2 they are cheap enough. But when looked at in the hand it is found—surprising fact!—that the feathers do not grow curled and washed and ready to be worn on hats, and presently a smaller feather of white and gray prettily blended, is espied falling into the box. These vary in price from twenty-five to fifty cents, or in the case of very fine ones reach $1; but just as the purchase is on the point of completion and the fair buyer's hand is searching among the small coins in a lengthy purse for one of just the right dimensions, she becomes aware that her next neighbor has secured quite a pretty little feather for ten cents; "Really quite good enough to keep as a memento." And so the struggle ends, and economy is triumphant.

Meanwhile the two wings have been plucked, and the tail, which produces feathers shorter than the best wing plumes but much wider—such as are used for the best tips. Then the sack is removed, and the board which encloses the party having been swung back, the bird is set loose, a queer, curtailed-looking monster, shorn of his glory, but probably in a day or two much more comfortable—in hot weather at any rate—for being freed from the burden of his great, heavy plumes.



OSTRICH CHICKS, FIVE MONTHS OLD.

Care has to be taken again as the sack is removed that he does not reward his tormentors with a kick, which, if well delivered, would easily break a bone; but his inability to kick any way except straight in front of him makes it no very difficult matter.

OSTRICH AFTER PLUCKING.

Then the chase is renewed, and the royal consort is, in her turn, humiliated by having her proud head enveloped in the sack; and so the game goes on, till all the birds which are ready for plucking have been dealt with.

It is very hard work on a hot day, as not only have great agility and considerable courage and perseverance to be displayed in catching the birds, but even holding them in the corner while the plucking is going on involves an almost continuous struggle, more or less severe.

The operation takes perhaps about twenty minutes for each bird after it has been caught, and in this time some 200 to 250 feathers of various sizes are pulled. Each bird is plucked twice a year, the plumes requiring a growth of about seven months to reach perfection. The feathers, if not retailed on the premises or in Los Angeles stores, are sold by weight. A short time ago they went as low as $50 a pound, but they are now going up, the wearing of ostrich feathers in hats having again become fashionable. A full grown bird will give rather more than a pound of feathers between his two plucks, but as they are voracious feeders there is not much profit to be made out of keeping them when feathers are fetching low prices. They are fed mainly on alfalfa, supplemented by corn and almost any vegetable food that comes handy.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Tail of a Mastiff.

I was the owner of a mastiff about as large as a yearling calf; but one day he went the way of all dogs, and I employed a taxidermist to set him up in good shape. While this work was being done the tramps began to put in an appearance. While "Jack" was living not one of the fraternity got inside the yard. He had not been dead two days before we had callers. How they caught on I don't pretend to say, but that was the way it worked.

When the dog came home he looked as natural as life. By standing him on the grass beside a rose bush any one looking over the gate would have sworn that "Jack" was alive and ready to tackle an intruder. During the first day as many as five tramps halted at the gate, took a look, shook their heads, and passed on, and three more were scared off next forenoon. Soon after dinner a dilapidated pair, fresh from a long tramp, arrived, and as the first laid his hand on the second exclaimed:

"No go, Bill—there's a dog!"

"Stuffed!" replied the first, as he opened the gate.

"How d'ye know?"

"By the turn of his tail. Ever see a big dog like that with his tail turned to the left? Course he's stuffed."

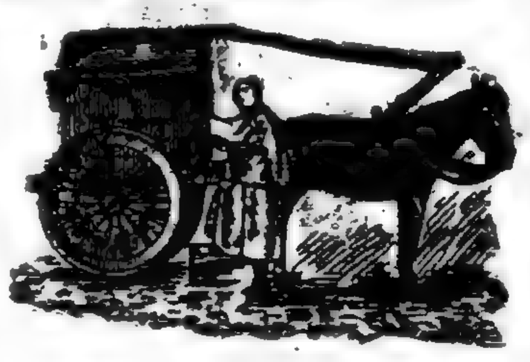
I gave the man a quarter apiece and then went out to look at the big dogs in the neighborhood. Every one carried his tail to the right. Indeed, nine dogs out of ten do, and that ragged and penniless old tramp was a closer observer than the taxidermist, who had made a life study of posing specimens. I was so hit by it that I stored the dog in the garret and fed every tramp who came for the next three months.—New York Sun.

The present Cabinet is divided equally between the East and the West.

Two Chinese Conveyances.

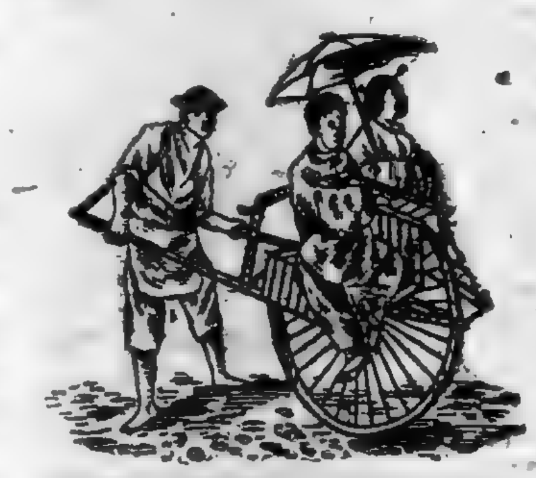
I paid some calls yesterday in company with Colonel Denby, our Minister to Peking, says Frank G. Carpenter in a letter to the New York World. We were in the Minister's Chinese cart, preceded by his mafoo, or groom, on horseback. The Chinese cart is the only carriage known in Peking outside of the elephant carts, on which the Emperor goes out to sacrifice at the Temple of Heaven. It is the [illegible] [illegible] and most unbending vehicle I have ever met with. It has no springs and its heavy wheels bump and jolt on a level road, to say nothing of the torture they produce on these streets of Peking, which are a continuous series of ruts, holes and mud ponds. There is no window to the cart, save a piece of glass one foot square set into its side, and its covering is made of blue cloth stretched over a frame, making it as close as a [illegible]. The bed of this cart is level with the shafts, and the rich Chinaman or the noble Chinese woman sits in it with crossed legs on the floor. There is not room for more than one person in a cart, and if the grand Pekingese dame has a maid with her the servant must sit on the shafts beside the driver.

It was on such carts that the hundreds of Mantchu maidens, who were brought to the palace from all parts of North China that they might be looked over as prospective inmates of the Emperor's harem, were carried, and it is in such carts that all of the traveling of North China, outside of donkey, pony and camel back and mule litter is done. It is the only vehicle that will stand the ruts and ditches of Chinese public roads. These are everywhere bad, and the statement in the geographies that China has more than twenty thousand imperial roads conveys no idea to the American mind of the highways of this great Empire. Many of the streets of the Chinese part of the city of Pekin are too narrow for these carts, and there are many cities in the Empire where neither four-footed beasts nor carts are to be found. Here in Peking the easiest method of moving from one part of the city to the other is by means of donkeys, which, not larger than good-sized Newfoundland dogs, can go anywhere.



A CHINESE CART.

The great part of the carting of the city and all of the drayage is done by men. Wheelbarrows are the drays, and these are pushed and pulled by stalwart, half naked men. They carry sometimes as much as a ton, and I have seen three men and one donkey harnessed to one of them. One man, naked to the waist, held the shafts of the barrow aided by a wide band of camel's wool rope, which stretched from them across his shoulders, and two others walked in front harnessed to the barrow by like bands across their chests, and stooping over and straining every muscle as they pulled at the load. The donkey was also harnessed to the front of the barrow, and he walked between the men. The load they carried was made up of a large number of boxes labeled with the name of one of the leading agents of the Standard Oil Company of the United States. China uses a great deal of American kerosene, and I see this coal oil everywhere throughout North China.



CHINESE PASSENGER WHEELBARROW.

These Chinese wheelbarrows are entirely different from ours. The wheel is as big around as the front wheel of a buggy and it comes up through the center of the bed of the barrow instead of being in front of it, as in America. The load is put on each side of the wheel and there is a fort of framework which runs up from the bed and keeps the load off the wheel. The handles of the barrow are very long and the front part of the bed ends in two sharp points. In some parts of China, such as Shanghai, the wheelbarrow is the cab and the street car of the Chinese, and each barrow is expected to carry two passengers. I have seen two pretty Chinese maidens being pushed along the road in this way, and at Tientsin you find the streets often blocked with these wheelbarrows, loaded with stone, coal, wool, cloth and a thousand and one things which are used in one form or another by the Chinese. In the great plain where the wind is very strong the wheelbarrow carrier often hoists a sail to help him along, and the wind pushes with him as it goes. In Shanghai these wheelbarrow men pay a license, and not long ago an attempt was made to raise this from 50 cents to $1 per year. The men clubbed together and struck to the number of some hundreds and the result was that the increase had to be materially lessened.

How He Held the Ladder.

Farmer Waxend—Why didn't you hold the ladder, as I told you to, you blundering blockhead?

Small Boy—I did—and—and I'm holding it now.

The oyster-dredging season in the Chesapeake Bay has come to an end. About 2,000,000 bushels of oysters were handled at Baltimore [illegible] the season.

NEWSPAPER CRITICISM.

It is the privilege of every newspaper reserved to itself to criticise, adversely if needs be, for the public's benefit anything in which the public is deeply interested.

It is the custom of H. H. Warner & Co., proprietors of the renowned Kidney and Liver Cure better known as "Warner's Safe Cure," to flood the country, and especially the postoffices, with medical pamphlets. The writer has taken the liberty to examine one of these marvelous little books, and finds food for criticism, but before indulging in it, will give our readers some quotations therefrom, from the highest medical authorities, which we believe worthy of consideration. Under the head of "No Distinctive Symptoms Apparent," we find:

First—More adults are carried off in this country by chronic kidney disease than by any other one malady except consumption.—Thompson.

Second—Deaths from such diseases are increasing at the rate of 250 per cent. a decade.—Edwards.

Third—Bright's Disease has no symptoms of its own, and may long exist without the knowledge of the patient or practitioner, as no pain will be felt in the kidneys or their vicinity.—Roberts.

Fourth—In the fatal cases—and most cases have hitherto been fatal—the symptoms of diseased kidneys will first appear in extremely different organs of the body as stated above.—Thompson.

Fifth—Only when the disease has reached its final and fatal stages may the usual symptoms of albumen and tube casts appear in the water, and will great pain rack the diseased organs.—Thompson.

Sixth—Bright's Disease, which usually has three stages of development, is a universal disease in England and America.—Roberts and Edwards.

Thompson is authority for saying that more adults are carried off in this country by kidney disease than any other malady except consumption. Under Warner's "Safe Cure" article on Consumption, we find a paragraph claiming to be a quotation from a publication issued by Brompton Hospital for Consumptives, London, England, which states that 52 per cent. of the patients of that institution have unsuspected kidney disorder. Dr. Herman Brehmer, an eminent German authority, also says that Consumption is always due to deficient nutrition of the lungs, because of bad blood.

Medical science can no longer dispute the fact that the kidneys are the principal blood purifying organs of the human system, and if they are diseased and thus fail to expel the uric acid poison or the waste matter of the blood, as the blood passes through these two great organs, the "Safe Cure" claim is correct, and the reasoning of its proprietor holds good.

There is no doubt but that in too many instances the medical fraternity doctor for symptoms, instead of striking at the root of the disease, and that under this form of treatment many patients die.

We cannot, however, see the necessity of continually flooding the country with these advertising medical books, when their story once well told is enough for the time being. People, as a rule, now-a-days, go to their newspaper for information, and we believe such truths as we have instanced could be proclaimed therein more advantageously to the public and much more beneficially to the proprietors.

Railroad Signal.

John Carter, of Baltimore, has the model of a new invention of his. It is a danger signal for railroad crossings, on which several patents have been taken out. It consists of a very novel and effective tripping device, placed one mile from and on either side of the crossing. The device connects by a lever with a system of chains and pulleys, which themselves are connected with an electric apparatus in a tower by the crossing. When a train passes over the "trip" an electric bell is set ringing on top of the tower, from which a big red flag appears at the same time. The bell may be heard from a point two miles distant. At night a red light takes the place of the flag. When the train passes over the trip placed one mile on the other side of the crossing, the flag or light disappears and the bell stops ringing. The signal is arranged to work with double tracks or more.

Magnificent Fee.

H. M. Flagler, the Standard oil millionaire and owner of the Ponce DeLeon hotel at St. Augustine, Fla., has presented Dr. Geo. Shelton, of New York, with securities of the par value of $50,000, market value about $87,000, in consideration of his faithfulness and skill in attending the case of Mr. Flagler's daughter, Mrs. Benedict, who died on her husband's yacht off Charleston, S. C., a few days ago, after a long illness.

AT Rondout-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., a man died, leaving a property valued at $2,000. This was partly mortgaged. The mortgage and costs involved amounted to $1,999, thus leaving but $1 to be divided among the widow and fourteen heirs. The widow will, however, have only the use of this dollar during her lifetime, and must leave it to the heirs at her death.

"Oh, my back!" is a common exclamation, and expresses a world of misery and suffering. It is singular this pain arises, from such various causes. Kidney disease, liver complaint, wasting affections, colds, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork and nervous debility are chief causes. When thus ailing seek prompt relief. It can be found best in Brown's Iron Bitters. It builds up from the foundation by making the blood rich and pure. Leading physicians and ministers use and recommend it. It has cured many, and if you are a sufferer, try it.

A Portuguese anti-slavery society has been formed with King Luis as honorary president.

A Regulator.

A few Hamburg Figs will cure the worst cases of constipation and indigestion, and their occasional use will prevent the recurrence of these troubles. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Health and Strength

[illegible] weakness and languor, if that reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, is fairly and faithfully tried. It is the best medicine to keep the blood pure and to expel the germs of scrofula, salt rheum, and other poisons which cause so much suffering, and sooner or later undermine the general health. By its peculiar curative power Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens the system while it eradicates disease. It is the people's favorite spring medicine.

"I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored my health and prolonged my days. I was feeling badly for a long time, my trouble being a general nervous prostration, accompanied with chills and fever. After taking five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I felt as well as to be able to do my housework. I am as well now as any one of my age, 75 years."—[illegible], St. Albans, Vt.

"I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for [illegible] who has bad blood." [illegible]

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

I was so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored. B. F. Liepsner, A. M., Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N.Y.

THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD

MOTHERS' FRIEND

MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY

IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.

[illegible] BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA. [illegible]

CHRONIC DISEASES

[illegible]

The Invalid's Hope.

Many seemingly incurable cases of blood poison, catarrh, scrofula and rheumatism have been cured by B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Write to them for book filled with convincing proof.

G. W. B. [illegible], living seven miles from Athens, Ga., writes: "For several years I suffered with running ulcers, which doctors treated and pronounced incurable. A single bottle of B. B. B. did me more good than all the doctors. I kept on using it and every ulcer healed."

D. C. Kinard & Son, Towaliga, Ga., writes: "We induced a neighbor to try B. B. B. for catarrh, which he thought incurable, as it had resisted all treatment. It delighted him, and continuing its use, he was cured, sound and well."

R. M. [illegible], East Point, Ga., writes: "My wife had scrofula 15 years. She kept growing worse. She lost her hair and her skin broke out fearfully. Debility, emaciation and no appetite followed. After physicians and numerous advertised medicines failed, I tried B. B. B., and her recovery was rapid and complete."

Oliver Secor, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I suffered from weak back and rheumatism. B. B. B. has proven to be the only medicine that gave me relief."

Beating the Jute Trust.

Dr. Panknin of Chrleston, S. C., has some interesting specimens of the fibre of decorticated jute and okra stalks, from which the gum has been removed by his recently discovered chemical process. Dr. Panknin has been conducting a series of experiments on yucca, salt water rush and other plants indigenous to his state, and his conclusion will be awaited with great interest, in view of the widespread excitement over the Jute Trust and the determination of the Farmers' Alliance in several states to show fight. Dr. Panknin recognizes that it will be no easy matter to find a cheap and thoroughly satisfactory substitute for jute, as the butts or refuse which are imported from India by the bagging manufacturers are exceedingly cheap. After the comparative failure of the late John Commins, to perfect his scheme for utilizing the marsh grass, Dr. Panknin is not quick to reach conclusions, but he evidently thinks there are very favorable possibilites in the common South Carolina coast.

Consumption, Scrofula, General DEBILITY, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, Chronic Coughs and Bronchitis, can be cured by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Prominent physicians use it and testify to its great value. Please read the following: "I used Scott's Emulsion for an obstinate Cough with Hemorrhage, Loss of Appetite, Emaciation, Sleeplessness, &c. All of these have now left, and I believe your Emulsion has saved a case of well developed Consumption."—T. J. FINDLEY, M. D., Lone Star, Texas.

Over 1,000 cases of pneumonia are reported as the result of Inauguration Day; 80 deaths.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., N. Y., will receive the recipe free of charge.

A Radical Cure for Epileptic Fits.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease which I warrant to cure the worst cases. So strong is my faith in its virtues that I will send free a sample bottle and valuable treatise to any sufferer who will give me his P. O. and Express address. Resp'y,

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

THE Mother's Friend, used before confinement, lessens pain and makes labor comparatively easy. Sold by all druggists.

Spring Disorders

Shattered nerves, tired brain, impure blood, debilitated system, all are the natural outcome in the Spring. A medicine must be used, and nothing equals Paine's Celery Compound. We let others praise us—you cannot help believing a disinterested party.

Brigadier-General W. L. Greenleaf, Burlington, Vt., writes: "I have used Paine's Celery Compound on several occasions, and always with benefit. Last spring, being very much run down and debilitated, I commenced taking it. Two bottles made me feel like a new man. As a general tonic and spring medicine I do not know of its equal."

"I have used two bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound, and it has given entire satisfaction as an appetizer and blood purifier."

T. L. BERNER, Watertown, Dakota.

Paine's Celery Compound

is prescribed by physicians, recommended by druggists, endorsed by ministers, praised by users, and guaranteed by the manufacturers, as a spring medicine which will do all that is claimed for it. Use it this spring, and see how quickly it tones you up.

Purifies the Blood.

Full accounts of wonderful cures made by Paine's Celery Compound after other medicines and the best physicians had failed, sent free. There's nothing like it.

$1.00. Six for $5.00. Druggists.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

DIAMOND DYES Color anything any Color. Simple, Durable, Economical.

LACTATED FOOD a scientific food for invalids, convalescents relish &

SENT FREE!

Every reader of this paper, who expects to buy

A WATCH,

send for new Illustrated Catalogue for 1889, which we send Free.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO., Jewelers,

47 Whitehall Street, ATLANTA, GA.

AFTER ALL OTHERS FAIL CONSULT Drs. LINN & LOBB

[illegible] Philadelphia, Pa., for the treatment of Blood Poisons, Skin Eruptions, Nervous Complaints, Bright's Disease, Strictures, Impotency and kindred diseases, no matter of how long standing, or from whatever cause originating. [illegible] SPECIAL Diseases. FREE.

SOUTHERN DYE HOUSE

All kinds of Silk, Cotton or Woolen Goods handsomely dyed or cleaned.

Suits a Specialty.

EXPRESS PAID ONE WAY.

24 Walton St., ATLANTA, GA.

Ohio IMPROVED Chesters

[illegible]

$75 to $250 A MONTH [illegible]

Blair's Pills. [illegible]

WATCHES [illegible]

$5 [illegible]

AFTERNOON TEA.

Said Mrs. G. to Mrs. D.
('Twas o'er a cup of fine Bohea):
"Our pretty hostess yonder,
Has gained in looks surprisingly;
She seems as well as well can be!
What is the cause, I wonder?"

Said Mrs. D. to Mrs. G.
"She's changed indeed, but then, y
She put aside objection,
And tried that famous remedy,
Which did so much for you and me-
Pierce's Favorite Prescrip

For "run-down," debilitated and overworked women, Dr. Pierce's Fav Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is a potent Specific fo those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to Women; a powerful and nervine, it imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It prom cures weakness of stomach, nausea, indigestion, bloating, weak back, ner prostration, debility and sleeplessness. It is carefully compounded by an e rienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organiza Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by drugg under a positive guarantee of satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refun This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully ca out for many years.

Copyrighted, 1888, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

THE ORIGINAL LITTLE LIVER PILL

Purely Vegetable and Perfectly Harmless.

Unequaled as a Liver Pill. Smallest, cheapest, e to take. One tiny, Sugar-coated Pellet a Dose. Cures Sick Heada Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, an derangements of the stomach and bowels. 25 cents, by druggists.

S S S

My little boy, 5 years old, was sick with a disease for which doctors had no name. The nails came off his fingers, and the fingers came off to the middle joint. For 3 years he suffered dreadfully; is now getting well, and I am satisfied Swift's Specific is the chief cause of his improvement,

JOHN DEEHL,
Jan. 12, 1889. Peru, Ind.

POISONED BY A CALF—My little boy broke out with sores and ulcers, the result of the saliva of a calf coming in contact with a cut finger. The ulcers were deep and painful and showed no inclination to heal. I gave him Swift's Specific, and he is now well.

Feb. 15, '89. JOHN F. HEARD, Auburn, Ala.

Send for books on Blood Poisons & Skin Diseases, free. SWIFT SPECIFIC Co., Atlanta, Ga.

The New Baxter Engine, Rope Twine Machinery and, Manufa turer of Binder Twine, Etc.

This engine is made latest improvements from H. P. and has a record u ed in the history of steam Every engine is provided economic and safety ap known, and are warranted ery respect. Every desc Rope and Cordage, Tw Bagging Machinery. A manufacturer of Jute Hemp and Flax Binder etc. Send for circulars. A

JOSEPH C. T

Please mention this paper. 36 Day St., Ne

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. So strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send two bottles free, together with a valuable treatise on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PIL

RED CROSS DIAMOND BRAND.

Original, best, only genuine and reliable pill for sale. Never Fail. Ask for Chichester's English Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes sealed with blue ribbon. At Druggists. Accept no other. All pills in pasteboard boxes, pink wrappers, are a d ous counterfeit. Send 4c. (sta particulars and "Relief for Lad letter, by return mail. 10,000 mentals from LADIES who have used them. Name P Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phi

DETECTIVES

Wanted in every County. Shrewd men to act under instructions in our Secret Service. Experience not necessary. Particulars free. Grannan Detective Bureau Co. 44 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa. Scholarship and positions, $50. Write for circular.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

25 CTS. 25 CTS.

Road Carts! EVERYT ON WHE

10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggie

Don't buy before getting our prices a logues. THE GEO. W. STOCKELL Name this paper. NASHVILLE

BIG G

Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.

G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y.

We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.

D. R. DYCHE & CO., Chicago, Ill.

Trade Mark $1.00. Sold by Druggists.

DO YOU SEE TH

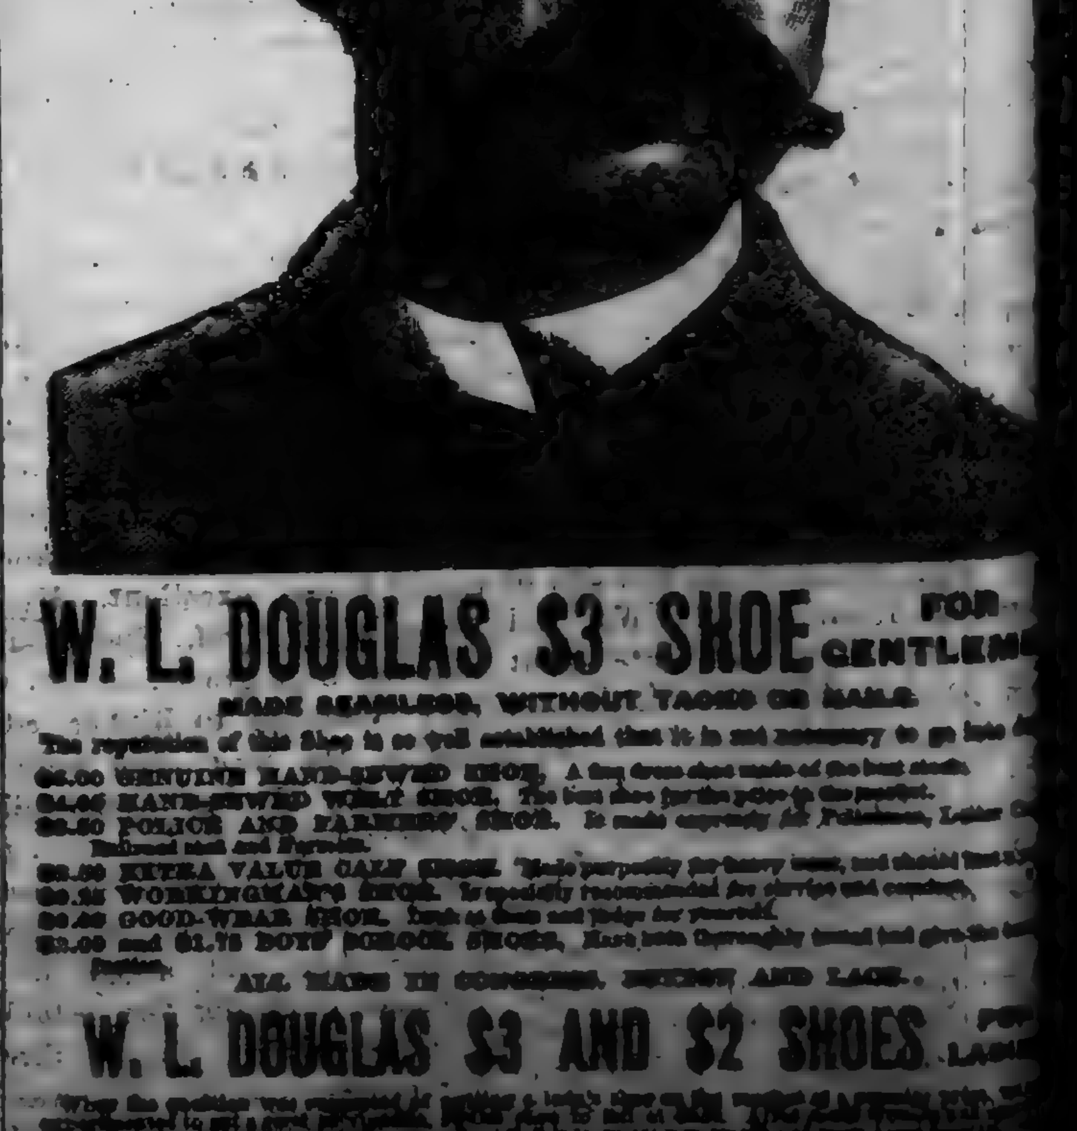
I WANT to hear only from sensible that are tired of bogus, deceptive, Non-Sense tisements, offering much for nothing. That are to do easy, honest work for liberal pay. (Not pe Address FRANKLIN PUTNAM, 483 Canal

PEERLESS DYES Are the B SOLD BY DRUG

A. N. U. .... Sevente

CAUTION

W. L. Douglas' name and the price are stamped on the botto all Shoes advertised by him before leaving his factory; this pro the wearers against high prices and inferior goods. If dealer offers you Shoes without W. L. DOUGLAS' name price stamped on them, and says they are his Shoes, or just as do not be deceived thereby. Dealers make more profit on unknown shoes that are not warranted by body; therefore do not be induced to buy shoes that have no reputation. Buy only those that have W. DOUGLAS' name and the price stamped on the bottom, and you are sure to get full value for your m Thousands of dollars are saved annually in this country by the wearers of W. L. DOUGLAS' SHO



W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

MADE SEAMLESS, WITHOUT TACKS OR NAILS.

[illegible]

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 AND $2 SHOES

[illegible]

W. L. DOUGLAS, [illegible]

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	16 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	[illegible]
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher.
"WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION."
TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1889. NUMBER 28.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

2018 1st AVENUE. CAHEEN'S 2020 1st AVENUE.

Comparisons are Odious,

But not so with us. We particularly invite and truly crave for comparison. We are leaders of fashion and the pillar of LOW PRICES. Our untold facilities enable us to sell goods cheaper than other houses can buy them. Our long business experience enables us to buy goods that the people want, and our cash capital enables us to have them at all times.

MEMORIAL DAY.

HOW IT WAS OBSERVED IN THE SOUTH.

GRAND PROCESSIONS—ELOQUENT ORATORS—LOVING TRIBUTES TO DEAD HEROES—A DAY LONG TO BE REMEMBERED.

Memorial Day was observed throughout the South. In Atlanta the ceremonies were interesting. The procession of veterans, the military companies and civic societies was an interesting one. The exercises at the cemetery were impressive, and nothing occurred to mar a perfect Memorial Day. Between 2 and 3 o'clock the procession began to form, and shortly after 3 o'clock the longest and most picturesque procession ever seen in Atlanta, moved briskly off. In advance rode Chief of Police Connolly, Capt. Jacobs, of the United States army, closely followed by Captains Couch, Manly and Wright, four sergeants of police and a squad of mounted patrolmen. At the head of the procession was Commander-in-chief W. L. Calhoun, with the following aids: Col. L. P. Thomas, Dr. K. C. Divine, Col. W. W. Hulbert, Col. H. F. Stark, Hon. A. H. Cox, Capt. W. D. Ellis, Hon. Mark A. Hardin and Mr. G. R. DeSaussure. Then in order came the Confederate veterans, Red Men, Knights of Pythias, Atlanta Artillery, Atlanta Rifles, Gate City Guards, Atlanta Zouaves and Mean's Cadets. These companies proved a strong attraction and by common consent were the pets of the populace. Huff's band preceded the Governor's Horse Guard, riding four abreast, and forty strong, and commanded by Capt. John Milledge. This organization has never made a more magnificent appearance on any public occasion. They moved with a dash of brilliancy and harmony, which aroused enthusiasm on all sides. The carriages containing the president, officers and members of the Ladies' Memorial association, the orator of the day, the Mayor and members of the city council, were escorted by the Knights Templar in their beautiful regalia, gracefully brought up the rear of the imposing procession. It was nearly 5 o'clock when the memorial exercises began. The monument was crowded with people, its sides and base being used as a platform. Several thousand people gathered about the base. Prayer was offered by Dr. J. William Jones, secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission society, and a gallant ex-confederate soldier. His invocation was appropriate and eloquent. The prayer was followed by music, after which Hon. W. Lowndes Calhoun, president of the Veteran association, introduced General P. M. B. Young, as the orator of the day. Judge Calhoun referred to General Young "as a gallant son of Georgia, one, who in her days of trial never deserted his mother, and as a major-general of cavalry in the army of Northern Virginia, was true to his home and as chivalric as a knight of old." Memorial Day was appropriately observed in Rome. Large numbers of people repaired to Myrtle Hill to strew flowers over the graves of our heroic dead. Dr. Goetchens delivered an impressive prayer, after which decoration took place. A handsome sum was collected at the gate. The Methodist church at Cuthbert, Ga., was crowded to witness the memorial exercises. W. S. Wooten, of Albany was orator. A collection was taken up for the soldiers' home and a nice sum was realized. The day was well observed at Albany, Ga. Starting from the Baptist church a large procession marched to the cemetery. Rev. W. E. Eppo opened with prayer. Mr. S. J. Jones, in a neat address, introduced Mr. W. W. Turner, formerly of Atlanta, as the orator. There was a large number present and the graves were covered with a wreath of floral offerings. Memorial Day was very generally observed in Macon, Ga. In the afternoon all business was partially suspended and thousands of persons went out to Rose Hill cemetery to participate in the exercises and decoration of the graves, which commenced at four o'clock. The exercises consisted of singing by the young ladies of the Wesleyan Female College, prayer and the reading of "The Old Canteen" by Mr. H. S. Edwards. There was a great profusion of flowers, and every grave was buried beneath a wealth of roses and other beautiful floral offerings. At three o'clock all business was suspended at Americus, Ga., and the entire city assembled at Oak Grove cemetery to pay tribute to the honored dead. Col. A. S. Cutts, a veteran of two wars, commanded the company of veterans who had met to honor their fallen comrades. Col. Frank A. Hooper was orator of the day. One of the most interesting features of the occasion was the decoration of the monument with floral emblems by ten of the prettiest young ladies of the city. More than two thousand people took part in the memorial exercises at Milledgeville, Ga., which were appropriate and pretty indeed. After a beautiful rendition of "Shall We Gather at the River" by a selected choir, Rev. D. McQueen offered an eloquent petition to the God of man and battles, after which Col. M. Grieve was introduced to the vast multitude by Captain Newell, marshal of ceremonies. Col. Grieve's oration was a master effort. The doors of the Philosophic Club at Boston, Ga., were thrown open to do honors for the brave heroes. A speech by T. F. Prouett was loudly applauded. A beautiful service in honor of the Confederate dead was held at Talbotton, Ga., at 8 o'clock. Appropriate music was rendered and Col. O. D. Gorman, after a touching prayer by Rev. H. R. Felder, introduced the orator of the day, W. H. Philpot, who delivered a beautiful address. At Savannah, Columbus, Brunswick, and other Georgia towns and cities, the day was very appropriately observed, and will long be remembered by those participating in the exercises as a grand success.

NEWS FROM OKLAHOMA.

A small pox epidemic now threatens Guthrie and other towns in the new territory of Oklahoma. It seems that a man named Joseph Ellsworth, of Kansas City, more recently from Leadville, was taken Wednesday on his return from Guthrie and Oklahoma City, and is now quarantined at a house near the Santa Fe railroad shops. It is reported that this man stood in the line at the land office in Guthrie for four hours, while waiting to file his claim on Tuesday, thus exposing to attack all those with whom he came in contact at that time. As the trains are crowded every day between Arkansas City, Guthrie, Oklahoma City and Purcell, the disease may have already spread to these towns. People who have heard of this case anticipate an epidemic. The first outbreak will result in nearly depopulating these embryo cities in Oklahoma. Dr. Moore, of Arkansas City, who is in attendance on Mr. Ellsworth, says it is a genuine case of small-pox....It is reported that a fight occurred Wednesday between the old soldiers, whose colony is located on the Canadian river, in the south-western part of Oklahoma, and a number of cow boys. The lands occupied by the colony are very valuable, and the fight resulted from an attempt by the cow boys to take them from the settlers. During the melee guns and revolvers were freely used. Nine men were killed and one wounded....A simoon swept over the desert Saturday and Guthrie is buried in red dust. The wind rose at dawn, sweeping down from a cloudless sky, and the red sand of the plain was driven before it all day in stinging, stifling masses. Tents collapsed, roofs were raised and everything light and loose was blown away....Col. D. P. Dyer, of Kansas City, a republican in politics, and formerly Indian agent under President Arthur, has been elected mayor of Guthrie. One of his first acts was to give the gamblers twenty-four hours to leave, and the next train north took away a good many of them. Two big wall tents have been erected, and are called city buildings. Police Judge M. Clark, of Kansas, holds his court there, and the city council and other city officials inhabit them. Several good buildings have been put up and improvements of all kinds are in rapid progress. W. V. Herancourt, special artist for Harper's Weekly, dropped dead in front of his tent Saturday morning.

YELLOW JACK.

William C. Chase, editor of the Climatologist, and a member of a party of sanitarians and physicians who recently visited Florida, with a view of prosecuting an examination into the sanitary condition in the state, was in Washington Saturday, having just returned from Florida. Mr. Chase expressed himself as being much impressed with the anxiety of the people of Florida to have the condition of their cities and towns thoroughly examined. He says that with few exceptions, the towns of Florida would put to shame many of the larger and richer populations in other states in their sanitary affairs. Concerning the general condition of the state and the effects of the fever, Mr. Chase remarked. "No one can spend a day in that wonderful state and fail to notice the vigorous condition of both its people and industries." Yellow fever, he thinks, cannot originate in Florida. Upon subject of the general health, Mr. Chase gives Florida a clean bill, and calls the state the natural sanitarium of the nation. He expresses his opinion that there will be no yellow fever epidemic in Florida this Summer, but the disease will be confined to sporadic cases like that at Sanford recently.

VIRGINIA.

M. V. [illegible], dry goods dealer in Richmond, Va., assigned Monday. Liabilities $140,000; assets unknown.

OVER THE GLOBE.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

FRANCE'S PERIL—STRIKES—THE WESTERN BOOM—DEATHS OF EMINENT MEN—ACCIDENTS, FIRES AND SUICIDES.

The Grand Trunk railway workmen think they have discovered that the recent accident was caused by the breaking of one of the axles of the engine.

The Chopensaw Mill company's mill, lumber yard and all of the houses except three, situated in Natchitoches, La., were burned Monday afternoon. Loss $80,000.

The boiler of a dredger burst in the harbor at Calais, France, on Monday. The explosion killed seven persons and injured several others. The bodies of the killed were horribly mutilated.

The men at work on the cable line on East Seventh street, St. Paul, Minn., 1,018 in number, left their work at 1 o'clock p. m., Monday. The men were dissatisfied with the wages they received.

A portion of the gang of desperadoes who have been robbing and committing murderous assaults upon the farmers in the vicinity of McClellandtown, Fayette county, Pa., have been captured at last.

The Iron Mountain railroad (part of the Missouri Pacific system), has given notice that all unnecessary Sunday train service, both passenger and freight, will be discontinued on that road after May 1st.

John Ryan, Samuel Conrad and Jeremiah Crowley were placed under bail of $500 each to answer at court charges of breach of the peace and inciting riot at Philadelphia, growing out of a strike at the works of the Enterprise Manufacturing Company.

The National Gazette, of Berlin, in an article on the Samoan question, favors Herr Von Bars's proposal to restore tripartite control and to appoint a nominal king of Samoa. It is expected that the British delegates will take only a mediatory part in the proceedings.

The large five story building of the Lowell Manufacturing Co., on Market street, Lowell, Mass., known as the carpet mill, was gutted by fire causing a loss of $200,000, as roughly estimated by Agent Lyons. The company had nearly $40,000 worth of new machinery in the building, besides yarn and wool stock in process of manufacture. From 600 to 700 hands are thrown out of employment.

In an interview, Gen. Boulanger reiterated his disavowal that he had any intention of precipitating war between France and Germany. Nevertheless, he did not consider that the future of France had been settled forever by the war of 1870. He declared that he would never consent that France should be insulted. He was aroused, he said, to cement France's friendship with Russia and England.

Curtis and Taylor and Mrs. Woods were arraigned at Lincoln, Neb., for their preliminary examination, charged with the murder of an old colored man named Bob Woods. The negroes are greatly excited, and little has been done since the shooting but talk and threaten lynching. The court room was surrounded by about 500 negroes, who are led by two white men, Doc Porter and Sam Hudson.

Mr. S. J. Ritchie, of Akron, O., is in Ottawa, Ont., and has had an interview with the premier relative to the proposed visit to Canada of the Inter State commerce commission, with a view to these gentlemen having a conference with the government. It is understood that May or June will be a convenient time for the meeting to be held. In view of the inter-locking nature of the Canadian and United States railway systems, it is anticipated that great benefit to both countries will arise from the visit of the commissioners.

A swindler, calling himself W. B. Bryant, and purporting to be a traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City road, has been victimizing railroad men throughout the south. He was last heard of in Bowling Green where he swindled the Louisville and Nashville agent by means of a forged check for $75. His game is to claim to be an agent of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City road and ask agents to cash checks for him. Of course payment of these checks would be refused at the office of the Chicago and Kansas City road. The swindler is well supplied with folders of the road, but has a very limited knowledge of the passenger business.

In southern Russia and the Caucasus the women smoke almost as universally as the men. A newspaper correspondent writes: "I have had, two or three times, nicely dressed ladies step up to me in a railroad station or on the platform and beg of me a light."

SOUTHERN BRIEFS.

ITEMS OF GREAT INTEREST TO INTELLIGENT PEOPLE.

NEW ENTERPRISES—RAILROAD PERILS—HEAVY RAINS—GOOD CROPS ASSURED—WHAT THE TELEGRAPH REPORTS—GENERAL NOTES.

ALABAMA.

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars of Anniston bonds, to run thirty years, bearing six per cent interest, were taken yesterday by Fisher & Shaw, of Baltimore, for 108.61.

F. O. Sherrod, a wealthy real estate dealer, of Birmingham, Ala., was on Sunday sent to the state insane asylum at Tuscaloosa. Last summer Sherrod claimed to have been cured of some chronic disease by faith and he at once became a firm believer in faith cure. He advertised in local papers that he would cure people of all manner of diseases without medicine and free of charge. He claimed that he could effect a cure by correspondence with the afflicted. He wrote a book on Christian science and became a crank on the subject of faith cure. He neglected his business to perform miracles and finally became a raving maniac on the subject of faith cure.

GEORGIA.

A dastardly attempt was made to wreck a Central railroad train, Tuesday night, near East Point. A crow-bar was found fastened to the track.

At Atlanta, Sunday evening, a dummy car, running between the city and Grant's Park, suddenly left the track and ran into a house, completely wrecking the structure and seriously wounding several persons.

State Treasurer Hardeman received a letter Tuesday from John Beck, a colored man living in Indianapolis, who claims that he and his sister are the legal heirs of Adam Beck, the old negro who died in Atlanta about six months ago and left $12,000.

During an altercation in a bar-room in Atlanta, M. T. Whitlock, a horse trader, shot and instantly killed J. C. Belding, a railroad engineer. The quarrel resulted from a bet which both men claimed to have won. The corroner's jury returned a verdict of voluntary manslaughter.

A section of the Oconee river bridge at Milledgeville gave way Tuesday, and tumbled into the stream. It was condemned by the county commissoners as being unsafe, the latter part of last week, and the workmen were engaged adjusting the difficulties when the crash came. Mr. Fred Butts was painfully hurt by a falling timber, but there were no serious injuries.

MISSOURI.

There is considerable excitement in Saline county, Mo., over the discovery of gold. A California expert has pronounced it a rich find.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Negroes from all parts of the state met in Raleigh and organized the North Carolina Emigration Association.

At Fairview, Buncombe county, a white man named Tom Tate, while walling a well was killed by a falling stone. He was burried, and a few nights later Dr. G. A. Wise, B. L. Ashworth, and J. V. Jay, who are studying medicine, were caught in the act of stealing the body. They had it in a sack and were walking away with it when discovered. Dr. Wise has been arrested, but the students can not be found.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Cæsar Frazier, colored, was hanged at 10:30 Friday, at Charleston, for the murder of Holdenberg White, on February 9. The condemned man professed the Catholic faith, and the execution was unattended by the usual scenes of shouting, praying and singing.

TENNESSEE.

Harry Branch, an engineer on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, dropped dead on his engine at Oakdale. He resided in Chattanooga, and was a popular man.

A distressing suicide occurred at Shelbyville Sunday night. Miss Mary Calhoun, who had been sick for some months, but not confined to her bed, went quietly out to a well on the premises of a relative and drowned herself. She was traced to the well and her body found after much trouble.

It is said that love for pets and love of traveling are the two ruling passions of the Princess Maria Theresa of Bavaria. She is unmarried, and in her many journeyings is attended by a maid and a chamberlain. She always takes her pets with her, and the chamberlain has to look after them. His place is no sinecure, for she has fourteen animals of one sort and another, including several dogs, two magpies, a [illegible] rat, and a [illegible] hare.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

NOTES.

There is considerable talk just now about the vacancy on the Supreme Bench, and various new candidates are being announced. Ex-Postmaster General J. A. J. Creswell's name was presented to the president Friday, a delegation of Marylanders, headed by Representative McComas, urging his appointment.

The Signal Service will, when practical, make a general prediction showing the condition of the weather two or three days in advance. These predictions will be furnished at the same time as the regular detailed indications, but they will not appear regularly, so that their nonappearance will signify nothing more than the indication officials did not think it judicious to make an advance prediction.

The following promotions have been made in the Southern Express Company: Mr. J. G. Mays, of Augusta has been made superintendent of Southern Ga., and Mr. T. R. Osborn, of Jacksonville, has been promoted to be superintendent of Florida. Mr. R. F. Cary, of Charleston, S. C., has been advanced to Mr. May's position as route agent. Mr. Hollingsworth succeeds Mr. Cary as local cashier.

The Interstate Commerce Commission notified the principal railroads of the country that they are likely to be interested in and affected by the questions presented in the complaint of George Rice against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad alleging discrimination in favor of shippers of petroleum and cotton-seed oil in tank cars, and that they will be afforded an opportunity to be heard upon the questions involved in the case.

Postmaster General Wannamaker on Saturday issued the following order: Ordered. That hereafter the Post Office Department be closed on Sunday to the clerks and all employes thereof, except the required watchmen, engineers and firemen. Clerks and employes shall without exception be denied admittance on that day to the main building and to the several rented buildings, and the watchman on duty shall strictly enforce the provisions of this order.

Secretary Tracy has decided that he has authority under the law to proceed with the construction of the great coast defence vessels. There will be no readvertisement, and the only question yet to be decided is which of the three bids shall be accepted. Cramp's bid was the lowest, but the Union Iron Works of California, whose bid was but $14,000 above him, hope to secure the work in consideration of the fact that they absolutely guarantee the success of the ship for the amount of their bid, which was $1,628,000. This decision of the Secretary will involve the abandonment of the idea of building a submarine torpedo boat.

Private, as well as corporate capital, has become largely interested in new schemes for transportation. The government has continued its policy of financial or other aid to all projects of this nature, and both Mexico and Central America are being slowly embraced in a series of lines which promise, within the next ten years, to fully open up the country to the outside world. In Yucatan the work of railroad construction is being pushed with great vigor. The total mileage of railroads in Mexico is estimated in President Diaz's message at nearly 5,000 miles. In the matter of telegraph construction the showing is still more favorable. The State construction of new lines for the last half year has amounted to an addition of about 900 miles, making the total length of the Federal system on April 1st over 18,000 miles, exclusive of double and triple wires and the lines temporarily transferred to the States.

BAD TEN-DOLLAR BILLS.

Indianapolis is flooded with a counterfeit $10 greenback. The Merchants' National has thrown out four of the bills innocently presented in the last day or so. The Indiana National has met with eight or ten of them; the Indianapolis is familiar with the bogus, and all of the banks have seen it. The bill is not a good imitation of the genuine, but it looks enough like money to deceive. It is designed to pass for bills of the same denomination, series of 1878. The genuine is a legal tender, bearing Daniel Webster's likeness and the Pocahontas scene. It has the small red Treasury seal on the left hand side, with the larger lathework seal "ten" on the right of the center. The false has these fairly well executed, but the likeness of Webster is execrable, the paper is poor and pale and the lettering is all in a line, whereas in the genuine the capitals and first letters of words rise above the others.

TELEGRAPHIC.

The pope has sent a dispatch bestowing his blessing upon the Catholic congress in Spain.

Hon. William H. Barnum, chairman of the national democratic committee, died at Lime Rock, Conn., Tuesday.

The new charcoal blast furnace of Mons Alto, Iron county, at Mont Alto, Pa., was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday.

Carl Rosa, the well known musical director, whose wife was the famous Madame Parepa Rosa, died in Paris from peritonitis.

Malietoa, the deposed king of Samoa, has apologized, and the emperor, William, has decided that the ex-king may be liberated.

In the house of commons Tuesday evening, the motion of Samuel Smith, liberal, censuring the government for fostering spirit drinking in India, was carried by a vote of 113 to 108.

DUEL BETWEEN FARMERS.

A deadly duel occurred in Jackson county, Alabama, on Tuesday, that resulted in the death of one of the participants. Two farmer neighbors living at some distance from Scottsboro, named J. T. Prince and J. H. Green, quarreled over some trivial matter and Green threatened to kill Prince. This threat was learned by Prince and he prepared himself with a shot gun. On Saturday morning the two men met in a public road and immediately dismounted from their horses and resumed the quarrel. They finally decided to fight it out, and Green made for Prince with a large dirk, making a vicious plunge at him. Without leveling the gun Prince thrust the muzzle against his enraged enemy, pulled the trigger and lodged a heavy load of buckshot in his breast, killing him instantly. Prince gave himself up.

A SHIP BURNED.

The American ship, Richard P Buck, Captain Carver, from Philadelphia for San Francisco, was discovered to be on fire at about 2 a. m., on April 19th, at Bermuda. She was taken in tow by a tug and beached near the naval tanks, about 200 yards from shore. The flames spread with amazing rapidity, owing to the inflammable nature of a large portion of the cargo, kerosene, whisky, etc., and the ship was soon burned to the water's edge. The ship was of 1,490 tons burden, and had a cargo of 315 tons of general merchandise. It is estimated that the vessel and cargo represented half a million dollars. A hulk, with steam, with submarine diver and a large number of laborers are busily engaged in getting out the unburned remnants of the cargo, which will be sold at auction.

ROBBERS IN CHATTANOOGA.

This city has been infested for several days by sneak thieves and thugs, and there is much excitement over three highway robberies Sunday night, the parties being "held up" on the streets and deliberately robbed. Mr. A. S. Ochs, proprietor of the Times, was one of the victims. The robbery being committed about 8:50 on one of the principal streets. B. R. Freeman, manager of the city planing mill, was found about 11 o'clock in the street, near his residence in an unconscious state, with an ugly wound on his head. Mr. Freeman was robbed of considerable money. It is feared that he will die. A double set of policemen are now patroling the city.

RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE.

Since March 4th about 1,500 changes in a force of 5,800 have been made in the railway mail service throughout the country. The fact that this service will be placed under the civil service rule and regulations has stimulated the officers to extra exertions, and a large number of clerks in the railway mail office have been kept busy making changes.

It is not "good form" in England to call a physician "doctor," according to the New York Medical Record; it must be "Dr. Jones" or "Dr. Smith." Our informant, unfortunately, does not say whether it would be proper to use the favorite American monosyllable "doc," or whether such a conjunction as "Doc" Gull or "Doc" Jenner would be in harmony with the best social usages of fashionable London. The American doctor has some disadvantages to contend against; but it is a great thing that he is an American—a real American—without any hyphen in front, to whom such stuff as is written about the English doctor is meaningless or amusing.

England has been patching up Nelson's flagship Victory for years. Now a French nautical monument, La Belle Poule, the ship that brought home the remains of Napoleon from St. Helena, is causing dissatisfaction because of the money which has been devoted to caulking and patching her up. She lies at [illegible] harbor, and is used as a [illegible]

18 PEOPLE KILLED.

PENNED, CRUSHED AND BURNED TO DEATH.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT ON THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY—HOW IT HAPPENED—TERRIBLE SCENES OF SUFFERING.

The limited express on the Grand Trunk R. R. due at Hamilton, Ont., Sunday morning met with an accident two miles west of that place, the result of which was the loss of many lives. The train was composed of an engine, two baggage cars, a smoker, a Chicago and Grand Trunk through passenger coach, a Wabash coach, a Wagner first-class, a Pullman car and two Wagner sleeping cars in the order named. The accident occurred at a junction where a "Y" is built. This "Y" is used to switch through trains for Toronto to Toronto branch from the main line. The train is said to have been running at a speed of forty miles an hour more. When directly on the crossing the switch engine jumped the track and plunged into the water tank, which stood in its path between the "Y," smashing the tank to atoms and turning almost upside down. The baggage cars came directly after the engine, and the first of these was pitched over the engine and thrown on the main track leaving its wheels behind it. The other baggage car caught fire from the engine, and the two were soon in flames. The coaches following with the exception of two Wagner cars in the rear of the train, were huddled together by the shock and soon caught fire from the baggage cars. The passengers on the train, numbering over 150, many of whom were asleep at the time, had a terrible experience. A majority of those on board the train were able to get out of the coaches before the fire reached them, but in the confusion that reigned it is not known how many victims were left to the mercy of the flames, penned in by the material of the wreck and unable to extricate themselves. L. S. Gurney, of Brooklyn, had his head completely severed from his body by a piece of flying debris. Rudolph Guerre, whose address is not known, was also instantly killed. As soon as the engine rolled over, after striking the water tank, Engineer Watson and Fireman Chapman crawled out from underneath, neither of them being much hurt. Up to five o'clock the charred remains of eighteen victims had been exhumed from the wreck. In no case was there enough of the body left to identify the remains or tell whether the person was a male or female. Thirteen of the wounded are now in the hospital. About ten others were slightly hurt, but not so badly as to prevent them continuing their journey. None of the members of the Detroit Light Infantry were injured and not a woman was in the least hurt, James Welch and Fred Dumas, both of Niagara Falls, were in the car which jumped over the engine, yet neither was hurt. The screams of the men who were being burned to death in the smoking car could be heard above the noise of the escaping steam and the roaring of the flames. Seven cars, a baggage car, two first-class coaches, a smoker, a first-class day coach and two Wagner sleepers were burned, there being not a vestige left of wood or anything that would burn. One car—the baggage car—was demolished and the engine was the most complete wreck imaginable. The loss to the company will be enormous. Many of those on the train were going to New York to participate in the centennial festivities. Most of the passengers lost all or a portion of their baggage and clothing, and a large amount of mails were lost by fire. Another report of the accident says that the remains of from sixteen to eighteen men were taken out of the wreck. They were cut to pieces almost to a man and burned beyond all possibility of recognition. They were huddled together in a heap in the end of the smoker and were pinned in by the timbers, which made it impossible for them to extricate themselves. Nothing could be done for them, and the fierceness of the flames made it out of the question for the men to rescue them. The only way in which it could be ascertained that from sixteen to eighteen bodies had been taken out, was from the fact that legs and arms corresponding to that number were found.

The official report as to the production of sugar in France during the last three years, since the new legislation relating to refineries went into operation, shows that the first effect of the legislation was to reduce the number of refineries, which fell from [illegible] in 1884 to [illegible] in 1885, to [illegible] in 1886, and to [illegible] last year, while the quantity of sugar refined was 275,000 tons in 1884, [illegible] in 1887 was 1,446,000 [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

LANTON, ALA., MAY 9, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

Capt. P. R. Bibb, of Montgomery, has been granted a patent on cotton-seed crusher. Capt. Bibb the General Manager of the Montgomery Iron Works.

The rich widow of General Buf-[illegible] has just married a young man of 22. The lady is 67, but her fortune of $300,000 is supposed to fully cover the difference in age.

Are you not in favor of one cent postage? A little effort on the part of each one of us will secure it. Write to your Congressman or to the Hon. John Wanamaker, Post Master General, Washington, D. C., urging that letter postage be reduced to one cent.

A reporter of the Chicago Herald interviewed a prominent Indian on the border land of Oklahoma, and asked him what he thought of the immigration rush The Indian looked over the stretch of red sand in the "promised land" and replied: "Ugh white man d---n fool"

It is not often that such a little matter as three minutes stand between a man and the penitentiary. Yet that was the case in Toledo the other day, when it was shown that a theft was committed just that period before sunset, and hence was petty larceny and not burglary. Great is the ingenuity of the Toledo lawyer.

The Savannah News in an article on the state press says: "A town may be correctly judged by its newspapers. If they are full of news, well edited and well printed and if they are liberally patronized by advertisers, it is safe to assume that the town is a well governed and prosperous one, and that its people are energetic and thrifty. The weekly press, as a whole is a power in moulding public opinion, because it finds its way into almost every home."

R. R. Hawes, the notorious prisoner charged with murdering his wife and two daughters was given a fair trial in the Birmingham City court, and the trial has resulted in a verdict of guilty and a sentence to death for the murder of his little daughter May Hawes. The case has been appealed to the supreme court. The other cases will perhaps be tried after this one in particular has been finally disposed of. Our individual opinion, after carefully reading the evidence brought out by the trial, is that the verdict of the jury was a righteous one and will be affirmed by the supreme court.

A man who lives near Stark, Fla., had chickens stolen from him until at last only an old rooster was left. Having a chance to buy a bald eagle that had been wounded in the wing, he substituted the bird for the rooster in the fowl house and watched for results. The other night one of his sable neighbors entered the hennery grabbed the eagle and left. It was not long before a prolonged "Oh Lord" was heard in the direction of the thief's path, and the following morning an "ole Virginny gemman" was sitting on the porch of his cabin with one eye nearly out, under lip slit, swallow fork in both ears, arm in a sling, and with a general appearance of a section of a slaughter house floor, while his wife was beating the corpse of an eagle with a battling stick to get it tender before "bi'l'n."

The spirit manifested by the Chambers' County Alliance at a meeting held on the 10th of April should inspire the heart of every Alliance and every Alliance man in the South, not only those who are members of the order, but every farmer who raises cotton. Read it and see what they say:

"That our delegates should introduce a resolution in the county Alliance and invite Tallapoosa, Lee, Russell, Macon and Randoph counties, to appoint one delegate from each Alliance in said counties to meet in Opelika, Lee county, Ala., June 13, 1889 with a like number from Chambers county. Said delegates to be empowered to devise a plan and organize a stock company to be known as the East Alabama Manufacturing Company to manufacture bagging and for other purposes.

Manufacturing.

The manufacturing interest of Chilton county is not confined exclusively to 23 saw mills that cut about 500,000 feet of lumber per day, viz:

Harbarry & Jones 75,000; Pratt Saw Mill 50,000; Gregory & Coe 50,000, Jemison Lumber Co. 35,000; L. J. Hand 30,000; J. W. Gullahorn 20,000; E. T. Gullahorn 15,000; J. H. Chandler 15,000; J. A. Wells 10,000; James Dudley 10,000; J. M. Stanfield 10,000; L. B. Wells 10,000; Hunt Bros. 15,000; J. H. Hunt 10,000, J. Lawinskey 10,000; Clem Butler 10,000; J. F. Maull 10,000; J. M. Parr 8,000; C. J. Stewart 8,000; Dixie Lumber Co. 35,000.

It will surprise any thinking man to go among these mills and see the actual waste that is going on. Lumber and slabs enough burned every day at each one to furnish material for a first-class nail-keg and lime-barrel factory, which could find ready sale in Birmingham and at the lime kilns between Calera and Birmingham. A box factory could also be placed at each one for making all classes of cheap boxes. Let there be a sash, door and blind factory placed in Clanton, Verbena or Jemison, and add barrel and keg machinery together with box-making and lathes, and with cheap raw material, combined with cheap rents or cheap land to build on, good water for both drinking and boiler use, and good health for employees, coupled with the advantages of cheap living, there is no place that could manufacture these articles cheaper and with a better market than we have, for we can ship these goods in any direction, and we find a good live market.

There is another business that is sadly needed here, and one which is bound to be a paying institution to some one some day. Take the three places Clanton, Jemison or Verbena from which there are some four thousand bales of cotton shipped yearly besides what leaves Lomax, Strasburg, Clear Creek, Cooper's and Mountain Creek, which added makes at least 6,000 bales. Allowing 35 bushels of cotton seed per bale, we have 210,000 bushels. Let there be a cotton factory placed at either Clanton, Verbena, Strasburg or Jemison, which can be done at half the actual cost of such places as Montgomery or Birmingham, for freight can be saved on building material and 50 acres of land will not cost as much as half a lot in either place, thus saving money to buy machinery. Combine the cotton mill with an oil mill and manufacture cloth of all kinds, which can be sold at same price as Montgomery or Birmingham can sell, and the entire product used here at home. Allow that only half the cotton seed can be bought, we can have a paying oil mill and all the oil could be used in this county and the cake sold for feed and fertilizers, and it is a conceded fact that cotton seed meal is the cheapest and best fertilizer that is used By saving freight, bagging and ties (for most of this cotton could be ginned at the factory by adding a first-class ginnery, which would greatly improve the class of goods) on cotton, then on cloth and on cotton seed and oil cake and oil it would reduce the expenses so that the per centage of profit would be much larger than in a city. The same wages as paid in a city would allow the operatives twice as much money to spend or put away for hard times, for they would be in as healthy a climate as there is in the world, and with cheap fuel, cheap chickens, eggs and butter and other food in proportion they could lay away just twice as much as the laborer does in the cities.

A merchant flour and grist mill is badly needed in this county, one that would do good work would get all it could do. There are thousands of bushels of meal sold by merchants and saw mill men, and a world of flour. It is a well known fact that we have a good wheat raising county, which business has been neglected simply because there are no mills to get to worth anything and what few do make flour get it up in such a style that after the farmer gets what will do his family, it is such stuff that he can't sell it. Some will cry that the railroad charges such freights that a mill could do nothing, but we say this is not so. We have been dealing largely with the L. & N. railroad, and with a few exceptions have always found the officers perfect gentlemen and liberal in all their views, anxious to make friends, and willing at all times to make freight rates to the advantage of their customers.

A sugar refinery could be well established in this county, and glucose can be made in large quantities. Sugar cane and sorghum is largely grown here and is the cheapest crop made, and it is of the finest quality, and it is all dependent upon the little traveling mill to crush it, and hence with all the fine material that the farmers have there is not a pound of sugar made in the county.

Another industry that could be made very profitable is a woollen mill for manufacturing woollen goods, all of which could be made into pants and other woollen clothes. Sheep thrive here well, and a little encouragement to the farmers in our county will produce all the wool that a large factory could use.

A boot and shoe factory could be profitably put up here, for there are a quantity of cattle, goats, sheep, hogs and wild animals killed in this and counties adjoining this, that with the facilities for buying bark to use for tanning, can make leather and put it into shoes enough, not only to supply Chilton county, but the adjoining country.

A furniture factory could get all the different classes of lumber used in making furniture. Our swamp and mountain lands abound in all kinds of gum, oak, hickory, ash, maple, cedar, poplar, sycamore, dogwood and walnut, besides various other woods that may be wanted. While material from pine could be had by moving it from the saw mills free of cost. Our yellow pine makes as handsome desks, counters, shelving and tables as are made from any material in the world, and takes an oil finish second to none.

What has been said about the towns on the L. & N. R. R., the same can be said of the E. T. V. & G. road, except that there are not so many saw mills on the latter road.

Taking everything into consideration, cheap lands, cheap building material, cheap working material, cheap rents, cheap living, good health, and the best of water, there is not a better country in the United States to start up a manufacturing interest of the kinds named than Chilton county, Alabama.

J. F. MAULL.

Illiterate Whites.

A special correspondent of the Washington Press has been down in Winston county, Alabama, and sends to the paper the startling and significant announcement that the majority of the white people of the county can neither read nor write, and that in placing their names to petitions they have to make a cross mark. Well there is nothing remarkable about this, except the failure of the correspondent to state that the majority of the white people of Winston county are Republicans, and that it is the only county in the State where a majority of the whites are Republicans. And if Census Taker Porter should seek to draw a political moral from Alabama illiteracy he will find it in the fact that it is the ignorant, white and black, who are Republicans. The press is welcome to whatever satisfation may be obtained from its investigation.

This from the Montgomery Advertiser is all true: and there is another great truth that goes along in connection with this. The Advertiser opposed the election reform bill before the last Legislature because it might indirectly disfranchise 25,000 white voters in the State, and the other truth is that from 15,000 to 20,000 of these illiterate white voters are Republicans. Why then should a Democratic paper be so particularly interested in their voting?

The W. R. P. T. L.

A correspondent of the Greensborrow Watchman, and evidently a Democrat of the true blue order, has some sensible suggestions in that paper concerning the great pap-seeking alphabetical conglomeration known as the White Republican Protective Tariff League. We quote as follows:

I am like Ryland Randolph was in the dark days of reconstruction: "I am for the white man as ruler, right or wrong," and for the Democratic party until a better party is formed. This white High Tariff League is certainly not equal, much less superior, to the Democratic party of the South. There are scores of Democrats who believe in a protective tariff, but still they remain Democratic. They can hold their views about the tariff and honest views too, and then remain steadfast to their principles.

If there be any erring Democrats in this county, and I hope there are not, let them come home and repent, or in a little while it will be "Ephraim is joined to his idols alone."

There cannot be [illegible] will there ever be, a split in the Republican party in the South until the negro is disfranchised, for he is a fixture of the Republican party, and in all probability will swing to it for all time to come. Besides, there is no room for a third party yet, and any party or league that sails under the Republican banner is bound to keep Cuffey with it, regardless of their intentions.

Our friends who have wandered from the Democratic folds will find that Mr. Harrison will not appoint a new man to an important office. It is not business, especially Republican patronage. The President is in honor bound to appoint good Republicans to office who are and have been party workers. But laying all aside, I do not see how any Southern Democrat born and raised on the soil of Alabama as a Democrat, and more especially in the black belt, can turn his back on his friends and white neighbors, his party and himself for nothing but the chances of holding office, while he would be better off without any place of public trust.

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or billious For sale in 50 cent. and one dollar bottles by all leading druggists. jul20

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 75 cents, we will sell them Shiloh's System Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

CLUB RATES:

We will send the VIEW and the Age-Herald one year for $2, and give each subscriber a ticket to the great gift distribution in July. We wil. send our paper and either of the Montgomery papers for one year at the same price.

Southern Pacific Tea Company.

Importers and Jobbers of Fine Coffees, Teas and Spices.

Fresh Roasted Coffee Daily. Also Coffee Roasted to order. Manufacturers of CAMPBELL'S BAKING POWDER.

Second Avenue, Between Twenty-first and Twenty-Second Streets.

Birmingham, Alabama.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.

ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!

HAS NO HOOPS!

NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!

NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!

HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.

PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.

LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.

CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.

Factories: Portland, Me., Peterboro, N. H., Watertown, Mass., Oswego, N. Y., Lockport, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Winona, Minn.

FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.

FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.

Apr25-6

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,

REFRESHING SLEEP,

HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul19 y

Remember

The View Job Office

When you want

Firs-class Job Printing done.

Chancery Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Adam Schuessler, Admin'r, &c., vs. James A. Dudley, et al. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of the confirmation in the Supreme Court of a decree rendered by the Chancellor in vacation, on the 23d day of January, 1888, for the 7th District, Northeastern Chancery Division of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., on Monday, the 27th day of May, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following described real estate situated in Clanton, Chilton county, Ala., to-wit: Lots one, three, seven, nine, ten, eleven, thirteen, fifteen and sixteen in Block Five, Lying on the east side of the South and North Alabama Railroad.

W. E. STEWART, Register.

April 24th, 1889.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

DR. TAYLOR'S

SURE

CHILL CURE

WARRANTED

PURELY VEGETABLE.

A SURE & SAFE CURE FOR

CHILLS and FEVER

BILIOUS and INTERMITTENT FEVER

ALL MALARIAL DISORDERS,

AND ALL DERANGEMENTS OF THE STOMACH & BOWELS.

AN EFFECTIVE REMEDY FOR ALL

Liver & Kidney Complaints

Price 50 cts. a Bottle. Trial Bottles 25 cts.

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE. Prepared Only by

RICHARDSON-TAYLOR MED. CO.,

302 S. Fourth Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Call for a Copy of Book "OUR FAMILY TROUBLES," to be had at all stores, or sent for two cent stamp.

tapr26

$100,000 TO LEND AT A LOW RATE OF INTEREST.—We are prepared to loan money cheap on improved lands in Chilton county. We can secure loans on land, the title to which is vested in married women, without trouble or delay. BRING YOUR LAND DEEDS. Address

E. V. JONES, OR

A. D. BENTLEY,

Rockford, Ala.

January 28, 1889—(3m)

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

BAINS & PORTER.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1928 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chas Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully,

THOMAS FOSHEE.

feb 28-y

SAM. H. HARRIS,

—DEALER IN—

WALL PAPER,

Paints, Oils, Glass, Mouldings,

AND PICTURE FRAMES.

Send for prices and samples of Wall Paper and Paints.

312 North 20th Street, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Competent Workmen sent to any part of the State.

[ma17-y]

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,

MOULDINGS,

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.

H. M. MANCHA,

204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.

THOS. H. HOLT,

PRACTICAL WORKMAN,

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Marble.

Manufacturer of all kinds of

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, - - Alabama.

nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,

—AND—

BUILDERS' HARDWARE.

Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street

Birmingham, Ala.

12 20 6

OTTO STOELKER,

THE JEWELER.

☞ REMOVED TO NO. 23 DEXTER AVENUE. ☜

Large Stock New Goods!

Finest Display of Fine Diamonds in Alabama. Rich Jewelry. Fine Gold Silver Watches. Wedding and Holiday Goods in Great Variety.

OTTO STOELKER,

THE JEWELER, 23 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOM

nov15

R.
TS.
Prompt At-
PECIALTY.
STREETS,
Prices.
June 19 y

IEE, ries NDISE.
na.
nage heretofore
AS FOSHEE.

RIS,
PER,
Iouldings,
AMES.
r and Paints.
ALA.
f the State.

M, nery, Ala.,
ROOMS, couring and dying
Street.

PER,
DOW SHADES,
ULDINGS,
—AND—
CAL PAPER HANGER.
HA,
ERY, ALABAMA.
10 cents up. Will send apr 11-y

E WORKS.
OLT, RKMAN,
an Marble.
ls of —
STONE WORK.
y-Fourth Street,
Alabama.

EEPER, ealer in BLINDS, RDWARE.
e. and 22d Street
n, Ala.

ELKER,
ELER.
TER AVENUE.
Large Stock
Rich Jewelry. Fine Gold
y Goods in Great Variety.
ELKER,
R AVENUE, MONTGOMERY

TO BLANK BROS,

ILTON VIEW.

TON, ALA., MAY 9, 1889.

View is published every Thurs-rning, and will endeavor to covfield of reputable country journ-
It will show no quarter to the al, the immoral or the ungodly.
l always be good natured, al-it can bite if necessary.

answering advertisements will a favor by mentioning this paper.

mark (X) after your name that your subscription is due and would be glad to have you re-

COURT CALENDAR.

ncery—First Thursday after the Monday in March and September ntinue three days.

uit—Third Monday after the Monday in February and on the Monday after the fourth Monday ly, and continue two weeks each missioners'—Regular term sec-

Monday in February and August, rst Monday in April and Novem-Special term second Monday in nty—First Monday in each month.

HEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.
ins pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
3 Mail	5:45 p. m.
5 (Passenger)	6:20 p. m.
9 Accommodation	7:00 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:17 a. m.
6 Mail	9:20 a. m.
4 Express	7:52 p. m.
10 Accommodation	6:20 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Cross and Crown.

e is a cross of heavy weight
r every human life to bear—
e is a chaplet formed of thorns
r each and ev'ry brow to wear;
when the cross of pain and woe
all soon forever be laid down,
we receive in recompense,
beautiful and fadeless crown.

es of toil and worldly grief, burden of suspense and care
life imposed upon us all,
d each its heavy load must bear;
clouds may lower overhead,
e bright stars fade before our eyes,
faith shall point us out the path
here sacrifice, where duty lies.

own awaits each faithful heart,
ch earnest, self-denying soul,
t carries cheerfully the cross death's cold, unrelenting goal,
when the veil shall roll away,
isclosing heaven's endless bliss,
crown of love shall compensate or cross of such a life as this.

Miss Jennie Chiton is visiting tives in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bivings are visig relatives in Rome, Ga.

An open air preacher drew large wds on Main Street Thursday.

Judge Callen has returned from hunting and fishing jaunt to rida.

Mr. G. W. Haden and his ughter, Mrs. Patton, are visiting
s. Collier.

Miss Alice Ross has closed her ool and returned to her home Opelika.

County Superintendent Hicks
s in town to meet the teachers Saturday.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil has return-home after having a pleasant it in Birmingham.

Messrs. O. A. Duke and J. M. nfield attended the meeting of State Lumber Association in ntgomery last week.

Subscribers at Duke's mill will d their papers at the Clanton st office after this issue, unless are otherwise instructed.

Mr. Jos. Shackleford, of Coosada, s in town the past week proscting with a view of locating re and establishing a cotton nnery and warehouse. He was uch pleased with Clanton.

Mr. Henry Mahan, of Jumbo, s in town last week exhibiting o bones from his own scull.
bout eight weeks ago, it will be membered that a large tree in lling struck Mr. Mahan directly top of his head. Dr. Sam hnson was called, and he perrmed the delicate operation of epanning, taking several pieces bone from the scull that were essing upon the patient's brain d Mr. Mahan is now as well as ever was. He had a narrow cape from death by the accident.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at w prices for cash. Shoes for ring trade now in. Groceries all the year, the present is no xception. Everything guaran-ed as represented. Fair dealing fair prices is my plan for hold g trade, and my sales will prove at the people are treated well.
ive me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Important to Clanton.

We are requested by the principal of the Clanton High School, Prof. A. J. Scott, to call a meeting of the citizens of Clanton at the Courthouse on Saturday next at 4 p. m. for the purpose of deciding about the district institute and other school interests.

Picnic at Coopers.

ED. VIEW:—Please announce that there will be a picnic at Coopers on Saturday, the 11th inst. Dancing and baseball on the program. All ladies and gentlemen invited.

W. N. DERAMUS,
E. H. LOWE,
L. E. GULLAHORN,
W. H. WRIGHT,
Managers

The article headed "Manufacturing," and published elsewhere in this paper was prepared by Mr. J. F. Maull as one of the committee selected to advertise Chilton county. We publish it as a specimen of what can be truly written of this county. Mr. Maull does not overdraw the capacity of the county, and we think much good might be derived from the general circulation of such admirable articles. Mr. L. A. Thornton has a well prepared article on fruit culture which we will publish next. Our object in publishing the articles being to let our home people read them and judge of them and of the resources and capabilities of our county.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Brittle were shocked at the news of the unfortunate accident which happened to them at their home in Birmingham on Monday night. Mr. Brittle was preparing to come to Clanton to join some of his friends here in a camp fish and hunt over on the river when by some way he let his pistol fall to the floor which being loaded went off the ball passing entirely through his leg between the knee and ankle and lodged in the hip of Mrs Brittle who was standing near preparing to go out somewhere. At last accounts they were resting well and it is to be hoped that it will not prove to be serious.

The Best and Cheapest College.

The Commercial College of Kentucky University, received the Highest Honor and Gold Medal at the World's Exposition over all other Colleges for System of Book keeping and Business Education. It is situated in the beautiful, healthy and renowned city of Lexington, Ky., accessible by the leading railroads. Arrange now to enter this College. as students can enter at any time. Read advertisment of this College in another column and write for particulars to its president, WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.,

The VIEW has a scholarship in this college, which will be disposed of at one half the stipulated cost at the college.

Stanton Notes.

The principal of the Stanton Institute arrived home safely from Clanton Sunday evening with many pleasant recollections of his visit there. Our little county capital is a delighful place to visit especially when one is so fortunate as to have the VIEW man and his beautiful young wife as host and hostess.

Our chief, Mr. Coe, has just returned from a two weeks visit to New York where he took in the Centennial of Washington's first inauguration. He reports a grand time. Said the procession was six hours passing a given point.

The bright and genial face of Prof. E. D. Acker has gladdened the hearts of his many friends here for several days.

Strawberries are plentiful and the young ladies and small boys are happy.

The. Rev J. O. Noble preached a fine sermon yesterday to large and appreciative congregation.

The Sunbeam Society met at the Baptist church yesterday evening, and many of the members read and recited pieces. Miss Mamie Harwood recited the Missionary Angel and if possible excelled her self.

Mr. J. A. Stephens has completed and moved in his beautiful residence which adds a great deal to the appearance of our little town.

Justice Dyer had a very important case before his honor to-day. A dusky maid could not resist the glitter of her neighbor's jewelry. We don't know how the case was decided.

Teachers what do you think of getting up a petition to be signed by all the teachers of the county asking the Hon. Sol. Palmer to give Chilton County the District Institute. He intimated that we might get it if we would make an effort.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough, we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton. jan 10

Interesting Items.

Fort Payne has commenced the erection of an iron furnace.

A gang of burglars have been captured at Tuskaloosa.

Capt. E. Graham was elected Mayor of Montgomery on Tuesday,

A miner by the name of T. L. Blakely was murdered by tramps in his own house five miles from Birmingham on Monday night.

The white caps have made their appearance in North Alabama, and several bad characters were thrashed at Falkville on the L. & N. R. R., Saturday night last.

Regulators attempted to prevent negroes from voting at Lafayette, La., on Monday. Ten of the gang were arrested by the Sheriff and lodged in jail.

The Governor has appointed the commission of lunacy under the act of the last Legislature. The members are R. H. Pearson, President, Birmingham; Peter Bryce, M. D., Tuskaloosa; R. P. Hugher, M. D., Anniston. The commission will be called on to testify as to the lunacy of all criminals entering the insanity plea as a defense in the courts of the State.

A Tennessee maiden has developed into a remarkable beauty by emigrating to New York. The papers described her as having hair like corn tassels, and little brown eeys as delicate as a pink tulip. One of her visitors is Mr. Wm. Burr McIntosh who is described as being himself as fair as a daisy, as limber as a chicken snake, and the very newest of New York's masculine professional beauties. Nuff said.

Verily, we live in a progressive age. Following in the wake of "progressive dinners" and "progressive card parties" we have now "progressive conversation assemblages." A program arranged like a dance card, is provided; the topics to be discussed are numbered upon it. Engagements are made previously and entered on the card, for the discussion of each topic, to which a stipulated number of minutes is allowed. At the tinkle of a bell subject and partner are both changed.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years Doctors pronounced it a local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

A Home Comfort!

We the undersigned citizens of Prattville, Ala., have each purchased a new Improved Home Comfort Cooking Range from the traveling salesman of the Wrought Iron Range Company, and find them to be far superior in every respect to anything we have ever seen or tried in the way of a cooking apparatus and would advise any friend or neighbor to secure one at their earliest convenience, as we consider them the cheapest stove that can be used, and know by experience that they are the best?

CHAS. S. G. DOSTER,
Attorney at Law.
JOHN BURNS,
Foreman Cotton Factory.
W. G. BECKWORTH,
Foreman Gin Shops.
J. C. BURNS,
Traveling Salesman Pratt Cotton Gin.
W. F. MIMS, Merchant.
M. D. FISHER,
Foreman Pratt's Foundry.
G. C. SPIGNER,
Undertaker and Liveryman.
J. W. KILLAUGH,
Workman in Gin Shops.

Eli Mullen is an old man eighty years old. He lives in Birmingham. Before the war he lived in California and married there, having a daughter born to him. Shortly after this there was adopted into the family a Miss Wood. With her old man Mullen eloped after obtaining a divorce from his wife, who started on the hunt and she found her former husband in Birmingham last week. Mullen claims to have been divorced from her in California, but Mrs. Mullen No. 1 denies this. Mullen owns considerable real estate in Birmingham. He has offered his first wife a house and lot at Eastlake and to support her, if she will go and live there. This she refuses, saying she will live only in his residence, though her daughter has signified her willingness to live there as soon as her seven children come from California.

Two Strings to His Bow.

"No, William," she said coldly, with a sidelong glance to note the effect of words. "I cannot be your wife. You smoke and you sometimes drink. I have registered a vow not to marry a man who has either of these vices."

"All right, Maria," was the humble reply. "And now will you please ask your younger sister Lula to come down stairs a moment? She said when she kissed me good-bye last night that she would gladly have me if you refused."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT.

When physicians fail to give relief in cases of chronic ailments, resulting from poison blood, how gratifying to the sufferer to obtain at last the right remedy. Where every other treatment miserably fails to cure, Botanic Blood Balm invariably gains a victory.

SAN SABA, TEXAS, February 9, 1882.
SORES
Our little daughter became effected with some form of scalp disease, supposed to be ringworm or eczema. It first began in white scabs or dandruff and then formed in small sores all over the front part of her head with rough patches on her forehead and face, and then ran an ugly eating sore on her head which continued to spread until a neighbor insisted on me trying B. B. B. After using a bottle and a half the sore is healing nicely and the child's health much improved and she is getting fat. I believe B. B. B to be an excellent blood purifier and very quick in its action. MRS. BETTIE GRAVES.

WILLOW CITY, TEXAS, April 9, 1883.
TUMORS
Blood Balm Co.: I was taken with paralysis, the doctors said caused by a tumor that is attached to the bowels, and had a bad case of dyspepsia. B. B. B. has done me more good than all the doctors. WM. SHELTON.

BARSWORTH, CHAMBERS CO., ALA., February 6, 1888.
CANCER
For the last six years I have been a great sufferer from blood poison; could not get anything that would do me any good. The doctors thought I would die. Two years ago I was stricken down with cancer of the lower extremities and was not able to walk out of my room, the cancer causing me to suffer great pain. A month ago I commenced taking the B. B. B. and was able to walk a half mile before I had taken two bottles. The cancer is healing up nicely, and I think the use of this remedy will cure me. (11) K. M. SMITH.
[sep27 ow 1y]

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire
Insurance Company
of Montgomery, has a record for reliability
unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[feb 14 3]

NOTICE NO. 8678.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

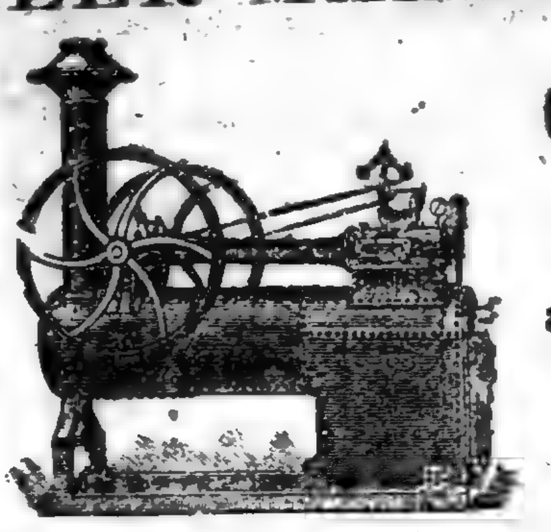
Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16518 for the n w ¼ of section 26, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John Headley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS



Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R..)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses.
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Bogacki & McDonald,
Sash, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door
Glass, Paints and Oils, Artists' Materials, Pictures and Frames, Window Shades.
119 COMMERCE STREET, Wholesale Block.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
nov1-8

Clanton High School

Will be opened on the first Monday in September and will continue nine scholastic months. The session will be divided into two terms. The first ending Friday before the first Monday in February, and the second will begin on the following Monday and will end with May. We will thoroughly prepare young men and ladies for college or give them a certificate of graduation. We expect to be assisted by an accomplished lady. Patronage is earnestly desired. Very Respectfully, aug16 A. J. SCOTT, Principal.

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
Correspondence solicited.
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan24-4f]

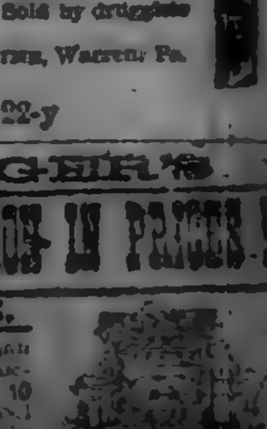
J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than ...
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billous Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best
Cough Medicine.
If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
Piso's REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov22-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $84. to $50.
This Elegant Parlor Organ style 50 containing 5 octaves, a pair of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells, stool and Book free. For only $35.00. With ... sent on ... "Warranted for 6 years."
It is only necessary ... reference ... responsibility from any ... postmaster ... express agent ... will be shipped ... ten days' test trial
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, New Jersey.



R.

TS.

Prompt At-

PECIALTY.

STREETS,

Prices.

June 19 y

HEE,

ries

NDISE.

na.

onage heretofore

AS FOSHEE.

RIS,

PER,

Iouldings,

AMES.

r and Paints.

ALA.

f the State.

M,

mery, Ala.,

ROOMS,

couring and dying

Street.

PER,

DOW SHADES,

ULDINGS,

—AND—

CAL PAPER HANGER.

HA,

ERY, ALABAMA.

10 cents up. Will send apr 11-y

E WORKS.

OLT,

RKMAN,

an Marble.

ls of —

STONE WORK.

y-Fourth Street,

Alabama.

EEPER,

ealor in

BLINDS,

RDWARE.

e. and 22d Street.

n, Ala.

ELKER,

ELER.

TER AVENUE.

Large Stock

a. Rich Jewelry. Fine Gold

ncy Goods in Great Variety.

ELKER,

ER AVENUE, MONTGOMER

O TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CL

ILTON VIEW.

TON, ALA., MAY 9, 1889.

View is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to conduct of reputable country journ. It will show no quarter to the d, the immoral or the ungodly. always be good natured, al- it can bite if necessary.

answering advertisements will a favor by mentioning this paper.

mark (X) after your name that your subscription is due and would be glad to have you re-

COURT CALENDAR.

ancery—First Thursday after the Monday in March and September ntinue three days.

uit—Third Monday after the Monday in February and on the Monday after the fourth Monday ly, and continue two weeks each mmissioners'—Regular term sec- Monday in February and August, st Monday in April and Novem- Special term second Monday in ty—First Monday in each month.

HEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. ins pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
3 Mail	5:45 p. m.
5 (Passenger)	6:20 p. m.
9 Accommodation	7:00 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:17 a. m.
6 Mail	9:20 a. m.
4 Express	7:52 p. m.
10 Accommodation	6:20 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Cross and Crown.

e is a cross of heavy weight
r every human life to bear—
e is a chaplet formed of thorns
r each and ev'ry brow to wear;
when the cross of pain and woe
all soon forever be laid down,
we receive in recompense,
beautiful and fadeless crown.

es of toil and worldly grief,
burden of suspense and care
life imposed upon us all,
d each its heavy load must bear;
clouds may lower overhead,
e bright stars fade before our eyes,
faith shall point us out the path
here sacrifice, where duty lies.

own awaits each faithful heart,
ch earnest, self-denying soul,
t carries cheerfully the cross
o death's cold, unrelenting goal,
when the veil shall roll away,
sclosing heaven's endless bliss,
crown of love shall compensate
or cross of such a life as this.

iss Jennie Chiton is visiting atives in Montgomery.

Ir. and Mrs. Bivings are visi- g relatives in Rome, Ga.

An open air preacher drew large wds on Main Street Thursday.

udge Callen has returned from hunting and fishing jaunt to rida.

Ir. G. W. Haden and his ughter, Mrs. Patton, are visiting s. Collier.

Miss Alice Ross has closed her ool and returned to her home Opelika.

County Superintendent Hicks s in town to meet the teachers Saturday.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil has return- home after having a pleasant it in Birmingham.

Messrs. O. A. Duke and J. M. anfield attended the meeting of e State Lumber Association in ontgomery last week.

Subscribers at Duke's mill will d their papers at the Clanton st office after this issue, unless are otherwise instructed.

Mr. Jos. Shackleford, of Coosada, as in town the past week pros- cting with a view of locating re and establishing a cotton nnery and warehouse. He was uch pleased with Clanton.

Mr. Henry Mahan, of Jumbo, as in town last week exhibiting o bones from his own scull. bout eight weeks ago, it will be membered that a large tree in lling struck Mr. Mahan directly top of his head. Dr. Sam hnson was called, and he per- rmed the delicate operation of epanning, taking several pieces bone from the scull that were essing upon the patient's brain d Mr. Mahan is now as well as ever was. He had a narrow cape from death by the accident.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at w prices for cash. Shoes for ring trade now in. Groceries all the year, the present is no xception. Everything guaran- ed as represented. Fair dealing fair prices is my plan for hold g trade, and my sales will prove at the people are treated well. ive me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Important to Clanton.

We are requested by the principal of the Clanton High School, Prof. A. J. Scott, to call a meeting of the citizens of Clanton at the Courthouse on Saturday next at 4 p. m. for the purpose of deciding about the district institute and other school interests.

Picnic at Coopers.

ED. VIEW:—Please announce that there will be a picnic at Coopers on Saturday, the 11th inst. Dancing and baseball on the program. All ladies and gentlemen invited.

W. N. DERAMUS,
E. H. LOWE,
L. E. GULLAHORN,
W. H. WRIGHT,
Managers

The article headed "Manufacturing," and published elsewhere in this paper was prepared by Mr. J. F. Maull as one of the committee selected to advertise Chilton county. We publish it as a specimen of what can be truly written of this county. Mr. Maull does not overdraw the capacity of the county, and we think much good might be derived from the general circulation of such admirable articles. Mr. L. A. Thornton has a well prepared article on fruit culture which we will publish next. Our object in publishing the articles being to let our home people read them and judge of them and of the resources and capabilities of our county.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Brittle were shocked at the news of the unfortunate accident which happened to them at their home in Birmingham on Monday night. Mr. Brittle was preparing to come to Clanton to join some of his friends here in a camp fish and hunt over on the river when by some way he let his pistol fall to the floor which being loaded went off the ball passing entirely through his leg between the knee and ankle and lodged in the hip of Mrs Brittle who was standing near preparing to go out somewhere. At last accounts they were resting well and it is to be hoped that it will not prove to be serious.

The Best and Cheapest College.

The Commercial College of Kentucky University, received the Highest Honor and Gold Medal at the World's Exposition over all other Colleges for System of Book keeping and Business Education. It is situated in the beautiful, healthy and renowned city of Lexington, Ky., accessible by the leading railroads. Arrange now to enter this College, as students can enter at any time. Read advertisment of this College in another column and write for particulars to its president, WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.,

The VIEW has a scholarship in this college, which will be disposed of at one half the stipulated cost at the college.

Stanton Notes.

The principal of the Stanton Institute arrived home safely from Clanton Sunday evening with many pleasant recollections of his visit there. Our little county capital is a delighful place to visit especially when one is so fortunate as to have the VIEW man and his beautiful young wife as host and hostess.

Our chief, Mr. Coe, has just returned from a two weeks visit to New York where he took in the Centennial of Washington's first inauguration. He reports a grand time. Said the procession was six hours passing a given point.

The bright and genial face of Prof. E. D. Acker has gladdened the hearts of his many friends here for several days.

Strawberries are plentiful and the young ladies and small boys are happy.

The Rev J. O. Noble preached a fine sermon yesterday to large and appreciative congregation.

The Sunbeam Society met at the Baptist church yesterday evening, and many of the members read and recited pieces. Miss Mamie Harwood recited the Missionary Angel and if possible excelled herself.

Mr. J. A. Stephens has completed and moved in his beautiful residence which adds a great deal to the appearance of our little town.

Justice Dyer had a very important case before his honor to-day. A dusky maid could not resist the glitter of her neighbor's jewelry. We don't know how the case was decided.

Teachers what do you think of getting up a petition to be signed by all the teachers of the county asking the Hon. Sol. Palmer to give Chilton County the District Institute. He intimated that we might get it if we would make an effort.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough, we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton. jan 10

Interesting Items.

Fort Payne has commenced the erection of an iron furnace.

A gang of burglars have been captured at Tuskaloosa.

Capt. E. Graham was elected Mayor of Montgomery on Tuesday.

A miner by the name of T. L. Blakely was murdered by tramps in his own house five miles from Birmingham on Monday night.

The white caps have made their appearance in North Alabama, and several bad characters were thrashed at Falkville on the L. & N. R. R., Saturday night last.

Regulators attempted to prevent negroes from voting at Lafayette, La. on Monday. Ten of the gang were arrested by the Sheriff and lodged in jail.

The Governor has appointed the commission of lunacy under the act of the last Legislature. The members are R. H. Pearson, President, Birmingham; Peter Bryce, M. D., Tuskaloosa; R. P. Hugher, M. D., Anniston. The commission will be called on to testify as to the lunacy of all criminals entering the insanity plea as a defense in the courts of the State.

A Tennessee maiden has developed into a remarkable beauty by emigrating to New York. The papers described her as having hair like corn tassels, and little brown eeys as delicate as a pink tulip. One of her visitors is Mr. Wm. Burr McIntosh who is described as being himself as fair as a daisy, as limber as a chicken snake, and the very newest of New York's masculine professional beauties. Nuff said.

Verily, we live in a progressive age. Following in the wake of "progressive dinners" and "progressive card parties" we have now "progressive conversation assemblages." A program arranged like a dance card, is provided; the topics to be discussed are numbered upon it. Engagements are made previously and entered on the card, for the discussion of each topic, to which a stipulated number of minutes is allowed. At the tinkle of a bell subject and partner are both changed.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years Doctors pronounced it a local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75 cents.

A Home Comfort!

We the undersigned citizens of Prattville, Ala., have each purchased a new Improved Home Comfort Cooking Range from the traveling salesman of the Wrought Iron Range Company, and find them to be far superior in every respect to anything we have ever seen or tried in the way of a cooking apparatus and would advise any friend or neighbor to secure one at their earliest convenience, as we consider them the cheapest stove that can be used, and know by experience that they are the best?

CHAS. S. G. DOSTER,
Attorney at Law.
JOHN BURNS,
Foreman Cotton Factory.
W. G. BECKWORTH,
Foreman Gin Shops.
J. C. BURNS,
Traveling Salesman Pratt Cotton Gin.
W. F. MIMS, Merchant.
M. D. FISHER,
Foreman Pratt's Foundry.
G. C. SPIGNER,
Undertaker and Liveryman.
J. W. KILLAUGH,
Workman in Gin Shops.

Eli Mullen is an old man eighty years old. He lives in Birmingham. Before the war he lived in California and married there, having a daughter born to him. Shortly after this there was adopted into the family a Miss Wood. With her old man Mullen eloped after obtaining a divorce from his wife, who started on the hunt and she found her former husband in Birmingham last week. Mullen claims to have been divorced from her in California, but Mrs. Mullen No. 1 denies this. Mullen owns considerable real estate in Birmingham. He has offered his first wife a house and lot at East-lake and to support her, if she will go and live there. This she refuses, saying she will live only in his residence, though her daughter has signified her willingness to live there as soon as her seven children come from California.

Two Strings to His Bow.

"No, William," she said coldly, with a sidelong glance to note the effect of words. "I cannot be your wife. You smoke and you sometimes drink. I have registered a vow not to marry a man who has either of these vices."

"All right, Maria," was the humble reply. "And now will you please ask your younger sister Lula to come down stairs a moment? She said when she kissed me good-bye last night that she would gladly have me if you refused."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvel ous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT.

When physicians fail to give relief in cases of chronic ailments, resulting from poison blood, how gratifying to the sufferer to obtain at last the right remedy. Where every other treatment miserably fails to cure, Botanic Blood Balm invariably gains a victory.

SAN SABA, TEXAS, February 9, 1882.

Our little daughter became effected with some form of scalp disease, supposed to be ringworm or eczema. It first began in white scabs or dandruff and then formed in small sores all over the front part of her head with rough patches on SORES her forehead and face, and then ran an ugly eating sore on her head which continued to spread until a neighbor insisted on me trying B. B. B. After using a bottle and a half the sore is healing nicely and the child's health much improved and she is getting fat. I believe B. B. B to be an excellent blood purifier and very quick in its action.

MRS. BETTIE GRAVES.

WILLOW CITY, TEXAS, April 9, 1883.

Blood Balm Co.: I was taken with paralysis, the doctors said caused by a tumor TUMORS that is attached to the bowels, and had a bad case of dyspepsia. B. B. B. has done me more good than all the doctors.

WM. SHELTON.

BARNSWORTH, CHAMBERS CO., ALA.,
February 6, 1888.

For the last six years I have been a great sufferer from blood poison; could not get anything that would do me any good. The doctors thought I would die. Two years ago I was stricken down

CANCER with cancer of the lower extremities and was not able to walk out of my room, the cancer causing me to suffer great pain. A month ago I commenced taking the B. B. B. and was able to walk a half mile before I had taken two bottles. The cancer is healing up nicely, and I think the use of this remedy will cure me. (11) K. H. SMITH.

[sep27 cw 1y]

Insure Your Property against Fire.

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

A. M. RAMBO,

DENTIST,

VERBENA, ALA.

Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.

[feb 14 3]

NOTICE NO. 8678.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16518 for the n w ¼ of section 20, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John Headley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

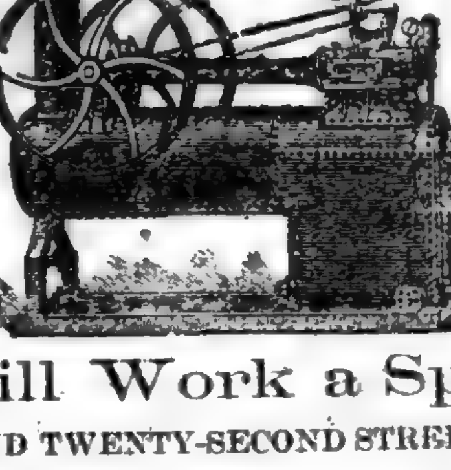
DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,

BOILER MAKERS



Copper and Sheet Iron Workers

Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,

Birmingham, Ala.

mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.

MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS

Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery

OF ALL KINDS.

MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN

nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.

Lyman & Stone.

BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.

SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

Blank Books, - Letter Presses.

PRINTERS' STOCK.

Fine Stationery a Specialty.

2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,

Steam Printers and Binders,

1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay

INSURE WITH

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,

Montgomery, Alabama.

Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.

Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.

W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Bogacki & McDonald,

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Glass, Paints and Oils, Artists' Materials, Pictures and Frames, Window Shades.

119 COMMERCE STREET, Wholesale Block.

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

nov1-

Clanton High School

Will be opened on the first Monday in September and will continue nine scholastic months. The session will be divided into two terms. The first ending Friday before the first Monday in February, and the second will begin on the following Monday and will end with May. We will thoroughly prepare young men and ladies for college or give them a certificate of graduation. We expect to be assisted by an accomplished lady. Patronage is earnestly desired. Very Respectfully, aug16 A. J. SCOTT, Principal.

READ THIS!

I have removed my stock of Confectioneries

—AND—

Fancy Groceries

into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.

I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.

Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,

Photographer,

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously, Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

Correspondence solicited.

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan24-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER.

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE

(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the

BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HERBINE

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than [illegible].

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billous Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Billous or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.

(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best

Cough Medicine.

If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.

The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. [illegible] worth many times its cost.

Easy and pleasant to use.

Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren Pa.

nov22-y

ALLEGER'S.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

FROM $85. to $35.

This Elegant Parlor Organ style 70 [illegible] Book [illegible] "Guaranteed [illegible]

[illegible]

H. W. ALLEGER, [illegible]

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

A French Lesson in Fowls.

I never heard, says a writer in the New York Tribune, that the French, the most successful breeders of poultry in the world, had such a thing as a "standard of excellence"—in print, although they have a very satisfactory standard of their own—which is profit from the fowls and their eggs. Everybody in France eats poultry, and eggs on many farms are served up at almost every meal. In the markets one can buy a joint of fowl, or the bony parts for soup, or for their incomprehensibly made dishes, which are fit for an epicure. The French have three breeds of high repute, and are content with them. They are not every day making "new breeds" of any sportive fowls which have a strange feather appearing on their bodies, and are not spoiling what they have by crossing for the mere sake of getting something new to exhibit at the shows to make money of, as we are. They go in for meat and eggs, not for feathers. Consequently, they have meat and eggs to export by the million dollars' worth.

The Houdan, La Fleche and the Creve-Cour are their standard breeds, and are good enough for the forty millions of Frenchmen, while we have more varieties than there are weeks in the year, and others constantly coming on. All these French breeds are business fowls—never mind the plumage; the French don't eat feathers—and are large-bodied, full-breasted and plump, and prolific layers; the eggs are large, and the chicks are healthy and grow quickly. And, withal, these fowls are attractive. The Houdans, with their speckled plumage and topknots, are far handsomer than our Plymouth Rocks; while the other two are stately birds of erect carriage, jet-black plumage, with deep crimson antler or hornlike combs, and the Creve-Cour has a very handsome crest of silky, flowing feathers and a thick beard. The French women cherish their fowls, and these three satisfy the cultivated tastes of these successful poultry-keepers. Now, have we not too many varieties already, without adding more?

Grafting Fruit Trees.

Many appear to think that grafting, or inoculation, as budding is often called, has, like vaccination, in the animal subject, in some mysterious way the power to so change the nature of the tree that it will bear better fruit that before. We have "grafted fruit" and "natural fruit," often used as equivalent to good and poor fruit. Grafting is simply planting a cutting, but instead of planting it as we do most cuttings in the soil where, under favorable conditions, it will take root, the cuttings are planted in the body, or the wood of an old tree, and instead of forming roots, the graft unites with the old, and "take" and becomes in all respects a part of the "stock," as the tree that is grafted is called. There are several kinds of grafting, the mechanical operation varying, but all having the same end in view—to convert or change a tree from an undesirable kind to a variety we prefer.

The cuttings, or cions, or grafts, demand as much care in their selection as if they were young trees to be planted. They are usually cut in autumn, after the leaves have fallen, and should be of the last summer's growth, new shoots at least a foot long. These should be cut from bearing trees, making sure that these are of the kind we wish to convert. The cions are to be tied—or better secured with small copper wire, as string may decay—into bundles of convenient size, and accurately labeled. The bundles of cions are placed in boxes and carefully surrounded with sawdust or moss, and kept in a cool cellar. They must be inspected occasionally, and if the packing material is becoming dry, give it a slight wetting. Some pack their cions in boxes of sand or sandy soil and bury them below the reach of frost, and where water will not settle.

Some methods of grafting are quite difficult, but the two most in use are very simple and every boy can practice them. The cleft is the most simple and the most common. The cion is cut with a sharp knife, in the form of a wedge. A branch of a stock is cut off with a proper saw, and with a heavy knife, struck with a mallet, a split or cleft is made. This is kept open with a wooden wedge, and the cions, usually two in a large stock, are carefully set, so that the inner bark of the cut portion of the cion and that of the stock will come in contact. The wooden wedge, being carefully removed, the spring of the stock will firmly hold the cions. All the bare places, on both stock and cion, are covered with grafting wax to protect them from rain and air.

Crown grafting differs in cutting the cion upon one side only, to form a half wedge. The bark of the stock, it being cut off as before, may readily be lifted with a wedge of iron or hard wood thrust between the bark and wood, to allow the cion to slip in between the two. The bare surfaces are waxed as before.—American Agriculturist.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Feed young animals plentifully.

Give your wife at least a dollar for flower seeds. Encourage the children to look over the catalogues and help make the selections; they will then take more interest in planting and caring for them.

Fruit growing pays in combination with general farming. Fruit brings money easier and the pleasure of its culture is much greater. Good fruit is always salable and yields profit in greater or less degree.

The pig likes warm weather and warm quarters, and unless comfortable shelter and a warm bed is provided for him in a climate like this he will not do much more than hold his own from Christmas until the middle of March.

One of the principal advantages of a wind break is that in addition to protecting the trees from cold in the winter a considerable protection is afforded the ripened fruit in the fall by keeping the wind from blowing it off the trees.

All farm tools, implements and machines have their weak points, which are quite sure to be the first to break. The Agriculturist advises providing duplicates of such parts. This will often save much time when time is valuable.

Grapevines planted in the chicken runs and trained to the fences will give shade in summer to the chickens and luscious fruit in the fall to the poultryman. No fertilizers are necessary—the chickens attend to that. Train the vines as high as possible.

The richest part of a milking is the strippings, as they contain from three to five times as much cream as the rest of the milk. Strip the cows clean then. If milk be left in the cow's bag it is apt to cake and form lumps in the teats; it also has a tendency to dry up a cow.

The collieries in Japan yearly produce about 1,200,000 tons of coal.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Potato Salad.

Pare and slice, while warm, one dozen good sized potatoes. Slice and cut in small dice; sprinkle slightly with salt; add grated onion and chopped parsley to taste; add the cream dressing two hours before serving.

Dressing—One teaspoonful each salt, sugar and mustard rubbed smoothly together, one teaspoonful salad oil or melted butter, add three eggs well beaten, one half cup of vinegar. Place the mixture in a dish of hot water and cool until it thickens. When cool add one cup of cream.

Succotash.

Take eight or twelve ears of young sweet corn, according to size; cut off the corn, lengthwise of the ear, and not cutting deep; put it in your kettle with three quarts of cold water, boil half an hour, skim and add one quart of shelled green Lima beans; boil one hour and then scrape the milk from the cobs with the back of a silver knife, mix with the beans and corn, take from the fire and let it stand on top of stove for a few minutes, then pour all into a large dish and season with pepper and salt to taste, adding one cup of sweet butter.—New York Press.

Candied Orange-Peel.

Here is a good substitute for citron in cake and pies. Let the orange-peel soak for two or three days in luke-warm water to extract the bitter flavor. Change the water frequently, keeping it always about the same temperature. After the bitter flavor is gone, put the peel in fresh water and boil it slowly until it is tender enough to pierce easily with a fork; then drain off the water and put the peel into thick syrup made of granulated sugar, and boil slowly until the syrup is nearly absorbed. Then spread the peel on platters with the remaining portion of the syrup poured over it, and let it dry in a warm oven.—Prairie Farmer.

Green Apple Pie.

The first thing necessary to insure a good pie is a large, tart apple. Make a nice, rich pastry of one-third butter and two-thirds lard; rub into the flour lightly and thoroughly. Add a little salt, and moisten with cold water (if ice water all the better) by adding a little at a time until you can press together for rolling out. Line a medium-sized pie plate with this crust; then peel your apples and slice thin. Fill the plate very full and put the upper crust on lightly. Bake. When done remove the upper crust, and with a silver knife mash your apples fine. Mix in one cup of granulated sugar a large spoonful of sweet butter, and nutmeg or lemon to taste. Then replace the upper crust.

Vegetarian Cookery.

The following bills of fare for the three meals a day will be found convenient to select from for those who are just entering upon a practice of vegetarianism:

Breakfast—Mush with milk or syrup, Graham gems or bread, griddle cakes, corn bread, Johnny cakes, stewed fruit, fresh or canned fruit, according to season; baked apples, potatoes, beets, parsnips; stewed celery, potatoes, rice: fried apple fritters, salsify or oyster-plant, potatoes, onions.

Dinner—Carrot, celery, pea, bean, rice, tomato or vegetable soup. Omelet, plain or varied with macaroni, bread crumbs, herbs, etc. Roasted potatoes, green corn on the ear; stewed celery, potatoes, canned corn, tomatoes; boiled Lima beans, either green or dry; green peas, asparagus salsify, squash. Fruit according to season. Apple or other fruit pudding. Ripe fruit and nuts.

Supper—Omelet or beet sandwiches, moulded rice and preserved fruit; fried mush, onions, potatoes; gems, cakes, puddings; fruit, ripe, in season; stewed prunes; baked apples, peas, figs and dates.

Stewed tomatoes—Open a can of tomatoes, put in a saucepan and set on the back of the stove; cook one hour, add a teacup of bread crumbs, two ounces of butter, with salt and pepper; cook half an hour.—Food, Home and Garden.

Household Hints.

Relieve pain in the side by the application of mustard.

Rain water and soap will remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

Put salt in water to prevent black calicoes from fading when they are washed.

Let clothes that fade soak over night in one ounce of sugar of lead in a pail of water.

When recipes given call for a cupful it means precisely half a pint. This amount of granulated sugar weighs half a pound.

A little borax put into the water in which scarlet napkins and red-bordered towels are to be washed will prevent them from fading.

One cannot afford to beat eggs with a fork, when for ten cents a beater can be purchased that will do the work in one-tenth the time.

By soaking blankets in a solution of soapsuds and ammonia water, and then washing afterward in clear water, they will come out white and clean.

To take ink out of linen, dip the ink spot in pure melted tallow, then wash out the tallow, and the ink will come out with it. This is unfailing.

Kerosene will make tin tea kettles as bright as new. Saturate a woolen rag and rub with it. It will also remove stains from varnished furniture.

When silk has lost its gloss and becomes limpsy it may be restored by sponging with a solution of half an ounce of gum tragacanth in a pint of hot water.

To clean pie plates that have long been used for baking, put them in a large kettle of cold water and throw on them a few hot ashes or cinders and let them boil for an hour.

Alum water is used by many for frosted feet. Soak the feet for half an hour in a strong, hot solution of alum water, and if one application is not enough two certainly will be.

To make sealing-wax for fruit cans take eight ounces of rosin, two ounces gum shellac and a half-ounce of beeswax. Melt all together. This will make a quantity, and may be melted for use when wanted.

In boiling meat for soup put cold water to it and let it come slowly to a simmer to extract the juice. If meat is boiled for itself alone, put it into boiling water, which causes the outer surface to contract, and the richness of the meat is retained within.

A movement is on foot among capitalists of Cincinnati to pipe crude petroleum from Lima, Ohio, to Cincinnati, where it is to be extensively manufactured into gas and be used for fuel.

The total steam and sail tonnage of the world is 511,436 tons, of which Great Britain furnishes 253,283 tons and the United States 5260 tons; Germany has 54,800 tons.

CURIOUS FACTS.

There are only five bedrooms in the White House.

The languages of the world number about nine hundred.

A mine of natural shoe blacking has been discovered in Utah.

The Declaration of Independence was written with a quill pen.

The French army on peace footing consists of half a million men.

When an animal tamer wishes to subdue a tiger he hits him on the nose.

A cat nineteen years old is to be seen in the family of N. B. Shaw, Acra, N. Y.

Fishermen have discovered that cod at the Fishing Banks will bite at artificial bait.

Joseph Witcher, of Warren, New Hampshire's veteran hunter, has a record of forty-two bears killed.

A Georgia man has a hen which lays double eggs, each one having an egg within an egg, as it were.

Some Japanese chestnut trees at Santa Rosa, Cal., yield enormous fruit. One dozen nuts weigh a pound.

A Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) woman has a glass necktie, which, it is said, can be tied in any kind of a knot.

A grocer in New York advertises his business by stenciling his name and address in red ink on every egg he sells.

In London the windows of private houses are washed by a limited liability company at the rate of eight cents a window.

A California paper asserts that one of the tramps of the Santa Cruz chain gang wears kid gloves when sweeping the streets.

Ten colored men acted as pall-bearers at the funeral of a prominent white Episcopal clergyman the other day in Columbus, S. C.

A bouquet of white roses hung on the bell-knob of the house of a dead person, along with the crape, is a new idea in trappings of woe.

When a man coming to this country gives an assumed name, being only known by it and naturalized under it, it becomes his legal name.

A boy born abroad of American parents may become President of the United States before taking out naturalization papers, as he is a citizen without naturalization.

The time occupied in the passage of an electric cable message between New York and London is not of appreciable duration. It is instantaneous, like a lightning flash.

A Georgia couple, believing in the saying that a fruit cake improves with age, kept their wedding cake until last week, when, with their children, they ate it. The cake was sixteen years old.

It is said that a Port Ewen (N. Y.) man, who is fond of animals, has purchased a hammock, in which his canine sleeps at night. He has taught the dog to catch one end of the rope in his teeth and swing itself asleep.

Charles Vail, an undertaker of Madison, Ind., is proud of the fact that he has buried more than 20,000 people; or, as he claims, more than any other man in the world. He has been in the business sixty years and is eighty years of age.

The Arkansas Gazette, in order to locate the largest family in its State, offers $50 for the mother, $25 for the father and a solid silver mug for the youngest child. The family must consist of father, mother and living children.

A Brewer (Me.) woman, while hanging out her wash, discovered what appeared to be a patch in the hem of a shirt, and, investigating, found it to be a $5 bill, which she had long before sewed into the hem for safe keeping and forgotten.

One very comfortable piece of statistics has been furnished by the Chautauqua Association, to the effect that over three thousand years would be required for any one person to read all the literary works now in existence that are recognized as standard.

The Chinaman bears his father's name; the woman, on marrying, takes her husband's name and adds her father's to it. Thus, when Miss Wang marries Mr. Ly, while she might usually be called Mrs. Ly, she must in formal acts sign herself Ly-Wang. People of the lower classes have names, the character of which varies in different places.

The Man Who Defended Parnell.

The name of Sir Charles Russell will be given an honorable place in the history of the struggle for Home Rule for Ireland. He is the senior counsel for the Parnellites, and it was his incisive and searching cross-examination that drove the forger Pigott in terror from England. Sir Charles is a remarkable man in more respects than one. He is a man of about fifty years. He stands five feet eleven inches high, and is built like an athletic. His complexion is florid and his hair a dark brown, slightly tinged with gray. He was born in County Wexford, Ireland, and has practiced his profession with distinction in Ireland and England for a quarter of a century. He was knighted when he was made Attorney-General of England, no man ever left the office with a higher reputation.

When the Parnell Commission was created Russell was approached by Editor Buckle, of the Times, and offered $750 a day to represent the paper while the Commission sat. He declined the offer on principle because he believed the letters were forgeries. The Attorney-General, Sir Richard Webster, was retained at $500 a day.

The domestic life of Sir Charles is one that any man might envy. He lives in a princely mansion at 29 Harley street, in the fashionable West End, London. Nearly all the property in that vicinity is owned by the Duke of Beaufort. His family worship in the beautiful Catholic Church in Ogle street, near by. They are the admiration of the congregation, and no wonder they should be. It is a sight to observe the handsome lawyer and his graceful wife with their thirteen pretty daughters as they enter church.

Yes, thirteen splendid girls, who rise one above the other like the steps of a stairway. There is no boy in the household. It takes three pews to accommodate the family, and father and mother always sit in the last pew.—New York Journal.

A Royal Suicide's Tomb.

The unfortunate Crown Prince of Austria shares the crypt of the Capuchin Church at Vienna with 118 of his ancestors. With three exceptions every member of the Hapsburg dynasty has been buried there since the Emperor Mathias died in 1619—these three exceptions being the Emperor Ferdinand II., buried at Gratz, the second wife of Leopold I., and the Empress Amelia, buried in convents. Thus the crypt contains the remains of eleven Emperors, fifteen Empresses, one King of Rome, two Queens, twenty-seven Archdukes, fifty-three Archduchesses, two Dukes, and two Electoral Princes, besides two [illegible] Empresses of [illegible] of Portugal, and an Archduchess.

The Story of a Horse.

It is not often that a dealer in horses gets caught, but a case in point shows how a Rondout dealer was brought up with a round turn. A man named Goodwin, of Palenville, came to this city to purchase a horse. Entering a mart in Abel street, the following conversation took place:

"I want to buy a horse."

"Good. I have got just the kind of animal that will suit you."

"Trot him out."

The horse was "trotted" out, and the man from Palenville instantly recognized the beast. He had purchased it in Montreal, Canada, fourteen years ago. At that time the age of the horse was given as six years. He had owned it twelve years and then sold it to a man who had it two years, thus making its age twenty years. While in Goodwin's possession the animal had acquired the habit of chewing tobacco.

"There," said the dealer, "he's a daisy."

"How old is he?" inquired Goodwin.

"Seven years. He is as sound as a Spanish gold dollar, and can turn a mile in less than three minutes."

"Are you sure the horse is only seven years old?"

"Certain sure. I know the man that raised him."

"Give me a chew of tobacco, will you?" said Goodwin. Receiving it he handed the tobacco to the dealer with the remark: "Just see if that horse will chew."

To the surprise of the horseman the animal chewed the quid with evident pleasure and whinnied for more.

"Do you know this horse?" he asked.

"Well, I ought to," replied Goodwin, "being as I owned him twelve years. He was six years old when I bought him, and another man had him for two years.

"Come out and take a drink," said the dealer. "That is the worst I ever was sold in my life.—Kingston (N. Y.) Freeman.

Fosterers of Civilization.

And where can you find the superior of our American sailor? Amid the jarring shock of ocean's mightiest swing during those dark hours of Samoa, when destruction appeared inevitable, when the engine fires were out, and our flagship was tossing, helpless and rudderless, that grand old Anglo-Saxon cheer rang out, as the brave eyes bedimmed with hissing brine caught sight of the Calliope escaping from a kindred danger. How must those British sailors have yearned, when free from peril, to know something of their late comrades. Their floating banner run aloft, another hearty cheer from Trenton to Vandalia, and that feeble strained response from those gasping for breath, then the sweet strains of the band, playing our national anthem, while the courageous prepared for appearently unavoidable death. The skilled navigator ordering the crew aloft, that weak atoms of humanity might form a sail and wring succor from the raging winds. And away on the surf-pounded beach that living rope, whose meshes were human fingers, battling desperately and unceasingly to reach the drowning. The black man had a big heart that day, and a soul as white as the purest saint among the redeemed and sanctified. Who shall dare say we should not have a navy to foster civilization and protect humanity, even as a God-given sentiment, irrespective of our commercial necessities?—Exchange.

How a King Looks.

The aristocracy at Kingston, St. Vincent Island, West Indies, have a blue-blooded member of the royalty who is being lionized. This remarkable person is a king in exile. King Ja Ja, of Opobo, West Africa, who for many years lorded it over a small district among the Oil rivers of the Niger delta. The king appears at the government house receptions and other state occasions. He wears an admiral's coat with immense bullion epaulettes, over a yellow plush vest with big green enamel buttons. The vest is cut very low, displaying a large area of immaculate linen. His jean trousers have broad stripes of blue and red, and black silk hose and a pair of gorgeous, flower-embroidered slippers cover his neither extremities. On his head he wears a broad-brimmed hat of African manufacture, something like a sombrero, and in the band are stuck at uniform distances, five long ostrich feathers. In his ears are gold rings of unique design, and encircling his neck is a collar of sharks' teeth, with a bear's tooth tripped with gold by way of a pendant. He wears white cotton gloves, and as many rings as his fingers and thumbs will accommodate.

A Man of Muscle.

Several years ago an artist of Dresden persuaded a locksmith there to give up his trade and become an artists' model. It was a good thing for the locksmith, who is now the famous "muscle man of Dresden," whose magnificently developed body makes him probably the most renowned model in the world. In order to preserve for future artists an exact duplicate of his extraordinary figure the director of the Royal Saxon Porzellanfabrik at Meissen recently invited him there that a cast from life might be taken of the upper part of his body. It is said that "his muscular development is so complete and detained that even the least and slightest cord of every muscle stands forth prominently, and his whole body looks as if it were woven together or plaited like basket work. His muscles have such a hardness that they feel to the touch as if they were carved in wood.

THINGS DOCTORS DO NOT KNOW.

Their Ignorance Discovered in the Robinson Poisoning Cases.

There was a commotion among the doctors at a recent meeting of the Massachusetts Medico-Legal Society, when it was found that reporters for secular newspapers were taking notes. Papers bearing specially on the notorious Robinson arsenical poisoning cases had been announced.

Dr. Holt declared that there was general ignorance of the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, and claimed that because of this ignorance the Robinson poisoning cases had gone on without arousing suspicions on the part of medical men. There were, he said, at least eight cases of criminal poisoning; seven occurred within five years, and in one family, and the other was that of a relative.

The cases were all treated by physicians of large practice, prominent in the profession, and yet no suspicion of arsenical poisoning was aroused until an organization in which the victims were insured tried to determine by investigation why so many persons died suddenly in this family.

In support of his statement as to the ignorance of medical men of the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, the doctor remarked that certificates of death were given in five of the Robinson cases as follows: pneumonia, typhoid fever, meningitis, bowel disease and Bright's disease.

The startling disclosure of the stupid ignorance shown in the treatment of those cases is quite in keeping with the usual indiscretion manifested by the profession in the treatment of persons who are sufferers from the slow and subtle poison which is generated in the system from a diseased state of the kidneys.

The afflicted are treated for consumption, apoplexy, for brain and various nervous disorders, when in most instances, it is shown, when too late, that the patient was wrongfully and ignorantly treated for a supposed disease which was, in reality, but a symptom of kidney disease, and should have been timely treated as such by the use of Warner's Safe Cure, which is the only remedy known that can be successfully relied on in the treatment of such disease.

Such exhibitions of stupidity by those who profess great intelligence in such matters is calculated to destroy confidence, and it can be well said that a remedy like Warner's Safe Cure, which places the direct means of preserving health in the sufferer's hands, is far more meritorious than high-priced medical advice which is so generally worthless and too often based upon an erroneous opinion as to the true cause of illness.

Human life is just a little too precious to the average individual to be sacrificed to the bigotry or ignorance of others.

Immense Vessels.

In addition to the 88 war ships of one kind or another now in construction by the British, 70 more are to be laid down at a cost of £22,000,000, making 501 war ships by 1894. Of all the war vessels of the United States, the largest and most powerful will be the Maine. She will be 310 feet long, with a displacement of 6,648 tons and a horse power of 9,000. She will have two batteries and her armor will be 11 inches thick. She will be a very ugly customer to attack.

The secret of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is owing to the fact that it is the very best iron preparation made. By a thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood it reaches every part of the body, giving health, strength and endurance to every portion. Thus beginning at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health. It does not contain whisky or alcohol. It will not blacken the teeth. It does not constipate or cause headache. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervous debility, weakness, etc.

The wife of Prof. Richard A. Proctor has been granted a pension of $500 a year.

Something Sure.

"I want something sure," said a genial looking gentleman of his druggist, who was wrapping a bottle of medicine for the gentleman's wife. Poor man; his heart had grown skeptic, and with good cause, for his wife had suffered for years with painful weakness, nervousness, constant fatigue, rheumatism and other symptoms of ill health, and, although he had tried many remedies, found nothing that gave relief.

"Well," said the druggist, "I do believe this is sure. I have only been selling it a few months, yet, in that short time, the sales have increased rapidly. Sometimes some one comes in and says, 'I want a bottle of that remedy that cured Mrs. Brown or Mrs. Smith of rheumatism.' 'What name?' I would ask. They had forgotten, so I would say, 'Is it B. B. B?' 'That's it! that's it!' would invariably be the answer. I tell you B. B. B. is rapidly gaining the greatest reputation of any remedy ever sold. It has proven itself a sure cure for the many annoying symptoms that follow an impoverished condition of the blood. Impure blood is the cause of innumerable aches, pains, impaired functions, indigestion, catarrh, etc., all of which readily yield to the wonderful recuperative virtue contained in B. B. B. I believe some day it will be the only thing used by the people as a cure for the constitutional evils arising from a state of blood impurity.

Whittier, the poet, protests against the enforced idleness of convicts in N. Y. prisons.

A Wonderful Food and Medicine,

Known and used by Physicians all over the world. SCOTT'S EMULSION not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body. "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for several years, and am pleased with its action. My patients say it is pleasant and palatable, and all grow stronger and gain flesh from the use of it. I use it in all cases of Wasting Diseases, and it is specially useful for children when nutrient medication is needed, as in Marasmus."—T. W. PIERCE, M. D., Knoxville, Ala.

The tanning industry will go, if making leather by electricity proves success.

Dangerous Negligence.

It is as unwise to neglect a case of constipation or indigestion as a case of fever or other more serious disease, for, if allowed to progress as great danger to life may result. A few Hamburg Figs will put the bowels in a healthy condition in which they may be kept by occasional use of this medicine. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

A Radical Cure for Epileptic Fits.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease which I warrant to cure the worst cases. So strong is my faith in its virtues that I will send free a sample bottle and valuable treatise to any sufferer who will give me his P. O. and Express address. Resp'y,
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

Work for workers! Are you ready to work, and do you want to make money? Then write to B. F. Johnson & Co., of Richmond, Va., and see if they cannot help you.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator cures all irregularities peculiar to woman. Those suffering should use it. Sold by all druggists.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle

The best cough medicine is Piso's Cure for Consumption. Sold everywhere. 25 cents.

That Tired Feeling

Is experienced by almost every one at this season, and many people resort to Hood's Sarsaparilla to drive away the languor and exhaustion. The blood, laden with impurities which have been accumulating for months, moves sluggishly through the veins, the mind fails to think quickly, and the body is still slower to respond. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just what is needed. It purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, makes the head clear, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling, tones the nervous system, and imparts new strength and vigor to the whole body.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is proven to be so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla, or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago as the steam power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious [illegible] of years ago."

"For years I [illegible] took Hood's Sarsaparilla [illegible]

Nearly everybody needs a good spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel impurities which accumulate in the blood during the winter, keep up strength as warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will be convinced of its peculiar merits. It is the ideal spring medicine, reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take, and gives full value for the money.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring tonic, and I recommend it to all who have that miserable tired feeling."—C. PARMELEE, 349 Bridge St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Makes the Weak Strong

"My appetite was poor, I could not sleep, had headache a great deal, pains in my back, my bowels did not move regularly. Hood's Sarsaparilla in a short time did me so much good that I feel like a new man. My pains and aches are relieved, my appetite improved. I say to others who need a good medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla and see."—GEORGE F. JACKSON, Roxbury Station, Conn.

[illegible] be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

[illegible]

100 Doses One Dollar

THE FRIEND'S ADVICE.

"Don't give up, my poor, sick friend,
While there's life there's hope, 'tis said;
Sicker persons often mend;
Time to give up when you're dead."

"Purer, richer blood you need;
Strength and tone your system give;
This advice be wise and heed—
Take the G. M. D. and live."

"These letters stand for 'Golden Medical Discovery' (Dr. Pierce's), the greatest nutritive, tonic and blood-purifier of the age."

"You have been told that consumption is incurable; that when the lungs are attacked by this malady, which is scrofula affecting the lungs and rotting them out, the sufferer is past all help, and the end is a mere question of time. You have noted with alarm the unmistakable symptoms of the disease; you have tried all manner of so-called cures in vain, and you are now despondent and preparing for the worst. But 'don't give up the ship' while Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery remains untried. It is not a cure-all, nor will it perform miracles, but it is guaranteed to benefit or cure Consumption, if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be promply refunded.

Copyright, 1888, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors.

$500 REWARD.—So confident are the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy of their ability to cure Catarrh in the Head, no matter how bad or of how long standing, that they offer, in good faith, the above reward for a case which they cannot cure. Remedy 50 cents, by druggists.

Sleepless Nights

"For nearly a month I was not able to sleep, but after using PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND for two days, insomnia fled and strength returned." R. G. SMITH, Clausen, S. C.

"I have taken only a part of a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and it has entirely relieved me of sleeplessness, from which I have suffered greatly." MRS. E. AUTCLIFF, Peoria, Ill.

"For a long time I was so nervous and worn out that I could not work. I tried many medicines, but none gave me relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound, which at once strengthened and invigorated my nerves."
HARLEY SHERMAN, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

quickly quiets and strengthens the nerves, when irritated or weakened by overwork, excesses, disease, or shock. It cures nervousness, headache, dyspepsia, sleeplessness melancholia, and other disorders of the nervous system.

Tones up the Shattered Nerves

"For two years I was a sufferer from nervous debility, and I thank God and the discoverer of the valuable remedy, that Paine's Celery Compound cured me. Let any one write to me for advice."
GEORGE W. BOUTON, Stamford, Conn.

Paine's Celery Compound produces sound and refreshing sleep. A physician's prescription, it does not contain one harmful drug. Like nothing else, it is a guaranteed cure for sleeplessness, if directions are faithfully followed.

$1.00. Six for $5.00. Druggists.
WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt.

DIAMOND DYES Original and only reliable. Beware of poor Imitations.

LACTATED FOOD agrees with Weak Stomachs. Best for Invalids

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR
Cures all Diseases Peculiar to Women!
BOOK TO "WOMAN" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Ely's Cream Balm WILL CURE CATARRH
Price 50 Cents.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N.Y.
THE CURE FOR CATARRH COLD IN HEAD HAY FEVER ELY'S CREAM BALM 50c

REMARKABLE CASE.
For two years I had rheumatism so bad that it disabled me for work and confined me to my bed for a whole year, during which time I could not even raise my hands to my head, and for 3 months could not move myself in bed, was reduced in flesh from 162 to 85 lbs. Was treated by best physicians, only to grow worse. Finally I took Swift's Specific, and soon began to improve. After a while was at my work, and for the past five months have been as well as I ever was—all from the effects of Swift's Specific.
JOHN RAY, Ft. Wayne, Ind.
Jan. 8, 1889.
Books on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.
SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

MEN AND BOYS!
Do you want to learn all about a Horse? How to Pick Out a Good One? How to Know Imperfections and so Guard against Fraud? How to Detect Disease and effect a cure when same is possible? How to Tell the Age by the Teeth? What to call the Different Parts of the Animal? How to Shoe a Horse Properly? All this and other Valuable Information relating to the Equine Species can be obtained by reading our 100-PAGE ILLUSTRATED HORSE BOOK, which we will forward, postpaid, on receipt of only 25 CTS. IN STAMPS.
HORSE BOOK CO., 134 Leonard St., N. Y.

AFTER ALL OTHERS FAIL CONSULT Drs. LINN & LOBB
[illegible]

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Constructed entirely of best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock, they are unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable cast-iron imitations which are often sold for the genuine article and are not only unreliable, but dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON Revolvers are all stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents and are guaranteed perfect in every detail. Insist upon having the genuine article, and if your dealer cannot supply you an order sent to address below will receive prompt and careful attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices furnished upon application.
SMITH & WESSON,
Mention this paper. Springfield, Mass.

HEGE'S IMPROVED CIRCULAR SAW MILLS. $160 FARMERS' SAW MILL,
With Universal Log Beam and Simultaneous Set Works, also Engines, Wood Planers. Manufactured by SALEM IRON WORKS, SALEM, N C.

JONES HE PAYS THE FREIGHT.
5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

FREE A GOLD WATCH WORTH $50.
On receipt of $3.00 we enroll you a life member of our Association and send our large 275-page illustrated catalogue, worth $5.00, giving wholesale prices at which MEMBERS ONLY can purchase all kinds of merchandise, books, periodicals, &c. To increase our membership we give FREE to the first 1,000 new members a gold watch guaranteed worth $50. Send at once, enclosing $6.00, as offer is good for 60 days only. PEOPLE'S SUPPLY ASSOCIATION, 26 University Place, N. Y. References, 14th St. Bank. Agents wanted.

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS. 10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!
Don't buy before getting our prices and catalogue. THE GEO. W. STO[illegible] CO., Name this paper. NASHVILLE, TENN.

SENT FREE!
Every reader of this paper, who expects to buy
A WATCH,
send for new Illustrated Catalogue for 1889, which we send Free.
J. P. STEVENS & BRO., Jewelers,
47 Whitehall Street, ATLANTA, GA.

SOUTHERN DYE HOUSE
All kinds of Silk, Cotton or Woolen Goods handsomely dyed or cleaned.
Suits a Specialty.
EXPRESS PAID ONE WAY.
24 Walton St., ATLANTA, GA.

CHRONIC DISEASES
Patients treated at their homes and at his office and Dispensary, No. 90 Broad Street, Atlanta, Ga., by DR. M. T. SALTER. Patients in every Southern State, send for circulars, and be convinced that he cures. Medicines by mail and express. Correspondence strictly CONFIDENTIAL.

ASTHMA CURED
German Asthma Cure never fails to give immediate relief in the worst cases, insures comfortable sleep; effects cures where all others fail. A trial convinces the most skeptical. Price 50c. and $1.00, of Druggists or by mail. Sample FREE for stamp. DR. R. SCHIFFMAN, St. Paul, Minn.

CONSUMPTION
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. So strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send two bottles free, together with a valuable treatise on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horses' feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Business Forms, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Short-hand, etc., thoroughly taught by MAIL. Circulars free. Bryant's College, 457 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you wish to buy a farm? If so address CURTIS & WRIGHT, 33 Broadway, N. Y.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

[illegible]

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one Inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 4 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	12 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1889. NUMBER 29.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

2018 1st AVENUE. CAHEEN'S 2020 1st AVENUE.

Comparisons are Odious,

But not so with us. We particularly invite and truly crave for comparison. We are leaders of fashion and the pillar of LOW PRICES. Our untold facilities enable us to sell goods cheaper than other houses can buy them. Our long business experience enables us to buy goods that the people want, and our cash capital enables us to have them at all times.

OVER THE GLOBE.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

FRANCE'S PERIL—STRIKES—THE WESTERN BOOM—DEATHS OF EMINENT MEN—ACCIDENTS, FIRES AND SUICIDES.

M. Durnovo, director of charities, will probably succeed the late Count Tolstoi as minister of interior in Russia.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg, Russia, says: Count Tolstoi, minister of the interior, who has been ill for some time, is dead.

The Grand Trunk railway workmen think they have discovered that the recent accident was caused by the breaking of one of the axles of the engine.

The Chopensaw Mill company's mill, lumber yard and all of the houses except three, situated in Natchitoches, La., were burned Monday afternoon. Loss $30,000.

Silvia Smith, an aged negro woman of Milledgeville, Ga., who was foster mother of nearly the entire population of the city and an otherwise noted character, was buried there this week.

The boiler of a dredger burst in the harbor at Calais, France, on Monday. The explosion killed seven persons and injured several others. The bodies of the killed were horribly mutilated.

The men at work on the cable line on East Seventh street, St. Paul, Minn., 1,018 in number, left their work at 1 o'clock p. m., Monday. The men were dissatisfied with the wages they received.

A portion of the gang of desperadoes who have been robbing and committing murderous assaults upon the farmers in the vicinity of McClellandtown, Fayette county, Pa., have been captured at last.

The Iron Mountain railroad (part of the Missouri Pacific system), has given notice that all unnecessary Sunday train service, both passenger and freight, will be discontinued on that road after May 1st.

The strike at the Allegheny Bessemer steel works, Pittsburg, Pa., promises to end disastrously to the strikers. The company succeeded in turning out a number of rails on Monday, and all the departments were in operation with non-union men.

Forest fires ignited Sullivan, Mich., Tuesday at noon and burned a large portion of it. Twenty-five families were rendered homeless and destitute. Grand Rapids sent an engine that worked all night to save the Sullivan Lumber Company's mill. One hundred people were fed and sheltered at Ravenna, a village five miles distant.

The north bound train on the Valley railroad, which was due at Cleveland, O., at 3:30 Wednesday evening, entered the city on time, and was running thirty miles an hour, when the smoker left the track and collided with a car loaded with coal on the side track. There were fourteen passengers in the smoker, of whom two were killed and four painfully injured. Half a dozen other passengers were bruised and cut, but not seriously.

Mr. S. J. Ritchie, of Akron, O., is in Ottawa, Ont., and has had an interview with the premier relative to the proposed visit to Canada of the Inter State commerce commission, with a view to these gentlemen having a conference with the government. It is understood that May or June will be a convenient time for the meeting to be held. In view of the inter-locking nature of the Canadian and United States railway systems, it is anticipated that great benefit to both countries will arise from the visit of the commissioners.

Contracts were signed Tuesday by which the state of New York purchased for the electricial execution of condemned criminals, three Westinghouse alternating current electric light dynamos. The state prisons at Sing Sing, Auburn and Clinton are each to have one of these deadly machines, which will be driven by engines already in place. The current will be applied to the unfortunates at the same pressure used by this system for electric lighting, and the State's experiments have shown that death will ensue in less than twenty seconds.

A special dispatch from Tocoma, W. T., says: Contractor J. E. McCormick has disappeared with about $50,000 secured from friends. Monday he met Wm. Squires, of Seattle, in this city and asked him to indorse his note at the Pacific National Bank for $37,500 for about ten days till he could complete his contracts and get some money on them. Squires complied with the request. McCormick went to bank, drew the money and subsequently took the train for New York, where he formerly resided. His liabilities will aggregate over $60,000, and he took upwards of $30,000 with him.

CYCLONE IN KANSAS

MUCH LOSS OF LIFE, AND MANY FATAL INJURIES.

EVERYTHING IN THE TRACK OF THE STORM DESTROYED—BUILDINGS BLOWN DOWN—TREES UPROOTED, ETC.

Hutchinson, Kansas, on Tuesday, was visited by a most terrific wind storm, which was most disastrous in its effects. the details are absolutely appalling.

The casualties so far as known are: William Crawford, killed outright, neck broken. William Bolt, fatally injured. Oliver Beard, paralyzed, cannot recover. Jason Beard, internally injured, will die. A. F. Guinup, internally injured. Mrs. Guinup and babe; the mother internally injured and babe's thigh broken and otherwise hurt. Mother expected to survive. Mrs. Lindsay, seriously hurt. Little girl of Geo. Deves, fatally injured. S. S. Crawford, fatally injured. Mrs. J. Love, seriously injured. Peter Scarlet, leg broken. Mrs. John Bartlett, shoulder blade broken and other injuries, will die. Wm. McNey, internally injured, cannot recover. Joseph Ferris, injured about the head, will die.

The path of the storm lay through Stafford county, extending southwest to the northeast, slightly east of the center of the county. The first building struck was the farm house of E. Slade, about six miles south of the town of Stafford. The house was swept away and hardly a splinter of it left. The family were considerably bruised, but none have died. The next building to succumb was the home of Al. Guinup, a short distance north of Slade's. Both the house and barn are gone. Guinup was badly injured, and it is expected he will die. Mrs. A. Potter, a widow lady, had her house and stable blown away, but the family escaped uninjured. The next house in the path of the cyclone was Mrs. Lindsay's, who lived with her two step-children, Maud and William Blue. The house was torn to pieces and Mrs. Potter so badly injured she cannot recover. George Deves's house was demolished and his little girl fatally injured. S. S. Crawford's residence was blown away and his son William was killed outright. Crawford himself was so injured that he will hardly recover. J. B. C. Cook's large cattle sheds were destroyed, as were J. W. Burns. Both loss heavily. J. Love's house is a thing of the past, and his wife was blown fifty feet north of the house into a wagon to which she clung. It carried her 100 yards further. The spokes in the wheels were either blown out or knocked out by the flying timber. Mrs. Lowe was clinging to the tongue of the wagon. She is so injured that there is no hope of her recovery.

The Eureka school house, a large and handsome structure, next fell. Peter Scarlet had scarcely finished his handsome new house, but it went with the rest. Scarlet was injured about the head and had his leg broken. John Wilhite's nursery and hot-house was completely ruined. Frank McCoy's house was destroyed. John Bartlett's house was completely wrecked, and his wife was blown one hundred yards and struck by a hay rake which broke her shoulder blade. She lost one eye, her nose broken and sustained internal injuries from which recovery seems impossible. Bartlett's son was thrown thirty feet, landing on a harvesting machine. This, together with the boy, was blown a quarter of a mile. The little fellow clung to the machine. Though considerably bruised, his injuries are not considered alarming. He says that for most of the way the harvester was carried by the wind clear off the ground. Three other children of this family were blown one hundred feet into a pile of cornstalks, and with the exception of a few bruises and scratches, made a very miraculous escape. William McVey, a farm hand, was struck by flying timbers and will die. Joseph Ferris and family have lost their home. Mr. Ferris is injured about the head, and is bleeding at the ears. He can hardly recover. From this point the cyclone veered to the northwest and passed in the vicinity of Huntsville, destroying several small houses. More than a hundred people are left homeless and without food or clothing. Many of the families had already retired for the night, and escaped only in their night clothes. Added to the bodily injuries are the sufferings of exposure in the night air. All night long the terrors of the occasion were increased by a heavy rain and hailstorm, which passed over the section after the cyclone.

England has been patching up Nelson's flagship Victory for years. Now a French nautical monument, La Belle Poule, the ship that brought home the remains of Napoleon from St. Helena, is causing dissatisfaction because of the money which has been devoted to calking and patching her up. She lies in Toulon harbor, and is used as a floating barrack.

CALLED OUT AND SHOT.

A LIQUOR DEALER IN LAWRENCEVILLE, GA., INSTANTLY KILLED.

Monday night at eleven o'clock, James H. Pierce was called from his house and shot to death. The assassin is unknown. He called for Pierce, who had been selling whiskey by the gallon and asked him if he had any. He replied that he had, but his license was out, and at this point the gun was fired, Pierce falling and exclaiming as he fell: "God have mercy on me." He died instantly. Rumor says that he had reported Frank Rice, whom the officers carried to Atlanta Saturday for illicit distilling, and that this is the cause of the killing. It is reported that Mrs. Ewing, who was present at Pierce's residence, recognized the voice of the party who called for liquor, and would swear who did the killing. The coroner's jury in the inquest case rendered a verdict finding that Frank Griffin fired the shot that killed James Pierce. He is a nephew of Frank Rice. Mrs. Ewing testified it was his voice that she heard calling Pierce, and the jury found accordingly. There are 110 shot of No. 2 and 3 sizes in his body. It is supposed both barrels were shot at once. A warrant was sworn out for Griffin, charging him with the murder, but upon investigation the court discharged him, though Mrs. Ewing swore to Griffin. The people are indignant at the judgment. Mrs. Pierce has sworn out a new warrant for the murder of her husband, charging Frank Rice, Buck Adams, Burel Lockling, Col. William Griffin and James Whitworth with the offence.

THE TREZEVANT CLAIM.

THE U. S. SUPREME COURT DECIDES IN FAVOR OF GEORGIA.

In Washington, D. C., on Monday, the court of claims gave a judgement for $35,555 in favor of the state of Georgia in its suit against the United States to recover money advanced to the government during the revolutionary war. The money had been withheld from the state by the accounting officers of the treasury as a set off to money due the government under the direct tax law. The court held that as the state of Georgia had never assumed the direct tax, there was no obligation on her part to pay the same, and that, therefore, the offset had been wrongfully made. This amount, $35,555, is principal and interest due the state of Georgia for money advanced by her to pay for the removal of the Indians from their reservation in Georgia. By an act of congress, seven years ago, this claim was recognized as just, and ordered paid. The comptroller of the treasury refused to pay it over to the state's agent, claiming that it should be applied to the payment of Georgia's unpaid balance due on her direct tax assessment. And this is the issue just determined by the supreme court of the United States.

THE SHAFTING FALLS.

A LARGE NUMBER OF OPERATORS THROWN OUT OF WORK FOR A TIME.

While the cotton factory at Trion, Ga., was running as usual on Monday, all of a sudden a considerable portion of shafting which was supported by "hangers" overhead, fell to the floor. A number of the operatives were at work among the machinery, but no one was hurt although it seems almost like an impossibility for them to escape being killed. One spinning frame was literally knocked to pieces, while two others were damaged. A spooling machine was cut in two by the falling shafting, which was bent and twisted considerably. Perhaps ten days will be required to repair the damage. Meantime the operatives will be idle, as none of the machinery can be run until the damaged shafting and machinery are repaired. The owners of the factory are building another and considerably larger mill near the old one. More than one hundred hands are at work on the new building. The old mill consumes about 4,500 bales of cotton each year. The new one will consume a good deal more.

ELEVEN BODIES BURIED.

The funeral of the eleven unidentified victims of the recent railway disaster near Hamilton, Ontario, took place Tuesday afternoon. Flags floated at half mast all over the city, and many places of business and all schools and civic offices were closed. The bodies of the adults were encased in black caskets, and those of the two children were placed in white caskets. Many beautiful floral designs were contributed. Eleven hearses were used. The pallbearers, of whom there were two sets, were composed of heads of the Grand Trunk department and members of the city council. One large grave was made the receptacle of the eleven caskets, but they were so arranged that six inches of earth was placed between each casket.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

NOTES.

The following promotions have been made in the Southern Express Company: Mr. J. G. Mays, of Augusta has been made superintendent of Southern Ga., and Mr. T. R. Osborn, of Jacksonville, has been promoted to be superintendent of Florida. Mr. E. F. Cary, of Charleston, S. C., has been advanced to Mr. May's position as route agent. Mr. Hollingsworth succeeds Mr. Cary as local cashier.

The Interstate Commerce Commission notified the principal railroads of the country that they are likely to be interested in and affected by the questions presented in the complaint of George Rice against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad alleging discrimination in favor of shippers of petroleum and cotton-seed oil in tank cars, and that they will be afforded an opportunity to be heard upon the questions involved in the case.

Postmaster General Wannamaker on Saturday issued the following order: Ordered, That hereafter the Post Office Department be closed on Sunday to the clerks and all employes thereof, except the required watchmen, engineers and firemen. Clerks and employes shall without exception be denied admittance on that day to the main building and to the several rented buildings, and the watchman on duty shall strictly enforce the provisions of this order.

Secretary Tracy has decided that he has authority under the law to proceed with the construction of the great coast defence vessels. There will be no readvertisement, and the only question yet to be decided is which of the three bids shall be accepted. Cramp's bid was the lowest, but the Union Iron Works of California, whose bid was but $14,000 above him, hope to secure the work in consideration of the fact that they absolutely guarantee the success of the ship for the amount of their bid, which was $1,628,000. This decision of the Secretary will involve the abandonment of the idea of building a submarine torpedo boat.

Appointments by the president on Tuesday: Public printer, Mr. Frank Palmer, of Chicago; Civil Service commissioners, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, and Hugh S. Thompson, of South Carolina. There were fifty-nine postmasters appointed. Among them the following Southern: Robert L Houston, Birmingham, Ala., vice M B Throckmorton, deceased; Dallas B Smith, Opelika, Ala., vice R A Mitchell, resigned; William A Wood, Gainesville, Ga., vice William D Whelchel, commission expired; Jesse F Owen, Sweetwater, Tenn., vice John S Yearwood, commission expired; George B French, Wilmington, N. C., vice Oscar G Parsley, removed; Julius B Fortune, Shelby, N. C., vice Benjamin F Logan, removed.

The war department has just completed and published allotments of $400,000, appropriated by Congress for the equipment of militia. The allotments are based on representation of the states in Congress and in case of territories about to become states, the apportionments show the amounts to which they will be entitled after this has occurred. The distribution of the appropriation will be as follows: Alabama, $9,492; Arkansas, $6,644; California, $7,594; Colorado, $2,847; Connecticut, $5,695; Delaware, $2,847; Florida, $3,797; Georgia, $11,391; Illinois, $20,883; Indiana, $14,239; Iowa, $12,340; Kansas, $8,543; Kentucky, $12,340; Louisiana, $7,594; Maine, $5,695; Maryland, $7,594; Massachusetts, $13,289; Michigan, $1,234; Minnesota, $6,644; Mississippi, $8,543; Missouri, $15,189; Nebraska, $4,746; New Hampshire, $3,797; Nevada, $2,847; New Jersey, $8,543; New York, $34,173; North Carolina, $10,441; Ohio, $21,833; Oregon, $2,847; Pennsylvania, $28,478; Rhode Island, $3,797; South Carolina, $8,543; Tennessee, $11,391; Virginia, $11,391; West Virginia, $5,695; Wisconsin, $10,441; Montana, $2,847; Washington, $2,847; North Dakota, $2,847; South Dakota, $3797; Alaska, $2,501; New Mexico $2,501. The regulations provide that the requisitions for militia supplies must be made by the governors of states and territories direct to the Secretary of war.

GERMANY'S OFFER.

It is stated that Germany will consent that Malietoa be reinstated as king of Samoa, provided that United States government purchases the German plantations or guarantees payment if the Samoans buy them. Germany will further waive her demands for the punishment of Mataafa if the relatives of the Germans who were slain are amply compensated.

FATAL COLLISION.

SIX LADIES KILLED IN A MOST HORRIBLE MANNER.

A dispatch from Kalamazoo, Michigan, says: A shocking accident occurred about 6.30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the West Main street crossing of the Michigan Central Railroad. A street car containing seven ladies and two gentlemen was crossing the track, when a switch engine dashed down upon it from the east at a high rate of speed, and, the driver being unable to get the car out of the way, the helpless passengers were hurled to a terrible death. It was but the work of a moment, and the fearful catastrophe was over. The street car was carried almost to Academy street, pieces flying in all directions, and the human freight being mangled in a frightful manner. Those in the car were Mrs. Alex. Haddock, Mrs. M. E. Wattes, Miss Gertrude Tillotson, Mrs. George Smiley, Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. Vanantwerp, Mrs. S. A. Gibson, Mrs. Johnathan Barnes, Mr. L. C. Lull, Dr. Sutton. The first six were killed, two being found dead in a cattle guard, one in a creek near by, two on the track, and Mrs. Middleton died an hour latter. She was thrown in the roadway. Mrs. Gibson was injured in head and side, and Mrs. Barnes was bruised badly. The male passengers both escaped. The driver of the car escaped by jumping. The switch engine was running at a high rate of speed. The gates at the crossing where the accident are not used between 5:30 and 6:58 p. m., the gate keeper going home at that time. This custom probably deceived the driver of the street car, who was a new man, and probably supposed that the gates would, of course, be down if an engine was coming.

A FIGHT IMMINENT.

A PARISH IN LOUISIANA DIVIDED INTO FACTIONS.

Information comes from New Orleans to the effect that Vernon, a sparsely settled parish on the border of Texas, appears on the eve of civil war, and much blood may flow. Two years ago, A. D. Lyles, a Texas desparado, who, it is charged, had been driven from that state for cattle stealing, settled in Vernon parish and engaged in stock dealing. He always went heavily armed and inclined to murderous aggressiveness. So odious did he become that one night recently he was filled with buckshot and left dead, six miles from Leesburg. His killing was the beginning of the trouble. The editor of the People's Friend attacked State Senator E. E. Smart, a prosperous and influential citizen, accusing him of the crime, and demanding punishment. The Vernon News defended the senator. The parish speedily divided into factions, the old element supporting the News and the border ruffians the Friend. Mr. Sorrell, editor of the latter, has made himself very aggressive, and it is feared he will be killed. If such an event occurs, the two factions will fight with bloody results.

THE DRUMMERS

HAVE A BIG TIME AT THEIR MEETING IN SAVANNAH.

The drummers brought a greater crowd to the city than was expected. All incoming trains were heavily loaded. The hotels were filled up, and the boarding houses had but little room left. In the wholesale and retail part of the city the stores were elaborately decorated with bunting. Monday morning, the Savannah, Atlanta, Macon and Augusta branches of the travelers protective association paraded. Charleston and Jacksonville had representatives in line. All along the route the sidewalks were thronged. At the city exchange Mayor Schwartz and the aldermen reviewed the procession. Afterwards a meeting was held at the theatre where Hon. Peter Meldrim and General Henry Jackson spoke to the drummers, welcoming them to the city. In the afternoon the military paraded. There was a large turnout. Tuesday the visitors were entertained with a balloon ascension at Tybee.

A TOWN BURNED.

At midnight Tuesday, a fire broke out in a meat shop in Beaver Dam, a small village twenty miles west of Findlay, Ohio, and before the flames could be subdued, almost the entire business portion of the town was reduced to ashes. The late hour found the inhabitants all in bed, and the scenes following the discovery of the fire was indescribable. Women and children, who had only time to escape in their night clothes, and for whom no shelter could be found, presented a pitiable sight. No lives have been reported lost.

REGULATORS

THREATENING TO SHOOT VOTERS IN LAFAYETTE, LA.

THIRTY MEN ARMED WITH WINCHESTER RIFLES SURROUND THE COURT-HOUSE AND DECLARE THAT NO NEGRO SHALL VOTE.

A special from LaFayette, La., says, at 8 o'clock Monday morning a party of twenty-five or thirty men, armed with Winchester rifles, surrounded the court house, while several large bands, also armed, remained just outside the town limits. These men, in menacing tones, proclaimed that no negro would be allowed to vote at this municipal election. A large number of men with arms were in the immediate neighborhood of the court house square and at the several entrances to the square armed men were posted and the negroes were not permitted to enter.

At 6:30 Sheriff Broussard offered to escort a number of men at the north entrance to the square to vote. He attempted to enter with these men, when there was a rush of armed men to the entrance, and shouts were heard of "Shoot them!" Kill him!" "Don't allow them to go in!" and the voters turned back. The sheriff entered the court house, and the commissioners and clerk of court and sheriff, who were holding the election, then closed the polls and retired. A sworn statement by these officers was forwarded by mail to the governor. Later dispatches from LaFayette fully confirm these reports. Governor Nichol received a dispatch from Sheriff Broussard concerning the outrage and stating that he had succeeded in arresting and and landing in jail, ten of the "regulators." The sheriff thinks the parish authorities will be able to suppress the disorder and punish those engaged in the outrage. As a precutionary measure, however, the military have been ordered to move at a moment's notice. The postponed election for mayor and town councilmen will be held at a future day. It is stated that the larger portion of "regulators" were non-residents of the town and that but few of them lived in parish where the outrage occurred.

TWO RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

NO LIVES LOST, BUT SEVERAL CARS WITH THEIR CONTENTS DESTROYED.

The passenger trains on the Cincinnati Southern railroad, due at Chattanooga Tuesday morning were delayed till noon by a couple of accidents. At four o'clock a. m., the first accident occurred at Dayton, when a freight train went off the track on account of a broken axle, and four cars of merchandise were scattered along the track. The other accident occurred at Rockwood. The first section of a train came apart and a bungling attempt to make a running coupling resulted in a collision that threw fourteen cars from the track into a ditch with most disastrous effect. Nobody was dangerously hurt in either accident, though several received severe and slight injuries.

MINE EXPLOSION.

THREE MEN KILLED AND SEVERAL OTHERS INJURED.

At Compton mines, fifteen miles north of Birmingham, Ala., a fatal explosion occurred late Wednesday afternoon. A very heavy blast, intended to break an immense rock, was exploded without effect. Superintendent Dorsey Collins then ordered the men to fill the hole again. A very large hole had been drilled in the rock, and into this six kegs of powder was emptied. As the men were putting in the seventh keg a terrific explosion occurred. Superintendent Collins was standing only a few feet away when the explosion occurred. He was blown sixty feet and instantly killed. Two negro laborers, whose names have not been learned, were fatally injured and several others were slightly injured. the cause of the premature explosion is not known.

A FATAL RUNAWAY.

ONE GENTLEMAN KILLED AND SEVERAL LADIES SEVERELY INJURED.

At Lawtey, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Churchill, of Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Burdette, were out driving, when the horses became frightened and backed suddenly, throwing Mr. Churchill out and running over him. The horses then dashed around a corner, overturned the wagon and threw the three others out against a barbed wire fence. One side of Mr. Burdette's head was crushed in against the post, and he was instantly killed. Mrs. Churchill was badly mangled, and her left side and both legs paralyzed. The left shoulder of Mrs. Burdette was wrenched out of place and one eye [illegible] out. Mr. Churchill [illegible]

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

Thomasville, Ga., is to have a new jail to cost $10,000.

A fire occurred at Elberton Ga., on Monday morning at four o'clock, which burned five buildings and caused six thousand dollars loss.

At New Orleans, on Monday, thirty small dwellings were burned in the square bounded by Julia, Locust, Cypress and Magnolia streets. The loss is estimated at $40,000, mostly insured in local companies.

On Saturday, at Albany, Ga., William Gilmer shot his young wife, and then shot himself. Both died in a very short time. She had left him, and was living with her parents, and refused to return to him. This is given as the cause of the tragedy.

The East Tennessee railroad will, on Sunday, begin running a fast schedule between Chattanooga and New York, arriving in the latter city three hours earlier than by the present schedule. The schedule is now a fast one. The run is thirty hours.

The petition of the business men of Lawrenceville, Ga., to the Richmond & Danville Railroad company, asking for two daily trains, was speedily granted. In addition to the extra train, the schedule is so arranged that connections may be had with trains going north and south.

The mineral belt of Georgia ends five miles above Macon, and small deposits of gold have in the past been found within the city limits of Macon, and experts think positively that natural gas will be discovered within a few miles of the city. An effort will be made to enlist capital in the experiment.

A passenger train on the Birmingham Mineral railroad Wednesday morning ran over and killed an unknown white man, about nine miles from the city. The body was horribly crushed and mangled, and has not been identified. The engineer did not see the man, and only learned of the accident by discovering blood and pieces of flesh on the wheels of his engine.

WIND IN DAKOTA.

A dispatch from Fargo, Dak., says that a cyclone swept across that city on Monday, doing considerable damage in the way of unroofing buildings and demoralizing telegraph and telephone and electric wires. The upper story of the Silverson block was badly damaged, the debris from which fills the street in front; an electric tower lies across the railroad track, and numerous dwellings are unroofed. The storm moved from south to north, and was preceded by a blinding sand storm and the usual roaring sound.

WILL SUE.

S. M. McCaul, chairman of the judiciary committee of the Massachusetts Legislature, as counsel for Samuel Fessenden, treasurer of the Cape Cod Ship Canal company, has sued the Boston Traveler for libel, laying damages at $100,000, on account of a special dispatch from Sandwich, May 2, alleging that Fessenden had mysteriously disappeared, and hinting at financial irregularities.

QUARANTINE RAISED.

The ten days' quarantine at Sanford, Fla., has been raised and the guards have been dismissed. Business has resumed its usual features and the recent fever scare is entirely over. No suspicious cases followed the death of Mrs. Demot. The inmates of her house at the time of her death were isolated at a camp in the woods, but are all in good health and were released on Saturday.

French Journalistic Enterprise.

There seems to be considerable enterprise among the French, judging by the following incident, told by a French reporter: There had been a fearful murder in the country, and the editor sent me down to form a theory, and, if possible, get ahead of the police in arresting the murderer. Three days later I returned and reported progress, and three officers armed themselves and set off with me, and about eleven o'clock we reached the spot where the suspicious-looking person had been in the habit of loitering about. Suddenly, as we turned a corner, we almost ran against a pale and haggard-looking man, answering the description I had received. "That's the man!" I cried. The wretch [illegible] to run, but was instantly secured, [illegible] and dragged to the [illegible]. [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 16, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.00
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

The Cessa Advocate favors Col. N. N. Clements, of Tuskaloosa, as our next Governor. A good man for the place.

The VIEW is in receipt of an invitation to a grand industrial celebration to be held at Decatur on the 29th and 30th of May.

At a meeting of the directors of the Elyton Land Company, at Birmingham, a syndicate, represented by W. M. Duncan, of Nashville, and ex-President Baldwin, of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, made an offer of $1,000,000 cash for half of the stock of the company. The offer was made by Mr. Duncan, the president of the company, and Jos. T. Woodward, of New York, one of the directors. They declined the offer and informed Messrs. Duncan and Baldwin that one half of the stock could not be bought for less than $2,500,000 cash.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

Observers report a deficiency of rainfall for the week just closed and the continued dry weather is injurious to the rapid growth of vegetation. Streams and wells are failing in their supply of water.

Light frosts were reported in north Alabama killing beans and other tender vegetables and turning corn yellow. The nights have been cool over the entire state, retarding the cotton and corn crops. The average temperature was below the normal. Dry, cool winds have continued through most of the week, but the last forty-eight hours were warmer and more favorable if the parched soil could be moistened with a good precipitation.

Some farmers have commenced chopping cotton but there is a fear that if a sufficiency of rain should fall soon the seed, now lying dormant in the soil may sprout, making it necessary to repeat this work. Near Union Springs the young corn is being injured by the attacks of boll worms. P. H. MELL, Director.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Stanton Notes.

Rev. James Lapsley, of the Presbyterian Church preached two fine sermons yesterday here to large and attentive congregations. We have the most orderly and religious town in the State.

Mrs. W. B. Ogletree is visiting her aunts, Mesdames Taylor and Wright. We are glad to record that the latter is again convalescent after several days illness.

Our two Baptist ministers of this place Brothers McCord and Ruddick are attending the Baptist convention at Memphis, Tenn.

We have commenced work on the Methodist Church at last, and in two weeks we can worship God under our own vine and fig tree. Heretofore we have worshipped in a building owned by our Presbyterian brother, Mr. R. Coe, who is the essence of kindness and liberality. May the little church he has founded ever prosper and grow, beckoning the weary traveler to a haven of rest.

Teachers, let us all authorize Bro. A. J. Scott to sign our names to a petition to be drawn up by himself asking Superintendent Palmer to give us the district institute in Chilton county.

The Committee writing up the different enterprises in Chilton county neglected to mention Welch Bros'. mill one of the largest in the county, the Chilton Lumber Co.'s and Parnell Bros'. at Dixie. All these are flourishing and money making enterprises.

Jemison Locals.

Prof. Ruffin gave a very pleasant entertainment at Jemison academy on the night of the 4th inst., consisting of music, essays, &c. In connection with the same they had an ice cream and strawberry supper which netted about $15.00 which went toward helping to pay for seats and desks in the new addition to the academy building.

We regret that we cannot write the entertainment up because of our inability to be present; but suffice it to say that our citizens spoke of it in the highest terms.

We cannot refrain from mentioning the essay of Miss Kate Sherrill on "Primary Teaching" which was much lauded by all we have heard speak of it. We would also make mention of the essays of Miss Ray Maschline and Miss Bettie Hunt.

The ladies of the M. E. church gave an ice cream and strawberry supper last Friday night for the benefit of the church.

Rev. A. E. Burns is attending the Southern Baptist Convention at Memphis. Mulberry church gave him leave of absence from his appointment there last Saturday and Sunday in order that he might go and Jemison and Chestnut Creek churches paid his expenses by way of compliment to him.

Prof. Ruffin's school and a good many of the citizens of our town enjoyed an excursion picnic to Silaria on Saturday last.

Mr. LeRoy and family have returned from the magic city.

Mr. C. J. McCary and wife visited relatives in Jemison last week.

The Methodists are erecting a parsonage on the south end of their church lot. It will add much to that part of town and we hope soon to see it completed.

Mr. S. T. Haviland is erecting a new residence in south Jemison.

X. Y. Z.

The numerous long-lived people in Chilton county ought to be a great advertisment for our county. Some of the folks whose names here not been mentioned will be given:

Mr. V. J. Graggs is near 83 years old, and can do pretty good work. Besides having enough money for the rainy days.

Mr. M. Rasberry is 81 years of age and his wife is not far behind him.

Mrs. Kate Morris is between 80 and 90. Her husband served in the war of 1812.

Mrs. L. Andrews will be 79 years old the 10th of next month. She spent a day with me last week and enjoyed reading the VIEW very much.

Mrs. Elizabeth P. Gaines, of Jemison, will be 79 on the 13th of October next. Very few ladies have the nerve and strong mental faculties which this lady possesses. A MOTHER.

Maplesville Dots.

We had a heavy hail the 30th ult., and the ground was almost covered in a few minutes. Little damage was done.

Mr. W. R. Martin has been to Ashby again, and there are some suspicions that cupid has made some interferences in this case—consequently.

Mr. Herbert Woolley is again able to return to business in Selma.

Mr. F. Kelley has been spending a few pleasant days with friends here. He goes into business now with Dr. Brand, of Randolph.

There is some talk of a tremendous boom ahead when the railroad gets under way, but we go on in the even tenor of our way, as though it were not so.

We would be glad if the editor of the VIEW would come over to see "what manner of people we be" and could be induced to tarry with us. REVOLO.

Trouble Brewing Between Whites and Blacks in Louisana.

NEW ORLEANS, May, 12—There has been a small race war in progress at Gretna, opposite this city since Tuesday evening, on which date two whites R. Ran and Hillary Roberts were stabbed, and a number of whites and blacks more or less injured with pistols and knives in a fight between members of a white fire company and a number of negroes. Friday the negroes had a picnic and trouble was expected. A large force of police was sent from this city and no trouble occurred. Early this (Sunday) evening it was seen from this side that the colored engine company's house was burning and a large number of people went across by ferry. They were met by the Gretna military and escorted to the fire. By this time the colored military company's building next to the engine house, was burning. Whites armed with shotguns and rifles congregated and kept the negroes away. The only fire engine in the place broke down, and the fire did not stop until there was nothing left of the buildings to burn.

Then armed squads scattered through the town entered negro cabins ostensibly in search of arms. The whites seemed greatly alarmed, fearing a negro uprising.

During the fires some of the blacks in bed were fired at, but none injured. Earlier in the morning, however during some desultory firing three negroes were wounded Charley Holt dangerously; Charley Proser in the arm and another in the back. C. F. Brown, a colored member of the legislature, occupied one of the burned houses. He was afraid to come out and seemed likely to burn to death, but the whites saved him and offered him no violence.

WOMAN TO HANG.

Algy Moses Convicted of Highway Robberry and Sentenced to Hang.

BIRMINGHAM, April 10.—[Special.]—In the criminal court to-day Algy Moses, a colored woman was convicted of highway robbery and her punishment fixed at death. Last fall Algy Moses robbed an old Egyptian woman who was peddling jewelry and trinkets about the city and cut her in a dozen places with a razor. The old woman came near bleeding to death before she was found, but finally recovered though she was disfigured for life. The negro woman was arrested the next day with the stolen money and jewelry in her possession. Her trial consumed this morning and to-night The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed punishment at death, highway robbery being a capital punishment in this State.

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or billious For sale in 50 cent. and one dollar bottles by all leading druggists. jul20

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successul Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough, we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton. jan 10

Tax Sale.

STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY.

Under and by virtue of decrees rendered at the regular term of the Probate court of Chilton county, on the 13th day of May, 1889, by Hon. H. J. Callen, Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Ala., I will proceed to sell in front of the courthouse door in Clanton Alabama, between the legal hours of sale, on Monday, June 17th, 1889, the following described real estate for the taxes and costs due thereon for the year 1888:

BEAT TWO.

Mrs. Rebecca Busby, n ½ of n w q of n w q and n ½ of n e q of n w q, sec 6, t 23 r 14. State tax 15 cents, county tax 12 cents, cost and charges 50 cents. Total 77 cts. Printer's fee $3.98

Calera Land Company, S ½ of n w q s ½ and n e q s 15 t 24 r 14, s w q and e ½ and e ½ of n w q s 17 t 24 r 14, w ½ of s w q and n ½ n w ¼ of s w q s 19 t 24 r 14 e ½ of n w q n e q and s ½ of s 21 t 24 r 14 n e q, n ½ of s e q, s e q of s e q and w ½ of s 28 t 24 r 14, n e q, n ½ of s w q, s e q of s w q, s e q and n w q of s 25 t 24 r 14 all of s 27 t 24 r 14, the s w q the w ½ of n w q, the n e q and the e ½ of the s e q s 29 t 24 r 14, the n ½ of the n w q, the s w q of the s w q, the n e q of the s e q, the e ½ of n e q, the s w q of n e q s 31 t 24 r 14, n e q of s w ¼ e ½ of s e q, n w q of n e q and s e q of n e q of s 35 t 24 r 14, e ½ of n w q, n w q of n w q, s thirty-five t twenty-four r fourteen, s e q of s e q s 13 t 24 r 13, all of s 35 t 24 r 13, n ½ of n e q s 27 t 24 r 12, n w q of s 15 t 24 r 13 n e q, s w q, e ½ of s e q and s w q of s e q s 25 t 24 r 13. State tax $62.50, county tax $50, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $113,00. Printer's fee $22.80.

Mrs. Nancy Sims, The e ½ of n w q the n w q of the n e q, the w ½ of the s e q and the s half of the s w q s 14 t 23 r 12. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $5. Pr's fee $4.60.

John B. Storrs, The s ½ of the n w q and the s w of the n e q s 16 t 23 r 13. State tax $1, county tax 80 cts, cost and charges 1.00 Printers fee $3.60

BEAT THREE.

Unknown owner, The n. w ¼ of the s e q sec 2 t 21 r 13. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges $1, total $5.50. Printer's fee $3.30.

BEAT FOUR.

C. C. Mitchell, The s e q of the s e q s 35 t 23, r 15. State tax 25 cents, county tax 20 c, c & c $1, total $1.45. Pr's $3.30

BEAT FIVE.

Susan Melton, The n e q of the n e q s 32 t 21 r 16. Also one house and lot in Verbena. State tax 58 cents, county tax 46, cost and charges 50, total $1.54. Printer's fee $3.60

T. L. Jackson, One house and lot in Verbena. State tax 18 cents, county tax 10 cents, cost and charges 50 cents, total 78 cents. Printer's fee $2.60

W. H. Merritt, The n e q of the n e q s thirty-two t twenty-one r sixteen, State tax twenty-five cents, county tax twenty cents, cost and charges $1.00. Total $1.45. Printer's fee $3.40.

BEAT EIGHT.

M. F. Fuller, One house and lot in Clanton Ford. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 56 cts. Total 1.40. Printer's fee 2.90.

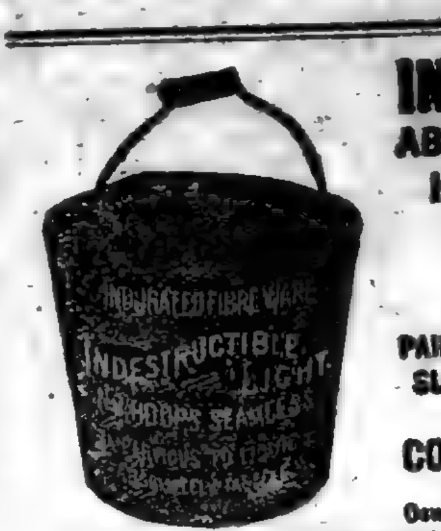
Greil & Kohn, The s w q of the n w q s 34 t twenty r 11. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total 1.90. Printer's fee $3.35.

G. W. Harrison, The w ½ of s w q and s e q of s w q s 18 t twenty r 11. State tax 60 cts., county tax 48 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total two dollars and eight cents. Printer's fee 3.70.

Unknown owner, the e ½ of the n e ¼ and the s w q of the n e ¼ and the n ½ of the s e q and the e half of the n w ¼ of s 1 t 20 r 11. Total State and county taxes and costs $5.86. Printer's fee $5.00

B. M. GENTRY,
Tax Collector of Chilton Co.
Clanton, Ala., May 13, 1889.

Southern Pacific Tea Company.
Importers and Jobbers of
Fine Coffees, Teas and Spices.
Fresh Roasted Coffee Daily. Also Coffee Roasted to order. Manufacturers of CAMPBELL'S BAKING POWDER.
Second Avenue, Between Twenty-first and Twenty-Second Streets.
Birmingham, Alabama.



INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
Factories: Portland, Me., Peterboro, N. H., Watertown, Mass., Oswego, N. Y., Lockport, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Winona, Minn.
FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.
FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.
Apr25-6

What to Avoid.

Do not manifest impatience.

Do not engage in argument.

Do not interrupt another, when speaking.

Do not find fault, though you may gently criticise.

Do not talk of your private, personal or family matters.

Do not appear to notice inaccuracies of speech in another.

Do not allow yourself to lose temper, or speak excitedly.

Do not allude to unfortunate peculiarities of any one present.

Do not always commence a conversation by allusion to the weather.—Ex.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen.

A thirty-eight calibre Smith & Wesson double action revolver, with pearl handle. It disappeared at the recent fire at Duke's mill. A liberal reward will be given for its return and no questions asked.

R. C. DUKE.

The Alabama Midland.

The Alabama Midland is now the longest line under construction, and promises to be one of the most important railway systems in Alabama and Georgia. That road will not only serve to develop the rich and practically inexhaustible resources of one of the finest lumber regions in the gulf states, but it will also open up to settlement and farming purposes large areas of farming lands that have necessarily been awaiting establishment of routes of transportation before they could be utilized.—Rome Tribune.

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 75 cents, we will sell them Shiloh's System Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the
KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS
—AND TO—
Cleanse the System Effectually,
—SO THAT—
PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH
Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
jul19 y

Chancery Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Adam Schuessler, Admin'r, &c., vs. James A. Dudley, et al. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of the confirmation in the Supreme Court of a decree rendered by the Chancellor in vacation, on the 23d day of January, 1888, for the 7th District, Northeastern Chancery Division of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., on Monday, the 27th day of May, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following described real estate situated in Clanton, Chilton county, Ala., to-wit: Lots one, three, seven, nine, ten, eleven, thirteen, fifteen and sixteen in Block Five, Lying on the east side of the South and North Alabama Railroad.

W. E. STEWART, Register.
April 24th, 1889.

Constipation,
IF not remedied in season, is liable to become habitual and chronic. Drastic purgatives, by weakening the bowels, confirm, rather than cure, the evil. Ayer's Pills, being mild, effective, and strengthening in their action, are generally recommended by the faculty as the best of aperients.
"Having been subject, for years, to constipation, without being able to find much relief, I at last tried Ayer's Pills. I deem it both a duty and a pleasure to testify that I have derived great benefit from their use. For over two years past I have taken one of these pills every night before retiring. I would not willingly be without them."—G. W. Bowman, 26 East Main st., Carlisle, Pa.
"I have been taking Ayer's Pills and using them in my family since 1857, and cheerfully recommend them to all in need of a safe but effectual cathartic."—John M. Boggs, Louisville, Ky.
"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action, so that now I am in excellent health."—S. L. Loughbridge, Bryan, Texas.
"Having used Ayer's Pills, with good results, I fully indorse them for the purposes for which they are recommended."—T. Conners, M. D., Centre Bridge, Pa.
Ayer's Pills,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.
tmal6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
Firs-class Job Printing done.

CLUB RATES:

We will send the VIEW and the Age-Herald one year for $2, and give each subscriber a ticket to the great gift distribution in July. We will send our paper and either of the Montgomery papers for one year at the same price.

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
☞ Fine Stock of Chas Carley's Oils at Company's Prices.
P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.
I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully,
feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

SAM. H. HARRIS,
—DEALER IN—
WALL PAPER,
Paints, Oils, Glass, Mouldings,
AND PICTURE FRAMES.
Send for prices and samples of Wall Paper and Paints.
312 North 20th Street, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Competent Workmen sent to any part of the State.
[ma17-y]

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.
No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.
H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.
☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application.
apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
— Manufacturer of all kinds of —
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, - - Alabama.
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWARE.
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street.
Birmingham, Ala.
12 20 6

OTTO STOELKER,
THE JEWELER.
☞ REMOVED TO NO. 22 DEXTER AVENUE.
New Goods! Large Stock!
Finest Display of Fine Diamonds in Alabama. Rich Jewelry. Fine Gold and Silver Watches. Wedding and Holiday Goods in Great Variety.
OTTO STOELKER,
nov26 THE JEWELER, 22 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 16, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Pou DeJarnette visited relatives in Clanton Sunday.

Mrs. Flora Key, of Birmingham, is visiting relatives in our town.

Mrs. DeJarnette, and her sweet little daughters, are visiting relatives in Montgomery.

Miss Jennie Chilton has returned from a pleasant visit to relatives in Montgomery.

A fishing party drained Corderrie's mill pond on Tuesday and pulled in a pile of fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Glover, of Pratt Saw Mill, spent Sunday with friends in Clanton.

On our first page will be found all of the latest news of importance throughout the country.

Mr. Lee Bivings, of Birmingham, spent Sunday in Clanton with his brother, Dr. Bivings.

Dr. Burkhead will preach Thursday evening at the Methodist church and at the Baptist church Thursday night

The county board of revenue met on Monday for the purpose of examining into the matter of delinquent taxes.

Mr. Oliver Mullins, of Jumbo was in town Monday. He reports crops in good condition though a little backward in his section.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father in Clanton, on the 9th inst., Mr. J. M. Morgan and Miss Lilla Chandler. Judge Cullen officiated.

Never had a preparation a more appropriate name than Ayer's Hair Vigor. When the capillary glands become enfeebled by disease, age or neglect, this dressing imparts renewed life to the scalp, so that the hair assumes much of its usefulness and beauty.

If those who make beasts of themselves by guzzling mean whiskey could hear expressions of opinion as to their performances from sober citizens they would doubtless feel disappointed.

Unavoidable circumstances prevented us keeping our last appointment but we will be in Clanton again on the 23 and 24 May.

E. V. JONES.
A. D. BENTLEY.

Mr. White, of Selma, visited Clanton Saturday on business. Mr White is the father of Col. Jno. Tilley White, the Dallas representative who championed the case of our board of revenue before the last Legislature.

Every body who wants money meet us in Clanton on the 23 and 24 inst., and let us take your application; we will not disappoint you.

E. V. JONES.
A. D. BENTLEY.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at low prices for cash. Shoes for spring trade now in. Groceries all the year, the present is no exception. Everything guaranteed as represented. Fair dealing and fair prices is my plan for holding trade, and my sales will prove that the people are treated well. Give me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Clanton, Ala., May, 10th '89.

CHILTON VIEW:—Several months ago I called the attention of our prohibition friends to the very fresh sign of "blind tiger" on or about our streets, and suggested a public meeting for the purpose of devising ways and means for driving him out and into a wet country. My suggestion was not needed. Court came on and some one fired a single load of bird shot into his tigership, turning out a tuft of hair and very little "blood" and he is now as frisky as ever. I would again suggest that the day of clods of dirt and turfs of grass has passed.

A FRIEND TO PROHIBITION.

We are requested to call a meeting of all good citizens who are opposed to the illegal sale of whiskey in Clanton to meet at the courthouse on next Monday at 11 a. m. for the purpose of taking into consideration the matter of more effectually suppressing this evil. Don't stay away from the meeting on any pretext. The temperance people and tax paying citizens are united against the curse. While we doubt whether any plan hit upon can entirely eradicate the evil complained of yet there is no doubt that much can be done in that direction if the moral element of the community will act boldly and promptly, and complying with the request, we give notice of the meeting, and hope that something may be done. The ladies are expected and earnestly requested to be present at the meeting as the matter is one in which they are deeply concerned.

Dyspepsia causes depraved blood, which in time affects every organ and function of the body. As a remedy for these troubles, nothing can approach Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It vitalizes the blood, strengthens the stomach, and corrects all disorders of the liver and kidneys.

Fruit Culture.

All fruits common to the temperate zone do well in this county but like all other territory within that zone, there is but a limited portion that can be relied upon to produce a crop every year. The South & North R. R. (a division of the L. & N. system) runs North and South through the center of the county, occupying the low lands, between two high ridges paralel to it and distant from 3 to 5 miles. On those ridges are thousands of acres of reliable fruit land that will yield a crop every year, mostly in forest growth of long leaf yellow pines intermixwith oaks and hickory timber, with occasional settlements, and small clearings. The soil is a light sandy loam, with clay subsoil, and the atmosphere is free of malaria, pure and bracing. The water is pure free-stone, the health statistics are written inthe blooming cheeks of the children, and the longevity of the parents.

All over the county, on the lower lying lands are the same conditions for fruit culture except that the fruit is liable to be partialy or wholly destroyed by late frosts in the Spring according to the varied condition, but on the ridges the crop is absolutely safe. Of those lands, I judge there are 20 or 30 thousand acres, and belong to small farmers and saw mill Co. and can be bought at from 2 to 10 dols. per acre, mostly from 2 to 5 dols. The soil and all other conditions are equally as good as the fruit lands adjacent to Chattanooga Tenn., that are selling to day at from 50 to 100 dols. per acre.

Whilst all kinds of fruit adapted to this zone might be profitably produced, choice pears, peaches and strawberries are an assured success, under similar conditions in other parts of this state and Geogia. At Calera, Shelby county, this state, 20 miles north of this place (Clanton) and on this same R. R., pears have been grown as a speciality for the past ten years, as fine as I ever ate, and all they produce are sold at the orchard at 4 dols. per bushel and the demand is not near supplied.

Mr. Parnell, a brother of the distinguished member of the English Parliament, has been making a specialty of peaches at West Point Ga. (a small town on the Chatahoochie River and on the eastern border of this State) for the past dozen years, and has had great success, and is at this time planting the most extensive orchard of peaches in the South near Old Fort Decatur a few miles north of Montgomery, this State.

I have ate as fine pairs grown in this county at different places in it as I ever saw any where and at this place a half dozen are planting from one to five acres in the famous Leconte pears, noted for their thrifty growth and freedom from blight.

Strawberries are successfully and profitably produced on all lands in the county of sufficient altitude to miss a late frost in the Spring, but on a (very) limited area at present but the possibilities of the crop are very great.

The adaptation of those ridge lands to fruit culture and their freedom from late frosts in the Spring making the crop absolutely safe, will some day make them equally as valuable as those about Chattanooga Tenn., and I assure you there is a bonanza in them.

No one who has not studied up on the subject has the faintest idea how very limited is the area in any state in our zone adapted to fruit culture and also free from the almost universal dangers of a late frost in the Spring nor how valuable those lands will be when the country is fully settled and the varied products have adjusted themselves to the locality best suited to each, then it will be discovered that nowhere else can fruit be produced in competition, because of its uncertainty, then whoever owns those very limited areas will find themselves rich in their possessions and independent as a nabob.

This is a border county as between the cotton producing section, and the mineral and manufacturing region of north Ala., where there will ever be an unlimited demand for all our produce of every kind.

L. A. THORNTON.

In chronicling the death of James C. Flood, the San Francisco Star says: "He left an estate valued at thirty millions of dollars. He goes to his grave "unwept, unhonored and unsung," but will be long remembered by those he so heartlessly robbed! He never recovered from the shock caused by his heavy losses several years ago, when trying to corner the wheat market. In his death the community sustains no loss. He possessed no public spirit and was not a good citizen."

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of the VIEW will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
☞Sold by Druggists, 75. ma16–m

A Home Comfort!

We the undersigned citizens of Prattville, Ala., have each purchased a new Improved Home Comfort Cooking Range from the traveling salesman of the Wrought Iron Range Company, and find them to be far superior in every respect to anything we have ever seen or tried in the way of a cooking apparatus and would advise any friend or neighbor to secure one at their earliest convenience, as we consider them the cheapest stove that can be used, and know by experience that they are the best?

CHAS. S. G. DOSTER,
Attorney at Law.
JOHN BURNS,
Foreman Cotton Factory.
W. G. BECKWORTH,
Foreman Gin Shops.
J. C. BURNS,
Traveling Salesman Pratt Cotton Gin.
W. F. MIMS, Merchant.
M. D. FISHER,
Foreman Pratt's Foundry.
G. C. SPIGNER,
Undertaker and Liveryman.
J. W. KILLAUGH,
Workman in Gin Shops.

Up at Birmingham there is an advertising scheme which is an imposition on the advertisers as well as upon legitimate newspapers. It is in the form of a weekly newspaper and is printed at the office of the American Newspaper Union. The sheet is filled up with Birmingham advertisments and plate matter. A few copies are printed under the head of the "Warrior Bugle, others "The People's Advorcate," and various other names. These are sent to suburban towns and scattered broadcast over the streets, pur porting to be printed in the place whose name and date it bears. Men who patronize it are robbed nuder the pretense of cheap adverments, for they lie in the ditches and on the streets and are never read.—Bibb Blade.

Tourists,

Whether on pleasure bent or business should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels; preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

A RUINED HOME.

Our house is on fire! Our home is burning up!! What cry so piercing to the soul! Fire, indeed, is terrible when it destroys inanimate things we love, but how much more terrible when it destroys the living tissues of the flesh! Fire in the blood, how cruel in its effect! Covering the fair skin with spots and blemishes. Twinging the limbs and joints with aches and pains, creating ulcers and running sores. Singeing the very roots of the hair and causing it to fall dead away. Cramping the functions of the liver and kidneys with internal swellings and sores. Disfiguring form and feature. Thank Heaven, in the midst of such fearful contemplation a

QUICK CURE

CURE, safe, sure and QUICK in its effect, comes to mind. It is Botanic Blood Balm, made in the beautiful city of Atlanta, Ga. An illustrated "Book of Wonders" sent free by the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., is filled with most convincing proof of its remarkable merit.

☞Robert Ward, Maxey, Ga., writes: "For twelve or fourteen years I have been a great sufferer from a terrible form of blood poison. My head, face and shoulders became almost a mass of corruption, and finally the disease commenced eating away my skull bones. I became so horribly repulsive that for three years I absolutely refused to let people see me. I used large quantities of most noted blood remedies and applied to nearly all physicians near me, but my condition continued to grow worse, and all said that I must surely die. My bones became the seat of excruciating aches and pains; my nights were passed in misery; I was reduced in flesh and strength; my kidneys were terribly deranged, and life became a burden to me. I chanced to see an advertisement of Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) and when eight or ten bottles had been used I was pronounced sound and well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me, looking like a man who had been burned and then restored. My case was well known in the county."

BAD BLOOD

Lew Johnson, Belmont Station, Miss., writes "My ears and scalp were covered with sores and all my hair came out. I lost my appetite and became a mere skeleton. I am now taking B. B. B., and the sores are going away and my strength is coming back." (12)

[sep27 cw 1y]

Insure Your Property against Fire.

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agencys at Clanton, and save expense.

A. M. RAMBO,

DENTIST,

VERBENA, ALA.

Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.

[feb 14 3]

NOTICE NO. 8789.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 16, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16518 for the n w ¼ of section 20, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John Headley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9. J. G. HARRIS, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

DRUGS, AND Medicines,

FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

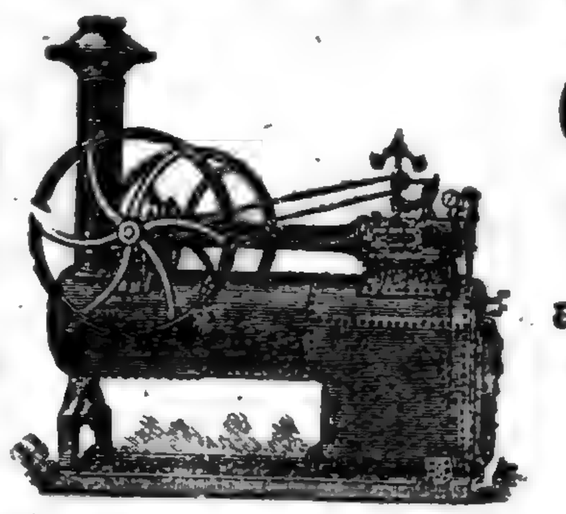
Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,

BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers



Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜

Birmingham, Ala.

mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

——JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.——

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.

MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS

Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery

OF ALL KINDS.

MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜

nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.

Lyman & Stone.

BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.

SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

Blank Books, - Letter Presses,

PRINTERS' STOCK.

Fine Stationery a Specialty.

2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,

Steam Printers and Binders,

1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay

INSURE WITH

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,

Montgomery, Alabama.

Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.

Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.

W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Bogacki & McDonald,

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Glass, Paints and Oils, Artists' Materials, Pictures and Frames, Window Shades.

119 COMMERCE STREET, Wholesale Block, MONTGOMERY, ALA.

Clanton High School

Will be opened on the first Monday in September and will continue nine scholastic months. The session will be divided into two terms. The first ending Friday before the first Monday in February, and the second will begin on the following Monday and will end with May. We will thoroughly prepare young men and ladies for college or give them a certificate of graduation. We expect to be assisted by an accomplished lady. Patronage is earnestly desired.

Very Respectfully,
aug16 A. J. SCOTT, Principal.

READ THIS!

I have removed my stock of Confectioneries

—AND—

Fancy Groceries

into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.

I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.

Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,

Photographer,

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Photograhs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞Correspondence solicited.☜

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER.

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE

(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HERBINE

TRADE-MARK

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than pills.

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billious Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Billious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best

Cough Medicine.

If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.

The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.

Easy and pleasant to use.

Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

nov22-y

ALLEGER'S

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

FROM $85. to $65.

This Elegant Parlor Organ style 78 containing 5 octaves, [illegible] sets of reeds, [illegible] stops, [illegible] knee swells, Stool and Book free. For only $65.00. With Stool and Book. "Warranted for 6 years."

[illegible]

A GORGEOUS OPIUM DEN.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD.

A Palatial Building in Shanghai, Furnished in Extravagant Chinese Style—1000 Smokers Daily.

I visited last night the biggest opium den of the world, says Frank G. Carpenter, in a letter from Shanghai. It is situated on the edge of the great cosmopolitan city of Shanghai, in which Chinese rowdies from all parts of the Empire congregate, and where the Chinaman has learned to play billiards, to drink whisky and to practice the refinements of Eastern as well as Western vice. The palatial saloons of New York, the barroom of the Hoffman House and the gilded palaces of sin in San Francisco have cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. This opium den of the Chinese has likewise eaten up a fortune and it is more like a palace than an opium smoking joint for pig-tailed celestials. Three stories high and covering what would be nearly half an American block, its entrance is lighted with the electric light and its interior is furnished in the most extravagant Chinese fashion. The ceilings are of richly carved wood and the finest of Chinese lamps, each of which cost hundreds of dollars, throw a soft light over the hazy smoking crowd within. The painted walls are inlaid with curious marble, the grain of which is such as to give the idea of landscape sketches, and the finishing of the rooms is in carved teak wood, which, oiled and colored, shines like ebony.

There was, perhaps, a thousand smokers in this opium den when I visited it last night, and I pushed my way into it through a throng representing every class of Chinese life. There was the pompous mandarin in gorgeous silks beside the half-naked coolie in ragged cotton. There were bad women and desperate looking men; quiet, intellectual scholars and wealthy Chinese merchants. All stopped under the electric light to buy little pots of opium as thick as molasses, and each holding about what could be crowded into the smallest of our American individual salts. The coolie and the mandarin were charged the same for their opium, but they paid different prices according to the rooms which they occupied and the pipes which they used in smoking. The cheapest cost about ten cents a smoke and the dearest was sold for not much more than fifteen cents. The pipes, however, were different. They were about two feet long with a big, round bowl set into the handle. The mandarins smoked pipes of ivory, some of which were elaborately carved, while the coolies were satisfied with plain pieces of wood. The receipts of this opium den are said to be more than $1000 a day, and I am told it is always full.

Passing the electric light you enter hall after hall filled with hazy fumes of sickly smelling vapor through which the rays of gorgeous lamps struggling find their way, and cast a weird ghost-like air over the smokers resting below. The smoking compartments are divided cells open at the front and separated from one another by gorgeous carvings of teak-wood, which, colored with the smoke of thousands, has turned from a rich brown into an oiled jet. Each cell accommodates two or more people, and the most of the men I saw smoking were in couples. On each side of a little glass lamp the men lay on red cushions, sometimes dropping their feet upon a chair and resting their heads on blue pillows, each about a foot square and a foot long. The most expensive of the compartments had cushions of fine velvet and the frames of some couches were inlaid with mother-of-pearl and jade. In some of the private rooms I noted women smoking with the men. They were not, I was told, the wives of the smokers, and it is no more creditable for a Chinese woman to smoke opium than it is for an American girl to drink whisky. Opium smokers always lie down while smoking. They bend themselves spoon fashion as they manipulate the opium, draw it into their lungs and blow it out of their nostrils. In some cases I noted large rooms in which private parties seemed to have assembled for an opium smoke together, and I passed through every hall of this large opium joint and did not see a bit of disorder. Your opium smoker is different from the drunkard. The opium calms instead of excites. I was treated with politeness everywhere and the drowsy, sleepy crowd did not seem to care that I stopped and looked at them.

This is, however, only one of hundreds of opium shops in Shanghai. I visited another den upon leaving this big one and I found it nearly as large. It is said that China uses $300,000,000 worth of opium every year, and it is rightly called the curse of the people. Opium is now grown in every province in China. The seed of the poppy is sown in November and its juice is collected in February and March. The opium is gotten by cutting the capsule of the poppy flower with a notched iron instrument at sunrise, and by the next morning a drop or so of juice has oozed out. This is scraped off and saved by the grower and after he has a vessel full of it, it is strained and dried. It takes a great many poppies to make a pound of opium, and it goes through a number of processes before it is ready for the market. In a liquid state it looks like a dark strawberry jam, and when prepared for shipment it is put into chests, each of which contains about forty balls of opium. These balls are rolled in dried poppy leaves and here in China the duty on opium is so heavy that the customs officers watch these chests very closely. At Shanghai there are a number of large ships which look like floating swimming baths or naval training ships in which the opium passed upon by the customs is stored, and by which method smuggling is somewhat prevented. The Chinese are the greatest smugglers in the world and it is only by the aid of foreigners that they are able to have good customs service.

Music in Medicine.

From the time when medical knowledge was first embodied in use of practice, and probably from a much earlier period, music held a recognized place in the treatment of disease. In no class of diseases, however, are we likely to derive so much benefit from the use of so pleasant a remedy as in those affecting the mind itself. In melancholia and allied states of depression its value is generally admitted in our own day. Ancient practitioners were also cognizant of its usefulness in this respect. We must have all felt how suitable is its infinite variety and facility of expression to the changing moods of the same, and it is therefore the less difficult to understand how straying minds are pleased and soothed by its charms. Certain it is that its beneficial effect is in this case considerable, and our readers, though possibly unable to acquire a knowledge of the art, should at least possess, and if needful [illegible] in practice, a mass of its therapeutic value.—London Lancet.

The languages of the world number about nine hundred.

SCIENTIFIC AND INDUSTRIAL.

A Pasteur Vaccination Institute is being planned in Rome.

French mechanical engineers are making experiments with cork car springs.

An immense reservoir is being made for the storage of water when the overflow of the Nile fails.

For a fifty-candle light circuit 10,000 ohms is claimed as a safe insulation against danger from fire.

Two gas buoys for use in navigation have been successfully placed in Melbourne (Australia) harbor.

Switzerland, next to England, is said to be the most important seat of the systematic study of botany.

Lebel rifle cartridge cases are of solid drawn copper; the bullet is of type metal with a thin coating of steel.

Dr. Abbott thinks that the well-known behavior of the opossum when attacked is due to paralyzing fear.

A German artillery officer has discovered a new powerful explosive for shells. It is manufactured from carbolic acid.

The artesian well basin of Dakota supplies abundant water under a pressure of 140 pounds to the square inch from wells 1165 feet deep.

E. W. Bowditch, a Boston sanitary expert, has contracted to make a thorough examination of the sewerage system of Jacksonville, Fla.

The Hume Carriage Company, Amesbury, Mass., has recently received several orders from Germany for carriages to be sent to that country.

An English physician recommends the eating of bees as a remedy for rheumatism. He says that he has successfully treated 173 cases and administered 39,000 stings.

The great advantage of high-speed engines is that the steam has no time to condense, or, rather, that very little of it is condensed in comparison with the amount utilized.

The preparation of lumber for match woods, at the factory in Athol, is now carried on by means of a steam dryer, the apparatus, as stated, possessing the advantage of being much less expensive and dangerous than the old.

Russian officials have tested and reported favorably upon a Russian invention for applying the revolver principle to the barrels of Berdan rifles. By this arrangement a machine gun is obtained which will fire forty-eight shots a minute.

The temperature of the ocean, as determined by recent investigations, is very low. It is ice cold at the bottom under the equator, but on the surface within the tropics there is a relatively thin film of warm water with a temperature of from seventy to eighty-four degrees Fahrenheit.

There is a cob pipe factory located at Sedan, Mo., which is doing a rushing business. The factory pays at the rate of 1½ cents for 1½-inch cobs and 1½ cents for 1¼-inch cobs. A man hauled a load the other day of 1½-inch cobs which brought him $64. The time may yet come when the people will raise wheat for the chaff.

Experiments are being made with a new kind of bullet for the Berdan rifle, used by the Russian troops. It was at first proposed to cover the tip of the bullet with a copper sheath, but this idea has now been abandoned, as the copper was found to cause a poisonous wound. It is now practically decided to use a nickel sheath.

Naturalists who have made their habits and history a specialty do not admit that snakes can jump clear of the ground. When coiled up they can spring forward or throw their body out to its full length; the hind part, however, will still rest on the ground, where it was before the snake uncoiled itself. Many careful observers say snakes cannot jump clear of the ground in striking at an enemy.

Mr. A. D. Elbers has recently invented a process for converting iron slag into paving blocks. His process removes the sulphur from the slag, and makes it a homogeneous mass of great toughness and durability. It is cast into square blocks of any desired size, and is claimed to equal in quality to the best Belgian paving stones. Its cost is considerably less than natural rock. As the output of slag from the production of American pig iron is now about five million tons annually, according to Mr. Elbers, there is room for a big industry.

Care of the Eyes.

Shades on lamp or gas burners should be of "milk" or ground glass; never of colored glass.

Never sleep opposite a window which will throw a flood of strong light on your eyes when you wake in the morning.

When bathing the face do not open the eye under water, as this is apt to be injurious to the epithelial covering of the eye.

In all institutions, particularly for children, where the eyes are required to do close work, the proportion of the square surface of the windows to the square surface of the floor should never fall below one to four.

The short-sighted eye is essentially a diseased eye, and should be treated as such. It effects by preference those who use their eyes constantly for fine or neat work, and is almost unknown among the uncivilized nations.

When children work by light which falls in their faces they are apt to bend the body forward so as to shade the eyes by the head, or else twist it around so that the light shall fall on the page. Both of these positions are pernicious. There is great danger of the chest becoming narrow and contracted and of the spine becoming curved.

To bathe the eyes properly, take a large basin of cold water, bend the head close over it, and with both hands throw the water with some force on the gently closed lids. This has something of the same effect as a shower-bath, and has a toning-up influence which water applied in any other way has not.

Does His Work While Asleep.

Joseph Robinson, twelve years of age, living with his father four miles south of St. Joseph, Mo., is afflicted with neurosis. Only two cases of the kind have been known to medical science. The boy sleeps while standing and walks in his sleep. While in a hypnotic state he performs the daily routine of work to which he has been accustomed, and is perfectly under the influence of the person talking to him. While being operated on a needle was stuck in his arm, but he did not give the least evidence of having experienced pain. Physicians in consultation thought the case incurable.—Chicago Herald.

A speech of the Princess of Wales recorded in the phonograph is: "You are the most wonderful instrument I have ever seen or heard of. I wish that I might have one like you for my own."

Bees are found in large numbers along the northern coast of Africa, as well as in Abyssinia.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Disposal of House Slops.

Have trees and grass and flowers around the house to eat up the slops and dish-water thrown out and emptied here and there on the premises, and to render harmless all these substances that in their decay might endanger people's health. This plan is better than to have drains or sewers as usually constructed in and near farmhomes. There is a safer way, however, of dealing with house slops, washing suds and liquids of that sort. Keep a barrel on wheels near the kitchen door as a fitting receptacle for all such substances, and empty its contents from time to time upon the garden, on meadows, or upon the compost heap.—American Agriculturist.

Hillside Plows.

The use of hillside plows is by no means confined to plowing hilly land. Many farmers (the writer especially) use no other plows for even level land, as there are several advantages in their use. Land may be plowed without back or double furrows, and may be kept perfectly level; the land may be harrowed and sown or planted close up to the plow, thus saving time if necessary to do so. The writer's method of using these plows on level land is first to plow a double open furrow in the middle of the field; then close this furrow and go on plowing on one side back and forth until within the width of a headland from the fence; then to plow the other half, and then go all round the field, and finish the headlands. A perfectly level field is left.—New York Times.

Effects of Training.

An interesting instance of the results of training was recently given in my dairy, says Henry Stewart in the American Agriculturist. The home-bred cows are all reared without ever having sucked their dams and are hand-fed from birth. There has never been any difficulty in teaching the calves of these cows to drink the milk. One lesson, giving the finger to guide the young thing to the milk in the pail, and then gradually taking it away, has always been sufficient. The calf of a cow purchased some time ago, and now weaning, has shown an extraordinary obstinacy and simplicity in refusing to drink, and nearly two weeks' time has been occupied in teaching it. This cow when a calf sucked its dam for a month and her calves up to this have always sucked. The habit is thus inbred.

Trenching for Gardens.

Old English horticultural authorities speak very highly of deep trenching with plenty of manure as a preparation for many crops in gardens. We never tried it except for celery years ago, and do not expect to repeat that experiment. Labor costs too much in this country to do anything by hand labor that can be done by horse power. But if trenching be really helpful, subsoiling ought to beneficial. True subsoiling is indeed better than average trenching, for less of the richer surface soil will be mixed with the subsoil by the former method. Gardens are usually heavily manured. Considerable amounts both of nitrogen and mineral manures are carried down out of reach of crops, unless the subsoil plow opens and lightens the hard soil beneath, so that roots can penetrate it. For this reason seeding old gardens with clover is often advisable. The long tap roots of the clover reach down and enliven the subsoil, beside bringing up some fertilizing material that would otherwise be lost.—Boston Cultivator.

Method of Fumigating Bees.

Some claim that it is impossible to destroy worms in the comb by fumigation, although that is a remedy that has been suggested. A practical bee keeper gives the following in the American Bee Journal as his method: "I had a lot of sections piled in a room fifteen feet square, and concluded to smoke the whole room. So I lighted five pounds of sulphur early in the day so that I thought it would all burn before night, and kept occasional watch of it through a window. At dark it was burning apparently the same as when first lighted, and at bedtime the same. Although I thought it entirely safe, I never feel that I can be too careful about fire, so I concluded to set up with it until it expired. I did not get to bed until after one o'clock. My method of using was this: The sulphur was put into a kettle holding about a gallon. A common kettle holding three or four gallons was partly filled with ashes, and in this the smaller kettle containing the sulphur placed, and over all a tin cover that did not fit closely. I suppose this cover allowed plenty of air to enter to keep up combustion, but made it burn slower than if enterely uncovered. Previous to covering, a lighted match was laid on the sulphur, and that was all the attention it received except the watching, and no doubt it would have burned just the same if I had been a mile away. I do not think that roll brimestone would act just the same, but I suspect a part of it mixed with powdered sulphur might answer. The cost is so little that I have always used it in the powdered form."

Practical Poultry-Feeding.

Perhaps a little talk on poultry-feeding may be interesting, says a contributor of the Prairie Farmer.

In the first place, how many farmers feed their poultry at all? Very few, I am afraid. I have been watching all winter, and find that the majority of farmers let their chickens run around the farm and scratch where they get a chance, and when the ground is frozen so that they can't scratch, the chickens huddle up close to a hay or straw stack, and look as though they would thank some one to cut their heads off. When night comes, they have to go to the pig-pen for supper, or go without, and then fly up on some shed for the night. Yet farmers say that hens laying eggs in winter is all fiction. But such is not the case, and if they will put up comfortable buildings for their fowls and feed them properly, they will find that a hen will lay in winter nearly as well as in summer.

Then they say: "Why, I have tried feeding my hens, and they don't lay." Very true; but what have you fed? "Why, I give them all the corn they want." Well, I don't blame them for not laying. Now I will tell you what I feed, and my hens are laying every day. In the morning I give my chickens rye, that is, a quart to about sixty hens, sprinkled in straw so that they have to scratch—and I tell you they enjoy scratching for it, too. Then I nail up a couple of heads of cabbage in the hen-house, so that they can reach it, and let them eat all they want of it. About noon I give a little oats or rye, just to get them to scratch, and at night I give them the table-scraps, and, once in a while, a little sun-flower seed. I use corn as little as possible, as I don't think it is the proper food for laying hens. In the way of drinks, I give milk altogether, and think it far better than water.

I keep my poultry-house well bedded with straw, and even if you don't feed any grain in the straw, they will scratch, anyway. In very cold weather I keep [illegible] in it and think it pays well.

Symptoms and Cure of Ringworm.

Ringworm (Tinea tonsurans) is a common disease among horses and cattle, especially in the winter. As this parasite is readily transmitted from domestic animals to man it is not safe to leave it to multiply undisturbed. It usually appears on the face, around the nose and eyes, and as the hair falls off it leaves bald round spots covered with white scales and surrounding them there is a ring of broken and split hairs, at the roots of which there are more or less small pimples and eruptions. If the disease is allowed to spread the entire face and neck will sometimes become entirely bald. The hairs around the bald spots should be shaved off and the skin painted with iodine, or with a solution of corrosive sublimate, made by dissolving forty grains in a pint of water. An excellent ringworm ointment may be made by mixing together one-half ounce of iodine, two ounces of glycerine and mercurial ointment and eight ounces of olive oil. This ointment should be applied twice a week until the disease is checked, and then the parts washed with soap and water.—New York Sun.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Bulphate of copper, it is said, will prevent black rot in vineyards.

A beekeeper says that catnip planted near the hives is fine for young bees.

Eggs should be gathered twice daily, that hens may not break and learn to eat them.

Eggs intended for hatching should not be over two weeks old, and do not use pullet's eggs.

Where are the house slops emptied? If by the kitchen door, look out for cases of the worst sort of fever.

It is unsafe to feed either oats or wheat without considerable water and ashes, gravel or grinding substance.

The best birds should not be sold off in the spring, but retained as breeders to maintain the quality of stock.

Buckwheat is pronounced excellent egg feed, but expensive as compared with other food. Oats also rank high.

The use of kerosene on peach trees or vines is to be avoided, as it is far more dangerous to the trees than to the insects.

It is now almost too late to prune grapevines, as the sap has commenced moving, and bleeding impairs their vitality.

Affected limbs should be cut off at once. Black knots, blight on injured limbs, are also injurious and should be immediately removed.

Pear trees that refuse to grow may be treated with wood ashes placed about the roots of the trees. The trunks should be washed with strong soapsuds.

A Wisconsin farmer thus states what he believes the essentials for renovating a wornout farm: The first is clover; the second, clover; the third, clover.

A dairywoman claims that by milking three times a day she gets more butter, and that the noon milking has twice as much cream as the night and morning.

Don't delay grass seeding a day beyond the first opportunity, for the first chance is better than any other, never sure, and in every result more satisfactory.

Butter at less than twenty-five cents a pound means a good deal of hard work without adequate returns, no matter how good the breed of cows nor how liberal the feeding.

Four quarts of timothy seed to the acre, distributed early in March, may be counted safely as worth more than eight quarts in May, for the early start is a guaranty of success.

Try the cows, each separately, for in a herd of twenty the chances are that some will be wholly unprofitable, and wise economy will require that they be taken out for slaughter.

It is estimated that there are 320,000 known species of insects which prey upon the crops of the farmers. The work of successfully combating these pests is one which will keep the new Cabinet Department busy for some time to come.

A single error in farm practice, multiplied by many millions, may cost this great country enough to cover all expenses of Government—hence the wisdom of establishing and maintaining experimental stations where error may be discovered and corrected.

A fruit grower reports that having an orchard of young trees badly infested with bark lice, he made a solution of sal soda—half a pound to a gallon of water—and applied it with a whitewash brush. In a week's time they were all dead and washed off. The trees grew two feet a year afterward and retained very healthy.

The farmer's insect foes are working night and day. They increase rapidly. They breed under pieces of boards, bark, sticks, weeds, and any kind of rubbish. Remove all such hiding places. Clean yards and clean farms are good for half the evil. Paris green, London purple, or hellebore, if thoroughly used in spraying fruit trees, vines and bushes, will do wonders with the other half.

A Horse That Feeds Another.

Billy, a remarkably intelligent horse used in the police wagon of Division 9, has taken up an idea which he follows daily. One of the mounted officers in the division leaves his horse in the stable connected with the station on Blue Hill avenue, near Dudley street, while he answers to the roll-call at noon and again at six o'clock. The officer fastens his horse to the post forming one corner at the head of Billy's stall, and as soon as the animal is tied, Billy picks up a mouthful of hay, forces it through the iron grating about his stall, and waits until his guest has eaten it. Then he repeats the operation and continues his hospitality until the officer returns for his horse. Billy began to do this early in the fall, without any suggestion from the men, and he does it twice a day, much to the satisfaction of his visitor. The performance has attracted considerable attention in the neighborhood, and Billy's politeness has won him many friends.—Boston Transcript.

A Unique Plant.

The gradual extinction of a species is not an uncommon phenomenon. In most cases many individuals of the vanishing species are known to exist. One plant, however, seems to be perfectly alone in the world—the last of its race. This unique specimen is on the island of St. Helena. It is a tree about twenty feet high. Formerly this species seems to have been common on the island, forming large groves, but the woodman's ax and the ravages of goats have left only this single specimen. It is unique in another respect and of great botanical interest, for it bears flowers like those of the aster, being, in fact, the only known tree of the composite family which, with this exception, comprises only herbaceous plants. It is to be hoped that an attempt will be made to propagate the species from the [illegible] of this plant.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison is [illegible]

EARLY AMERICANS.

Simplicity in their mode of living was the marked characteristic of the early settlers of America.

Everything which pertained to them was plain and unostentatious.

The food which they ate was frugally served and of the substantial kind.

Their clothing was home-spun and the moccasins which covered their feet were a home product, being made from the hide of animals and ornamented with beads after the Indian fashion.

Their homes were simplicity itself, consisting of roughly hewn logs and home made shingles—the whole constituting the old Log-Cabin home of frontier life.

Yet those were model homes.

The wives and mothers were well versed in the art of all that pertained to housewifery.

Conspicuous in the early home was the striking figure of the old grandmother.

Not only was she the adviser in social affairs but she was the medical adviser and prescriber for the sick. Often were her hands engaged in the preparation of some healing potion or remedy for the relief of those in ill-health. Fully versed in all the bountiful supplies contained in the grand store-house of nature, she wisely knew how to utilize the curative properties contained in certain roots and herbs and accordingly she transformed them into certain remedial agents, which have made the old Log Cabin famous for all time to come.

Conscious of the great value of some of those old time home cures a successful effort has been made to re-discover the lost secret of their preparation, and, coupled with all the improvement which human ingenuity and progress suggests, they are now widely known under the name of Warner's Log Cabin Remedies, the most prominent being Log Cabin sarsaparilla and Log Cabin cough and consumption cure.

The suffering public has been quick to recognize and appreciate their true value and the manufacturers are daily in receipt of much praise for the re-discovery and revival of these old time remedies against sickness and disease.

To the old Log Cabin home however is justly due the praise for all the good which may, thereby, be affected.

The Co-operative Era.

[From the Hamilton, Ga., Journal.]

Co-operation is the business watchword of the age we live in. The newspaper, the pioneer of all progress, has been benefited no less by co-operation than other institutions of the age. Compare the weekly paper of to-day with the paper of ten or twenty years ago. It is as much an improvement upon its forerunner as the mighty mogul that draws its train of palace cars sixty miles an hour, is upon the little engine with which Stephenson initiated the revolution in the world's traffic and travel.

The magic wand of co-operation is the golden crown of all.

What the news associations have done for the daily press, the various ready print concerns have done for the weekly press. Where twenty years ago were two score sickly newspapers in the empire state of the south, there are now nearly two hundred and fifty thrifty local newspapers. The JOURNAL to-day presents a sheet fresh with telegraphic news not two days older than its latest local mention, together with a mass of other miscellaneous matter, the cost of which, if gotten up solely for its own use, would take its revenues for a half year. Co-operation only makes it possible. The excellent sheets used by the JOURNAL are furnished by the Atlanta Newspaper Union. They have the latest news by wire up to the hour of going to press and for excellence of print and general character of contents are not to be excelled.

One Way.

An applicant for a postoffice forwarded his picture to the postoffice department at Washington, D. C. The fact was published and others imitated his example, until now the First Assistant Postmaster General has pictures enough to fill an album. One candidate, in addition to his own picture, sent a photograph of a handsome residence. On the back of it was written: "This is the home of ——, applicant for the post-office, who came to this town a year ago with $40 in his pocket, and by industry and thrift has been able to build this handsome residence, costing $4,000." This picture was put on file, and another photo soon came, forwarded by the same man. This was of a rather disreputable two story building, with several tough-looking men standing in front of it. On the back of it was written: "This is the home of ——, the other candidate for the postoffice at ——, the place for which I have applied. He lives up stairs and underneath is a saloon."

Strength to vigorously push a business, strength to study for a profession, strength to regulate a household, strength to do a day's labor without physical pain. Do you desire strength? If you are broken down, have no energy, feel as if life was hardly worth living, you can be relieved and restored to robust health and strength by taking Brown's Iron Bitters, a sure cure for dyspepsia, malaria, weakness and all diseases requiring a true, reliable tonic. It acts on the blood, nerves and muscles, and regulates every part of the system.

There are several men and women in Henry county, Ga., over 90 years old; 2 men over 100.

A Radical Cure for Epileptic Fits.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease which I warrant to cure the worst cases. So strong is my faith in its virtues that I will send free a sample bottle and valuable treatise to any sufferer who will give me his P. O. and Express address. Resp'y,
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., N. Y., will receive the recipe free of charge.

Keep them in the Nursery.

Hamburg Figs should be kept in the nursery, where they are particularly useful in case of constipation or indigestion, as they are liked by children, and are prompt and efficacious in action. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator cures all irregularities peculiar to woman. Those suffering should use it. Sold by all druggists.

Take
Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses
One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the marvellous success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the fact that this medicine actually accomplishes all that is claimed for it. Its real merit has won for Hood's Sarsaparilla a popularity and sale [illegible]
Merit Wins
[illegible] only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

HEALTHFUL EXERCISE.

Only a few months ago these romping, rosy-cheeked lasses were puny, delicate, pale, sickly girls. By the aid of Dr. Pierce's world-famed Favorite Prescription, they have blossomed out into beautiful, plump, hale, hearty, strong young women.

"Favorite Prescription" is an invigorating, restorative tonic and as a regulator and promoter of functional action at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, it is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is carefully compounded, by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. It imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Copyright, 1888, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors.

The cleansing, antiseptic and healing qualities of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy are unequaled. 50 cents.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S income is said to be $10,000,000 a year.

SSS TRADE MARK

THE WORLD OUGHT TO KNOW IT.

The world ought to know what S. S. S. has done for me in the cure of a malignant Cancer, which was so bad as to be considered incurable by the physicians in Chicago, where I went to be treated. One of my neighbors sent me a copy of an advertisement in regard to Swift's Specific, and I began taking it. I got relief from the first few doses; the poison was gradually forced out of my system, and I was soon cured sound and well. It is now ten months since I quit taking S. S. S. and I have had no sign of return of the dreadful disease.

MRS. ANN BOTHWELL.

Au Sable, Mich., Dec. 20, '88.

Send for books on Blood Diseases and Cancers, mailed free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR
Cures all Diseases Peculiar to Women!
BOOK TO "WOMAN" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

AFTER ALL OTHERS FAIL CONSULT
Drs. LINN & LOBB
New York Office 52 Clinton Place (Eighth St.), or 329 North Fifteenth St., Philadelphia, Pa., for the treatment of Blood Poisons, Skin Eruptions, Nervous Complaints, Bright's Disease, Strictures, Impotency and kindred diseases, no matter how long standing, or from what cause originating. Ten days' medicines furnished by mail. Send for Book on SPECIAL Diseases. FREE.

SOUTHERN DYE HOUSE
All kinds of Silk, Cotton or Woolen Goods handsomely dyed or cleaned.
Suits a Specialty.
EXPRESS PAID ONE WAY.
24 Walton St., ATLANTA, GA.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. N. B.—Please state age and business experience. Never mind about sending stamp for reply. B. F. J. & Co.

IMPORTANT—Insurance Agents, Bank Clerks, Express Agents, Society Secretaries, male or female wanted all over the country to act as our agents; will not interfere with other duties. No capital required. Liberal inducements. Write for particulars to INTERNATIONAL BANKING CO.,
31 and 33 Broadway, New York City.

ORANGE GROVES in Florida. Insured to pay 10 per cent. on investment annually. Address F. SHIMER, Mt. Carroll Seminary, Carroll Co., Ill.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round 14 Pills.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you wish to buy a farm? If so address CURTIS & WRIGHT, 229 Broadway, N.Y.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa. Scholarship and positions, $50. Write for circular.

Agents wanted. $1 an hour. 50 new articles. Cat'lgue and samples free. C. E. Marshall, Lockport, N.Y.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio. Big G Trade Mark.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y.

We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO., Chicago, Ill.

$1.00. Sold by Druggists.

1,000 CASES TINWARE.
$15.00 Per Case, Freight Prepaid.
RETAILS FOR $25.00.

CONTENTS AND RETAIL PRICES:

6 Coffee Pots, 1 quart	@	.10	$0.60
12 Coffee Pots, 2 quart	@	.15	1.80
6 Coffee Pots, 3 quart	@	.20	1.20
6 Stamped Wash Basins, 10 in	@	.05	.30
6 Stamped Wash Basins, 11½ in	@	.10	.60
6 Stamped Wash Basins, 13 in	@	.15	.90
48 Cups, 1 pint	@	.05	2.40
12 Cups, 1 quart	@	.10	1.20
12 Covered Buckets, 1½ pint	@	.05	.60
24 Covered Buckets, 2 quart	@	.10	2.40
6 Covered Buckets, 3 quart	@	.15	.90
6 Covered Buckets, 4 quart	@	.20	1.20
6 Milk Buckets, 4 quart	@	.10	.60
6 Milk Buckets, 8 quart	@	.25	1.50
12 Stamped Dippers, ½ pint	@	.05	.60
12 Cocoa Shape Dippers, bl'k handle	@	.10	1.20
18 Stamped Plates, 9 in	@	.05	.90
12 Stamped Milk Pans, 8½ in	@	.05	.60
12 Stamped Milk Pans, 11 in	@	.10	1.20
6 Stamped Milk Pans, 13 in	@	.15	.90
6 Stamped Milk Pans, 15 in	@	.20	1.20
3 Dish Pans, 8 quart	@	.10	.30
6 Dish Pans, 10 quart	@	.20	1.20
3 Dish Pans, 12 quart	@	.25	.75
Total Retail Selling Price			$25.05

Shipped promptly to any point in your State, and FREIGHT PREPAID, on receipt of $15.00.
L. F. BROWN, Charleston, S. C.,
Importer and Jobber of Earthenware, Tinware, Glassware.

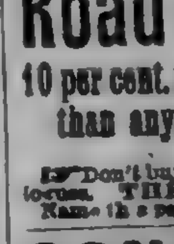
SODEN MINERAL PASTILLES FOR CATARRH
Sold by all Druggists. 50c. a box.
SODEN MINERAL SPRINGS CO. (Limited),
Sole Agents,
15 CEDAR ST., NEW YORK.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
RED CROSS DIAMOND BRAND.



Original, best, only genuine and reliable pill for sale. Never Fail. Ask for Chichester's English Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. At Druggists. Accept no other. All pills in paste board boxes, pink wrappers, are a dangerous counterfeit. Send 4c. (stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return mail. 10,000 testimonials from LADIES who have used them. Name Paper.
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

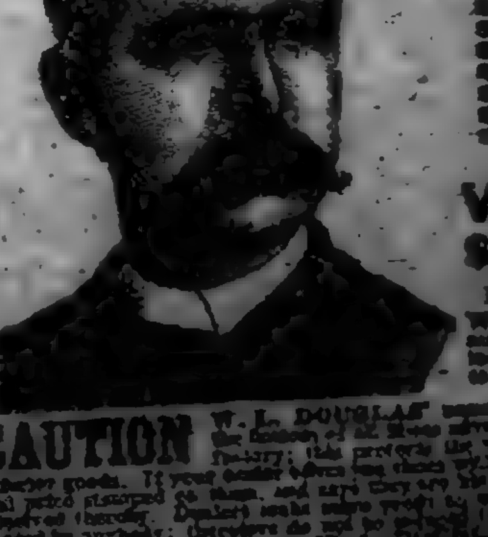
Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS
10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!
Don't buy before getting our prices and catalogue. THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.
Name this paper.

CONSUMPTION
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. So strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send two bottles free, together with a valuable treatise on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

DETECTIVES
Wanted in every County. Shrewd men to act under instructions in our Secret Service. Experience not necessary. Particulars free. Grannan Detective Bureau Co. 44 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

SINGERS who have used Piso's Cure for Consumption say it is BEST OF ALL. Sold everywhere. 25c.

A. N. U. .... Nineteen,



W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.
Best in the world. Examine his
$5.00 GENUINE HAND-SEWED SHOE.
$4.00 HAND-SEWED WELT SHOE.
$3.50 POLICE AND FARMERS' SHOE.
$2.50 EXTRA VALUE CALF SHOE.
$2.25 WORKINGMAN'S SHOE.
$2.00 GOOD-WEAR SHOE.
$2.00 and $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
All made in Congress, Button and Lace.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & $2 SHOES FOR LADIES.
Best Material. Best Style. Best Fitting.
W. L. Douglas' [illegible]

CAUTION W. L. DOUGLAS' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all Shoes advertised by him [illegible]

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

RCISE.

eked lasses were puny, deli- world-famed Favorite Pre- plump, hale, hearty, strong restorative tonic and as a at critical period of change fe remedial agent, and can ided, by an experienced and organization. It is purely less in any condition of the For overworked, "worn- dressmakers, seamstresses, feeble women generally, Dr. ly boon, being unequaled as he only medicine for women, he manufacturers, that it will funded. This guarantee has carried out for many years.

Association, Proprietors.

ealing qualities of nequaled. 50 cents.

OO CASES TINWARE.
er Case. Freight Prepaid.
ETAILS FOR $25.00.

Retail Selling Price .. $25.05 promptly to any point in your State, IT PREPAID, on receipt of $15.00.
ROWN, Charleston, S. C., Importer and Jobber of nware, Tinware, Glassware.

SODEN
MINERAL PASTILLES
R CATARRH
by all Druggists. 50c. a box.
MINERAL SPRINGS CO. (Limited),
Sole Agents,
EDAR ST., NEW YORK.

ICHESTER'S ENGLISH
NYROYAL PILLS
RED CROSS DIAMOND BRAND.
Diamond Brand, in red me- At Druggists. Accept no other. ...Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

ad Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS.
cent. cheaper anybody. Buggies!
THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO. NASHVILLE, TENN.

NSUMPTION

ETECTIVES
an Detective Bureau Co. 44 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

INGERS who have used Piso's Cure for Consumption say it is BEST OF ALL. Sold everywhere.

L. DOUGLAS
SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.
ENUINE HAND-SEWED SHOE.
AND-SEWED WELT SHOE.
OLICE AND FARMERS' SHOE.
XTRA VALUE CALF SHOE.
ORKINGMAN'S SHOE.
OOD-WEAR SHOE.
nd $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
made in Congress, Button and Lace.

L. DOUGLAS
$2 SHOES FOR LADIES.
aterial. Best Style. Best Fitting.
Every pair warranted.

Rates of Advertising.

One dollar per square, of one inch or less, for the first, and fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

SPACE	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	[illegible] 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	[illegible] 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. E. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1889. NUMBER 30.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK. Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay
2018 and 2020 1st Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction. We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

The cruiser Charleston is to have a present from the city of Charleston, S. C.

The Red Men assembled in council at Brunswick, Ga., on Tuesday, and had a grand time.

Cardinal Gibbons visited Atlanta, Ga., and left for his home, Baltimore, Md., on Tuesday. During his stay he was given several receptions.

The Supreme Council of the Catholic Knights of America convened at Chattanooga, Tenn., on Monday. There were over one hundred delegates.

The mayor of Fairburn, Ga., denies the report that he pronounced the prohibition law a failure, and declares the fault to be on the part of the officers for not enforcing the law.

The trustees of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., have elected Bishop R. K. Hargrove as the successor of the late Bishop H. N. McTyeire in the presidency of the board of trust.

An accident occurred on the Buena Vista Railroad near Columbus, Ga., in which an engine was mysteriously overturned and Engineer Miller and Fireman Phillips were both very seriously hurt.

Rear Admiral Edward Donaldson, United States Navy, aged 78, died at his home in Baltimore, Md., on Monday. His physicians said that old age and liver complaint were the causes.

Col. Samuel L. Fowler, president of the projected Reading & Chesapeake Railroad, died suddenly Wednesday of apoplexy, aged 72 years. Col. Fowler owned large tracts of land in the South.

Rev. G. W. E. Fisse, Episcopal missionary, died at Brunswick, Ga., on Tuesday. All efforts to get Mr. Fisse to give the names of relations failed. His trunk was searched, but no clew to his home was found. It is thought it is Philadelphia or Baltimore.

The Clark University, in Atlanta, Ga., owns 450 acres of land lying in its immediate vicinity which has never been returned for taxation. The comptroller-general has decided that it is taxable property, and that the state and county taxes must be paid on it.

There is a remarkable state of affairs at Laurenburg, N. C. W. R. Terry was recently appointed postmaster there. It appears that the appointment is so offensive to the people that they will not send or receive their mail through that office, but they use John's Hill, a town some distance away as postoffice.

At Avondale, Birmingham, Ala., Filbert Hawkins, colored, took a sharp ax and split his wife's head wide open, while she lay asleep in bed. Four or five people, sleeping in adjoining rooms and Hawkin's mother-in-law, who was asleep in the same room, heard no noise and the crime was not discovered until the next morning.

The grand lodge of Odd Fellows, of North Carolina, met at Fayetteville, in the hall of Cross Creek lodge. The attendance was the largest in the history of the lodge. The secretary's report shows an increase of six lodges and five hundred members. There are now forty-six working lodges with fifteen hundred members. The increase during the past year was the greatest on record.

The monument to dead soldiers of the four German companies in the Confederate service in Bethany cemetery, Charleston, S. C., on Wednesday. The monument was unveiled by ten little German girls, clad in white, while a German band played a German choral. The dedicating prayer was in German, by Pastor Muller, and the dedication address was delivered by Senator Hampton, in whose famous legion the German soldiers fought.

Mose Bogle shot and instantly killed Frank Jackson at Nashville, Tenn. Bogle is a contractor, and unloads lumber cars. He was behind with his employes' wages, and Jackson and another negro threatened to get their money's worth out of Bogle's hide. Jackson advanced towards Bogle with a heavy stick in his hand, and the latter shot him in the forehead, the pistol ball penetrating his brain and causing instant death. The parties are all colored.

The sensation in Memphis, Tenn., is the impeachment of Judge J. J. DuBose, since September, 1886, judge of Shelby county criminal court. The leading cause of impeachment, as recited in a bill in chancery, is that DuBose was the second of James Brizzolari in the famous duel between Brizzolari and George [illegible], just over the Arkansas line, in July, 1870. By a provision in the state law that went into effect in May, 1870, participation in a duel forever bars the participant from holding public office.

In the criminal court of Birmingham, Ala., on Tuesday, Ben Elgy, colored, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with murder in the first degree for the killing of J. W. Meadows, a white man, last January. Elgy is probably the worst and most desperate negro criminal in the country. About three years ago, he murdered and robbed a white woman in Cobb county, Ga., and soon afterwards shot a policeman in Atlanta, Ga., who was trying to arrest him for burglary.

Mrs. Henry Thompson, a most beautiful and popular lady of Chattanooga, Tenn., the wife of the master mechanic of the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus shops in Chattanooga, Tenn., met with a tragic death Tuesday by taking, through mistake, an overdose of oil of tansy. She had been feeling very badly for several days, and persisted in taking a dose of the dangerous drug. Neither she or her husband knowing what amount constituted a dose, she took two teaspoonsful, from which she died within two hours in great agony. This dangerous drug is given only in extreme cases of trouble peculiar to women, and four drops is considered a dose.

Dr. W. N. Shoemaker, a prominent young physician of Birmingham, Ala., was sent to the state lunatic asylum, having become suddenly insane from the use of morphine and cocaine. He filled his pockets with pistols and knives, and going on the streets, chased every one he met in doors until he was overpowered. While alone in his room one night he made an opening in his abdomen large enough to insert his hand, and then with a knife removed a tumor, which was almost as large as an egg, from which he suffered for years. He then sewed up the wound without assistance. His recovery was considered as little short of a miracle.

The supreme council of the Catholic Knights of America met at Chattanooga, Tenn., on Tuesday, every state and territory in which the order exists being represented except Montana—Supreme President Coleman, of New Orleans, presiding. The day was spent in receiving and auditing reports of officers and in general discussion of matters to come before the council. The report of the supreme treasurer showed receipts of the general purpose fund of the order from April 23, 1887, to and including April 25, 1889, including the balance on hand April 23, 1887, to be $42,131. The membership now numbers 17,872, and there have been during the time 452 deaths.

The northern part of Tuskaloosa county, Ala., has for some time been overrun with illicit distillers. It is a wild, rough country, along the Warrior river, and with their stills concealed in the caves, the moonshiners have defied the law, and it has been a long time since a revenue officer ventured in that locality. Made bolder by their success, the moonshiners have recently become a terror to the law-abiding citizens of the community. Thursday about fifty of the best citizens of that locality held a mass meeting and adopted resolutions, and then a vigilance committee was organized to aid the officers in breaking up the stills and capturing the moonshiners.

The largest crowd that ever gathered in Mount Olivet cemetery, Nashville, Tenn., was attracted there Thursday by the ceremonies incident to the unveilling of the beautiful monument erected over the Confederate dead. The Confederate Monumental association was organized about two years ago for the avowed purpose of erecting this monument, and it was unveiled in the presence of about eight thousand people. Hon. William C. P. Breckenridge, of Kentucky, made the oration of the day. The base of the monument is fifteen feet square, and is composed of four blocks of different sizes. Then comes a die, on which the shaft rests. The shaft is surmounted by the figure of a Confederate soldier of white Carrara marble. This was carved in Italy, and weighs nearly 4,000 pounds. The statue is nine feet high, and stands on a granite pedestal, and with overcoat on precisely thrown back, exposing belt, cartridge box, bayonet and canteen. His gun is grounded. The soldier wears a soft felt hat, well thrown back, and the countenance and general appearance of the statue is that of a typical soldier. Around the shaft is wrapped the Confederate flag, showing the thirteen stars. The whole monument stands forty-five feet high.

JUTE BAGGING.

The farmers in session at Birmingham, Ala., resolved not to use jute bagging, but, at the request of the representative of the bagging trust, the question was reopened. The trust was anxious to make terms, but not enter into a contract for the entire season. The original resolution, pledging the farmers to use only cotton bagging, was called up again and unanimously adopted. It was further resolved that the state alliances in each cotton growing state, would erect factories for the manufacture of the cotton bagging.

OVER THE GLOBE.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

FRANCE'S PERIL—STRIKES—THE WESTERN BOOM—DEATHS OF EMINENT MEN—ACCIDENTS, FIRES AND SUICIDES.

An enormous land slide has occurred at Spiessback, Germany, destroying the villages, forests and cattle.

The strike of the weavers in the cotton factories at Trizy, France, is ended, mutual concession having been made.

The Illinois House of Representatives passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for a monument to the late Gen. John A. Logan.

Mrs. Mary Lambrecht, a bride of but ten days, was run over Wednesday in Chicago, Ill., and killed by one of Yerkes' cable cars.

Many arrests were made Wednesday in St. Petersburg and Moscow, Russia, in connection with the discovery of a new plot against the czar.

Two Germans were nearly lynched at a socialist meeting in Zurich, Switzerland. They were suspected of being spies. They were arrested.

Coningby Disraeli, nephew of the late Lord Beaconsfield, made his first public speech at the bar in London, Wednesday. He denounced home rule.

The country around Newnan, Ga., was visited Monday with an infant cyclone, accompanied by hail and wind and rain, blowing down trees and fences.

The claims for damages arising out of the Chefoo riots have been settled by the Chinese. The English and American flags have been rehoisted, the Chinese troops saluting them.

The strike at Dortmund, Germany is spreading, strikers are assembling at the pits and parading streets and menacing employes at the water works which supply the districts.

The president of the fruit exchange of Vienna, Aus., announces that in consequence of the Jewish boycott, the street market will not be held unless the government intervenes.

The London Standard says, the Ulster peers and unionist members of the House of Commons are pressing the government to abolish the office of lord lieutenant of Ireland.

A syndicate of Philadelphia capitalists, headed by Thomas Cochran, has purchased graphophone rights for the world outside of the United States and Canada. The price paid was $500,000.

Richard Pigott, the forger of the Parnell letters and who suicided in Spain, had his life insured for $5,000 in the English and Scotish Law life office. The fact that he committed suicide does not affect the policy.

S. F. Anderson, aged fifty, of Nebraska City, Neb., married a widow, aged fifty-nine, a few days ago, and during the wedding night became violently insane. He tried to kill her and then made several unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide.

The east gable wall of an old high stoop house, on Spring street in New York city, which is being torn down to make room for a big business building, fell on Monday while some men were at work under it. Two men were killed outright; another was fatally hurt.

The license court of Philadelphia, Pa., on Tuesday, handed down its second installment of decisions in cases of applicants for liquor licenses. Only 400 licenses were granted out of 1,396 applicants. The licenses decreased 4,000 in a year.

Frank Ryan and Harry Sadler, two young men arrested upon the charge of attempting to wreck the New York and Chicago limited vestibule train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Road recently, broke down and signed a confession of guilt Monday, giving the details of their crime.

An accident occurred at the Michigan Car Works in Detroit, by which one man lost his life outright and three more were fatally hurt. A gang of laborers were unloading a carload of iron, when some part of the brace holding the load broke and several tons of iron fell on the men, completely burying them.

A conspiracy has been discovered among the military officers stationed in St. Petersburg, Russia. A large number of the conspirators have been arrested. In their possession were found papers which proved that they intended to make an attempt to assassinate the czar. A number of bombs were also found.

Employes of the lapweld and buttweld departments of the National Tube Works Co., at McKeesport, Pa., tried for an advance in wages of ten per cent. Two thousand men are out. Employes of the galvanizing and rolling department threaten to join the strikers. About 5,000 men are employed in the plant.

A disastrous fire broke out Thursday in Saint Sanveur, in the house of Mrs. McCann, on Vallier street, in Quebec, Canada, and spread with great rapidity through the wooden district which surrounds it. The streets burned are portions of Vallier, Chenel, St. Peter and Ste Maria. Nearly 500 small houses were destroyed.

A terrific storm passed over the country around Harrisonburg, Va., Sunday. News of damage is just coming in. Lightning destroyed several barns and stables. Much stock was killed. Part of the country was visited by a severe hail storm, which literally destroyed the wheat crop and fences and houses were blown down.

The ferry boat Peerless, plying between Philadelphia, Pa., and Gloucester, N. J., collided with the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad ferry boat J. S. Schultze, Wednesday, in Delaware river, badly injuring five young women passengers on the Schultze, and carrying away a portion of the latter's ladies' cabin. Two of the injured girls will probably die.

The families of W. P. Sheretz and W. P. Denham were spending the day fishing in Lake Trout, Bartow county, Fla. The twelve-year-old son of Denham stole away from the party and went in swimming. Getting beyond his depth, he began screaming, when Miss Sheretz went into the water to assist him. The boy clutched her frantically and both were drowned.

Ten brigands were hanged in the courtyard of the prison at Sofia, on Wednesday. They were led separately to the scaffold. Eight were hanged in succession. Each man was enveloped in a bag passed overhead and reaching to the waist. Their struggles were prolonged several minutes. A mob broke through the cordon, surrounding the jail, and the gendarmes had great difficulty in keeping them away from the scaffold.

The steamship Columbia, which has just arrived at Astoria, Oregon, bound from San Francisco to Portland, reports the loss of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co's magnificent side-wheel iron steamer, Alaskan, which foundered at sea off Cape Blanco while on her way from Portland to San Francisco. The steamer fortunately carried no passengers, having on board only her officers and crew when she went down. Five men are reported drowned.

The theater at Worcester, Mass., burned Thursday. The fire apparently started in the rear of the building near the stage. Explosions followed each other in rapid succession, and in a short time the roof fell in. Bay State hotel stands in close proxmity and its rear wall was blistered and was only saved by heroic work by the fireman. "Faust" was played that night by Lewis Morrison and company. Mr. Morrison places his company's loss at $11,000, including costumes.

A dastardly attempt was made Thursday night to wreck a passenger train 36, bound west on the Fitchburg Railroad at Shelbourne Falls, Mass. The train leaves that station at 10:54. Shortly before this hour the track walker found a pile of ties on the track at a sharp curve. He attempted to remove the obstruction and was vigorously stoned by some unknown persons. If the obstructions had not been discovered, a terrible smash-up, attended with loss of life would have resulted.

Meddie Manifee, a laborer at furnace No. 4 of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., (Ensley City, Ala., plant) met a terrible death. He went up on the ore elevator, and was engaged in dumping some ore into the receiver. He turned toward the elevator-way, but was overcome with gas and fell just before he reached the elevator. Instead of landing on the elevator, he fell under it and was plunged to the ground below, a distance of eighty-five feet, breaking his neck.

A PROSPEROUS ORDER.

The sixteenth annual session of the supreme lodge of the Knights of Honor began at Indianapolis, Ind., on Tuesday. One hundred delegates were present representing every state in the Union. The report of the supreme reporter showed the following balance on hand in the various funds: General fund, $22,719; widows and orphans' fund (benefit,) $6,174. The total membership of the order is 127,000. While the number of working lodges is 2,501, during the last year, death benefits were paid amounting to $[illegible].

AERONAUT KILLED.

Prof. St. Clair, [illegible] attempting to give his long [illegible] at Pale Grand [illegible], Texas, [illegible]

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

The postal authorities have been notified of the arrest of G. G. Dorsey, on the Greenwood & Jackson, Miss., railroad postoffice line, for rifling a test registered letter of $10.

The recent count of money at the New York sub-Treasury revealed a discrepancy of $85 out of a total sum of $184,000,000 to be accounted for. The shortage resulted from the acceptance of a few counterfeit notes in the hurry of business, and by the loss of a few pieces of silver.

By direction of the President, Mr. Gitt, one of the chiefs of a division in the Pension Office, was summarily discharged, although he is a Republican. Rev. John W. Scott, the President's father-in-law, is a clerk under Gitt, and becaused he chased up the Rev. Scott about his duties, the dismissal took place.

The President has accepted the resignation of Judge George A. Jenks as Solicitor General of the Department of Justice. Mr. Jenks resigned upon the change of administration, but was requested to remain in office until the close of the existing term of the Supreme Court. Judge Jenks will be retained in the service of the government as counsel in the telephone cases.

The Court of Claims on Monday rendered a decision in the case of A. C. Myers against Rowena Guedella, involving the ownership of the celebrated Twiggs' swords in favor of the heirs of Gen. Twiggs, as represented by A. C. Myers, executor. The court held that they had never been given to Mrs. Guedella, but had been merely deposited with her for safe keeping.

The appointment of ex-Governor Bullock to be one of the directors of the Union Pacific Railroad, was made by President Harrison upon his own inclination. When the ex-governor was in Washington a few days ago, the President then said that he would like to have him take the place, and urged upon him to accept it, which, after a while, the ex-governor decided to do.

The President on Tuesday appointed the following postmasters: George B. Randolph, at Anniston, Ala., vice A. L. Taylor, commission expired; Earl E. Doud, Sheffield, Ala., office became presidential; Jefferson J. Simms, Oxford, Ala., office became presidential; William A. Albright, Durham, N. C., vice J. Hallen, removed; James A. Goddard, Morristown, Tenn., vice S. W. Shields, resigned.

The President made the following appointments Thursday: Solomon Hirsch, of Oregan, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Turkey. Clark E. Carr, of Illinois, to be minister resident and consul general of the United States at Denmark. Henry W. Severance, of California, to be consul general of the United States at Honolulu. John Jarrett, of Pennsylvania, to be consul of the United States at Birmingham. Thomas H. Sherman, of the District of Columbia, to be consul of the United States at Liverpool. John W. Douglas and L. G. Hine, both of Washington, to be commissioners of the District fo Columbia.

Secretary Tracy awarded the Richmond, Va., Locomotive Works the contract for supplying the boilers and machinery of the battle ship Texas, now building at the Norfolk navy yard. The price fixed in the contract is $634,500. The Richmond bidders were in competition with some of the largest engineering works in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, and the contract was awarded them after a careful inquiry which satisfied the department of their ability to undertake the work of this magnitude.

The Naval Board of Design has completed plans for the 2,000 ton gunboats, and is now hard at work upon the details of construction of the Thomas ship. This vessel will mark a departure in the practice of naval designing, as her general plan was originated outside of the Navy Department by Representative Thomas, a member of the naval committee of the last House of Representatives. The vessel is to be of a modified monitor type, and her peculiarities will be in her heavy ordnance, great defensive power and ability to make long cruises, with her ample coal capacity, differing in this last respect from the old monitor type.

The Secretary of the Treasury has appointed E. B. Daskam, A. T. Huntington and G. W. Robertson a committee to examine the books and assets of the Treasury incidental to the transfer of the office of treasurer from Hyatt to Huston. The examination will include a count of all the moneys in the Treasury vault, aggregating [illegible] and the remainder in United States notes, national bank notes, gold and silver certificates and fractional silver coin. This is a work of great magnitude, and will take a force of sixty expert counters over four months' time.

The United States Supreme Court on Monday rendered an opinion in the case of Chae Chang Ping, appellant, vs. collector of the port of San Francisco. This is a suit brought to test the constitutionality of the Scott Chinese exclusion act. Chae Chang Ping returned to the United States from China and endeavored to secure entrance at the port of San Francisco. He had left this country armed with a certificate entitling him to return, but the certificate was declared invalid by the Scott act. The collector refused him admittance, and suit was then brought in the United States court for the district of California to test the constitutionality of the Scott act. Congress, the court says, has power to exclude aliens from the country whose presence is deemed inimical to our interests.

For some time the White House has been infested with rats, and while the plumbing was being arranged this Spring, an unsuccessful attempt was made to rid the executive mansion of the vermin. Secretary Rusk heard of the trouble, and when the President and family left on their recent excursion the secretary declared he had rid many a barn of rats, and he guessed he would try a shot at the White House. He sent over to the Department and had the chemist mix up a horrible compound of phosphorus, corn-meal and arsenic, and it was taken to the White House. Sunday night it was applied all about the building, and when the President returned Monday, the employes had their hands full carrying away dead rats. Rusk says that a Wisconsin farmer can do up a high-priced plumber any day in clearing out vermin.

A BAPTIST CONVENTION

PASS STRONG RESOLUTIONS ABOUT SUNDAY OBSERVANCE AND PROHIBITION.

There was only one session of the Southern Baptist Convention at Memphis, Tenn., which concluded its labors and adjourned on Tuesday. Dr. W. E. Hatcher, of Georgia, introduced the following resolution, which, after debate, was adopted: "Whereas, The American Sabbath Union is laboring to secure such national legislation as will allow employes of the national government one day in seven as a day of rest; therefore, Resolved, That we fully sympathize with this important object of the American Sabbath Union, and request our brethren to promote its work, as far as may be practicable." The following resolutions offered by Dr. J. R. Scanfill, of Texas, were also unanimously adopted: "Whereas, The liquor traffic is a most powerful hindrance to the Gospel of Christ and an aggressive enemy to social order; and, whereas, this traffic is steadily encroaching upon all that Christian men revere and the human heart holds dear; and, whereas, it seeks to destroy the Christian Sabbath and annihilate public morals and public conscience; and, whereas, all Christian bodies should speak out in no uncertain tones on this question; therefore, Resolved, by the Southern Baptist Convention assembled, that we favor the speedy and entire prohibition of the liquor traffic; that we oppose license for this traffic in any and all of its forms through which men buy the right to destroy human hope and happiness and blight human souls as an offense against public morals, and a sin against God."

MADE A MISTAKE.

Linus B. Clarke and Edward A. Palmer, employes of the Boston, Mass., postoffice, who were arrested charged with opening a package addressed to others, appeared before United States Commissioner Hallett and had their cases continued. Clarke had charge of the money order department. Both, it is said, were anxious to secure positions as postoffice inspectors and intended to enter the civil service examinations. It is supposed that they had been on the lookout for some time for a package of questions to be used at the examination. Without any supposition, however, as to their intentions, it is claimed by those who arrested the men, that they had the package before them which they had opened. It contained several hundred slips of paper with questions upon them, but they were not questions that concerned them. The other papers the men wanted came in on the next mail.

QUEER WEATHER.

Specials from various points in [illegible]

BEGGED IN VAIN.

Lee Carson, alias Charlie Armstrong, colored, was hanged at Shelby, N. C., on Monday for burglary. Sometime last October, Armstrong and his brother entered the house of Mrs. Angeline Dean at night, during her absence, and stole everything she had. In November the two men were arrested for the murder of James Philbeck, and the goods stolen from Mrs. Dean were found in their house. Van Canady confessed to the murder and was taken from the county jail on the night of December 1st and lynched. Armstrong remained in jail until February 23d, when he escaped. He was re-arrested April 12, during the sitting of the court, tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged for burglary. The prisoner slept remarkably well and awoke early Monday, ate heartily a breakfast of beefsteak, eggs and biscuits, and drank two cups of coffee. As soon as breakfast was over, he was given a bath and dressed in his burial clothes, when his spiritual adviser was admitted and stayed over an hour. Rev. J. E. Harbeson conducted religious exercises, after which Armstrong addressed the crowd for nearly an hour. He said he had begun in crime by stealing a quarter from his brother. From this he descended in deeper crime, but he had never committed murder. He had stolen from a number of houses and stores, had broken into two freight trains on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta R. R., and had set fire to several buildings. He did not think he ought to be hung for what he did. His continued downfall was due to gambling and not to drinking whiskey. He knelt in prayer and prayed for five minutes. As the sheriff began pinioning his arms he fainted, caused by great excitement and intense heat. He quickly recovered, and, as the black cap was adjusted, he begged the sheriff long and piteously for his life, and after the props had been removed, he called the sheriff to him again and begged him to release him. The sheriff told him he could do nothing, and Armstrong asked time to repeat the Lord's Prayer. When the prayer was finished, he said, "Lord, Jesus, have mercy," and at 11:31 the platform was withdrawn and his body fell four feet with a thud.

COURT-ROOM MURDER.

A NASHVILLE MAN KILLS ANOTHER FOR CALLING HIM A LIAR.

Jim Turner and Tom Holton, of Nashville, Tenn., had a lawsuit to be tried, but Judge Quarles, Turner's lawyer, was not present, having been called to the criminal court. He had been in the office, however, a few minutes previous. Justice Brown volunteered to go himself to the court-house and see Judge Quarles. This he did, and returned a half hour later with the information that he would continue the case, since Turner's lawyers would be unable, on account of other legal engagements, to be present. Turner secured E. T. Holmen, and came into the office with the announcement that he had secured another lawyer, and was ready for trial, but was told by Justice Brown that the case had been continued, and that he was not at liberty to do this, for the reason that his lawyer was not there at the hour when the case was called. "Yes, he was here," replied Turner, betraying anger and excitement. "He was not here at 10 o'clock," said Holton, very positively, and this elicited from Turner the retort: "You are a liar." Holton flushed a little, but with remarkable coolness, said: "You must take that back." Turner whipped from his bosom a double acting revolver, like lightning pulling the trigger as the muzzle covered Holton, who sank limp, and apparently lifeless, to the floor. Justice Brown leaped from behind his desk and grabbed Turner. As speedily as possible the wounded man was placed on a stretcher, and removed to his home, where he died.

WHITECAPS IN GEORGIA.

A band of whitecaps have taken law into their own hands, and propose to regulate the morals of East Spalding county without judicial aid. About two weeks ago they decided that old man Wm. Cockrum was too fond of the society of other women than his lawful wife, so a committee from the newly established order waited upon him and administered to him a severe thrashing, with the warning to desist in future or take the consequences. Several negroes have been dealt with, and the above is the only case among the whites that has been reported in Georgia.

[illegible]

[illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 23, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

The VIEW has received a letter from the citizens of Pensacola, Fla., asking whether this press was in favor of the annexation of West Florida to Alabama. We have previously stated that we are heartily in favor of this project and knowing that West Florida is the best portion of the great peninsular State in the matter of resources and capabilities we have only been surprised that all Alabama does not take up the matter of annexation and agitate it to a consummation.

In about two months the grand jury will be in session. We will suggest that those who know anything of blind tigers in Clanton can seize the opportunity to help the finances of the county by reporting what they may know. This will be a surer remedy than a meeting of citizens of either sex. As to drunkenness, bad as it is, every one knows that neither courts, juries, nor laws can prevent that, any more than any other offense. The man who tries to rid the world of wickedness is likely to get left.

A Hint to the Alliance.

The Progressive Farmer says a farmer drove out of town the other day with a load of supplies—a bale of Indiana Hay, a sack of Evansville meal, a barrel of Chicago bacon on which he had promised not less than fifty per cent. profit and had given a lien on his crop to secure its payment, and that, too, before his crop was in any shape by which one could form a correct idea of what it would amount to. He passed a vacant lot on which he saw some volunteer bunches of as fine clover as greeted the eye in any land. In a negroe's garden by the wayside he saw a magnificent growth of corn, and the negroes pig-pen had in it a hog that would have weighed fully two hundred pounds. When he got to his own farm he saw the crab grass struggling for existence with such of his young crop as had been planted and was up, and he knew that later in the season that grass would take possession of all available space and beg, as it were, to be converted into hay. And yet that man can think of raising no other crop than cotton depending wholly upon the result of its uncertain sales to pay him out and encourage the merchant to credit him anew for his next year's supplies. Could not the Alliance get after a man and open his eyes to the folly of the course he is pursuing? If he goes on thus and lives three score years and works three hundred and sixty-five days in each year, works sixteen hours each day, and lives on dry bread, he will make nothing. He and his family will drag out a miserable existence, and will die a poor man dependent and slavish farmer. We may growl and complain and blame others for our troubles and may join all the farmers' organizations that can be devised, but hard times will hover around our firesides as long as we buy meat and bread, hay, fertilizers, and other farm supplies, and attempt to pay for them from the proceeds of one crop.

Agriculture.

The agriculture of Chilton County is a subject that more forcibly addresses itself to those who till the soil than at any previous period in the history of the county. Chilton Co. is situated about midway from the extreme southern and northern portions of the state of Alabama. It is not wanting in fertility and may be said to have three different soils. The southern portion of the County, has a sandy soil somewhat black and quite productive. It is well adapted to grain, more so to cotton and interspersed with never failing streams. The middle portion is first grade up-land soil well suited to a variety of grains and affords good pasturage both spring and summer. The northern portion is equally as fertile a little hilly but not mountainous. This portion is better adapted to grain as it has more lime in the soil than any other portion of the county. Cotton is the favorite and most valuable crop of this county, perhaps more than one third of the land in cultivation is devoted to its production. Corn is the next favorite crop. Sweet potatoes are raised in abundance. Cane, sorghum and rice are also produced.

The rice culture is receiving more attention than formerly. The amount of corn and cotton porduced last year is said to be ten per cent. more than any previous year. Taking this to be true, it is evident that Chilton will sooner or later be placed in the first rank of sister counties in point of agriculture. There are beautiful streams running through all portions of the county, sparkling springs bursting fourth in every direction, water pure and healthful. The climate and health of the county unsurpassed by any county in the state. The attractive features to wit: Good water, good health, good churches, good schools and railroad facilities can not much longer be over looked by those who want homes in such a country. Lands are cheap and can be bought for nominal prices. Public lands invite those who want homes and can be had for a mere trifle to actual settlers. Good labor is much needed in the county. Farmers pay fair prices for good labor. Every industrious farmer is amply remunerated in this county by the products of the farm. Respectfully submitted,

R. E. R. HICKS.

AN AERIAL CRANK.

A Montgomery Plumber Who Thinks He is Flying.

Mr. P. P. Bailey, a plumber of Montgomery, has just completed an air ship which he declares will navigate the air with perfect safety. Mr. Bailey is confident he has discovered the great secret of aerial navigation, and has been in correspondence with the war department at Washington regarding it. His last letters from the department are quite encouraging and he now has strong hopes of securing aid in making experimental trips. It is impossible to describe this balloon, but it is square shaped, with numerous wings and flanges, sails and propellers; and the man who works it is rigged up in a rather rugged manner, having on the trappings of a buggy horse even the martingail. The ship, he says, rises easily, has great bouyant power and will travel hundreds of miles an hour.

There is talk of getting Mr. Bailey to exhibit his machine both at the state fair at Birmingham and at the Montgomery exposition. It would attract great crowds and it might be reasonably supposed that scientific men from all over the country would be present, especially those with whom he has been in correspondence on the subject.

Mr. Bailey was born in Ireland but has been in this country since his early boyhood, and has lived in Texas and New York. He has devoted his whole life to trying to solve the problem of aerial navigation, and declares he has at last accomplished it.

He is about forty-eight years of age, and has a very pretty wife and four children.—Birmingham Chronicle

President Pearson.

[The Bessemer.]

Goveror Seay has the faculty of selecting just the right men for the various positions he has to fill, as was demonstrated by his recent appointment of Mr. R. H. Pearson, of Birmingham, as president of the commission. He is a distinguished lawyer and gentleman of unquestionable high standing in the community, and, in addition to these qualifications, he has had a large experience among lunatics, having for a considerable period resided in Birmingham.

A Reverend Tramp.

The following article appearing in the Arkansas Democrat published at Little Rock, a few days since, explains itself. It is from T. J. Shelton, pastor of the Christian church at Little Rock.

Editor Arkansas Democrat:

In the Democrat of yesterday afternoon appears a communication from the Birmingham Chronicle concerning the arrest of one Paul Bagley and the finding on his person credentials from the Little Rock Christian church, authorising him to preach. This certificate was given ten years ago, and has long since been revoked as Bagley is not recognized by our people anywhere as a member or minister. Bagley is a well known character in this city, as he is oftne here preaching on the streets and taking up a collection.

Paul Bagley is a remarkable being. He has been a missionary in Japan and China, has license to practice law in the supreme court of the United States, and is a classical scholar, a smooth speaker and above the average as a writer. But he is a "journeymen" preacher, a tramp by nature and practice, a monomaniac on deadbeating this way in the world. He has good property and is worth considerable money, but he has been known to travel from Maine to California on fifteen cents. He has victimized every christian pastor in every town of any size in every state in the union and nearly every territory. I have known him to lecture in a Presbyterian church, at prayer meeting, take up a collection of over five dollars and then come to me for fifty cents to get his breakfast. He is a chronic tramp.

His wife and several children live on a farm near Mablevale, where they are comfortably situated. The certificate issued to him by this church in 1879 was one of many obtained by fraud, as he has been a preacher for more than a half century. If the Birmingham authorities will forward the document to the undersigned it will be destroyed, but the "Reverend Tramp" will soon be able to get other indorsements somewhere else. He is a curiosity, and until this last scrape we supposed him to be an inoffensive dead beat.

J. T. SHELTON,
Pastor Christian Church.
Little Rock, May 7.

The above is from the Birmingham Chronicle. This is no doubt the man who poured out his eloquence on Clanton a few weeks since.

Speaking to a reporter in Washington yesterday, Senator Cullom said there seemed to be no doubt that Congress would be called together in October, instead of waiting until December.

People who have faults of their own need not censure others.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough, we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton. jan 10

Tax Sale.

STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY.

Under and by virtue of decrees rendered at the regular term of the Probate court of Chilton county, on the 13th day of May, 1889, by Hon. H. J. Callen, Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Ala., I will proceed to sell in front of the courthouse door in Clanton Alabama, between the legal hours of sale, on Monday, June 17th, 1889, the following described real estate for the taxes and costs due thereon for the year 1888:

BEAT TWO.

Mrs. Rebecca Busby, n ½ of n w q of n w q and n ½ of n e q of n w q, sec 6, t 23 r 14. State tax 15 cents, county tax 12 cents, cost and charges 50 cents. Total 77 cts. Printer's fee $3.98

Calera Land Company, S ½ of n w q s ½ and n e q s 15 t 24 r 14, s w q and e ½ and e ½ of n w q s 17 t 24 r 14, w ½ of s w q and n ½ n w ¼ of s w q s 19 t 24 r 14 e ½ of n w q n e q and s ½ of s 21 t 24 r 14 n e q, n ½ of s e q, s e q of s e q and w ½ of s 23 t 24 r 14, n e q, n ½ of s w q, s e q of s w q, s e q and n w q of s 25 t 24 r 14 all of s 27 t 24 r 14, the s w q the w ½ of n w q, the n e q and the e ½ of the s e q s 29 t 24 r 14, the n ½ of the n w q, the s w q of the s w q, the n e q of the s e q, the e ½ of n e q, the s w q of n e q s 31 t 24 r 14, n e q of s w ½ e ½ of s e q, n w q of n e q and s e q of n e q of s 35 t 24 r 14, e ½ of n w q, n w q of n w q, s thirty-five t twenty-four r fourteen, s e q of s e q s 13 t 24 r 13, all of s 35 t 24 r 13, n ½ of n e q s 27 t 24 r 12, n w q of s 15 t 24 r 13 n e q, s w q, e ½ of s e q and s w q of s e q s 25 t 24 r 13. State tax $62.50, county tax $50, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $113.00. Printer's fee $22.80.

Mrs. Nancy Sims, The e ½ of n w q the n w q of the n e q, the w ½ of the s e q and the s half of the s w q s 14 t t 23 r 12. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $5. Pr's fee $4.60.

John S. Storrs, The s ½ of the n w q and the s w of the n e q s 16 t 23 r 13. State tax $1, county tax 30 cts, cost and charges 1.00 Printers fee $3.60

BEAT THREE.

Unknown owner, The n w ½ of the s e q sec 2 t 21 r 13. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges $1, total $5.50. Printer's fee $3.30.

BEAT FOUR.

C. C. Mitchell, The s e q of the s e q s 35 t 23, r 15. State tax 25 cents, county tax 20 c, c & c $1, total $1.45. Pr's $3.30

BEAT FIVE.

Susan Melton, The n e q of the n e q s 32 t 21 r 16. Also one house and lot in Verbena. State tax 58 cents, county tax 46, cost and charges 50, total $1.54. Printer's fee $3.60

T. L. Jackson, One house and lot in Verbena. State tax 13 cents, county tax 10 cents, cost and charges 50 cents, total 73 cents. Printer's fee $2.60

W. H. Merritt, The n e q of the n e q s thirty-two t twenty-one r sixteen. State tax twenty-five cents, county tax twenty cents, cost and charges $1.00. Total $1.45. Printer's fee $3.40.

BEAT EIGHT.

M. F. Fuller, One house and lot in Clanton Ford. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 50 cts. Total 1.40. Printer's fee 2.90.

Greil & Kohn, The s w q of the n w q s 34 t twenty r 11. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total 1.90. Printer's fee $3.35.

G. W. Harrison, The w ½ of s w q and s e q of s w q s 18 t twenty r 11. State tax 50 cts., county tax 48 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total two dollars and eight cents. Printer's fee 3.70.

Unknown owner, the e ½ of the w e ½ and the s w q of the n e ½ and the n ½ of the s e q and the e half of the n w ½ of s 1 t 20 r 11. Total State and county taxes and costs $5.36. Printer's fee $5.00

R. M. GENTRY,
Tax Collector of Chilton Co.
Clanton, Ala., May 13, 1889.

Southern Pacific Tea Company.

Importers and Jobbers of Fine Coffees, Teas and Spices.

Fresh Roasted Coffee Daily. Also Coffee Roasted to order. Manufacturers of CAMPBELL'S BAKING POWDER.

Second Avenue, Between Twenty-first and Twenty-Second Streets.

Birmingham, Alabama.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS; SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
Factories: Portland, Me., Peterboro, N. H., Watertown, Mass., Oswego, N. Y., Lockport, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Winona, Minn.
FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.
FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.
Apr25-6

A Powerful Sermon.

A little girl came to her mother with the question: "Which is the worst, to tell a lie or to steal?"

The mother, taken by surprise, replied that both were so bad that she couldn't tell which was the worst. "Well" said the little one "Iv'e been thinking a good deal a about it and I think it is worse to lie than to steal. If you steal anything you can take if back, unless you have eaten it; and if you have eaten it you can payforit,But, and there was a look of awe in the little face; "a lie is forever."—Portland Press.

The Alliance Decides to Locate its Headquarters at Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, May 17.—Birmingham has captured the State Farmers' Alliance Exchange. The directors made known their decision this morning. Florence came next, then Selma, then Anniston and Birmingham contributed a 50-foot lot in the centre of the city, and about $10,000 in money and manufacturing property. Selma offered ten acres and $30,000. Montgomery offered $30,000 in real estate. Florence made the best bid of all but was too far from the centre of the state. The Alliance will erect a handsome exchange building at once, and before very long a cotton compress and cotton seed oil mill.

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 75 cents, we will sell them Shiloh's System Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the
KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS
—AND TO—
Cleanse the System Effectually,
—SO THAT—
PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH
Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
jul19 y

Chancery Sale.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Adam Schuessler, Admin'r, &c., vs. James A. Dudley, et al. In Chancery at Clanton, Ala.

By virtue of the confirmation in the Supreme Court of a decree rendered by the Chancellor in vacation, on the 23d day of January, 1889, for the 7th District, Northeastern Chancery Division of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., on Monday, the 27th day of May, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following described real estate situated in Clanton, Chilton county, Ala., to-wit: Lots one, three, seven, nine, ten, eleven, thirteen, fifteen and sixteen in Block Five, Lying on the east side of the South and North Alabama Railroad.

W. E. STEWART, Register.
April 24th, 1889.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.
tma16

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

CLUB RATES:

We will send the VIEW and the Age-Herald one year for $2, and give each subscriber a ticket to the great gift distribution in July. We will send our paper and either of the Montgomery papers for one year at the same price.

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $6,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
☞ Fine Stock of Chas Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜
P. O. BOX 870. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully,
THOMAS FOSHEE.
feb 28-y

SAM. H. HARRIS,
—DEALER IN—
WALL PAPER,
Paints, Oils, Glass, Mouldings,
AND PICTURE FRAMES.
Send for prices and samples of Wall Paper and Paints.
312 North 20th Street, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Competent Workmen sent to any part of the State.
[ma17-y]

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.
No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.
H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.
☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application.
apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
— Manufacturer of all kinds of —
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, - - Alabama.
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWARE.
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street
Birmingham, Ala.
12 20 6

OTTO STOELKER,
THE JEWELER.
☞ REMOVED TO NO. 13 DEXTER AVENUE. ☜
New Goods! Large Stock
Finest Display of Fine Diamonds in Alabama. Rich Jewelry, Fine Gold and Silver Watches, Wedding and Holiday Goods in Great Variety.
OTTO STOELKER,
THE JEWELER, [illegible]
mar15

RTER.
EBLES,) GGISTS.
ceive Prompt At-
A SPECIALTY.
and 20th STREETS,
Ala.
mpany's Prices.
June 10 y

SHEE, SHEE,) oceries
HANDISE.
bama.
patronage heretofore
HOMAS FOSHEE.

ARRIS,
APER,
Mouldings,
FRAMES.
Paper and Paints.
HAM, ALA.
part of the State.

M, gomery, Ala.,
OR ROOMS,
Scouring and dying
rt Street.

APER,
WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
CTICAL PAPER HANGER.

CHA,
OMERY, ALABAMA.
n 10 cents up. Will send
apr 11-y

BLE WORKS.
HOLT, RKMAN,
lian Marble.
inds of—
D STONE WORK.
nty-Fourth Street,
Alabama

EEPER,
Dealer in
, BLINDS,
RDWARE.
ve. and 22d Street
n, Ala.

ELKER,
VELER.
TER AVENUE.
Large Stock
Rich Jewelry. Fine Gold in Great Variety.
ELKER,
AVENUE, MONTGOMERY

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 23, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the doubtful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE R. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.
—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Picnic to-morrow.

Mrs. L. Holt is visiting in Sumter.

Miss Mattie Holt left for Florida last Thursday.

Mr. Phil Givhan spent several days in Clanton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Holt have gone on a visit to their son in Meridan, Miss.

Mrs. E. C. Lawrence has returned to Clanton after a long stay in Montgomery.

Mrs. H, W. Herbert, of Jemison, has been visiting friends in Clanton.

The Alliance Exchange will be opened in Birmingham permanently.

Mrs. Chas. Duncan, of South Pittsburg, Tenn., is visiting relatives in Clanton.

Mrs. W. H. Brown of Lilly, has been visiting her son Mr. W. H. Foshee the past week.

Mrs. W. A. Midleton has returned home after spending a pleasant time in Lowndes county.

A child of Mr. Doc. Horton who lives near Clear Creek, was bitten by a supposed rabid dog last week.

Jno. R. Lynch, a Mississippi negro, has been given Gen. Chas. M. Shelly's place as fourth auditor of the treasury.

The hanging of the woman in Jefferson will make the third woman hung in this State by process of law, All negroes.

Mr. H. Gallespie was bitten by a moccasin snake while seining at Corderie's mill last week. The bite was very serious, but we learn that Mr. G. is recovering.

The VIEW is in receipt of a neatly printed program of the closing exercises of Furman Academy at Furman, Ala. Mr. T. G. Caffey, a son of Judge H. W. Caffey, of this county, is principal of this institution.

Entitled to the Best.

All are entitled to the best that their money will buy, so every family should have, at once, a bottle of the best family remedy, Syrup of Figs, to cleanse the system when costive or billious. For sale in 50 cent. and one dollar bottles by all leading druggists. jul29

Dr Stewart clips the following rare bit of rhetoric and turns it over to the VIEW:—

You may hive the stars in a nail keg, hang the ocean on a rail fence to dry, put the sky to soak in a gourd and unbuckle the belly-band of eternity and let the sun and moon out but don't think you can escape the place that lies on the other side purgatory if you don't pay for your paper.—Georgia Enterprise.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at low prices for cash. Shoes for spring trade now in. Groceries go all the year, the present is no exception. Everything guaranteed as represented. Fair dealing at fair prices is my plan for holding trade, and my sales will prove that the people are treated well. Give me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Mrs. O. A. Dake is visiting in Montgomery.

Capt. W. A. Smith, of Dixie, is just recovering from a spell of sickness.

Mr. Newton Bell, of Montgomery, visited his father at this place this week.

Miss Mamie Harwood, daughter of Capt. J. A. Harwood, of Stanton, was on yesterday married to Mr. James Rhodes, a prominent merchant of Eufaula.

Even our devils—and they are no mutton-heads—were tickled at the idea that the Monday meeting was so very heavily loaded as some seemed to fear. It was merely a wild experiment.

Lawn Party.

At Mrs. Ehrman's Thursday night, the 23d, for the benefit of the Episcopal Church. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Come old and young.

Married, in this place on the 16th inst., Mr. W. H. Allen and Miss Alvie Bowdon, Justice A. G. Dake officiating. The young couple took the evening train for Birmingham the home of the groom where they will for the present reside.

Mr. George Merriwether, of Verbena, sends the VIEW the finest sample of oats we have seen. The sample is from his crop near Verbena. The stalks measure five and a half feet in height. They are worth bragging on and are a credit to the farmer and his farm.

One of the oldest men in Chilton is Mr. J. B. McDaniel who lives two miles east of Clanton. He is 90 years of age. He has lived in Alabama for sixty years, and in Chilton county ten years. For forty years of his life he says he never took any medicine. He is in good health now, and bids fair to celebrate his centennial.

The ladies of Clanton held a very interesting meeting Monday and did some earnest work in the cause of temperance. The steps taken may accomplish some good, though some doubt this; we would not throw cold water on a good cause, and were glad to note such deep interest in the work. A Woman's Christian Temperance Union would redound greatly to the benefit of our community. After fair trial we still differ with our correspondent as we did last fall when such a plan of working was first proposed, that a meeting of citizens to fight blind-tigers was any remedy at all. Clanton's tigers we are inclined to think are not very blind, and are located principally in Birmingham and Montgomery. The press does not favor every project that it is asked to set before the public. We called this meeting because requested to do so, and tried to draw out a full house in order to give its projector a chance to "try his hand," after counseling him that the project was sure to miscarry. We think the purpose may have been good, and will not censure just because the plan was not. If any one else wants to get up a meeting of any kind, we will announce it and try to be on hand to get the proceedings.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

If the adage "no news is good news" be true there is good news from our usually quiet town.

Mr. Fletcher McCary paid a flying visit last Saturday.

Our new railroad is yet dragging its slow length along.

Crops are looking remarkably well but are beginning to need rain. The dews are remarkably heavy.

Potatoes are beginning to need setting out.

Mrs. Waterworth is entertaining visitors from Birmingham.

Jemison Locals.

Courting seems to be a popular amusement in our town of late.

Rev. A. E. Burns returned from the Southern Baptist Convention last week, and on Sunday night gave some notes of his trip to a crowded house.

Mrs. O. A. Wood, of Dallaston, Ala., is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. T. Caffey.

Mrs. Mollie Allen visited Montgomery last week to lay in a new supply of millinery. Her tasty goods add much to the looks of the fair sex of our town.

The drought is on us in full force.

Many gardens are parching and the farmers generally complain of bad stands of cotton and poor crops. It is so dry, Mr. Editor, that we can't find any news for you this week.

X. Y. Z.

Sheep-skin Branch.

ED. CHILTON VIEW:—I have just read your correspondent's letter in regard to the manufacturing interests of Chilton county, and note that he failed to mention one very important mill in the county, which is located on Sheep-skin Branch just beyond Greasy-ridge. It is the mill of Mr. S. A. Blasingame. Four weeks ago he began moving his mill, and up to date has cut 160,000 feet of lumber, and cuts an average of 15,000 feet per day. The location is in a beautiful portion of the county with fertile valleys capable of raising any kind of produce and any one wishing a home could not do better than locate on Sheep-skin Branch. Our intelligent neighbor, Mr. J. B. Kemp will take pleasure in showing any visitor the splendid farming lands in this valley, and farming is not the only advantage this section has. The hills abound in various kinds of timber. There is not a better place to be found for a spoke and handle factory than on Sheep-skin Branch. We have white oak and hickory for spokes and handles, and a furniture factory would be profitable here. For furniture we have red and green beech, ash, poplar and sycamore, and shingles that cannot be beaten.

I took dinner with Blasingame today. He had an excellent dinner, and among the dishes were lettuce, chicken, fried fish, strawberries and numerous other products of this neighborhood. After dinner he told a negro boy to take the dishes and cloth from the table, which consisted of three small pieces of plank (I'm almost afraid to tell this for fear he won't ask me to dine with him again.)

I must mention one of Mr. B.'s hands—the saw dust boy. He does not roll the dust but carries it off gently on his back. The boy is the branch. The dust falls on the water and is conveyed to another country. Notwithstanding the large amount of lumber cut there is not a bushel of saw dust to be seen about the place.

I mentioned Mr. Kemp not because there are not other enterprising farmers here, but because he is around the mill a great deal, and is always ready and willing to take hold of any enterprise to benefit the country.

Everybody in this neighborhood takes the VIEW, and we think it an excellent paper.

W. X.

Mama (to her little boy.) "Now, Bennie, if you'll be good and go to sleep, mama'll give you one of Dr. Ayer's nice sugar-coated Cathartic Pills, next time you need medicine." Bennie, smilling sweetly, dropped off to sleep at once

Oh, What Ingratitude.

Newspaper Gospel.—An editor, who has grown gray in the service, slowly and sadly chants the following truthful requiem: "The man who handles the local department of a newspaper, learns after due experience not to expect even briefly expressed thanks for a column of pleasant things, but, he knoweth as surely as cometh the winter that a single line in which there is an unintentional misrepresentation, will cause some one to be heard from as on a house top. And we may add that when he has made pleasant mention 999 times of some person place or thing, but on the thousandth time fails to do so, he must not expect to be forgiven. The omission may have been from accident, inadvertence or even an entire lack of knowledge. It matters not. The simple fact remains and he will be judged by that."

A Lesson From the Heathen.

The Chinese do all their business with foreigners on a cash basis, though the credit system prevails largely among themselves. They are honest in their dealings, and they stick to their bargains even if they lose by them. China has no bankrupt laws, and debtors are liable to corporeal punishment from their creditors. By not paying their debts they lose caste, and are practically drummed out of business. It is a disgrace in China not to pay your debts, and as a rule the whole nation settles up at New Year's day which comes in February. The result is that China never has a panic, and in the case of famine or failure of crops the government loans money to the people. Men in America who refuse to pay their debts, should be dealt with in the same manner. The heathen Chinee is far ahead of this country when it comes to debt-paying.—Exchange.

At Hackensack, N. J., George Laura, a prosperous boss mason contractor and prominent trades union man, who had been betting heavily on the races recently, put an end to his career night before last by shooting himself in the head.

Rain still badly needed here.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of the VIEW will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75. ma16-m

Rheumatism is caused by an acid in the blood; the external treatment affords no permanent relief. To eliminate the poison and a thorough cure of the disease nothing else is so efficient as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

Tourists,

Whether on pleasure bent or business should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels; preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1.00 bottles by al leading druggists.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvel ous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

HELP FOR THE SUFFERING.

How often a home is made sad by the suffering of some member of the family. How keenly the good wife sympathizes with her invalid husband, how greatly the kind husband hopes for his sick wife's recovery. Blessed be the men that furnish sick and aching humanity with a remedy that brings sure relief.

Isaac H. Othw, Mt. Olive, N. C. writes: "I was troubled with skin disease and was broken out in running sores. I had been afflicted for ten years SKIN DISEASES and usually got worse in hot months. Eight months ago I got a bottle B. B. B. at John R. Smith's drug store at Mt. Olive, and it has entirely cured me, and I have had no symptoms of the disease since."

Kennesaw, Ga., Sept. 11, 1887.

Blood Balm Company. My Dear Sirs: I take great pleasure in acknowledging the great benefit my wife has derived from your great and wonderful medicine, B. B. B. For two years she was a great suffer from Scrofula or some blood disease which had lain dormant all her life; we had attention from some of the most skill- SCROFULA ful physicians in the country but all to no effect until we had all despaired of her recovering. Her mouth was a solid ulcer and for two months or more her body was broken out with sores until she lost a beautiful head of hair, also her eye-lashes and eye-brows. In fact she seemed to be a complete wreck. Now comes the great secret which I want all the world to know, and that is that three bottles of Blood Balm medicine has done the work, which would sound incredible to any one who did not know it to be so. To day my wife is perfectly healthy and clear from any scrofulous taint, and she now has a three months old babe also perfectly healthly. Very Respectfully,

H. L. CASSIDY.

If the reader will send to the Blood Balm Co Atlanta, Ga., for their illustrated "Book of Wonders," it will prove of further interest. (1)

[sep27 ew 1y]

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire
Insurance Company
of Montgomery, has a record for reliability
unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[feb 14 3]

NOTICE NO. 8789.

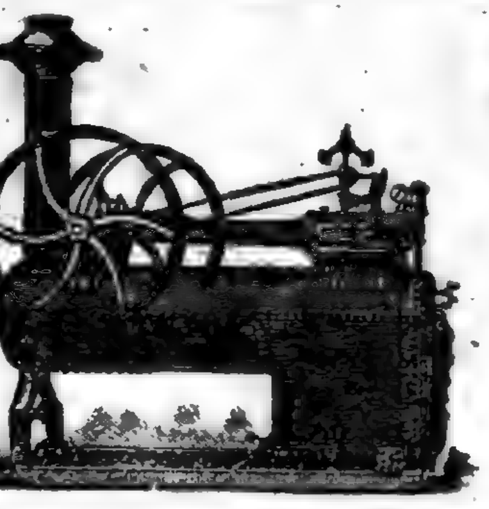
U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16518 for the n w ¼ of section 28, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John Headley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9 J. G. HARRISON, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS



Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, Letter Presses,
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Bogacki & McDonald,
Sash, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Glass, Paints and Oils, Artists' Materials, Pictures and Frames, Window Shades.
119 COMMERCE STREET, Wholesale Block.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
nov1-tf

Clanton High School

Will be opened on the first Monday in September and will continue nine scholastic months. The session will be divided into two terms. The first ending Friday before the first Monday in February, and the second will begin on the following Monday and will end with May. We will thoroughly prepare young men and ladies for college or give them a certificate of graduation. We expect to be assisted by an accomplished lady. Patronage is earnestly desired. Very Respectfully, aug16 A. J. SCOTT, Principal.

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastily, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
Correspondence solicited.
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y]

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than [illegible].
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billous Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine.
If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov29-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $85. to $53.

[illegible]
H. W. ALLEGER
[illegible]

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

Ladies' Hair.

Long and thick hair is so scarce among ladies that when one comes to have her head washed who has a full suit she is always the subject of remark and envy. Not more than one in ten ladies have full suits. Some who had long and thick hair as children have lost most of it through carelessness. The hair will fall out if not kept clean, and many find that, after reaching a certain length, it breaks off. However, if a lady has just enough hair to hold a switch the hairdresser will do the rest. Style, moreover, has favored the short haired, for less and less hair has been worn lately. From the immense waterfalls to the present scanty head-dress is a wonderful change. Switches are universally worn, but in constantly decreasing size. Still a woman with long hair is to be envied, for her hair will always look natural. A switch needs refreshing because, without the natural oil of the head to keep it bright, it will look different from the wearer's own hair. Some sleep in their switches so that they may take the oil from the head, but this is bad for the scalp, making it too hot and causing the hair to fall out. So many ladies wash their hair so seldom that I do not wonder they lose it.—Globe-Democrat.

A Nurse by Instinct.

Grandmother Chapman, of Vassar, Mich., the daughter of a Penn Yan, (N. Y.) physician, is a nurse by instinct and ambition. Her remedies are so mild that if she does not cure, she is certain not to injure her patients. Four years ago, owing to the lack of sewers, there was an epidemic of diphtheria in the village of Vassar, which has 2000 inhabitants. The physicians were successful in many of the cases, but notwithstanding their knowledge and skill, quite a number of beloved children died. One child was pronounced fatally sick by two doctors, and the parents were so told. The parents sent for Mrs. Chapman at once. She responded with alacrity, for it tickled her vanity to be called in after two popular physicians had given the child up. She soaked the infant's feet in hot water with a large quantity of mustard stirred in it, and applied a mustard plaster to its chest. The child was wrapped in a wet sheet taken out of warm water, with plenty of clothing to keep out the air completely. In half an hour the child breathed easily, and the next day it ate its meals and played. Mrs. Chapman's remedy for burns is one that is available in almost every house. She applies common baking soda wetted with cold water. This takes out all the fire immediately, and slight burns can be cured in fifteen minutes with it.—St. Louis Star Sayings.

Wife and Steamboat Captain.

Captain Mary M. Miller stood up and was sworn in approved style the other day in Louisville, Ky. Captain Mary was in the presence of Inspector of Steamboats Irwin Dugan, and was renewing her license as a commander of steam craft on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. She merely took an oath to faithfully and honestly, according to her best skill and judgment, and without concealment or reservation, perform all the duties required of her as master by the laws of the United States. Captain Mary is the only woman who has ever been licensed as the commander of a steamboat in this district. In fact, but two women captains have ever been licensed, one of them being Captain Mary and the other a Southern lady who runs a boat on the lower Mississippi.

Both of them are careful and capable commanders, but Captain Mary is interesting for other reasons than her professional ability, as she is young and good looking, and as shrewd at driving a bargain and as stern in the discharge of her duty as she is fascinating. When not on the river her home is in Portland, where resides her aged and invalid husband, Captain "Natural" Miller. Captain Mary is the old river man's second wife, and she has a stepson as old as herself. She learned the river from having accompanied her husband on many of his trips, and when the Captain's health failed she took the helm of the old City of New Orleans, his vessel then, and ran her successfully. Captain Mary is, of course, popular with her crew, both on deck and in the office. She has saved many a poor deck-hand's head from a stroke with a club in the hands of a hot tempered mate. Captain Mary has been a licensed commander for three years. The Captain is without a vessel at present, but she expects a berth in a short time.—New York Press.

Fashion Notes.

Silver is all the rage in Paris.

The Hading veil has had its day.

The ladies of Boston do not take kindly to the Directoire styles.

Ladies' cardcases are made of old brocade in soft neutral colors.

Boston is said to be a year behind the times in grasping foreign styles.

Powder and patches begin to be worn by the more daring dames of the great world in Paris.

An immense trade in the new styles of jerseys and blouses is predicted for the spring and summer.

Many of the new stylish low silver fruit dishes have borders of grape leaves and clusters in repousse.

Very pale buff, deep yellow, and about half of the twenty greens are of the stylish colors for ginghams.

Dress shoes are slightly pointed at the toes and are cut down deep in front. They have plain pompadour heels. A narrow strip holds the shoe over the instep; this strap runs through an oblong buckle of French brilliants.

King Dinah of West Africa.

Those who have read of King Dinah, of the Nunez River, West Africa, and of his hermetically sealed beer brewery, which runs only when the King is looking on, to prevent the sly introduction of poison, will regret to learn that after counting the cost he has decided that he cannot afford to go to the Paris Exposition. He formally announced this fact a while ago at a banquet he gave to some French officers. King Dinah once invited a rival chief to dine with him. He prepared for his guest by digging a deep pit beside the festive board, concealing it with branches and a little earth, and placing thereon the chair of honor which his guest was to occupy. It was thought that after the rival chief had tumbled into the pit it would be a favorable time to fill up the excavation. Somebody took the news to the intended victim, and on the appointed day he had a pressing engagement elsewhere. His grave has not yet been dug. If France would give King Dinah a handsome [illegible] to Paris, put him in a conspicuous [illegible] and let him distribute [illegible] [illegible] his own [illegible] [illegible] the greatest [illegible] [illegible]

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Life is the test of faith.

Every one who practices virtue lessens vice.

Happiness is not to be prescribed, but enjoyed.

It is good to begin well but better to end well.

Too much help has ruined more men than too little.

Failure is only a question of time with the man who talks.

One of the sublimest things in the world is plain truth.

As you learn, teach; as you get, give; as you receive, distribute.

Nothing is so strong as gentleness, nothing so gentle as real strength.

The effort to supplant nature by substituting art and trained manners is the greatest fiction in literature.

Learning is real culture, but being taught is the imitation of culture, which is always second-hand goods.

No person suffers for what they are ignorant of, for if they sense the suffering they are not ignorant of it.

A man must first be drawn through the "slum" of life before he can fully realize the value of his own senses.

The principal obstruction to the success of a reform movement is, the instigator makes an exception of himself.

We are all of us bound to make blunders in this life. Most of our troubles come from trying to uphold them after they are made.

Labor makes capital and capital conserves labor, as the clouds are made by the rising exhalations and come down again in rain. To interrupt either process is to endanger both.

Figs a Mass of Flowers.

Most of you who read this have eaten figs, dried and pressed flat and put in a box. Few have seen them growing. Those who have know that they seem to bud out from the ends of twigs without the sign of a blossom. Unadorned by calyx or corolla, the little bud-like fig assumes a pear shape, which it maintains to maturity. But does the fig-tree bloom? Yes, within the fig itself. "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen," but not to "waste its sweetness on the desert air," for sweetness of flavor and beauty of color are developed and stored away by this unhidden inflorescence. Let one who cares to be curious take a small green fig and cut it lengthwise.

Now, with a good glass examine the cavity that is found within. Notice that the cavity is not quite closed at the upper or large end of the fig, and that a very small insect could easily pass into and out of it.

Let the observer now examine the walls of the cavity. He will find it composed mostly of densely packed, thread-like projections pointing upward toward the opening. A little acquaintance with the parts of a perfect flower will enable one to dissect those threads and discover in them the essential parts of a perfect flower. After studying these minute flowers examine the projections near the orifice; notice that there is a circle of them that are not so long and are broader than those just examined, and by a careful study will be found to consist of parts of a flower, sterile in themselves, but necessary to the other parts below. It will be noticed, too, that they point downward, as if to meet the fertile projections.

Now the observer will see that the green fig is nothing but a mass of flowers almost completely enclosed in a fleshy receptacle. Let him now take a fully matured fig. Upon opening it will be found masses of seed enclosed in succulent pericarps in the place of the fertile flowers, while the sterile seem to have dried away. The manner in which the fig blossoms are hidden away in their receptacle renders them more than ordinarily difficult to fertilize, and properly owing to this difficulty such a thing as a barren fig tree has become historic.

It is no uncommon occurrence for fig trees to cast their fruit before maturity, which is no doubt owing to imperfect fertilization. In many parts of Asia they have long practiced placing branches of the wild fig, in flower, over the cultivated fig tree, to insure fertilization and maturity of the fruit. Insects are known to have entered the receptacle as described above, and by this means pollen from other trees has been known to fertilize the cultivated varieties, and, acting upon this fact, in some places, sticks are thrust into the opening in the receptacle. We propagate figs now from cuttings. Why can we not do so from seed, and by cross fertilization improve the varieties, which cannot be done from cuttings?—Los Angeles (Cal.) Herald.

Happiness in Doing Good.

A big man walked down Fourteenth street at about o'clock in the afternoon. He was faultlessly dressed with a flower in his coat lapel and a gold-headed cane in his hand. His moustache was gray and his face a little flushed. He looked to be about fifty years old, and has been taken for a prosperous New Yorker. He was extremely dignified. Nobody would have suspected from his walk that he was drunk. His inebriety was of the sort which does not extend below the neck. His legs were perfectly sober, but he removed his hat and made a stately bow to an old darky who was passing in a coal cart. A red handkerchief about the colored man's neck had apparently led him to believe that an elegantly attired lady was going by in a landau.

Just above G street a poor, measly cur dog lay on the pavement in the sun. The big man stopped and looked at him. The dog feebly wagged his tail, but was either too poor or too lazy to get up. A sympathetic and benevolent look came into the big man's face. Out from his trousers' pocket he pulled a roll of bills. It was three inches thick. There were tens and twenties, and there must have been hundreds of dollars in the roll. Carefully picking out a dollar bill he laid it on the pavement just by the dog's nose.

"Here, poor doggie," said he, "go buy yourself a bone," and as he passed on down the street his face was radiant with the consciousness of a good deed done.—Washington Post.

Marriage Ages.

In Austria, 14 years for both sexes.

In Spain, the man at 14, the woman at 12.

In Russia, the man at 18, the woman at 16.

In Greece, the man at 14, the woman at 12.

In France, the man at 18, the woman at 15.

In Saxony, the man at 18, the woman at 16.

In Belgium, the man at 18, the woman at 15.

In Germany, the man at 18, the woman at 14.

In Switzerland, the man at 14, the woman at 12.

In Hungary, Catholics, the man at 14, the woman at 12; Protestants, the man at 18, the woman at 15.—Chicago Mail.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

A Demand for Big Horses.

Don't be afraid of breeding too large horses, says the New York Herald. The people of the present day want them. The best farmers will have them, and the heavy freighters in the cities cannot do without them. The size of the horse of the future will fix its value. The boom is up for big ones, so don't neglect to breed them, and afterward to feed them. A big pair of half-breed Normans that are well matched will bring $500 as quickly as one silver dollar will bring another. The best horse for the farmer to raise is the draught horse. The 1400 to 1700 pound draught horse requires no special experience or training to sell, and the farmer has no need of a professional trainer. A ready market is constantly open for the draught horse. The demand far exceeds the supply. The farmer can turn them into cash at their real value more quickly than any other class of horses. While cattle, sheep and hogs have been so depressed the past year or two, the draught horse breeders have met an active demand at big prices; in fact, they are masters of the situation, and about the only class of breeders that can set up their own price, and get it too.

Value of Ashes.

"How much are unleached hard-wood ashes worth per bushel to use on land which is worth $150 per acre, and when hay is selling at $12 per ton?" asks a reader in central Vermont, of the New England Farmer, and the following reply is made: "Ashes vary greatly in their actual value and in their selling price according to the kind of wood burned and their freedom from sand, earth and charcoal. The best hard-wood ashes often contain nearly ten per cent. of potash while those from some of the softer woods may show less than three per cent., though it is claimed by some that soft-wood ashes are not so inferior as many believe, but being lighter than those from hard-wood ashes they are easily lost by being blown away while burning. The ashes from small twigs are much richer than those from the trunk of the trees. It is estimated that average ashes will contain from four to five pounds of potash in a bushel of forty-eight pounds, and that compared with potash salts as now sold in the market they should be worth about twenty-five or thirty cents per bushel, the phosphoric acid they contain adding to their value. It is also believed that ashes have a beneficial effect upon some soils, independent of their contents of potash and phosphoric acid. The chemist can determine the amount of valuable manurial substance in a given sample, but he cannot say what effect the sample will have when applied to a certain soil. That is a question which the farmer must himself answer, by experiment and intelligent observation."

Harrowing.

Both in the preparation of the soil for the crops before planting and in giving the earlier cultivation, afterward, the harrow can be used with profit to a more or less extent. For fining the surface of the soil it is one of the very best implements we have, and, with the large number of different kinds sold under this name, we can secure an implement adapted to almost any kind of work and in almost any kind of soil. The improvements made upon the old A harrow, are giving us the square, Scotch, vibrating, flexible, and smoothing harrows, to which may be added quite a list of spring, disc and cutting or slicing harrows. In this line of implements there would certainly seem to be a full supply, so that no matter what kind of soil the farm is composed of, a harrow can be used with profit on nearly or quite every farm. But with the spring, disc and cutting harrows, they will do much better work with some soils than with others. One will be best in one kind of soil, and the other in a different soil. Some are better for some kinds of work, and some for others.

It is best to have the soil prepared in a thoroughly fine condition before planting the seed, and to keep the soil in a good tilth until the plants have made a sufficient growth to be able to commence using the cultivators. Weeds are much more easily destroyed when young than after they get a good start to grow, and if the soil is prepared in good tilth before planting the seed, in a majority of cases the harrow will be found the cheapest and best implement to use in destroying the weeds.

The disc, spring or cutting harrows are good implements to prepare the soil in a good tilth for seeding oats, grass or other small grain; or when oats are sown on corn-stubble or land that has been planted in the fall. They are good implements to cover the seed, sowing the seed broadcast and then covering them with the disc or cutting harrow. The same applies to sowing wheat in the fall. They will fine the surface and prepare in a good tilth for sowing the seed with the drill or seed-sower. And the work can be done so much more economically that in many cases these can be made very profitable implements.—Prairie Farmer.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Mulch your orchards.

Peas should not be sown until warm weather.

Save and store a full supply of fruit and vegetables; none are so cheap as those grown on the farm.

A hen should be set in a dark, quiet place with access to plenty of water and corn, and a good dust bath.

A few drops of carbolic acid in the drinking water is said to be good for fowls affected with the cholera.

Do not be afraid to feed bran, for every ton of $15 bran you feed makes the manure into which it goes $9 richer in plant food.

Hens do not need antidotes to make them lay. Provide comfortable and sunny quarters and feed and water regularly and they will produce plenty of eggs without coaxing.

When a man is frightened or angry his digestive organs do no work; this is also true of an animal—hence the profit of keeping it in a peaceful and fearless state by kind treatment.

An ardent pig-fancier contends that the raising of pork, if properly conducted upon the farm, will lift the mortgage or raise the bank account more rapidly than any other farm stock.

A fine queen for breeding purposes should not be allowed to expend her force by too much egg-laying, but should be kept in a nucleus and only be allowed to keep that up moderately strong.

No system of dairying is complete that loses any of the fertility at the barn. Save all, liquid and solid, and do not be [illegible] [illegible] of manure drawn to the fields [illegible] the winter [illegible] [illegible], as compared with the usual [illegible] from [illegible] [illegible] piles and [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible].

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Yellow Linen Made White.

When linen has been packed away for a long time it is apt to turn yellow, and it sometimes gets in this condition from repeated poor washing. A good remedy for it is to cut up a pound of fine white soap into a gallon of milk and put it over the fire in the wash-boiler. When the soap has melted entirely put in the linen and boil it half an hour; then take it out. Have ready a lather of soap and water, wash the linen in it, and then rinse it through two cold waters, with a little bluing in the last.—New York World.

Uses for Stale Bread.

The housekeeper need never fear the accumulation of stale bread if she will only take care of it in time. Every day the bits left from meals and the dry ends of the loaf can be dried hard in the oven and then put away in paper bags. If time allows pare off the crusts and dry separately to add to soups. This dried bread will keep for weeks or months—it must simply be kept clean and dry. In any recipe where bread crumbs are called for, as in bread pudding or bread omelet, use this dried bread, laying it first in cold water till it is soft and then pressing it dry in a towel and crumbing it lightly with the hand.—Washington Star.

Cleaning Wall Paper.

The proper way to clean wall paper is to first take off the dust with a soft cloth. With a little flour and water make a lump of very stiff dough and rub the wall gently downward, taking the length of the arm at each stroke, and in this way go round the room. As the dough becomes dirty, cut the soiled part off. In the second round commence the stroke a little above where the last one ended, and be very careful not to cross the paper or to go up again. Ordinary papers cleaned in this way will look fresh and bright and almost as good as new. Some papers, however, and the most expensive ones, will not clean nicely, and in order to ascertain if a paper can be cleaned, it is best to try it in some obscure corner which will not be noticed if the result is unsatisfactory. If there be any broken places in the wall, fill them up with a mixture of equal parts of plaster of Paris and silversand made into a paste with water; then cover the place with a little piece of paper like the rest if it can be had.—Brooklyn Citizen.

How to Boil Beef.

Take about four to five pounds of rump beef or the cross rib (the first cut). Ask your butcher to lard the same with small pieces of salt bacon. All butchers do this willingly, and it will save you an amount of trouble. Then take about half of a carrot, cut it into tiny pieces; also take an ordinary sized pickle, and if you have a few slices of pickled beets, cut them and the pickle in the same manner as you did the carrot. With the meat fork make little holes all over the beef, then fill the holes with the pieces, alternating from one to another—carrot, pickle, beet, carrot, pickle, beet, etc. The beautiful appearance of this beef, when sliced, depends entirely upon the above being done with care and taste. You then cut two onions into slices place a plate into the bottom of the sauce pan in which the beef is to be cooked. Put the onions on the plate, cut from the rump some of the fat, and chop same into very small pieces, and add this to the onions; also one laurel leaf and a few whole allspice and pepper. Now put sufficient pepper and salt on the beef, then roll it in flour, being careful to cover it with same on all sides. Now put the meat upon the onions, and pour boiling water over it, so that it is covered to about three-quarters of its size. Close it with a well fitting cover, and let it boil slowly but uninterruptedly for from three to three and a half hours. By adding a few of either fresh or canned tomatoes a half an hour before you wish to serve the beef it improves greatly the flavor of the gravy. The gravy should be run through a colander before sending it to the table. This beef is excellent when cold for either lunch or tea.—New York Press.

Recipes.

BUTTERMILK PIE.—Take the yolks of four eggs, one teacupful of sugar, one half cupful of flour, a half teaspoonful of soda, two tablespoonfuls butter, one pint of buttermilk. Flavor with nutmeg, lemon or vanilla. Make a meringue and brown slightly.

DELICIOUS CABBAGE.—Slice or chop fine a small head of cabbage, salt and pepper, and cook in just enough water to keep from burning; take half a cup sour cream, half a cup vinegar, two eggs, butter size of an egg; beat together; pour over the cabbage; let it boil and serve at once.

FIVE-EGG CAKE.—Two cups sugar, two-thirds cup butter, two-thirds cup buttermilk with one even teaspoonful of soda dissolved in it, two and three-quarter cups flour, whites of five eggs and yolks of two. Bake about one and one-quarter hours in moderate oven. This cake keeps very well for some time.

LEMON JELLY.—One quart of water, four heaping tablespoons of corn starch, one cup of sugar, three or four lemons. Dissolve the starch and sugar in the lemon, pour in the water. Boil several minutes, stirring constantly. This may be molded and the white of an egg, beaten with two tablespoons of sugar, spread over the top.

FAIRY BREAKFAST BISCUIT.—Mix a scant tablespoonful of butter with a pint of flour, salt to taste and enough water to make a dough that can be kneaded. When sufficiently worked with the hands roll out the dough as thin as a sheet of paper; cut in rounds with a muffin ring, prick them with a fork, and bake for a minute in a moderately hot oven.

RICE CROQUETTES.—Boil the rice until quite soft and tender; while warm, measure; to every teaspoonful of boiled rice add an egg, well beaten, a tablespoonful of butter, pepper and salt to taste, and a half teacup of any kind of cold fresh meat, ham or tongue, chopped fine. When cold, with floured hands make into croquettes, cover with beaten egg, roll in cracker dust, and fry in hot drippings until nicely browned.

BAKED TURNIPS.—Pare four good sized turnips; cut in thick slices; cook until tender in salted water; drain and lay in a baking dish. Make a sauce as follows: Two large tablespoonfuls of flour, two of butter; stir these together in frying pan; when thoroughly heated and mixed add a teacup of milk, pouring in gradually; add very little salt and pepper and bits of butter over top of turnips; pour the sauce over and bake in a brisk oven twenty minutes.

NEW YORK city consumes over 1,000,000 quarts of milk every month. It requires the best efforts of 40,000 cows, averaging fourteen quarts in two milkings, to furnish this amount of milk. Statistics show that during 1888, [illegible] in that city purchased [illegible] [illegible] pounds of milk.

SOMETHING YOU SHOULD KNOW.

Many of our readers have often asked "What is Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, about which we hear so much?" To answer their question we have secured the following explanatory article, written by a competent authority:

One of the worst physical scourges of the world to-day—notably in England, Germany, America and Australia—is Kidney Disease. An alarmingly large proportion of the population of the countries named is affected with it, in one form or another.

The symptoms of Bright's Disease (which is but an advanced form of Kidney Disease) differ in different individuals, but generally the patient presents a flabby, bloodless look, is drowsy and easily fatigued, has pain in the back, vomiting and febrile disturbance. Dropsy, varying in degree, from slight puffiness of the face to an accumulation of the fluid sufficient to distend the whole body and to occasion serious embarrassment to respiration, is a very common accompaniment. The urine is reduced in quantity, is often of dark, smoky or bloody color, and exhibits to chemical reaction the presence of a large amount of albumen, while under the microscope blood corpuscles and casts are found. Very often dimness of vision, due to a morbid condition of the retina of the eye, and also hypertrophy of the heart, leading to fatal apoplexy, are accompaniments of the disease.

There are several forms of the malady, but their common prominent characteristic is the presence of albumen in the urine, and frequently also the co-existence of dropsy. These associated symptoms, in connection with Kidney Disease, were first described in 1827 by Dr. Richard Bright, an English physician, who first investigated them. Sometimes there is a degeneration of the tissues of the kidney into fat, thus impairing the excreting powers of the organ so that the urea is not sufficiently separated from the blood. The flow of the blood, when charged with this urea, is retarded through the minute vessels, congestion ensues, and exudation of albumen and fibrin is the result. The disease is often accompanied by eruptions on the skin, as boils, etc., and is frequently associated with enlargement of the heart.

The causes of this terrible malady are, indulgence in too much ice-water as a beverage, strong drink, high living, indigestion, exposure to wet and cold, various kinds of fevers, malaria, pregnancy, and other bodily derangements, such as a complication of certain acute diseases, like erysipelas, diphtheria, and especially scarlet fever (of which it is one of the most frequent and serious after affects), diseases of bones and other scrofulous affections. The kidneys being the most important excretory organs of the body, their derangement may speedily destroy life.

Common-sense treatment of Kidney Disease of the character referred to necessarily involves removal of the causes, rectification of other secretions and increase in the number of blood-red corpuscles, by the administration of Warner's Safe Cure. It is a specific even in the advanced stages, when the blood has poisoned the nerve centres, restoring the secretion of healthy fluids and relieving the congestion of the brain. It speedily arrests the inflammatory action, which is marked by an increased amount of urine. The albumen gradually disappears, the dropsy subsides and the patient recovers. There is no standstill in advanced Kidney Disease; those who are afflicted with it are either constantly growing better or worse. How important, therefore, that this terrible disease be taken in hand in time and treated with a known specific.

IN a new-born child the pulse beats 150 in a minute; at one year old, 110; at two 75; from seven to fourteen, 85; in the adult, man 72; and in a woman, 80. Frequency of the pulse-beat is increased by drinking hot water or tea, diminishing by drinking these cold. Adding a warm covering to the clothing of the body increases the pulse by about ten beats a minute. Metal activity diminishes it more or less.

Instead of feeling tired and worn out, instead of aches and pains, wouldn't you rather feel fresh and strong? If you continue feeling miserable and good-for-nothing you have only yourself to blame, for Brown's Iron Bitters will surely cure you. It is a certain cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, malaria, weakness, kidney, lung and heart affections. Try it if you desire to be healthy, robust and strong, and experience its remarkable curative qualities.

The anarchists of Chicago, Ill., are very active distributing inflammatory placards.

B. B. B.

RAPID CURE OF CARBUNCLES.

Sam M. Leeman, May 7, 1888, writes: "I had boils all over my body. Less than one full bottle of B. B. B. caused them all to disappear, and I have not been bothered since."

INFLAMATION OF THE EYES.

O. P. Shell, Warrenton, N. C., April 17, 1888, writes: "In the morning my eyes would sting and burn, and if rubbed would inflame and swell up. Two bottles of B. B. B. made a firm cure."

A QUICK HEALTH RENEWER.

William B. Talley, Neals' Landing, Fla., writes: "Four bottles of B. B. B. healed up the broken out places on my limbs, and my general health never was better than now. My appetite is good and all I eat agrees with me."

A HEALTH PRESERVER.

P. A. Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., August 10, 1888, writes: "I depend on B. B. B. for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had to have a doctor."

HE BECAME BALD.

L. Johnson, Belmont Station, Miss., writes: "B. B. B. has worked on me like a charm. My head and body was covered with sores, and my hair came out, but B. B. B. healed me quickly."

A bogus corpse is used to deceive the charitable in Atlanta.

A Radical Cure for Epileptic Fits.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease which I warrant to cure the worst cases. So strong is my faith in its virtues that I will send free a sample bottle and valuable treatise to any sufferer who will give me his P. O. and Express address. Resp'y, H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

The man or woman who is profitably employed is generally happy. If you are not happy it may be because you have not found your proper work. We earnestly urge all such persons to write to B. F. Johnson & Co., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va., and they can show you a work in which you can be happily and profitably employed.

A Poser!

Why will you suffer with indigestion, constipation, piles, torpid liver and sick-headache, when a few cents will buy Hamburg Figs enough to relieve your distress at once and effect a cure in a few days? 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Nothing so completely robs confinement of the pain and suffering attending it as the use of The Mother's Friend. Sold by druggists.

Best, easiest to use, and cheapest. Piso's Remedy for Catarrh. By Druggists, 50c.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the marvellous success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the fact that this medicine actually accomplishes all that is claimed for it. [illegible] Merit Wins [illegible]

ASLEEP ON THE RAILROAD TRACK.

A little child, tired of play, had pillowed his head on a rail and fallen asleep. The train was almost upon him when a passing stranger rushed forward and saved him from a horrible death. Perhaps you are asleep on the track, too. You are, if you are neglecting the hacking cough, the hectic flush, the loss of appetite and growing weakness and lassitude, which have unconsciously crept upon you. Wake up, or the train will be upon you! Consumption, which thus insidiously fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach, must be taken in time, if it is to be overcome. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or all money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Copyright, 1888, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors.

$500 OFFERED for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head by the proprietors of DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness, difficulty of clearing throat, expectoration of offensive matter; breath offensive; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Thousands of cases result in consumption, and end in the grave.

By its mild, soothing, anti-septic, cleansing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. Only 50 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Growth of the Postal Service.

It is estimated at the Post Office Department that the deficiency in the revenues of the postal service of the fiscal year just closed will be about $4,000,000. Last year the deficiency was something over $5,500,009. Owing to the cheap rates of postage, especially for newspapers, the bulk of mail matter has increased at such a rate that the cost of the service has grown immensely. The force of employees, especially in the large offices, is taxed to handle the quantity of matter that daily comes pouring in. In some instances the newspapers are not sent to the post office at all, but are weighed and stamped at the office of publication by some one authorized to do the work, and the bags are sent directly to the railroad depots. If this were not done, it is stated that some of the large post offices would be overwhelmed, and that it would be impossible to handle the matter with any dispatch or accuracy. It is thought by the post office officials that the statistics for the year just ended will show a large increase in the number of letters mailed. At present England is the greatest letter-writing nation in the world. The annual ratio of increase in this class of mail matter is much greater in this country than in England, and if the present rate continues, in a few years the United States will stand at the head as writing more letters per capita than any other nation. The bulk of mail matter, or the number of pieces handled by the United States Postal Service is now greater than any other country, but this is mainly due to the extensive circulation of the newspapers. —Washington Star.

Couldn't Get Away With Much.

"United States Sub-Treasurer Sutton, suppose a thief should get into your big vault some night?" said a visitor to the Treasury.

"No thief can get in there."

"But suppose he could?"

"It is impossible."

"But say that some clever fellow did get in, how much could he carry away in gold?"

"Not more than $25,000. We put that much in double eagles in a single bag, the weight of which is 100 pounds. That is a good deal of weight in a mighty small bundle, making it hard to carry. A thief would have hard work to run with one of those bags, and he couldn't manage to lug two to save save his life. You have no idea how hard it is to carry a 100-pound bag of gold. The weight is so concentrated. But after all no thief can get in here. The safes are absolutely proof against burglars."

Colors From Coal-Tar.

Coal-tar, formerly a troublesome waste of the gas industry, affords us about sixteen distinct yellow colors, about twelve oranges, more than thirty reds, about sixteen blues, seven greens, nine violets, and a number of browns and blacks, besides mixtures of several compounds, producing an almost infinite number of shades and tones of color.

GOVERNOR FRANCIS, of Missouri, has signed the grain option bill, which becomes a law. The bill virtually prohibits all dealing in grain options, unless the parties dealing in such options actually own the grain. It is causing great dissatisfaction among grain dealers.

SODEN MINERAL WATER

Sold by all Druggists. Information furnished. SODEN MINERAL SPRINGS CO. (Limited) Sole Agents, 15 Cedar St., New York.

$96 WEEKLY! [illegible] WATCH [illegible]

S.S.S.

In 1883 I contracted Blood Poison of bad type, and was treated with mercury, potash and sarsaparilla mixtures, growing worse all the time. I took 7 small bottles S. S. S. which cured me entirely, and no sign of the dreadful disease has returned.
J. C. NANCE,
Jan. 10, '89. Hobbyville, Ind.

My little niece had white swelling to such an extent that she was confined to the bed for a long time. More than 20 pieces of bone came out of her leg, and the doctors said amputation was the only remedy to save her life. I refused the operation and put her on S.S.S. and she is now up and active and in as good health as any child. MISS ANNIE GEESLING,
Feb. 11, '89. Columbus, Ga.

Book on Blood Diseases sent free.
SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.,
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Constructed entirely of best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock, they are unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable cast-iron imitations which are often sold for the genuine article and are not only unreliable, but dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON Revolvers are all stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents and are guaranteed perfect in every detail. Insist upon having the genuine article, and if your dealer cannot supply you an order sent to address below will receive prompt and careful attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices furnished upon application. SMITH & WESSON, Springfield, Mass.
☞ Mention this paper.

MOTHERS' FRIEND
MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY
IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.
BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS.
10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!
☞ Don't buy before getting our prices and catalogues. THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.
Name this paper.

$160 FARMERS SAW MILL. ENGINES, Wood Planers.
Also Hene's Improved Circular Saw Mill With Universal Log Beam Rectilinear Simultaneous Set Works and Double Eccentric Friction Feed. Manufactured by the SALEM IRON WORKS, Salem, N. C. Write for circular.

JONES HE PAYS THE FREIGHT.
5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

ASTHMA CURED
German Asthma Cure never fails to give immediate relief in the worst cases, insures comfortable sleep; effects cures where all others fail. A trial convinces the most skeptical. Price 50c. and $1.00, of Druggists or by mail. Sample FREE for stamp. Dr. R. SCHIFFMANN, St. Paul, Minn.

CONSUMPTION
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. So strong is my faith in its efficacy that I will send two bottles free, together with a valuable treatise on this disease to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU
COLE & WEBBLE, Proprietors,
639 I Street N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished. Correspondence solicited.

DETECTIVES! We wish to employ good men everywhere to represent [illegible] SECRET SERVICE DEPARTMENT. No membership fee charged. Accompany application with stamp for information. Address, MOHAWK DETECTIVE BUREAU, Headquarters, Wichita, Kansas.

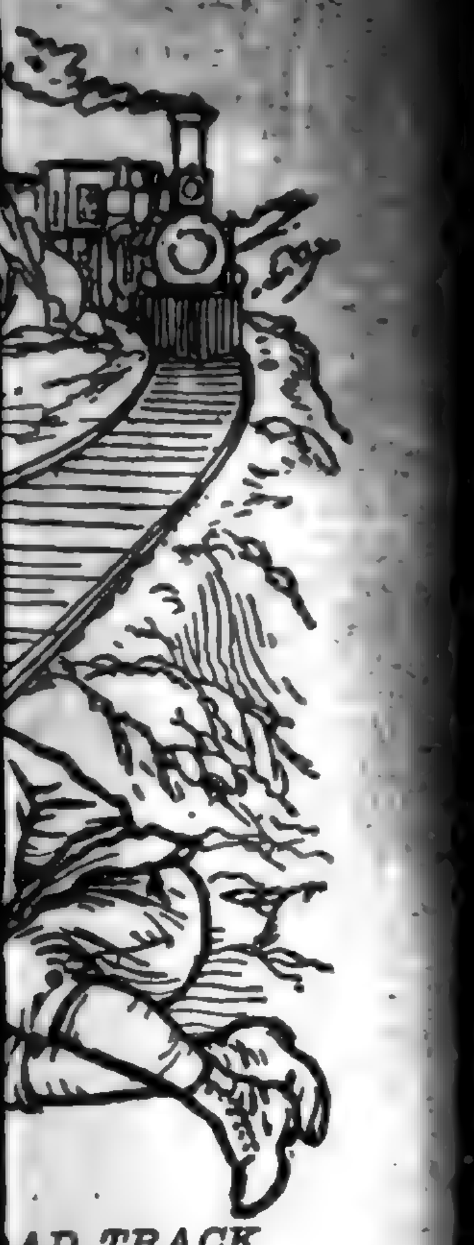
ORATORS say Piso's Cure for Consumption is THE BEST for keeping the voice clear. 25 cents.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box 34; round 14 Pills.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best. [illegible]

[illegible]



AD TRACK.
head on a rail and fallen ling stranger rushed forward are asleep on the track, too.
the hectic flush, the loss of h have unconsciously crept ! Consumption, which thus they are unconscious of its reome. Dr. Pierce's Golden this most fatal of maladies.
ure, or all money paid for of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthefficient remedy.
Association, Proprietors.

for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head by the SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.
tion of nose, discharges falling acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, weak, ringing in ears, deafness,
n of offensive matter; breath general debility. Only a few of nce. Thousands of cases result g properties, Dr. Sage's Remedy everywhere.

In 1883 I contracted Blood Poison of bad type, and was treated with mercury, potash and sarsaparilla mixtures, growing worse all the time. I took 7 small bottles S. S. S. which cured me entirely, and no sign of the dreadful disease has returned.
J. C. Nance,
Jan. 10, '89. Hobbyville, Ind.

My little niece had white swelling to such an extent that she was confined to the bed for a long time. More than 20 pieces of bone came out of her leg, and the doctors said amputation was the only remedy to save her life. I refused the operation and put her on S.S.S. and she is now up and active and in as good health as any child. Miss Annie Geesling,
Feb. 11, '89. Columbus, Ga.
Book on Blood Diseases sent free.
Swift Specific Co.
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

SMITH & WESSON
of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON fine small arms
[illegible]
in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single action, Safety Hammerless and Constructed entirely of best quality steel, carefully inspected for workmanship, they are unrivaled for finish and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap cast-iron imitations which for the genuine article and are not reliable, but dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON revolvers are all stamped upon the barrel with firm's name, address and dates of patents and guaranteed perfect in every detail. Insist on having the genuine article, and if your dealer cannot supply you an order sent to address below will receive prompt and careful attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices furnished upon application.
SMITH & WESSON,
this paper. Springfield, Mass.

THERS' FRIEND CHILD BIRTH EASY
USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.
BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

d Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS.
cent. cheaper anybody. Buggies!
t buy before getting our prices and cuts
THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO.
s paper. NASHVILLE, TENN.

FARMERS SAW MILL.
JONES HE PAYS THE FREIGHT.
JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.
ASTHMA CURED
CONSUMPTION
INGTON INFORMATION BUREAU
ETECTIVES!
RATORS
ir's Pills.
EERLESS DYES

Rates of Advertising.

One dollar per square, of one inch or less, for the first, and fifty cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 [illegible]
2 inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 inches	14 00	22 00	33 00
[illegible] Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
[illegible] Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1889. NUMBER 31.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK. Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay
2018 and 2020 Ist Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction. We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

AN ITEMIZED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

Joshua F. Ross, a well-known lawyer, of Gloucester C. H., Va., who was on bail waiting a second trial for killing his uncle, Geo. Hughes, shot himself.

The "seventeen year" locusts, although they do not come often to Tennessee, make a decided impression when they do come. Every bush and tree is laden with the pests around Sewanee.

A freight train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad was derailed two miles west of Macon, Mo. Five oil tanks exploded and burned sixteen heavily loaded freight cars. Brakeman Joe Kutz jumped and received fatal injuries.

William Jackson, of Sampson, N. C., went to the town of Dunn, taking his little girl with him. As they were returning home, Jackson walking and the little girl driving, the horse became frightened, ran away and immediately killed the girl.

Grand River, near Chillicothe, Mo., is greatly swollen, and bottoms are flooded. Great damage and some loss of life is reported. Three teams and wagons were found lodged in the driftwood around the bridge at Jimtown, three miles southeast of the city.

Warren Fench, of Newark, N. J., died while bathing in the surf at Pablo Beach, Fla. He was seen to throw up his arms and sink while in water up to his neck. He was subject to fainting fits, and it is supposed death was due to heart disease.

The nineteenth annual session of the Colored Missionary Baptist Convention of Georgia was held in Atlanta, Ga. There were 52 associations, 1,500 churches and 167,000 colored Baptists represented. There were about 400 delegates present.

A large fire broke out on Wednesday in the large warehouse on the wharf of the Cape Fear and the Peoples' Steamboat Co., at Fayetteville, N. C. The fire made rapid headway, the warehouse being stored with spirits of turpentine. The fire was incendiary.

In the criminal court at Birmingham, Ala., Minnie Moses, colored, was sentenced to hang June 27th for highway robbery. Not a muscle of the woman's face moved as she heard the sentence pronounced, and she returned to her seat as unmoved as if nothing had occurred.

R. J. Wilmoth, living in Atlanta, Ga., committed suicide on Wednesday, by taking two ounces of laudanum. He was a baggage master on the Richmond & Danville Railroad. He was despondent on account of an affection of his throat, which prevented his taking food.

O. S. Barnes and Milow Parker, two prominent citizens of Hamilton, Ga., had a difficulty about a business transaction on Tuesday. Barnes called Parker a liar, and the latter struck him. Barnes pulled out a knife and stabbed Parker in the side, inflicting a serious wound.

All the passenger conductors on the Decatur division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad have been discharged, and the vacancies filled by freight conductors. No reason for the changes can be learned, but it is understood that similar changes are being made on every division of the system.

The passenger steamer Johns Hopkins, belonging to the Merchants and Miners Transportation Co., caught fire while lying at Locust Point, Baltimore, Md., and was burned to the water's edge. She had just arrived from Boston, Monday, and had taken aboard her cargo for the return trip.

The East Tennessee farmers' convention met at Chattanooga, Tenn., on Tuesday. About two hundred delegates were present, and the session promises to be one of great interest and importance to all farmers. Papers were read on forestry, raising blooded stock, improved methods of farming and other subjects.

A memorial has been presented in the Florida legislature, assuming to come from Cubans, who want independence, offering to pay Spain $20,000,000 for liberty. The Florida legislature is asked to initiate action in the United States in favor of the movement. A United States protectorate, is asked pending the payment of the money.

The Richmond & Danville Railroad system has just concluded a lease, which gives the Georgia Pacific division of that system a through line from Atlanta, Ga., to Arkansas City, Ark., an important western connection. This gives the Richmond & Danville system an unbroken line from the seaboard into Arkansas, in connection with Gould's Missouri Pacific system.

Two negro [illegible], Albert Bartlett and [illegible], [illegible] at Americus, Ga., which resulted in the killing of the latter. They fell out about a nickel, which one claimed the other owed him, and a fight ensued, during which Bartlett picked up a four-pound rock, and with it dealt his antagonist a terrible blow on the back of his head, killing him instantly.

A killing occurred at Oliver Springs, in Anderson county, Tenn., on Thursday. Sam Diggs and Lippy Scarboro, went to the Springs, where a drug store is kept, to get some "ginger ale." They were both intoxicated, and Frank Chapman, the proprietor, refused to sell them. Thereupon both became very indignant, and Chapman and Scarboro clinched in a fight. Chapman was getting the best of Scarboro, when Diggs, drawing his pistol, placed the muzzle against Chapman's head and fired, the ball passing entirely through his head, killing him instantly.

UNCLE SAM'S TALK.

THE UNITED STATES SAMOAN COMMISSION MAKE POSITIVE DEMANDS ON GERMANY.

It is learned from reliable sources in Berlin, that the United States government has instructed its commissioners to insist upon the return of Malieota as king of Samoa. Messages are said to have been received there from Secretary Blaine, directing the commissioners to insist upon restoration of the status quo, and saying that Germany deposed Malieota as king, and must return him as king. They may higgle about indemnity, of a unit, or dual, or tripartite government, if they please, but Malieota must be king. While the Germans have come to agree with all other views of the American commissioners, they are reluctant to accept this condition, and point to the fact that Malieota was pardoned by the German emperor at the beginning of the conference. This, they claim, should satisfy America. The American commissioners, at the Tuesday session, were quiet and concilatory in their utterances concerning the situation, but expressed a determination to remain firm. Another difficulty grows out of theclaim for indemnity madeby Germany. The American section of the conference holds that if any indemnity is paid it must be a merely nominal sum. Germany, on the contrary, maintains that in the conflicts between German forces and the Samoans, the latter were invariably the aggressors. Besides, the native partisans of King Malieota were guilty of the barbarous practice of beheading German sailors, as well as inflicting upon the wounded, cruelties. These acts, Germany insists, should entail upon Samoa the payment of a special indemnity.

CHICAGO'S INSANE.

THEY ARE TREATED BRUTALLY IN THE ASYLUM—BOODLERISM RULES SUPREME.

At the inquiry as to the state of affairs at the Cook county insane asylum at Chicago, Ill., on Wednesday, Dr. Clevenger, formerly a member of the medical staff, testified, that it wasimpossible for a reputable practitioner or attendant to stay there. The most disreputable ones were the ones to stay, because they devoted more time to intrigue. Disreputable ones practiced a system of elimination of the better element by either physical violence or other means. "In 1856," said he, "physicians who secured bodies at the asylum for dissection, told me the bodies were so covered with vermin that they had to be scorched before being put on the dissecting table. Once, in 1885, I heard the screams of pain, and running from my office, found two attendants standing over a patient, named Hertzberg, who was bleeding profusely. I knew there was no use in making any complaint, as the attendants were supported by John Cumming's influence in the county board. Soon after they rebelled and refused to obey my orders. They secreted the bodies on which I desired to hold post-mortem examinations, and I could not get them for two or three days after they were buried. I published a statement, and the following night one of the attendants called me a vile name, and a few moments later a shot was fired downstairs. The bullet crashed through the floor and lodged into my bookcase." "What is the matter with the institution now?" was asked. "It is under the influence of boodlerism."

A MYSTERIOUS DOCTOR.

The negroes of Clarendon, Williamsburg and Sumter counties, North Carolina, have, for some weeks past, been in a state of great alarm. They claim that there is a white man, a doctor, who can make himself invisible, and who, having done so, approaches some unsuspecting negro, generally a woman, and throws chloroform in the victim's face. Next he proceeds to take from the insensible victim a bucket of heart blood wherewith to compound his medicines. The dead body is then hidden away so that [illegible]

IMPORTANT STATISTICS.

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES THAT WILL BE INTERESTING TO THE ALLIANCES.

The May report of the statistician of the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., contains the result of an investigation of the deficiencies of supplies of each European nation, especially in the production of American agricultural products that seek foreign markets. As a single year's data would be misleading, the average imports and exports of ten years are taken to obtain the net deficiency of the supply. The net European deficiency is thus shown as to cereals, fibres, butter, cheese, etc., in connection with European production. The investigation was made pursuant to a resolution passed at the meeting of the National Grange held in Topeka, Kan., last Fall. Some of the figures given in the statement prepared by Mr. Dodge are startling.

As to wheat, he says, that Europe is practically the only market that Americans can have for this cereal, and Europe imports only 144,000,000 bushels a year, raising 1,200,000,000 bushels, more than half of the world's crop, and twice that of all America. Of the European deficiency, the United States supplies 95,000,000 bushels. In oats and barley there is a very small international trade, Europe importing net only 19,000,000 bushels of oats, and the United States exporting 2,500,000 bushels. Of barley this country imports 7,500,000 bushels. Rye is the great bread grain of Europe and Central Europe, and Russia alone produces more than the United States. Europe imports not less than 10,500,000 bushels, and the United States exports less than 3,000,000 bushels. The receipts of European countries requiring maize do not make half as much as the product of Illinois or Iowa or Missouri. Great Britain takes nearly three-fourths of the total, or 62,000,000 bushels, and that country exports 68,000,000 bushels.

Europe imports over one billion pounds of rice, but none of it comes from the United States. Of potatoes Europe grows more than it needs, while the United States supply their deficiency from Canada and Germany. Only Great Britain, Belgium and Portugal, of the European nations, do not produce enough butter and to spare. To make up the deficiency, 25,000,000 pounds, the United States exports 24,000,000. It requires 140,000,000 pounds of cheese to supply the European deficiency, of which 118,000,000 are furnished by the United States. Of course Europe has to import all its cotton, the average annual imports being 2,636,000,000 pounds. The United States sends of this 1,850,000,000 pounds. Mr. Dodge says: "This country is only exceeded by Great Britain in cotton manufacture and should, ere many decades past, occupy the first place. There has been greater relative advance in the consumption of cotton in continental countries during the past ten years than in Great Britain."

Europe gets from South America, Asia, Africa and Australia, two or three times as much wool as it imports from the United States. The net deficiency of Europe is 780,000,000 pounds, slightly more than is produced there. The United States produces four-fifths of the wool manufactured here. The aim of the wool grower of this country is to supply the home manufacturer if possible; never to export raw wool. If there ever shall be a surplus, it will bring more money to the wool grower if sent abroad in the manufactured form. The United States import net sixty-nine million pounds of wool every year. The statement shows that Europe produces about as much tobacco as the United States—500,000,000 pounds annually—and could easily produce all it needs; but American tobacco is desired for two reasons: it is cheap and very desirable for fortifying the European product, so the United States furnish 242,000,000 pounds of the annual deficiency of 324,000,000 pounds. In conclusion Mr. Dodge says: "About one-tenth of our agricultural products is exported. No other nation exports so long a proportion, yet the articles shipped abroad are few. They are cotton, tobacco, meats, breadstuffs and cheese. All other articles together are but 8 per cent. of the exports. The enlargement of the surplus must inevitably reduce the price both at home and abroad. More cheese could be sold if its reputation for quality should be kept up and there were more disposition to cater to fastidious or peculiar foreign tastes. Butter exports could be enlarged if they were of better quality. Evaporated or preserved fruits, the oranges of the Southern or Pacific coasts, wines from California may seek profitable market as surplus stocks as a safety-valve to the home market.

"What agricultural products are now imported that our country and climate are capable of producing? [illegible] present and immediate future, and the home demand would not be uncertain, but peremptory and insatiable. Flax and hemp should be more extensively grown, displacing foreign fibres costing millions and furnishing material for the bagging of cotton wool and hops. Other fibres of sub-tropical regions should be produced along the Gulf coast. Imported fires, with their manufacture, altogether amount to a value more than two-thirds as much as the munificent and boasted cotton exports of the United States.

FRUIT AS EVIDENCE.

FIVE SUPERSTITIOUS MURDERERS FURNISH CONVICTING PROOF.

During the trial of Gilbert Lowe at Birmingham, Ala., for murder, the testimony of Ben Elzey disclosed the fact that the superstition of five negro murderers was largely instrumental in the identification of their victim and their arrest. One night last January, Ben Elzey, Lawrence Johnson, Joe Halachi, Gilbert Lowe and Henry Joe, all negroes, found J. W. Meadows, a white man, drunk on the streets; learned he had about $100 dollars in money in his pocket, and they took him out on Red Mountain and robbed and murdered him. Meadows had a cocoanut in his hand when murdered. One of the negroes picked it up and was going to eat it, so Elzey testified on Thursday, but the others told him if he ate the fruit the ghost of the dead man would haunt him. This frightened him, and he left the cocoanut laying by the body. It was six weeks before the body was found, and then it was little more than a skeleton, and could not be identified. The shell of the cocoanut was still laying by the body. A fruit dealer, hearing of this, remembered selling a cocoanut to a drunken white man, who went away from his place in company with five negroes. This was the first, and one of the most important links in the chain of evidence which led to the identification of the body and the arrest of the murderers.

ALABAMA'S INVITATION.

THE PRESIDENT IS ASKED TO VISIT NEW DECATUR, ALABAMA.

Brickenridge Jones, of Decatur, Ala., called on President Harrison on Thursday, and in the name of the citizens of New Decatur, invited him to attend the ceremonies to take place there in celebration of the opening of various industrial enterprises. The President received Mr. Jones very cordially and assured him that he took a warm interest in the industrial growth of the South, and expressed his gratification at the many evidences of material advancement which the South was exhibiting. The President said he regretted that the state of public business would not permit him to be present in person at the opening of the new enterprises. At the suggestion of the President and Secretary Noble, Judge Shields, assistant attorney-general for the Interior Department, will attend the ceremonies at New Decatur and will represent the administration on that occasion.

PRESBYTERIAN HELP.

CO-OPERATION AT HOME AND ABROAD RECOMMENDED BY THE CONFERENCE.

In the Presbyterian General Assembly on Thursday, the report of the committee of conference on fraternities in Christian work with the Southern church, which had already been presented, was called upon the orders of the day. The report says that the committees of both churches agreed upon co-operation in the home field, and in reference to co-operation in the evangelization of the colored people recommended: that the relations of the colored people in both churches be allowed to remain in statu quo, the work among them to proceed on the same line as before; that the sympathy of both churches be extended towards the evangelization of the colored race, and, third, that the work undertaken by the Southern Assembly, such as the Tuscaloosa Institute, for the education of colored ministers be mutually recommended. Co-operation in publications had been agreed upon by the committees.

WHISKEY'S EFFECTS.

Barry Koehler, while crazy with drink, ran amuck through the streets of Joliet, Ill. In his course he shot and seriously wounded a young lady, Miss Della Hart. A crowd gathered and began search for him among some freight cars. Just then a freight train moved past and at the open door of one car a man was seen. The crowd called out that it was Koehler, and an excited policeman fired at him, inflicting a fatal wound in the head. [illegible]

GOOD ROADS.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE GEORGIA CONGRESS, ASSEMBLED IN ATLANTA.

The three days' session of the Road Congress assembled in Atlanta, Ga., culminated on Thursday in the form of a bill to be presented to the Legislature in July. The principal feature of the bill is this clause: "That all male persons between the ages of 16 and 50, except ministers of the Gospel in charge of one or more churches, and all persons who are physically unable to work for themselves, shall be subject to work the roads such number of days as may be fixed each year by the board of commissioners, or ordinary, as the case may be, not to exceed eight days in the year, under the direction of the contractor of the road to which they may be assigned, and such contractor shall be charged with the amount of labor assigned to his road at the rate at which the hands are allowed to commute their labor, as provided in this act." The committee also submitted the following resolution in conjunction with the proposed act. It was unanimously adopted: "Resolved, That it is the sense of this body that the convicts of this state should be used in improving our public roads and bridges, and that this law should be done as quickly as possible, with due regard to existing leases, and that the best interests of the masses of our people demand immediate legislation preparatory for such use of all convicts available now or made available in the future by the expiration or forfeiture of leases now existing. Provided, however, that exception should be made in cases of criminals, who should be more captiously and severely punished."

The most practical speech of the session was by Judge Eve, of Augusta, who said: "In Richmond county we have cloth tents. The convicts are quartered in them, and the tents are moved from place to place through the county. Our convicts have a shackle upon them with a chain which reahes to the waist and is fastened by a belt which prevents its interfering with them at work. At night the tent is pitched near a tree and there is a long gang chain upon which these chains attached to the convicts are slipped, and it is locked upon the tree, and there is one guard who is required to be on duty the entire night to watch the convicts, the rest of the guards remaining in the camp. During eleven years we have worked them in that way and I am confident we have not had ten escapes, and at night I think two would cover it, so the mode we adopt has proven quite successful. I would like to tell here another thing, that work on the public roads adds greatly to the health of convicts. During eleven years, we have worked them in this way we have not had a single death from any local cause or any cause attributable to their confinement in the chaingang. There have only been two deaths in eleven years. One was accidentally killed by a guard who got drunk while off duty and by the careless use of a pistol, killed one of the convicts. He was prosecuted and died in the penitentiary. The other was a convict sent from Burke county, a white man and a tramp, who died within two days after reaching the camp, and a post mortem examination demonstrated that he died from dropsy of the heart; otherwise we have not had a single death.

"What is the estimated cost, Judge Eve, of each convict worked by your county per day, including medicine, food, stock, etc., that you use in working the roads,—tools, and things of that kind?" was asked. "The cost of maintaining the chaingang on the roads of Richmond county, including guard hire, stockades, medical care, food, clothing and everything except the road machines and implements, mules and carts, was last year 31 cents per day."

The following resolutions were passed: "Resolved, That the memorial to be prepared shall embrace these ideas: 1. That the convicts of the state be utilized as far as possible. 2. That the labor of the state bear its fair proportion of the burden. 3. That the property of the state shall bear its fair proportion of an ad valorum tax. 4. That a large discretion be left to each county as to the amount and character of the work to be done. 5. That in any laws that shall be framed, the interest of the public shall bear against and not with the person or persons in charge of the road working." "Resolved, That the president and vice-president of this congress shall constitute an advisory committee, whose duty it shall be to determine the question of the future meetings of this congress, with power to determine the time, and call the body in session. At four o'clock the congress adjourned, subject to the call of the advisory committee."

[illegible]

GENERAL NEWS.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, FIRES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

The yellow fever in Vera Cruz, Mexico, is very bad.

Prince George, of Greece, has joined the French navy.

Forty-five persons lost their lives through the floods in Bohemia.

In the Illinois House, the bill to prohibit the manufacture or sale of liquors was defeated.

The coal miners of the Dortmund (Germany) region have again entered upon a general strike.

Dispatches from various places in Northern Ohio report a severe white frost on Thursday night.

Emperor William, of Germany, treated King Humbert, of Italy, to a military review on Wednesday.

The Agawam Woolen Company's mills, situated in Agawam, Mass., were entirely destroyed by fire.

The steamer Dispatch, of Port Townsend, was burned to the water's edge at Seattle, W. T., on Thursday.

Internal Revenue Collector Webster, of Iowa, states that the prohibitory law increased the sale of liquor in Iowa.

A number of towns in Central and Southern Minnesota report had frost Wednesday, doing some damage to vegetation.

Two hundred and fifty policemen and soldiers assisted in the evictions on the Elphart estate in Ireland, which took place on Thursday.

A newspaper of Munich has been confiscated and the editor arrested for publishing a scandalous obituary article on Queen Maria, of Bavaria.

The Lutheran Norwegian College, at Decorah, Iowa, was burned Monday night. The college was built by contributions, and was dedicated in 1866.

The Canadian government has received a cablegram from the imperial authorities, stating that work on the Pacific coast defenses will be begun this Summer.

The Parisians express great dissatisfaction over the fact that the American section of the Exhibition, and also a portion of the British sections, are closed on Sundays.

Mrs. Gladstone was on Wednesday presented by the Woman's Liberal Federation, of London, England, with a diamond brooch containing a miniature of Gladstone, copied from Miller's portrait.

A terrific wind and rain-storm, which afterwards turned into a cyclone, swept through the Lackawanna (Pa.) valley Monday. Many houses were wrecked, fences blown down, barns demolished and whole orchards ruined.

The steamships Cynthia and Polynesian, collided Wednesday, near Long Point, a few miles from Montreal, Canada. Eight lives are reported to have been lost. The Cynthia, Capt. Donaldson, was a freight steamer and was bound inward from Glasgow. The Polynesian was bound outward with freight and passengers for Liverpool.

The British steamer, German Emperor, from London to Bilboa, ran into the British steamer, Beresford, from Hartlepool for Bombay, while the latter was lying at anchor on Goodwin Sands. Boats were launched from the Beresford and succeeded in rescuing three persons from the German Emperor. Six men belonging to the German Emperor are missing. All the rest were saved.

CREMATED.

The residence of T. O. Clark, near Virginia Beach, in Princess Anne county, Va., was burned Thursday at midnight. He, his two daughters and one son, and a niece visiting him, were consumed by the flames. His wife, Miss Ella Bidgood, the governess, and two children escaped. The origin of the fire is unknown, though it is thought to have been incendiary. Mr. Clarke was pastor of London Bridge Baptist church, and was a preacher of note. Near Alexander, Tenn., Miss Lula Hobson, aged 55 years, was burned to death. Her clothes caught fire from an open fireplace, while she was alone in the room, and being quite feeble, she could do nothing to save herself.

THE CHINESE WAY.

Chan Yen, of San Francisco, Cal., who had had trouble with a discharged laborer, was brutally hacked to death with a hatchet by a highbinder [illegible]

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

APPOINTMENTS, DECISIONS, AND OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

A daily exchange of registered pouches has been ordered between Omaha and Kansas City.

Information has been received that the United States steamer, Alert, sailed from Honolulu for Samoa, to take the place of one of the wrecked vessels.

The Comptroller of the Currency has organized the First National Bank of Pana, Ill., and the First National Bank of Burlingame, Kan., with respective capitals of $50,000 and $75,000.

Prof. Wm. C. Winlock, of the United States Naval Observatory, has been appointed curator of the Bureau of International Exchanges in the Smithsonian Institute, vice J. C. Kidder, deceased.

Secretary Windom signed the sailing orders of the revenue steamer Rush, directing that she sail immediately to Ounalaska, and then to cruise diligently in Behring Sea to protect Alaskan fisheries.

First Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson appointed 367 fourth-class postmasters on Thursday, the largest batch made under the administration. Among them were J. T. Hightower, at Hinton, Pickens county, Ga., and J. G. Conner, at Tallulah Falls, Rabun county.

The United States steel cruiser Boston, now at New York, will be ordered to Hayti in a day or two in command of Capt. O'Kane. Secretary Tracy says that the order is in pursuance of relieving frequently vessels on West Indian stations when they are exposed to yellow fever.

There seems to be no doubt that Congress will be called together in October instead of waiting until December. This would be necessary to prevent a long session during the next Summer, as there was more work for the first session of the 51st Congress than could be disposed of in an ordinary session.

The President on Tuesday appointed about forty postmasters, among them the following: Charles W. Whitmire, at Newberry Courthouse, S. C., vice Mrs. E. S. Herbert, commission expired; Howard G. Howard, at DeLand, Fla., vice H. H. Tanner, removed; James Bell, at Gainesville, Fla., vice C. F. Sheldon, removed.

During the past week, the Treasury Department has disbursed $11,380,000 on account of pensions, thereby exhausting the appropriation for the current fiscal year, amounting to $1,750,000. An officer of the Treasury who had been looking over the figures, said it looked as if the Pension Office would spend about $105,000,000 before the close of the fiscal year.

The War Department officials confirm the report that part of the 4th artillery at Boston, Mass., has been ordered to exchange places with the 2d artillery, in the South. They say, however, that the troops will not be exposed to yellow fever, as Atlanta, Ga., is in a high belt, and has been successfully used as a point of refuge for troops in exposed Southern stations during the fever outbreaks.

The adjutant general has received a telegram announcing the capture of Cyclone Bill, who was arrested at Clifton and was brought into the post by Lieut. Clark and United States Marshal Breckenridge; and that Commanding Officer Thomas caused the arrest on the evening of the 16th of M. E. Cunningham, of Fort Thomas; that both have been identified by some of the paymaster's escort and the woman, Frankie Stratton, as being two of the robbers. The arrested parties are charged with the robbery of Paymaster Wham, at Rocky Gorge, Arizona.

PARNELL'S IDEA.

A deputation on Thursday from the various Irish municipal bodies presented to Charles Stewart Parnell an address congratulating him upon his success in disproving, before the commission, the many calumnies that had been heaped on him. Mr. Parnell replied that he was sure the Irish municipal authorities would continue to fight for their privileges, not for the purpose of disintegration of the empire, nor upsetting the authority of the queen, but for obtaining a realization of their legitimate aspirations. He had some [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 30, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

Sam Jones: "Girls are not as particular as boys. A boy will not go with an impure girl anywhere, but a girl will go to a ball and dance with a fellow she knows to be as smutty and as dirty as the devil."

John Wesley DuBose the famous murderer who went up from this county for life imprisonment is again quoting scripture for the Age-Herald reporters. John Wesley has a hard task before him in the conversion of those reporters.

The editor of the Talladega Home thus plaintively remarks: It's a mighty long time between greens and beans, no money is coming in, subscribers won't pay up—our hat is roofless but there is a stunning prospect of a "glorious" and wide spread blackberry crop.

Mr. Lewis Pugh, of Pine Level, Montgomery county, was shot dead at his home on Monday night last. The motive was robbery, and a large sum was stolen from a trunk in the room by the robbers.

The Opelika police have inaugurated a war on the small boy without regard to previous condition, etc., by passing an ordinance requiring "nigs" who run errands and black boots for the almighty nickle to take out a license of $3. All "whistling, singing, and bawling" has been prohibited. It is now a crime for the small boy to fly his kite in the city limits.

Some two years ago Col. Newcome Clark a prominent republican campaign orator and waver of bloody shirt in Michigan, removed to Ocean Spring, Miss. Now he is protesting against the appointment of a negro postmaster for that place. He had nothing to say against the honesty, ability or character of the postmaster, but he declared that the fact that a colored man was postmaster at Ocean Springs would hurt the town, and that no white man wanted to have his mail handed to him by a negro.

The editor of the Oxford Echo talks business sense to the people of his town in the following language: The town that cannot afford a better paper than the Oxford Echo should get down off the knees of its fast decaying mortality and slide in among the pale nations of the dead. Oxford has more poor, weak, financially imbecile, struggling, poverty struck, on-the-road-to-the-poor-house merchants and business men than any town, it has been our bad luck to hit since we have been in the newspaper line. They are awfully and fearfully poor.

An exchange says: "Complaining and running down things is in a large degree, a matter of habit, and people do it without intending to do any harm to their town or to any one else, but as sure as they live, it inflicts an injury upon their own town and consequently upon themselves. Suppose things do not move on just to suit you, if it is an improvement you ought not only to shut your mouth, but you ought to labor for its accomplishment. You will not find things to suit you until the millenium comes, and it would be wisdom on the part of all of us to fall into line and help push on the car of progress, even though it should not coincide with our own views."

The trial of one Henry Smith at Birmingham for murder emphasizes one glaring defect in our criminal laws. Smith assaulted two men and a woman without provocation, killed the men and badly wounding the woman. He has just been convicted of willful murder and sentenced to hang. Before and on the trial he confessed the deed, and yet his lawyers say they will carry his case to the supreme court. The object of such a course is only to delay the execution of the sentence and give the defendant's lawyers time to hunt up a loophole for the escape of their client. The absurdity of allowing such cases to be carried to the supreme court is apparent. Such license only tends to defeat the ends of justice and besides it occupies the time of the higher court which could be better employed on meritorious cases.—Fort Payne Journal.

NEWS ITEMS.

The encampment of the second regiment, A. S. T. will be held at Eastlake in July.

Fort Payne is still growing and adding to her trade and population. Several other north Alabama towns are following suit—notably Stevenson in Jackson county and Valley Head in DeKalb.

A negro rapist was shot and killed while attempting to escape from officers near Birmingham last week.

Houston, the new postmaster at Birmingham denies that he is under any promise to give negroes clerkships in the Birmingham office.

The State Fair at Birmingham is not yet a certainty. Some financial embarrassment seems to have given the enterprise a black eye.

The Montgomery Exposition is being pushed to success and promises to eclipse anything of the kind ever held in the State.

A New York banker, Max Goldberg, has disappeared with $20,000 which had been deposited with him by poor people.

Dr. Wharton, of the First Baptist Church, Montgomery, was called to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church at Birmingham, but has declared his intention of remaining with the Montgomery Church.

The Alabama Farmer, the official organ of the State Farmer's Alliance, is to be moved to Birmingham and its management changed. The former editor, Hector D. Lane, says in his valedictory that he is a friend of the farmer, but he doesn't love even the poor farmers enough to desire a residence in the midst of "hell and the iron works." The move is made because the paper is not "paying its way."

Mrs. Emma Folsom, mother of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, was married at Jackson, Michigan, last Monday to Mr. Henry F. Perrine a wealthy merchant of Buffalo, New York. Mrs. Cleveland attended the wedding.

It is estimated that 72 American citizens are worth the colossal sum of $1,443,000,000. This is just $33,000,000 in excess of the total money circulation of the United States according to the last treasury statement.

The Tuscumbia Alabamian hit the VIEW recently on account of a typographical error. In describing a mite meeting in its town that paper says: "The grounds were brilliantly illuminated, and the large crowd of lads, asses and matrons present did ample justice to the bountiful supply of seasonable refreshments."

The Alabamian is now listening to the braying, so we let up.

Calling on The President.

Some of the Alabamians See Him and Some Do Not.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—In its articles on the President's callers to-day, the Star to-night says:—Alabama's volunteer Representatives here seem to be tireless. Some of them saw the President and some did not.

Among the latter were Chas. W. Buckley and Lewis E. Parsons, Jr. The latter is the son of Lewis E. Parsons, who was one of Andy Johnson's reconstruction Governors.

Mr. Buckley stated very frankly that he wanted to be Postmaster at Montgomery, but he did not care to displace the incumbent, who is, he says, a good official. The term expires very soon, however, and thereafter Mr. Buckley proposes to collect the box rents and sell green postage stamps.

The other Alabamians are supposed to be looking after the possibilities of the two United States Marshalships and the vacant place of District Attorney for the Northern District of the State.

The Alabama Republicans are watching the District Attorney fight with a great deal of interest. They feel that the appointment of Parsons as District Attorney or to any other office of prominence, would be a distinct recognition of the "White Movement," so called. It is claimed by the leaders of this movement that the appointment of Houston was not a recognition of the movement itself. Houston, they say, was a candidate for the Birmingham postoffice before the movement was begun and as that is purely a local office, they feel that it ought not to be counted as a recognition of the movement. They urge that Parsons is the only man put forward as distinctly a candidate of the Birmingham meeting and the result thereof, and that it is only reasonable that the movement shall be recognized to that extent. On the other hand it is claimed that the appointment of Parsons would really be no more a recognition of the movement than the appointment of many of the other prominently mentioned candidates for that place. Nearly all those who are in the race, they say are identified either directly or indirectly with the White Protection Club.

The New York Press has collected from the largest advertisers of the country their opinions about advertising. As all of them have advertised in every conceivable way, it is interesting to know that their testimony is unanimous to the point that the best advertising of all is by the newspapers. Here are some of the expressions taken from the different letters:

"Two dollars returned for every dollar spent in printer's ink has been the result of our investment in advertising space in the great dailies."

"Practically the only medium worth using is the newspaper."

"We find that newspaper advertising pays for the money expended."

"The only reliable medium for advertisers is through the columns of the public press."

"Newspaper advertisements are pre-eminently the economical form of reaching the multitude.

"Next in importance to having the goods is to let the public know it, and there is no better way than through the newspapers."

"Our experience teaches us that display advertising in the daily papers brings the results."

"It is our experience that advertising pays and our belief that newspaper advertising pays better than any other kind."

"The fact that we receive over 6,000 newspapers per week with our advertisements inserted indicates the kind of advertising we consider profitable."

These are expressions from some of the richest concerns in the country. They include dry goods men, manufactures, patent medicinesand general dealers, and are thoroughly representative. The conclusion they reach is impregnable.

The Farmers Alliance Convention recently assembled in Birmingham adopted the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That we, from all lights before us do insist upon the permanent use of cotton bagging as a covering for cotton.

2. Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed, whose actual expenses are to be paid from the treasury of the National organization, whose duty it shall be to secure from purchasers and manufacturers an allowance of at least eight pounds on each bale wrapped in cotton when sold.

3. Resolved, That in the event of any cotton-buyer refusing to grant the allowance above asked for we advise the membership not to sell until such concession is allowed.

Tax Sale.

STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY.

Under and by virtue of decrees rendered at the regular term of the Probate court of Chilton county, on the 13th day of May, 1889, by Hon. H. J. Callen, Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Ala., I will proceed to sell in front of the courthouse door in Clanton Alabama, between the legal hours of sale, on Monday, June 17th, 1889, the following described real estate for the taxes and costs due thereon for the year 1888:

BEAT TWO.

Mrs. Rebecca Busby, n ½ of n w q of n w q and n ½ of n e q of n w q, sec 6, t 23 r 14. State tax 15 cents, county tax 12 cents, cost and charges 50 cents. Total 77 cts. Printer's fee $3.98.

Calera Land Company, S ½ of n w q s ½ and n e q s 15 t 24 r 14, s w q and e ½ and e ½ of n w q s 17 t 24 r 14, w ½ of s w q and n ½ n w ½ of s w q s 19 t 24 r 14 e ½ of n w q n e q and s ½ of s 21 t 24 r 14 n e q, n ½ of s e q, s e q of s e q and w ½ of s 28 t 24 r 14, n e q, n ½ of s w q, s e q of s w q, s e q and n w q of s 25 t 24 r 14 all of s 27 t 24 r 14, the s w q the w ½ of n w q, the n e q and the e ½ of the s e q s 29 t 24 r 14, the n ½ of the n w q, the s w q of the s w q, the n e q of the s e q, the e ½ of n e q, the s w q of n e q s 31 t 24 r 14, n e q of s w ½ e ½ of s e q, n w q of n e q and s e q of n e q of s 35 t 24 r 14, e ½ of n w q, n w q of n w q, s thirty-five t twenty-four r fourteen, s e q of s e q s 13 t 24 r 13, all of s 35 t 24 r 13, n ½ of n e q s 27 t 24 r 12, n w q of s 15 t 24 r 13 n e q, s w q, e ½ of s e q and s w q of s e q s 25 t 24 r 13. State tax $62.50, county tax $50, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $113.00. Printer's fee $22.80.

Mrs. Nancy Sims, The e ½ of n w q the n w q of the n e q, the w ½ of the s e q and the s half of the s w q s 14 t t 23 r 12. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges 50 cts. Total $5. Pr's fee $4.60.

BEAT THREE.

Unknown owner, The n w ½ of the s e q sec 2 t 21 r 13. State tax $2.50, county tax $2, cost and charges $1, total $5.50. Printer's fee $3.30.

BEAT FOUR.

C. C. Mitchell, The s e q of the s e q s 35 t 23, r 15. State tax 25 cents, county tax 20 c, c & c $1, total $1.45. Pr's $3.30

BEAT FIVE.

Susan Melton, The n e q of the n e q s 32 t 21 r 16. Also one house and lot in Verbena. State tax 58 cents, county tax 46, cost and charges 50, total $1.54. Printer's fee $3.60

T. L. Jackson, One house and lot in Verbena. State tax 13 cents, county tax 10 cents, cost and charges 50 cents, total 73 cents. Printer's fee $2.60

W. H. Merritt, The n e q of the n e q s thirty-two t twenty-one r sixteen. State tax twenty-five cents, county tax twenty cents, cost and charges $1.00. Total $1.45. Printer's fee $3.40.

BEAT EIGHT.

M. F. Fuller, One house and lot in Clanton Ford. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 50 cts. Total 1.40. Printer's fee 2.90.

Greil & Kohn, The s w q of the n w q s 34 t twenty r 11. State tax 50 cents, county tax 40 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total 1.90. Printer's fee $3.85.

G. W. Harrison, The w ½ of s w q and s e q of s w q s 18 t twenty r 11. State tax 60 cts, county tax 48 cents, cost and charges 1.00. Total two dollars and eight cents. Printer's fee 3.70.

Unknown owner, the e ½ of the n e ½ and the s w q of the n e ½ and the n ½ of the s e q and the s half of the s w ½ of s 1 t 20 r 11. Total State and county taxes and costs $3.38. Printer's fee $5.00

B. M. GENTRY,
Tax Collector of Chilton Co.
Clanton, Ala., May 13, 1889.

TROUBLE AT GUTHRIE.

A House Built Within a Cordon of Bayonets.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. May 26.—A Times' special from Guthrie, Okl., says:

E. A. Weed claimant to a lot on first and Harrison streets, also claimed by M. Hayes, engaged a large force of men and began this morning to erect a building over and around the one held by the other claimant. The aggrieved party was soon reinforced by a large party of idlers, and at a preconcerted signal the frame of the building was picked up by the crowd and carried into the streets. In doing this part of the men carrying the frame in walking backward, stumbled over a pile of lumber, and the men and timbers were piled in a confused mass. While the disturbance was at its height, United States Marshal Needles arrived and commanded the crowd to disperse. He was opposed by argument by some of leaders. He at once secretly sent a messenger for troops one-half a mile off, and in order to hold the people in check until the soldiers arrived sent two deputies into the center of the crowd. During the next few minutes one or two fights of little consequence occurred, one of which was occasioned by a thief. There was much excitement at this time but as the blue coats were seen coming, the turbulent element quieted down and in five minutes the carpenters were at work with the military, under Lieutenant Poe, formed in a hollow square around the site of the proposed structure.

The Montgomery Dispatch says there is genuine philosophy in the subjoined, and it doesn't mind commending it.

The average woman walks further in a week than a drover, she stands on her feet more than a blacksmith, she defies the laws of health more than the Indian, and then wonders why she "isn't well like other folks."

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

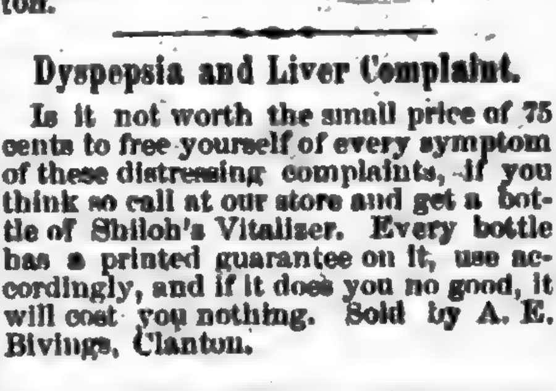
Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Register's Sale.

Mary E. Hamrick vs. James M. Huggins et. als.

By virtue of a decree rendered at the March term 1889, of the Chancery Court at Columbiana, of the sixth district of the Northeast Chancery Division of the State of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at Clanton, in Chilton county, on Monday, the 24th day of June, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following real estate, situated in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: The south half (s ½) of section fourteen (14) township twenty-three (23) range thirteen east (13 e).

D. R. McMILLAN,
Register in Chancery
May 20th 1889. Shelby Co. Ala.



Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
jel12-y

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Sick Headache

Is a complaint from which many suffer and few are entirely free. Its cause is indigestion and a sluggish liver, the cure for which is readily found in the use of Ayer's Pills.

"I have found that for sick headache, caused by a disordered condition of the stomach, Ayer's Pills are the most reliable remedy."—Samuel C. Bradburn, Worthington, Mass.

"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years, in my practice and family, I am justified in saying that they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. P. Austin & N. W. Railway Co., Burnet, Texas.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered stomach and liver. I suffered for over three years from headache, indigestion, and constipation. I had no appetite and was weak and nervous most of the time. By using three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured."—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kansas.

"I was troubled for years with indigestion, constipation, and headache. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, used in small daily doses, restored me to health. They are prompt and effective."—W. H. Strout, Meadville, Pa.

Ayer's Pills,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

tmal8

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

CLUB RATES:

We will send the VIEW and the Age-Herald one year for $2, and give each subscriber a ticket to the great gift distribution in July. We will send our paper and either of the Montgomery papers for one year at the same price.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
THE ONLY
ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.
CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED 1825.
mar30-6

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

The Lawson Carpet Co.

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-clothes, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

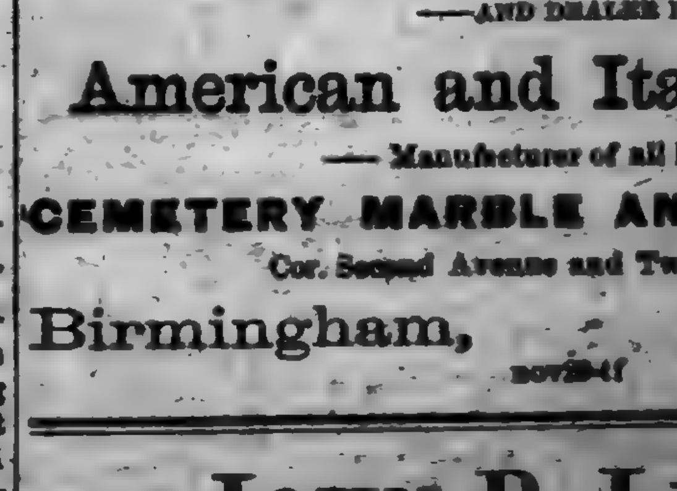
BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,



WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER

H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
— Manufacturer of all kinds of —
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, Alabama.
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWARE.
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street
Birmingham, Ala.
12 20 6

arpet Co.
, Ala.
the attention of ty to their large stock of indow Shades,
old Novelties.
, and prices are guaranteed as tern markets.
mail. Respectfully,
RPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

ORTER.
PEEBLES.)
UGGISTS.
Receive Prompt At
RS A SPECIALTY
th and 20th STREETS,
, Ala.
Company's Prices.
June 19 y

OSHEE, KOSHEE,) roceries
CHANDISE.
labama.
al patronage heretofore
ly,
THOMAS FOSHEE.

M,
gomery, Ala.
LOR ROOMS,
s. Scouring and dying
urt Street.

APER,
WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—ACTICAL PAPER HANGER
CHA,
OMERY, ALABAMA.
m 10 cents up. Will send
apr 11-y

BLE WORKS.
HOLT, ORKMAN,
lian Marble.
inds of —
STONE WORK
nty-Fourth Street,
Alabama.

EEPER,
Dealer in
, BLINDS,
RDWARE.
e. and 22d Street
, Ala.

GO TO BLANK BROS. LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 30, 1889.

The VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continues three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continues two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.

—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	8:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

New seats will be placed in the Methodist Church very soon.

Mr. West, of Montgomery, visited Mr. O. A. Duke this week.

Col. W. S. Thorington was in Clanton on professional business Monday.

Miss Laura Sankey, of Montgomery county, is visiting relatives in our town.

Miss Minnie Phillips has been visiting Dr. Green's family in Montgomery.

Mr. J. F. Stough, Jr., of Montgomery, spent Sunday with friends in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Holt have returned home after a pleasant visit to Meridian, Miss.

Mrs. L. Holt, after spending some time with relatives in Sumpter county, returned home last Tuesday.

The merchants in Clanton are doing a good advancing trade. Cash trade is getting dull.

We learn from Prof. A. J. Scott that the District Teachers Institute will be held at Clanton in September.

In Bibb county the small amount of property advertised for taxes is attributed to the deficient assessment of real estate by the assessor.

A. D. Bentley, Esq., of Rockford, spent several days in our town the past week filling appointments announced.

Mrs. M. Dejarnette and children returned home Wednesday morning after spending a pleasant time in Montgomery.

The long dry spell we understand has about ruined the oat crop in this section. A dry May foretells a good year for other crops.

The picnic given last Friday by the Methodist Sunday school was quite a success notwithstanding the warm weather and dust.

Mr. Goodgame, father of Mr. John Goodgame, of Clanton, died in the Jumbo neighborhood on last Friday at the advanced age of 90 years.

Mr. W. F. Claughton, at Verbena, says in a letter to us that he wants some planting peas; that he cannot get any. Those who have them for sale can find purchasers in Mr. Claughton's neighborhood.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at low prices for cash. Shoes for spring trade now in. Groceries go all the year, the present is no exception. Everything guaranteed as represented. Fair dealing at fair prices is my plan for holding trade, and my sales will prove that the people are treated well. Give me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Mrs. J. B. Boykin, of Pratt Saw Mill, spent Sunday with her parents here.

Governor Seay has appointed Mr. P. R. McCary constable in beat five of this county.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society had a called meeting last Monday for the purpose of taking steps to raise money enough to have the seats put up.

Prof. R. D. Acker, of Verbena, has closed his school and he is now engaged in canvasing for Johnson's Cyclopedia. Prof. Acker will not re-open his school at Verbena next session.

Mr. Jonathan Bice was a sufferer from fire at his coaling at Bice's switch about a week since. Sparks from a passing train set his platform and a car loaded with charcoal on fire and they were entirely destroyed.

Would you not be willing to make some personal sacrifice of time and money to see Chilton county take on new life and growth? No one man can do anything. Unity of work has done much in other sections and would do much for us.

The residence known as the Callen house and several town lots adjoining were sold at Chancery saloon Monday and the only bidder was Mr. Adam Schuessler whose bid was $500. The property was knocked down to him as administrator of the heirs of the late Moses Simmons.

Card of Thanks.

Strasburg, Ala.,
May 23d 1889.

ED. CHILTON VIEW:—Please allow me through your good paper to say God bless and help the good friends who so kindly came to my aid in rebuilding my dwelling house which was burned not long since. They came to the front with money and labor and I am on my feet again. J. W. MADDOX.

The value of a remedy should be estimated by its curative properties. According to this standard, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best and most economical blood medicine in the market, because the most pure and concentrated. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of Clanton High School will take place on the 5th and 6th of June. Examination of primary classes June 5th commencing 9 a. m. Exercises at 8. p. m. at the court house. Examination of higher classes Thursday, June 6th, commencing at 9 a. m. Closing exercises at 8 p. m. at the court house.

All are cordially invited to attend.

Heard her Funeral Preached.

Squire Jesse R. Jones mentions Mrs. Goss, who resides some miles east of Clanton, as being over 90 years of age. He and Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Episcopal church, can recall that about fifty years ago she was at the point of death and to gratify her supposed last wish she was taken to church on a cot by her relatives that she might hear her funeral preached before she died. The furneral sermon was preached and the object of it is still living.

The following fable told by an Eastern exchange contains a suggestive moral:

Down in Indiana a man went out hunting. While he was out there came up a big rain and he sought shelter in a hollow log. The log soon became soaked with water and swelled until the aperture was too small for the man to get out again. There he was in a dilemma. He quickly reviewed his past life, and when he began to remember that he was not a subscriber to his town paper he felt so small that he crawled out of the log without any trouble.

Twin Calves.

The Stanton correspondent of the Age-Herald says: "Two of Capt. A. A. Dyer's children went out to the cow pen yesterday morning and ran back to the house, reporting a new calf to an older brother, who bet them $1 that they were mistaken, and to prove it went to see. Reaching the pen he found that the cow had given birth to twins. He then went back and bet the first two $1 that the cow had two calves. The bet was accepted and all went out to decide it, and sure enough the cow did have two strong healthy and beautiful little heifer calves. Your correspondent went around to see them being something unusual.

Stanton Notes.

Your correspondent attended the marriage of his daughter in Uniontown last week was the reason you had no news from this place.

Rain is needed very much and farmers are beginning to look blue, but we are told a dry May for a good crop and why not clean it out and look for rain in June.

I am sorry to see that Gen. Roger A. Pryor has declined to deliver the address before the bar association of this State because of some slanders circulated against him by certain parties wholly ignorant of his course during the war. The writer knew Gen. Pryor well and is well acquainted with the circumstances that brought about the discussion and charges made against his reputation as a soldier and patriot. The writer had two brothers in the same company with Gen. P., and numerous other relatives who will testify to the true patriotism and undaunted courage of this manly soldier, and I will state that he did what I don't believe any other Brigadier General in either army would have done, i. e., to resign as a general and go into ranks and fight as a private.

The new Methodist Church is nearing completion and will be quite an accession to our town when completed. Our Mr. C. W. Plant and Capt. A. A. Dyer are the men to push things through when they start to work.

The commencement exercises of the Stanton Institute will take place June 14th proximo. All are invited.

Weather-Crop Bulletin.

A slight fall of rain occurred in north Alabama during the week, but it was too limited to be of lasting benefit to the crop. In all other sections of the state the dry weather and cool nights have continued throughout the week with serious results to all crops and fruits.

The yield of strawberries was greatly shortened and vegetables have been damaged. In some sections the oats planted in spring have been almost destroyed. The cool weather and want of rain have held back the cotton plant and its growth has not been as rapid as is desired. The dry weather, however, has enabled the farmers to kill the grass and put the land in excellent condition when the rain does come. Corn has not suffered as much as other crops.

The weather has been favorable for the rapid increase of insects.

P. H. MELL, Director.

Live It Down.

Has your life a bitter sorrow?
  Live it down.
Think about a bright to-morrow,
  Live it down.
You will find it never pays
Just to sit, wet-eyed and gaze
On the grave of vanished days;
  Live it down.

Is disgrace your galling burden?
  Live it down.
You can win a brave heart's guerdon;
  Live it down.
Make your life so free from blame,
That the lustre of your fame
Shall hide all the olden shame;
  Live it down.

Has your heart a secret trouble?
  Live it down.
Useless griefs will make it double,
  Live it down.
Do not water it with tears—
Do not feed it with your fears—
Do not nurse it through the years—
  Live it down.

Have you made some awful error?
  Live it down.
Do not hide your face in terror;
  Live it down.
Look the world square in the eyes
Go ahead as one who tries
To be honorable ere he dies;
  Live it down.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A dry, hacking cough keeps the bronchial tubes in a state of constant irritation, which, if not speedily removed, may lead to bronchitis. No prompter remedy can be had than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which is both an anodyne and expectorant.

Judge Green Departs From the Friday Custom of Hanging.

BIRMINGHAM, May 22—[Special.]—Henry Smith, white who murdered J. D. Conley at Haywood's Cross Roads last year, was convicted to-day in the Criminal Court of murder in first degree with the punishment of death. This makes two white men and one colored woman in the jail here under the sentence of death. Judge Green pronounced the death sentence on Minnie Moses, the negress recently convicted of Highway robbery, and fixed the date of execution Thursday, June 27. This will be the first time in Alabama when a legal execution took place on any other day than Friday. It was custom, not law, which fixed Friday, and Judge Green makes the first break.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvel one cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Bring your job printing to this office.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of the VIEW will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75. ma16-m

Meeting of State Alliance.

The State alliance has been invited to hold their annual meeting at Auburn, Lee county. This is where the State Agricultural College is located, and in all respects, a most suitable locality. The committee has decided to accept the invitation and Auburn will be the rendezvous.

During the term of court just ended Mr. J. O. Scruggs, refused to submit to the grand jury for examination, his record of sales of whiskey on prescription, on the ground that the provision of law requiring such submission is unconstitutional. Judge Sprott was appealed to and he decided in favor of Scruggs; saying that no one can be compelled to produce evidence tending to criminate himself; adding, however that if in investigating a case the grand jury desired the submission to them of any particular prescription, it would have to be produced.—Livingston Journal.

The Lawson Carpet Co., of Birmingham have a new and attractive advertisement in the VIEW to which attention is directed.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

We have a speedy and positive cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, in Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. A Nasal Injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton, Ala.

HELP IN TIME OF NEED.

When a man is drowning he will grasp at straws, but straws will not save him. Extend to him a life-boat and his rescue is certain.

Mr. James A. Greer, of Athens, Ga., (endorsed by the editor of the Athens Banner-Watchman) makes the following statement:

"I am first cousin of the late Ex-Governor Alexander H. Stephens, and have been postal clerk on different railroads since 1866. For ten years I have CANCER been a sufferer from a cancer on my face, which grew worse until the discharge of matter became profuse and very offensive. I became thoroughly disgusted with blood purifiers and pronounced them humbugs, as I had tried many without relief.

Finally I was induced to use Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) The offensive discharge decreased at once and the hardness disappeared. It became less and less in size, until nothing remains except a scar. I gained flesh and strength, and all who have seen me bear testimony. I cannot say too much in its praise."

A. H. Morris, Pine Bluff, Ark., writes:

"Hot Springs failed entirely to cure me of several terrible, indolent running ulcers on my legs, with which I have been troubled for many years. Several doctors also attempted to cure me but failed. I

HOT SPRINGS have only used a few bottles of B. B. B. (made in Atlanta, Ga.) and the effect has been truly magical, as they have all healed and I am cured after everything failed. My general health is also improving, appetite and digestion good. I sleep soundly, and never felt better. Doctors told me that I could not be cured.

I refer to every merchant or professional man of Pine Bluff.

Any one interested who desires to know more about the wonderful merit of B. B. B., will please send address to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for their illustrated "Book of Wonders."

[sep27 ew 1y]

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[ma15 y]

NOTICE NO. 5780.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16818 for the n w ¼ of section 28, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Bales, John Hendley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9 J. C. [illegible], Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS
Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS,
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses,
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ly

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. G. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, [illegible], SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c. &c. LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson Drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BOYKIN.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastle, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
Correspondence solicited.
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINTS, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than pills.
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all, but will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.
(Successors to Wm. Condell,) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine.
If you have a Cough without disease of the lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
Piso's Remedy for Catarrh gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's Remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.
nov21-y

ALLEN'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES
[illegible]

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

TO PRESERVE THE HEALTH OF HORSES.

The best treatment of disease is to prevent it by judicious attention to keep the animals in health and avoid injuries which may result in disorder of the joints. The food should be given in moderation and regularly, and never when the horse is weary from hard work, and water should be considered as food. Water should never be given directly after feeding, but always a few minutes before, affording time for it to be absorbed. The coat should be thoroughly carded and brushed to keep the skin in good condition twice a day. The shoes should be flat and without calks always, if possible, thus avoiding wrenches and sprains, which produce disease of the joints and limbs. Exposure to cold rains, or cold wind when the animals are heated, are to be avoided. If the owner of a horse would think of these things as he does for himself or his children, or, in fact, a little more and better, there would be fewer diseased horses. Lastly, an unsound or diseased animal should never be used for breeding.—New York Times.

A WORD FOR DUCKS.

It is now the season of the year when the value of a good flock of ducks should be impressed upon the farmer. Most people think that ducks are fearful eaters and that they cannot exist without water. A farmer who has tried the experiment of raising a flock, and allowed it to destroy all the water on the farm, is convinced that he has made a great mistake, and when fall comes kills all his duck, and no amount of persuasion can induce him to have any more ducks upon his place. How different his views on the subject would have been had he made a good pen and kept his ducks as he does, or should, keep his sheep and cattle, and given them only water enough every day to drink. Ducks do not need a pond, and can be very profitably raised without any swimming place. A number of farmers have told me that their farms did not make expenses. I always ask do they pay any attention to fowl, and in ninety and nine cases out of one hundred they will say "No."

No more profitable fowl can be raised than ducks. Not only on account of their quick maturity, but from the large number of eggs a duck will lay and the immense flocks that can be raised from a very small breeding pen.

As hens make better mothers than ducks, the latter can be kept laying, and frequently lay from 180 to 200 eggs in one season. If a farmer has a boy or girl, even ten years old, let him get a few settings of duck eggs, set them under his hens and promise the child one-half the money received. Make a board pen, with a large dry goods box for a house,—a pen ten feet square will be large enough for thirty duck—and you will not be thinking how you will procure money enough to buy him an overcoat or more and new schoolbooks for next winter. Make a watertight box deep enough for them to wade, but not swim in, and give them fresh water twice a day, and they will prove a mine of profit instead of a nuisance.—New York Herald.

DRAGS FOR SMOOTHING FLOWED LAND.

Many farmers prefer drags to rollers for smoothing the surface of fields when seeded to grass, especially when the land is comparatively free from stones. These drags are made of hardwood planks, two or two and one-half inches in thickness, and about a foot in width. The width of the drag must be adapted to the strength of the team, or from six to eight feet. Four such planks will be sufficient. These planks should be lapped upon each other about two inches, and should be bolted to a couple of bed pieces on the top of the drag. These bed pieces should be about four inches in width and two in thickness. The forward end of each should be turned up something like the forward end of a sled runner. The angle, however, should be less than that of a sled runner, or only enough to raise the upper edge of the forward plank some four inches from the ground, when the drag lies upon a flat surface. This will enable it to glide over the clods and crush them or bury them in the soil. After getting the measurement of the planks, and making allowance for lapping them two inches, bolt the rear edge of the plank, which is to form the hind end of the drag, to the bed pieces above mentioned. Lay the next plank with the rear edge lapped two inches upon the front of the first plank; bore through the two planks and the bed pieces with a three-fourths inch augur, and bolt them solid. Put on the other planks in the same manner until the drag is completed. The device for attaching the whiffle-trees or chain for drawing the drag should be nearly on a level with the bottom plank. By boring a two-inch hole from the top of the bed pieces through the centre of the forward plank, short pieces of chain can be arranged which will make a convenient attachment for fastening the team to the drag. If the drag is not sufficiently heavy to accomplish the desired result it can be weighted with any convenient object.—Boston Cultivator.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Don't plant beans yet, that is, unless you live in the South.

A shingle roof is far better than felt or tar paper, and in the long run the cheapest.

Don't forget to get onion seed in as soon as the ground will work up nice and fine.

An apple orchard when it gets to be forty years of age, has passed beyond its glory.

A strong point in the Plymouth Rocks and Brahmas, is that they are very hardy fowls.

If you set out tomato plants—look out for frosts for awhile and cover the plants at night.

Sow grass seed early in the spring on the knolls in the pasture and on thin spots in the field.

Keeping Meat Fresh.

The Japanese keep meat fresh, in hot weather, by placing the raw flesh in porcelain vessels and pouring on it boiling water, covering the surface of the [illegible]

The First American Postmistress.

The first American postmistress was the widow of Colonel Andrew Balfour, of those revolutionary times in the days of our good and great President, Washington. She was a Miss Elizabeth Dayton, of Newport, R. I. Balfour came to America from Edinburg, Scotland, in 1772, landing at Boston. He was a few years in the North—married Miss Dayton in New York city. His brother had preceded him to Charleston, S. C. In 1777 he sailed for Charleston, but the distracted state of the country induced him to leave his wife and her children with relations in New England until he could prepare a Southern home for them, but soon after this the tide of war turned South and rolled its wave over the Carolinas, and her husband cast in his lot with the defenders of the home of his adoption (North Carolina); but he soon fell a victim to the barbarity of a party of Royalists led by Colonel Fannin, a British officer, who murdered Balfour in his house, in the presence of a sister and his eldest child, recently come from Edinburgh. They were with him to nurse and comfort him in his illness, caused by exposure and fatigue in military service. Soon as Mrs. Balfour heard of her husband's tragic death, she hastened South, coming in care of General Greene, who landed at Washington; from thence it was a tedious trip through the country to the home in Randolph County where her noble husband was murdered on the holy Sabbath, the 10th of March, 1782. She visited the spot where he was so hastily interred, for it was unsafe for his sister and child to remain long there, as Fannin threatened to return and burn the dwelling and take away the negroes. As the country was still unsafe, Mrs. Balfour deemed it improper to live upon the plantation. With sorrow she turned away from his lonely resting-place, and went to Salisbury until she could return to the spot so dear to her.

While residing in Salisbury President Washington appointed her postmistress, which position was filled with entire satisfaction, and when she gave up office there was only one-half a cent behind in accounts. When the country was peaceful she returned to the home provided for her by her noble but lost husband. She lived under the protecting love of her only son.

After a long life of good deeds, she rests beside him who was murdered because of his devotion to Carolina's freedom, and to the American cause in the days that "tried men's souls" and principles, too.—Sunny South.

"The Second Jonah."

George Leonard, an Acting Master in the United States Navy during the Civil War, and stationed on board the gunboat Katahdin, West Gulf blockading squadron, in 1863, told a story of heroism, and exhibited marks on his body that corroborated his words. The year 1850 found Leonard as one of the crew of the ship Enterprise, a whaler, in the North Pacific. One day he was stationed in the bow of a whale-boat a long distance from the ship with a brave crew, who had sighted a whale, and made for the monster with all possible dispatch. When within proper distance Leonard threw his harpoon, striking the fish hard and deep. In some manner the line, as it was running out, caught the body of one of the men in such a way as to throw him overboad. The man suddenly sank, whereupon Leonard transferred his line to a boatmate and sprang into the ocean in aid of the drowning sailor

The whale, now maddened by his fast-flowing blood, made a rush for the boat. Remarkable and horrible to relate, Leonard's friend had managed to regain the boat, while he himself was caught by the whale between its jaws, his position being inside the monster's mouth, with nothing protruding but one of his arms. In this manner the man was in reality within the jaws of death itself. The whale instantly plunged down into the deep, and in the words of Leonard himself, "The fish seemed to be going down, down into eternity itself." The imprisoned man, after all of this had not lost his presence of mind. He mustered his entire bodily strength—and he was a powerful man—actually bracing himself in such a position as to compel the fish to spread its jaws, at the same time, with his arm that was free, he grabbed the sheath knife out of its socket, cutting right and left. No sooner was there a sufficient opening made than Leonard forced his body outside.

Up to the surface he swam, when, most strange to say, he found himself within an arm's length of his boat. He was saved. The marks of the whale's violence and the dents of its teeth were very plainly visible on Leonard's arms, and he was always pointed out by his brother naval officers as "The Second Jonah."—Philadelphia Press.

Practices of Russian Police.

Great numbers of runaway criminal exiles die, freeze to death, or are killed in Siberia every year, and the finding of the dead body of an unknown man in the neighborhood of a village is a common occurrence. In one village the peasants told me that they never reported the finding of a dead body to the police officer of their district. It always cost them money in some way when they did, and they therefore either buried it qu[illegible] and said nothing about it, or carried it at night to the outskirts of some other village and let it be found there. The Eastern Review reports a case in which a dead body was put into a prison cell with living prisoners and kept there until it became so offensive that the other occupants of the cell were ready to pay for its removal.

The methods of obtaining money that are practiced by police officials are not all so ghastly and repulsive as this, although many of them are quite as original. I knew one case where a district chief of police, in the midst of the wheat harvest, notified thirty or forty peasants to come to the police office on important business the following day at 2 o'clock. They obeyed the order and found the assedatel dressed in full uniform, with three or four huge quarto volumes of the Svod Zakonof, or collection of Russian laws, lying on the table in front of him. He said to the peasants that he had received orders from the higher authorities to instruct the people of his district in the laws of the Empire, and that he had called them together for the purpose of reading to them regulations that the Gosudar (Gō-soo-dar) desired every true Russian to know. He then opened one of the big quartos, read unintelligible laws to these unhappy peasants all the afternoon, and notified them to come around the next morning for another lesson. Before bedtime that night the peasants sent a deputation to him to ask him how much he would take to let them off [illegible]

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

A SOFT VOICE.

We agree with that old poet who said that a low, soft voice was an excellent thing in woman. Indeed, we feel inclined to go much further than he has on the subject and call it one of her crowning charms. No matter what other attractions she may have; she may be as fair as the Trojan Helen, and as learned as the famous Hypatia of ancient times; she may have all the accomplishments considered requisite at the present day, and every advantage that wealth may procure, and yet if she lack a low, sweet voice she can never be really fascinating. How often the spell of beauty is broken by loud, coarse talking. How often you are irresistibly drawn to a plain, unassuming woman, whose soft, silvery tones render her positively attractive. Beside, we fancy we can judge of the character by the voice; the bland, smooth, fawning tone seems to us to betoken deceit and hypocrisy as invariably as the musical, subdued voice indicates a genuine refinement. In the social circle how pleasant it is to hear a woman talk in that low key which always characterizes the true lady! In the sanctuary of home how such a voice soothes the fretful temper and cheers the weary husband! How sweetly such cadences float through the sick chamber and around the dying bed! With what solemn melody do they breathe a prayer for a departing soul.—American Analyst.

THE CENTURY'S CHANGE IN WOMEN.

Of all the changes which have taken place in the hundred years of the life of the Republic, one which is very marked is never spoken of—the revolution in the fashionable shape of women's shoulders. Look at Blythe's portrait of Mrs. John Adams, painted when she was twenty-two, the one with the triple string of pearls about the throat. The shoulders are curved downward in a full oval. Girls in her day were trained to let their arms hang pendant, to depress the shoulders and to poise the head high up on a swan-like neck. Look at the painting of Lady Kitty Duer, the friend of Mrs. John Jay and one of the belles of the inauguration ball. The points of her shoulders drop downward until the line of the arms seem only a continuation of the line of neck and shoulders. Look at Mrs. John Jay herself, the wonderful American beauty, who looked so much like Marie Antoinette that the audience in a Paris theatre once rose to their feet to do her royal honor. She had sloping shoulders, and so had pretty Mrs. James Beekman, who served President Washington with lemonade gathered in his presence from her own lemon trees. Could you find a sloping shoulder to-day? Fashion no longer considers the long, drooping line elegant or beautiful, and, fashion, within a comparatively recent period, has evolved, by accelerated development, the full, square, high shoulder, bigger framed, smacking of the gymnasium, which is the present ideal. Square shoulders are almost universal.—Macon Telegraph.

CHINESE WOMEN.

The popular idea of the Chinaman at home is that he has eyes like a half-moon, that he passes his time in smoking opium, offering rice and sweetmeats on the altar of his joss, and attending to the burial of the bones of his relatives sent over from the United States. Of the Chinese women, the popular impression among us barbarians is that she is a helpless, inane, doll-like creature, with feet pinched to the size of an English walnut, and with no brains, energy or practical value.

A French resident of China presents a very different view of the Chinese men and women. He asserts that the women are not at all the feeble, illiterate slaves they are thought to be by the remainder of the world. In fact, the pictures which he draws of the women are charming, and might serve as models to be studied with advantage by the women of other countries. The Chicago Herald translates a summary, which is full of interest:

"Closed in her home, the Chinese wife talks little, but is active in certain duties. She fulfills in the silence of her home her duties as wife and mother; aids her husband or son with her counsel, often more prudent and wise than the decisions of the men.

"The Government does not hesitate to recognize and reward this kind of merit in a woman. Titles are conferred on her, giving her the right in some instances to wear a uniform. In the absence of her husband, if an official, she is allowed in a case of urgency to transact his business and decide as she deems best.

"Emancipated by our private and public customs, she has no cause to clamor for emancipation; she holds by the side of her husband a place so important that she has no ambition for anything higher. Nature intended man and woman to unite their forces and to work in common. What more beautiful destiny is there than that of one who devotes her grace and intelligence to a home of obscurity?

"There are many Chinese women who have attained individual fame. From antiquity to the present time China celebrates the existence of its heroines, its historians, its poetesses and its authors; but never has it had a female politician."

FASHION NOTES.

Parasol handles are quite long this season.

The black-lace dress is declining in popularity.

All Paris gowns for evening wear are with trains.

New corduroys are beautifully soft and velvety.

Tulle hats will be much worn with evening dresses.

There are many transparent tissues among summer fabrics.

Linen collars and cuffs are only worn with tailor made gowns.

Very large meshed net is used for entire costumes of black net.

Tan gloves and tan stockings and tan suede shoes are worn with both black and colored dresses.

"Wash silks" for ladies' and children's underwear cost only a dollar a yard, and they are a yard wide.

A triple, or quadruple cape, with a [illegible]

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Never worry or overwork.

Learn to put truth forcibly.

Watch the methods that win.

Keep your eyes and ears wide open.

It is a strange salt fish that no water can freshen.

A capon eight months old is fit for a King's table.

The vicious reproving vice are like the raven chiding blackness.

Choose brave employment with a naked sword throughout the world.

Live to-day—to-morrow may be too late—the wise lived yesterday.

Whatsoever was the father of a disease, an ill diet was the mother.

Truth is as impossible to be soiled by any outward touch as the sunbeam.

Contentment swells a mite into a talent, and makes the poor richer than the Indies.

A good trade is something which bank failures or commercial panics do not destroy.

When we fail to faithfully reprove a sinful act, we lose our power over the one who commits it.

If you have built castles in the air your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundations under them.

The greatest of fools is he who imposes on himself, and in his greatest concern thinks certainly he knows that which he has least studied, and of which he is most profoundly ignorant.

Strong thoughts are iron nails driven in the mind that nothing can draw out. Although it is dangerous to have too much knowledge of certain subjects, it is still more dangerous to be totally ignorant of them. Rest satisfied with doing well, and leave others to talk of you as they please.

Printing Postage Stamps.

The method of printing postage stamps is as follows: The printing is done from steel plates, on which two hundred stamps are engraved, and the paper used is of a peculiar texture, somewhat resembling that employed for bank notes. Two men cover the plates with the colored inks and pass them to a man and a girl, who print them with large rolling hand presses. Three of these little squads are employed all the time, although ten presses can be put in operation if necessary. The colors used in the inks are ultramarine blue, Prussian blue, chrome yellow, and Prussian blue (green), vermillion and carmine. After the sheets of paper on which the two hundred stamps are engraved have been dried they are sent to another room and gummed. The gum used is made of the powder of dried potatoes and other vegetables mixed with water. Gum arabic is not desirable, because it cracks the paper badly. The sheets are gummed separately; they are placed back upward upon a flat wooden support, the edges being protected by a metalic frame, and the gum is applied with a wide brush. After having been again dried, this time on little racks, which are fanned by steam power for about an hour, they are put in between sheets of pasteboard, and pressed between hydraulic presses, capable of applying a weight of two thousand tons. The sheets are next cut in halves; each sheet, of course, when cut contains a hundred stamps. This is done by a girl with a little pair of shears, cutting by hand being preferred to that of machinery, which method would destroy too many stamps. They are then passed to the perforating machine. The perforations between the stamps are effected by passing the sheets between two cylinders provided with a series of raised bands which are adjusted to a distance apart equal to that required between the rows of perforations. Each ring on the upper cylinder has a series of cylindrical projections which fit corresponding depressions in the hands of the lower cylinder; by these the perforations are punched out, and by a simple contrivance the sheet is detached from the cylinders in which it has been conduted by an endless band. The rows running longitudinally of the paper are first made, and then, by a similar machine the transversed ones. This perforating-machine was invented and patented by a Mr. Arthur, in 1852, and was purchased by the Government for $20,000. The sheets are next dressed once more, and then packed and labeled and stowed away in another room, preparatory to being put up in mail-bags for dispatching to fulfil orders. If a single stamp is torn, or in any way multilated, the whole sheet of one hundred is burned. Five hundred thousand are burned every week from this cause. The sheets are counted no less than eleven times during the process of manufacturing, and so great is the care taken in counting, that not a single sheet has been lost during the past twenty years.—New York Dispatch.

The Missing Coupon.

The Chemical Bank was the scene of a unique little incident the other day, when Mrs. Hetty Green, one of the wealthiest women in America, dropped into the establishment for the purpose of clipping the coupons from a million-dollar batch of bonds. She was accompanied by her six-feet-four husband, and after completing the work the couple started for home. As they were about closing the reticule containing the clipped coupons one of the little two-by-two-inch papers was found to be missing. The news was communicated to the President, cashier and clerical staff. The detective of the bank was just barring the doors to prevent the escape of the bold coupon thief when Mrs. Green came tripping down the stairway wiping the tears from her eyes. The missing coupon had been discovered sticking to the heel of Mr. Green's boot, and its recovery again restored her equilibrium and permitted the bank to resume its normal condition.—New York Star.

The Lord of the Scilly Islands.

"I am monarch of all I survey," announced Alexander Selkirk, on his Robinson Crusoe island, and no doubt his authority and power was greater and more undisputed than that of many of the Kings and Queens. Indeed, should we want a modern man with whom to compare him, we would not look for him on a throne, but may find him in a person of the name of Smith—Colonel Smith Dorrien Smith, Lord Proprietor of the Scilly Islands, in the English Channel.

He leases the islands [illegible]

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Red stone from Arizona is now used to some extent in California for building purposes.

The invention of a "bicycle locomotive," which will "create a revolution in railroading," is announced.

It is stated that mercury extracted from cinnabar ore mined in California is most highly prized by the manufacturers of thermometers.

It is estimated that Niagara Falls will recede two miles and then remain stationary, their height at that point being eighty feet, instead of 164, as at present.

Professor D. M. Wade, of Early County, Ga., has discovered a new species of rattlesnake. It lurks in trees and pounces down upon the unsuspecting hunter or fisherman. Its bite is very dangerous.

At Thompsonville, Mass., the water obtained by the water company from eight springs is found to be so absolutely pure that steam boilers supplied with it for three years have kept perfectly clear of sediment or crust during the entire time.

A couple of jackals have been added to the Philadelphia "Zoo." These little animals, which are known in their native country as "lion providers," had hardly been placed in their cage, in a wing of the lion and tiger house, before the lions set up a roar of welcome.

Observations upon the sway of tall chimneys during high winds show that one of 115 feet in height and 4 feet in total diameter at the top waved 20 inches during a heavy gale, and another 164 feet high, but with a 6¼ feet diameter of flue, moved through an arc of only 6¼ inches.

A tablespoonful or more of powdered borax thrown into the bath-tub while bathing will communicate a velvety softness to the water, and at the same time invigorate and rest the bather. Persons troubled with nervousness or wakeful nights will find this kind of a bath a great benefit.

Cigar boxes are supposed to be made of Spanish cedar, but there is not enough of the wood grown for the purpose, and nearly all the boxes used by American cigarmakers are made from West Virginia poplar. The wood is sawed up into thin boards, and the cigarmakers dye them brown with cedar extract, which gives them the proper color and odor.

There is a place near Belfast, in the North of Ireland, where bauxite, a kind of mineral earth from which alum is procured, is mined. The miners who work there twelve hours a day up to the waist in water receive less than $4.50 a week. The bauxite was discovered about seven years ago by Alexandre Sutherland, a scientist, who bought a lease of the ground and started the mines.

The Paris Municipal Council offers a prize of $2000 to the inventor of the most reliable system of computing the quantities of electric light used, and five other prizes of $400. If any system is only applicable to a continuous or to an alternative current, half the money will be given. The city of Paris will consider itself entitled to the full ownership of all the inventions which may gain prizes.

A new substance called kelgum has been invented as a substitute for rubber. The name comes from the first syllable of the inventor (Henry Kellogg, of New Haven) and the word which represents his invention. It is reported that this kelgum is waterproof and will not harden or crack, and is especially adapted for textile fabrics. It is produced by removing the unctuous matter from vegetable oil so that a gummy residium is left.

If the condensed breath collected on the windows or walls of a room that several people have been occupying were assembled and burned it would give off a smell like singed hair, thus showing the presence of organic matter. If it were left for a few days and then examined under the microscope it would be found to be putrescent and alive with animalculæ. In such a condition is would form a powerful factor in promoting disease, but it can always be got rid of by the free circulation of fresh air through the room.

White House Hygienics.

The White House is carefully attended to every year, and the filling-up of the flats at the back of the house has done away with the malarial influence from that quarter. It deserves now, just as much as it ever did, the encomiums that cautious Tom Moore passed on it—almost the only thing he found in this country to praise; and the great country house upon which it is modeled—that of Duke of Leinster—is considered one of the finest in Great Britain. When Munkacsy, the Hungarian painter, was in Washington, he went into raptures over the architectural beauty of the building, declaring the proportions were among the most correct of any he had ever seen. As for the cramped five bedrooms, there are in reality six, and they are all perfectly huge, with high ceilings, great mantels and heavy, old-fashioned windows, out of which the most charming views are visible. They all open on a large corridor, the size of the state corridor downstairs, and on the whole it seems rather ridiculous that people who were yesterday plain American citizens, and to-morrow will be plain American citizens, should not be able to make themselves comfortable in the house that Abigail Adams thought palatial.—Boston Transcript.

Wonders of the Camera.

The peculiar rythmical effects which accompany discharges of powder and of nitro-glycerine compounds have been elaborately investigated by the aid of photography. It has also been suggested that careful photographs, taken of steel and timber just at the point of rupture under a breaking load, would conduce to our knowledge of the complicated subject of elasticity.

The lightning flash can be investigated. Dr. Koenig, in a recent communication to the Physical Society of Berlin, states that he has photographed a cannon ball which was moving at a rate of 1300 feet per second. The ball was projected in front of a white screen and occupied one-fortieth of a second in its passage. Muybridge has photographed the motions of limping people, and has thus given surgeons the materials for a study of lameness. It is said, moreover, that photography often reveals incipient eruptive diseases which are not visible to the eye. [illegible]

A COMMON-SENSE LETTER.

To THE EDITOR:—I see that newspaper articles are again making their appearance calling attention to matters pertaining to health as well as to the means whereby disease may be removed and good health preserved. I am thereby reminded that I have received from time to time, pamphlet publications issued by the well-known firm of H. H. Warner & Co., which dwell upon the history and growth of kidney diseases; showing how such is the cause of consumption, heart, brain and nervous disorders, which can only be successfully treated by removing the primary disease from the kidneys. At the same time care is taken to remind the reader that Warner's Safe Cure is the only means whereby the physician or the individual can successfully prevent and cure this class of disease.

Whilst I have personal cause to feel grateful to Warner's Safe Cure, for the benefit which I derived from it when suffering from kidney troubles last Spring, I cannot see, since that remedy is already so well known in every household, why the parties interested in its manufacture should continue to expend money in calling attention to what the public already knows so well. I am aware, Mr. Editor, that the members of the medical profession are seldom disposed to give due credit to proprietary medicines, but public confidence is likely to be even more shaken in those learned gentlemen since the startling disclosures in the Robinson poisoning cases were made in Somerville, Mass.

Here it was discovered, through the efforts of an insurance company, that eight cases of death from arsenical poisoning had occurred—seven of them in one family, and within five years and the other that of a relative—wherein the true cause of death had not been even suspected by prominent physicians who were in attendance, but who treated the cases for other causes, and finally, when death occurred, issued certificates for such causes as pneumonia, typhoid fever, meningitis, etc.

After such an evidence of the utter incompetency of those physicians who were regarded as experts in their profession, I cannot conceive why it will be longer necessary for further advertising to be done in behalf of Warner's Safe Cure, since I deem the Somerville disclosure to be the best possible endorsement of the good sense manifested by those who take matters of health in their own hands and use a remedy which experience has shown to be fully adapted for the purposes intended, instead of trusting themselves in experimental hands.

EXPERIENCE.

Control the Market.

The New England mills have practically surrendered the manufacture of low grade goods to the Southern mills, and now devote themselves exclusively to finer and more profitable work. The Southern mills have fairly captured the "brown goods" market, and as they are crowding each other in that market some of them should enter upon the manufacture of higher grades of goods, and so make profitable business for themselves and room for the new mills at the same time. Enterprise is better than "combination," both for our mills and the people who support them. Having entered the field of cotton manufacture, the South should not rest or halt until it dominates every part of it. There is room and opportunity on the higher levels, and the next step must be forward and upward; not backward. It will be a great event for the Cotton States when a Southern cotton factory sends its first bale of calico to market.—Charleston, S. C. News-Courier.

Place for Americans.

Edmund W. P. Smith, for eight years United States consul at Carthagena, Republic of Colombia, but for the past two years engaged in business there, is home again. He says that there is a great field for American enterprise in the Republic of Colombia. Electric lights, water works, railroads and ice machines are particularly wanted. The government is disposed to be liberal. Concessions will be given to bona fide capitalists for twenty-five years, and in the case of the water works the government will guarantee 7 per cent. on the capital invested for twenty-five years. Most of the trade of the country is controlled by the Germans and English, whose representatives are met everywhere, while a traveler for an American firm is rarely met with.

THERE are hints from Berlin and London that there is a sort of understanding between Prince Bismarck and Lord Salisbury on the Samoan question. It is certain, however, that the people of England, as well as of her Pacific colonies, are decidedly opposed to any alliance with Germany in this issue or on any issue.

Why suffer longer from dyspepsia, indigestion, want of appetite, loss of strength, lack of energy, malarial, intermittent fevers, etc.? Brown's Iron Bitters never fail to cure these diseases. They act like a charm on the digestive organs, removing all dyspeptic symptoms, such as belching, heartburn, biliousness, etc. Remember it is the only iron preparation that will not blacken the teeth or give headache.

Michigan papers are agitating for the restoration of capital punishment.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.
Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'igr't'n Board, Portland, Ore.

Take
Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses
One Dollar

[illegible] Merit Wins [illegible]

B. B. B.

SCROFULA.

H. L. Cassidy, Kennesaw, Ga., writes: "Three bottles of B. B. B. cured my wife of scrofula."

CATARRH FOR SIX YEARS.

Mrs. Matilda Nichols, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "I had catarrh six years and a distressing cough, and my eyes were much swollen. Five bottles of B. B. B., thank God! cured me."

A KIDNEY TONIC.

T. O. Callahan, Charlotte, N. C., writes: "B. B. B. is a fine tonic, and has done my kidneys great good."

10-YEARS' OLD RHEUMATISM.

W. J. Morehead, Newton, N. C., writes: "I used three bottles of B. B. B., and I now feel a healthy man, after suffering ten long years from rheumatism."

PILES SINCE 1868—RHEUMATISM AND BOILS.

J. M. Barfield, Elberton, Ga., writes: "B. B. B. cured me of piles I had since 1868. It also cured my nephew of rheumatism. It also cured Mrs. M. A. Elrod of carbuncles, boils and swollen feet that had troubled her a long time."

1,500 drinking places closed in Boston, Mass., under the high-license system.

Catarrh Cured.
A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., N. Y., will receive the recipe free of charge.

Dangerous Trifling.
It is not only foolish, but dangerous, to trifle with constipation, indigestion, piles or liver derangement. Take the proper remedy as soon as possible, and avoid all danger incident to delay. Hamburg Figs are a specific for these affections. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Nothing so completely robs confinement of the pain and suffering attending it as the use of The Mother's Friend. Sold by druggists.

SODEN
MINERAL
PASTILLES
FOR CATARRH
Sold by all Druggists. 50c. a box.
SODEN MINERAL SPRINGS CO. (Limited),
Sole Agents,
15 CEDAR ST., NEW YORK.

S S S
My little boy, 5 years old, was sick with a disease for which doctors had no name. The nails came off his fingers, and the fingers came off to the middle joint. For 3 years he suffered dreadfully; is now getting well, and I am satisfied Swift's Specific is the chief cause of his improvement.
JOHN DEIHL.
Jan. 12, 1889. Peru, Ind.
POISONED BY A CALF—My little boy broke out with sores and ulcers, the result of the saliva of a calf coming in contact with a cut finger. The ulcers were deep and painful and showed no inclination to heal. I gave him Swift's Specific, and he is now well.
Feb. 15, '89. JOHN F. HEARD, Auburn, Ala.
Send for books on Blood Poisons & Skin Diseases, free. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
RED CROSS DIAMOND BRAND.
Original, best, only genuine and reliable pill for sale. Never Fail. Ask for Chichester's English Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. At Druggists. Accept no other. All pills in pasteboard boxes, pink wrappers, are a dangerous counterfeit. Send 4c. (stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return mail. 10,000 testimonials from LADIES who have used them. Name Paper.
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

MOTHERS' FRIEND
MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY
IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.
BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS.
10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!
Don't buy before getting our prices and catalogues. THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO., Name this paper. NASHVILLE, TENN.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. N. B.—Please state age and business experience. Never mind about sending stamp for reply. B. F. J. & Co.

DETECTIVES
Wanted in every County. Shrewd men to act under instructions in our Secret Service. Experience not necessary. Particulars free. Grannan Detective Bureau Co. 44 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU,
COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors,
933 1 Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished. Correspondence solicited.

SINGERS who have used Piso's Cure for Consumption say it is BEST OF ALL. Sold everywhere. 25c.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you wish to buy a farm? If so address CURTIS & WRIGHT, 25 Broadway, N. Y.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

Agents wanted, $1 an hour. 50 new articles. Cat'lgue and samples free. C. E. Marshall, Lockport, N. Y.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa. Scholarship and positions, $50. Write for circular.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease. G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y.
We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction. D. R. DYCHE & CO., Chicago, Ill.
Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio. $1.00. Sold by Druggists.

ORATORS say Piso's Cure for Consumption is THE BEST for keeping the voice clear. 25 cents.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE
FOR Gentlemen AND Ladies
[illegible]

THE BEST COUGH [illegible] PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

[illegible]	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 95
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	60 00	80 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 6, 1889. NUMBER 32.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, [illegible] rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be treated as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal discount made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK. Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay

2018 and 2020 1st Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction. We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

AN ITEMIZED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

Dr. Jerome Cochran, of Alabama, has just returned from Florida and Cuba, and reports no yellow fever in Florida and very little in Havana.

A man named Reviere, in custody at Decatur, Ga., on a charge of murdering an alleged burglar, escaped from jail on Thursday, but was recaptured.

The business interests of Dublin, Ga., received a severe shock Sunday morning by the destruction by fire on Sunday, of ten blocks of stores, aggregating a loss of nearly $50,000.

Some of the wholesale merchants of Savannah, Ga., are talking of having a bill introduced in the Legislature making it an offense punishable by a heavy fine to underbill goods.

The color line was drawn in Richmond, Va., on Monday night, by a meeting of colored people who organized an independent party to whose membership no white man will be admitted.

The dead body of John Johnson, a negro, was found in a ditch in the woods near Oxmoor in a fearful mutilated condition, Monday. The throat was cut and a dozen stabs had been inflicted in the sides.

George Allen, a colored man, killed his wife in Atlanta, Ga., on Thursday, with a piece of gas pipe, by striking her over the head. The husband alleged that his wife chewed up a $20 bill because she was angry.

A brakeman on the Jasper branch of the N. & C. Railroad, named Frank Hoge, was caught between the bumpers of the passenger coach while making a coupling at Chattanooga, Tenn., was mashed almost into pulp and was killed instantly.

In Chatham county, N. C., Sally Emerson left her house, after locking in her two children, one three years old, the other an infant in the cradle. On returning she found the elder child in the chimney corner, burned to death, and the baby in flames.

Returns from the election held in New Orleans, La., show the drainage ordinance has been defeated by 900 to 1,000 votes. The last legislature authorized the tax payers of New Orleans to vote a tax of three mills per annum for the purpose of drainage and paving.

Official information was received at Raleigh, N. C., of a brutal murder in Alleghany county, which has greatly stirred up the people. A mulatto man named Joe Russell, alias Rowland, shot down and instantly killed a venerable white man named David Tompkins, near Sparta.

At last, the 4th United States artillery, with their magnificent band, all under command of Col. H. W. Closson, have domiciled at Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, Ga., and the Gate City fashionables are happy. Germans, hops, picnics, concerts, etc., will enliven the life of the Atlantians.

Fayette Evans, a desperate character, who has been a terror to the suburb of St. Elmo, near Chattanooga, Tenn., for years, and who recently made a desperate attempt to kill Amos Field, in Walker county, Ga., was on Tuesday tried on a warrant of lunacy, and judged insane.

The recent discharge of conductors in the upper division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, was followed by the discharge of three on the South and North division, running between Montgomery and Decatur, Ala. No cause is given. The conductors are simply served with notice to quit.

Rev. George W. Murray was found at the gate of Bennett Holt, in Wilcox county, Georgia, where he was on a visit, lying under his horse crushed to death. His horse was lame in the left fore leg, and it is supposed that the horse fell on him as he tried to mount to go to his home. He was a Baptist minister, seventy-five years old.

The preachers of the Tennessee Conference, M. E. Church South, are very indignant at the book agent of the publishing house in Nashville, for having bought and published a book in which preachers are criticised for dabbling in politics. It is charged that this is a direct blow at those ministers who entered the lists in the prohibition campaign of 1887.

St. Coleman, the rich merchant of Macon, Ga., died on Sunday. A strange fatality has recently attended Mr. Coleman's business firm, two of his partners and himself dying within two months. About two months ago N. M. Solomon died, and about six weeks ago Charles Wright died, and now comes Mr. Coleman himself. The surviving members of [illegible]

An unknown tramp, who was stealing a ride on an east bound freight train of the Memphis & Charleston road, was set upon and beaten by two negro brakemen and shot by the conductor. The dead body was thrown on the track near Iuka, Miss., and not discovered until it had been run over by the west bound passenger train early Monday morning. The two negroes were arrested and one has confessed. The conductor ran away.

A Chattanooga, Tenn., bank is in receipt of letters from producers and brokers who control five-sixths of the entire pig iron production of the Central South, relative to the cut in price of iron by the Thomas Iron Co., and the outlook. All agree in stating that the cut will have no effect whatever on Southern furnaces, and the opinion among all is that the bottom is about reached, and an early improvement in the market is anticipated.

The jury in the case of Louis Claire and John Gibson, charged with murdering Hon. Patrick Mealey, on New Year's morning 1888, in New Orleans, La., rendered a verdict of "guilty without capital punishment." This is the second trial Claire and Gibson have had with similar results, the verdict in the first case having been set aside by the supreme court on the ground that the testimony of a material witness for the defense had been improperly excluded.

Ethel Harris, a handsome woman of about twenty-two years, was found dead in her room at a hotel in Birmingham, Ala., with a silver-mounted pistol, ladies' size, beside her. She had suicided. Last Wednesday a well-dressed young man came to the hotel with her and registered "A. Wilson and wife, Washington Territory." He represented himself as being a United States detective. He left there on the following night and has not been heard of since.

Mose Mims, a section hand working on the Augusta & Knoxville Road, a few miles from Augusta, Ga., was run over and killed Sunday. He had been paid off and wanted to come to town, but the boss refused to let him off, declaring that he could not spare him from the work. An engine with a couple of flat cars started off towards town, the cars in front, and it is supposed the negro tried to steal into town by hiding himself under one of the cars on the brake shaft.

Simon Anderson, a miner at Coaldale, Ala., was shot and killed Tuesday by Scott Parker, a fellow workman. Tuesday night, when returning home from work, Anderson met Parker and asked where he had been. Parker replied: "It is none of your business." Anderson snatched a pistol from his pocket and tried to cock it, when Parker leveled a double-barreled shot gun on him and pulled the trigger. Anderson fell dead with three dozen bullets in his body.

Capt. W. R. Joyner, the chief of the fire department in Atlanta, Ga., attended an exhibition of fireworks on Tuesday night with his family, and in an altercation with Policeman Stamps, the officer struck him over the head with his club, inflicting an ugly gash. There was a terrible crush at the exits of the show, and in defence of his action, the policeman alleged that Joyner knocked one lady down and was likely to knock down some others. The policeman has been suspended.

W. A. Newton, who lives one mile from Jackson, Ga., went to his blacksmith shop and started a fire in the furnace. After heating a plow and while standing at the anvil hammering away on it, the bellows burst with the noise of a large gun. Lying on the bellows were several heavy plows and other old irons, and they were dashed against the roof of the house with such force as to loose the shingles. The bellows had become filled with gas from the stone coal that had been used in the furnace, which becoming ignited, caused the explosion.

Shortly after midnight, on Thursday, fire broke out in the engine room of the extensive tannery of C. C. Smoot & Sons, in Alexandria, Va., and before the flames could be subdued, the entire structure, covering a square of ground, was destroyed, together with a large quantity of leather, hides, etc. The establishment was one of the largest and most complete in the South, and the buildings were principally of brick. The loss is estimated at from $35,000 to $50,000, which may be increased to $100,000 if the leather proves a loss.

Augusta, Ga., business circles has spent the past week, in discussing what is generally looked upon as a sensation of unusual magnitude, involving, as it does the most prominent young brokers in the state. James U. Jackson is the man, and rumor has charged him with being over $50,000 short in his account with George R. Eager, president of the North Georgia Improvement Co., which virtually is the Marietta & North Georgia Railroad Co. He is a relative of Maj. Jackson, whose troubles several years ago attracted considerable discussion.

Suit has been entered in the United States Circuit Court by Charles Edward Lewis, of St. Louis, Mo., against the City of Shreveport, La., for [illegible] This is the [illegible] tion made by that city for the depot of the Texas & Pacific Railway. The United States Supreme Court has decided that the bonds upon which the money was loaned were illegally issued, but this time the holders come into court and say they were induced to loan the money on representation made by the mayor and council of Shreveport, it having been loaned by mistake.

The civil engineers and those of the Savannah, Americus & Montgomery, collided in the upper part of Tattnall county, two or three days ago. The Central corps started out ten days ago to locate the Eden extension west towards Eastman. Col. Hawkins has had a corps in the woods for three weeks, running a line from McRae to Savannah. To the surprise of both parties they ran plum against each other this week. The Central men were surprised to find their rivals so far north. No blood was shed, and each party went on its way. Where the two lines are to strike the East Tennessee, they are fifteen miles apart.

B. W. Harvey, when opening a new road about two hundred yards up on the side of Pigeon mountain, near LaFayette, Ga., a flat rock was moved. Beneath it was a stove pot, that contained $2,688.60 in specie. Fifteen years ago there was a flud near Trion. Some hands were at work cutting down a hollow post oak. As it broke off the stump, a Mexican dollar rolled out. When a thorough search was made, a number of them were found. All were counterfeit. Some shover of the queer had in times past used this oak as the keeper of his secret.

CHICAGO'S HORROR.

A DETECTIVE CHARGED WITH DECOYING A MAN TO A HOUSE TO BE MURDERED.

Dr. P. H. Cronin, of Ireland, and a resident of Chicago, Ill., was murdered a few days ago. One reason for the removal of Dr. Cronin was the minority report which he had prepared as a member of a committee of the National League, which had been appointed to look into certain rumored misappropriations of League money. This report of Dr. Cronin is said to have implicated a number of prominent officials, and would have been read before the meeting of the League next January. There was scarcely an Irish benevolent, political, literary or social society of which he was not a member. He was an ardent supporter of the policy of Parnell, and was prominent in Irish-American political movement. His friends attributed his disappearance to a conspiracy of his Irish political enemies, and asserted that he had several times said to his wife: "If I lose my life, or anything happens to me, Alexander Sullivan will be the one back of it." A member of the Chicago police force is implicated in the taking off of Dr. Cronin. The officer in question is Detective Daniel Coughlin. On the morning of the day on which Dr. Cronin disappeared, Coughlin engaged at a livery stable, not far from where Dr. Cronin lived, a horse and buggy, which he said a friend of his would call for that evening; that he called and was given a white horse similar to the one attached to the buggy in which Cronin was decoyed away; that the time of going and the description of the man corresponds minutely, both with the time when the man came for Dr. Cronin and with the appearance of the man himself; that Coughlin subsequently cautioned the livery stable keeper to say nothing about the matter. Coughlin was a member of one or more societies of which Cronin was a member and they were enemies. The matter was finally brought to the attention of Chief of Police Hubbard, who seems inclined to take a serious view of the matter and promises to probe it to the bottom. It is reported that C. I. Long, who sent dispatches from Toronto to several Chicago papers to the effect that he had seen and conversed with Dr. Cronin in that city several days after he was murdered there, has been seen in Chicago within the past week. The rumor cannot now be verified. The whole affair is a singular one, and seems to bear out the theory of the police that it was a political murder, and that Detective Coughlin is cognisant of the particulars, if he did not take part in the actual murder.

THE REASON.

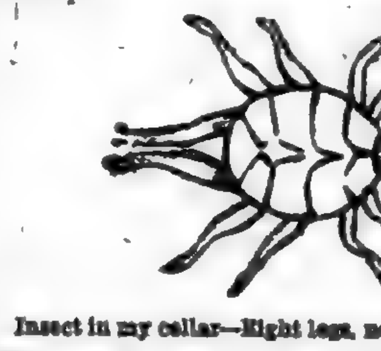
Politics had something to do with the $80,000 of missing Clan na Gael funds, said to be the cause of the Cronin tragedy at Chicago, Ill. A prominent Irishman, who was connected with the affairs of the Irish Republicans during the campaign of 1884, offers a suggestion that may throw some light upon the recent tragedy. He said that it was well known that at one time during the campaign something in the neighborhood of $10,000 was received in a lump by the Republican managers that was credited to contributions by the Irish-Americans. The source of this [illegible]

SOUTHERN FARMERS

CAN GET SOME INTERESTING NEWS BY READING THIS.

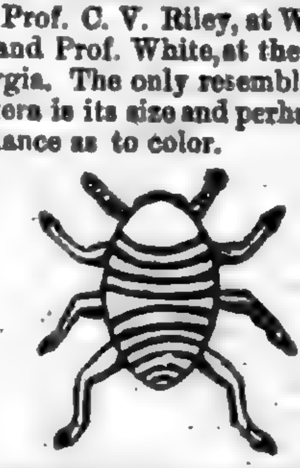
NOT SO BAD.

Maj. Felix Corput has addressed a letter to the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution, saying: "I notice in your issue of a recent date an article headed, 'Corput's Grapes Have Been Attacked by Blight or Phyloxera." This was news to me. I have 18,000 vines, and if there is the least sign of blight among them, I have never seen it. There is no decay to either vine or fruit as stated, and at present the only fear I have of losing my very full crop of grapes is from excessive bearing, hail or wind. The insects alluded to did not come from my vineyard, but from my cellar, as I informed Dr. Clifton, giving him a detailed account of their appearance, and my ineffectual efforts to destroy them with the fumes of sulphur. Every vineyardist who makes his business a study is well posted on the appearance of the phylloxera, and knows him to be a round-headed, six-legged individual with two antennæ, while the insects which I sent Dr. Clifton were sharp-headed, eight-legged, horny-bodied and devoid of antennæ. I inclose a rough sketch of both the phylloxera from memory, and the insect in my cellar from actual observation through a microscope.



Insect in my cellar—Eight legs, no antennæ.

Specimens of these insects have also been sent to Prof. C. V. Riley, at Washington, D. C., and Prof. White, at the University of Georgia. The only resemblance to the phylloxera is its size and perhaps a slight resemblance as to color.



Phyloxera—Six legs and antennæ.

The cultivation of grapes is a new industry in the South, in fact, comparatively speaking, in America; and, fearing that the article in question might have a tendency to work an injury to what a few of us are trying to successfully build up in Georgia, I ask that you give this communication a like prominence to that occupied by the article in Saturday's paper."

In a second letter, Maj. Corput says: "I fear grape growers have been given an unnecessary phylloxera scare. I have written Dr. Clifton in regard to it, but thinking the matter had better be set at rest at once, will give the following as the fruits of my researches.—Prof. W. O. Connor, of the deaf and dumb institute, and myself have been investigating the matter for some time, but until to-day had never satisfactorily located these insects. We now believe them to be sugar mites (Tyroglyphus Sacchari) and to belong to the spider family (acaridea). The phylloxera is known to belong to the plant louse family (hemiptera) and is entirely different in appearance to the mites sent Dr. Clifton. For sixty days after pressing my wine I allowed the pomace to remain packed in barrels in the cellar, and I now have no doubt this is where they originated. No grape vines of any kind have ever been in the cellar. I send this communication as a supplement to mine of the 27th, and in the interest of those who might feel scared up on the question. I further desire to assure the grape growers of Georgia that the phylloxera business, so far as vines in this section are concerned, is a groundless scare."

THE MELON CROP.

Last year according to the statistics of the Albany, Ga., convention of melon growers, the net return to growers averaged $46 on melons in ventilated and $7 on those in box cars. It is a desideratum this year to use as few box cars as possible. Last year about twenty-five per cent of the crop was shipped in box cars. This year the roads propose to do much better in this respect. The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad say they will beat everything they have done heretofore by using ventilated cars and fast schedules. There are new lines which will compete as outlets for the Georgia business. The Macon and Covington will take melons from Macon to Athens and there deliver them to the [illegible] go that way, it is thought. Those from the Atlanta and Florida can go out by any of the lines from Atlanta east or west. The additional crop on the 1,000 acres new territory between Macon and Cochran has been sold ahead in Boston. It is a special crop, and Mr. Griffin thinks will turn out from 500 to 600 cars of select fruit. The East Tennessee line, of course, will carry that business as far as Norfolk. The Savannah, Florida and Western trains to Albany will also connect with fast freight schedules of about ten hours to Atlanta, and there with twenty miles an hour schedules over the Western and Atlantic railroad to Chattanooga and the West. The Chattanooga, Rome & Columbus road proposes to do some business by a connection with the Central by way of Carrollton. Its road bed and motive power will be good but it is not known how many ventilated cars it has at its disposal. The drought in South Georgia is threatening the crop in that part of the state and may reduce the yield below what has been anticipated. Railroad estimates of the melon crop of Georgia are now about as follows:

From the line of the East Tennessee road	800 cars
From the line of the Savannah, Florida and Western road	2,000 cars
From the line of the Georgia Southern and Florida road	1,000 cars
From the line of the Atlanta and Florida road	1,100 cars
From the line of the Central road	2,300 cars
From the line of the Georgia road	250 cars
Total	7,250 cars

This is about 2,000 cars more than last year's crop. The rates are in the hands of the railroads, and the following are the freights to some of the leading points:

RATES PER CAR OF 24,000 POUNDS.

Atlanta to Chicago	$81 60
Atlanta to Buffalo, N. Y.	78 96
Atlanta to Cincinnati	45 60
Atlanta to Cleveland, Ohio	76 80
Atlanta to Detroit, Mich.	79 20
Atlanta to Evansville, Ind.	45 60
Atlanta to Louisville, Ky.	45 60
Atlanta to Indianapolis, Ind.	67 20
Atlanta to Pittsburg, Pa.	76 32
Atlanta to St. Louis, Mo.	64 80
Atlanta to Memphis, Tenn.	45 60
Atlanta to Nashville, Tenn.	28 80

PLANTERS' EXPERIMENT.

Last Fall the Alliance men of Coweta county, Georgia, agreed to operate a cotton warehouse of their own to handle their crop at Newnan. They rented a warehouse of Powell & Russell for the year ending September 1st, 1889. There are three warehouses in Newnan controlled by Powell & Russell, Arnold & Burdett and the other by Brown & Powell. The Alliancemen have just learned that these warehouses have all been rented for the next year, thereby leaving them without any warehouse to handle their year's crop. Therefore they are now consulting as to the best plan to be independent of the warehousemen who are not Alliancemen. They propose as one plan to build a warehouse of their own by assessing each member twenty-five cents a bale of cotton he raises this year, to put up the necessary building, employ weighers, markers and draymen, all of whom are to be members of the Alliance, thereby running the warehouse on the most economical basis. Newnan generally handles from 14,000 to 16,000 bales annually, and a majority of the farmers belong to the Alliance. They think they can put up a warehouse and handle their crop this season for about $5,000, and by assessing each man according to the number of bales raised, they would equalize the expenses upon a fair and equitable basis. By this arrangement they say they can save money, give employment only to their members, and hire their own watchmen, bookkeepers, and other officers. They propose to put in several scales so as to weigh their cotton with dispatch, and have their own sworn weighers. This plan is meeting with general approval among all the Wheel in the county.

BRITISH BLUSTER.

Startling revelations concerning the tenor and extent of orders issued by the admiralty authorities to Admiral Heneage, commanding the Pacific squadron, and under which the British man-of-war Swiftsure, Icarus and Amphion, now at Esquimalt, will proceed to Behring sea early in June, were made at Victoria, B. C., by an officer in high rank attached to the flagship. He and a number of other naval officers attended a luncheon given by local club men, and before the affair came to a close all were very much under the influence of champagne. At the height of the festivities an officer, in responding to the toast of the navy, said in substance that there would be some fighting soon in Behring sea if the American authorities attempted to prevent Canadian sealers from hunting there. No attention would be paid to the President's proclamation, he said, and the [illegible]

GENERAL NEWS.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, FIRES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

Serious rioting took place in Belgrade on Monday, resulting in the killing of at least three persons.

On application of the London Times, the Parnell libel suit has been postponed until November.

Severe storms prevail throughout France. In some places the country is almost devastated.

George Wagoner, a prisoner in the Pittsfield, Mass., prison, committed suicide by taking poison.

The walls of a large building in Danville, Va., was blown down by the wind on Thursday, and one workman was killed and several injured.

The British man-of-war Surprise was run ashore at Syracuse on Sunday after colliding with and sinking the steamer Nesta. The man-of-war got full of water.

A fire broke out in the office of the Bellows Falls, Vt., Times, destroying the building and injuring the mammoth block adjoining. The probable loss is about $20,000.

The steamer Orange which arrived at New York on Monday from the West Indies and brought news contradictory of the former stories, regarding the victories supposed to have been gained by Hippolite's army.

The vault in the registered letter division of the Chicago, Ill., postoffice was entered Monday night, and eighty-six registered letters were stolen. It is believed to have been the work of some one connected with the office.

Referring to the indignation caused in France by the announcement that King Humbert, of Italy, would visit Strasburg, the Berlin Kreuz Zeitung warns the French to mind their own business nor dare to interfere with Germany's doings in her own province.

At an early hour Thursday afternoon, Capt. C. Henry Withers committed suicide at his home, in New York city, by shooting himself. He had returned from the parade in his uniform of the Old Guard at noon, and went to his room to prepare for dinner. His brother went up stairs to call him to dinner and found him dead.

Sheriff Henderson, who has been on guard the last two weeks at Sistonville, Ill., a mining town, telegraphed for reinforcements. A riot is anticipated, as the striking miners of Spring Valley, LaSalle and Streator have threatened to close the mines by force. The coal mines at Sistonville are the only ones in operation in the northern part of that state.

There was another conflict at Falcarragh, Ireland, on Monday, between evictors and tenants, during which twenty-five policemen were injured. Houses were barricaded in the usual way, and the police for a time were totally unable to effect an entrance through the doors. As usual, the superior forces of the besiegers at last prevailed, and the evictions were finally accomplished.

Experiments in the economy of burning powdered coal side by side with natural gas at the works of Moorhead Bros. & Co., at Pittsburg, Pa., were successful. The amount of coal consumed in the first test was 864 pounds and the amount of iron heated was 4,000 pounds. The charge for natural gas is at the rate of one dollar per ton of iron, while the cost under the new process, it is claimed, would not exceed, including pulverization, fifty cents per ton of iron.

A special freight train from Bridgeport, Conn., collided with the regular Albany freight, bound south, on the Housatonic Railroad on Tuesday near Bull station, causing a disastrous wreck. Both trains came together with a terrible crash, wrecking the engines into a shapeless mass, telescoping two fruit cars on the up train and derailing nine other cars. Engineer William B. Look, of Great Barrington, Mass., who had charge of the engine of the up train, was crushed to death.

A terrific windstorm passed over Quincy, Ill. The storm was cyclonic in its nature, and considerable damage was done. A black, funnel-shaped cloud swept at a furious rate from northwest to southeast, descending to the earth at irregular intervals. Several houses and barns were unroofed and trees were pulled up by the roots. [illegible]

[illegible] cago, Ill., on Tuesday for the murder of Dr. Cronin. The three prisoners were included in one indictment, to which there were three counts, one charging them with killing Dr. Cronin with blunt instruments, the second alleging the use of a sharp instrument and third, instrument and means unknown. The confession of Sullivan in all probability will lead to the arrest and punishment of some of the murderers of Dr. Cronin.

The two companies of the Chicago, Ill., militia, which left that city for Braidwood, where they have been sent by Governor Fifer to preserve the peace, had a close call at Gardner Tuesday. The conductor of the train, on leaving Chicago, had received orders to run slowly between Gardner and Braidwood. It was well this warning was given, otherwise there would have been a terrible disaster. On reaching Gardner it was found that some miscreant had wedged stones in the switches so firmly that a wreck would surely have followed had not the obstructions been discovered.

Fire started on Monday in an old theater building, just opposite the depot hotel at Reno, Nev., destroying the hotel, six other houses and offices near, the Pioneer hotel, Lafayette house, Pollard house, and Pyramid hotel. The N. & C. depot was also partially consumed. On Center street, fire broke out again and destroyed five business houses and ten residences. In one block every building except one, was in ashes. Fire in another direction burned the round-house and turn-table of the Central Pacific Road and two houses and one cement house. The Silver State Flouring Mills were the next consumed, and after that the Fogus Flouring Mills.

A TERRIBLE SCENE.

A COLORED MAN LYNCHED IN MICHIGAN AFTER VERY BRUTAL TREATMENT.

Albert Martin, a colored man was lynched at Port Huron, Mich., on Monday. Every since the outrage with which he was charged, there has been considerable talk of lynching, but the fact of its being talked so openly, led the sheriff and police to pay no attention. About 2 o'clock, Turnkey Laroche opened the door, when he was confronted by three strangers wearing masks. They seized Laroche and demanded the keys. He said he did not have them. They then choked, beat and dragged him into the street, when about fifty masked men rushed him around the corner. A noose was quickly made in a long rope which the lynchers carried, and it was slipped over Martin's neck while he was yet in bed. The other end of the rope reached out to the street, where it was held by not less than fifty willing hands. With a blood curdling yell the mob started on the run. Martin was unable to regain his feet, and was dragged through the sheriff's office out into the street, his head striking the coal stove with such force as to turn it half way round. Amid shouts and the firing of revolvers the infuriated mob headed for the Seventh street bridge, three blocks away. They had to turn two street corners on their way, and as they made the turn by the Baptist church, the poor wretch's head caught in the stone covering to the gutter. No effort was made to extricate him and a halt was made only long enough to give a terrible tug on the rope, by which the body was released. The noose on the rope had loosened, and the knot being in front, slipped over the wretch's chin and into his mouth. It was then tightened until his jaw was pulled down upon his neck in a manner which must have caused the victim terrible suffering. Arriving at the bridge, one end of the rope was run over an iron stringer, and Martin was swung off. His body, which by this time must have been lifeless, was left hanging, and with a few parting shots the mob quitted the scene.

LUCKY TENNESSEEANS.

A PEDDLER'S FORTUNE WILL BE DIVIDED AMONG SOME DESERVING PEOPLE.

State Representative Jones, of Benton county, passed through Nashville on his way to Plainfield, N. J., to look after a large fortune left to some of his clients. About fifty years ago a man named Latimer was tramping through North Carolina with a peddler's pack on his back, when he fell in love with a poor girl named Sarah Mitchell, whom he saw working in a field. [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 6, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

There is no gossiping lying or anything of that kind going on in our midst. Everybody attends to their own business and speaks the truth. Whew!!

The above is from Shelby Iron Works correspondent of the Columbiana Chronicle and accounts no doubt for the prospective boom at Shelby.

The Jacksonville Times-Union congratulates the town of Lawty, Fla., that it has a postmaster who can tell the difference between a postal card and a pancake. Some of Mr. Wannamaker's Alabama postmasters would have to be shown the material object to tell the difference, they couldn't distinguish the written word.

The Eiffel tower at Paris, is the highest structure ever reared by human hands being 1,178 feet high, or over twice as high as our great monument at Washington. The electric light at its summit will be visible for 40 miles, and it will be strong enough to enable a person to read a newspaper at a distance of 7 miles.

The meanness and frightful depravity in this world was perhaps never more horribly illustrated than during the floods in Pensylvania last week when fiends robbed dead bodies of jewelry cutting off pieces of the ears to obtain ear rings, and taking finger rings by cutting off fingers without disengaging the jewelry from the bodies. Several lynches took place of parties who were found with fingers and ears in their pockets.

Mr. Kolb addressed the citizens at Branchville to-day on agriculture. A large and attentive audience listened to him for an hour and a half. All seemed gratified with his speech. He urged that secretaries of Alliances send him a full list of names of their male members and all other farmers, so that he could send them monthly reports, bulletins, etc., and seeds at the right time, all gratis. He gave us a good deal of information in regard to the department, etc., all very pointed, plain and impressive.—Ashville Advance.

There is no mistake about the genuineness of the desires of the people of West Florida to become citizens of Alabama. The Pensacola News says that it "is not a simple majority of the people of West Florida who subscribe to such a sentiment. The vote is almost unanimous. Nearly every man, woman and child in the west is in favor of annexation, and it shall not be for want of unanimity on their part should the object of their presently making efforts fail of accomplishment." Under these circumstances Florida should permit these people to depart in peace. Alabama wants them and they in turn yearn for Alabama.

In speaking of the action of the Farmer's Alliance and Wheel in Birmingham on the 10th inst., the New Orleans cotton exchange which is the most important as well as the leading exchange in the industry, yesterday, through its board of directors, adopted resolutions expressing the sympathy of the institution with the position assumed by the planters and pledging its support in introducing the cotton bagging as a substitute. These resolutions, which will be found elsewhere in this issue, put in a very clear light the desire of our local cotton merchants to relieve the trade from dependence on a foreign article as covering for the cotton crop, as well as their desire to see the establishment of an industry which promises to consume a large amount of the cotton raised in this section and afford employment to thousands of Southern laborers.

Luverne's Indignation.

R. L. Gomez has been appointed postmaster of Luverne, a little town at the terminus of the Florida and Northwestern Railroad, about fifty miles from Montgomery. The appointment causes much excitement among the white people of that village. Gomez is a negro school teacher. There are very few negroes at Luverne and very few, in fact, in the county in which Luverne is seated.

Alabama In The Lead.

There is no halting in steady march of progress which the south is making. Every reader of this issue of the Manufacturer's Record will see that everywhere there is bouyant and enthusiastic feeling. The old towns and cities as well as the new ones are pressing forward vigorously. The low price of iron has not dampened the ardor of the most experienced and conservative business men for the building of new furnaces. The greatest single contract made for many months has been the closing of an agreement between English and northern iron makers to build four furnaces steel works and rolling mill at the new town of Middlesborough, Ky., at a cost of $3,000,000. Other furnaces are projected at several points, and contracts are to be made at once for two steel plants in Alabama. Steel works are also projected at Roanoke, Va. Hon. Abram S. Hewitt's statement published in this issue of the Manufacturers' Record, that pig iron can be made in Alabama at $7.50 a ton will prove somewhat of a sensation to many. The remarkable activity previously reported in cotton-seed oil-mill building continues, and five or six new mills, to cost about $100,000 each have been organized. A $75,000 oil mill is to be built at Florence. Ala. by the Farmers' Alliance. three $100,000 mills in South Carolina by the new cotton seed oil company of Philadelphia and one or two other mills by different companies. At Fort Payne, Ala., a $500,000 company has been organized for development of property, building dummy lines, etc stone works are to be started at the same place. Large glass works are projected at Ranford, Va., a $50,000 furniture factory company at Anniston, a nine story $500,000 hotel at Dallas, Texas, and many other enterprises large and small. The outlook is indeed cheering and to quote the enthusiastic language of Mr. Chas. Dana, the distinguished editor of the New York Sun who has just returned from the south and is enraptured at its marvelous progress "it is a great country, and the blessings of God rest upon it."—Baltimore Manufacturer's Record.

Senator Morgan on Negro Suffrage.

In his great speech to the students of Howard college. on the "Constitution," Hon. J. T. Morgan said: If the people of the State desire that the sovereign citizens who vote and thus rule, shall not be foreign to them in race, and shall not be the slave of caste, but shall have a natural and acceptable membership in the family circles of the great race who ordained and have built up our governments, State and Federal, they will in due season, expurgate any unnatural element that disturbs the harmony of the country. If we work with patience and fortitude, according to the organic law our fathers have provided for us, all will be well.

The family relation is the controlling power that is exerted in the States by the four persons who do not vote, over the one voter who represents them. Without this influence, free government would be a licensed despotism. Under its benign sway, the best affections of the human heart diffuse themselves into government and draw it to the love of the people. An element forced into the ballot box, that cannot be assimilated into our family relations, and is rejected at the fire-side of our homes, must be a warring element, in all the energizing rivalries and aspirations that lift our people to higher efforts and nobler deeds, for the good of our race and country. If we have peace and accord in the family circles of our country with the door left open so that all who are found worthy may enter and gain the highest places of honor and preferment without distrust or jealousy of race, the mind of man cannot now conceive of the glory that will be revealed in the American people at the close of the second century of the constitutional government that is now so signally blessed of God in its early dawn.

Bring your job printing to this office.

"They Say."

"They say"—to whom do they say it? Do they go to their neighbor's face and tell him of it, or do they spread it with many dark intimations and inuendoes behind his back? Do they talk of it where it will be taken upon scandal's tongue. You should never say that behind a man's back that you would not say to his face. Suppose it is true; don't publish it abroad to his injury. It will do you no good and do him infinite harm. You yourself are liable to err, and as you would that he should defend, or excuse, or forgive you, do you even so to them.

How much better is it, if instead of spending our lives in detraction and slander, we should endeavor to soften down the rumors, disbelieve half of them, and above all give the absent one the benefit of the doubt. If, in speaking of a person, we should not mention their bad qualities, at least not parade them, would there be much harm done? To poetize the truth on the side of charity cannot be a great vice. If it is one, the recording angel will probably drop a tear on it and blot it out forever.—Screvin County Watchman.

The Candidates Don't Show Up.

So far only one candidate has declared himself in the field, Colonel Jones, of Montgomery. No doubt there are others who are working just as earnestly for the Governor's mansion as Col. Jones but they are not ready to show up yet. The field will be full of candidates by January, 1890. Very little comes of postulating prospective candidates and a good man is often defeated by just that sort of thing. Let the people have one year of peace. We are thankful that there is no State election this year. Sufficient unto the day are the political evils thereof, and we do not propose to aggravate them unnecessarily.—Talladega Reporter.

English as She is Spoken

The murderers have discovered some astonishingly valuable parts of the humanatomy of late. From the paper this morning, we learn that a Georgia Colonel was "shot in the ticket office," the other day, and that another man was fatally "shot through his door." —N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

He was "shot in the suburbs." —Chicago Daily News.

He kissed her pasionately upon "her re-appearance."—Jefferson Souvenir.

She whipped him "upon his return."—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

He "kissed her back."—Atlanta Constitution.

Mrs. Jones "walked in upon her invitation."—Electric Light.

She "seated herself upon his entering."—Aliba Democrat.

We understand that "she sat down on being asked."—Saturday Gossip.

A Disgusted Contemporary.

The latest from our Montgomery contemporaries is a long and silly attack in The Advertiser upon The Dispach. It seems that The Dispatch has published an article on the subject of cod-fish. The Advertiser starts off in Sunday morning's issue by saying: "It always affords us unalloyed satisfaction to find something in The Dispatch to commend." The esteemed Advertiser then fills two-thirds of its first editorial column with a meaningless batch of stuff on The Dispatch's opinions on "codfish balls." This brings to mind the long-continued controversy these journals had some time back over "pot-metal" matter. Of course we are not running a great daily at the State capital, and don't know the kind of reading that would entertain the readers of such a journal, but we are certain that if we were to send out The Blade with such nonsense as "pot-metal," "cod-fish balls," etc., our large subscription list would soon begin to wane. Talk about something better, brethren.—Bibb Blade.

A chicken snake of an enormous size was killed by Mr. Ben. Sherrod, of this city Tuesday, in the act of stealing eggs from under a hen that was setting. Two large knots in the snake's anatomy excited Mr. Sherrod's curiosity and he cut his snakeship open, and much to his amazement he found two china eggs such as are generally used for darning. Mr. Sherrod called Dr. Rand over and exhibited the strange find. The Doctor upon examining the eggs said that they were undoubtedly two that disappeared from a nest in his yard more than three years ago. The eggs may be seen by anybody.—North Alabamian.

The New York Evening World's prize for the most remarkable dream was awarded to J. E. J. Buckley, of Cumberland, Md., who swore to the following: "I dreamed one night last summer that I met a man of small statute, dark complexion, black hair and heavy black mustache, fashionably dressed on the corner of Center and Baltimore streets in this city. Some quarrel arose and I shot him in the neck. Some of his blood spurted on my white vest. The next morning about 10 o'clock, as I was turning the corner above mentioned, I met the dream man. He sprang back with a cry, covered his neck with his hand, and said: "For God's sake don't shoot!" We were both too much shocked to speak for some moments. Explanations followed. We had both dreamed the same thing. Oddly enough, in looking at my vest afterward I found a smear of something on it about the size of a quarter. This had been concealed under my coat and not been noticed in the hurry of dressing. A chemist afterward removed the stain and said it was human blood."

Normal Institute at Livingston.

The educational campaign for 1889 will be opened by an institute held at Livingston beginning June 10th and continuing two weeks.

It will be under the supervision of Dr. T. J. Mitchell, of Montgomery ably assisted by Supt. J. H. Phillips and Prof. L. D. Robertson of Birmingham and Pres't. J. K. Powers, and Prof. N. M. Bates of Florence. Major Palmer also will be in attendance assisting and encouraging in his usual happy manner.

The members of the faculty having each a state and national reputation need no special recommendation.

The announcement of their names is sufficient to guarantee a large assembly of the best teachers of the state.

The regular annual examinations for the Peabody Scholarship will be held Thursday, June 20th. This will give candidates time and opportunity to prepare for the institute.

Mortgage Sale.

By virtue of a mortgage made us on the 23d day of October, 1888, the same being recorded in Vol. 20, pages 54 and 55 Book of Record of Deeds for Chilton county, Ala., we will sell to the highest bidder for cash at the courthouse door in Clanton, Chilton county, Ala., on the 17th day of June, 1889, during the legal hours of sale.

One Standard Lane & Bartlett Saw Mill and fixtures.

One Atlas forty-horse power Engine and Boiler and fixtures.

One Hoyt & Bros. Matching and Planing Machine and fixtures.

One St. Louis Lathe Machine and fixtures.

All located on the L. & N. Road about 1½ miles north of Jemison, Chilton county, Ala.

MACKEY & NORTON.

Register's Sale.

Mary E. Hamrick vs. James M. Huggins et. als.

By virtue of a decree rendered at the March term 1889, of the Chancery Court at Columbiana, of the sixth district of the Northeast Chancery Division of the State of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at Clanton, in Chilton county, on Monday, the 24th day of June, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following real estate, situated in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: The south half (s ½) of section fourteen (14) township twenty-three (23) range thirteen east (13 e).

D. R. McMILLAN,
Register in Chancery
May 30th 1889. Shelby Co. Ala.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jnl19 y

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery. Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK.

THE ONLY
ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED, CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—

Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

The Lawson Carpet Co.

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

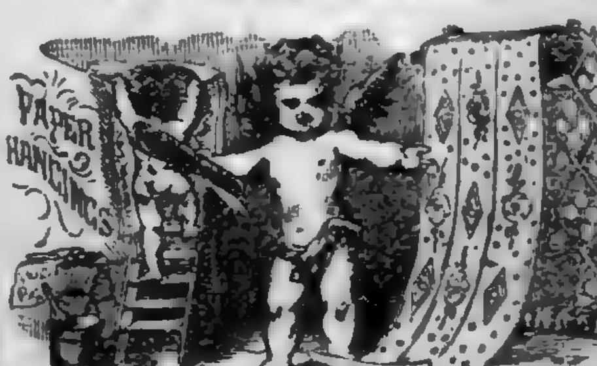
P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully,
THOMAS FOSHEE.
feb 28-y

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.
No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,



WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANG

H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will samples on application.
apr 11-

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble
—Manufacturer of all kinds of—
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WO
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street, Birmingham, Alaban
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWARE
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d St
Birmingham, Ala.
12 20 6

rpet Co.
la.
e attention of their large k of w Shades,
Novelties.
Prices are guaranteed as markets.
Respectfully,
CO. (Wm. Lawson.)

TER.
EBLES.)
GISTS.
ceive Prompt At-
A SPECIALTY.
d 20th STREETS,
Ala.
mpany's Prices.
June 19 y

SHEE, SHEE,) oceries
HANDISE.
bama.
patronage heretofor
HOMAS FOSHEE.

M, gomery, Ala.
OR ROOMS,
Scouring and dyi
rt Street.

APER,
WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—CTICAL PAPER HANG CHA,
OMERY, ALABAMA.
m 10 cents up. Will
apr 11-y

BLE WORKS.
HOLT, ORKMAN
N—alian Marble kinds of —
D STONE WO
venty-Fourth Street,
Alabam

EEPER,
l Dealer in
, BLINDS,
ARDWARE
Ave. and 22d St
m, Ala.

GO TO BLANK BROS, LEADING CLOTHIERS,

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 6, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Mrs. W. H. Phillips is visiting relatives in Montgomery.

A negro child of George Vinson was buried Thursday evening.

Dr. A. J. Massey, of Wetumpka, spent a few days with friends in Clanton.

Mrs. Margie Garrett, of Bessemer, Ala., is visiting Mrs. L. Holt in Clanton.

Mrs. W. L. Sampey leaves to-morrow on a visit to Birmingham for several days.

Miss Gussie Mahone, of Loachapoka, sister of Miss Annie Mahone, is visiting our town.

Mr. J. W. Moore and Miss Mary E. Thompson, were maried at the Court house, Thursday morning. Judge Callen officiated.

Mr. Wm. A. Collier returned home last night from Marion with his bright and attractive daughter, Inez.

Silas Roberson and Elizabeth Moon, colored were married by George Blakely, colored at the Courthouse, Thursday.

We regret to hear of the death of Mr. W. P. Powell, which occurred at his residence 5 miles south of Clanton on Wednesday night last.

Mr. W. M. McGee, of Stanton, was in Clanton on Tuesday. He has been attending lectures at the Mobile Medical College the past year.

The Masons will have a masonic picnic at this place on the 29th inst. The M. E. Ladies Aid Society will have refreshments on the ground.

"My daughter was greatly troubled with Scrofula, and at one time it was feared she would lose her sight. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has completely restored her health, and her eyes are as well as ever, with no trace of scrofula in her system. —G. King, Killingly, Conn.

Our subscribers at Montevallo complain of failure to get the VIEW regularly. The trouble is probably with the new route agents, who have recently been appointed and are not yet familiar with their duties.

Parties making remittances to the VIEW of amounts not exceeding $5 will please send by postal note or registered letter instead of by money order. During the dull season we find it not always convenient for the Clanton office to cash all money orders and notes, and we can use the postal notes at any other money order office.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Spring Goods.

New dress goods now on sale at low prices for cash. Shoes for spring trade now in. Groceries go all the year, the present is no exception. Everything guaranteed as represented. Fair dealing at fair prices is my plan for holding trade, and my sales will prove that the people are treated well. Give me a call.

Respectfully
W. L. SAMPEY.

Mr. Oscar Mullins who has been clerking for Sampey has gone home to spend some time, much to the regret of his friends in Clanton.

Mr. John Boyd formerly of Clanton, died last Thursday morning in Birmingham. His remains were brought here and intered. He was a promising young man.

"Tip" Mullins has returned from the Nashville Normal College and will spend his vacation in Chilton, with his home folks. He is imbued with the importance of obtaining a thorough education.

Mr. W. F. Midleton, who left here and went to Corsicana, Texas, last summer, and who has since been attending lectures at the Louisville Medical college is in Clanton visiting his parents.

Mr. O. A. Duke spent the day in Birmingham last Monday and returned Monday night accompanied by his daughter Miss Anna Lou, who has been attending school at Nashville.

The vocal organs are strengthened by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Clergymen, lawyers, singers, actors and public speakers find this preparation the most effective remedy for irritation and weakness of the throat and lungs, and for all affections of the vocal organs.

Picnic At Coopers.

ED. VIEW:— Please announce through your columns that there will be a picnic at Cooper's on Saturday, June 8th. Dancing and base ball will be the program. All ladies and gentlemen are cordially invited to come with baskets.

GEO. COOPER,
W. A. GOODSON,
W. N. DERAMUS,
JNO. GULLAHORN, JR.
E. H. LOWE,
Managers.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Providence Points.

Farmers in this section are up with work, though the crops are backward for lack of rain.

The Gullahorn saw mill will be moved to Providence in a few days.

Successive dry weather has greatly damaged the oat crop.

Rain the 29th and 30th ult., enthused the farmers who had been backward on account of dry weather.

The neighborhood of Pleasant Cherry met in an all day singing last Sunday. During the noon recess fine repast was spread which met with a hearty welcome from the singers. We long for another.

R.

Maplesville Dots.

The 30th and 31st of last month were the coldest ever felt in this climate within the memory of the oldest people. Some reported frost though no perceptible injury was done cotton or potatoes.

The crops are looking remarkably well notwithstanding the very dry weather. We had a rain on the 29th ult.

Mr. Clayton Woolley and wife are visiting Dr. Woolley.

We think we can claim as many old people as any other locality.

Mr. Sinclair McCary, who died last year was 88 years old, was remarkably healthy until a few months of his death, and could read without his glasses. His wife is yet living and is now in her 76th year, is in the enjoyment of very good health, keeps house, and is great assistance in house work. She was married when 15 years old in S. Carolina, and came to this country on a bridal tour riding horse-back and never returned.

Mr. Griffin, who died two years ago, was in his 80th year and was able to walk about until a few months of his death.

Uncle Jimmie Griffin is 87, is very healthy, and did field work until this year. His wife, aunt Sophia is 75, and until two years ago when thrown from a horse could do more house keeping than many younger women. They are much given to hospitality. Aunt Sophia takes a chair and case knife and works her garden making many savary dishes of vegetables. By honesty, industry and economy this highly respectable couple have a competency in their old age.

REVOLG.

The Miller, His Son and His Ass.

[From Æsop's Fables.]

A miller and his son once drove an ass to a neighboring market-town in order to sell it. They had not gone far on their road before they were met by a number of girls, laughing and singing. As soon as they saw the father and son trudging after the ass, they said one to the other, "Did you ever see such a couple of dull fellows, to let the ass go idle in that manner when they might be riding?" The father, overhearing this remark, immediately desired his son to mount the ass, while he proceeded cheerfully by his side. After a while they came up to some old men, who seemed to be earnestly debating some important matter. When they saw the young man riding on the ass, and the old man patiently walking by his side, one of them exclaimed, "Do you see that young scapegrace riding while his old father walks by his side? Does not that prove what I have been saying? Is not that an instance of the respect shown to old age by the young of the present day? Get down, you young rogue, and let the old man take your place?" As soon as the son heard these words, he immediately jumped off the ass, and let his father get up. In this manner they went some distance farther along a sandy road, when they were met by some peasant women. They immediately bawled out to the father, "You are a cruel old fellow to make yourself so comfortable on the ass, and to let your poor son toil through the deep sand. It is impossible for the lad to keep pace with you." The good natured miller, wishing to oblige all parties, immediately desired his son to get up behind him. In this way they were drawing near the town when a shepherd, minding his sheep by the road-side, called out loudly, "Pray, my friend, does that ass belong to you?" "Yes," said the miller. "One would not have thought so by the unmerciful manner you have loaded him. Why, you two fellows are far better able to carry the poor animal than he you!" The father and son at once got down, and the son said to his father, "What now shall we do to satisfy the people? We must at last tie the ass' feet together and carry him on a pole on our shoulders to market." So they tied the ass' legs together, and, by the help of a pole on their shoulders, they endeavored to carry him across a narrow bridge which led to the town. This was so novel a sight that the people left their shops and their houses to enjoy the fun. But the ass, patient as he is said to be, could not endure either his situation or the noise on all sides of him, so he commenced kicking away at the cords which bound him. He soon managed to burst them asunder and tumbling off the pole, he fell into the river, and, being carried away by the tide, he was drowned. Upon this, the old man, annoyed at having tried in vain to please everybody, and vexed at the loss of his ass into the bargain, made the best of his way home again.

MORAL: It is impossible to please everybody.

General Items.

Since Sept. 1, $2,300,000 new capital has been invested in manufacturing establishments in Florence, and over $300,000 in real estate. It is said that 800 houses have been built it the last four months. According to local authorities the population has increased from 2000 to 7000 in the past twelve months.

The Livingston Journal has witnessed "the changed condition in the south," it was three stalwart negro men under a shade tree and a white man hoeing corn near by.

Floods swept over portions of Pensylvania, Maryland and Virginia the past week. The telegrams report over six thousand lives lost by drowning though this is only an estimate. Fifteen hundred houses were swept away at Johnstown, Pa. At Washington the Potomac flooded the city and boats were plying Pensylvania Avenue. The damage and loss of property was enormous.

A writer in the Montgomery Dispatch over the signature of "Alliance," makes an appeal for the establishment of a Farmer's Exchange in Montgomery where it will be in the heart of the agricultural section of the State. Nearly all of the South Alabama papers are working in the same line and many of the South Alabama farmers whose trading point is Montgomery. It is not yet evident that the exchange is not succeeding, but seems unfortunate for the agricultural section that it should have been located in the mineral district. Of course the committee locating the exchange could not please everybody.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

The weather has been warm and sultry most of the week, but Thursday night and all day Friday the air turned quite cool, rendering fires comfortable. This cool spell followed immediately the heavy precipitation that occurred on the 29th in all parts of the State. This reduction of temperature is unusual for this season of the year. The thermometer at the Central Station on Thursday night registered as low as 45 degs. and the wind blew quite briskly all night from the northwest. Frost was seriously apprehended at one time, but the cloudy condition of the atmosphere and the continued wind dissipated such tendencies, and preserved the tender vegetation. Plants have suffered somewhat on account of this cool wave.

Ex-Governor Alcorn, of Mississippi, in speaking of the negro, says:

The southern people will not have negro rule. The negro is not a white man with a black skin. He is of a different race. He is a barbarian, and barbarians cannot rule civilised people. His head is covered with wool. He is a sheep. The white man has straight hair, like a lion. The negro is an infant. It will take centuries of development to fit him for civilization."

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of the VIEW will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
☞ Sold by Druggists, 75. mai16-m

Judge Smith's Book.

What the papers say about it.

The Age-Herald says: "No such interesting book has been published for a long time."

The Evening Chronicle says: "Altogether, Judge Smith has done a great work for local history, and given a splendid book to the shelves of libraries."

The Evening News says: "The book will be read with delight by scholars and with profit by all." The Times-Democrat says: "It is one of the most delightful books of recent years, and it has an especial charm for Alabamians."

This book can be had on application at the VIEW office and at the principal book stores in the State. Price $2.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

A PHYSICIAN'S WARNING!

Of all the terrible, soul affrightening curses that afflict all classes of humanity, nothing in all ages has ever approached comparison to the ravages of BLOOD POISON that slow, insatiate destroyer of flesh and life. Alas! How often just such an affliction loves to affect a noble life with its poisonous taint. It strikes with destructive aim the most notable, sparing neither king nor statesmen. SCROFULA Even unto the third generation are the sins of the father made manifest. What a fearful heritage to bequeath an innocent child! Ah! the horrible ravages of this affliction! To its activity is due sore throat SORES sore liver, sore kidneys, sore lungs, sore skin, great ulcers, internal, external and eternal unless proper treatment is applied. The best remedy is a prescription used extensively in private practice by an old Atlanta physician. It is now prepared a thousand gallons at a time, and PIMPLES is sold in large bottles at only one dollar per bottle. It is called B. B. B. or Botanic Blood Balm. Under its peculiar influence the blood poison first becomes passive, then divided, and lastly is exuded through the liver, through the kidneys, and through the pores of the skin.

It is clearly the duty of every one who suspects the least trace of syphilitic or scrofulous poison in their blood, whether recently from contagion or from inheritance, to get it out of their system thoroughly PAIN by the use of this great remedy so that pimples, sores, aches, pains, weak kidneys and other symptoms will not be transmitted to innocent posterity.

Demand it of your druggist and take no substitute. Testimonials from those who have used it may be found in the illustrated "Book of Wonders" sent free to any address by the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

[sep27 cw 1y]

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[ma15 y]

NOTICE NO. 8789.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16516 for the n w ¼ of section 26, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John Headley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times.
[mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS
Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

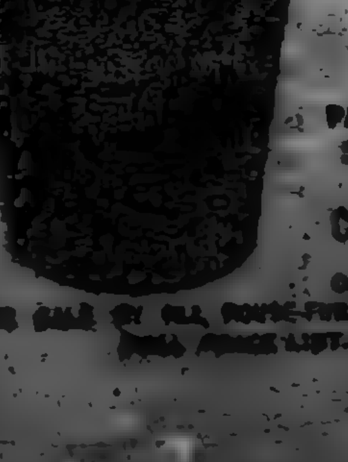
I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R..)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses.
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.



INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.
PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.
Apr25-6

M, ALA.

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson drug storehouse, and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastle, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than pills.
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Why would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best
Cough Medicine.
If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov22-y

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

A BULL FIGHT.

VIVID DESCRIPTION OF ONE WITNESSED IN MADRID.

How the Infuriated Animal is Despatched by the Sword in a Matador's Hand—The Picadors, Banderilleros, Etc.

I REMEMBER the only bull-fight I ever saw, and the only one I ever wished to see. I had other opportunities in Spain to witness the national spectacle, but had no desire to "assist" again in the brutal and disgusting performance. It was on Sunday; and this is the only day in the capital of Spain when the exhibition takes place.

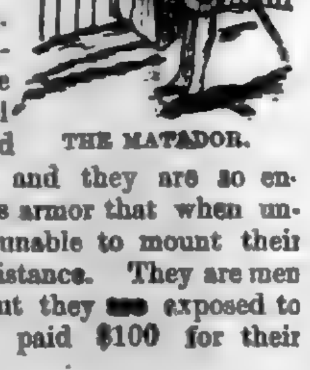
The regular programme for the Sundays of the mild season was to go to church in the forenoon, though this duty was as faithfully neglected there as in the large cities of this country; the cock-fight at 1 o'clock; the bull-fight at 3 o'clock, and the opera or the theatre in the evening. In the heat of the summer the "functions" are suspended for a brief period, and closed for the winter at the end of October, to be renewed in the early spring. I saw the last one of the season, and flaming posters all over the city announced that eight bulls would be killed on this special occasion, though six is the usual number.

These bulls are bred for the ring, and the bills inform the curious experts at what farms they were raised, for each had its own reputation to maintain. The principal actors are named, and are regarded in much the same light as the great actors of other lands.

Early in the afternoon the Calle de Alcala, the street leading from the Puerta del Sol, was crowded by the multitudes that hastened to secure good places in the Plaza de Toros, as the bull ring is called in Spanish. The best seats, in the shade, cost about $1, and from that down to a few reals, each of the value of five cents. There are boxes which are taken for the season by the nobility, and the prices are increased upon great occasions, as on Easter Sunday.

The bull ring at Madrid accommodates 12,000 persons. When I "assisted" the arena was full, but not more than one-sixth of the audience were ladies. The money received for admission is given to the hospitals, which is really all the good that can be said of the spectacle. Each "funcion" is presided over by some distinguished personage.

A band of music is present, and each entree of a bull is announced with a flourish of trumpets. The first scene is a procession of the bull-fighters of all ranks. There are of four classes. The chulos are very active men, who carry banners of red and yellow, with which they draw off the attention of the bull when he pursues other performers. They are often chased by the bull, and their principal business seems to consist in leaping over the high fence which surrounds the arena. They are paid from $15 to $20 for an afternoon.



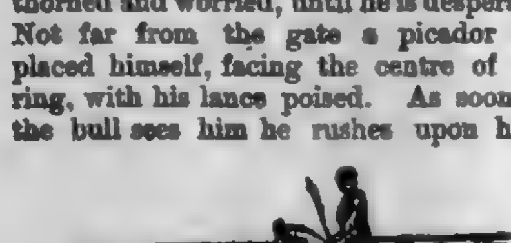
THE MATADOR.

The next in rank are the picadors or pikemen. They are mounted on old worn-out horses, which have done duty on the omnibuses or hacks. Their legs are protected from the assaults of the bull by splints of wood and sole leather, and they are so encumbered by this armor that when unhorsed they are unable to mount their steeds without assistance. They are men little esteemed, but they are exposed to danger and are paid $100 for their services.

A banderilla is a round stick about two feet long and an inch or less in diameter, armed with a barbed dart at one end. The second-class in rank use this implement, and are called banderilleros. They must be very expert, and they are paid from $50 to $75 for their services.

The highest class are the matadors, or espadas, the latter meaning "swords." They are the elite of the ring, and have a national reputation, receiving for each funcion from $250 to $300. Their photographs are for sale at the stores and they are looked upon with admiration. At least two of them are employed at each spectacle, with a substitute at hand in case of accident.

As soon as the procession has left the ring, a bugle blast is sounded, the doors of one of the entrances are thrown wide open, and the bull, if he be a gamey one, rushes furiously into the arena. He has been thorned and worried, until he is desperate. Not far from the gate a picador has placed himself, facing the centre of the ring, with his lance poised. As soon as the bull sees him he rushes upon him.



IN AT THE DEATH.

The horseman punches him with his spear and pushes him aside. The enraged animal then sees another picador on the other side of the arena, and he bounds towards him, charging upon him with his horns so furiously that his doom appears to be sealed. But he turns the beast aside as the first had done, and the bull is ready for another charge. The chulos then flaunt their high-colored banners at him, and he darts at them. They run and leap over the fence.

But the audience are not satisfied with this sort of bull-fighting and manifest their dissatisfaction. The nearest picador must "face the music" then; the bull rushes upon him and horse and rider are pitched into a heap upon the ground. The ready chulos rush to the rescue, and while some of them amuse the beast the others pick up the picador and put him on his poor old horse. Then it is seen that the bull has ripped up the animal, and he is ridden out of the ring with his entrails dragging on the ground, while the brutal spectators applaud.

Lightly and gracefully the banderilleros spring over the fence into the ring. As soon as the bull sees them he gives them a chance to play their part. Dropping his head so as to make his long horns available he rushes upon one of these men, who has a banderilla in each hand, profusely dressed with gayly colored papers. It looks then as though he would be transfixed on the horns of the mad beast, but he does not flinch, and when the animal is in the right place he adroitly swings his two implements over his head and drives the darts into the flesh of his foe just back of the shoulders. The darts remain and add to the fury of the bull. Sometimes two more darts are planted in him by the other man. These actors are enabled to retire with the aid of the chulos.

Then comes the fourth and last act of the tragedy. All the actors are dressed in Spanish costume, as we see it on the stage, and most of them look very gay; but the espada is clothed in sober black, perhaps as more becoming to his office. He marches to the front of the box in which the patron of the "function" is seated, makes a bow and delivers a little speech, asking permission to kill the bull for the glory of the city and the benefit of the hospital, adding that he will do so or be killed in the attempt. Then he throws his hat into the audience, and with his red and yellow banner in one hand and the long and slender sword in the other he approaches the bull with the dignity of a king.

For some time he plays with the bull, who flies at his banner every time, and he is able to show off his skill to the best advantage. He is vigorously applauded when he does a wonderful act. The audience are sometimes so carried away by their enthusiasm that they throw their hats into the ring, as well as cigars, and rarely, silver money. When he has done all he desires of this play he addresses himself to the master work of his office. He holds the banner in his left hand, but over on his right side, and, as the bull lowers his head and rushes upon it, he drives the sword down between his shoulders, reaching over the horns, and piercing the creature's heart, if he is fortunate enough to hit it. But he often fails. Sometimes he has to try several times, but the bull is sure to be killed in the end.

THE ASSAULT BY THE PICADOR.

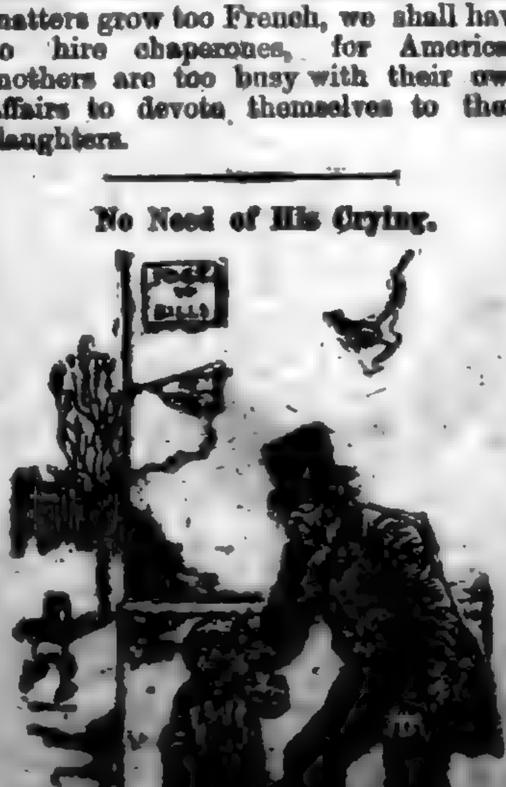
When he falls a pointed instrument is driven into the spine to complete the work beyond a doubt. A team of three mules abreast, gayly decorated with ribbons, then rush into the arena, makes fast to the dead bull and drags the carcass out, to be cut up for poor people's dinners. This is the end of the first scene; but the gates are hardly closed on the mule team before the bugle blast is heard again, another bull rushes to his certain fate, and the same programme is carried out again. One espada I saw lost his hold on his weapon, leaving it in the bull. By the law of the ring he must pull it out, for he must not use another sword. By standing on the high fence he succeeded in recovering it after many trials. Another bull leaped over the fence, six feet high, causing a great scampering among the chulos; but he was driven back. Some bulls will not fight, and then they are worried by dogs and fireworks.

An American lady who witnessed this performance said: "My sympathies were all with the bull. I should have been glad to see the men gored by him."—Oliver Optic, in New York World.

Professional Chaperones.

This is the time of year when the professional chaperone moves from the city to Newport or Saratoga says a New York letter. At Asbury Park or Bar Harbor they have no need of her. The professional chaperone is really a professional escort. She has not arrived at that dignity of station where mammas or uncles put our petted darling of fortune under her care, with or without money recompense, to be responsible for morning, afternoon and evening until turned over safely to the tender mercies of a husband. The professional escort's duties are more simple and her business more precarious. She advertises in a small way in a theatre programme or a weekly, not a daily newspaper. Your true chaperone never advertises at all. She make it known in modest notices to the public that she escorts ladies to the theatre or, if they like, to the races. If mamma want to send a couple of girls out for an evening she can put them into the professional escort's trusty hands. This lady will call for them, suitably dressed, take them to their seat, sit beside them, if a seat is purchased for her; if not, be on hand to see them safely home when the curtain falls. All this for possibly $1.25. At Saratoga, where she takes up her quarters in July, she can be retained on any occasion where the regular guardian, or dragon, in whichever light she may be regarded, is indisposed. She will take a young heiress driving or walking, or sit with her on the piazza, or have an eye on her at concert or hop, faithfully warding off the approaches of the impecunious young men. Sometimes she is engaged by the week when papa has deposited his darling and gone to the city to do business; then she thinks herself decidedly in luck. She is not in any way numerous, but I have seen two, seen the advertisement of one other and heard of three or four. If les convenances in such matters grow too French, we shall have to hire chaperones, for American mothers are too busy with their own affairs to devote themselves to their daughters.

No Need of His Crying.



"What's the matter, little boy?"

"That feller hit me."

"Well, I wouldn't cry if I were you."

"'Course you wouldn't, 'cause you're big enough to lick him."—Life.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

BEGINNING POULTRY RAISING.

We admire the young fancier who is governed by taste, for it is a much better and safer way of beginning than by picking up this or that breed merely because some breeders have lauded them to the skies. Taste is usually accompanied by fondness for the object of choice, and every experienced fancier knows that a real love for the birds one keeps is a great element of success. Begin in spring or fall to breed poultry, but be sure to begin slowly, and learn by degrees the art of mating, caring for and managing a small flock before you launch headlong into breeding on a large scale. Make the keeping of poultry a second pursuit in the beginning and until you have found it more agreeable, pleasurable and better paying than the occupation you first followed. Begin with good breeding stock though you may have to pay a big price. Remember that this is putting your money to big interest. After you have started their care or keeping will cost no more, or not much more, than if the same number of inferior or common fowls were kept, and the profits from the sale or use of the eggs and their living product, for either ornament or utility, is much greater than that realized from the best of the common sorts.—American Poultry Journal.

REMEDY FOR STAGGERS IN HORSES.

Vertigo, staggers or megrims in horses may be caused by almost any kind of brain disorder, such as tumors, congestion or from sudden compression of the jugular veins. Among young animals overfeeding and want of regular exercise often produces slight spasms or dizziness. During warm weather in summer, confinement in a warm, unventilated stable, from which the animal is suddenly taken into the open air, will sometimes produce a severe attack of vertigo, especially with horses predisposed to this malady. In treatment much depends upon the condition and age of the animal. If very fat, then restricted diet will be beneficial, giving an ounce of hyposulphite of soda dissolved in a pint of water; then mix with bran or ground feed. This medicine may be given three times a week for a month. If the horse is not fat, feed oats and good hay and avoid excitement, and in warm weather and when driving keep a wet sponge on the top of the head between the ears. Should the horse have an attack of vertigo while on the road or work in the field, loosen the cheek rein, throat latch and collar, and throw a handkerchief or light blanket over his eyes to shut out the light. Then, as soon as possible, apply cold water to the head and neck, but in doing so use every precaution to prevent fright.—New York Sun.

DEPTH TO PLANT SEED.

No infallible rule can be given for this. Even in the same locality the condition of the soil and variations of the seasons will make a considerable difference in this respect, Even opinions will differ as to the proper depth for planting. In a cold, wet soil, and especially if inclined to be stiff, seed should be planted near the surface; in a more sandy or loamy soil, a deeper covering will be better.

If the soil is warmer and moist, plant a little deeper, and if dry, still deeper. A certain stage or degree of warmth and moisture is essential in order to secure a good germination of the seed, and this should always be considered in determining the depth to cover the seed.

Some seed must be covered reasonably deep, while others should be covered as lightly as possible; in fact, some seed will germinate and grow by coming in contact with the soil, and without being covered.

In Colorado, Western Kansas, and other Western localities with a light, loamy soil, seed is planted deep; in fact, it is necessary in order to secure a proper growth of the plants. Corn is often planted ten or twelve inches deep, a depth that in other soils would be equivalent to burying entirely, as it would not germinate covered at such a depth. Usually four inches is sufficiently deep to cover corn in an average soil, unless it is loose or dry, when it will be better to increase the depth.

With the majority of small seeds, grass and vegetables, a good rule is to cover twice as deep as the length of the seed, this to be taken as an average season and an average soil; increasing the depth in a dry season if necessary, to secure the moisture essential to a good germination.

Oats need but a light covering, and can usually be covered with a harrow or brush. Wheat ought to be covered deeper. Potatoes planted in a good, loamy soil ought to be covered reasonably deep. A soil that is inclined to bake, will often form a crust through which it is impossible for the young plant to force its way whether planted deep or shallow.—Farm, Field and Stockman.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Set the hens at night.

Sunshine is better than medicine.

Poultry and fruit are twins—keep them so.

A nice flock of poultry ought to keep up a farmer's table in splendid shape.

Save the best birds for next year's breeding and send the others to market.

The early killed is the easily killed weed and the weed that robs the crop least.

If you are careful to keep the furrows straight you will do faster and better plowing.

Don't fool away your time with poor teams or poor implements. It is economy of time to have only the best.

If you would dry your soil, stir deep and often, but if you would retain the moisture, stir only the surface.

Almost everybody can get bees of some sort near home, and all you have do is to get such a queen as you want, by mail; and queens are carried by mail safer and quicker than hives of bees, even by express.

It is always best if you find that a colony has nearly finished a case of sections, and then have done but very little for two or three days, to remove it at once and give them a case of empty sections, as they might not finish it in several days.

Sorghum molasses will do for spring feeding whenever the bees fly freely; that is, providing the bees will pay any attention to it. Unless the quality of the sorghum is quite good, and no honey of any sort it to be had in the fields, bees will seldom work on it.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

THE COOK STOVE A SHAM.

A writer in the North American Review says that in the matter of economy the American cook-stove of the present day is "a scientific sham." He declares that we use every day in the year fifty times the fuel actually needed. Chief among the sources of this waste is the fact that we use cold-blast stoves. Our hot-air blast furnaces date from an invention of Nielson in 1828, and the same principle, when applied in the regenerative gas-lamp, results in more heat and light, with economy of fuel. The invention of a regenerative cooking-stove is now in order.

PRETTY FISH NAPKIN.

A pretty fish napkin can be made from a piece of fine bird's eye linen, twenty-seven inches square. From each corner cut a piece that will measure eight inches one way and six and a half the other. This will leave a piece shaped like an open envelope. On the two longest flaps have stamped a pattern of fish—three small ones and a large one on one flap and six small ones on the other. Work them first in outline in salmon-colored floss; fill in the fins and tails and all lines of shading in chain stitch with white floss. The lines representing water should be done in outline with pale blue floss. Fringe it all around an inch deep and hem-stitch the fringe before drawing all the threads. Fold the two flaps over first and then the embroidered ones, just to meet each other. The pattern is very handsome, worked entirely in white floss. —Brooklyn Citizen.

NUTRITIOUS FOOD.

The substance richest in muscle making is albumen, and is contained in the white of an egg and the lean of meat. The carbon needed to sustain the heat of the body is most abundant in vegetables and cereals, which furnish a large amount of starch; oil is also of importance in supplying carbon to the system, but does not nourish the muscle. Butter is the least objectionable of all fats; beef fat is more wholesome than lard, while the fat from salt pork and smoked bacon is less injurious than that from the fresh pork. Carbon is also supplied by the use of sugar which in moderate quantities has no ill effect. Nearly all fruits are rich in sugar, hence their worth as food. Eggs contain a great deal of carbon, and are for that reason excellent food, to combine with articles composed largely of starch. Phosphorus is another necessary element of food, especially where nerves and brain are overworked, and is found in fish, oysters, game, cheese and some vegetables. —Housewife.

PEPPER POULTICES.

A dear friend of mine, who was a born doctor, used to come in every day to see how her baby was thriving, because it was my first one, and she always claims a share of the little one. She would so often help me out in cases of emergency. For instance, if the baby had taken cold, and her breathing was hard and quick, Mrs. D. would say she must make a pepper poultice. After baby was dressed for the night Mrs. D. would go to the kitchen, get a small stew-pan, put in about a cup of milk and set it on the stove. As it heated she stirred in the ground, black pepper, a little at a time, till it was a thick paste. Then she took old flannel and spread on it this paste, an inch thick, and put it on as warm as the child could bear it, letting it come up on the throat and as high up on the shoulders as possible, pinning it with safety pins to the little undershirt. It will not blister, and the pepper will keep it warm a long time; in fact, all night, if the little one is sleeping comfortably. For that reason I prefer it to any other kind; and if the child should waken I never think it is best to take off a poultice unless I have another one hot or a thick piece of flannel real hot to put on in its place. This is also good for croup, asthma, or any acute inflammation of the throat or lungs. I hope some of our readers will try it and let us have the benefit of their experience.—Ladies' Home Companion.

SOUPS FOR THE MILLION.

Cream of Rice Soup—One pint of chicken stock, two tablespoonfuls of rice, one stock of celery, a slice of onion. Cook slowly for two hours. Put through a sieve. Add half a pint of hot milk, and a little butter, pepper and salt.

Beef Soup—Take one and a half quarts liquid from beef after having boiled one hour. Add part of a carrot, one onion and celery tips, all cut in small pieces, and season to taste. Serve hot from soup tureen.

Farina Soup—Take a rib of beef and put in a kettle of cold water (say about two quarts). Add one leek and a little celery. Boil about two hours. Then strain; add one-eighth pound farina and some chopped parsley and boil about fifteen minutes longer.

Potato Soup—Take five good sized potatoes. Boil in one quart of water, with one-half of an onion cut fine. Then strain through a sieve. Season to taste. Butter the size of a walnut. Add one cup of milk and return to fire and boil three minutes; then serve very hot.

Trimming Soup—Take the neck and giblets of a turkey and cover with five cups of water. Boil two hours, keeping the trimmings covered with water. Then add two tablespoonfuls of canned tomatoes, two stalks of celery, half an onion chopped; salt and pepper to taste.

Amber Soup—Get marrow bones and have the butcher break them into several pieces. Put in the soup kettle and add one small onion, into which three cloves have been thrust, three pepper corns, half a saltspoonful of thyme, a bay leaf and a bit of red pepper. Cover with cold water and simmer slowly for five hours. Cool, skim, strain and add salt to suit the taste.

Cream of Tomato Soup—One pint of milk, half a can of tomatoes. Put the milk in a boiler or in a tin pail and stand in hot water, so that it will become hot, but not boiling. Prepare the tomatoes as for stewing. Just before seasoning them add a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda. Strain the tomatoes and mix with the milk in the tureen just before sending to the table.

Celery Soup—One-third of a bunch of celery, washed, cut in dice and put on to boil in one quart of water, salted; while this is cooking cook one tablespoonful of onion in one-half cup of milk five minutes; then add one tablespoonful of butter, one of flour, a little pepper, and pour all into the boiling celery and water; strain and serve very hot; if this boils away add more water.—New York Press.

A [illegible] order of [illegible] is a part of [illegible].

CURIOUS FACTS.

The ancients slept on skins.

Wedding rings were used by the ancients.

King Alfred compiled the Saxon common law.

London was first lighted in 1414 with private lanterns.

Copper money first made its appearance in England in 1609.

The largest and most important city of South America is Rio Janeiro.

The first coach in England was built in 1565, for the Earl of Rutland.

Rude carriages were known in France A. D. 1547, in England in 1555.

A new candle has been brought out which extinguishes itself in an hour.

The granting of licenses as a mode of levying money was introduced into England by Richard I., about 1190.

The plant from which licorice is made is found on the shores of Lake Erie and farther west. It is called glycyrrhiza.

The fleece of ten goats and the work of several men for half a year are required to make a cashmere shawl a yard and a half square.

The University of Edinburg, which has risen to great fame, is among the earliest institutions of its kind in the world, being founded in 1581.

The idea that fish food was brain food had a run of ten years before any one asked why Esquimaux, who eat the most fish, had no mental smartness.

It is said that the word canopy comes from konop, a gnat or mosquito, and that the first canopies were neither more nor less than curtains to shut out those troublesome insects.

Isaac Keim, of Reading, Penn., has the fur of the largest fox ever killed on the Blue Mountains. The length, with tail, is over four feet. The fur shows that the animal was a cross between the red and gray foxes.

A remarkable story of canine intelligence comes from Orrville, Ga. A dog in that village has been trained to play the piano, and can, on direction, drum out any one of a half a dozen tunes with his right paw.

It has been discovered that the grave of William Penn is in a sadly neglected condition. There is not even a mound above it, and only a flimsy slab of stone stuck in the ground at the head or foot, no one can tell which.

An Arab rule for selecting a good horse is to measure him from the tip of the nose to the top of the withers, and from the latter point to the root of the tail. The longer the first measurement is in proportion to the latter the better the horse.

A North German custom and superstition is, that if the master of the house dies, a person must go to the bee-hive, knock and repeat these words: "The master is dead, the master is dead," else the bees will fly away. This superstition also prevails in England, Lithuania and in France.

The Raleigh tavern at Williamsburg, Va., was the cradle of liberty in Virginia, as Faneuil Hall was in Massachusetts. It was there the patriots of the Virginia House of Burgesses met when Governor Dunmore, dissolved that house in 1774, and there they appointed delegates to the first Continental Congress.

Suspenders were first known as gallowses, and right here the first light is thrown on the subject. Hanging criminals was probably known before suspenders were invented, but when they were brought to public notice it was doubtless considered a rare joke to call the articles on which trousers were hung by the same name as that on which sheep-steelers were hanged. The similarity in the uses of the gallows and the gallowses suggested the name, but the likeness ends there.

Smoke as an Instrument of Warfare.

The claim is made that smoke will play an important part in the warfare of the future, The London St. James's Gazette says that at Langford harbor it was artificially created in large quantities in order to form screens behind which an attacking party might unobserved approach within short range or forts and batteries. On the occasion referred to rafts laden with combustibles were set on fire and floated into positions from which the wind carried away the smoke in a dense cloud in the direction of the defense.

On the other hand since the introduction of modern ordnance and rapid rifle fire it has been felt that the huge volumes of smoke which would be belched forth during the battle of the present day would probably prevent the use of the big guns to the best advantage. Smoke, in fact, may according to circumstances be either a great assistance or a grave impediment in warfare.

Russian Convict Counterfeiters.

A set of coiners was discovered among the prisoners in Melètopole gaol in Crimea, Russia. The governor of this prison had been for some time past convinced that coining was being carried on, but had never been able to "place" the offenders until one night a peculiarly pungent odor rising above the usual smell of cheap tobacco fumes put him on the scent. He discovered that the convicts melted the lead for sixteen cent pieces in little cups over charcoal fires, which they lighted on the floor of their cells, dissimulating their operations behind their clothes. The casting of the coins was carried out in bed under the bed clothes. Three sixteen-cent pieces, it transpired, were considered an excellent night's work by each of the coiners.—Times-Democrat.

Towed by a Giant Sturgeon.

William Gerow, Andrew Seigler and William Hudson, all of Belleville, N. J., harpooned a sturgeon measuring over five feet in length and weighing 268 pounds, in the Passaic River. The fish swam away at race-horse speed, dragging the boat which contained the three fishermen after him. Before the men could prevent it their boat had come into collision with Andrew Scharfenberg's boat, and the four of them were thrown into the water. The sturgeon piloted the four men and two boats some distance farther before he succumbed to loss of blood from the wound. The four men were rescued, and the fish was brought to shore. He was dead.—New York Press.

Oklahoma.

Oh, precious Oklahoma
The promised land so fair—
How highly overrated!
Delusion and a snare!
[illegible] I sought to enter
Upon thy promised [illegible],
[illegible]

PRIMITIVE PATRIOTS.

The safety and strength of our nation must ever rest in the homes of its people.

In the log cabins of early days our fathers lived. Simple homes they were, but from within their mud-chinked walls there sprang a hardy race of men, full of love for home and liberty.

Strong in body and mind, they laid the foundation of America's greatness. Well was their work performed, for upon that solid rock has grown, as years have passed, the imposing structure of cherished independence.

Stately and grand, it is worthy of its designers.

Though the heroes of that time have long since passed away, they have left us rich by inheritance.

Whilst our fathers were planning America's future destiny, our sweet mothers were not idle, for in their ever-mindful care for the welfare of their loved ones, they discovered some of the best remedial agents known for the relief of the sick.

Good old-fashioned home-cures, prepared from roots and herbs—they have ever been standards of excellency.

Though lost for a time has been the preparation of these old-time "home-cures," they are again revived, and are known to the public as Warner's Log Cabin Remedies; chief among them being Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, the best of the old-time blood purifiers.

In those times every family was its own doctor, and the heroes and heroines of early days were wonderfully healthful and long-lived.

America owes its freedom to the rugged bodies and healthy minds of our fathers, and so long as the spirit of freedom they instilled prevails and a true appreciation of our grand institutions remains, there is no danger of the downfall of the Republic.

Pigeons a Success.

Superintendent Given, of the Rock Island Road, in Iowa, is making experiments with carrier pigeons, with a view to using them to supplement the telegraph service. He sent thirty-four pigeons by express from his home to Brooklyn, a station on the Rock Island, seventy miles east, and they were released by the station agent there. The birds first rose in the air and made a circuit of the town as if to get their bearings, and then took a bee-line straight west toward home. They made the seventy miles back in less than two hours, and all but three reached Superintendent Given's house in good condition. Wind storms often render the telegraph line useless, even if the wires are not blown down, and a set of carrier pigeons at each station might be made very serviceable in such an emergency.

A Rich Widow.

The subscription raised for Mrs. Garfield aggregated, when invested in government bonds, about $312,000. Gen. Garfield's life was insured for $50,000, the payment of which the companies promptly made. Congress also voted Mrs. Garfield the remainder of the salary which would have been due Gen. Garfield for the first year of service as president, which amounted to $40,000. The little estate which Garfield left aggregated some $30,000. This was all that he had been able to accumulate after a life of unusual activity. This makes her total estate, in round numbers, about $450,000 in money well invested. From this an income of probably $16,000 is derived. In addition to that, she has from Congress an annual pension of $5,000.

Public and Private Morals.

Politics ought to be conceived of as a branch of ethics. "The discussion of virtue is the province of political science." The end of the social organism, like the end of the individual organism, is freedom. And the only instrument of freedom is the moral law The public conscience should dominate customs, legislation, diplomacy, just as the personal conscience should dominate the thoughts, words, and works of every man.—Forum.

If disease has entered the system the only way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood. To this end, as is acknowledged by all medical men, nothing is better adapted than iron. The fault hitherto has been that iron could not be so prepared as to be absolutely harmless to the teeth. This difficulty has been overcome by the Brown Chemical Company of Baltimore, Md., who offer their Brown's Iron Bitters as a faultless iron preparation, a positive cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney troubles, etc.

Austria has sent a special commissioner to the U. S. to study agricultural methods.

What is sweeter than roses
 That bloom in the beauty of June?
Or the stately and fragrant lilies
 Whose bells ring a summer tune?
Ah, sweeter the roses blowing
 On the cheeks of those we love,
And the lily of health that's glowing
 The cheeks' red rose above.

But how soon the lily and the rose wither in the faces of our American women. Why is it? Simply because so many of them are victims of weaknesses, irregularities and functional derangements incidental to the sex. If they would use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription all these beauty and health-destroying ailments might be warded off, and we would hear less about women "growing old before their time."

Michigan papers are agitating for the restoration of capital punishment.

To regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, Dr. Pierce's Pellets excel. One a dose.

The Congregational Church, of Clapham, Eng., elected six women as deacons.

Mud [illegible].

Habitual constipation gives rise to piles and to other dangerous and painful affections, all of which may be cured by the use of Hamburg Figs, a fruit laxative which even children like. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Students, Teachers (male or female), Clergymen and others in need of change of employment, should not fail to write to B. F. Johnson & Co., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. Their great success shows that they have got the true ideas about making money. They can show you how to employ odd hours profitably.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.

Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'ig'r't'n Board, Portland, Ore.

The International Banking Co., 31 & 33 B'way, N. Y. City, call attention to their adv. headed "An Excellent Investment." They refer to Seligman & Co. and to Kessler & Co., bankers.

ALL diseases and disorders peculiar to women are cured by the timely use of Bradfield's Female Regulator. Sold by druggists.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle

Bronchitis is cured by frequent small doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption. 25c.

Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

All Tired Out from the depressing effect of the changing season, or by hard work and worry—you need the toning, building up, nerve-strengthening effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla to give you a feeling of health and strength again. Sold by all druggists. Be sure to get Hood's.

PENSIONS and all War Claims [illegible] FITZGERALD, Attorney, Washington, D. C.

[illegible]

AN EXCELLENT INVEST FOR EVERYBODY.
SAFE AND SEC
WITH $2
HOLLAND WHITE CROSS
Which Participates in THREE DISTRIBUTIONS EVE until it is redeemed with a prem
EVERY BOND MUST BE REDE
The redemptions take place on APRIL 1, AUG. 1 AND of each and every year.
The following enormous Premiums are Florins.
1 Premium a 200,000 —
1 Premium a 50,000 —
[illegible] Premium a 5,000 —
[illegible] Premiums a 3,000 —
[illegible] Premiums a 2,500 —
[illegible] Premiums a 1,000 —
[illegible] Premiums a 500 —
[illegible] Premiums a 250 —
10 Premiums a 100 —
46 Premiums a 36 —
50 Premiums a [illegible] —
780 Premiums a 14 —
Making a Grand Total of 382,970 distributed this year. Any one of the you may get if you hold such a bond.
holder must receive at least 14—25 florins bond is redeemed if he does not receive premium. We herewith repeat what we before—EVERY BOND MUST BE REDEE
These bonds were issued in the rich ing country of Holland and approved DECREE, in addition to which a SPECIAL
ANTEE and RESERVE FUND amounting HOLLAND FLORINS are deposited in the Netherlands (which is the GOVERNM OF HOLLAND) to secure the redemption and the payment of the premiums.
We offer these bonds to you at the low price of Eight ($8.00) Dollars cash, of which we will immediately forward bond, or, if purchased upon monthly we will allow you to pay for the same
Two ($2.00) Dollars a month for five ing you the same rights and privileges have if you paid the full price down at Money can best be sent either by DRAF York, POSTOFFICE or EXPRESS MONEY or in REGISTERED LETTERS to the dress: INTERNATIONAL BANKING
Established 31 and 33 Br
1874. New Y
N. B.—These Bonds are not to be any kind of Lottery or Lottery law, as decided by the Court of Appeals
State, by the Circuit Court of the U. S
N. Y., by the Criminal Court of St. L by the Superior Court of San Francisco are therefore legally transmitted mails and a legitimate article for refer by permission to
Messrs. J. & W. Seligman & Co., Mills Bld
Messrs. Kessler & Co., 54 Wall St., N. Y.
Anglo-Austrian Bank, Vienna, Austria
Austrian-Laender Bank, Vienna, Austr
AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHE Mention

SODEN MINERA WATE
Sold by all druggists. Information
SODEN MINERAL SPRINGS CO
Sole Agents, 15 CEDAR ST., NEW

REMARKAB
For two y rheumatism it disabled and confined bed for a during w could not hands to In S move my reduced in 112 to 85 lbs
ed by best only to Finally I took Swift's Specific, and improve. After a while was at my work past five months has been as well as I from the effects of Swift's Specific.
Jan. 8, 1889.
Ft.
Books on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed
SWIFT SPECIFIC Co.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts.
Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-10
gle or double action. Safety Hammerless Target models. Constructed entirely of ity wrought steel, carefully inspected manship and stock, they are unrivaled durability and accuracy. Do not be cheap malleable cast-iron imitation are often sold for the genuine article only unreliable, but dangerous. The WESSON Revolvers are all stamped rels with firm's name, address and dates and are guaranteed perfect in every sist upon having the genuine article, dealer cannot supply you an order sent below will receive prompt and careful Descriptive catalogue and prices furn plication.
SMITH & WESS
Springfield
Mention this paper.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULAT
Cures all Diseases Peculiar to W
BOOK TO "WOMAN" MAILED FREE
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLA
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Patronize HOME INDUST
BUY SOUTHERN-MADE
PRINTING IN
—FROM—
FRANK J. COHEN, General
23 East Alabama St., ATLANTA

KING'S IMPROVED CIRCULAR SAW MILLS.
FARM SAW
Write for Circulars.
With Universal Log Beam and Simultaneous
Works, also Engines, Wood Planers, Mach
SALEM IRON WORKS, SALE

Road Carts! EVERY ON W
10 per cent. cheaper than anybody.
Buggi
Don't buy before getting our prices
terms. THE GEO. W. STO
Name this paper. NASHVILLE

JONES HE PAYS THE FR
5 Ton Wagon S
Iron Levers Steel Bea
Tare Beam and Beam
$60.
Every size Scale. For mention this paper a
JONES OF BING BINGHAMTON

WASHINGTON INFORMATION
COLE & DEEBLE, Propri
923 F Street N. W., Washingt
General information furnished. Correspondence

WANTED—Every one to investi judiciously invested fortune; an oppo people with limited means. Send stamp for TYLER & CO., Kansas City,

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Business
Penmanship, Arithmetic, Short thoroughly taught by MAIL. Circ
Bryant's College, 459 Main St., Bu

Blair's Pills. Great English
Rheumatic
Oval Box, 34; round 14 P

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	16 00	22 50
4 Inches	13 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1889. NUMBER 33.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK. Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay

2018 and 2020 Ist Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction. We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

AN ITEMIZED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

The business portion of Biloxi, Miss., was destroyed by fire; loss, $100,000; insurance, $20,000.

The Pullman Palace Car Co., have sent a representative to Raleigh, N. C., and will fight the state tax levy in the courts.

Some three million feet of lumber in the yard of Monroe & Co., at Apalachicola, Fla., was burned on Wednesday, and it was only by hard work that the mill was saved.

The Seaboard & Roanoke Railroad bridges over the Nottoway and Merrin rivers, Va., are several feet under water and all communication South by that line has been cut off.

Dr. G. H. Goldsmith and T. C. Wilkie, of Stone Mountain, Ga., and who are brothers-in-law, fell out about a cow pasture and indulged in a bout with pistols. Wilkie received three wounds while the doctor was not hurt.

A large rotary boiler weighing 18,000 pounds, in the main building of R. William's paper mills, at Banning, Ga., exploded with terrific force, blowing the boiler ends out, destroying the building and throwing some of the timber over a quarter of a mile. The walls and the roof fell in, but no lives were lost, although every one were more or less injured.

The Henderson Steel Co., let the contract for the erection of a thirty ton steel plant, at Birmingham, Ala. The company has had a small experimental plant in operation over twelve months, and the stockholders have become fully satisfied of the success of the Henderson patents which they own. An excellent quality of steel is made from the phosphorous iron ore of the section.

Henry Mitchell, of Blount county, was lodged in jail at Birmingham, Ala., on a charge of counterfeiting. For several years Mitchell has lived alone in a little cabin in the mountains, remote from any settlement, and it was for a long time a mystery how he earned a livelihood. The authorities raided Mitchell's cabin and captured the mountaineer in possession of a complete outfit for making counterfeit dollars, halves and quarters.

Two little daughters of Lon Russell, of Carthage, Tenn., were poisoned Wednesday in a remarkable manner. They were playing around the yard and ate some red roses. Both were taken violently ill in a short time, and the older girl died. The younger lingered in great agony until next morning, and then died. Investigation shows that the roses were full of little green insects, and these are supposed by the physicians to have been poison.

A coroner's inquest was held on the body of William Bush, who died near Waynesboro, Va., in violent convulsions. The evidence resulted in the arrest of Ida Bush, the deceased man's wife, and Peachy Atkinson, charged with causing Bush's death by administering Rough on Rats and arsenic in his food. This had been going on since May 23d, when Bush noticed his first queer feeling. Arsenic was added to Rough on Rats, with fatal results.

A fire in Jacksonville, Fla., covered an area of four whole blocks, and portions of three others. Structures of all kinds were destroyed to the number of sixty-five. The losses foot up about $160,000. Many of the tenement houses were not insured, and will be a total loss to the owners. The locality was one of the worst in the city, and the fire, in one respect, was a blessing in disguise. The city council will extend the fire limits and the boundary ere long will be covered with brick structures.

The resignation of Rev. Dr. W. J. Darby closed his pastorate of eighteen years at Evansville, Ind., which was one of the most successful ever enjoyed by any minister in the state. During his pastorate he has preached 3,520 sermons, conducted over 500 funeral services and solemnized the marriages of over 1,000 couples. His resignation as pastor was made to take charge of the publishing works of the Cumberland Presbyterians, with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn., also to accept a professorship of the Cumberland Presbyterian University at Lebanon, Tenn.

The railroad blockade, owing to the washing away of the bridges in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, has caused a loss of several hundred thousand dollars to the truck farms around Charleston, S. C. The potato, bean and berry crops are just at their harvest, and hundreds of car loads of vegetables and fruit are now lying at the sidings awaiting transportation to New York and [illegible]. To add to the distress, the [illegible] crops are perishing for want of rain, while the floods have been so disastrous in the North. Only one slight shower is all the rain that has fallen there in six weeks.

Robert L. Howell, a young man 19 years of age, and Zach Aleywine, a night watchman, had a dispute in the round-house of the Marietta & North Georgia Railroad, in Marietta, and the lie passed between them. The dispute was about some potato slips sold by Aleywine to Howell; the latter went off after a pistol and shot Aleywine through the heart. There seems to be some kind of fatality about the watchmen at this shop. Almost exactly three years ago, a negro watchman was murdered while on duty there, and not the slightest clew has ever been discovered as to who did the crime.

J. H. Benjamin, editor of the DeLand News, shot and instantly killed Capt. J. W. Douglas, at New Smyrna, Fla., Thursday. Douglas is a prominent citizen of Daytonia, and a well-known politician. The shooting was the result of an old feud renewed by recent attacks by Benjamin in the columns of his newspaper. Douglas assaulted Benjamin, knocking him off the pier into the marsh and jumping on him, choking him and holding his head under the water. Benjamin managed to get hold of his revolver, and placing it against Douglas' body, fired. The ball entered his heart, and Douglas died almost instantly.

The Marietta & North Georgia Railroad has been changed to a standard gauge road. The change was made in one day without deranging a single schedule, and all trains made their regular schedules without any break or irregularity. The road has an immense force of hands at work extending the road toward Knoxville, Tenn., and everything is moving as fast as money and push can make it go. As soon as the Legislature meets, a charter will be procured and the road extended into Atlanta, making a thorough connection from Knoxville to Atlanta, from which place the Atlanta & Florida will give it an outlet to the Atlantic ocean, thus opening to the world the finest mineral lands in the South.

Just before sunrise on Thursday, as Alfred Prioleau, a negro, was going to his work, passing an unoccupied store near the railroad track, at Ridgeway, S. C., he was suddenly fired upon by Cornelius Means, also colored. The weapon used was a double-barrel shot gun. Means was about fifteen feet from his victim, and as Prioleau fell to the ground he rushed upon him and struck him three heavy blows with the butt of the gun, upon the forehead, breaking the weapon at the breech. Returning to the house, in front of which he had fired, Means laid by his gun and got his pistol. Then, standing over the now dead body, he pointed his pistol downward and fired once, the ball entering the wooden bridge on which the corpse lay. Means was arrested.

FRATERNAL GREETINGS.

UNION RECOMMENDED BETWEEN CONGREGATIONALISTS NORTH AND SOUTH.

At a meeting of the American Home Missionary Society, held at Saratoga, N. Y., to decide the condition on which Southern white churches that have recently applied for congregational fellowship shall be aided by the society, after a very earnest discussion of the present and future relations between them and the congregational churches and associations already in that region, the members of which are mostly colored, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: "In the full conviction that these churches are in accord with the principles of this society, and with those held by the congregational churches which it represents, Resolved, That we heartily welcome them to fellowship. We commend them to the fraternal sympathy and prayers of all our people, and we request the officers of the society to extend them such financial aid as they may need, as promptly as its treasury shall permit. Resolved, That this society rejoices to learn that an effort is being made to unite the Georgia Congregational Conference and the Georgia Congregational Association on principles of equal recognition and the fellowship of all churches of each body, and trust that such union shall be accomplished." Great satisfaction was expressed at the unanimous adoption of these resolutions, as at one time it was feared that there might be a serious split on the caste question."

GERMANY ANGRY.

The German papers say that unless the Swiss Bundesrath reproves the official concerned in the Wohlgemuth affair, Germany will take reprisals by restricting the frontier intercourse with freight, postal and passenger service. Wohlgemuth is a German police inspector, who was arrested in Switzerland, on the charge of bribing a Swiss to act as agent provocateur, and was expelled from the country.

GREAT LOSSES.

WHAT OFFICIAL FIGURES SAY OF JOHNSTOWN'S HORROR.

THE MONETARY LOSS PLACED AT $35,000,000—THE MORTUARY FIGURES PLACED AT 9,768—INSANITY, AND NOT CONTAGION, FEARED.

Notwithstanding the fact that many messages have been sent from Johnstown, Pa., indicating that diseases, the result of exposure, were exceedingly common, the fact is, that in the three largest hospitals, very few cases of any kind exist, and in over ninety per cent of these, the individuals are suffering from injuries occurring during and after the flood. Cases of pneumonia are very few, and the report that measles is, to a large extent, epidemic is false. The water sweeping through the valley with enormous force, has carried the soft mud of the river banks to distant and low-lying bottom lands and has covered the entire site of Johnstown with a layer of pure sand and gravel, varying in depth from a few inches to a foot. As the consequence of this, all cesspools have not only been thoroughly washed out but afterwards filled with sand. Every particle of dirt and city filth has been washed away and it would be hard to find, hygenically speaking, a more cleanly spot than the main portion of what was once Johnstown. The danger will be the accumulation of new filth, owing to the large number of strangers living in tents and the out-door life of the survivors. The mental condition of almost every former resident of Johnstown is one of the gravest character, and the reaction which will set in when the reality of the whole affair is fully comprehended can scarcely fail to produce many cases of permanent or temporary insanity. Most of the faces that one meets, both male and female are those of the most profound melancholy, associated with an almost absolute disregard of the future. A nervous state is further evidenced by a peculiar intonation of words, the persons speaking mechanically, while the voices of many rough looking men are changed into such tremulous notes of so high a pitch as to make one imagine that a child, on the verge of tears, is speaking. Crying is so rare that a correspondent of a newspaper says, he saw not a tear on any face in Johnstown, but the women that are left are haggard with pinched features and heavy, dark lines under their eyes. Indeed, evidence of systemic disturbance is so marked in almost every individual who was present at the time of the catastrophe that it is impossible, with the eye alone, to separate the residents from those outside. A lad named Dennie Fisher, whose mother and sisters and brothers had lost their lives in the flood, on Thursday committed suicide while in a fit of despondency by hurling himself from the top of a building into the water and drowning. Attempts to form statistics of the losses, show that the number of lives lost foot up to 9,678 and the financial loss is $35,000,000, of which the Pennsylvania Railroad lose $10,000,000.

The work of recovering the dead goes on with undiminished vigor, as the workmen become accustomed to their ghastly finds and the horrors of the scene become commonplace, they apply themselves more diligently to their duty and labor with a system that produces rapid results. One gang of workmen on Thursday located the day express, which was swept away at Conemaugh. The ruins of the train lie about one hundred feet from the fourth buttress from the western end of Stone bridge. Parts of the parlor cars have been found, as well as traces of the passengers. The baggage of Miss Clara Christman, of Beauregard, Miss., was found. She was a missionary on her way to Brazil for the Woman's Foreign Mission Society of the Methodist church. It is evident that many lives were lost on this train, more than at first supposed. The whole train's fate is still a mystery, at least the passengers have not so far been found and located. There was a small-sized riot at the labor camp on account of there not being food enough for the men or utensils to cook it with. Mr. Flinn, who is at the head of the labor bureau, made a speech to the men and stated that it was impossible to get things down from the railroad, but that they would be obtained as soon as possible. He also stated that they did not want men who expected to live on the fat of the land, and that this was principally a work of charity, even though men did get paid for their work. A few minutes after this, as Mr. Flinn was drinking some black coffee and eating some hard crackers and cheese, two workmen came up to him and commenced to complain because they did not have soup and meat. This enraged Mr. Flinn, and after telling them that he thought he was used to as good eating as they were, he ordered the guards to take the men out of town and not permit them to come back again. This seemed to have the desired effect, and there was no more [illegible].

The people breathe a little easier now that all apprehension as to further suffering with hunger have been dissipated. Seven cars of supplies, brought up Thursday evening, are ready to be unloaded. The track is not repaired far enough to bring cars opposite to the center of the city, and boats cannot get down to where they are. The mayor telegraphed the Governor that enough provisions are on the way to last the people several days. The relief committees have been exceedingly busy, and are constantly finding cases of suffering. There is a very large class who are not applying for relief, but who have lost all their household goods and all their clothing. These include good classes of people, many of whom lived on the principal streets. A wall has been thrown around Johnstown, and no one can enter it unless it is shown that he has business in the city. The Pennsylvania Railroad has been making every effort to keep out crowds, but the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, which opened Thursday, brought in a flood of people from Somerset Valley. Gen. Hastings heard of it and after a conference of officers it was decided to send company F of the Fourteenth regiment to Somerset for the purpose of preventing any further rush of people that way. Another regiment of soldiers will be ordered out to do guard duty.

WAS OFFENDED.

Jonas Nelson, a negro living in Clarendon county, S. C., has been arrested on the charge of disturbing religious worship, under very strange circumstances. While his grandchild was being buried, Jonas, who had been a silent spectator during the burial service up to the time the coffin was lowered into the grave, stepped forward and jumped into the grave and snatched the coffin from its place, threw it out, and then jumping out of the grave himself, seized the coffin, placed it on his shoulder, and walked off. The bystanders were so greatly horrified that no one attempted to stop him. The child had been dead about thirty-six hours, and decomposition had set in, and as Jonas walked off, the water trickled out of the coffin down his clothing. It is not known where he carried the child, as no one followed him. He claims as his reasons for thus acting that he had not been treated with proper respect by the mother of the child in being promptly notified of the death and the time and place of burial.

AMERICAN VESSEL

SEIZED IN BRITISH WATERS BY A BRITISH GUNBOAT.

A special dispatch from Ottawa, Ont., says: "The marine and fisheries departments received a dispatch from Capt. Knowlton, of the cruiser Vigilant, reporting that he had seized an American vessel. When two miles north of Cape North, he discovered a part of the crew of the Gloucester schooner Mattie Winship, engaged in fishing, they being at the time barely two miles from land. He immediately proceeded to overhaul the vessel. On boarding the Winship, Capt. Knowlton obtaining no satisfactory explanation from the American skipper, made the formal seizure for violation of the fishing laws, under the existing treaties. The government will await a full report by mail before taking action. The skipper of the Mattie was not in possession of a license under the modus vivendi.

SEATTLES' LOSS.

A fire broke out on Thursday in the Pontius building in Seattle, Washington Territory, and was raging over a district of five or six blocks, with tremendous fury. The wind was from the north, and the direction of the fire was along the water on Front street, and from the water front to the big brick block, between Columbia and San Francisco streets. To add to the peril, a smart breeze began blowing off the bay, fanning the flames, and about the same time a thousand feet of hose was caught in the advancing blaze and destroyed. Before the flames were extinguished, nearly all the business part of the place was destroyed.

A VIGOROUS OFFICIAL.

A dispatch from Jefferson City, Mo., says that the secretary of state has issued a circular letter to all county clerks in the state, to at once return to him a complete list of all corporations doing business in their respective counties. It is the duty of the secretary of state to enforce the new law for the punishment of pools, trusts and trade conspiracies, and this is the first move to ascertain the status of each organization, so as to open the way for a full enforcement of the law. Great uneasiness is felt in certain business circles as to the extent to which the law will be enforced. The secretary of state says that the full vigor of the law will be [illegible].

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

APPOINTMENTS, DECISIONS, AND OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

J. Lowrie Bell, superintendent of the railway mail service, states that the transportation of mails is in a confused state, owing to railroad interruptions throughout the country.

Justice Gray, of the United States Supreme Court, and Miss Jeannette Mathews, daughter of the late Justice Mathews, were married Tuesday at the residence of the bride.

Surgeon General Hamilton, of the Marine Hospital Service, left Washington on Thursday for Johnstown, Pa., to confer with the state board of Pennsylvania regarding the sanitary condition of affairs in the flood-blighted district.

Every conceivable scheme has been worked to have the President and the cabinet photographed in a group. Personal friends of the chief executive and members of the cabinet have solicited it as a personal favor to photographers, but all the overtures have been refused. Gen. Harrison and Mr. Wanamaker are especially averse to having their photographs displayed in public places.

A report of the American consul at Amoy, China, to the State Department, furnishes some startling facts as to the adulteration of tea shipped from that country to the American market. Next to England, this country is the greatest tea market in the world; and as the system of British inspection is now very strict, Chinese merchants are hunting up other fields to which they may send their spurious and doctored goods.

Gen. Hepburn, Solicitor of the Treasury, has rendered an official decision that the importation of learned professors from Europe to teach in American schools and colleges "would be clearly a violation of the terms of the alien contract labor law." Under a similar ruling, the congregation of a church in America is prohibited from engaging a minister of the Gospel to preach to them, if he is not a citizen of this country.

The President on Wednesday appointed the following postmasters: John R. Smith, at Goldsboro, N. C., vice J. H. Hill, resigned; Theodore E. McCrary, at Lexington, N. C., the office become presidential; Charles P. McCabe, at Leesburg, Va., vice George R. Head, removed; Barnard F. Ludwig, at Huntsville, Ala., vice Mary E. Clay, removed; Patrick E. McMurray, at Jacksonville, Fla., vice H. W. Clark, removed; Eliza A. Adams, at Lake City, Fla., the office become presidential.

The President on Thursday appointed, to be collector of internal revenue, John B. Eaves, of North Carolina, for the 5th district of North Carolina. William A. Allen, of Tennessee, for the 2d district of Tennessee, vice Nathan Gregg, removed. David A. Nunn, of Tennessee, for the 5th district of Tennessee. Eaves is a farmer by occupation. Allen is a resident of Greenville, and has been interested in the manufacture of tobacco in Greenville county, and in Virginia. Nunn is a native of the state, and lives at Brownsville.

In response to a call issued by the commissioner of the District of Columbia, a public meeting to devise means of aiding the sufferers by the flood at Johnstown and vicinity, was held Tuesday. There was a large attendance, including the commissioners of the District, President Harrison, Private Secretary Halford, Postmaster General Wanamaker, Secretary Noble and many representatives of business and social life of Washington. Shortly after three o'clock the meeting was called to order by Commissioner Douglass, who introduced President Harrison as presiding officer of the meeting. He said this was no time for a speech; that while he talked, women and children were suffering for the relief which the meeting was called to grant. Calls for subscriptions were made and the responses were numerous and for quite large amounts, a half dozen being $500 each. About $10,000 was raised in the hall. The President, in dismissing the meeting, said: "May I express the hope that this work will be earnestly and thoroughly pushed, and that every man and woman present here will go from this meeting to use their influence, in order that supplies of food and clothing so much and so promptly needed may be supplied, and that either to-night or to-morrow morning cars well freighted with relief may go from Washington."

POOR PRACTICE.

On Tuesday, a negro desperado fired five shots at an Atlanta, Ga., policeman, and the officer fired six shots at the man he wished to arrest, but none of them took effect. [illegible]

Queer Parisian Characters.

Among the street characters of Paris are the breadcrust scavengers. Breadcrusts, dry, stale and moldy, are found in the streets, on the corners of courts, and on the dust heaps, and this individual does not seek them out with the intention of eating them, oh, dear no, but is fully aware of the fact that morsels of dry bread, diligently amassed one by one will in time fill a sack, and then for 20 sous he can sell it to the rabbit breeders. This succulent animal, so much esteemed by the keepers of the cabarets in our suburbs, does not live entirely on cabbage leaves; it eats bread also, and a pretty large quantity of it, too, and it is to provide these furry mammalia that the trade of breadcrust hunting has been created.

Another strange occupation is that of the "fire-seller." This enterprising being has a small double furnace, with a thin iron ring, in which is a brazier. As soon as the first cold blasts of winter are felt, he appears with his apparatus in the markets in the early hours of morning and supplies the market people with a little warmth. They must keep their own fires going, and to do this they apply to the "fire-seller," who charges 1 per cent. per fire, to supply enough caloric to enable them to light their "chauffiere."

I know another type of quite a different stamp, the "guardian angel." You may smile, but he really exists, and if you want to see him ministering to his people, you must go to the low wine shops and find out the benefactor whose business it is to conduct to their homes those revelers who have overstepped the bounds of sobriety and are too far gone to look after themselves. And when a "guardian angel" takes a benighted bacchanalian under his wing he does not leave him until he has safely seen him to his own house and left him in safety.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Was There Ever Such a Dog?

A correspondent sent me some time ago an excellent dog story which he had culled from a Sunday school paper published here in Boston, says a writer in the Post. The dog's name was Punch, and he is described as a resident of Boston. He had been accustomed to have three extensive meals a day, which his master, thinking quite rightly to better his condition by so doing, reduced to one meal, per saltum. The result is thus described:

Our dog's first day was anxious and expectant. He ate his heavy meal, and barked in vain for his supper. The second was like unto it; the third and the fourth Punch began to consider. The family, watching that midday meal on the fourth day, saw Mr. Punch divide his portion into two equal shares. One of these he seized and pushed under a bench, then, returning, devoured the remainder. At supper-time the same performance was gone through. At breakfast "his cubboard was bare," but he had provided for three meals a day, and ever since, like a well-regulated dog, puts himself upon "rations."

Can any of my correspondents match or confirm this interesting and not-incredible tale?"

African Horsehair.

"Hair," said an upholsterer, "is higher now than for a long time. Twelve years ago I could buy for 35 cents the pound wholesale what costs me 60 cents today. The most and best of it comes from Africa, whence it is imported in bales. It has to be subjected to several cleansing processes before it is ready for use. The trade is constantly having other material presented to it, purporting to be as good, but nothing has been, and I don't believe ever will be, found better than clean, well-curled African horsehair."—New York Sun.

[illegible]

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Be a man of big faith.

Don't get discouraged.

Work like a beaver.

Go in to win or die.

Eat plenty and sleep well.

It is a poor goose that will not baste herself.

Let the company be neither noisy nor mute.

If you note all the details you have not seen the whole.

Success in life is as much due to self confidence in others.

Let fancy and judgment, not cost, prepare all your dishes.

The older a man becomes the more he has need of his mother.

Parents spoil the children, but men spoil themselves unaided.

Life is a great public park where it is forbidden to gather flowers.

A man needs to be well educated before he can be dishonest successfully.

The wheels of justice grind slow, but never stop their ceaseless revolutions.

You speak well of your enemies, you are a god—or the cleverest man born.

A question seems to be settled, in some people's minds, if a popular man says so.

"Book knowledge" is the imitation, for the real can only be obtained by experience.

Tasting Without a Tongue.

There exists a mistaken notion that the tongue is the sole organ of taste, just as the idea, natural but erroneous, is extant that it is necessary for purposes of speech. As a matter of fact, taste is as largely resident in the palate as in the tongue, while numerous cases are on record in which persons who have suffered the loss of the tongue have been able to speak with clearness. Recently a proof was given of the widespread nature of the taste-sense in the mouth. In a patient from whom the tongue had been very completely removed, it was found that sensations of sweet, sour and bitter nature were still present. Curiously, too, no sense of salt-taste remained. These facts would almost seem to prove that various parts of tongue and palate are set apart for the appreciation of different "tastes." This idea supports the fact that the tongue possesses on its surface papillæ or taste organs of different shapes and sizes. It is consistent to assume that such variations in the ends of the nerves of taste imply variations in their functions.—New York Telegram.

Care of Clothes Lines.

Clothes lines should not be left out stretched from nail to nail, week after week. If wound on the reel and taken in as soon as the clothes are, they will last for years. But if left out, the combined influence of rain, dew, snow and sun, in a short time cause them to mildew and rot. Also, the rough surface catches and holds the dust and dirt, until your clean, wet clothes wipes it off, leaving an ugly stain on them, which requires much rubbing and many boilings to entirely remove. The line ought never to be tied around iron nails, as is the general custom, for they soon rust and fray it. Wooden pins are better. If the first quality of galvanized wire is used instead of the rope line, all trouble is obviated; for the dust does not adhere to this and the surface is so smooth that the clothes will not cling in taking down. Time, of course, and weather, can have no perceptible effect upon the wire, as it may always be left up ready for use.—Rural Home.

An Echo.

[illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 13, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - - 75
One copy four " - - - - 50

A Birmingham telegram says: H. A. Wilson has been appointed clerk to the Superintendent of the Birmingham public building at a salary of $4 per day.

"What shall we do with our old clothes?" asks a correspondent. Start a newspaper to fill a long felt want; you will need then afterward.—Exchange.

The Board of Publication declinto accept the resignation of Mr. H. D. Lane as editor of the state organ of the Farmers' Alliance. He therefore continues as editor of the official organ.

Col. Chas. C. Langdon, Secretary of State, died at his home in Mobile on Saturday last at the advanced age of 84 years. He was a native of Connecticutt, but had been a resident of Alabama since early manhood.

We have read with deep interest Judge Wm. R. Smith's latest book "Reminiscences." It touches mainly upon Alabamians at the time that Tuskaloosa was the social, political and literary capital of the State, bringing in Wm. L. Yancey, of Montgomery, in comparison with Henry W. Hilliard. Judge Smith should now give us a work of later and wider scope, as he promises to do in the conclusion of the work before us.

A gray haired old man named Holloway has been convicted of murdering a man named Slater in Pittsburg, Pa. Slater was killed at his request. He and Holloway were on a spree, and he said to Holloway; "I wish somebody would cut my throat. "I'll do it for you, Slater," said Holloway; and he did, thinking apparently that he was doing his friend a service. The defendant's lawyer tried to show that their man was crazy, but the jury refused to accept that view.

This reminds us of the story told of one of the Louisiana "tigers" during the war. After the first battle of Manassas the "tiger" was "prowling" on the battle field. Coming upon a wounded federal soldier, the soldier begged the "tiger" to kill him and put him out of his misery. Whipping out the huge knife which that command carried at that period of the war, the "tiger" quickly cut the throat of the federal. Then looking around benignantly on other wounded federals, he kindly remarked: "Can I accommodate any of you other gentlemen?" It is useless to say that this friendly offer was hurriedly declined.

Blessedness of Labor.

Labor rids us of three great evils—irksomeness, vice and poverty.

It is the primal curse, but softened into mercy, made the pledge of cheerful days and nights without a groan.

A perpetual dream there has been of paradises, and some luxurious Lubberland, where the brooks should run wine and the trees bend with ready baked viands; but it was a dream merely; an impossible dream. Is not labor the inheritance of man? And what labor for the present is joyous and not grievous? Labor, effort, is the very interruption of that ease which man foolishly enough fancies to be his happiness; and yet without labor, there were no ease, no rest so much as conceivable. Only in free effort can any blessedness be imagined for us.

Necessity is always the first stimulus to industry; and those who conduct it with prudence, perseverance and energy will rarely fail. Viewed in this light the necessity of labor is not a chastisement, but a blessing—the very root and spring of all that we call progress in individuals, and civilization in nations. It may, indeed, be questioned whether a heavier curse could be imposed on man than the complete gratification of all his wishes without effort on his part, leaving nothing for his hopes, desires or struggles. The feeling that life is destitute of any motive or necessity for action must be of all others the most distressing and the most insupportable to a rational being. The Marquis de Spinola, asking Sir Horace Vere what his brother died of, Sir Horace replied, "He died, Sir, of "having nothing to do." "Alas!" said Spinola, "that is enough to kill any general of us all."

Pensacola-Birmingham.

[Special to the Birmingham News.

New York, June 1.—The contract for metals, coal and machinery for the Nicaraguan Canal Construction Company will be given to Birmingham and shipped via Pensacola. A large contract was closed to-day by the construction company with a Pensacola firm for all the lumber necessary for the work of this canal. The amount involved in this lumber contract alone will run up into the millions.

It is said by those in authority that Pensacola will be the port for the business of the Nicaraguan canal, being the nearest United States port to its entrance. This statement would seem reasonable. The Birmingham and Pensacola friends here are jubilant over the luck which has fallen to those cities.

The News speaking editorially of the above, has the following to say:

The New York special this day to The News is good news. The Nicaraguan canal is now an assured' fact, and Birmingham is the first city to receive the benefits. The lumber contracts which Pensacola receives makes things lively in that grand old city. Birmingham and Alabama are more than ever interested in the annexation of Pensacola and the new tobacco empire of West Florida to this state. The completion of the Nicaragua canal necessitates this union. Let Birmingham be represented at the West Florida Annexation Convention, which meets at Chipley, Fla., on July 4th.

Dawson's Murderer.

It is expected that Doctor J. M. McDow will be tried at the Court of Sessions, before Judge Kerslaw at Charleston, S. C., June the 26th, for the murder of Capt. F. W. Dawson, last March. He has been confined in the county jail since the commission of the crime, and no effort has been made to obtain his release on bail. He will be defended by Esquires Gov. Magrath and Asher D. Cohen, of the Charleston bar, who will plead self defense. The State will be represented by Solicitor Jervey and possibly assistant counsel.

New interest has been excited in the case by the drawing of the jury which will try the case. The panel consists of thirty six men, of whom fourteen are negroes, the largest number of negroes drawn to serve on a jury at any recent court. One of the white jurors drawn has been dead for several years. Some strong comments have been made upon the complexion of the jury. McDow's friends are confident that he will be acquitted. Many law abiding citizens fear that the most that the State can hope for is a conviction of manslaughter.

LOST HIS WIFE.

And Over Six Hundred Dollars in Cold Cash.

The Montgomery Advertiser of Tuesday chronicles the following:

Mr. C. L. Talbot, of Dale county, was in Montgomery yesterday.

He came here looking for his wife and children.

To an Advertiser reporter, who chanced to meet him on the street, he told the story of how he came to lose his wife and children, as follows:

"I am a native of South Carolina, and came to Alabama some months ago. Our removal to this State was under peculiar circumstances. My brother-in-law, Jordan Green, killed Willie Casey. Jordan Green had a wife and five children, and I had a wife but no children. For the sake of his safety, I sold out all my property in South Carolina and we all came to Alabama. We first went to Eufaula, but only staid there awhile, and then went to Dale county. After we had been there a few weeks, my wife told me that Green, who is her brother, was wrong and would kill me if we continued to live together. I then decided to go on down to Geneva county and buy a home, and let him go his own way. I left home for that purpose. I was gone several days, and when I returned I found that Green and his wife and children had gone and taken my wife with them. They left on the very night of the day I started to Geneva. I am satisfied that they forced my wife to go with them for the sake of $688 in cash which I left with her. I traced them to Abbeville, and from there to Fort Gaines, and lost trace of them there. I then came across the country to Union Springs, and there I heard that they had been seen coming toward Montgomery; but I have heard nothing of them here. Jordan Green was known in Eufaula and Troy as Bill Jones, and his real name is W. J. Gray. He has killed two men, one in Tennessee before he went to South Carolina, and then Willie Casey in South Carolina. They took my wife and money and all my clothing and furniture, and I have no idea where they are. I am going to continue the search for them, and any information you may obtain for me will be thankfully received. From here I am going to Columbus, Ga."

Talbot described Green as a good looking man with black hair, fair complexion, blue eyes and red moustache, weighing 170 pounds.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Gems of Thought.

Nothing sharpens the arrow of sarcasm so keenly as the courtesy that polishes it. No reproach is like that we clothe with a smile and present with a bow.

Those who seek happiness in ostentation and dissipation are like those who prefer the light of the candle to the splendor of the sun.

The surest way to please is to forget one's self and to think only of others.

Politeness is as natural to delicate natures as perfume is to flowers.

We know the value of a fortune when we have earned it, and that of a friend when we have lost it.

If we had no defects we would not take so much pleasure in discovering those of others.

A homely man of merit is never repulsive. As soon as he is named his physique is forgotten; the mind passes through it to see the soul.

Editors and Lawyers.

It has been suggested by a newspaper writer that there was a similarity in the profession of editor and lawyer; and the proposition has been urged in extenuation of the offense of accepting a subsidy by a newspaper man, that there was no more impropriety in it than for a lawyer to accept a fee for defending a criminal. It is the gravest of errors to suppose that the lawyer and editor sustain the same relation to the public, and it would result in hopeless prostitution of the press if the supposition should generally prevail. There is absolutely no profession that differs so widely from the editor's in his relation to the public as does that of the lawyer. Compare their clientage. The client of the lawyer is always an individual or a corporation. The client of the editor is the public welfare. The lawyer is at best a special pleader. His profession is not even ostensibly to support the cause of justice. He is as likely to be called to support the wrong side of a case as he is to be retained on the right side. To-day he defends the vilest criminal and to-morrow he pleads the cause of a wronged individual. Whether obstructing justice with technicalities, or appealing to it for redress for an injured party, he is equally bound to exert his professional energy for his client. His services are for sale, and if by the effort of his genius he can cheat the prison of a thief or a murderer he is just as much bound to do it, provided he is retained by the criminal, as he is to secure reparation for injury committed.

How different from all this is the mission of the editor. His publication is the reflector of the best collective moral sentiment of the whole people. He is not in a strict sense the molder of public opinion. It is rather his duty to crystalize and give voice to the prevailing sentiment and to harmonize the better elements of society, to the end that they may work amicably together for the common good.

There is no ground too high for the editor to take. It is impossible for him to overestimate the dignity and importance of his responsibility if in considering it he will only lose sight of the man and his wants, and reflect on the community and its needs.—Exchange.

Reading Aloud.

No one can serve others without doing good to himself. A good reader, for instance, gratifies others by reading aloud, and he also strengthens his own body. So wholesome is the practice of reading aloud, that medical authorities agree in pronouncing it a a healthy and invigorating exercise for the mind and the body.

The late Sir Henry Holland an eminent London physician says in his Medical Notes persons who have a tendency to pulmonary disease should methodically practice "those actions of the body through which the chest is in part filled or empted of air."

He advises those whose chests are weak should read aloud at stated intervals and even recite or sing, using due caution as to posture, articulation, and the avoidance of excess.

"These regular exercises of the voice," he adds, "may be rendered as salutary to the organs of respiration as they are agreeable in their influence on the ordinary voice."

President Harrison has refused time and again to have his picture taken surrounded by his cabinet.

Alabama Midland.

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle, of New York, under date of May 25th, contains the following cheering news in regard to this road:

"A map of this road and its connections appears in the Inventors's Supplement issue today. The road is now finished from Bainbridge, Ga., to the Alabama state line, a distance of 35 miles; also a division of 25 miles at Montgomery and 94 miles intervening has been graded and the track is being rapidly laid. Negotiations for extending this road to a connection with the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham are in an advanced state, and the division running northwest from Montgomery will begin in July and be completed to Tuskaloosa, Ala., 110 miles, by January 1, 1890."

A box of Ayers Pills has saved many a fit of sickness. When a remedy does not happen to be within reach, people are liable to neglect slight ailments and, of course, if serious illness follows they have to suffer the consequences. "A stitch in time saves nine."

The prospects for good crops in this section of country is now flattering.

It is estimated that between 12,000 and 15,000 lives were lost in flood at Johnstown, Pa.

Dick Hawes, of Birmingham, Ala., is sentenced to hang July 12th.

Notice.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 4th, 1889.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Redding E. Jones, Jr., against General J. Bryant, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 14759, dated October 30th, 1883, upon the e ½ of s e ¼ and s w ¼ of s e ¼ section 86, township 22 north, range 15 east, in Chilton county, Ala., with a view to the cancellation of said entry, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at Clanton, Ala., before Wm. H. Foshee, Commissioner, who takes testimony on the 15th day of July, 1889, and at this office on the 20th of July, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

J. G. Harris, Register.
jun13 Wm. C. Jordan, Receiver.

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, In the Probate Court of said county.

To the heirs at law and legatees of the estate of M. C. McRee, deceased: Take notice that on the 21st day of May, 1889, A. J. McRee, as administratrix of the said estate filed in said court her petition in writing and under oath, praying for an order of the said court, to sell all the real estate of said estate, described in said petition, upon the ground that a sale of the same is necessary for the payment of the debts of said estate; and take notice further that the said court has appointed Monday, July 29th, 1889, a day for hearing said petition, at which time you can appear in said court and contest said application if you choose so to do.

Dated June 10th, 1889.
H. J. CALLEN, Probate Judge.

Register's Sale.

Mary E. Hamrick vs. James M. Huggins et. als.

By virtue of a decree rendered at the March term 1889, of the Chancery Court at Columbiana, of the sixth district of the Northeast Chancery Division of the State of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at Clanton, in Chilton county, on Monday, the 24th day of June, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following real estate, situated in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: The south half (s ½) of section fourteen (14) township twenty-three (23) range thirteen east (13 e).

D. R. McMILLAN,
Register in Chancery
May 30th 1889. Shelby Co. Ala.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul10 y

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Save Your Hair

BY a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
Drs. STARKEY and PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N. C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. Moore, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK
THE ONLY
★ ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
★ INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—

Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED [illegible]

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The Age-Herald, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the Weekly Age-Herald and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

The Lawson Carpet Co.

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (Wm. Lawson.)

BAINS & PORTER.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE.)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,

MOULDINGS,

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.

H. M. MANCHA,

204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.

THOS. H. HOLT,

PRACTICAL WORKMAN,

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Marble.

— Manufacturer of all kinds of —

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, - - Alabama.

nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,

—AND—

BUILDERS' HARDWARE.

Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street.

Birmingham, Ala.

12 29 6

rpet Co.
Ala.
he attention of
to their large ck of low Shades,
l Novelties.
nd prices are guaranteed as markets.
Respectfully,
T CO. (Wm. Lawrence)

RTER.
EBLES.)
GGISTS.
ceive Prompt At-
A SPECIALTY
nd 20th STREETS,
Ala. mpany's Prices.☜
June 10 y

SHEE, HEE,) ceries HANDISE.
bama.
patronage heretofore
OMAS FOSHEE.

M, omery, Ala.,
R ROOMS,
Scouring and dying
t Street.

PER,
NDOW SHADES,
OULDINGS,
—AND—
TICAL PAPER HANGER.
HA,
ERY, ALABAMA.
10 cents up. Will send apr 11-y

E WORKS.
OLT, RKMAN,
an Marble.
of —
STONE WORK.
Fourth Street,
Alabama.

EPER, ler in BLINDS, DWARE.
and 22d Street.
Ala.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 13, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	3:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:06 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:29 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Pon DeJarnette, of Birmingham, is in Clanton sick.

Miss Lizzie Smith, of Monroe county, is visiting friends in Clanton.

Miss Dalee Thornton has returned from a visit to Birmingham and Eastlake.

This section of country was visited by good rains Saturday and Sunday.

The friend who sends the VIEW a bucket of fine plums is known and will not be forgotten.

We are requested to state that the Masonic picnic on the 29th inst., will be a basket picnic.

Prof. A. J. Scott attended the commencement exercises of the Southern University in Greensboro.

A man is already of consequence in the world when it is known that he can implicitly depend upon himself.

Lucien Day has returned from the Marion Military Institute and resumed his place behind the counter at Sampey's

Mr John Sexton, a good citizen of Stanton, and a long time subscriber for the VIEW, visited his grandmother in Clanton Sunday,

The man who can run a paper to suit everybody is in heaven wearing a crown of double proportions and a double set of wings.—Ex.

Mr. John Morgan, of Clanton, has sent the VIEW a radish raised in his garden which measures 12 inches in circumference and 14 inches in length.

"For a long time I had no appetite, was restless at night, and very much debilitated. After taking two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my strength and appetite returned, and my health was completely restored."—D. M. Fish- Oswego, N. Y.

We want to hear from our neighborhood correspondents regularly during the dull summer season. Don't let your locality be forgotten by failing to place it and its "doings," before the public every week.

A negro by the name of Mose guson was arrested at Stanton Saturday morning and brought to Clanton and jailed charged with attempt to wreck a train on the E. T. V. & Ga. railroad near Stanton.

The closing exercises of Clanton Academy last week were well received and much enjoyed by those who attended, reflecting credit on the principal of the institution and his assistants, as well as on his pupils.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at actual prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

New Officers

Elected for the ensuing Masonic year of Clanton Lodge No. 423 A. F. & A. M:

W. D. Sarter, W. M.; J. H. Chandler, S. W.; W. H. Wright, Treas.; W. H. Sarter, Sec'y.; E. Deramus, S. D.; J. S. Golson, J. D.; Wm. Wright, Tyler.

The above officers will be installed on the 29th inst., at which time there will be a basket picnic at Clanton to which everybody is invited to come and bring their baskets.

◆

An old farmer who has been a subscriber to the VIEW since it was established came in about three weeks since complaining of tight times, paid his dues and had his paper discontinued. Last week he came back with an apology saying that no man interested in Chilton county could afford to be without the paper and his name is again on the list. We mention this only because it is frequently the case that subscribers who endeavor to economize by stopping their home papers, find that it is an economy that they can't afford, and renew in a very short while.

Obituary.

In memory of J. W. Boyd, who departed this life at Birmingham, Ala., May 30th, 1889. The deceased was born March 8th, 1866. Joined the Methodist church early in life and lived an exemplary and Godly life, he was a good son, a devoted brother and a pious Christian. In him the poor always found a friend and the suffering a comforter. He was a father's pride, a mother's love, a sister and brother's idol. Farewell dear young friend, and may it be that when my summons shall come to cross the mystic river that I, too, may approach my death as quietly and placidly as you, and may we meet where partings are unkown. May God sanctify this sad bereavement to the eternal well being of his loved ones, for whom he so earnestly prayed that they would, without the loss of one, meet him in heaven.

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep." A FRIEND.

Clanton, June 4th.

Jemison Locals.

The closing exercises of Jemison High School will embrace June 16, 17 and 18, commencement sermon Sunday night by Rev. F. J. Tyler, of Birmingham. On Monday, examinations, and exhibition at night including address by Rev. A. E. Burns. On Tuesday examinations with address at night by Prof. J. A. Harwood, of Stanton. The public are cordially invited to attend both examinations and exercises at night.

P. C. Bean, Esq., had the misfortune to fracture his right arm a week or ten days since. We are sorry he had the accident to happen; but "the boys" say it don't interfere with his usual avocation.

At the annual election of Jemison Lodge, No. 411, A. F. & A. M., on the 8th inst., the following officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year: A. E. Burns, W. M.; J. Bice, S. W.; J. R. Hill, J. W.; I. N. Langston, Treas'r.; H. T. Caffey Sec'y.; G. L. McCary, S. D.; W. R. Dawson, J. D.; S. G. Whatley, Tyler.

We regret to chronicle the death, of Mrs. Penny Woolley, which occured on Friday night, June 7th, of old age. She was in her 93rd year; was a consistent christian for 40 years or more; and died with a triumphant faith in the final resurrection of the just.

Mr. J. P. Allen had the misfortune to cut his foot right severely some time since. We hope he will soon be out again.

Rev. Mr. Wyatt is convalescing from a spell of sickness.

Mrs. G. B. Moseley has been quite sick but is now better.

Miss Emmie Grim, of Longview, has been visiting Mrs. J. L. Wyatt.

Mr. Ed. Wells, of Six Mile, has been visiting Mrs. Mollie Allen, his sister.

Mrs. Judge Lee, of Brewton, is visiting Mr. D. M. Hand's family.

Mrs. J. P. Allen is convalescent from a severe cold and fever which lasted her several days.

X. Y. Z.

◆

Birmingham Age Herald: H. A. Wilson, secretary of the state Republican executive committee and Bob Moseley's right bower, has received a nice fat place of clerk to the superintendent of construction of the Birmingham public building. The pay is $4 a day, including Sundays.

To The Merchants.

Clanton, Ala., June 12th, 1889.

ED. VIEW:—Please publish our request to the merchants of Chilton County that they will make no orders for Jute bagging upon any terms, but join with us in our endeavors to defeat said trust.

The National Farmer's Alliance at Birmingham on May 15th declared in favor of cotton bagging and the Lane Mills of N. O. and others propose to furnish all we will want at 12½ cents F. O. B. cash. We will buy the cotton bagging but do not propose to use the Jute upon any terms. Some Alliances go as far as to declare they would not deal with any merchants who deal in Jute.

Yours Respect'ly,
ALEX. G. DAKE,
Sect'y. & B. A. Chilton Co. Alliance.

The S. & H. I. Railroad.

[Selected.]

The Saloon & Hades International Railroad is the oldest road now on record running from Saloonville to Hades Grand Central Depot. Since the completion of the High License Division to Eternity, this road makes the quickest time on record. There are ten divisions, the first two being narrow-guage.

FIRST DIVISION.
SALOON DEPOT.
Tasteville.
Sippington.
Medicineville (flag.)
Socialglass City.
Moderation Meadows (flag).
Tippletown.
Regular.
DAILYDRAM VILLAGE.
TIP TUMBLER, Sup't.

No road excels this one in attraction and interest. For picturesqueness, scenery and number of officers it also excels all others. More money has been expended to make this road what it is than all others combined. All the latest improvements, appliances, and legislative favors make it "first-class." Everything that can be done by the officers of this road is done for the traffic of the road. Special police are constantly employed in the interests of this road. The general superintendent has special oversight of the passengers. This road has, within the last few years extended its branches into nearly every village and hamlet in the United States.

SECOND DIVISION.
DAILYDRAM VILLAGE.
Happygoluckyville.
Guzzlerton.
Tanglefoot City.
Redeyeville.
Tumbletown.
Twoforecompany.
Fencecorners Rest.
DRUNKARDS' RETREAT.
POCKET PINTFLASK, Sup't.

There are special excursion trains to picnics, political meetings, or any gathering at reduced rates. Through tickets furnished to Hades at any time. Season tickets a specialty. Write to us for particulars, stating whether you wish them furnished secretely or not. Each division is graded, and all can be suited. However, after passing deliriumton, on the eighth division, there is no distinction, as all grades and classes merge into one. The greatest privileges to passengers are given on this part of the road.

THIRD DIVISION.
DRUNKARD'S RETREAT.
Quarrelton.
Rowdyville Tunnel.
Fightburg.
Pistolflash.
Riotville.
Choke'emblack Ferry.
Knock'emstiff Point.
HORROR LAND.
POISONED DRUGS, Sup't.

Saloonville Accommodation leaves Saloon Depot every Saturday, stopping at each point over the third division, thus making a trip once a week. From Dailydram Village the Mountain Dew Express runs daily. A four mile stretch is noticed, after passing Hapyygoluckyville which passes through the grandest country to be seen. This is claimed by many to be the best-kept division on the road. The superintendent of this division has frequently drawn the prize on track repairs. The road is somewhat picturesque on the third division. Trains often have to "slow up" on this division, as the grade is steep in places. Frequently trains are "ditched." A construction train on this division, and is kept very busy.

K. ALCOHOL, Gen. Sup't.
S. KEEPER, Gen. Manager.
P. DRUGS, Gen. Ticket Ag't.
B. TENDER, Treas.

◆

The ceiling of the tiles in Vanderbilt's luxurious kitchen is made of white enameled tiles set in cement. He pays his cook $10,000 a year. Yet it is safe to say he does not enjoy his dinner half so much as a poor devil does a free lunch of stale bread and over-ripe cheese. Poverty has its compensation after all, and one of them is a $10-000 appetite.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

James Gorden Bennett, of the New York Herald, is in Africa.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of the VIEW will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

☞Sold by Druggists, 75. ma16-m

Judge Smith's Book.

What the papers say about it.

The Age-Herald says: "No such interesting book has been published for a long time."

The Evening Chronicle says: "Altogether, Judge Smith has done a great work for local history, and given a splendid book to the shelves of libraries."

The Evening News says: "The book will be read with delight by scholars and with profit by all." The Times-Democrat says: "It is one of the most delightful books of recent years; and it has an especial charm for Alabamians."

This book can be had on application at the VIEW office and at the principal book stores in the State. Price $2.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

BLOOD AND BRAIN.

Pure blood is what oils the machinery of life, eases every movement of the body, removes stiffness of the joints, drives out pain from the nerves, stimulates the brain, protects the liver and kidneys from irritation, enables physical exertion without fatigue, prolongs life, and makes men and women perfect in health and feature. Good blood and good brain are inseparable. Aim to keep the blood pure by using the only true blood remedy, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm.)

Miss S. Tomlinson, Atlanta, Ga., says:

"For many years I have been afflicted with rheumatism combined with severe kidney troubles, indigestion and nervous prostration. Rheumatism Several physicians were employed and numerous patent medicines resorted to without benefit. At last I began the use of B. B. B., and its effect was like magic. Rheumatic pains ceased, my kidneys were relieved, and my constitution improved at once."

Z. T. Hallerton, Macon, Ga., writes:

"Three years ago I contracted a blood poison. I applied to a physician at once, and his treatment came near killing me. I employed an old-physician and then went to Kentucky. I Hot Springs then went to Hot Springs and remained two months, but nothing seemed to cure me permanently, although temporary relief was given me. I returned home a ruined man physically, with but little prospect of ever getting well. I was persuaded to try B. B. B., and to my utter astonishment it quickly healed every ulcer."

W. C. McGaughey, Webb City, Ark., writes:

"I owe the comfort of my life to a use of B. B. B. I was troubled with blood poison Bad Blood for five or six years, and found no relief equal to that given by this valuable remedy."

Mrs. Emma Griffiths, Unitia, Tenn., writes:

"The doctors said my boy twelve years old had scrofula. His knees were drawn up and joints were stiff, and for three years he had been Scrofula unable to walk. One bottle of B. B. B. has done him so much good he can now walk, and his pain has ceased. Its action on my boy has been pronounced most wonderful." (3)

[sep27 ew 1y]

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[ma15 y]

NOTICE NO. 8789.

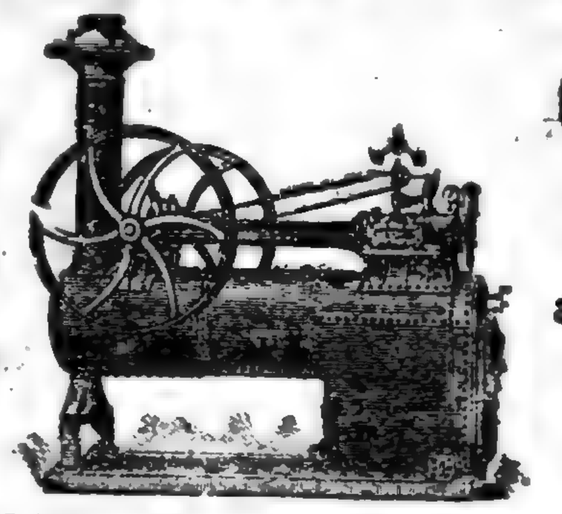
U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 18515 for the n w ¼ of section 28, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John Headley, W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

May9 J. C. HARRIS, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS



Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,☜
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses,
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]
FOR SALE BY ALL [illegible]

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson drug storehouse and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞Correspondence solicited.☜
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y]

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia. Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles. Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator." Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family." Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than [illegible]. Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle. It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by The Herbine Co., (Successors to Wm. Condell,) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine. If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
Piso's Remedy for Catarrh gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions. The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost. Easy and pleasant to use. Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov22-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $65. to $35.

This Elegant Parlor Organ style 76 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, [illegible] stops, 2 knee swells, stool and book, [illegible]
[illegible]

WATERY GRAVES

Were Found in Pennsylvania by Over 8,000 People.

Some Rich Sportsmen Built a Dam and it Gave Way.

FIRE ADDED HORROR TO THE SCENE.

ROBBERS OF THE DEAD HUNG TO THE TREES.

Coffins being Sent to the Spot by Train Loads.

The raging storms that have prevailed through Pennsylvania during the past few days, have resulted in an appalling loss of life near Pittsburg. The scene of the terrible disaster is at Johnstown, Pa., in Cambria county, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the Connemaugh River. Two and a half miles northeast of the town is a reservoir owned by a rich fishing club. It is the largest reservoir in the United States, being three and a half miles long and from one to one and a half miles wide. Its depth in some places is 100 feet. It holds more water than any other reservoir, natural or artificial, in the United States. The lake has been quadrupled in size by artificial means and was held in check by a dam from 700 to 1,000 feet wide. It is 90 feet in thickness at the base and the height is 110 feet. The top has a breadth of over 20 feet. Recognizing the menace which the lake had to the region below, the South Fork Club had the dam inspected once a month by the Pennsylvania Railroad civil engineer, and an investigation showed that nothing less than some convulsion of Nature would tear the barrier away and loosen the weapon of death. The steady rains increased the volume of water in all the mountain streams which were already swollen by the lesser rains early in the week. It is now believed a cloud-burst must have been the culmination of the struggle of the water against the embankment. The course of the torrent from the broken dam at the foot of the lake to Johnstown is almost 18 miles, and with the exception of at one point, the water passed through a narrow V-shaped valley. Four miles below the dam lay the town of South Fork, where the South Fork river itself empties into the Connemaugh river. The town had about 2,000 inhabitants, and nearly all the inhabitants were drowned. Four miles further down, on the Connemaugh river, was the town of Mineral Point. It had 800 inhabitants, ninety per cent. of the houses being on a flat close to the river and few escaped. Six miles further down was the town of Connemaugh, and here alone was there a topographical possibility of the spreading of the flood and the breaking of its force. It contained 2,500 inhabitants and was almost wholly devastated. Woodvale, with 2,000 people, lay a mile below Connemaugh, in the flat, and one mile further down were Johnstown and its cluster of sister towns, Cambria, Bolivar and Connemaugh borough with a total population of 30,000 on made ground. Stretched along right at the river's verge were the immense iron works of the Cambria Iron & Steel Co., who have $5,000,000 invested in their plant. Besides this there are many other large industrial establishments on the bank of the river, the damage to which cannot be estimated.

The town of Florence is fourteen miles from Johnstown, the principal scene of the desolation. John McCartney, a carpenter, who lives in Johnstown, and escaped, says that the people had been warned early in the morning to move to the highlands, but they did not heed the warning, although it was repeated a number of times up to 1 o'clock, when the water poured into Cinder street several feet deep. Then the houses began rocking to and fro, and finally the force of the current carried buildings across the streets and vacant lots and dashed them against each other, breaking them into fragments. These buildings were freighted with the poor wretches who so shortly before had laughed at the cry of danger, and hundreds found a watery grave in a few moments.

The tidal wave struck Bolivar just after dark and the waters spread out over the whole country. Soon houses began floating down, and clinging to the debris were men, women and children, shrieking for aid. A large number of citizens at once gathered on the county bridge, and they were reinforced by a number from Garfield town on the opposite side of the river. They brought a number of ropes and these were thrown over into the boiling waters, as persons drifted by in effort to save some of the poor beings. For half an hour all efforts were fruitless until at last when the rescuers were about giving up all hope, a little boy astride a shingle roof managed to catch hold of a rope. He caught it under his arm and was thrown against an abutment, but managed to keep hold and was successfully pulled on to the bridge, amid the cheers of the onlookers. His name was Hessler, and his rescuer was a train hand named Carney. The boy was about sixteen years old. He said: "With my father, I was spending the day at my grandfather's house in Cambria City. In the house at the time were Theodore, Edward, John Kurtz, Jr., and wife, Miss Mary Kurtz, Treasy Kurtz, Mrs. R. Smith, John Hersch and four children, my father and myself. Shortly after 5 o'clock there was the noise of roaring waters and screams of people. We looked out doors and saw persons running. My father told us to never mind, as the water would not rise further. But soon we saw houses being swept away and then we ran up to the floor above. The house was three stories and we were at last forced to the top one. In my fright I jumped on a bed. It was an old-fashioned one with heavy posts. The water kept rising and my bed was soon afloat. Gradually it was lifted up. The air in the room grew close and the house was moving. Still the bed kept rising and pressed the ceiling. At last the posts pushed the plaster. It yielded and a section of the roof gave way. Then suddenly I found myself on the roof and was being carried down the stream. After a little this roof commenced to part, and I was afraid I was going to be drowned, but just then another house with a shingle roof floated down until, nearly dead with cold, I was freed from the house. I did not see my father. My [illegible] was in a [illegible], but he must have been drowned, as the waters were [illegible]. John Kurtz was also in a [illegible] Mary Kurtz and Mrs. Mary [illegible] drowned. [illegible] Smith was [illegible] John Hersch was in a [illegible]

The scene was terrible. Live bodies and corpses were floating down with me, and away from me I would hear persons shriek and then they would disappear, and all along the line people were trying to save us, but they could do nothing, and only a few were caught." This boy's story is but one incident, and shows what happened to one family. God only knows what happened to hundreds who were in the path of the rushing waters.

The accumulation of buildings which were swept by the angry waters to the Pennsylvania bridge at Johnstown piled up fully fifty feet high, were burned to the water's edge on Saturday. Before the buildings took fire many persons, dead and alive, were taken from them. Some of the unfortunates were wedged in so tight it was necessary to chop their legs off to release them. The Catholic church was destroyed by fire. A number of people were on the roof when the structure took fire, and all of them were consumed in the flames. The damage, as yet, is inestimable, regardless of the loss of life. The Pennsylvania Railroad loss will be enormous; an official report of the damage done to the railroad property is very great. Much of the track, rails, ties and are carried away. From Lang Hollow comes the report that the first reports of loss of life were entirely too low. It is believed now that fully 8,000 persons have perished. Of these 700 or 800 were burned in the fiery furnace at the viaduct. Two thousand coffins have been ordered for bodies already rescued at that point.

Charles Luther, a boy, stood on an adjacent elevation and saw the whole flood. He said he heard a grinding noise far up the valley, and looking up he could see a dark line growing slowly toward him. He saw that it was houses. On they come like the hand of a giant clearing off his table. High in the air would be tossed a log or a dam, which fell back with a crash. Down the valley it moved slowly, and across the little mountain city. For ten minutes nothing but moving houses was seen, and then the water came with roar and rush. This lasted for two hours, and then it began to flow more steadily.

The pillaging of houses in Johnstown was something awful to contemplate and describe. Men armed themselves with shot guns and revolvers, and woe to strangers who looked even suspiciously at any article. Goods of great value were sold in Johnstown for a drink of whiskey. A supply store has been established in Jownstown. A line of men women and children extending for a square waited patiently to have their supplies granted. The school house has been converted into a morgue, and the dead are being buried. A hospital has been opened near by, and is full of patients.

Just as the shadows began to fall upon the earth Saturday night, a party of thirteen Hungarians were noticed stealthily picking their way along the banks of the Connemaugh towards Sang Hollow. Suspicious of their purpose, several farmers armed themselves and started in pursuit. Soon their most horrible fears were realized. The Hungarians were out for plunder. Lying upon the shore they came upon the dead and mangled body of a woman, upon whose person there were a number of trinkets of jewelry and two diamond rings. In their eagerness to secure the plunder, the Hungarians got into a squabble, during which one of the number severed the fingers upon which were the rings, and started on the run with his fearful prize. The revolting nature of the deed so wrought upon the pursuing farmers, who by this time were close at hand, that they gave immediate chase. Some of the Hungarians showed fight, but being outnumbered were compelled to flee for their lives. Nine of the brutes escaped, but four were literally driven into the surging river, and to their death. The inhuman monster whose atrocious act has been described, was among the number of involuntary suicides.

In another incident which has just been brought to notice, an old railroader, who had walked from Sang Hollow, stepped up to a number of men who were congregated on the platform stations at Curranville, and said: "Gentlemen, had I a shotgun with me half an hour ago, I would now be a murderer, yet with no fear of ever having to suffer for my crime. Two miles below here I watched three men going along the banks stealing jewels from the bodies of the dead wives and daughters of the men who have been robbed of all they held dear on earth." He had no sooner finished the last sentence, than five burly men, with looks of terrible determination written on their faces, were on their way to the scene of plunder, one with a coil of rope over his shoulder, and another with a revolver in his hand. In twenty minutes, so it is stated, they had overtaken two of their victims, who were in the act of cutting pieces from the ears and fingers from the hands of the bodies of two dead women. With the revolver leveled at the scoundrels, the leader of the posse shouted: "Throw up your hands, or I'll blow your heads off." With blanched faces and trembling forms, they obeyed the order and begged for mercy. They were searched, and as their pockets were emptied of their ghastly finds, the indignation of the crowd intensified, and when the bloody finger of an infant, encircled with two tiny gold rings, was found among the plunder in the leader's pocket, a cry went up: "Lynch them! lynch them!" Without a moment's delay ropes were thrown around their necks, and they were dangling to the limbs of the tree, in the branches of which, an hour before, was entangled the bodies of a dead father and son.

Johnstown is a desolate sea of mud, in which there are interred the remains of many human bodies. It was once a handsome portion of the town. The cellars are filled up with mud, so that the person who has never seen the city can hardly imagine that houses ever stood where they did. Streets, solidly built up with houses, have been swept away. Nothing but a small two-story framed house remains. It was near the edge of the wave, and thus escaped. One side was taken up, and it hangs to one side, making a picture of misery. The walk up to the wrecks of the houses was interrupted in many places by small streams. Occasionally, across the flats could be seen the remains of the victims. The stench arising from the mud is sickening to the extreme degree. Along the route were strewn tin utensils, pieces of machinery, iron, pipes, wares of every conceivable kind of store. Whole houses had been swept down Main street and become lodged. Wreckage is piled high as the second story windows. The reporters could look from the wreck into the auditorium of the opera house. The ruins consists of parts of houses, trees, logs and reels from the wire factory. Many houses have their side walls and roofs torn up, and one can walk directly into what has been second-story bedrooms, or go in by way of the top. Further [illegible] has lodged in the street, and did great damage. [illegible] commencement of the wreckage, which is at the opening of a valley of the Connemaugh, one can look up the valley for miles and not see a house. Nothing stands but an old wooden house.

When Superintendent Pitcairn telegraphed to Pittsburg Friday night that Johnstown was annihilated, he came very close to the facts in the case, although he had not seen the ill-fated city. The loss of life is simply dreadful. The most conservative people declare that the number will reach 5,000. Every hour or so, forces of men working on various heaps of debris, find numbers of bodies buried in the wreckage. It is believed that when the flames are extinguished in the wreckage at the bridge and the same is removed, that hundreds and hundreds of victims will be discovered. Up to nine o'clock Sunday night 180 bodies had been embalmed at Nineveh, and there is a report that 200 more have been discovered half buried in the mud on an island between New Florence and the place named. Hundreds of men, women and children are sleeping on the hillsides under tents that were sent from Pittsburg and other places.

Adjutant-General Hastings, National Guard of Pennsylvania, assumed charge of Johnstown on Sunday. Nothing is legal unless it bears his signature. One effect of this systematic work is making itself felt. One town is guarded by Company H of the 6th regiment. Special police are numerous, and regulations are so strict that even the smoking of a cigar is prohibited. Alexander Hart is in charge of the special police. He has lost his wife and family. Notwithstanding his great misfortune, he is doing the work of Hercules in his own way. A supply depot has been established at that point, and many needy people are being relieved. The bodies that are dug out of the flat lie in the station until the coffin can be obtained. They are buried unidentified on Prospect Hill. Dartmouth Club, at which the employes of the Gautier Wire Works boarded, was carried away by the flood. It contained many occupants at the time. None were saved. The estimates of the losses of the Cambria Iron Co. is given at $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. But little, if any, of this great loss can be recovered. Four immense relief trains arrived at Johnstown Sunday night, and the survivors are being well cared for. A portion of the police force of Pittsburg and Alleghany are on duty, and better order is maintained than prevailed the day before. Communication has been restored between Cambria City and Johnstown by a foot bridge. The work of repairing the tracks between Sang Hollow and Johnstown is going on rapidly, and trains will probably be running in 24 hours.

Five hundred tents arrived from Ohio Sunday in charge of Adjutant General Axlin. Sixty-five have been put up on the hillside at Florence, and are now occupied by families. General Axlin went on to Johnstown to assist Major Angler, who is in charge during Gen Hastings' absence.

President Harrison did not attend church Sunday, but spent his time in communicating from Washington with the people in the flood-stricken districts, with a view to granting them such succor as lay in the power of the government. All officials that could aid, were kept constantly at their posts, ready for orders. The President has offered to extend to the people in distress any succor which the government could give. He said the government would supply as many tents and rations and soldiers to assist in the work of reclamation as possible. The government has about 2,000 tents, which it can lend to the sufferers. The government has also under its control several thousand tents belonging to the militia, and these will be loaned if needed. The offer of soldiers was made for the reason that it was thought they might be useful in clearing away the debris, searching for the drowned and guarding property. Sunday was a day of fearful suspense to Private Secretary Halford. Mrs. Halford and her daughter Jeannette, left Indianapolis on the train that got out of Pittsburgh Sunday morning, and he had thought that the train got past before the flood was at its worst, but word came from the Pennsylvania Railroad that it was reported that the train on which they were had been lost about Johnstown. Between 5 and 6 o'clock Sunday evening a telegram came from the Philadelphia office of the Pennsylvania Railroad stating that they had opened communication with Altoona, and had learned that Mrs. Halford and daughter were all right, but had lost all their baggage.

Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross Association, left Washington, D. C., for Johnstown, Dr. Hubbell, field agent for the corps of trained workers accompanying her. He says he will work through the flooded district, distributing food, clothing, medicine, and necessary articles of house furniture, with Johnstown as headquarters.

Several Pittsburgers, relatives of the owners of the South Fork Fishing Club, which owned the reservoir that caused the disaster, made their way with extreme difficulty to the reservoir, and returned to Johnstown on Monday. One of them tells the following story: The lake is completely dried out. The dam broke in the center at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, and at 4 o'clock it was dry. The great body of water passed out in one hour. Messrs. Park & Van Buren, who were building a new draining system at the lake, tried to avert the disaster by digging a sluice-way on one side to ease the pressure on the dam. They had about forty men at work, and did all they could without avail. The water passed over the dam about a foot above its top, beginning at about half-past 2 o'clock. Whatever happened in the way of a cloudburst took place during Thursday night. There had been but little rain up to dark. When the workmen woke Friday morning the lake was very full, and rising at the rate of a foot an hour. It kept on rising until 2 o'clock, when it first began breaking over the dam and undermining it. Men were sent three or four times during the day to warn the people below of danger. When the final break came, at 3 o'clock, there was a sound like tremendous and continuous bursts of thunder. Trees, rocks and earth were shot up into mid-air in great columns, and then started down the ravine. A farmer, who escaped, said the water did not come down like a wave, but jumped on his house and beat it to fragments in an instant. He was safe on the hillside, but his wife and two children were killed.

Rescuing parties who are at work on the mass of unburned wreckage on the river above Stone bridge are finding bodies and fragments of bodies at the rate of from ten to fifteen an hour. In other parts of the submerged district many bodies are being taken out. A careful estimate at this time of the bodies recovered everywhere put it from 700 to 800. Bodies are being picked up in pockets, like ore, in all sorts of unexpected places. The bodies have also [illegible]

This regulation seems harsh, but it is a necessity. The citizens' committee are making desperate efforts to preserve the peace, and Hungarians at Cambria City are being kept in their houses by men with clubs who will not permit Hungarians to go outside of their houses. There seems considerable race prejudice at Cambria City, and trouble may follow, as both English and Hungarians are getting worked up to a considerable extent. Quite an exciting scene took place in the borough of Johnstown on Monday. A Hungarian was discovered by two men in the act of blowing up a safe in the First National bank building with dynamite. A cry was raised, and in a few moments a crowd had collected, and the cry of "Lynch him" was raised, and in less time than it takes to tell it, the man was strung up to a tree in what was once the central portion of Johnstown. Not content with this, the vigilance committee riddled the man's body with bullets. He remained hanging to the tree for several hours, when some person cut him down and buried him with the other dead.

Order is slowly arising out of the chaos. The survivors are slowly realizing what is the best course to pursue. The great cry is for men, men who will work and not stand by and do nothing but gaze at the ruins. The following order was posted on a telegraph pole in Johnstown: "Notice—During the day men who have been idle have been begged to aid us in clearing the town, and many have refused to work. We are now so organized that employment can be found for every man who wants to work, and men offered work, who refuse to take the same, and who are able to work, must leave Johnstown for the present. We can't afford to feed those who will not work. All the work will be paid for. Strangers and idlers who refuse to work will be ejected from Johnstown. By order of the Citizens' Committee." Officers were stationed at every avenue and railroad that enters the town. All suspicious looking characters are stopped. But one question is asked. It is, "Will you work?" If an affirmative answer is given, the man escorts him to the employment bureau, where he is put to work. If not, he is turned back.

Governor Beaver has issued an appeal for aid to the people of the United States, and on its receipt, Mayor Grant of New York convened a meeting of the principal citizens to form a soliciting committee. Over $60,000 was subscribed at once, and Ex-President Cleveland will act as chairman; several of the stock exchanges raised $50,000 in a few minutes. In Philadelphia, over $150,000 was subscribed on Monday.

On Tuesday, the sheriff requested Adj. Gen. Hastings to call out one regiment of the National Guard. He stated that he did not want them called out on account of any trouble, but to guard against anything that might happen. General Hastings immediately telegraphed to Pittsburg to order out the 14th regiment. The Cambria Iron Works company are already preparing to get their works in operation. Mr. Moxham, the iron manufacturer, is mayor pro tem of Johnstown. He is probably the busiest man in the United States. For days without sleep, he sticks nobly to his task. Hundreds of others are like him. Men fall to the earth from sheer fatigue. There are many who have not closed their eyes in sleep since they awoke Friday morning. They are a hollow-eyed, pitiable looking lot. Many have lost near relatives, and all friends. One dealer was charging $5 a sack for flour, and was getting it in one or two cases. Suddenly a crowd heard of the occurrence and several desperate ones went to the store and doled the flour gratuitously to the homeless and stricken army. Another dealer was selling flour at $15 a sack. He refused to give any away, but would sell it to any one who had money; otherwise, he would not allow any one to go near it, guarding his store with a shot gun. Bodies are [illegible] care of the dead. A majority of the inhabitants of the town were drowned. A building of boards has been erected on the only street remaining in Cambria. This is headquarters for the committee that controls the dead. As quickly as the dead are brought there they are placed in boxes and then taken to the cemetery and buried. A supply store has been opened in town. A milkman, who was overcharging for milk, narrowly escaped lynching. An infuriated man appropriated all his milk and then drove him out of town. The body of the Hungarian, who was lynched in an orchard Sunday night, was removed by his friends. The inhuman monster had cut off four fingers of the right hand of a woman. He was noticed before he escaped, and dropped the fingers into his pocket, where they were found when he was captured. The act maddened the men, and they took him to an orchard on the hillside and hung him. Services in the chapel from which the bodies were buried, consisted merely of prayer by one of the survivors. No minister was present. Each coffin had a descriptive card on it, and on the graves a similar card was placed so that the bodies can be removed later by friends. The latest estimates place the number of dead at 12,000, but the exact number will never be known.

The stealing by the Hungarians, at Cambria City and points on the railroad, has almost ceased. The report of several lynchings, and the drowning of two Italians while being pursued by citizens on Monday, put a damper on the soulless pilfering for the time. Deputy Sheriff Rose was patrolling the river bank. He found two Hungarians attempting to rob several bodies, and at once gave chase. He found the two taking to the woods, and pulled out his pistol and shot twice, wounding both men badly. From the latest reports the men are still living, but are in a critical condition. The sheriff has taken charge of Johnstown, and armed men on Monday morning patrolled the city. People who have been properly in the limits are permitted to enter the city if they are known, but otherwise it is impossible to get into town.

recovered in Johnstown that have been robbed by ghouls that flock to the scene. It was known that one lady had several hundred dollars in her possession just before the disaster, but when the body was recovered there was not a cent in her pockets. The "Huns" attacked a supply wagon between Morrellville and Cambria City. The drivers of the wagon repulsed them, but they again returned. A second fight ensued, but after a lively scrambling the Huns were again driven away. After that, the drivers and guards of the supply wagons were permitted to go armed. The debris wedged against the big Pennsylvania Railroad stone bridge is still burning, and the efforts of the firemen to quench or stay the flames are futile. The mass which unquestionably forms the funeral pyre of thousands of victims who are buried beneath it, is burning, and likely to burn for weeks to come. The [illegible] futile are man's efforts when the fire god is aroused, and perhaps after all the hand of Providence is in it, for the suggestion made by the physicians that the bodies be not buried but be allowed to be cremated in the interest of the public health and which aroused such a storm of indignation among the survivors, is viewed with more calmness, and there is a growing sentiment that it is, after all, the best solution of the problem. Weeks and months will be required to remove the stupendous mass by artificial means, and in the meantime the rotting, putrifying remains of poor humanity buried therein would be dealing pollution and death to all the surrounding country. It is being dynamited to allow the water to pass the main channel. Many skeletons and fragments of bodies have been found. The opening of this channel will take the overflow from the lower part of Johnstown proper.

GENERAL NEWS.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS AND EXCITING EVENTS.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, FIRES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

The damage in Elmira, N. Y., from the flood will exceed $400,000.

The Dublin corporation intends to go from Ireland to Paris in a body.

The Bank of Omaha, Neb., has failed, with liabilities of $75,000; assets nominal.

On application of the London Times, the Parnell libel suit has been postponed until November.

George Wagoner, a prisoner in the Pittsfield, Mass., prison, committed suicide by taking poison.

In the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Ireland, held at Belfast, the moderator denounced home rule.

The strikes in Bohemia are spreading. There are now 5,000 hands out of work. The situation of Pilsen is threatening.

A number of French customs officers have been arrested in Paris for complicity in a scheme to defraud the government.

Eighteen miners at Essen, Germany, who were recently on strike, have been sentenced to imprisonment for terms ranging from two to six months for rioting.

Herr Seigel, editor of the Vaterland, a clerical paper of Munich, Germany, has been sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment for libelling the late Dowager Queen.

The Germans in Switzerland protest against the German official press attacks upon the Swiss government. Meetings have been called in Berne to discuss the matter, and great excitement prevails.

The French cabinet considered favorably the request of the American residents for permission to hold a public celebration in Paris July 4. President Carnot has consented to unveil a statue of liberty on that day.

Chicago, Ill., Knights of Pythias have received information that Past Supreme Chancellor John L. Limon, of the order in the United States, with his entire family, wife and four children, were drowned at Johnstown, Pa. A prosperous lodge was located in Johnstown, and also one in Cambria City. A majority of the members are reported dead.

Missionary letters to the Anti-Slavery Society, in London, England, say that the Mahdists have made Western Abyssinia a desert. Whole flocks and herds have been destroyed, thousands of Christians have been thrown into slavery, thousands of others have been butchered and hundreds of the noblest inhabitants have been taken to Mecca as slaves in violation of treaties.

While services were being held in the Free Methodist Church, near Chicago, Ill., an attempt was made to blow up the building. A lot of powder had been placed under the church, to which a fuse was attached and lighted, but it missed fire. Fully half a peck of blasting powder was taken from under the building after the attempt was discovered by the congregation. At least one hundred persons would have been killed had the powder been ignited.

In a debate on the educational budget in the Chamber of Deputies at Paris, France, the effort of ex-Premier Ferry to address the house caused a great uproar. A member of the right shouted: "The blood of the Tonquin dead chokes you!" and many similar cries were heard. De Cassagnac advised the house to submit and listen. "We swallow our disgust!" exclaimed Bourgois, deputy for the department of the Vendee, and order was restored.

Telegraph Operator Burrell, at Silver City, sixteen miles from Helena, Montana, was killed, and F. C. Jobst, Montana Central agent, probably fatally injured by robbers on Wednesday night. A large amount of bullion was shipped from there, the robbers evidently not being aware of the fact. It is not thought that the highwaymen secured over $200. A posse of forty men, armed with rifles, overtook the robbers. They refused to surrender, firing on the posse. The fire was returned, and both robbers were killed. They are unknown, and look like foreigners.

A. T. Rodgers, who was shot by a burglar in Topeka, Kan., died on Wednesday, and the recovery of Mrs. Rodgers is doubtful. Shortly after the murderer was captured, and the police guarded the entrances to the jail. The prisoner was terribly frightened, but denied his guilt and told several conflicting stories, which were readily found to be false. He gave his name as Nat Olyphant and his home as Pueblo, Colorado. He was taken out by a crowd and lynched. He showed astonishing courage and when asked if he had anything to say before hanging, replied that he was guilty. His last words were, "be sure you break my neck."

A POLICE CLEW.

The Thames "mystery" is explained after several months' investigation by the London police. It is learned that the unfortunate woman, whose mutilated remains were picked up at different points of the river, belonged to Oxford, and was named Fisher. At the time of her death she was a servant in London. She was a victim of "Jack the Ripper."

RUSSIA OBJECTED.

The Vatican authorities at Rome are alarmed at Russia's objecting to Catholic missions in the Balkans, and that Emperor Francis Joseph is also alarmed. The latter is unable to strongly oppose [illegible]

Flying Machines.

Attempts to make birds the models upon which man should construct a flying apparatus are almost without number. History is full of such attempts and their failures. Three years ago, at the meeting of the American Association for the advancement of science, a certain professor, Isaac Lancaster, read a paper before the Buffalo Convention, in which he professed to give the results of many years' study devoted to the observation of birds in flight. "In 1876," said Prof. Lancaster, "I went to the Gulf coast of South Florida, below Tampa Bay, and resided there for five years, continuously engaged in this matter. From Tampa Bay to the Keys, soaring birds are found in profusion. These consist of buzzards, frigate birds, various cranes, gannets, eagles, pelicans, gulls, herons, and others of less importance. The buzzards would habitually rest in the sea breeze along the inner or bay coast, between thirty and fifty feet above the water, facing the wind for hours at a time on motionless wings. They were birds of from four to six pounds weight, with an equal number of square feet of wing surface. I watched a score of them on one occasion for fourteen consecutive hours, during which time not a dozen flaps were made for each bird. If a bird can float indefinitely in calm air without using muscular exertion, being for mechanical purposes as rigid as a board, then a board or metal body of the right shape and position ought to be able to do the same thing. In construction it must preserve the essential features of the bird's wing." The professor said that nothing was necessary to success but a nice imitation of the figure of a bird when floating in the air.

Georgia's Prosperity.

Some carefully compiled statistics bearing on the progress and prosperity of Georgia, are of the most gratifying character. It is shown that the value of property has increased from $225,093,419 in 1879, to $327,863,331 in 1889, being an increase of $102,769,912 in ten years. This is independent of the railroad property, which has increased in the same time from $9,836,129 to $29,304,127, an increase of $19,437,998, or 212 per cent., making an aggregate increase of all taxable property in the state in ten years of $122,207,910, or 58 per cent. The percentage of increase in the chief items is also an interesting study. In ten years the value of improved land has increased 29 per cent., city and town property 73, live stock 22, farming implements 69, cotton manufactories 393, mining investments 102, banking stock 61, and iron works 91 per cent.

A LONDON cabman ran against the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone and knocked the venerable statesman down. He was on his feet in an instant and gave chase to the reckless driver, and overtook him and held him fast until a policeman arrived and arrested him.

When you suffer from dyspepsia, heartburn, malarial affections, kidney disease, liver complaint and other wasting diseases. When you wish to enrich the blood and purify the system generally. When you wish to remove all feeling of weakness, weariness, lack of energy, try a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and see how greatly it will benefit you. It surpasses all known remedies as an enricher of the blood, and a perfect regulator of the various bodily functions. Ask your druggist.

The breweries in Detroit, Mich., have passed into the control of a British syndicate.

Is it any Wonder that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery outsells all other blood and liver medicines, since it possesses such superior curative properties as to warrant its manufacturers in supplying it to the people (as they are doing, through druggists) under conditions such as no other medicine is sold under, viz: that it must either benefit or cure the patient, or the money paid for it will be promptly returned. It cures all diseases arising from deranged liver, or from impure blood, as biliousness, "liver complaint," all skin and scalp diseases, salt-rheum, tetter, scrofulous sores and swellings, fever-sores, hip-joint disease and kindred ailments.

$500 Reward for an incurable case of chronic Nasal Catarrh offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. 50 cents, by druggists.

Keep a big piece of rock salt where the stock can get at it any time.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., N. Y., will receive the recipe free of charge.

A Difficulty Surmounted.

It is often very difficult to tell what kind of a laxative to give to a very young child who is suffering from constipation. The only medicine which is at the same time perfectly safe, effective, and pleasant to take, is Hamburg Figs. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.

Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'igr't'n Board, Portland, Ore.

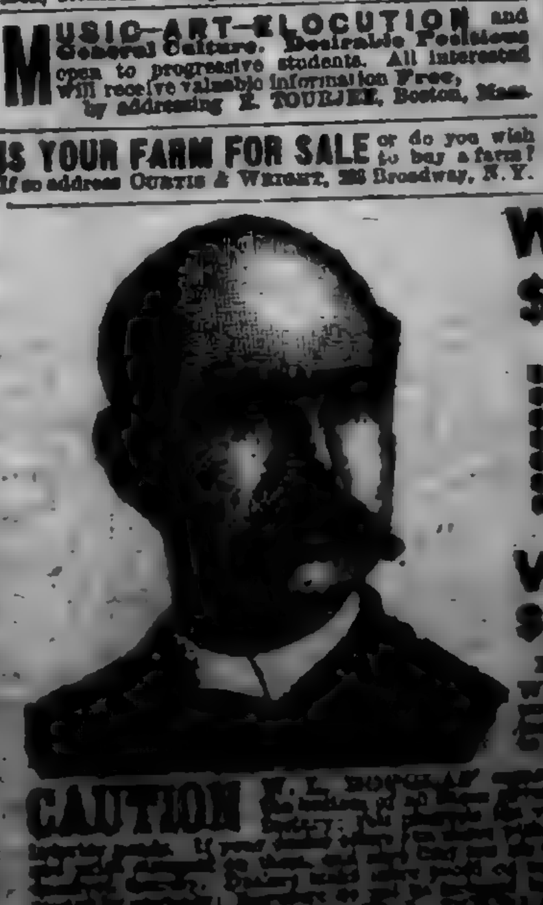
THE Mother's Friend, used before confinement, lessens pain and makes labor comparatively easy. Sold by all druggists.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses
One Dollar

Vigor and Vitality are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. That tired feeling is overcome, the blood is purified and vitalized, stomach strengthened, appetite restored.

MUSIC—ART—ELOCUTION and General Culture. Desirable Positions open to progressive students. All interested will receive valuable information Free, by addressing E. TOURJEE, Boston, Mass.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you wish to buy a farm? If so address CURTIS & WRIGHT, 28 Broadway, N. Y.



W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.
Best in the world. Examine his
$5.00 GENUINE HAND-SEWED SHOE.
$4.00 HAND-SEWED WELT SHOE.
$3.50 POLICE AND FARMERS' SHOE.
$2.50 EXTRA VALUE CALF SHOE.
$2.25 WORKINGMAN'S SHOE.
$2.00 GOOD-WEAR SHOE.
$2.00 and $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
All made in Congress, Button and Lace.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & $2 SHOES FOR LADIES.
Best Material. Best Style. Best Fitting.
[illegible]

CAUTION W. L. DOUGLAS [illegible]

PRICE LIST
OF
DECORATED CHAMBER SETS.

Assorted colors, Blue, Brown, Pink, per set..........
Assorted bands, Blue, Green, Pink, Maroon, per set..........
Assorted colors, Printed Decoration, per set
Assorted colors, Landscape, Flowers, &c., per set..........
Assorted colors, various Decorations, per set Wild Rose, and other Decorations, per set Landscape, Lily, &c., per set..........
Japanese and Marine, per set..........

Full line of White Granite, C. C. and Yellow Ware consisting of Plates, Cups and Saucers, Ewers and Basins, Dishes, Bakers, &c.

Full stock of Glassware, such as Tumblers, Goblets, Bar Goods, Wines, &c., Lamp Goods and Fixtures, including Burners, Wicks, Chimneys, &c.

Prices on application.

L. F. BROWN, —IMPORTER AND JOBBER OF—
Earthenware, Glassware, Tinware,
193 East Bay Street,
CHARLESTON, S. C.

SSS
THE WORLD OUGHT TO KNOW IT.
The world ought to know what S. S. S. has done for me in the cure of a malignant Cancer, which was so bad as to be considered incurable by the physicians in Chicago, where I went to be treated. One of my neighbors sent me a copy of an advertisement in regard to Swift's Specific, and I began taking it. I got relief from the first few doses; the poison was gradually forced out of my system, and I was cured sound and well. It is now ten months since I quit taking S. S. S. and I have had no sign of return of the dreadful disease.
MRS. ANN BOTHWELL.
Au Sable, Mich., Dec. 20, '88.
Send for books on Blood Diseases and Cancers, mailed free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
RED CROSS DIAMOND BRAND.
Original, best, only genuine and reliable pill for sale. Never Fail. Ask for Chichester's English Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. At Druggists. Accept no other. All pills in pasteboard boxes, pink wrappers, are a dangerous counterfeit. Send 4c. (stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return mail. 10,000 testimonials from LADIES who have used them. Name Paper.
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

MOTHERS' FRIEND
MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY
IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.
BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

N. C. Y. L.
Nashville, Tenn. College for Young Ladies,
Is the leading school of this section. Began with 50 pupils, without grounds or buildings of its own. Now has 3 buildings, 160 rooms, 20 offices, pupils from 18 States. Full course in Literature, Science, Art, Music, privileges in Vanderbilt University, fully equipped Gymnasium, and all modern conveniences. For catalogue address President.
Rev. GEO. W. F. PRICE, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.

Plantation Engines
With Self-Contained
RETURN FLUE BOILERS,
FOR DRIVING
COTTON GINS and MILLS.
Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address
JAMES LEFFEL & CO.
SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,
or 110 Liberty St., New York.

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS.
10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!
Don't buy before getting our prices and catalogue. THE GEO. W. STOCKELL CO., Name this paper. NASHVILLE, TENN.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. N. B.—Please state age and business experience. Never mind about sending stamp for reply. B. F. J. & Co.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU,
COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors.
932 I Street N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished.
Correspondence solicited.

No Vacations. SMITHDEAL PRACTICAL Business COLLEGE, Richmond, Va. COURSES: Business, Writing, Type-writing, Short-hand, Telegraphy, Ladies and Gentlemen Day and Night Sessions. Smithdeal's Book-keeping. Post. $1 gross.

DETECTIVES
Wanted in every County. Shrewd men to act under instructions in our Secret Service. Experience not necessary. Particulars free. Grannan Detective Bureau Co. 44 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

Little G GOOD for Old Sports and Young.
Either Sex. Prevents and cures 1 to 5 days. No stricture. Send One Dollar to BENSON MFG. CO., Box 407, Montgomery, Ala.

WANTED—Every one to investigate; $1.00 judiciously invested will lead to a fortune; an opportunity for people with limited means. Send stamp for particulars. TYLER & CO., Kansas City, Mo.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round 14 Pills.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa. Scholarship and positions, $50. Write for circulars.

Agents wanted, $1 an hour. 50 new articles. Cat'lgue and samples free. C. E. Marshall, Lockport, N. Y.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by druggists or sent by mail. 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

G
Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio.
I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y.
We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO., Chicago, Ill.
Trade $1.00. Sold by Druggists.

A. N. U..........Twenty-three,

Rates of Advertising.
One Dollar per square, of one inch or less, for the first, and fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher.
"WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION."
TERMS, $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1889. NUMBER 34.

Special Advertising.
Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.
Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.
Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.
Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.
Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.
☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK.
Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay
2018 and 2020 1st Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction.
We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

AN ITEMIZED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

The large lumber mill of J. H. Clarke, at Doctortown, near Jesup, Ga., was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday. Loss, $60,000; partially insured.

Wesley Clark and Harrison Blackburn, both colored, were hanged in Aberdeen, Miss., Tuesday, for the murder of Maj. Pat Hamilton last December.

Frank Smith, of Smith Station, Ga., was struck by lightning Tuesday while standing in his store door and instantly killed. He leaves a wife and several children.

Rev. Robb White, of Charlottesville, Va., has been called to the pastorate of Christ church (Episcopal) in Savannah. Rev. Dr. Thomas Boone, the last rector of Christ church, goes to New York.

Two boys, Jimmie Freeman, aged 11, and Louis Miller, 15 years, were drowned in Charleston, S. C., harbor on Thursday. They were on the yacht White Wings with a party. The boys were knocked overboard by the main sail boom.

The various applicants for the postmastership of Nashville, Tenn., were thrown into excitement on Wednesday by the announcement that Postmaster J. H. Currey had sent in his resignation. Dr. Currey's term does not expire for some months.

James W. Warren, aged nineteen, and watchman on the steamer E. T. Holmes, attempted to step into a skiff from the steamer while the latter was in motion at Nashville, Tenn. The skiff careened and Warren fell into the river. Being unable to swim he was drowned.

R. V. Covington, a popular member of the Brunswick (Ga.) Horse Guards, while drilling, made a slash with his sabre and missed his aim—a post—and flew back, narrowly missing cutting off the the top of his head, and completely severing one of his ears from his face.

A meeting of the Greenville, S. C., Farmers' Alliance was held there in the courthouse on Saturday. About one hundred representatives were present. Nearly all the sub-alliances in the state were represented. Resolutions were passed adopting cotton bagging to take the place of jute.

George Handley, a teamster, died at the Birmingham, Ala., charity hospital on Thursday of lockjaw, caused by the kick of a mule. Handley was trying to put harness on a young mule, when it kicked him in the face. His injury did not appear to be serious, but lockjaw set in and he died in a few hours.

Lieut. Carter, of the engineer corps in charge of the harbor improvement at Savannah, Ga., has submitted a report on the charges brought against him through the press of that city by a discharged employe, that he has been having a corrupt understanding with his contractors, and that he has wasted the public funds.

John Lane, a brakeman on the Pratt Mines railroad, fell from a moving train in Birmingham, Ala., and was killed. His fall was caused by the efforts of the engineer to stop the train in time to avoid running over a crowd of negro boys who had congregated on the track, and were slow in getting out of the way.

Governor Lee, of Virginia, whose official duties preclude his attendance, has designated Hon. William Wirt Henry, of Richmond, to represent Virginia at the meeting of the governors of the thirteen origiual states to be held at Independence hall, Philadelphia, July 4th. Mr. Henry is a grandson of Patrick Henry.

A negro drum corps parading in Wilmington, Del., on Thursday, was annoyed by a party of small white lads, and opened fire on them with pistols at short range. Walter Wright, aged 16, was shot through the temple and died within a few minutes. Joseph Lawless, aged 8, was shot through the shoulder. Thos Maloney was shot in the arm, producing a painful wound.

Laden Turner, of Saluda township, S. C., went to the house of Tom Garner and brutally assaulted him. After knocking him down he jumped upon him with his feet, mashing his body horribly, and the wounded man died. The trouble grew out of a case before the commissioner, in which Garner testified that he had seen whiskey sold to Turner.

Hon. William F. Colcock died on Thursday at Charleston, S. C. For many years he was one of the most distinguished citizens of the state. He was collector of the port of Charleston before and during the war; was an advocate of secession, and a member of the convention 1860. He was a fine scholar, and possessed large wealth and great influence.

A serious cutting affair occurred in Stanley county, N. C., resulting in the killing of one man and the probable fatal wounding of two others. A crowd of men, as usual, had gathered at the neighborhood store on Saturday evening. Many began to drink heavily, and soon the entire crowd felt like fighting. A dispute arose, and in a short time eight men were engaged in an active knock-down fight. John Finch and Albert Tracer were wounded, and Henry J. Sevills was killed.

In the death, on Wednesday, of Dr. Andrew Simonds, one of the most conspicuous figures in the history of Port Bellevue, South Carolina, has passed away. Dr. Simonds has been a confirmed dyspeptic nearly all his life. A few days ago he was attacked with inflammation of the bowels, which rendered a surgical operation necessary. This resulted in his death. He was a native of Abbeville county and a connection of John C. Calhoun, of nullification fame, his mother being Jane Hamilton Calhoun. In 1860 he married a daughter of John A. Calhoun. He organized the First National Bank, of Charleston, in 1865, was elected president, and filled the office till his death.

A thunderstorm, resulting in considerable damage to property, occurred in Newberry county, S. C., on Wednesday. On one farm a cow was instantly killed. On another, the corn crib was set on fire, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done. On Noah Wilson's place a colored boy leading a mule to the stable was prostrated and stunned, while the mule was instantly killed by the stroke. On John Wertz's farm a team of four mules were struck, two being killed and one crippled. The negro driver was thrown from the mule he rode and stunned, his hat being torn to shreds and his clothing much injured. The barn of George McWhorter, in Columbia, was struck and set on fire.

On Wednesday, at King's Crossing, a few miles beyond Seville, Ga., two negroes boarded the train and attempted to steal a ride on the top of the freight car. When Conductor F. S. B. Whigham discovered them he climbed on top of the car. As he approached, is is supposed the negroes slipped down on the side of the car, and held on by the iron ladder, in order to conceal themselves from him. As he passed he looked over the side of the car, and one of them fired a shot from a pistol and dropped from the train. The ball entered the brain of Mr. Whigham, and he fell to the ground. As soon as possible the train was stopped, Mr. Whigham was picked up and put on board, and carried to Americus, where he died. A negro has been arrested at Sycamore, who has been identified as the one who fired the fatal shot.

Hon. Sam E. Fields, senator from the 43d district in Georgia, was killed at his home in Whitfield county on Tuesday morning. The killing was done by Dennis Taylor, a young man about twenty years of age, whom Fields had raised from a child. Taylor had spent the night before at the house of William Anderson, a neighbor living about 200 yards away. Fields went in the morning to wake him in order to feed the stock, which was one of his duties. He took with him, as was his custom when walking, a stick or switch. The boy saw him approaching, and seizing a gun which was standing near, fired at him as he was coming up the steps. The shot entered Fields' neck and severed his jugular vein, killing him instantly. Taylor has always bore the name of a half-witted creature, if not a crazy one, and was placed in the asylum two or three years ago.

THE POPE DEPRESSED.

The statue of Bruno, at Rome, Italy, was unveiled Sunday in the presence of many government officers, with imposing ceremonies. Thirty thousand people from all parts of the city marched in procession. Deputy Bovio, in a oration, declared that there was born a new religion of free thought and liberty of conscience which would be worse for the papacy, than the loss of temporal power. The proceedings throughout were orderly. The Pope is much depressed. He refused to see anybody, and has passed three days absorbed in prayer in his private chapel. Four hundred telegrams have arrived at the Vatican deploring the unveiling of the Bruno monument. All the ambassadors accredited to the Vatican met in the Pope's chapel.

GOOD BY!

A squad of about fifty men went in search of the Mormon elders who had been staying near Dawson, Terrell county, Ga., for some time, and found them a few miles from town. They asked them in a mild manner to leave the country, and they abruptly said that they would not leave; that it was a free country, and they were going to stay. The squad forced them into a buggy and carried them off into the piney woods, stripped them and used the lash until they submitted. They gave them just forty-eight hours to get away and never return. If they return, they will be hung.

COILS TIGHTENING.

POSITIVE CLEWS REACHED IN CHICAGO'S MURDER CASE.

SULLIVAN, THE LAWYER, ARRESTED FOR CONNECTION WITH CRONIN'S MURDER.

In the Cronin inquest, at Chicago, Ill., John C. Garrity, a saloon keeper, testified that he was acquainted with Detective Coughlin, under indictment for complicity in the assassination. Witness declared that Coughlin came to him and said that he wanted to hire a tough character known as "Major" Sampson, to slug a man. Witness told Sampson about it, and a few days later Sampson told him (Garrity) that the man Coughlin wanted slugged was Dr. Cronin. He wanted him slugged with a baseball bat and disfigured for life. If it killed him it would not make much difference. J. D. Haggerly, a railroad clerk, gave the most important testimony. After the trial of Cronin, he said, Alexander Sullivan told him that Cronin was a scoundrel and a menace to the Irish cause. It was the impression of the witness that Sullivan was trying to express the opinion that Cronin should be exterminated. Witness was of the same opinion at that time. About that time, a circular had been issued saying that many Scotland yard detectives had left England for America to attempt to find out some of the secrets of the order, and every person who was a member was on the lookout for informers. Tim Crane, who has since died, circulated the statement that Cronin was a dangerous man and a traitor. At that time Sullivan was not a one in his opinion. LeCaron, who was a friend of Alexander Sullivan, was a member of the committee which tried Cronin. He was introduced to witness by Sullivan at the trial as a man worthy of confidence in the Irish cause. He was opposed to Cronin at that time on account of the statement of Alexander Sullivan. Chief of Police Hubbard testified that he asked Woodruff, the horse thief, what he knew of the Cronin matter, and if he really was the one who drove the trunk from the Carlson cottage. "He said," continued the chief, "that he took the trunk about midnight on May 4th. He had been given $25 by two men the day before to do the job. At 11:30, on May 4th, the two men, according to agreement, tapped on the door of Dinan's stable. He opened the door and let out the horse, with rags on its feet, and hitched it to the wagon. They then drove to within one hundred feet of the Carlson cottage. He was then told to wait, and the two men went into the cottage. They remained there five minutes and then beckoned him to drive up. He did so, and the two men—King and Fairburn—and a third man came out with a heavy trunk. The man was P. O. Sullivan. When the trunk was put in the wagon, Sullivan returned to the house, and Woodruff, with King and Fairburn drove out Lincoln avenue to Fullerton avenue, through to Lincoln park. The men intended to take the trunk and its contents in a boat out on the lake and sink them, but owing to the bright night and presence of strangers, they changed their minds and drove back. When they reached the man hole at Fifty-ninth street, they tried to dump the trunk into it, but failing, they kicked the trunk open—they having lost the key—took the body from it and threw it into the manhole. Woodruff was then told to drive off. Other evidence was heard and the coroner's jury, after being out five hours and a half, came into court and commenced reading their verdict. It was a very long document, but was listened to with marked attention. The verdict charged that "Dan Coughlin, P. O. Sullivan, Alexander Sullivan, and one Woodruff, alias Black, were either principals, accessories, or had guilty knowledge of said plot to murder Dr. Cronin and conceal his body, and should be held to answer to the grand jury." The verdict continued as follows: "We also believe that other persons were engaged in this plot, or had guilty knowledge of it, and should be apprehended and held to the grand jury, and we further state that this plot, in its conception and execution, was one of the most brutal that ever came to our knowledge, and we recommend that the proper authorities offer a large reward for the discovery and conviction of all engaged in it, any way." It is stated that Maroney and McDonald are the mysterious "Williams brothers" who rented the Carlson cottage, where Cronin was murdered, and bought the furniture for it. That Maroney is a member of the Clan-na-Gael executive committee, which governs the whole organization, and that he has been identified by his photograph. Officers were dispatched to Alexander Sullivan's residence to make the arrest. Luke Dillon was instrumental in bringing about the arrest of Maroney and McDonald in New York, on Tuesday. It is given out that Maroney is suspected of being the man who drove the buggy that called for Cronin on the night of the murder. Maroney is a dry goods merchant. Both are Clan na-Gael men, and Maroney has been prominent in the affairs of that organization. Alexander Sullivan's arrest was affected without the slightest trouble. Before the verdict was read in public, Coroner Hertz merged for a moment from the room in which the jury was in session. He beckoned to an officer and handed him a mittimus. The officer with a comrade hurriedly left the hall, and jumping into a carriage drove direct to the residence of Sullivan, on Oak street. Sullivan had gone to bed a short time previous, but after the object of the officers was explained and information given that he would not be permitted any time for any purpose, he promptly and quietly dressed and unhesitatingly accompanied his visitors. The prisoner's demeanor was calm throughout the entire proceeding. Entering the carriage, which had brought the officers, the trio were driven to the office of the county jail. After the usual preliminaries, Sullivan was taken through the cage to the gloomy prison itself. The ex-president of the Irish National League of America was then immediately incarcerated in cell No. 25, in the tier known as "Murderer's Row."

PRINTERS' HOME.

COLORADO SPRINGS CHOSEN AS THE LOCATION OF A HOME FOR INVALID PRINTERS.

At the third day's session of the International Typographical Convention, at Denver, Col., on Thursday, the matter relative to the sending of a delegate to Paris during the international congress, which convenes next month, was referred to the committee of the whole. Considerable discussion was caused by receiving a petition to use plates in the government office at Washington. Referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Cassety, of New York, Reichel, of Illinois, Metcalf, of Minneapolis, and Richards, of Waco, Texas. Several provisions for the establishment of a home for invalid printers were then submitted to the meeting. The committee to which they were referred, reported unanimously in favor of adopting the proposition submitted by the citizens of Colorado Springs, who offered eighty acres of land near in as a free grant, on condition that the home be started within two years, and completed within three years. By a rising report it was adopted. The president ruled there were no vacancies, and consequently no election of officers will be held until next year. An appeal was taken and the ruling of the chair sustained.

VETERAN ORGANIZATION.

A NEW ORDER, KNOWN AS THE UNITED CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Governor Gordon, of Georgia, has been elected general of the United Confederate Veterans. This Grand Army of the South was organized in New Orleans and Governor Gordon received official notice of his election as commanding general, accompanied by a copy of the constitution of the order. The objects are of a social, literary, historical and benevolent character. An effort will be made to unite all associations of Confederate veterans, soldiers and sailors, to gather authentic data for an impartial history of the war between the states; to cherish the ties of friendship that should exist among men who have shared common dangers and common sufferings; to care for the disabled; to help the needy; to protect the widow and the orphan; and make and preserve a record of the services of every member, and as far as possible those of the Confederate dead. The officers will be a general, lieutenant-general, adjutant-general, quartermaster-general, commissary-general, judge advocate-general, surgeon-general and chaplain. General Gordon will appoint a lieutenant-general and a number of aides. The next meeting will be held on July 4th, 1890, at Chattanooga, Tenn.

MANY CHILDREN KILLED.

A train containing an excursion party from Armagh to Dublin, Ireland, was wrecked near the latter place. Twenty persons were killed outright. The train contained 1,200 people, composed of Methodist Sunday-School scholars, their teachers and relatives. They were going on an excursion to Warren Point. Seventy bodies were afterwards taken from the wreck. Warren Point, the place where the party was bound, is a watering place at the mouth of Newry River, in the county Down. The accident occurred at a point where the trains had to ascend a grade on a bank fifty feet high. The first train ascended the grade without trouble. The second section attempted to ascend, but the weight of the train proved too great for the engine. Several cars were detached and allowed to run back towards the level track, but before they reached it, they came in collision with an ordinary train from Armagh, which was proceeding at a good rate of speed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

APPOINTMENTS, DECISIONS, AND OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The President on Thursday appointed to be collectors of customs, T. Jefferson Jarrett, for the district of Petersburg, Va., and Robert Smalls for the district of Beaufort, S. C.

The Postmaster General on Thursday appointed the following fourth class postmasters for Georgia: Lula—Mr. Outlaw; Baconton, Mitchell county—J. N. Carson; Boston, Thomas county—G. A. Sharpe; Goloid, Screven county—G. H. Yates.

The examinations at the military academy received on Thursday at the War Department, shows that Cadet Young, of Ohio, the only colored cadet at West Point, failed to pass final examination. On recommendation of academic board, he will be given two months' time to make good his deficiency if he can.

The following fourth-class postmasters were appointed by the President on Tuesday for Georgia: Mrs. N. Fitzgerald, Jincy, Wilcox county; J. Donaldson, Meriden, Decatur county; John M. Gaddis, Orr, Pickens county; O. P. Johnston, Roy, Gilmer county; T. L. J. Stuncill, Sharptop, Cherokee county; George W. Bell, Snapping Shoals, Newton county.

A list of twenty-four appointments of postmasters by the President was made public Tuesday. Nine of these were to fill vacancies occasioned by the removal of former incumbents. Among the appointments were the following: F. L. Slade, Norfolk, Va., vice Michael Glennan, removed; William F. McDaniel, at South Pittsburg, Tenn., the office became presidential; John B. Cullen, at Humboldt, Tenn., the office became presidential.

Some excitement was manifested at the State and Navy Departments Wednesday, upon the receipt of a cablegram from Commander Kellogg, at Hayti. In obedience to orders from the Navy Department, which in turn were inspired by the Secretary of State, Commander Kellogg recently steamed from St. Nicholas mole (cable terminus) to Port au Prince. He reported to the Secretary of the Navy the result of his observations and inquiries into the condition of affairs at the Haytien capital. Secretary Tracy immediately communicated this information to Secretary Blaine, who carried the news to the President. Capt. O'Kane was ordered to sail immediately for the seat of trouble with the warship Boston, which has just been refitted at New York.

The June report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, indicates a slight reduction in the area of cotton on the Atlantic coast, and an increase west of the state of Alabama. Nearly four-fifths of the proposed breadth had been planted by the first of May, but germination was slow on account of cold and generally dry weather. The replanting of defective stands is general, and some fields were plowed up and planted in corn. The following averages are preliminary, subject to a revision from a thorough, special investigation now in progress: North Carolina 99, South Carolina 99, Georgia 98, Florida 100, Alabama 99, Mississippi 102, Louisiana 103, Texas 103, Arkansas 104, Tennessee 106; general average 101. The nights have been too cold and the seed bed too dry for germination or vigorous growth. Frosts are reported in May, some as late as the 30th. Throughout the cotton belt the condition is therefore relatively low—the lowest in South Carolina, the highest in Texas, averaging 86.4; the state averages being: Virginia 85, North Carolina 84, South Carolina 78, Georgia 80, Florida 88, Alabama 82, Mississippi 85, Louisiana 90, Texas 95, Arkansas 92, Tennessee 79. General average 80.4. Replanting was scarcely completed at the date of the report, and in dry land the latest seeding had not germinated. Rains on the last days of May were expected to improve the condition materially. In some districts are reports of the presence of lice and injuries by cut worms.

INDIANA LYNCHING.

TWO ROBBERS CAUGHT BURGLARIZING A RESIDENCE AT CORYDON AND HUNG.

James Deavin and Charles Tennyson were lynched at Corydon, Ind., on Wednesday morning. They were taken from jail by a mob of two hundred men and removed to a bridge west of the town where an effort to make them confess failed, and they were strung up. The two men attempted to rob the residence of James Lamay last Friday night. Lamay resisted and was shot, but not fatally wounded. A young woman, a niece of Lamay, was also seriously injured by a bullet.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

VOLUNTEER AID DISPENSED WITH AND THE STATE ASSUMES THE WORK.

Tuesday was the last day for clearing away the effects of the flood at Johnstown, Pa., by volunteer authorities. The state of Pennsylvania takes hold of the stupendous work of restoring the valley to the condition before the flood, and all work done will be under the supervision of Adj't-Gen. Hastings. Volunteers who have so untiringly worked for the object of restoring order have finished their self-imposed task. After twelve days of almost superhuman work by the army of volunteers, the state will assume its proper place in the work and do what every citizen of the commonwealth has known for days to be its duty. A weary and dreary succession of rainy days since the flood continues and Tuesday broke amidst a drizzling rain. With but a single exception, every day there since the deluge has opened with rain, but while the rain has made the work more disagreeable, it has had some good results. But for the almost continuous rains the river would have become too low and shallow to float away the debris that is fast being loosened and thrown into the river. The continued full stream has rendered the work of getting the wreckage away from the stone bridge much less arduous and more speedy. The fumes arising from decomposed bodies of persons and animals are most offensive, and at times almost overpowering. So noticeable has this become, that each gang searching for the dead carries disinfectants, and when the body is located the vicinity is thoroughly saturated with disinfectants. By this means, the work which otherwise would be unbearable, is less offensive. The horror of the situation has not diminished, but rather grows. The search for the dead continues, and in all sections and directions bodies are being found. Numbers of bodies are now coming to the surface of the waters, and those whose work has made them competent judges say as many more bodies as have been found are lying somewhere.

LATEST ABOUT CRONIN.

A CLAN-NA-GAEL MAN SAYS THE DOCTOR WAS MURDERED—GOV. HILL'S ACTION.

Michael Boland, recorder of Kansas City, Mo., whose name has been connected with that of Alexander Sullivan, the Chicago lawyer, and other members of the Clan-na-Gael, in connection with the Cronin murder mystery, expressed the opinion he was murdered by members of the Clan-na-Gael. He thought that some of the more ignorant members, sharing the general belief that Cronin was a spy, killed him in mistake, thinking they were benefitting the order. He says Sullivan or any leaders were not even remotely connected with the conspiracy.... A requisition was presented to Governor Hill of New York on Thursday from Governor Fifer, of Illinois, for the surrender of John J. Maroney and Charles McDonald, charged with the murder of Dr. Cronin. The governor denied the application without prejudice to the renewal of the same, simply on the grounds: 1. That the application was not accompanied by an indictment. 2. That no proof whatever was presented showing that the accused are guilty of the crime charged against them, required by the laws of N. Y., and all other states. The application was based solely upon an affidavit made upon "information and belief."

USED DYNAMITE.

A REJECTED LOVER IN OHIO CAUGHT WITH EXPLOSIVES—HE SUICIDES.

Frank James was arrested at Bowling Green, Ohio, on the charge of attempting to blow up Mrs Mattie Williamson's house with dynamite. He was put in the town jail where he committed suicide by hanging himself with a pair of suspenders. Mrs. Williamson is applying for a divorce from her husband, and James has been trying to get her to promise to marry him as soon as she gets the divorce. As she refused, James undertook to further his suit by threatening to blow her up with dynamite. Tuesday evening during Mrs. Williamson's absence, James, who was about half drunk, was discovered in the cellar asleep with a big dynamite cartridge attached to a fuse in his hand. The police were notified and James was arrested after a severe struggle, and was placed in jail and suicided.

UNITED LABOR.

A meeting was held Wednesday to take steps to bring the organized working classes of Chicago into a Brotherhood of United Labor—Barry's substitute for the Knights of Labor. Representatives of the following trades were present: Moulders, foundrymen, butchers, coopers, waiters, gas and coke workers, telegraph operators, painters, printers, carpenters and others, said to represent [illegible] wage workers.

GENERAL NEWS.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS AND EXCITING EVENTS.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, FIRES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

Emperor William's review of the English fleet off Spithead, has been fixed for August 5.

Cardinal hats were presented to the archbishops of Paris, Lyons and Brussels on Tuesday.

The town of Zbaraz, in Austrian Galicia, was almost entirely destroyed by fire on Monday. Many lives were lost.

William Atkinson, a wealthy citizen of Ironwood, Mich., committed suicide Tuesday by jumping into the shaft of a mine.

Lieut. Frank Reeves Heath, U. S. N., died at Mare island naval hospital, near San Francisco, Cal., on Thursday. He was one of the survivors of the wrecked man-of war Vandalia, at Samoa. He has been suffering for weeks from disease contracted at Apia, and a week ago was taken down with an attack of compound pneumonia.

Camillo Bougatti, awaiting trial in New York city for the murder of Francisco Sanevito, whom he killed on the 23d of May, committed suicide in the Tombs on Thursday by hanging. With a piece of rope taken from his bed-tick, he made a noose, and attaching one end to a sewer pipe running across the ceiling of his cell he stood on his bed, placed his head in the noose and swung off.

A dispatch from Tucson, Ariz., says: The preliminary hearing of the parties who robbed Paymaster Whann was commenced Wednesday afternoon. Gilbert and Wilford Webb, M. E. Cunningham, Natt Follet, Lyman Follet, Thomas Lamb and David Rogers were held to answer before the grand jury. Edward Follet was discharged. All the parties held were identified and a large amount of circumstantial evidence adduced against them. Other parties will probably be arrested soon.

A horrible double murder was committed near Meriden, N. H. Lucian Freeman, with an ax, killed his mother, Mrs. Daniel Freeman, aged 76, and also John Morgan. Freeman is thirty years old. He is known to be insane at times, and for this reason has been carefully watched, although he was believed to be harmless. His brother usually did the watching, but as he was compelled to be absent Tuesday, he employed Morgan to stay with his mother and brother. Freeman, after committing the deed, walked two miles to the house of an acquaintance and told what he had done, and gave particulars in a perfectly calm and matter of fact manner.

During a thunder shower which passed over New York on Tuesday, a three-story frame building in course of erection on the corner of Evergreen and Cooper avenues, in Brooklyn, was demolished, burying six people in the ruins. Two were killed. St. James cathedral, one of the oldest church buildings in Brooklyn, at Jay and Chapel streets, was struck by lightning and gutted by fire. Directly after the flash the church was examined, but only a scratch was discovered. Two hours after the building was in flames. The wood-carved altars of the church, which were burned, were valued at $30,000. The building accommodated 3,500 persons.

INDIAN MASSACRE.

The following telegram was received by Governor Merriam, of Minnesota, at his office in St. Paul: "Mora, Minn.—The Chippewa Indians at Mille Lacs Lakes, commenced killing and driving out the white settlers last midnight. Several whites were killed and wounded, all inoffensive Swedes. No known cause. Help us to quiet the Indians. Soldiers can come to Mora, thence to Mille Lacs Lake on to Milaica station, and to the lake. Even McKelser."

PLUG TOBACCO TRUST.

A special dispatch from St. Louis, Mo., says: The latest report is trust a of $30,000,000, which takes in all the the plug tobacco manufactories of the United States. There scheme is said to be one of self protection. All manufacturers will sell out to one company, and then take stock to amount of valuation of their plants. Liggett and Myers and Drummond & Company, of St. Louis, and Pierre Lorillard, of New York, are at the head of the affair.

COTTON.

The total expansion in the [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 20, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - 75
One copy four " - - - 50

When I speak of this as the era of plutocrats nobody can misunderstand me. I don't intend that they shall. Everybody has recognized the rise of the money power. Its growth not merely strifles the independence of the people, but the blind believers in money's omnipotent power asserts that its liberause condnces every offense.—Bishop Potter.

It is a very common thing to hear railroads abused, but the communities that are not enjoying railroad transportation are very anxious to secure it at the earliest possible moment. The taxes paid by the railroads in the State treasury amount to aboat one fifth of the amount derived by taxation from all other property, their valuation being ouer $40,000,000. They are a big factor when it comes to helping meet the States' expenses.—Advertiser.

The administration is not short in its recognition of the colored man. The Huntsville Gazette a colored organ, of the 8th inst., says: Telegrams from Washington yesterday brought the gratifying intelligence that the editor of this journal had been appointed by the President receiver of public money's at Huntsville, Ala. Thus developments continue to bear us out in our position that this administration would prove its friendship to the negro as well as its fidelity to all other republican interests.

The List.

The following is a list of the applicants for the position of Secretary of State to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Col. Langdon: S. G. Welf, W. H. Brown, T. L. Anglin, J. B. Stanley, Thos. H. Repnolds, J. D. Barron, W. W. Screws, W. L. Clay, Francisco Rice, N. A. Graham, E. J. Oden, Robert McKee, D. W. McIver, J. J. Parker, W. J. Alexander, M. C. Burke, H. C. Graham and W. A. George. We extend our sympathies to the Governor.

The Montgomery dailies appear to be in a pickle over the lottery business. The Advertiser is violating the moral law by advertising and recommending the Louisiana Lottery, and it endeavors to make the Dispatch out more wicked than itself by charging that it (the Dispatch) is violating not only the higher law but also the State law by running as well as advertising the Mexican lottery. The very word lottery is a synonym of swindle and fraud, and after much deliberation, due consideration and great elaboration we find it impossible to dodge the conclusion that both the Advertiser and the Dispatch are very bad papers. The business manager of each will please remit us $5 in cash to pay for this advertisement. No lottery tickets will be accepted.

The editor of the Republican Gazette, published at Langdon, Ohio who was a member of the Ohio editoral excursion, wich visited the the South, denies the charge made by many of the papers that the party was mede up of "dead beats." He says:

"The attention the association received in the South was voluntary on the part of the hospitable people of that section. We did not ask it, neither did we ask anything that we were not ready to pay for. It was a pleasure trip, a journey of observation. We did not go as dead beats, neither did we dead beat any one. We will in one hundred representative Ohio papers advertise the wonderful resources, the flourishing industries, and the unparalleled prosperity of the favored and progressive South. We will amply repay the generous people of the South for all the attention and courtesy shown us."

A Valuable Book.

The Eutaw Mirror very justly says of Judge Wm. R. Smith's new book:

"We would hardly go beyond what is just and true, were we to say that it is one of the most fascinating books of the age. Scott, Dickens and Thackeray never penned more accurate and realistic pictures of character than are to be found in 'Reminiscences of a Long Life.'

We commend the book most earnestly to all who ever knew 'Little Billy Smith.' They will find it as full of meat and kernel as ever was fresh laid egg. Every young man who has grown up here should get the book and study well the men and events of that day. They will find it a treasury of knowledge, humor, wit, biography and history almost inexhaustible."

Weather Crop Bulletin.

The temperature for the week just ended has been about the average. Although showers were frequent tnere has been sufficient sunshine to promote the rapid growth of vegetation. In north Alabama from 2 to 3 inches of rain have fallen dunring three days of the week. In middle and southern Alabama the amount of rain varied from 0.4 to 1.50 inches, some places only reporting one rainy day, while other portions of the state are still suffering from the drought. More rain is needed in all parts of Alabama.

The warm weather and refreshing showers have caused the crops to assume a new and very promising appearance. Cotton is clean and growing rapidly, though unusually backward; the prospects for corn are very fine. The yield of fruit will be abundant. Peaches are ripe in southern Alabama.

P. H. MELL, Director.

Josh Billings' Philosodhy.

Ef I waz call upon tew tell who waz the bravest man that ever lived I would say it was him who nover told a lie.

The meanest thing that enny man ever follow for a biziness is making money.

Everybody lovs tew feel that they are ov some importance in this wold. Even the pauper looks forward tew the day of his phuneral az the time that he haz got tew be notissed. If yu hav a noble and spirited boy appeal, tew his generosity; if yu hav a heavy, sullen one, appeal to his back.

A grate menny ov our people go abroad to improve their minds who hadn't got enny minds when they wur at home. Knowledge, like charity, should begin at home and then spred.

Nobody but a phool will spend his time tryin to convince a phool.

Time iz like money; the less we have of it to spare the further we make it go.

Men who invade the provence of wimen are always j e red at; and how kan wimmin when they invade the provence to man, expect to escape the same kind of treatment.

He who spends his younger days in disipation iz mortgrage himself to disease and poverty, two inexorable creditors, who are certain tew foreclose at last and take possiion ov the premisos.

There iz menny a person who kan set a mousertrap tew perfection but not satisfied with sich small game, they undertake to trap for bears and git ketched by the bears. Study yours genius and stick to mice.

Young man, don't marry above or below your rank; not that I think there is enny virtue in rank but there is coustom in it, and custom often outranks law and gospel.

Proper Length

A lawyer is presumed to be always able to suggest a difficulty no matter how self-evident the case may seem; but the truly great lawyer knows how to state a point so that even a brother lawer cannot start an objection. According to the Yankee Blade. Stephen A. Douglass and Mr. Lovejoy were gossiping together, when Abraham Lincoln came in.

The two men immediately turned their conversation upon the proper length of a man's legs.

"Now" Love, "Abe's legs are altogether too long, and yours, Douglas, I think, are a little too short. Let's ask Abe what he thinks about it."

The conversation had been carried on with a view to Lincoln's overhearing it and they closed it by saying:

"Abe, what do you think about it?" Mr. Lincoln had a far-way look, as he sat with one leg twisted around the other, but he responded to the question: "Think of what?"

"Well we're talking about the proper length of man's legs. We think yours are too long, and Douglass' too short, and we'd like to know what you think is the proper length."

"Well," said Mr. Lincoln, "that's a matter that I've never given any thought to, so of course, I may be mistaken; but my first impression is that a man's legs ought to reach from his body to the ground."

Wanted.

An editor who can read, write and argue politics at the same time be religious, funny, scientific and historical at will; to please everybody, know everything without asking or being told, always have something good to say about somebody else, live on wind and have more money than enemies. For such a man a good opening will be made—in the graveyard.—Exchange.

- - - - Henry Grady, writing from New York to the Atlanta Constitution, says: "Unless there is a decided check to the current now setting swiftly, Grover Cleveland will be the next democratic nominee for the presidency. On the surface it is all Cleveland in New York. Gov. Hill may have the machine in hand, but in general regard as to fitness, dignity, ability and size he is not classed with Cleveland."

A well known barkeeper is credited with an "original" remark, in which there was not more truth than poetry. Two customers were drinking at his bar. One had been sick with chills and fever and was drinking a mixture of brandy and jinger, while his friend took beer. "Drink beer and you will never have chills!" said the beer drinker to his friend. "Drink whisky and you never have anything," said the barkeeper, and then both gentlemen agreed that perhaps the mixerologist was right.

"For rent" may be seen on many of the store-house doors of our Texas towns. What does it indicate? Clearly that money is scarce, and not because the people do not need the comforts and necessities of life. Merchants often fail for want of business. Some because they extend too much credit. All failures are the result of a scarcity of money. How strange it is that when merchants and business men know this fact they will continue to be the voting tools of a party run in the interest of dear money and cheap labor and its products. They should act with those who are demanding sufficient money in circulation to do the business of the country on a cash basis.—The Tribune, Cleburne Texas.

The Champion Runner.

A slab sided, mud covered granger entered a Broadway clock store about dusk the other evening, and, with a bewildered look, asked:

"Mister, is this where a man kin git a clock?"

"Yes, sir," said the clerk.

"Wall," said the granger "what be that ticker worth?" pointing to an ornate and intricate piece of time recording merchanism on the shelf.

"That, sir," said the clerk, "is a wonderful time piece. It is worth $200, and will run three years without winding."

"Great Scott!" gasped the granger, "three years without winding. Say, mister, how long would the damed thing run if she was wound up?"—Jeweler's Catalogue.

How a Pawnbroker Came Out.

"I would like to see some diamond rings," said a snappish young man with dainty manner of speech as he entered a three-ball emporium on Halstead street, near Taylor:

"You would?" said Marx, the proprietor to himself as he traveled along the counter toward the threatening to be customer but I bet me dot fellah ish no good," and aloud, in the most genereral manner. "Any ding you vant, sir, you shall haf."

The young man quickly chose a ring, a 3 carrat, single stone ring, of prime light, and requested that it be kept for him, as he had no money at that moment. Marx cleared away the rings, when the young man, suddenly leaning over the counter, indicated a spot upon the shelf where the chosen ring should be left until his return. In the movement, his elbow went through the glass top of the show case.

"Upon my word," cried he, "that was a most awkward trick, and I do not know what to say. You may add the damage to the price of the ring."

"Der glass cost only three dollars," said Marx, with some ill grace. "Vhy don't you pay it now?"

"Why, sir, I am out of funds," was the distressful protest,

"You will excuse me if I correct you," blandly replied the broker, and, bending over the case, he seized the protruding end of a $20 bill and plucked it from the young man's vest pocket.

The purchaser was covered with confusion, and averred that he knew not that he had the money. He was ready, however, to have the cost of the glass deducted.

When Marx deposited that evening the bank clerk returned to him a $20 bill on which he had deftly imprinted in large violet letters the condeming word, "Counterfit."—Chicago Tribune.

There is less drunkenness in the professions now-a days than ever before in the world's history. There are fewer drinking lawyers, fewer drinking journalists, fewer drinking physicians, fewer drinking statesmen. Temperance is recognized not only as a virtue but as an element of success in professional life. The young man who tries to accelerate his progress by alcohol makes the greatest mistake of his life.

It is said that the Governor of Tennessee refuses to honor requisitions from the Governor of Georgia.

Silence is the best weapon to use against a vulgar and spiteful tongue.

Notice.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 4th, 1889.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Redding E. Jones, Jr., against General J. Bryant, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 14750, dated October 30th, 1883, upon the e ½ of s e ¼ and s w ¼ of s e ¼ section 36, township 22 north, range 15 east, in Chilton county, Ala., with a view to the cancellation of said entry, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at Clanton, Ala., before Wm. H. Foshee, Commissioner, who takes testimony on the 15th day of July, 1889, and at this office on the 20th of July, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

J. G. HARRIS, Register.
jun13 WM. C. JORDAN, Receiver.

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, In the Probate Court of said county.

To the heirs at law and legatees of the estate of M. C. McRee, deceased: Take notice that on the 21st day of May, 1889, A. J. McRee, as administratrix of the said estate filed in said court her petition in writing and under oath, praying for an order of the said court, to sell all the real estate of said estate, described in said petition, upon the ground that a sale of the same is necessary for the payment of the debts of said estate; and take notice further that the said court has appointed Monday, July 29th, 1889, a day for hearing said petition, at which time you can appear in said court and contest said application if you choose so to do.

Dated June 10th, 1889.
H. J. CALLEN, Probate Judge.

Register's Sale.

Mary E. Hamrick vs. James M. Huggins et. als.

By virtue of a decree rendered at the March term 1889, of the Chancery Court at Columbiana, of the sixth district of the Northeast Chancery Division of the State of Alabama, in the above entitled cause, I shall proceed to sell at public outcry, at Clanton, in Chilton county, on Monday, the 24th day of June, 1889, between the legal hours of sale, for cash, the following real estate, situated in Chilton county, Alabama, to-wit: The south half (s ½) of section fourteen (14) township twenty-three (23) range thirteen east (13 e).

D. R. McMILLAN,
Register in Chancery
May 30th 1889. Shelby Co. Ala.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
San Francisco, Cal.
Louisville, Ky. New York, N. Y.

jul19 y

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Save Your Hair

By a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
Drs. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK

THE ONLY
★ ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE ★ INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC. NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED, CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

The Great Newspaper of the South.

The AGE-HERALD, in addition to covering the field most thoroughly with their bright and newsy daily, is getting out the Great Weekly of the South. It is a mammoth 12-page paper at only $1 a year, with a ticket for every subscriber to the largest gift distribution of over $8,000 in valuable and useful articles ever offered by a newspaper. It is a paper for the farm and fireside. Its Agricultural Department is full of practical information for the farmer, while its Household Department renders it a treasure to every housewife in the land. A special feature is also made of a department for Our Little Folks.

We will furnish the WEEKLY AGE-HERALD and our paper one year for $2 and give each subscriber a ticket to the gift distribution.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

The Lawson Carpet Co.

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,
ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜
P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.

H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
—Manufacturer of all kinds of—
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, - - Alabama.
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWARE.
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street.
Birmingham, Ala.
12 20 6

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 20, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Sampey advertises special prices.

Several new subscribers this week.

Ex-Tax Assessor Smith was in town Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Swanson, of Tuskegee, is visiting relatives in Clanton.

We hear that Mr. O. A. Duke will soon rebuild his saw-mill.

Mr. Wiley Vines, of Jemison, was in town Monday and Tuesday on business.

Miss Robbie Walker, of Orion, is visiting friends and relatives in our town.

Mr. J. M. Ponder brings us the first cotton bloom. It was brought on the 14th inst.

Two dogs that were thought to be mad were immediately exterminated a few days ago.

Mr. Phillip Duke, of Nashville, Tenn., visited the family of Mr. O. A. Duke this week.

Miss Cora Tarver, of Morgansville, is lending her sweet smiles to friends in Clanton.

Master Willie Swanson, of Tuskegee, Ala., is visiting his aunt Mrs. Ponder and family.

Miss Mollie Hannon returned home last Thursday from a pleasant visit in Montgomery.

Invitations are out by the young men of Clanton to a dance at Ehrman's Hall on Saturday, June 29th.

Mr. Willis Lowe as usual is not behind in remembering the VIEW with some of his excellent fruit.

A friend over the hill made the VIEW folks happier Saturday by bringing in a basket of nice peaches.

Misses Bessie and Gertha Ponder have returned home from the Tuskegee Female College for vacation.

That energetic lumberman, Mr. L. F. Rollins, of Wadsworth, made a brief business visit to our town on Friday.

We are sorry to learn of the sickness of Mr. W. H. Burton. He returned from South Georgia last week quite sick.

Dead animals should be removed at least half a mile from any dwelling during the warm weather. There is pestilence in the atmosphere near them.

The editor is sick and the devil is on a strike, so the readers of the VIEW will please excuse any deficiency that may occur in the paper this week.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at special prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

Mr. W. F. Middleton who has been spending some time with his parents in Clanton, left on Sunday last for Texas, much to the regret of his many friends here.

On last Sunday the Methodist choir was found to be on a strike. All efforts for compromise or reconciliation proved vain and it is feared that a long strike is on.

Died near Clanton on Sunday, the 16th inst., Mr. G. W. Massey. The deceased was a young man about twenty three years of age, and was unmarried.

Mrs. O. A. Duke and Misses Anna Lou Duke and Glennie Phillips went up to Jemison on Tuesday to attend the closing exercises of the Jemison High School.

Mr. Jno. T. Connell, of Jumbo, sends the VIEW some of the wherewithal on his subscription and says he is too busy fighting grass to come to town. Crops in his settlement reported good.

The sidewalk and sewerage in front of the new Allen building are being put in repair. Let our other merchants follow this example and we will have better streets and more prosperous merchants.

Dr. Geo. Bains, of Birmingham, has been compelled to make frequent contributions of his wardrobe to burglars lately. He proposes to keep moving during the summer, however, if the thieves will leave him as much as a duster and a pair of boots.

A considerable number of Clanton's young people attended the concert at Jemison on Tuesday night. All report the concert a success and themselves as having had a nice time.

Mr. B. F. Culpepper reports that he has about recovered from the loss caused by the burning of his residence sometime since. He says he has such a promising crop and feels so much encouraged that he decided to come to town and pay for the VIEW for a year in advance.

The man who occasionally drops in a small local finds but little benefit. The only remunerative way to advertise is to keep one's business constantly before the public. Such is the opinion, too, of John Wannamaker, who is decidedly the most successful merchant in the United States to-day.

The Killing.

The killing of Phillip Givhan by W. A. Collier, [illegible] on Wednesday morning caused some excitement in town, though the tragedy had been hourly expected for several days. It is enough to say that the dead man brought his death upon himself by repeated threats against the Collier family; and upon boldly entering the yard of the Collier residence on Wednesday morning about seven o'clock, he was shot dead by Mr. Collier.

The deceased leaves a wife and three children, his wife being the eldest daughter of Mr. Collier.

Mr. Givhan, of Marion, a brother of the deceased, reached Clanton a short time before the shooting and is stopping at the residence of Mr. Collier.

The remains of the deceased will be interred at the cemetery to-day.

Drifts From Dry Creek.

June 13th, yesterday, will long be remembered with sweet and pleasant recollections, in the minds of those who attended the closing exercises of pleasant Grove Academy. Everyone interested seemed to be highly pleased with the advancement of the pupils under the supervision of Professor R. E. R. Hicks.

The professor is an educated gentleman and skilled in the arts and methods of teaching.

The morning was spent in examination of the various classes, each one showing proficiency and a thorough knowledge of the studies upon which they were closely examined.

At 1 o'clock exercises were suspended for dinner. We were not almost, but altogether persuaded that the good people in and around Dry Valley knew how to prepare a dinner that would be appetizing to all, from youth to old age. We truly felt that we were in a land of plenty and in the hands of friends when we tasted the coffee of Mr. L. W. S. and partook of the many good things before us. Mr. Editor, you lost one of the best days of your life by not being here.

In the afternoon examination of classes was resumed. It would take too much space to note the entire list of classes, but will only refer to Westlake, grammar and mathematics upon which the pupils showed such quickness and competency.

As the sun began to sink behind the western hills, leaving tints of crimson, purple and gold, we were regaled with a supper which furnished delicacies from the city and a profusion of good things from the country.

Just at the hour when the gray shadows of twilight began to fall and pale Luna—the light—Goddess of night, beamed brightly, the big crowd assembled to witness the grand finale of the day, hearing declamations from the young gentlemen and essays of the young ladies.

DECLAMATIONS.

Mr. Will Reynolds—Black Horse and Rider.
Mr. Geo. Coleman—Improvement.
Mr. W. S. Moore—Self Sacrificed Ambition.
Mr. W. S. Garner—Our People.
Mr. H. L. Davis—Agriculture.
Mr. Geo. Moore—Despair.
Mr. Thomas Sessions—Life.

ESSAYS.

Miss Mary Garner—Power of Dreams.
Miss Mollie Reynolds—Woman, Her Selfreliance.
Miss Sallie Woolley—Home.
Miss Edna Wilson—Perseverence.
Miss Lula Eddings—Faity.
Miss Viola Woolley—Love of Woman.

The recitations of the young pupils were equally meritorious with their elders.

Last night's entertainment was certainly a pleasant and encouraging closing for patrons and students of Pleasant Grove Academy.

Every citizen in the county has an influence for or against the progress of this school. All should be willing to contribute a fair prorate of both money and time to this enterprise. Let us all pull together and keep a first-class school here, and in the years to come we can realize for a fact that our labors have not been in vain.

We have heard that the trustees have secured the services of Prof. Hicks again. We hope such is a fact.

FLOY.

Four white men and two negroes were killed in a row at Givene's Store near Auston Texas last week. Cause of the trouble, a negro constable attempted to arrest a white man and was resisted.

Some men try advertising as the Indian tried feathers, as follows: He took one feather, and laid on it all night. In the morning he remarked: "White man say feathers sleep soft; white man d——d —Jessup Sentinel.

In the northern part of Tuskaloosa county the citizens have organized a vigilance committee for the purpose of breaking up the illicit distilleries and arresting the men engaged in the "moonshining" business. The "moonshiners" are defiant and serious trouble is feared.

Mr. J. R. Grinstead. Senora Ky., says; My children have sometimes had boils and other signs which times I have found Swift's Specific a most successful remedy, in no instance failing to effect a speedy and permanent cure.

"Swift's Specific is a great blessing to humanity," says Mr. P. E. Gordon, of 725 Broad street, Nashville, Tenn., "for it cured me of rheumatism of a very bad type with which I had been troubled for three or four years. S. S. S. cured me after I had exausted everything else.

Mr. Russell Myrick, of the firm of Myrick & Hendersrn, Fort Smith, Ark., says be wishes to add his testimony to the thousand which have already been given as to Swift's Specific. He says he derived the most signal benefit from its use to cure painful boils and sores resulting from impuere blood.

When taken for a few days, potash mixtures impair the digestion take away the appetite and dry up the gastric which should assist in digesting and assimilating the food. Swifts Specific has just the oppesite effect; it improves digestion brings appetite and builds up the general health.

One reason why people always talk about the weather is because it can't talk back.

"My father, at about the age of fifty, lost all the hair from the top of his head. After one month's trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair began coming, and, in three months, he had a fine growth of hair of the natural color."—P. J. Culles, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

The benefits of vacation season may be greatly enhanced, if, at the same time, the blood is being cleansed and vitalized by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A good appetite, fresh vigor, and buoyand spirits attend the use of this wonderful medicine.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

HOW'S THIS!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN, & MARVIN, Druggists, Toledo.
E. H. VAN HOESEN, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Prop., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

BLOOD AND BRAIN.

Pure blood is what oils the machinery of life, eases every movement of the body, removes stiffness of the joints, drives out pain from the nerves, stimulates the brain, protects the liver and kidneys from irritation, enables physical exertion without fatigue, prolongs life, and makes men and women perfect in health and feature. Good blood and good brain are inseparable. Aim to keep the blood pure by using the only true blood remedy, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm.)

Miss S. Tomlinson, Atlanta, Ga., says:
"For many years I have been afflicted with rheumatism combined with severe kidney troubles, indigestion and nervous prostration. Rheumatism Several physicians were employed and numerous patent medicines resorted to without benefit. At last I began the use of B. B. B., and its effect was like magic. Rheumatic pains ceased, my kidneys were relieved, and my constitution improved at once."

Z. T. Hallerton, Macon, Ga., writes:
"Three years ago I contracted a blood poison. I applied to a physician at once, and his treatment came near killing me. I employed an old physician and then went to Kentucky. I Hot Springs then went to Hot Springs and remained two months, but nothing seemed to cure me permanently, although temporary relief was given me. I returned home a ruined man physically, with but little prospect of ever getting well. I was persuaded to try B. B. B., and to my utter astonishment it quickly healed every ulcer."

W. C. McGaughey, Webb City, Ark., writes:
"I owe the comfort of my life to a use of B. B. B. I was troubled with blood poison Bad Blood for five or six years, and found no relief equal to that given by this valuable remedy."

Mrs. Emma Griffiths, Unitia, Tenn., writes:
"The doctors said my boy twelve years old had scrofula. His knees were drawn up and joints were stiff, and for three years he had been Scrofula unable to walk. One bottle of B. B. B. has done him so much good he can now walk, and his pain has ceased. Its action on my boy has been pronounced most wonderful."

[sep27 ew 1y]

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.

Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[mal5 y]

NOTICE NO. 8789.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., May 7, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on June 15, 1889, viz: Daniel W. Stewart, homestead 16518 for the n w ¼ of section 26, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Stephen Baker, John [illegible], W. A. Jones, Cyrus M. Culp, all of Clanton, Ala.

[illegible] J. S. [illegible], Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers

Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN

nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.

Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses.
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.

2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.

Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.

W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]

READ THIS!

I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries

into the Johnson drug storehouse and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.

I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.

Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

Correspondence solicited.

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
TRADE MARK

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky., says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than [illegible].

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell,) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISOS CURE FOR

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine. If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions. The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost. Easy and pleasant to use. Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

nov22-y

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

FROM $85 to $58.

This Elegant Parlor Organ style 70 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells, Stool and Book free. For only $58.00. With stool and [illegible]. "Warranted for 6 years."

It is only necessary [illegible] references as to your responsibility from any banker, postmaster, merchant or express agent and the Organ will be shipped promptly on [illegible] days [illegible].

Circulars free to all.

Be sure to write us, and save [illegible].

Mention Paper where this "Ad" [illegible].

[illegible]

E. W. AL[illegible]

A PILOT'S ARDUOUS WORK.

HARDY MEN WHO BRING BIG OCEAN STEAMERS INTO PORT.

The Pilotage System Under Strict Government Surveillance—Work Done by Pilots and Their Pay.

The lives of some of the New York pilots tell a story of the sea more dramatic and interesting by far than ever fell to the pen of a novelist to relate. They are, for the most part, a set of hardy men, bred, almost from their birth, to the pursuit of their precarious professions and inured to hardships which the most heroic landsman would shrink from experiencing.

The pilotage system of this country is governed by strict rules, enacted by Congress and administered by a Board of Commissioners of Pilots, consisting of five persons, having offices at No. 40 Burling slip. Three of the members are usually appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and two by the Board of Underwriters, which has so much at stake on the safe coming and going of our foreign and domestic craft. Through rain and shine, summer and winter, the pilots are ever on the watch, some cruising close to shore in the vicinity of our harbor, while others go as far east as Halifax, N. S., and south to Cape Henry. These two routes are called the Eastern and Southern cruises respectively, and cover most of the waters of our coast inside the Gulf Stream. Strange to say, no pilot boat ever crosses that singular sheet of water, and the only vessels of the sort to be met with off shore are the daring little clippers, with their intrepid crews, who hail from New York.

Sometimes our metropolitan pilotboats cruise around for weeks without sighting a vessel. At other times ship after ship is picked up in rapid succession until the supply of pilots on board is exhausted and she is compelled to return to New York and take a new and fresh force. When a vessel is hailed by a pilotboat the law requires that a man from that boat shall be taken on board. Some shipmasters, however, prefer piloting their vessels in for themselves, although by doing this they risk their claims for insurance in case of disaster. If they reject a pilot after being hailed they must still pay at the regular rates at the office of the Pilot Commissioners.

While a pilot is on board a vessel within the pilot grounds he has the control of it, and is answerable for any injury that may happen through his fault, and this liability was carried to such an extent by the early maritime law of some European countries that the pilot, if unable to render full satisfaction, atoned for his negligence with his life. While the pilot is on board the power of the master of the vessel is not, as is erroneously supposed, wholly superseded. It is his duty, in case of obvious and certain disability or dangerous ignorance or mistake on the part of the pilot, to dipossess him of his authority. So it is the duty of the master to see that a lookout is kept, and generally while the orders of the pilot are imperative as to the course the vessel is to pursue, the management of it is still under the control of the master.

When a great ship, half dismasted and deep laden with precious freight, is feeling its way through storm and rain, like a blind man, toward its goal, when every moment threatens destruction, the pilot's voice coming through the darkness, in which only a couple of dancing lights denote the pilot boat, sounds like the salutation of a specter.

"Ship ahoy! Do you want a pilot?" is the usual cry which often rings out through a fog so thick that no sign of a vessel, if we may except the little light, can be seen anywhere about. At such times the pilot leaves the deck of his little craft at the risk of his life. His cockle shell of a boat dances on the huge waves under the streaming side of the laboring ship. A rope is thrown him, at which he grasps, and is hoisted up the ship's side, while the boat disappears in the darkness. Sometimes he misses his hold and plunges into the black water to rise no more. At others the miserable shell of a yawl perishes midway between the pilot boat and the vessel for which it is bound and all hands are lost.

Every sailor on a pilotboat is eligible to the post of pilot, in due turn, if he can pass an examination and demonstrate a proper knowledge of the obstructions of the harbor and the elementary principles of navigation. Even if he has not money enough to purchase a share in a pilotboat, he is appointed to service on one, and usually, in the course of a few years, saves money enough to buy a portion of her.

The average gain of a Sandy Hook pilot is $2000 a year. The pay of a boatkeeper is $30, of a seaman $25, of a steward $50 a month. This money is first subject to a reduction for expenses. The 2 per cent. is deducted for the Board of Commissioners and a small sum for the owners of the boat for rent and repairs.

The pilot boats in the New York service number twenty-two. They are built of the best material, sheathed and fastened with copper, and rarely cost their owners less than $40,000. They are usually manned by twelve men—six pilots, five seamen and a steward—and are commanded by one of the seamen, who is known by the generic title of "boatkeeper."

The pilots are classed according to their service and record. The B class is the highest, and comprises men who have seen the longest term of active service in these boats. Others are rated at 16 feet, eighteen feet, etc., which means that they are restricted from piloting vessels of greater draught than that to which their rate assigns them. These latter are all young pilots, who, as they gather experience, are rated higher in proportion to their merits.

There are two schedules of rates for pilotage, governed by the seasons. In summer, when the service is a comparatively easy one, the rates on merchant vessels are a little less than those expected during the severe weather of winter. The deficiency in amount is made up for, however, by the increased number of vessels arriving and departing. In winter the number of vessels arriving at this port falls off at least one-quarter. Vessels bound hither are frequently forced by stress of weather to seek refuge in intermediate ports and transfer the cargo. Others, again, meet the fate of the Danmark, and add their timbers to the bleaching ribs of other stately ships which strew our coast from Florida to the borders of Maine.

The fees for summer pilotage, as established by law, are as follows: For every merchant vessel inward bound and drawing less than fourteen feet of water $3.75 per foot draught is paid. For vessels be- [illegible] twenty-one $4.13 is charged, and for any ship with a draught of twenty-one feet or over $4.88 per foot must be paid. If boarded out of sight of Sandy Hook one-fourth of the above rates are added. For outward pilotage there is a reduction made of about a dollar a foot. In winter time, from November to April, an additional sum of $2 is charged on every vessel. This the pilots call "mitten money."—New York Star.

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Green remains the color most in vogue.

A new shade of pink is called raw veal.

The peacock's feathers are no longer in vogue.

There is a society of lady artists in London.

Spring willow is a lovely shade of golden green.

Seven ex-mistresses of the White House are living.

Morning toilets show many varieties of Directoire redingotes.

The favorite rose for white rose tulle bonnets is the eglantine.

The Lady Guide Association in London is proving to be a success.

Pompeiian blue looks royal and beautiful in velvets and plushes.

Black mull, drawn hats and bonnets are in fashion for country wear.

The yellow mimosa is a favorite trimming flower on black hats and bonnets.

Round waists and belts are gradually displacing pointed bodices and basques.

Princess Christian and Princess Louise often drive about London in hansom cabs.

Mrs. Mona Caird has organized a scheme of neighbors' clubs in England.

Miss Morstock, an English painter, had five pictures in the Royal Academy this year.

Chicago has a home for self supporting women where board is to be had for $2.25 a week.

Mme. Rukmabai, a prominent woman of India, has gone to London to study medicine.

Dresses of pale green crepe de chine are now fashionable with black gloves and ribbons.

Dainty petticoats of nainsook and cambric are finished with tiny tucks and insertion of point d'esprit.

Mrs. Sarah Oates, of Kansas City, has made a fortune of $2,000,000 from a real estate investment of $2000.

Children may wear sun hats of pale rose, blue and white chambery, shirred upon extremely heavy cords.

Rich brocades, antique in color and design, are used in various ways to brighten up dresses of black surah or faille.

The organization known as "The King's Daughters" is only six years old, but it has forty thousand members.

Worth has returned to the use of plain grenadine and the old-fashioned Hernani for handsome black summer gowns.

Mrs. Celia E. Wentworth is said to be the only lady pupil Cabanel, the famous French artist, ever received into his studio.

For occasions of ceremony the Queen Regent of Spain sometimes puts aside her black garments and wears a lilac gown.

Mrs. Spurgeon, wife of the celebrated London preacher, sends books to poor country clergymen and bonnets to their wives.

Turned-downed plaited frills of embroidered muslin are the favored finish for the neck and frills of little girls' frocks.

New glove buttoners are in the form of large gold initials. Others have attached to them tiny knives with blue enameled handles.

Short waists are no longer popular for little girls, the embroidered band or ribbon sash being used to give the short-waisted effect.

The accordion-plaited skirt, notwithstanding its objectionable features and the difficulty it requires in managing it, is very popular.

Corded silks are still retained for evening wear. The favorite shades are golden willow, apricot, Parma violet, golden tan and dove gray.

Black trimmings, especially black moire or satin ribbons, more than hold their own against all the colors of Paris and Persia combined.

Soft low-crowned toques are the most popular head covering of the season. They are worn en suite with costumes of nearly every description.

Oskaloosa, Kansas, under its women officials, has got ten clear of debt, and now has a balance in the treasury for the first time since the war.

Brussels has distinguished herself by a bonnet show. The first prize was given to a "flat, oyster-shell sort of contrivance, decorated with raspberries."

Silk gloves, fine, clinging and long wristed, come in all the new shades, and will more than divide honors with kid when warm weather comes.

Among the recent importations are toques of lace and straw lace in nearly flat shapes, the trimmings being small, soft rosettes of comete ribbons.

Shot stuffs, either silk, satin or silk and wool mixed, are made up into Directoire coats for wear over skirts of piece lace, either white or black.

Mrs. Evelyn O. Tome has been elected President of the Tome Seminary for Girls at Deposit, Md., recently founded by a gift of $1,000,000 from Jacob Tome.

Wraps are small and extremely varied, including jackets, pelerines, visites and mantles of all forms and Breton, Abbe Galant and Pyrennean peasant capes.

Delicate mask veils are worn on all the stringless bonnets. The Hading veil appears on Princesses bonnets, English turbans, Directoire hats and English-walking hats.

A novelty for personal adornment is the gemmed hairband, an arrangement of fine netting to match the hair, with little jewels fastened thickly in it so that the hair seems to be sewn with jewels.

Suede slippers and gloves and tan-colored stockings will be worn by some graduates this season, while others will retain the black slippers and stockings, with cream-colored Suede gloves.

When a Japanese young lady admires a tree very much, she hangs a poem on it, and sonnets and rondels written on strips of silk or rice paper flutter from blossom-laden branches in every forest.

Miss Amelia B. Edwards, novelist, scientist, traveler and lecturer, who is about to visit this country, is said to be the most learned woman in the world. Strange to say, Miss Edwards is very handsome and very [illegible]

THE RED MAN'S HOME LIFE.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE INDIAN OF THE PRESENT DAY.

The Tepee, Cooking, Treatment of Children, Ways of Courting, Ideas of Sickness and Religious Beliefs.

A Montana correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says that a description of the home life of the Indian of the present day will give the reader the fairest opportunity to form correct conclusions.

The tepee or lodge is constructed of from fourteen to twenty-six poles, the tops of which tied together and the butt ends resting on the ground, inclosing a circular area, the diameter of which ranges from sixteen to thirty feet. The structure is covered with one continuous piece of buffalo skins, nicely fitted together and so thinly dressed that sufficient light is transmitted into the interior, even when the lodge is tightly closed. Several families usually live in one of these lodges. Though each family has its particular part of the dwelling and the furniture of each is kept separate, anything like privacy in conversation or life is impossible. They sleep in open compartments with feet toward the center, where a perpetual fire is kept going for cooking purposes.

The cooking is now done in large iron kettles, issued by the agents or sold by the traders, and nearly every article of food is prepared by boiling. Meat is seldom fried. It is generally roasted, when not eaten raw, by hanging on a stick near the fire. Bread is cooked by frying in grease. As Indians can get along very well on meat dried in the sun and such berries and roots as they can find, it is easy to comprehend how the Plains Indians can subsist comfortably upon the treeless prairies. Prior to coming in contact with the whites most of the Indians used pottery of their own manufacture. They disdain the use of plates, knives and forks. In disposing of liquid food they form with extended thumb and bent forefinger a spoon, which answers all purposes. In eating meat they usually take a piece into the left hand and, conveying it to the mouth and grasping an end with the teeth, with a dexterity almost alarming, sever the bit to be masticated from the chunk by means of a butcher-knife.

Cleanliness is at a discount, though fortunately most Indians are very fond of swimming, and will for hours remain in the water when near a river. The Sioux, Cheyennes and a few other tribes use porcupine tails for combs. The Crows dispense with combs altogether, and it is on this account that they are even more filthy than other Indians.

Home government lies entirely in the hands of the head of the family, who is a more pronounced autocrat than the Czar of Russia.

The children are little looked after and become independent when emerging from babyhood, but he who denies the Indian's love and affection for his offspring is very much in error. The babies do not cry as much as the white babies; as a rule they are healthier. The Indian cradle when tied up, is a little coffin-shaped sack with a hood-like projection about the head. It is made of cloth or skins of several thicknesses, always two at the back, and to this a board or a stiff piece of rawhide is securely fastened to keep the child's back "as straight as an arrow." After being carefully and firmly tied in the little cradle, the child, as a rule, is only being taken out to be cleaned in the morning, and again in the evening just before the inmates of the lodge go to sleep. I have seen a baby not two days old snugly tied up in one of those little sacks, the latter being suspended from the pummel of the saddle. Hanging alongside of the pony, and mother and child comfortably jogging along, making a good day's march in bitter cold winter, easily keeping up with a company of cavalry, whom she was guiding after hostile Indians. The little toddler soon learns to ride and shoot, to steal and to lie; the boys begin smoking when about eight years old. Later on comes self-mutilation and torture to graduate into manhood, when he is named from something that has happened during his life, from some accident, some animal killed, or some bird that helped him to success. Girl babies usually receive their names soon after birth.

The Indian in his normal frame of mind is a happy and contented being; he is fond of singing, dancing, smoking and gossiping. There is hardly an hour, day or night, when in a well-regulated camp the sound of the monotonous tum-tum to the step of the light fantastic is not heard accompanied by the hoarse and shrill voices of males and females in song. There are few people on the globe who smoke as much as the Indians, and certainly few who give to it, in so great a measure a religious character, making it a social pleasure and prizing it highly and secretly as a mark of friendship. All Indians, on the slightest provocation, seem to crystalize into a circular group, seated on the ground for the purpose of "hitting the pipe." The nightly powwow of the warriors, for the purpose of discussing the affairs of state is one of life's sweetest necessities.

Some tribes have regular story-tellers—men who have devoted a great deal of time to learning the myths and stories of their people, and who possess, in addition to a good memory, a vivid imagination. Often a mother sends for one of these, and, having prepared a feast for him, she and her little "brood," who are curled up near her, await the fairy stories of the dreamer, who, after his feast and a smoke, frequently entertains them for hours. Gambling is the great passion of the Indian, and he will, without apparent regret, lose upon the turn of a card all his earthly possessions, including, in a few instances, his favorite squaw. Some of the Arizona tribes of Apaches indulge in mimic and tableau plays.

The young men of the Indians do most of their courting in a standing position. An Indian lover will stand and wait near the lodge where abides the object of his admiration until she appears, when he walks up alongside of her and throws his blanket round her. If she reciprocates the tender sentiment they will thus stand for hours, his blanket covering both their heads and closely wrapped around both their bodies. I have seen as many as half a dozen young men waiting by the path which led down to the water, near the camp, and one after another throw his blanket around a girl as she was going to fill her vessel. If the girl likes to be held she makes some reply to the first greeting. If she expressed dislike to his advances the man, by the law of courtship, must at once desist. The embrace under the blanket excites no comment or annoyance from mischievous boys or scandalous old men and the lover can hug the object of his affection to his heart's content [illegible] molested. I have never seen one Indian kiss another, even among lovers or between mother and child, but hugging is most energetically practiced. There are, of course, many other sly ways of courting. The marriage soon follows as a matter of trade between the respective parents. Though in Indian marriages the affair savors strongly of a commercial transaction, and the wife is usually spoken of as being secured through purchase or theft, still, as a rule, there is quite an expenditure of sentiment and affection prior to the business part of it. Marriages between blood relations is forbidden among them.

The general idea of sickness among the Indians seems to be that an evil spirit has entered the person, and that when it is exercised all will be well. The efforts of the doctor or "medicine man" are principally directed toward casting out this malign and mysterious presence through chanting, dancing and other hocuspocus. Very little medicine in roots and herbs is taken internally, and surgery is little known among them. Faith in a happy hereafter for all is universal, and in consequence Indians are not agonized with fear and doubt at the approach of death. Nature has given them, in common with all other animals an innate desire for life, and this in connection with their social laws, which forbid self-destruction, keeps them from committing suicide, so that this crime is rare among them. There are some wonderfully pretty beliefs among the Indians treating of the Great Spirit and the great beyond.

The Indians are essentially a religious people, or more correctly, a superstitious people, and, as bats thrive best in darkness, so do superstitions in barbarism.

WISE WORDS.

Assumed virtue is false dignity.

Self admiration is lonesome exercise.

A trained man will never go straight.

Wise men always have to be told how wise they are.

Queer things are not so queer after they become utilized.

Appearances are not always the evidence of happiness.

Ignorance is more respectable than the abuse of knowledge.

A tailor-made man should never be considered responsible.

Common sense demands a government that will govern impartially.

There is no greater success in life than to always have an object in view.

No man can exert greater influence than by exhibiting his own self-respect.

A reformer to be successful must always be prepared to take his own drugs.

The man who depends upon himself, knows how to do right without being told.

Persons imitate each other because they are not on good terms with themselves.

The burden of disappointment is the necessary preparation before success can be borne.

No man will ever receive any knowledge more convincing than the fact that he is born.

The successful man is always the best informed in regard to the means by which he succeeded.

The act from a sense of duty will produce greater happiness than to yield to the promptings of desire.

Trees Yielding Milk.

There are several kinds of tropical trees that secrete a fluid resembling milk in appearance, but only a small number of species yield a nutritious and healthful fluid. The most remarkable and, perhaps, valuable of these trees is the one known as the "cow tree" of Venezuela, and first described by Humboldt. This tree grows to a height of from 80 to 100 feet, and forms large forests. On incisions being made in the stem, a copious flow of the milk-like sap is obtained, and this is extensively used by the natives as a substitute for milk. Travelers like Humboldt, visiting the regions of the cow trees have used this milk freely without feeling any ill effects. Careful analysis of this tree made many years ago shows that it contains about thirty-five per cent. of fatty saponaceous matter and about fifty-eight per cent. of water, with a small amount of sugar and albumen. There is another kind of cow tree found in British Guiana, which is called the hya-hya by natives. On wounding the stem a copious flow of milky sap issues, tasting like sweet milk, but it is rather sticky and far inferior to that obtained from the cow tree of Venezuela. The cow tree of Para, South America, is a very lofty tree, attaining a height of a hundred feet or more. On incisions being made in the bark, a milky juice flows most copiously; it is about the consistency of thick cream, from which, but for a slight peculiar flavor, it can scarcely be distinguished. After exposure to the air it thickens and forms an adhesive glue. It is quite probable that some of these cow trees would succeed in southern Florida and perhaps in California.—New York Sun.

"Pigs in Clover" Trains a Sense.

It is a curious thing that this puzzle of "Pigs in Clover" should have been constructed first of all as a mathematical instrument for calculating the delicacy of the tactile sense—or, in other words, the time required for turning thought into action at the ends of the fingers. Martenfeldt, a German investigator, perceived that the ability to balance a marble on a sheet of plate glass depends upon the nerve-current in transmitting muscular action from the brain. The experimenter found it desirable to complicate this simple apparatus by concentric rings of pasteboard, with holes for the marble to run through, and was thus enabled to deduce important formulæ. A clever business man saw the contrivance and adapted the idea for a puzzle.—Picayune.

A Tree-Climbing Dog.

A gentleman living near Milwaukee writes that he has a collie that is a great tree-climber, and it is hard lines for a squirrel tackling a tree that the dog can't make his way up. Straight trees are too much for him, of course, but where there is a lean to it he is all right. Jack is what the collie is called, and he always had a craze for squirrel-hunting, and was so eager in the chase that he got in the way of scrambling up inclined trunks, finally becoming very expert. He has been known to go up a tree to a height of forty feet above the ground. When returning he hugs the surface of the tree as closely as possible, and backs down, [illegible]

QUAINT AND CURIOUS.

Virginia preachers are said to make the best farmers.

Kirk White, the poet, learned Greek while walking to and from a lawyer's office.

A piece of redwood bark brought to Visalia, Cal., a few days ago was three feet thick.

There is a salt mine in Austria that has been worked for more than a thousand years.

A teacher at Easton, Penn., made a boy write 3000 words for having missed in spelling.

Chief Sholer, of the Reading (Penn.) police, measures six feet eight and a half inches in height.

A celebrated physician in London translated Lucretius while riding in his carriage upon his daily rounds.

Swarms of crows are seen in the gardens of Ogden, Utah. The people there call them "Utah nightingales."

A Dr. Pillsbury has asked a Western court to change his name to one less significant of his profession.

Dr. Darwin composed nearly all his works in the same way, writing down his thoughts in a memorandum book, which he carried for the purpose.

A canary in West Troy, N. Y., has been kept in the same room with a parrot so long that it has learned to repeat distinctly the words "Pretty poll" and "Polly have a cracker."

A grocer of New York City says that women of the poorer class start their fire with clothespins when they happen to be out of kindling wood. For this reason the sale of clothespins is very large.

Every bank of England note presented for redemption to the "old lady of Threadneedle street" in the century and more of her existence is on file cancelled, and so indexed and docketed that it can be found within ten minutes.

An old ledger has recently been brought to light in Edinburgh, Scotland. It belonged to a merchant of the 16th century. At the top of the inside board the bookkeeper inscribed the words: "God blis this buik and keip me and it honest."

The fashionable dog for 1889 is the schipperke, or little skipper. He comes from the Low countries, and is the old-time companion of the Flemish bargee. He is black, with next to no tail, and a hard coat inclined to be rough, and does not weigh over twelve pounds.

The Celtic language prevailed in England A. D. 1, the Latin was introduced about the same year, the Saxon prevailed from A. D. 450 to 1066, Latin re-introduced by missionaries, 596; the Norman-French combining with English 1066 to 1220; early English, 1250 to 1500.

J. D. Cox, who is operating among the coal fields of Alabama, made a singular discovery a few weeks since. A force of hands were at work at the bottom of a shaft 180 feet below the surface, when they came upon the petrified remains of a sheep. It was in so perfect a state of preservation as to be readily recognized, and was kept intact for several days, after which it was broken and the pieces distributed among the miners as curiosities.

Pasteur on Madstones.

The tremendous scare throughout Indiana, due to the occasional cases of hydrophobia, which are scattered over a wide spread of country, has attracted great attention to "madstones," as they are called, and there is a lady at Terre Haute who claims possession of a stone of marvellous power, which has been in the family for 80 years, and of which it is said that it has never failed in hundreds of cases. Of recent months it has been in almost continuous use. Recently a gentleman of Indianapolis wrote to Pasteur, of the Institute of France, originator of the treatment by inoculation, asking his opinion of these stones of alleged marvellous powers, and a reply has been received from the great savant, written by him in person, in which he says:

"There is no country in the world which has not one or more pretended remedies against the madness. One could count them by the hundreds and by the thousand. You tell me that the state that you inhabit, of which Indianapolis is the capital, possesses a stone called the mad-stone, which, applied to the wound in case of madness, causes the healing, and you ask me what I think of it. I am convinced that in all cases where one could believe in the efficacy of this curative or preventive remedy one has badly judged. One has taken for authentic proofs simply fortunate coincidences. I do not have time to establish these assertions. You only ask my opinion. Have entire confidence in it."

Gotham's Army of Unemployed.

If we have in this city 100,000 idle men and women, it is fair to assume that, all told, there are not less than 250,000 human beings, men, women, boys and girls, who wonder when the soft gray light penetrates their bedrooms, where they are to get their breakfast.—New York Press.

Equally Dangerous.

"Have you been through the St. Louis [illegible]"

THE GORILLA.

A Fighter from Way Back, and a Tough Customer to Handle.

"The gorilla is the prize-fighter of Africa," said Carl Steckelman, who has personal knowledge of the Dark Continent. He had been speaking of a leopard skin on exhibition in his window, and had been telling of the danger encountered in fighting with the original owner of the skin.

"Contests with all wild animals pale in comparison with that in which one must engage in meeting the gorilla," he said. "The gorilla is found in only a comparatively small portion of western Africa. He lurks in the woods along the coasts for several hundred miles north of the mouth of the Congo. I have never seen a gorilla in the open country, and, by the way, I think that the fact that he stays in the woods accounts for the fact that he is almost a biped instead of a quadruped. You see the gorilla in passing through the forests reaches out with his long arms, and seizing the branches of the trees, rises on his hind legs and walks on them, supporting himself with his hold on the branches. Habit has thus almost made an upright creature of him.

"The gorilla is as brave as brave can be. The male gorilla does all the fighting for the family. If you approach a pair of gorillas the female will run screaming through the woods or will climb the highest tree, uttering all the while cries not unlike a woman in great fright. But the male gorilla will come straight at you. He does not know what fear is. He will fight any number of men."

"How do you fight them?"

"With pistols. It is very unsafe to trust to a gun or to a poor weapon of any kind. The gorilla is so fierce and powerful that you have but one chance at him at the best. The woods where he is found are so thick that it is impossible to see him accurately at any distance. If you fire at him as he comes at you down the tree a limb may turn the course of the bullet. Before you can fire a second time he will be upon you. He drops from limb to limb and comes at a rapid, swinging pace. The safest way is to hold your fire until he is at arm's length and then fire steadily into him with a pistol.

"The gorilla is easily killed. An ordinary pistol shot will have the same effect upon him as it has upon a man. The hunter's danger is in not making the shot tell. Once I was passing through the forest with a bodyguard of natives. The natives are furnished by the Dutch traders with a miserable gun, the barrel of which is made of gas pipe. The natives had learned to be suspicious of their guns. When they fire at anything they point in the general direction, pull the trigger, and fling the gun at the object. They throw the gun because they are afraid it will explode in their hands, as it very frequently does. Well, we came upon a gorilla. A native saw him dropping from a tree coming at us. Aiming at the descending form, he fired and missed. He had not turned before the grim monster was upon him. Standing and throwing his arms around the negro's neck the gorilla seized his throat in his manlike jaws and was crushing the life out of him when we came up and fired a pistol ball into him at close range. But the wounds inflicted were mortal, and the native died in great agony."

"Are the gorillas numerous in the strip of country where they are found?"

"They are scarce. In making a trip once I saw two in one day, but that was unusual. They are the fiercest and bravest of animals. The male gorilla in going into battle sounds a fearful warning by beating its breast and giving forth sounds that make the dense forest resound. He is a dangerous antagonist, and you are all the time reminded by his appearance that you are contesting with a creature that has a man's faculties and appearance, a giant's strength, and a monkey's agility."—Indianapolis News.

Badly In Debt.

The thirteen Southern states, including Kentucky and Missouri, have funded debts aggregating $95,858,648, besides an unfunded debt amounting to $20,000,000 more. Of the Southern states, Kentucky alone has a sinking fund, and in her case it nearly covers the small debt of the state. Three-quarters of the debt of Texas and about the whole of Mississippi's are due to the school funds of those states, so that the debt is insignificant in each case. In round figures, $119,000,000 is the aggregate of the debts of the Southern states, including the unfunded debt. The remaining twenty-five states, comprising all those of the North, the Northwest and the Pacific slope, owe less than $48,000,000, funded and unfunded, if the amounts in the several sinking funds are subtracted from the nominal aggregate. It appears that ten Southern states are loaded with more than two-thirds of all the state debts of the Union.

THE Misses Chattaway, for many years the custodians of Shakespeare's birthplace, and the collection of relics at Stratford-on-Avon, are soon to resign their post. The number of visitors to Stratford has grown steadily, until last year it reached 17,000, and the sisters do not feel strong enough to continue their duties. They have been custodians 17 years.

What will Brown's Iron Bitters cure? It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, malaria, rheumatism and all similar diseases. Its wonderful curative power is simply because it purifies the blood, thus beginning at the foundation, and by building up the system drives out all disease. For the peculiar troubles to which ladies are subject it is invaluable. It is the only preparation of iron that does not color the teeth or cause headache.

Chicago, Ill., working women have an organization for mutual help and improvement.

Happy Homes.

Here's a health to the wives and the mothers
Who sit in our households to-day;
Who are glad when they brighten the others
The hours that go drifting away.
May their eyes keep the light of the gladness,
Their hearts hold the fullness of bliss
That banish shadows and sadness,
And what need we ask more than this?

But—how can this happiness be kept? What shall protect those we love—those who make a Heaven of the Home—from the ravages of disease that is often worse than death—that is, in fact, a lingering death? The question is easily answered: Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—the standard remedy for all those peculiar diseases to which women are subject—is what must be relied on to preserve the health of wives and mothers. It prevents those diseases, and it cures them. It is a blessing to women and therefore a national blessing, because it gives health to those about whom the happiness of home centers, and the strength of a nation is in its happy homes.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, or Anti-bilious Granules, in vials, 25 cents; one a dose. Druggists.

That France is prosperous is shown by the fact that $5,000,000,000 is in savings banks.

An Invaluable Travelling Companion. [illegible]

A Safe Blood Remedy.

D. B. B. is the only safe and reliable cure for scrofula, blood poison, skin diseases, rheumatism, ulcers, sores, catarrh, female weakness, weak kidneys, pains in the side or back, general debility, humors, old sores, pimples, boils, headaches, nervousness, dizzy feelings, sinking spells, constipation, biliousness, cancerous or scrofulous symptoms, falling of the hair and other constitutional disorders originating from unhealthy or unclean blood. It begins to cure from the first dose, and eradicates all constitutional eruptive tendencies, but kills and forces out all germs of blood poison through the proper channels of the system—the pores, the kidneys and the liver. It is the only remedy that always gives entire satisfaction. It contains no molasses or sarsaparilla or other inert and useless ingredients, or any poisonous ingredients that will cause eruptions, but it is an original prescription of an eminent Atlanta physician, and will give satisfaction from the very first bottle taken. Try it.

THE religious order of the King's Daughters, which has just held its meeting in New York city, has grown so rapidly during the four years of its existence that it now has nearly 100,000 members, mostly young women, who are devoted to the works of charity and religion.

Just think of it! $14.53 made in one week by an agent recently with B. F. Johnson & Co., of Richmond, Va., who also have many more parties traveling for them, who do equally well, some of them doing better. If you need employment it would be a good thing to sit down and write them a line at once.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.
Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Imig'r'n Board, Portland, Ore.

The Mother's Friend, used before confinement, lessens pain and makes labor comparatively easy. Sold by all druggists.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
100 Doses
One Dollar

A Good Appetite is essential to good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. [illegible] SMITH & WESSON, Springfield, Mass.

MOTHERS' FRIEND
MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY
IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT.
BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

$160 FARMERS' SAW MILL. [illegible] SALEM IRON WORKS, Salem, N. C.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER. Makes a clean sweep. [illegible] F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

Road Carts! 10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. EVERYTHING ON WHEELS. Buggies. [illegible]

JONES HE PAYS THE FREIGHT. [illegible] JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Plantation Engines With Self-Contained RETURN FLUE BOILERS. COTTON GINS AND MILLS. JAMES LEFFEL & CO., SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, and 110 Liberty St., New York.

Patronize HOME INDUSTRY. BUY SOUTHERN-MADE PRINTING INK. FRANK J. COHEN, General Agent, 32 East Alabama St., ATLANTA, GA.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU. [illegible]

SMITHDEAL Business COLLEGE, Richmond, Va.

WANTED [illegible]

MUSIC-ART-ELOCUTION [illegible]

SINGERS [illegible]

HOME STUDY [illegible]

$5 [illegible]

PEERLESS DYES [illegible]

Rates of Advertising [illegible]

Announ[illegible] THIS W[illegible] Tremendous O[illegible] Profits and Hi[illegible]

SOUTHERN[illegible]

ITEMS OF INTERE[illegible] RIOUS POINTS I[illegible]

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 inch	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 inches	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 inches	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 inches	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
5 inches	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ Column	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ Column	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 Column	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher.

"WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION."

TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1889. NUMBER 35.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates, strictly in advance.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, invariably in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be treated as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK. Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay

2018 and 2020 1st Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction. We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

AN ITEMIZED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

The Boaz hotel at Cedartown, Ga., was sold on Wednesday to Mr. Gailor of Florida.

State officers are moving into the new State Capitol of Georgia, in Atlanta. The old building, in all probability, will soon be sold.

The Union Point and White Plains railroad will soon be in operation. The contracts have been let and work will begin at once.

Zacharias McDaniel, the oldest citizen in Rockingham county, Va., and a pensioner of the war of 1812, died near Elkton, Va., Tuesday, aged 102.

The International Typographical Union has, by a large majority, accepted the invitation to hold its next annual meeting at Atlanta, Ga., next June.

A dispatch from Savannah, Ga., says: Subscriptions to the Americus road amount now to nearly $30,000. The remaining $20,000 will be raised next week.

Frank Smith, of Smith Station, Ga., was struck by lightning Tuesday while standing in his store door and instantly killed. He leaves a wife and several children.

At 11 o'clock Wednesday night the postoffice of Waycross, Ga., was broken into and robbed of over twelve hundred dollars in currency, and thirteen registered packages.

Gabe Holmes, a very respectable negro, at Beaufort, S. C., was struck by lightning Wednesday afternoon during a thunder storm. His injuries are very serious and may prove fatal.

A middle aged negro entered Magistrate Russell's court, in Savannah, Saturday, and insisted on surrendering himself into the custody of the law. He said he had been guilty of suicide.

Fourteen negroes were baptized in a mud hole in the western part of Gainesville, Ga., Sunday afternoon, by Rev. Green Hunter. Numbers of people attended and witnessed the proceedings.

The corner stone of the Polk county, Ga., new twenty-four thousand dollar courthouse, was laid Thursday, at Cedartown, with appropriate Masonic ceremony by the lodges of Rome and Cedartown.

In Atlanta, Ga., on Saturday, an Italian vendor of imitation dogs was attacked by a large bull-dog, who thought the dogs were genuine. The Italian escaped, but the dogs were broken and scattered on the sidewalk.

The contemplated Piedmont exposition, which was to have been held in Charlotte, N. C., in the fall, has collapsed on account of some disagreement among the committee. If any exposition is held it will now require a new organization.

The Furman Farm Improvement Company, of East Point, Ga., are extending their chambers and putting in new sulphur furnaces, which will burn 6,000 pounds of sulphur in 24 hours, and they claim that this will make 27,000 pounds or 13½ tons of sulphuric acid.

Professor Richard W. Cone, recently a teacher in the Nannie Low Warthen institute at Wrightsville, Ga., has been adjudged a lunatic, and was taken to Milledgeville Friday night. He is a graduate of the state university, and was a man of unusual natural endowments.

A dispatch from Birmingham, Ala., says: President Johnston and General Manager Sage, of the Georgia Pacific Railroad, left for Greenville, Miss., where they go to inspect the newly completed extension to arrange for putting on through trains by July 1st.

Isabella Smith, an old colored woman, was struck by the south-bound fast mail train, back of Concordia Park, Savannah, Ga., Wednesday morning, and was instantly killed. She had started out to pick berries, and was walking south on the Savannah, Florida & Western track.

News reached Augusta, Ga., of the burning of the barn and stables of Mr. Dunbar Lamar, at Beech Islands, S. C. Besides the building, eighteen mules, three oxen, several hogs, and three thousand bushels of oats were consumed. It was evidently the work of an incendiary.

A very severe wind and rain storm visited Charlotte, N. C., Wednesday afternoon, and considerable damage was done to crops, especially corn. The wheat and fruit crop also suffered no little damage. Corn was blown down, and in some fields uprooted entirely. The storm only lasted a short time, but was terrific and disastrous.

The surveying corps of the Columbus Southern is within a few miles of Cuthbert, Ga. They are running a line from Richland, a point on their main line in Stewart county, to Cuthbert. With this connection for the road, soon to be built from Cuthbert to Bainbridge, Cuthbert will have superior advantages in railroad connections.

The Danville and East Tennessee railroad company organized at Danville, Va., Wednesday. Among the directors are A. E. Bateman and R. W. Stuart, New York bankers. The road is really a western extension of the Atlantic and Danville railroad, which will be completed between Danville and Norfolk by December 1.

The case of the Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn., against some thirty-four insurance companies, of New York, Philadelphia, Hartford, New Orleans and London, which has been on trial in the United States circuit court for the past week, was ended this morning, the jury returning a verdict for $86,800, the full amount claimed by the plaintiff company.

H. S. Pullen, of Carrollton, Ga., who tried to cut his throat a few days ago with a razor, attempted his life again Tuesday by trying to drown himself in a small branch, a short distance from his house. He was brought to town under a charge of lunacy, tried and sent to the asylum. Mr. Pullen has been a successful farmer, and has accumulated a nice little property.

W. S. Morris, a conductor on the Louisville and Nashville railroad was killed just outside the union depot at ten o'clock Wednesday night in Birmingham, Ala., by some mistake in setting a switch. The engine backed against one of the coaches of an excursion train standing on a side track. Morris was caught between the coaches and tender of the engine, and his head was crushed to pulp.

John Williams was shot and fatally wounded Sunday at Emery church, ten miles east of Sardis, Miss., by Mrs. Mattie Campbell. The shooting occurred immediately after religious services, and Williams died the following morning. The provocation for the killing was a charge made by Williams that he had been intimate with Mrs. Campbell several months ago, upon which statement a bill for divorce is now pending.

The total passenger earnings of the railroads in South Carolina last month as reported to the state railroad commission, were $186,089.72; showing a decrease under the earnings from the same source during the same period last year of $2,754 31. The freight earnings for the month were $827,435.42, showing an increase over the earnings from the same source during the same period last year of $52,849.10.

There is a new railway war at Durham, N. C. Early on Tuesday morning a large force of hands began the extension of the Richmond and Danville side track along Peabody street. The commissioners held a meeting and passed resolutions forbidding the road from extending the track. The chief of police was instructed to use the force to stop the track-laying. The matter goes into the courts and adds to the complication.

The Georgia Pacific railroad is now open to Greenville, Miss., and making regular connections with the road from that point to Arkansas City on the other side of the great river. The road between Warren and Camden beyond Arkansas City is being pushed rapidly, and when it shall be completed there will be a new and direct route from Atlanta to Texarkana. It is expected that by the 1st of August the Georgia Pacific railway will be running schedule trains between Atlanta and Texarkana.

A dispatch from Raleigh, N. C. says: A test was made Tuesday on the Raleigh and Gaston railroad in the presence of a number of prominent railroad men of a process recently invented by Baylus Cade, of this county, for telegraphing to and from moving trains. A current is maintained by means of a drag which is attached to the car, and which slides over a set of wires laid along the track. A message was received from the offices at Raleigh and Greensboro while the train was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

Between midnight and day Sunday morning the Central railroad put a force of hands to work laying the track on its unused right-of-way, about a mile from Columbus, Ga., to prevent the Columbus Southern from coming in on it. An effort was made to keep the matter a secret, but it leaked out, and before the work was half finished the Chattahoochee Brick company filed a bill asking for an injunction and Judge Smith granted it. The work was stopped at once.

Negroes coming from Sumter county bring the startling report that John Pickett, who was hanged in Leesburg, Ga., Friday, has come to life again. They say that the body was taken to Sumter City for interment. While taking it to the cemetery that afternoon, strange sounds issued from the coffin. The negroes became very much frightened and ran away, leaving the body in the road. One negro remained with it, and he secured an ax and broke open the coffin. No sooner was this accomplished than, to the unutterable amazement of the darkey, out jumped the supposed corpse and took to the woods instantly.

The remains of John Sevier, first governor of Tennessee, were exhumed Monday at old Fort Decatur, near Montgomery, Ala., and coffined in a magnificent casket, arrived in Chattanooga at noon Tuesday in charge of Governor Taylor and staff. The train was draped in mourning. The funeral train was met, in addition to the local military, by the officials of the city and county and a delegation of citizens. The procession marched to the chamber of commerce, where the casket was placed in state. The casket was viewed during the day by hundreds of citizens. The party left the city Wednesday for Knoxville, where the interment took place at 2.30 p. m.

TENNESSEE'S SENSATION.

A REVEREND GENTLEMAN SUES SEVERAL NEWSPAPERS FOR $50,000 DAMAGES.

The great Howard damage suit is beginning to assume shape at Jackson, Tenn. The declaration was received. It covers about sixty pages of legal cap, and contains sixteen counts, and claims $50,000 damages. The charges, as published in the Forked Deer Blade, and the Baptist and Baptist Reflector, briefly are: That the plaintiff has borne the aliases Frederick Howard, Hewlett, Howard; that if he sailed on the ship Tigress in 1873, in search of the Polaris in the Arctic regions, he bore the name of Howlett; that in South Carolina he associated with negroes; as trial justice, had committed malfeasance in office; eloped from Robbins, South Carolina, with C. C. Brown's wife; that his life is covered over with a mass of corruption. The defendants plead the truth in justification. The first evidence introduced by the plaintiff was to prove the publication in the papers, and it was conspiracy also, to prove that the plaintiff secured his title—doctor of divinity—from the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Auburn, Ala., in a regular manner in 1883. The defendants opened Thursday. They introduced depositions of Commander Greer, of the Tigress, the officers in the Bureau of Equipment in the navy in Washington, and a journalist named Commague, who sailed in the Tigress on the polar expedition in search of the Polaris in 1873; that no man named Howard was on the vessel; that Frederick Howlett was on it as a seaman, deserted the ship in New York harbor in November of the same year. The connection of the case with a historical event like the Arctic expedition, is but one of the many interesting points which are to come up during this trial.

RAILROAD WRECK.

TWO PERSONS KILLED AND EIGHT OTHERS INJURED.

A dispatch from Pittsburg, Pa., says: The second section of mail train No. 7, west bound, on the Pan Handle Railroad, was wrecked Wednesday afternoon while passing New Cumberland Junction, two miles east of Steubenville. Two persons were killed outright and eight were injured, four of them seriously. The names are: Killed—J. H. Payne, postal clerk; E. R. Reinhart, express messenger. Seriously injured—Conductor Burris, Brakeman McFarland, Postal Clerk W. S. Bolton, Postal Clerk J. E. Matthews. The third car from the engine left the track. It was followed by two others, all going over an embankment. The train consisted of an engine, express car and four postal cars.

DARING MURDER.

DAVID A. PETTUS FOUND DEAD IN A BIRMINGHAM STREET.

David A. Pettus, a section foreman on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, was murdered and robbed Tuesday night in an open square on First avenue, Birmingham, Ala., within one hundred feet of an electric light, and near a thickly populated neighborhood. The body was not found until Wednesday morning. An inquest was begun that afternoon, but no clew to the assassin has yet been discovered. The dead man, when last seen by his friends, had about $50, a gold watch and some other jewelry, all of which was stolen. The murdered man leaves a wife and four children.

ROBBING GRAVES.

Three young colored women—Sylvia Green, Fannie Williams and Ziky Magee were arrested and jailed at Albany, Ga., on Monday, charged with robbing the Albany cemetery. Their two-room cabin near the graveyard was found to be a perfect curiosity store, so packed with ornaments stolen from the graves of the dead. This desecration has been going on for several months, and other negroes residing in the same house have been held as witnesses.

GENERAL NEWS.

CONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, FIRES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

The black vomit has made its appearance at Vera Cruz, New Mexico.

The flood damaged the property of Pennsylvania to the extent of $44,250,000.

The king of Holland, who recovered sufficiently from his recent illness to resume the reins of government, has had a serious relapse.

The total amount of contributions received by Governor Beaver, of Harrisburg, for the flood sufferers to date is about $700,000.

Three of Captain Wissman's steamers are reported to have been lost on the Benadeir coast. German men-of-war have gone in search of the missing vessels.

General Greely is about to turn loose three hundred weather prophets on the country. On and after July 1st, the observers at the signal service stations will make their own predictions.

The steamship City of Cleveland, and the schooner John Martin, are ashore at Two Harbors, Minnesota, and are badly damaged. The steamer is valued at $100,000 and the schooner at $35,000.

A dispatch from Lincoln, Neb., says: Mr. and Mrs. John Leavitt were arrested Wednesday, charged with the murder of their two daughters near Gresham, Sunday night. No further particulars yet received.

The withdrawal of gold for shipment to Europe on Saturday's steamer from New York, has already set in, $4,250,000 in gold bars being ordered at the assay office Thursday for export by foreign brokers.

The Russian army will soon be provided with breech-loading rifles, which will carry a distance of 6,000 feet. Noiseless powder will also be used in the future by the army. These improvements in the arming of troops involved immense expenditures.

A dispatch from the City of Mexico says: The roof of the Merced market fell in Friday, burying nearly forty persons. Four dead and fourteen wounded have already been taken out. Soldiers are removing the rubbish and searching for the bodies.

Severe hail storms prevailed on Monday in many parts of Germany, interfering greatly with railway traffic. While a procession was passing through the streets of a Sicilian town, five of the paraders were struck by lightning and killed. Forty others received severe shocks.

General Cameron was prostrated on Thursday at his home, Donegal Springs, Pa., with paralysis of the right arm and side, and his condition is critical. Ex-Attorney-General Wayne McVeagh and wife, and Mrs. Haldeman, General Cameron's daughter, are with him.

A dispatch from Jefferson City, Mo., says: Governor Francis on Tuesday dealt the saloons of Missouri the most severe blow ever received when he signed the Newberry bill. The bill prohibits music, cards, dice, billiard tables, pool tables, bowling alleys and boxing gloves in saloons, and will go into effect July 1.

A boy named Snyder, thirteen years old, residing at Highland, near Terre Haute, Ind., was murdered by four boys, whose ages range from nine to fifteen. The boys are two brothers, named Pearman, and two named Douglas. Snyder's body was found in a creek. He had been stabbed and shot. All the boys are under arrest.

A Chicago paper contains the following paragraph: "The survivors of the Johnstown flood are throwing away their Bibles and openly disclaiming any belief in a divine providence. Men and women, who saw their loved ones swept away and drowned, have in their desperation turned their backs on religion. The great calamity has made more atheists than a century of Ingersolism could have done."

The mayor of Belfast, Ireland, has sent £500 by cable to the Johnstown sufferers, as an installment of the amount to be raised by the citizens of Belfast. The sultan of Turkey donates £200 Turkish, for the relief of the flood sufferers. Mr. Blaine directed the minister to express the grateful appreciation of the President and government of the United States for the generous donation of the sultan.

The Johnstown sufferers have received enough clothing, in the shape of contributions, to last the people twenty years. 6,000 men are now at work clearing away the debris, with the aid of dynamite and fire engines. Newspaper correspondents have taken sick, and many have returned home. A hundred portable houses are being erected, and if satisfactory, a thousand more will be put up. Seventeen more bodies were found on Monday.

A dispatch from Providence, R. I., says: The fifth amendment to the constitution of Rhode Island, the prohibitory amendment, was on Thursday repealed by a vote of 5,469 more than three fifths of the total vote necessary to carry the amendment. The vote will be officially counted on or before July 15th, and will be announced by proclamation on or before July 10th. The election was quiet, and the result created no excitement in the city streets that night. At midnight a salute of fifty guns was fired in consequence of the repeal.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

TWO MEN KILLED AND ONE HUNDRED INJURED IN A RAILROAD WRECK.

A railroad wreck, resulting in the death of two men and the injury of one hundred others, occurred about seven o'clock Tuesday morning near Pratt mines, six miles from Birmingham, Ala. The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company runs a train every morning to carry the miners and other workmen from the town of Pratt Mines in the different shafts and slopes where the men work. The train consisted of eight cars, and there were about two hundred men on board when the accident occurred. The train was running backward at the rate of ten miles an hour, when it struck two cows lying on the track. Six of the eight cars were thrown down an embankment and piled on each other. Henry McCauley and Walter Beasley, carpenters, were instantly killed. Both were young white men and unmarried. On one of the cars were about thirty convicts chained together, and, strange to say, they were about the only persons who escaped injury. About one hundred men were injured. The worst injuries being broken legs and arms. It has been impossible to obtain a list of those seriously injured. The coroner's jury found that the company was guilty of gross negligence in not keeping the road bed in good repair, and that the conductor was guilty of criminal negligence.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.

A MAN IN SOUTHPORT, NORTH CAROLINA, POISONS HIS WIFE.

Bryant Carroll, a young white man, is in jail at Southport, Brunswick county, N. C., for the murder of his wife, and will be tried for his life at the September term of court. He is charged with poisoning his wife with something contained in a bottle of wine, part of which he induced her to drink. She died about fifty minutes afterwards. The bottle containing what remained of the wine has been subjected to analysis, which resulted in finding arsenic, strychnine and prussic acid both in the wine and the stomach. There is another woman in the case to whom Carroll now desires to be married, but the county commissioners refuse to allow him to have even an interview with the woman, who is at large and is not charged with complicity in the murder.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

KNOCKED DOWN BY AN ENGINE AND DRAGGED THREE HUNDRED FEET.

Savannah Brown, a workman, was killed by a Georgia Railroad switch engine near Atlanta, Ga., Thursday morning. He was walking along the track with a dinner bucket in his hand. After he was knocked down some part of the engine caught him, and he was dragged nearly three hundred feet before the machine could be stopped and his body extricated. When it stopped he was dead. The engine had to back before the body could be pulled loose from the ash-box, to which it was fastened. The right foot was crushed off, the left arm ground to a pulp, the face and chest crushed and mangled and the neck broken. Brown was about twenty-six years old, and has a wife and two children. The body was taken charge of by his relatives.

MAIL POUCH STOLEN.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A NASHVILLE, TENN., MAIL POUCH.

All the mail that left the Nashville postoffice for the South on the night of May 17th has disappeared. The fact has been withheld by the postoffice officials, that investigation might not be hampered. Up to the present nothing has been learned further than that the mail was made up as usual and delivered at the door of the postoffice to the keeper of the wagon which carries the mail to the depot. The pouch was locked up in this wagon, which drove off toward the depot, and that is the last heard of it. It is impossible now to learn how much money was in the mail. It was destined for a large and important territory, and the presumption is that the pouch contained much valuable matter.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

APPOINTMENTS, DECISIONS, AND OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The President on Wednesday appointed John R. Lewis to be postmaster at Atlanta, Ga., vice John W. Renfroe, resigned.

Reports received from San Francisco indicate that the cruiser Charleston will be ready for another trial in about three weeks. Several improvements are being made in her machinery.

The attorney general has received the resignations of Peter S. Knight, United States attorney for the southern district of Florida and F. M. Boykin, United States marshal for South Carolina. They have been accepted to take effect upon the appointment of their successor.

The postmaster-general appointed the following fourth-class postmasters for Georgia: Mrs. T. R. Beavers, Dunwoody, De Kalb county; Cornelius English, Leb, Thomas county; John H. Sims, Mazeppa, Milton county; Geo. J. Tincher, Zebulon, Pike county.

There is considerable talk of an extra session of Congress. The northern [illegible] are of the opinion that it will be [illegible] while the majority of southern [illegible] press the opinion that the Pres[illegible] await the October elections in th[illegible] admitted territories.

The following fourth-class postmasters for Georgia were appointed: John T. Adair, Congress, Rockwell county; G. B. Jenkins, Felton, Haralson county; N. B. Bunnell, Rising Fawn, Dade county; F. M. Garner, Springdale, Randolph county; Mrs. M. A. Metler, Shellman, Randolph county.

Forty-one postmasters were appointed on Tuesday by the President, of whom fifteen were to vacancies created by removal. Only two were Southern: Zachariah B. Hargrove, at Rome, Ga., vice William H. Atkins, removed, and Walter Brock, at Tallapoosa, Ga., the office becoming presidential.

The President on Saturday made the following appointments to be consuls: Gen. Joseph A. Leonard, of Minnesota, at Shanghai; Wakefield G. Frye, of Maine, at Halifax; Zachary T. Sweeney, of Indiana, at Constantinople; Oliver H. Dockery, of North Carolina, at Rio de Janeiro; Oliver H. Simons, of Colorado, at St. Petersburg; George W. Roosevelt, of Pennsylvania, consul at Brussels; Levi W. Brown, of Ohio, consul at Glasgow.

Mr. Porter, superintendent of the census, made a brief argument before the President, Wednesday afternoon, opposing the proposition to apply civil service rules to appointments in the census office, in the course of which he said that experience has shown that for this particular service better men can be secured by election, on account of well-known qualifications in certain specialties, than by selection from a list of persons willing to enter competitive examination.

A delegation of members of the Order of Patriotic Sons of America, on Wednesday paid a visit to President Harrison, at the White House. Mr. C. W. Spofford made the introductions to Mr. Harrison. After they were over, and the visitors were standing around the President in a sort of circle, Spofford attempted to pin a Patriotic Son of America badge upon his coat. Harrison somewhat roughly warded off Spofford's extended hands and said brusquely: "Do not do that." The party left, but not in very great glee.

A delegation of colored men waited on the President Wednesday morning and urged the appointment of Mr. Calvin Chase as recorder of deeds in Washington. The delegation took occasion to thank the President for the disposition shown by him not to restrict the appointment of colored men to particular offices, but to consider their elegibility for offices other than those previously held by colored men. Another colored delegation, led by ex-Representative Smalls, called later in the day and asked the appointment of Mr. Webster as collector of internal revenue for South Carolina.

A LONG CHASE.

SEVENTY-FIVE MILES THROUGH THE WOODS AFTER A MURDERER.

Sunday morning a posse from Wilcox county arrested the negro near Tifton who shot Conductor Whipham on the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery Railroad last week, having tracked him from Wilcox county down there. They found him in the woods asleep. They followed him seventy-five miles through the woods. They carried him through Ty Ty to Americus Sunday evening. Now it is rumored that he killed two men in Florida some time ago. His name could not be learned.

HANGING IN ROME, GA.

HARDY HAMILTON SWINGS FOR KILLING A CHINAMAN.

From four to six thousand people went to Rome, Ga., Wednesday to witness the hanging of Hardy Hamilton. They came from the country in all kinds of vehicles, and the railroads brought a large number. In appearance Hardy Hamilton was a stalwart and handsome negro of rather light complexion, and of apparently more than usual intelligence. His face was prepossessing, and he had no appearance of being a cold-blooded murderer.

Upon the gallows Hardy addressed the people. He was dressed in a neat black suit. He looked brave and hopeful. His voice was clear and strong, without a tremor. Not the slightest sign of fear was visible. He rehearsed the story of his crime, said he alone committed the murder, that he deserved death and was not afraid to die. He warned every one against sin, and closed by saying: "Look at this rope; that speaks better than I can." He then knelt and offered up a fervent prayer. The black cap was placed on his head, and at ten minutes before one Deputy Moore sprang the trap and the condemned man fell eight feet. There was no struggle, [illegible] Af- [illegible] for many months, unmolested and molesting no one. On the night of March 5th, last, they were the victims of a murderous assault and received fearful wounds which might at any moment result in death. The Chinamen were discovered lying on the floor of their room which communicated with the laundry, insensible, surrounded by a pool of blood and with gaping wounds in the head and neck, evidently inflicted by some sharp instrument. Joe Lee died, unconscious, two days afterwards, having remained so since the attack which resulted in his death. Ah Chin, after lying in a precarious condition for several days, finally recovered. During the trial of Dunc Gwaltney the defense placed Hardy Hamilton on the stand as a witness. In the presence of a great crowd he told the story of the murder. Cooly and with deliberation, he gave all the horrible details of the crime, claiming that he alone was guilty, and that he had no accomplices. He stated that he waited for Ah Chin at the rear door of the laundry; that, just before retiring, Ah Chin came to the door, and that he (Hamilton) gave him several blows on the head with an ax. He then went into the laundry, where he found Joe Lee in bed, and inflicted upon him terrible wounds. He then ransacked the laundry and obtained several silver dollars, together with collars, cuffs, etc. He threw the ax into a well near the laundry. Hamilton's evidence created a profound imrpession. But public opinion was greatly divided as to its truth, many still believing that there were accomplices in the crime.

FLOOD IN KANSAS.

FOUR FARMERS KILLED—RESIDENCES, RAILROADS AND BRIDGES SWEPT AWAY.

A dispatch from Wichita, Kansas, says: The violent rain storm on the head waters of Walnut River caused an immense flood to reach Augusta and Eldorado. About midnight of Sunday the waters came rushing into the towns, and washed away 1,500 feet of the track of the Missouri Pacific Road and carried away twelve residences. Monday four farmers were drowned a few miles north of Eldorado. East of Eldorado, on the branches of Walnut river, the Missouri Pacific lost six bridges. At Augusta three hundred feet of the Santa Fee track was lost and the bridge of the Frisco Road was carried away. Great damage was done to wheat in the rich bottoms, and over a million bushels destroyed.

COLORED ALLIANCE.

A MEETING IN COLUMBIA, S. C.—A LARGE ORGANIZATION.

Delegates from most of the counties in which there are colored Farmers' Alliances met Wednesday morning in the Court House, in Columbia, S. C., to perfect a State organization. The association in South Carolina is a branch of the "Colored Farmers' National Alliance and Co-operative Union." The Order seems to have been first [illegible] in Texas, and has rapidly spread [illegible] eighteen states. Superintendent [illegible] Humphrey, who is a [illegible] graduated at [illegible] in 18[illegible] that there are over 300 [illegible] throughout the state, with a [illegible] of [illegible]. The Order has [illegible] in the United States.

CHILTON VIEW.
Published Every Thursday Morning.
CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 27, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	.75
One copy four "	.50

Tom Woolfolk has, upon the new trial granted, been again convicted of murdering his family. Another trial will be asked for by Woolfolk's attorneys.

The State Alliance Exchange has been permanently located at Montgomery. This is a change in the right direction. A branch office of the exchange will be located in Birmingham.

The board of trustees of the University of Alabama has seen fit to abolish hops and balls given by the cadets of that institution. Hereafter the cadets will have to kill time in some other way. The board of trustees did right.

The immorality and crime which is every day chronicled by the Birmingham Age-Herald will soon place that paper in competition with the Cincinnati Enquirer among the morbid minds that delight in blood and thunder slush. A depraved taste keeps up the demand for such papers.

Says Colonel A. K. McClure: Newspapers are often criticized for what they print, but if it were known how much credit they merit for what they don't print, or for the nonsense they whack out of what they do print, they would command a much more generous judgment.

The prohibition amendment in Pennsylvania has given whiskey men and saloon sympathizers an other opportunity to preach the glories and benefits of high license and the absurdity of prohibition and the opportunity has not been wasted by any means. To those who declare that prohibition is dying out, and in whom the wish is father to the thought, we say that prohibition will be a live issue as long a high li that ever was written. Fix the amount of license at any figure you please, and when the saloon keeper has paid it your power over him is at an end and further talk about regulating his business is foolish. All that high license does is to fill public treasuries at the expense of consumers; for if whiskey is placed where men can get at it many of them will drink it no matter what the cost, but if it is out of their reach they will spend their money for the benefit of their families. Any reasonable man must admit that there is no point of similarity whatever between high license and prohibition as temperance measures and the correctness of the proposition is being realized every day as is evidenced by the steady growth of the prohibition vote. Nor is this all. If every man who favors prohibition would come up and vote his sentiments, there would be such a surprise to those who think prohibition either dead or dying as would stop the expression of their wishes for a long time if not forever.—Fort Payne Journal.

Wise Men to Washington.

Birmingham Chronicle.

Next week the wise men and the weighty men of all the tribes of republicans that dwell in the land of North Alabama and the regions round about will journey to Washington the city of Benjamin, their king, and falling on their faces in front of the palace of Benjamin they will cry out: "Oh, king! the time draweth nigh when thou must appoint from among us one who shall be marshal over all the northern district in the land of Alabama. Now we are all great and good men, there are only sixteen of us, and thou, oh Benjamin! can easily select from among us the best man," and then the sixteen will rise up as one man and say: "That's me, Ben!"

Then Benjamin, who is king over all the tribes of the republicans will investigate the records of these sixteen men and the man who has the best pull and the most influence will be appointed marshal and then the other fifteen will go away and file charges against the successful man, but Benjamin the king will only say unto them, "depart from me, ye mugwumps I never knew you!"

Sam Jones.

An Age-Herald correspondent from Jackson, Miss., has the following to say of the effects of a sermon delivered exclusively to men and boys in that city recently by Rev. Sam Jones:

"The delivery of the sermon occupied more than an hour. It was a powerful arraignment of man and his arguments were presented in such a strong manner that they carried conviction with them. His closing was eloquent and pathethic; it was clear the evangelist had made a deep impression on the great concourse of men. He asked the choir to sing something and called upon the fathers, husbands, brothers and sons who would pledge themselves to live better lives from to-day, to come and give him their hands. Then followed a scene that beggars description. It is no exaggeration to say that 500 strong men and youths came forward and took the pledge. The scene occupied thirty-five minutes. The evangelist with both hands shook those of the surging multitude until he became exhausted and was forced to take his seat. When he had shaken hands with two people there were a dozen to take their places. The aisles were choked up with people eager to come forward and take the pledge. Among the number were gamblers and men known as the most hardened sinners. Such a demonstration was perhaps never seen in Mississippi before and it was one that will be long remembered by all present."

How Johnstown is to be Rebuilt.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 17.—Sentiment has been permanently supplanted by business men here. It began this morning and the most heavily stricken citizen, both in family and fortune, has brought himself face to face with the inevitable, and in a meeting of a committee of business men asked General Hastings to erect 100 two story business buildings on the public square for immediate occupacy. General Hastings ly replied that he would work night and day, and n every facility that was power of the state and him to confer. The city council will meet to-morrow to grant the right to build, and work will begin Wednesday. The buildings will last until the business men are able to build at their own expence.

One hundred houses, ready to be placed upon their foundations will arrive from Chicago on next Saturday, and will all be put up by the middle of next week. General Hastings said, to-morrow we will put all the carpenters we can get to building new houses on lots from which buildings were taken by the flood, as soon as the lumber arrives. It will begin to arrive this week. I think Johnstown will look very much like a city by next fall. When the houses are erected I shall furnish the householders with cooking utensils, cots, bedding and the necessary articles to begin again, and when they are ready they can build better houses.

CARL DUNDER.

He Delivers an Address to the Children of America.

DEAR SHILDREN.—You vash all right. Doan' let sompody make you believe dot you doan' haf some good times. If I could be some shild again I kick oop my heels like a bird und doan' care for nopody. I shall nefer be small again und wear some knee-breeches und play horse mit a broomstick und vhen I reflect on dot I feel some lumps in my throat.

Vhen a man comes along und says he vhas glad he vhasn't some childrens any more, doan' you belief him. He says dot because he doan' take any comfort and doan' want nobody else to. He vhas lame and cross und his bones ache und he vhas shealous of you und wants revengd.

Maype it vhas better for me dot I vhas a girl but I doan' know. It vhas awful nice to be a sweet girl, und to be called angels, und to haf der boys look at you so shently like a sheep. If you vhas a girl doan' you be ashamed of it. Dot vhas all right und according to Hoyle. Maype you can't climb trees, run out nights und go in svimming by der mill pond, if you go by a circus you vhas in der front seats, und somepody always pays for your ice cream und pays for your ticket to der picnic. If I vhas a girl I would keep my face so clean ash nefer vhas. I make my voice shust like music. I walk along mit a nip! nip! nip! I keep my hands white und my hair combed and vhen somepody meets me und says: "Hello! Susan, how you vhas?" I answer him: "If you please, sir, my name vhas Birdie und I vhas so weller ash never vhas." If I could be a leedle girl, I learn how to sew, and knit, und make some bread, and split wood, und bring up coal, und wash dishes, und hoe in der garden, und den vhen I grows oop und vhas married my husband would say: "Ah! noble vomans, you vhas der capital prize in der lottery!"

How bully it vhas to be some poys. He doan' haf some taxes to pay—no pody talks pollyticks by him—he doan' haf some barns dot burn down mit no insurance. No bodywants to borrow money of him no gas bills to pay nobody comes to insure his life. All he has to do vhas to go py der school house, play marbles, fly kites, see der circus procession, eat sweet cakes und grow oop to be a governor.

Dot vhas all, childers? Doan' you be troubled. It vhas all right You vhas getting along better as could be expected by der circumstances, und all you haf to do vash to wipe of your nose und speak nottings to nobody.

Story of a Dog.

MR. EDITOR:—Your offer of a reward to compete with the Boston dog story is my reason for sending you the enclosed.

There are some intelligent dogs as well as people out of Boston as the following dog story will verify and which is vouched for by high standing church members.

A little terrier was much petted in a family, was allowed to lay quietly in the chimney corner or raise a row with cats and all other intruders as fancy dictated, until bed time, when the door was opened and he was very gently, but firmly commanded to get out. One night when the command was given he limped so as to be scarcely able to walk to the door; when his Mistress remarked, "Let Trip stay in the room to night it is so cold." The next morning when called to breakfast it was noticed that Trip's lameness was all gone and on being examined no cause could be found for it; for three consecutive nights the same lameness was feigned and Trip never was troubled with such distress except when commanded to "get out." This is as true as George's hatchet story. REVOLG.

The continued use of mercury mixtures poisons the system, causes the bones to decay, and brings on mercurial rheumatism. The use of S. S. S. forces impurities from the blood, gives a good appetite and digestion, and builds up the whole human frame. Send to Swift's Specific Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta Ga., for Treatise on Blood Diseases.

The Swift's Specific Company, Drawer 3 Atlanta, Ga., offer a reward of one thousand dollars to any one who will find by analysis a particle of mercury, iodide of potash, or other poisonous substance in S. S. S.

Swift's Specific cured me of ugly and very painful boils or risings. I had twenty-three on my back and neck at one tine and a great many on my body. I took S. S. S. and two bottles cured me. This was five years ago, and I have had no boils since.

W. M. MILLER, Arlington, Texas.

W. H. Wright, of Rogers, Ark., a prominent farmer and stock grower, says that Swift's Specific cured him of tetter of twenty year's standing. Of course in that time he had a great amount of treatment and says the wonder is that he did not scratch the flesh from his bones. S. S. S. cured him quick and permanently.

SAVED.—A fine family of children were all afflicted with scrofula. Two died early; the rest would soon have followed, but for the timely and persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which built them up into a healthy and vigorous manhood.

You can never know till you try, how quickly a dose of Ayer's Pills will cure your sick headache. Your stomache and bowels need cleansing, and these pills will accomplish it more effectually and comfortably than any other medicine you can find.

There is but one happiness—duty. There is but one consolation—work. There is but one delight—the beautiful.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol. It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign, giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle—the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,

F. L. RANLETT,
Business Manager.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Money to Loan.

Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address
R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,
jun27 Clanton, Ala.

Notice.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 4th, 1889.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Redding E. Jones, Jr., against General J. Bryant, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 14759, dated October 30th, 1883, upon the e ½ of se ¼ and s w ¼ of se ¼ section 36, township 22 north, range 15 east, in Chilton county, Ala., with a view to the cancellation of said entry, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at Clanton, Ala., before Wm. H. Foshee, Commissioner, who takes testimony on the 15th day of July, 1889, and at this office on the 20th of July, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

J. G. HARRIS, Register.
jun13 WM. C. JORDAN, Receiver

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, In the Probate Court of said county.

To the heirs at law and legatees of the estate of M. C. McRee, deceased: Take notice that on the 21st day of May, 1889 A. J. McRee, as administratrix of the said estate filed in said court her petition in writing and under oath, praying for an order of the said court, to sell all the real estate of said estate, described in said petition, upon the ground that a sale of the same is necessary for the payment of the debts of said estate and take notice further that the said court has appointed Monday, July 29th, 1889, a day for hearing said petition at which time you can appear in said court and contest said application if you choose so to do.

Dated June 10th, 1889.
H. J. CALLEN, Probate Judge.

NOTICE NO. 8875.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 3d, 1889, viz Willis Young, homestead application 15629 for the s w ¼ of s w ¼ section 1, township 21 north range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Anderson Peoples, James Rasberry, Horace McGee, and Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul19 y

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 40,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK
THE ONLY
ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—

Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Marion Military Institute.

Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and faculty live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family watch care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish practical and thorough training. Terms moderate.
J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama.

The Lawson Carpet Co.
Birmingham, Ala.
Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of
Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,
Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,
ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜
P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.
No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.
H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.
☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
—Manufacturer of all kinds of—
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, - - Alabama.
nov29-tf

JOHN P. LEEPER,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in DOORS, SASH, BLINDS,
—AND—
BUILDERS' HARDWARE.
Warerooms Cor. Morris Ave. and 22d Street.
Birmingham, Ala.
12 20 6

pet Co.
a.
attention of their large
of y Shades,
Novelties.
rices are guaranteed as
kets.
Respectfully,
O. (WM. LAWSON.)

TER.
ES.)
ISTS.
ve Prompt At-SPECIALTY
th STREETS,
a.
ny's Prices.
June 19 y

HEE,
E.) eries ANDISE.
ma.
ronage heretofore
AS FOSHEE.

M, nery, Ala.,
ROOMS,
ouring and dying
Street.

PER,
OW SHADES,
LDINGS,
—AND—
L PAPER HANGER.
A,
, ALABAMA.
ents up. Will send
apr 11-y

WORKS.
LT, KMAN, Marble.
ONE WORK.
th Street,
Alabama.

PER,
LINDS,
WARE.
d 22d Street,
la.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JUNE 27, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.
Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Notice advertisment of money to an.

Peaches are abundant in this locality now.

Crops around Clanton are looking unusually well.

Mrs. Lane visited her son Mr. Q. Lane last week.

Prof. A. J. Scott is on a visit friends in Wilcox county.

Rev. A. E. Burns delivered two excellent sermons last Sunday.

Mr. H. W. Herbert, of Jemison, spent last Friday in Clanton.

Mrs. Dr. Patton, of Montgomery, is visiting Mr. W. A. Collier's family.

Mr. J. R. Bruce sends the VIEW the first watermelon it has had this season.

Mrs. Boykin and her daughter Mrs. Glover, spent Sunday with relatives in Clanton.

A postoffice has again been established at Lomax with Mr. C. J. Stewart as postmaster.

D. R. McMillan, Esq., register in chancery of Shelby county was in town Monday on official business.

Dr. Bivings, Judge Callen, and Sheriff Hayes, are off on a fishing expedition in the Maplesville and the neighborhood.

The Methodists held their quarterly meeting last Saturday at Verbena. Several Methodists from here went down to attend.

Original poetry is not in demand just now. Too much time is required in roving for ticks and bugs at this season.

Mrs. Chas. Duncan, returned to North Pittsburg last Saturday after spending some time with her here.

A very pleasant sociable was given at the residence of Mr. J. M. Conder last Friday evening. The young people remember that evening with special spleasure.

A note correcting a bad item which appeared in the local column last week reads thus: "Permit me to correct you in regard to the Methodist choir on last Sunday. It was not the Methodists at all. It was the out siders." The note is from Mr. S. A. Blasingame.

Though five accomplished proof readers handled the VIEW proofs last week, yet some of our readers thought that we were trying to puzzle them with typographical errors. We demur to the allegation and refer them to the "devil" and his angels—we understand that he has more than one.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a marvel of cure for Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker Mouth, and Head-Ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious Nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cents. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at cost prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. Cash will get them down to cost prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

Maj. J. M. Bivings, of Montgomery, visited relatives here Tuesday.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks was in Clanton Tuesday on his way to attend the meeting of the State Educational Association at Birmingham.

While giving unkind criticism it is well to bear in mind that only those without faults should throw stones, as they are likely to rebound.

The man who won't take a paper because he can borrow one, has invented a machine by which he can cook his dinner by the smoke of his neighbor's chimney.

On last Tuesday night, the elegant home of Mr. R. Ehrman, was thrown open to the young ladies and gentleman of our town, and the proverbial hospitality of the fair hostess and kind host were well maintained.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Marion Military Institute. This is acknowledged to be a thoroughly equiped institution, and is presided over by a christian gentleman of ability and experience in his work, Col. J. T. Murfee. It is an institution where young men are prepared and trained for the practical affairs of life, giving attention to both moral and mental culture.

Prof. A. J. Scott has returned from Greensboro where he went to attend the closing exercises of the Southern University. Prof. Scott will probably spend most of the vacation canvassing for his school. By the way the VIEW is due the Academy an apology foi being unable to attend and write up the closing exercises. We are proud of the institution, and it is one that deserves the united support of the community. We hope to see many pupils from a distance when it re-opens next fall.

Burglars.

The residences of Mr. Peyton Aldrige and Mr. R. Ehrman were entered by burglars on Sunday night. At the latter place a valuble diamond breastpin was stolen. The pin was afterwards found in the road out by Mr. J. H. Aldridge's house by Mr. Aldridge. Other articles of less value were taken from each place. An attempt was made to enter the store of Dr. Bivings the same night, but without success.

The Verdict in the Givhan Case

The verdict of the coroner's jury in the Givhan case was not rendered until after the VIEW went to press last week, and we deem it now unnecessary to publish the circumstances of that unfortunate affair.

The verdict of the jury completely exculpated Mr. Collier from any wrong in the matter, and fully accords with the sense of the public in this town and neighborhood.

The following is the verdict:

Coroner's Court of Rufus Riggins, J. P.

We the jury empaneled to ascertain the facts and circumstances concerning the death of the deceased find that the deceased was Phillip A. Givhan, that he was on the premises of William A. Collier and that he came to his death from the effects of a gunshot wound at the hands of William A. Collier. We further find that the act was a justifiable homicide.

Signed and certified this 19th day of June, 1889.

W. L. SAMPEY,
A. E. BIVINGS,
J. H. ALDRIDGE,
JOHN GARNER,
W. T. CALLEN,
W. M. WILSON,
Jury of Inquest.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

Farmers are in better spirits since our last pleasant showers. Crops are very good and remarkably clean of grass.

It is remarkable of this locality that peach and plum trees are breaking down with loads of fruit, though the apples are not so good as last year.

Summer birds are flitting into the country, adding much to its pleasantness.

Miss Marion Kelly has returned from the Judson and is at her old home.

Mess. Frank and Willie Kelly are visiting here.

Mr. Fletcher McCary is paying flying visits often to his mother and sister here.

The party of Maplesville youngsters were disapointed in the exhibition at Stanton, but enjoyed their ride hugely.

Miss Pattie Dansby, Miss Annie King and Mr. Prince Caine, were the guests of Mrs. Glover last week.

REVOLS.

Stanton Notes.

We have just had a fine rain and the crops are looking well and the farmers are jubilant.

Your correspondent is just from Jemison, where he went to attend the closing exercises of the Jemison High School and to deliver the commencement address. The exercises were fine, and showed Prof. Ruffin to be a thorough teacher and an accomplished gentleman. His patrons and trustees think a great deal of him and cooperate with him in his work, the only way a school can be built up. The crops were fine on the road, between here and Jemison, showing Chilton county not behind in the farming interest. The Alliance may yet redeem the South.

Our Mr. J. A. Stephens, the Superintendent of the Alliance Store informs us that he takes in $1000 in cash every month. A good business for these times. A large Alliance picnic of two days will be held here on the 4th and 5th of July. Addresses will be made by prominent Alliance men.

One of our citizens, Mr. O. H. P. Wright, had the misfortune to lose his youngest child; a bright little boy of eight months since I last wrote you. He has the sympathy of the entire community.

The principal of the Stanton Institute will not teach here another session, although he has been elected by the people. The school building belongs to a private corporation, and one man rules.

Items from Chandler's Mill.

Mr. Editor, as it has been some time since you had any items from here I will give you a few.

Our friend Mr. J. S. Golson is able to be on crutches after being confined to his bed with a broken leg for some time.

Messrs. W. J. Wright and W. W. Carter, two of Autauga's enterprising farmer's spent a day with us last week, and placed an order with Mr. Chandler for lumber to build a church near Independence, Ala.

Crops in this section are fine. Mr. J. C. Henley says he has the finest crop that he ever had. His cotton field is white with blooms.

We have some very fine orchards in this section. Our clever neighbor, Mr. Albert Headley, has a fine lot of Le Conte pears, which are doing well.

Our energetic mill boss, Mr. J. M. Morgan, has the finest garden we ever saw in the State, he has about half an acre in onions from which he will realize about $40 profit. Some of his onions measure 12 inches in circumference.

Mr. Thos. Prim opened a very promising school here on Monday last with about 30 pupils.

Mr. Wm. Jones, our Planer boss visited friends at Shelby Springs this week. He says crops are fine in Shelby county.

Mr. E. Deramus, who has been with us for two or three months inspecting lumber for Mr. O. A. Duke, will leave us this week, after having finished a large bill of lumber for the Pioneer Mining and Manufacturing Co.

We had a very interesting game of base ball here Saturday last, played by Duke's Hustler's and Chandler's nine. Score, Duke's 5. Chandler's 3. S.

Jemison Locals.

The closing exercises of Jemison High School took place on Monday and Tuesday of last week. The examinations during the day showed marked progress and efficiency among the students. The exercises on Monday night consisted of recitations, dialogues, music, &c., with an address by Rev. A. E. Burns which was pronounced excellent. Tuesday night the program included an address by Prof. Harwood, of Stanton. Our people feel that they cannot speak too highly of Prof. Ruffin and Miss Sherrel as successful teachers. The Patrons of the school feel very much gratified at the progress their children have made, and will be glad to know that Prof. Ruffin and Miss Sherrel have been unanimously re-elected as principal and assistant teacher of Jemison High School for the next scholastic year.

Died, at Jemison on Friday, the 14th inst., Wilbur, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Givhan, aged 12 years. We extend our heart felt sympathies to the bereaved family.

Mrs. H. T. Caffey is visiting her mother at Dallaston, Ala.

Miss Bettie Anderson has returned from Oxmoor, where she has been teaching during the past session.

Mr. Ben Sapp visited Jemison during the commencement exercises.

Prof. Ruffin and Miss Mattie Ruffin returned to Helena for the summer.

Miss Kate Sherrill has returned to Vine Hill, Autauga Co., her home for the summer.

Mr. Tom Hall has returned to Bessemer.

Miss Ray Manchline has returned to her home at Helena.

X. Y. Z.

Bring your job printing to this office.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN, & MARVIN, Druggists, Toledo.
E. H. VAN HOESEN, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Prop., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

UNAPPRECIATIVE.

How little we are apt to appreciate that which we possess. The hardy wood-sawyer envies the wealth of his employer. The rich man envies the health and strength of his poor neighbor.

"Our mind and our time we employ
In longing for what we have not,
Unmindful of what we enjoy."

How much better if all exerted themselves to obtain their heart's longing. If poor in purse seek to gain wealth by industrious and frugal habits. If poor in health seek to use those remedies which are the best and truest medicines. Among remedies sold by druggists none is the equal of Botanic Blood Balm for curing the ills of flesh and blood.

Felix Foster, Atlanta, Ga., says: "I took B. B. B., for several foul ulcers, which had given me much trouble and would not heal from a use of ULCERS other remedies. Within ten days my health improved, and before I had used three bottles every sore was entirely healed. It improved my appetite and gave me flesh and strength."

Hudson Clark, Camden, Ark., says: "I was afBAD BLOOD flicted with the severest form of rheumatism for about 12 years, and suffered extreme misery during all that while. I also had catarrh so bad it almost stopped CATARRH my breathing through my nose. My flesh in some places looked as if it had been charred or scalded. My back was so lame I could hardly stand. I tried nearly every RHEUMATISM thing but found no relief until I tried B. B. B. I used several bottles and am now as sound and well as any man in Arkansas."

J. W. Messer, Howell's Cross Roads, Cherokee County, Ga., writes: I was afflicted with chronic SORES sores nine years, and had tried many medicines and they did me no good. I then tried B. B. B., and eight bottles cured me sound and well."

[sep27 ew 1y]

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[ma15 y]

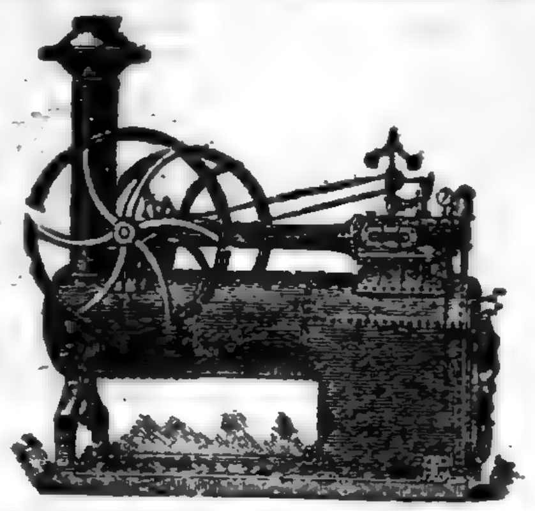
NOTICE NO. 3874.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on August 3rd, 1889, viz: Anderson Peoples, Homestead 15808 for the s w ¼ of s e ¼ and s e ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 10, township 21 n, range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Willis Young James, Rasberry, Horace McGee, Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]



CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS
Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE,
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.:)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. L. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses,
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE. [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]
FOR SALE BY ALL [illegible]
[illegible]
Apr25-6

READ THIS!
I have removed my stock of Confectioneries
—AND—
Fancy Groceries
into the Johnson drug storehouse and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.
I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest style and on short notice.
Very respectfully,
dec13-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

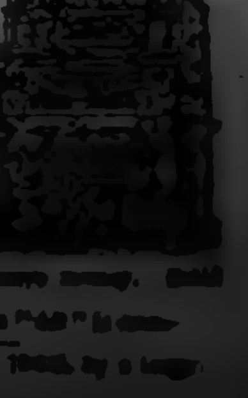
S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
Correspondence solicited.
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family"
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than [illegible].
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all, but will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best
Cough Medicine.
If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
CONSUMPTION
PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov22-y



[illegible]
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $85. to $33.
This Elegant Parlor Organ style 10 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells. Stool and Book free. For only $33.00. With right and left couplers. "Warranted for 6 years."
It is only necessary to send references as to your responsibility from any banker, postmaster, merchant or express agent and the Organ will be shipped promptly on ten days' test trial.
Circular free to all.
Be sure to write at, and save money. [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
H. W. ALLGOOD,
[illegible]
[illegible]

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

FOOD FOR POULTRY.

Bran is a very good article of food for poultry, but the same food without variation should not be given for any considerable time. And it is indispensable that all kinds of poultry be frequently, if not even daily, supplied with green food, such as cabbage, cauliflower, turnip and lettuce. When they have no opportunity for seeking worms and insects for themselves, animal food should be given them, and the refuse of the kitchen cannot be more profitably employed than by feeding it to poultry. It is possible at some seasons, to give too much food, making the poultry too fat, and diminishing the production of eggs; but at other times food cannot be given too plentifully. Water should at all times be abundantly supplied.

GRAINS OF CORN.

Better two vigorous stalks than four weak ones because crowded and sparingly fed.

For cut worms, try a mixture of one part of salt to two parts of land plaster, dropping a little at each hill.

One warm day does not make the proper season for planting any more than one swallow makes a summer.

The man who waited to begin cultivation until he could see the plants found that the weeds were earlier than he.

Select seed carefully, and keep selecting. Build up. Pedigree in corn is just as vauable as pedigree in the Shorthorn or Poland-China.

A study of the methods by which three times the average yield of corn was made shows that in all there was an unusual amount of work expended in preparing the seed bed.

Don't plant before the ground is thoroughly warm. By gaining a week in the time of planting you are apt to lose two weeks in the time of harvesting and twenty per cent. of the crop.

Drilling produces the larger yield and profit, except on very foul ground. If you have purchased such grounds you will be excused for planting in hills until you can cleanse the land.

There cannot be a good crop without a good stand; and there cannot be a good stand without good seed—seed that will do more than germinate; that will produce inherently vigorous plants as well.

Corn may do well on hilly land (though the crop must be uneven), but nearly always the land will lose heavily by the denuding action of rain—often so heavily as to make grass or small grain a more profitable crop.

If the 1888 corn crop were loaded on two-horse wagons, thirty-three bushels to the load, and the wagons were placed twenty-six feet apart, or as nearly as possible in a string, the string of wagons would reach twelve times around the globe—300,000 miles!

Nothing promises to so revolutionize the present waste of corn fodder in the West as the new but growing practice of cutting the field corn close to the ground as soon as the kernels are well glazed and putting the whole crop directly into the silo, either whole or cut into half-inch lengths, ears and all.—American Agriculturist.

SCAB IN SHEEP.

What is called ''scab'' in sheep is a cutaneous disease, closely allied to mange in horses and itch in men, for in all three the soreness and inflammation of the skin are due to the presence of a minute parasitic mite, usually called an acarus, which burrows in the skin, loosening the hairs or wool. If one of the female acari is placed on the wool of a healthy sheep she will quickly crawl down to the root of it and bury herself in the skin. These female acari bring forth from eight to fifteen young at a litter, and these spread over the animal, and wherever they find lodgment make small sores and cause the wool to drop out. Old and unhealthy sheep are first attacked and suffer most, but if the disease is neglected it will spread to the most healthy and vigorous, and even young lambs will sooner or later become affected. The best and cheapest treatment for this disease is to dip the entire flock, lambs as well as the old and fully grown, in some kind of liquid that will soften the scab and poison the mites. The dipping should be done as soon as the sheep are sheared in spring, for at this time the liquid will readily reach every part and destroy the mites. The most common and perhaps best sheep dip in use consists of tobacco and sulphur in the proportions of four ounces of tobacco and one of sulphur to one gallon of water. If a large flock of sheep are to be dipped, then kettles of sufficient capacity must be provided to heat the liquid, and also a tank or box large enough to admit the entire body of the largest sheep. The tobacco should be steeped in hot water until its strength is extracted, and the sulphur then stirred in. The liquid should then be poured into the dipping vat and its temperature reduced to about 120 degrees, when it is ready for use. Each animal should be entirely immersed except the eyes and mouth, then lifted out carefully and held on the platform for a few minutes for the liquid to drain off and run back into the tank. By using tobacco stems the cost of the dipping will be greatly reduced, and still be equally as effective as one made of a better quality of tobacco. The cost of dipping a large flock will not exceed five cents per head, and the gain in the growth of wool, health, and comfort of the sheep will far exceed the cost of this operation. Sheep ticks and other vermin infesting sheep will also be destroyed by the tobacco and sulphur. In Europe arsenic, spirits of turpentine, and other poisons are used in making what are called ''sheep dips;'' but tobacco and sulphur are equally efficacious, and harmless to those who are obliged to handle it as well as to the sheep.—New York Sun.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

"Keep the surface of the corn-field mellow, let the season be wet or dry," advises Rural New Yorker.

"Well-rotted manure and wood ashes are the best manure for an orchard," according to a Michigan fruit-grower.

The stump-rooted kinds of carrots are considered best by the Rural New Yorker, because easiest to handle, dig and store.

Avoid having your hens too fat, as eggs from such are less apt to be fertile. They should be kept with appetites moderately sharp.

Shrubs that bloom early in the spring should be pruned immediately after flowering if you wish a vigorous bloom next year.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

CLEANING THE OIL CLOTH.

To clean oil clothes, use tepid milk and water. When they have become much soiled it will be necessary to scour them with soap suds several times during the winter. After doing this, dry thoroughly, and apply a coat of varnish. This will make them last twice as long as when continually washed.—American Agriculturist.

CLEANING PAINT.

I think paint—especially white paint—is often abused with too severe cleaning, says a lady correspondent of the Prairie Farmer. I seldom find it necessary to use a scrubbing-brush for cleaning the wood-work about the house. No wood, painted, oiled or grained, should be allowed to get dirty enough to require a brush to clean it. A little ammonia added to the water, with the use of good hard soap, is the only thing I use for cleaning paint. Of course, care should be taken that too much ammonia is not used, as it will injure the paint.

MOTHS IN WOOLENS AND FURS.

Most persons think it necessary to hang their winter clothes in the open air before packing them away for the summer. Experience has taught us that this method is not only useless but injurious. The clothes certainly do not need airing, having been in use all winter—most of them out of doors—and a moment's reflection will convince any one that clothing thus exposed is more than likely to be seized upon by the tiny moth millers which fly about in such numbers during early spring. Winter clothing should be thoroughly brushed immediately before being packed away, as it is liable to receive the germs of destruction if allowed to lie about even for a few minutes, and if the tiny eggs of the moth are once deposited, we put them comfortably away in the trunks with the clothes, and irreparable mischief is set on foot. Gum camphor is the best thing to put with the clothing, and about a pound of it should be used in each trunk, but the most essential part of the whole proceeding is the brushing. All woolen garments that are worn during the summer—shawls, jackets, gowns, etc.—should be taken out of the closets and brushed regularly if not kept in constant use.—American Agriculturist.

FUEL.

The first accessory to good cooking is fuel. Gasoline is generally conceded to be the most economical and practical material in use for fuel in cooking except in those localities where wood is abundant. With the latest improved gasoline stoves all kinds of cooking can be done. In them there need be no waste of fuel nor superfluous heat, if the flame is turned off when not in use. The stoves must be kept carefully clean and thoroughly cleansed at least once a year.

A few suggestions with regard to coal stoves are necessary. A coal fire is at its height when the flame has ceased to burn blue and burns white—that is to say with a white flame. Then the draught should be closed and only air enough given to the to keep it burning. Many neglect to do this until the coal is red throughout, thereby wasting much heat, for from the time the coal is a red mass the heat begins to lessen.

The coal should never touch the covers of the stove. A space should be left between them and the fire for a current of air. These suggestions will, if followed, save much fuel and preserve the stove or range.

Common illuminating gas is a pleasant and safe kind of fuel, and the stoves in use are equal to any demands; but in most localities gas is too costly for common use. A gas stove may be economically used as supplementary to a coal stove with very satisfactory results.—Detroit Free Press.

RECIPES.

Canned Corn—Put a quart of canned corn into a saucepan, add to it half a teacup of sweat cream, a tablespoonful of butter, with salt and pepper, stir over the fire until very hot, and serve.

Chocolate Cream—Chocolate fine, one ounce, thick cream one pint, sugar three ounces, heat it nearly to boiling then remove it from the fire and mix it well, when cold add the whites of four eggs, whisk rapidly and take up the froth on a sieve, serve the cream in glasses and pile the froth on the top of them.

Cream Potatoes—Take as many cold potatoes as you like, cut in small pieces, put in an earthen dish with salt and pepper sprinkled through and a few bits of butter, mix a heaping teaspoonful of flour smoothly in a little cold milk, stirring the while, pour it over the potatoes and bake a light brown. Serve hot.

Lemon Pie—One cup of sugar, one egg, one cup of water, two teaspoonfuls of corn starch, one lemon, mix sugar and egg with water, rind and juice of lemon, put on stove when warm, stir in corn starch, let it get as thick as cream. It is a very good recipe; not very much trouble after you once do it. Worth trying.

Strawberry Blanc Mange—Strain one quart of stewed strawberries, sweeten the juice and put in to boil. Moisten three tablespoonfuls of corn starch with a little cold water, and stir into the boiling juice. Boil and stir for five minutes, then add the fruit, pour it into a mold and stand away to cool. Serve with sugar and cream.

Cabbage Salad—Half pint vinegar, pinch of salt, two-thirds of a cup of sugar; set to simmer. Take half a cup of cream, one egg well beaten, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, one teaspoonful of mustard, ground. Stir these well together and stir into the boiling vinegar; boil a minute, stirring constantly one way. Mix this thoroughly with chopped cabbage.

Scotch Cake—Into two quarts of flour rub a tablespoonful of butter, stir in a cup and a half of milk, a cup of yeast, two eggs, and half a teaspoonful of salt. Let this rise over-night. In the morning roll out and make into small thin biscuit, let them rise and bake quickly. Dip each biscuit in melted butter before putting it into the pan, and the biscuits will readily part from each other when baked.

Calf's Heart—Wash off the blood, stuff the heart with a veal force-meat or a common stuffing of bread crumbs, onion, a little thyme, egg, pepper and salt. Tie a buttered paper over the mouth of the heart to keep the stuffing in place. Put it into a small baking pan with a little hot water, pepper and salt. Bake nearly two hours, basting it frequently. When done thicken the gravy with flour, strain, skim and season it, and pour it on the dish around the heart. Garnish with onions, first boiled until nearly done, then seasoned with pepper, salt, and a little butter, and browned in the oven.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

LOVES THE BLACK SHEEP.

An old-fashioned housewife in a Clifton (Penn.) farm-house will never permit her husband to be without at least one black sheep in his flock. She has got a notion that it is not healthy to wear stockings with any kind of dye in the wool, and as she dislikes to wear white hosiery, all her stockings are made out of natural black wool. She cards the wool into rolls by hand, just as people did three or four generations ago, spins the rolls herself and knits her own stockings. Once a tree fell on her only black sheep and killed it, and her husband had to hustle around and find another. I took him three days and miles of travel, but he finally came across a black ewe lamb fifteen miles away and bought it.—Chicago Herald.

NEW FABRICS.

In silks there are several specialties, one being the sole Royale, which is to be had plain or serving as a groundwork to brocaded or satin stripes and tracery designs. It has a minute pattern over it, which gives it a dull but rich look, and it is in black, white and every shade of gray. It is the material par excellence of the season for rich mourning costumes and mantles.

Regence is another silken novelty, with a ribbed satin face, resembling faille Francaise, making up handsomely as dresses.

Soie eclat comes next as a rich looking silk at a moderate price.

Cachemire Royale is a grenadine silk, with a little wool introduced to give it a cashmere touch. It looks like extremely rich cashmere and has a silk back.

In thinner fabrics there are silk-warp armures with broche designs, suitable for evening or fete dresses, embroidered crepe de chine, with a concentrated design at the base forming a deep border, rising upward and softening into scattered sprays; Balzerine, a sort of narrow-striped grenadine with broad silk crepe stripes; crepaline with a broad border of simulated crape and pongee silks with a pointed design, overshadowed with a delicate tracing of silk work.

The broche or figured nun's veiling and thicker nun's cloth, the light camel's hair and a fine French twill serge are all to be fashionable, and in nearly all cases the designs culminate at what is intended to be the base of the front skirt drapery and lose themselves in small detached groups. Plain material is generally supplied with the figured to make up into a costume.

A specialty is nun's veiling, with as many as ten rows of inch-wide ribbon woven in, at their own distance apart. Another specialty is snowflake crepe nun's veiling in light gray with squares traced out as large as "muffler" handkerchiefs, in white fancy woven design, with two corners ornamented. These are intended to form panels, and are both uncommon and stylish.—New York Telegram.

DAILY LIFE OF A GIRL IN INDIA.

The following document has been translated into English from the vernacular language in which it was written by a young lady of about sixteen. At the examination of a girl's school by the local committee of managers, the pupils were requested to write the story of their daily life and avocations. The exercises which they produced were very similar in many points, but this was one of the best: "After getting leave from school on Saturday, I went home and put away my slate and books. I next took off my school-dress, and, having put on other clothes, I attended to household work. When evening came I lit the light in the house, and taking my beads I went to worship our god Jugonath. Having prostrated myself before the great Lord, Jugonath, I went into the house, and taking my book, sat down to read. When the night was somewhat advanced I put away my book. Then having taken my food and washed my face and hands, I spread my bed on the ground and sat down. Then I gave praise to the great Father and supreme Lord, and I went to sleep. In the early morning I got up and having performed my household duties I took my book and sat down to read. When the sun was well up I anointed myself with oil, and went out to bathe. Then I came home and changed my wet clothes and put them in the sun to dry. Then having made my reverence to our spiritual teacher, I made my prostrations to the sun, and having received spiritual comfort, returned to the house. I then took food, and having washed my face and hands I ate some betel-nut, and sat down to write. When the day was spent I returned to my household work, and again worshiped the god Jugonath. Now I have come again to school, and if there are any faults or mistakes in this exercise I hope that they will be forgiven."—Leisure Hour.

FASHION NOTES.

The Hading veil is disappearing.

They are wearing hat crowns much lower just now.

Colored tulle bonnets are being made for midsummer wear.

The newest fabric for little girls' clothing is plaided mohair. It is light in texture and its color combinations are generally artistic.

There are now three distinct styles of tailor-made costumes which seem to be equally favored, viz., the Empire, English and Directoire.

It is just as well to remember that blouse waists of washing silk must be entirely unlined if they are ever to be successfully washed.

It is announced upon authority that the fashionable shade of hair just now is light brown, so full of warm tints as to seem red in sunlight.

Among Worth's latest inventions is a train that falls over half a yard or so at the top, and does away with the necessity of further ornament.

Honors are easy between plaids and stripes. Plaids are in high favor with the select; fine stripes are moderately worn by the mass of womankind.

An evening costume recently seen at a Paris reception was of shot velvet, apparently of vieux rose and green, the combination making a dull heliotrope.

A full frill of lace which turns over at the neck and falls into a jabot down the front of the corsage is one of the finishing touches given to a dinner dress.

A combination much worn this season is that of black and yellow. Black straw hats take yellow ribbons and flowers, and yellow straws have black ribbons and black feathers.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Ignorance is the mother of all evil.

That alone belongs to you which you have bestowed.

No gift can make rich those who are poor in wisdom.

Twenty years in the life of a man is sometimes a severe lesson.

The surest way to please is to forget one's self and to think only of others.

The more you practice what you know the more shall you know what to practice.

We attract hearts by the qualities we display; we retain them by the qualities we possess.

Laughter does not always indicate good nature; the laughing hyena is the fiercest of animals.

Time will discover everything to posterity; it is a babbler, and speaks when no question is put.

One of the greatest causes of trouble in this world is the habit people have of talking faster than they think.

It is not putting things in the right place that bothers a man so much as finding the right place after he has put things in it.

Pay your bill twice rather than go to law. There are as many lawyers clamoring for the wrong as there are lawyers clamoring for the right.

The prejudices of men emanate from the mind and may be overcome; the prejudices of women emanate from the heart, and are impregnable.

The man who does good, and the man who does evil, are alike expected to hide their deeds; it is only the man who does neither who is allowed to boast.

Most of the troubles of life originate from the habit of talking too much. The tongue is useful in its way, but it should be handled with as much care as gunpowder.

We have heard a great many people admit that they were peculiar, but we believe we have never heard a man admit a peculiarity that he thought was to his dircredit.

Chinese Wine-Making.

Wine-making is said to have existed in China for thousands of years before the introduction of distilling. The process is simple. Glutinous rice, or hwang-mi, is placed over a fire in a large iron pan and softened with warm water. It is made into a thick, solid sort of a gruel. This steeped rice is placed on a table with raised edges to prevent the fluid from overflowing. Over the rice, when in this state, the leaven to aid fermentation is sprinkled. The whole is then mixed and mashed with an iron masher, and remains in a large stoneware jar for several days. If the wine is desired to be of a sweet taste, two days are enough; but for wine without sweet taste four or five days are required. To make the second kind of wine stronger, the Chinese brewer often adds spirit. After all this the wine, solid and liquid parts together, is placed in a cloth bag, and this goes into a pressing chest of wood, called cha, the wine press. A heavy stone presses it down and the wine flows out from a sort of teapot spout in the side of the press. The remainder of the solid matter is called tsan, and is used to feed animals or as a ferment. The method of distilling was introduced in the Yuen dynasty. To the wooden cylinder which holds the millet there are three covers. The outer and upper one contains cold water and keeps the second one cool to condense the spirit. The spirit rises from the softened red millet below, which has been under manipulation for several days, and passes through the first cover to the second. It here becomes condensed and flows down the sides into a triangular trough which receives it and delivers it from a spout. Williams and Morrison's Dictionary and Legge's Classics seem to have been compiled with the impression that the Chinese practiced distillation in ancient times. This is an error. The Chinese only knew the ordinary process of fermentation.—Chinese Recorder.

Subtle Power of a Badge.

There is a great deal of subtle power in a badge, a uniform or a title. To the truth of this statement there is a well-known German here in town who is willing to testify. He came to this country before the war from a small town in Germany, and located in Chicago. When the war broke out he enlisted in an Illinois regiment, served through to the close, and attained the rank of Sergeant. After the war he returned to Chicago and started in the livery business. He allowed his military associations to fade away, joined no veteran associations, and attended strictly to business. In the course of a few years of hard work he amassed a little fortune of some $30,000, and he resolved to take his family back to his native town in the old country for a visit. He expected to cut a very wide swath among his old friends in the little German village, as he could pose as the wealthiest man within its borders, but to his great surprise he attracted very little attention. The people there knew he had gained wealth, but he was without title or decortion, and these count for more than wealth over there. He was sadly put out at his treatment, and said he remained awake nights endeavoring to think how he could create an impression. Finally a brilliant idea seized him. He packed up at once and returned to Chicago. Here he hunted up his discharge papers and joined a Grand Army post. As soon as he had become a member in good standing he pinned the G. A. R. badge upon his breast and sailed back to Germany. The people in the little town were won over by the badge, and the Chicago man was lionized to his heart's content. Such is the power of a decoration.—Chicago Herald.

Victims of the Banana Peel.

A gentleman calls the attention of the Atlanta Constitution to the New York Telegram's statement that the banana peel has wrought more damage to life and limb than all the dynamite explosions that have shocked Great Britain. Our friend, says the Constitution, goes on to say that he sees the banana peel everywhere in Atlanta, and especially on Peachtree street. Sometimes a man steps on one, loses his balance, and by a mighty effort recovers himself. In New Orleans some serious accidents have occurred. A lady in that city who slipped on a banana peel has been bed-ridden ever since. Stringent laws have been passed there to abate the nuisance, and now when a man eats a banana on the street in New Orleans he always steps to the edge of the sidewalk and deposits the peeling very carefully in the gutter. This is as it should be.

FIGHTING IN COURT.

THE JUDGE, CONSTABLE, PRISONER AND SEVERAL SPECTATORS KILLED.

A bloody shooting affray occurred eighteen miles south of Austin, Tex., Thursday evening, in which four white men and five negroes were killed and many others wounded. It appears that in the neighborhood where the trouble occurred, a colored justice of the peace, Orange Wickes, and a colored constable, Isaac Wilson, were recently elected. The justice had issued a warrant for one R. D. Litten, and it was put into the hands of Wilson. Soon afterwards, the latter met Litten, and informed him he had a warrant for his arrest, and proceeded to read it. Little remarked that it was no use to read the warrant, for he would not be arrested by a d—— nigger. Quite a crowd had gathered and Wilson's friends advised him that he place the warrant in the hands of a white constable. This he did and Litten was arrested, but declared he would not be tried before a colored justice. Notwithstanding his protest he was carried before Justice Wickes, whose court was in session. The room was crowded with blacks and whites. In the courtroom Litten was very abusive, and finally words led to blows, then to the use of six-shooters and Winchesters. Justice Wickes and Litten were riddled with bullets and died immediately. The constable was also killed as was a negro named Bell. A spectator was filled with lead and soon died. Houston Moore, a colored boy, was also killed by a stray bullet. Alexander Notch and George Schoehf, both white men, were shot down and instantly killed, as was another white man whose name could not be learned. One hundred armed men gathered around ready to renew the fight, but all has been quiet so far.

STORMS IN FLORIDA.

DISASTERS FROM WIND AND RAIN IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF THE STATE.

A heavy rainstorm prevailed in Jacksonville Sunday and Monday, accompanied a portion of the time by a gale of wind. Reports from the interior of the state indicate that the storm has done more or less damage in several localities. A terrific south-west gale and heavy rain prevailed at Sanford. At Lake May the tornado cut a track one hundred feet wide, bearing down forest trees before it and completely demolishing W. L. D. MaCrackers' large orange packing house. Reports from Tampa state that the track of the South Florida railroad is submerged in many places with several bad washouts. A rumor is current that the gale tore off the upper deck of the steamer H. B. Plant, at Blue Springs, on the St. John's River, but it cannot be authenticated as the telegraph wires in that direction are working badly. President Ingraham of the South Florida railroad left Sanford on a special train Monday afternoon for Port Tampa to investigate the extent of damage.

A MYSTERY.

DISCOVERY MADE IN AN OLD GRAVEYARD NEAR BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

A mysterious child murder was unearthed Monday afternoon. Two young men were walking through an old graveyard in the suburbs of the city, and were surprised to see a fresh mound. As the place has not been used as a burying ground for many years, officers were notified and the mound was uncovered. Buried only a few inches under was found a pine box containing the dead body of a child, apparently about one year old. The head of the child had apparently been crushed by a terrible blow with some heavy instrument, the murderer evidently seeking to prevent any chance of recognition. The clothing worn by the dead child was of a very fine quality, but saturated with blood from the terrible wound in the head. No one has yet identified the body. The investigation, it is expected, will develop a big sensation.

VOTING INSANE PEOPLE.

AN INDIANA POOR-HOUSE SUPERINTENDENT CONFESSES HIS GUILT.

Hiram W. Miller, ex-treasurer of Marion county, Ind., and Smith Williams, superintendent of the county poor asylum, who were indicted for voting the idiotic and insane inmates of the county asylum at the last election, pleaded guilty before Judge Woods Thursday. Miller, who, as election inspector in the precinct, disregarded the challenges in receiving the votes of the unfortunates, was fined $250, and Williams, who the preliminary hearing showed conspired with Miller to vote the paupers, was fined $50. The result of the prosecution is regarded as important in that it will stop the voting of idiotic and insane inmates of the county throughout the state, a practice that has become common during recent years.

DRIVEN TO SUICIDE.

A SON SHOOTS HIMSELF TO AVOID A FATHERLY THRASHING.

A young man named Jarvis Odam committed suicide in Rutherford county, N. C., under peculiar circumstances. He had whipped a smaller brother who had reported the occurrence to his father. The latter is very severe in correcting his children and several times chastised his oldest son very cruelly. On this occasion he sent word to him that he would give him a terrible thrashing for whipping his brother. The young man knew what this meant and went up stairs crying. In a few minutes the report of a gun was heard, and when the young man's room was entered, he was found lying on the floor with a hole in his head. He died in a few seconds.

CHARLESTON'S COURT.

The coming session of the criminal court, which commences on Monday next, promises to be the most important ever held in Charleston, S. C. The jury is composed of fourteen mulattoes and negroes and twenty-one whites—an unusually large proportion of the colored race. The docket has over 61 cases to be tried—13 for murder, 15 of assault with intent to kill, 6 burglary, 8 of vagrancy, 2 of carrying concealed weapons, 1 of rape, 3 of house-breaking, 6 of larceny, and the rest of minor offences. The greatest interest attaches to the case of McDow, charged with the murder of Captain F. W. Dawson, on the 12th of March last. It is probable, however, that this case will be postponed.

THE GRAND PRIZE.

The race for the Prix de Paris, 100,000 francs, was won by Bay Colt Vasistas by one length. The Chestnut Colt Pourtant, second, four lengths ahead of Bay Colt Aerolithe, third. There were fifteen starters.

A Lost City.

The rushing waters of the Potomac River, in the recent floods, destroyed a city that never existed—Jackson City—at the south end of the long bridge, opposite Washington, D. C. The name of the town has been in the mouth of comers and goers at the bridge since the administration of Gen. Andrew Jackson, who laid the corner-stone of Jackson City with much formality, and with a celebration that included all the military and civic organizations of the three District cities. George Washington Parke Custis, of Arlington, the adopted son of Gen. Washington, delivered the oration. Tents were erected and the occasion was the only gala day that Alexander's Island, on which Jackson City was founded, ever had. Years ago a hotel was built near the bridge, and this was the only approach to a town that Jackson City ever made. It was for awhile a roadside inn. Lately it has been headquarters of games forbidden in the District. Long ago the corner-stone was dug up and its contents carried off, and the close of last week the rain came and the flood undermined and ruined Jackson City.

Teeth Drawn by Electricity.

People can have their superfluous teeth drawn by means of electricity. The process in question is very simple, scarce any apparatus being required beyond an ordinary two-cell battery, with vibrator attachment. This attachment is a thin strip of metal fastened at the ends, which is made to vibrate a thousand or more times per second by the electric current. At each vibration the circuit is cut off and renewed again, the effect being to give a perfectly steady flow of the mysterious fluid. The patient in the chair is given a handle to hold in each hand, and the current is turned on gradually until it becomes painful. Then he is told to grasp the handles as strongly as possible, the electricity—having been switched off for a moment—is turned on again suddenly, and the dental surgeon applies his forceps simultaneously to the tooth. The instant the molar is touched it, as well as the parts surrounding, becomes electrified and absolutely insensible to pain. When it is withdrawn from the socket, the subject of the operation feels not the slightest disagreeable sensation. A jerk and the tooth is out, the patient drops the electric handles and the painless affair is over.

War on Saloonists.

The Indiana Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias, recently in session at Indianapolis, Ind., took a step which threatens to lead to great demoralization. A resolution was introduced declaring that saloon keepers should not be eligible to membership in the order. The ensuing discussion awakened a great deal of bitter feeling, but the resolution was finally adopted by a two-thirds vote. The saloon keepers and their friends immediately appealed to the Supreme Lodge. It is stated that nearly one-fourth of the order in Indiana are either identified with or in favor of the traffic, and if the action of the state Grand Lodge is sustained, they will withdraw from the order.

Quite a Difference.

In the red parlor of the White House at Washington, D. C., a photographer took a picture of four generations of the Harrison family. The Rev. Dr. Scott sat on the extreme right of the group, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee came next, and the famous Baby Benjamin Harrison McKee completed the gathering. The latter did his best to make the affair a failure, and if it had not been for what is known as "the instantaneous process," he would have succeeded. There is a difference of eighty-eight years between the generations represented in the picture. Dr. Scott is 88 and Baby McKee only two years of age.

A Reported Miracle.

The celebrated Canon Wilberforce, of London, England, writes to a newspaper that his belief in miracles has been strengthened by a miracle performed upon himself by means of anointing and prayer. "My internal ailment," he writes, "was of such a nature that leading surgeons declared it to be incurable except at the cost of a severe operation. At last I sent for elders—men of God, full of faith—by whom I was prayed over and anointed, and in a few weeks the internal ailment passed entirely away." The canon takes pains to say that he was healed by "the Lord's blessing upon His own word."

Why He Hates 'Em.

Miss Pyrte: "What makes you such a confirmed woman-hater, Mr. Olebach?" Mr. Olebach: "Well, when I was a young man a woman made a fool of me." Miss Pyrte: "And you never got over it."

THE Paris Exposition has brought sadness to a large part of the shopkeepers, the restaurant keepers and the theatrical managers who find that the show drains the boulevards, and that their business is reduced in a manner unknown since the siege. Even in such great restaurants as the Cafe Anglais or Voisin's they find that their patrons dine at the Exposition. So a committee of all these interests lately waited upon the ministry in order to get the Exposition closed at night, but they got refused.

PROFITING by the recent events at Samoa, when the treasure of the wrecked Trenton was recovered by means of a diving apparatus borrowed from the British man-of-war Calliope, the U. S. Navy Department has determined to equip each of our naval vessels with a complete diving apparatus. A submarine diver is also to be detailed as part of the complement of each vessel in commission.

THE Patterson Mills Co., of Chester, Pa., is looking out for a Southern location for a spinning mill of 10,000 spindles. The capital introduced into the city selected will be $250,000, and great impetus will also be given to an industry peculiarly adapted to the South.

THE Piemonte, the latest Italian cruiser, built on the Tyne, England, must be as fast as anything afloat. With an ordinary draught she made 20.4 knots, and under forced draught 22.3 knots per hour.

Are you troubled with a sluggish, torpid liver? Are you bilious? Do you suffer from jaundice? Has your complexion a sickly, yellow tinge? The blood in its passage through the liver does not furnish the healthy action which should result from the [illegible] are stopped, and clogging up the duct, cause a disordered condition, which will produce serious results to your health, unless you take Brown's Iron Bitters at once. It will cure your biliousness and jaundice, and restore healthy action the sluggish liver.

In the U. S. there are 275 ladies who are ordained as clergymen and preach.

Distanced in the Race.

Why should Dr. Pierce's medicines not distance all competitors in amount of sales, as they are doing, since they are the only medicines sold by druggists, possessed of such wonderful curative properties as to warrant their manufacturers in guaranteeing them to cure the diseases for which they are recommended. You get a cure or money paid for them returned. The Doctor's "Golden Medical Discovery" cures all diseases caused by derangement of the liver, as biliousness, indigestion or dyspepsia; also all blood, skin and scalp diseases, tetter, salt-rheum, scrofulous sores and swellings and kindred ailments.

Don't hawk, hawk, and blow, blow, disgusting everybody, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and be cured.

The police of Paris forbid the employment of women in the cafes at the Exposition.

Torpid Liver.

It is hardly possible to prepare a medicine which is pleasant to the palate as are Hamburg Figs, or which is so efficacious in cases of constipation, piles, torpid liver or sick-headache. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.

Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'igr't'n Board, Portland, Ore.

ALL diseases and disorders peculiar to women are cured by the timely use of Bradfield's Female Regulator. Sold by druggists.

A Fair Trial

of Hood's Sarsaparilla will convince any reasonable person that it does possess great medicinal merit. We do not claim that every bottle will accomplish a miracle, but we do know that nearly every bottle, taken according to directions, does produce positive benefit. Its peculiar curative power is shown by many remarkable cures.

"I was run down from close application to work, but was told I had malaria and was dosed with quinine, etc., which was useless. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and am now feeling strong and cheerful. I feel satisfied it will benefit any who give it a fair trial."—W. B. [illegible], [illegible] Spring St., New York City.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

DROPSY TREATED FREE!

Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases. Cure patients pronounced hopeless by the best physicians. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. Send for free book of testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten days' treatment furnished free by mail. If you order trial, send 10 cents in stamps to pay postage. Dr. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

Cures all Diseases Peculiar to Women!

BOOK TO "WOMAN" MAILED FREE.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Plantation Engines

With Self-Contained RETURN FLUE BOILERS FOR DRIVING COTTON GINS and MILLS.

Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address JAMES LEFFEL & CO., SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, or 110 Liberty St., New York.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER

Makes a clean sweep. Every sheet will kill a quart of flies. [illegible] Send 25 cents for 3 sheets to F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

N. C. Y. L.

Nashville, Tenn. College for Young Ladies. Is the leading school of this section. [illegible] Rev. Geo. W. F. Price, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS

10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies

[illegible]

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. [illegible] B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. [illegible]

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU

COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors.

932 F Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

General information furnished. Correspondence solicited.

SMITHDEAL PRACTICAL Business COLLEGE, Richmond, Va. [illegible]

MUSIC-ART-ELOCUTION [illegible] E. TOURJEE, Boston.

DETECTIVES

[illegible] Grannan Detective Bureau Co. [illegible]

WANTED [illegible]

INVENTORS [illegible] Washington, D. C. [illegible]

ORATORS [illegible]

$5 to $8 a day. [illegible]

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE? [illegible]

[illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. [illegible]

[illegible]

A. N. U. [illegible]

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR Gentlemen AND Ladies

[illegible]

Jno Gullahor

Rates of Advertising.

ne Dollar per square, of one inch ore or less, for the first, and fifty ts for each subsequent insertion.

[illegible]	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
[illegible]	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
[illegible]	7 00	11 25	[illegible]
[illegible]	10 00	15 00	22 50
[illegible]	12 50	20 00	27 00
[illegible]	15 00	22 50	[illegible]
[illegible]	18 00	27 00	40 00
[illegible]	27 00	40 00	60 00
[illegible]	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 4, 1889. NUMBER 36.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK.
remendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay
2018 and 2020 Ist Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS
Purchases at Auction.
We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

GENERAL NEWS.

ONDENSATION OF CURIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

S FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, ES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

William Henry Wood, president of the bama Mining company, dropped dead his office at 7 Nassau street, New York, Wednesday.

A portion of the Manningham mills, Bradford, England, was burned Sun- y. Loss, £50,000. Two firemen were lled by falling debris and several in- red.

Courier DeBruxelles says that Prime inister Beernaert (who is also minister finance) will present parliament at russels, a bill authorizing the issue bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 r the Congo railway.

Rivers have overflowed their banks d partially submerged the town of Bar educ, France, in the department of euse, and the surrounding country. any houses underminded and de- troyed, and crops and vineyards have en ruined.

The marriage of Prince Frederick eopold and the Princess Louise of chleswig was solemnized at Berlin, onday. The emperor and empress and any royalties were present at both the ivil and religious ceremonies. A grand anquet followed.

Official returns have been received from ery county in the state of Pennsylva- a. The majority against the prohibi- ry amendment is 189,020. The ma- rity against the suffrage amendment, roviding for a repeal of the poll tax ualification, is 235,540.

Mrs. Hayes, wife of Ex-President utherford B. Hayes, died last Tuesday orning at Fremont, O. At the bedside re members of the family, together ith Mrs. Mitchell, of Columbus, cousin Mrs. Hayes; Mrs. Huntington, cousin Mrs. Hayes; Lucy Keeler, Mrs. A. H. iller, and physicians.

George McCann, who was awaiting al for the murder of his wife, hanged mself in his cell at the county prison, hiladelphia, early Tuesday morning. cell was but a few yards from that in hich Mrs. Whiteling was at the e awaiting execution. He hanged mself with a pocket handkerchief stened to the door knob of his cell.

At Johnstown, Pa., Acting Surgeon oster, of the Fourteenth regiment and e laboring camps, reported Wednes- ay morning that within the last twenty- ur hours forty-nine laborers were taken riously sick with symptoms of typhoid ver. Many of them were sent home, d others are being cared for in the ospital.

Two verdicts were rendered Tuesday n two murder cases at Atlanta, Ga. The st was that of M. T. Whitlock, charged ith the murder of J. C. Belding. Whit- ck was found guilty of manslaughter, nd sentenced to ten years in the peni- ntiary. The second verdict was in the se of Arthur Hayne, tried for the mur- er of the Italian fruit vendor, Christo- hine. The jury found him "not guilty."

A terrible accident occurred Wednes- ay morning at Bledsoe, on the Chesa- ake & Nashville railroad, running om Gallatin to Scottsville, Ky. The assenger train due at Gallatin at 11 o'clock jumped the track, and the pas- enger and baggage cars went down about sixty feet. About eight persons were seriously injured, and several child- en were more or less hurt.

John T. Robbins and Henry F. Hall, rading under the firm name of the Rob- bins & Son Iron and Steel Manufacturers, Beach and Vienna streets, Philadelphia, Pa., failed Wednesday. The liabilities are said to be $120,000, and assets $70,- 000. Most of the firm's papers are held in Philadelphia, the Kensington National bank being creditor to the extent of $14,800.

One of the greatest failures in the his- tory of the northwest occurred Wednes- day at St. Paul, Minn. The Eureka Im- provement Company, of that city, mak- ng an assignment with liabilities between $800,000 and one million dollars. As- sets have not been estimated. Most of the outside creditors are in Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and New York. The company was engaged in land deals and an electric motor enterprise.

"Red Nosed Mike," who murdered pay- master McClure and the stable boss, Hugh Flannagan, in October last, was hanged Tuesday morning at Wilkesboro, Pa. He gave to one of the clergymen who attended him a confession of his crime, covering fifty-two pages Italian manuscript. The confession has not yet been fully translated, but he admits hav- ng killed both McClure and Flannagan, although he asserts that he acted under compulsion.

Harry H. Flamm, who was an em- ploye of the Marine National Bank, at Pittsburg, Pa., was [illegible] urday night on the charge of having embezzled $35,000. About 4 o'clock that afternoon, W. W. O'Neil, president of the bank, lodged information against Flamm for embezzlement. Flamm was taken from his desk. $20,000 bail was demanded for his hearing Monday. Being unable to secure that amount, he was lodged in jail.

A disastrous fire, accompanied by serious loss of life, occurred early Friday evening in the fireworks establishment of Heyer Bros., corner Summer and Hawley streets, Boston, Mass. Three dead bodies have been taken out, and others received injuries which will probably result fatally. It is feared that there may be more victims among the debris. Loss $160,000. A later and more careful investigation places the fatalities at five, and one probably fatally injured, and two boys missing.

A dispatch from Providence, R. I., says: The fifth amendment to the constitution of Rhode Island, the prohibitory amendment, was on Thursday repealed by a vote of 5,469 more than three fifths of the total vote necessary to carry the amendment. The vote will be officially counted on or before July 15th, and will be announced by proclamation on or before July 10th. The election was quiet, and the result created no excitement in the city streets that night. At midnight a salute of fifty guns was fired in consequence of the repeal.

CALLS HIMSELF CHRIST.

A NEGRO IN GEORGIA CREATES MUCH EXCITEMENT AMONG HIS RACE.

For a month, a man calling himself Jesus Christ has been going about through Liberty county, Ga., raving in an insane way which he called preaching. The negroes have come to believe in him, and have accepted his words as inspired teachings. "Give up everything and follow me," he commanded. "Let your crops go. Turn your cattle into the patches. The Lord will provide for you." And, obeying him, hundreds of negroes have quit work. Their little crops have grown up with weeds. The planters have been deserted by their laborers, who absolutely refuse to work. Turpentine manufacturers and the sawmill men have difficulty in getting help enough to continue operations. The colored population has been completely demoralized for three weeks. To such an extent had the craze spread that the intelligent colored people and the whites joined in discussing some plan to put a stop to it. So Thursday a warrant was issued for the man's arrest. He calls himself Jesus Christ, declaring that he descended from heaven in a cloud. In the warrant the name Campbell was applied to him. The new prophet told his people not to offer any resistance. They feared that he would be crucified, but he told them that he would not be put to death again. When the officers went to arrest him no resistance was offered, but a large crowd soon joined the favored disciples, who are almost constantly about him. They were ready to tear the officers to pieces, but at the Lord's request suffered him to be taken quietly away. The constable drove to Flemington, where Justice Fleming resides. Friday he was tried. There is no telegraph office near Flemington, and the result of the trial could not yet be learned. He shows scars in his hands which he says were made by the nails when he was crucified on Calvary. His hair and beard are long and shaggy, although he evidently endeavors to trim his beard as the Savior's is represented in some old pictures. The negroes fall down and worship him, and kiss his hands and feet and anoint him. He dresses shabbily sometimes, and at all times poorly. He refuses money publicly, but is said to have money. Campbell came from the West, it is believed. At his bidding women have left their husbands and men their families to follow him about. His familiarity with the scriptures is exceptional. He has told the people that he will go back to Heaven in a chariot of fire at an early date.

A DOUBLE CYCLONE.

TWO PEOPLE KILLED IN MISSOURI AND OTHERS FATALLY INJURED.

A dispatch from Albany, Mo., says: At 2.30 p. m. Thursday, our vicinity was visited by two cyclones, or one in two prongs. It struck the frame residence of H. P. Williams, three miles east of this city, and completely demolished it. Williams' nine year son and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Crispin, were instantly killed. Mrs. Williams was fatally injured and three children were badly hurt. The cyclone wiped out the little village of Lonestar, destroying the store-house and goods of A. O. Townsend, the Baptist Church, school house and many residences. Townsend, the postmaster, is thought to be fatally injured, as is also Mrs. George Stineman. Many other farm houses and outbuildings were destroyed.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

A CONDENSED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

Frank Smith, of Smith Station, Ga., was struck by lightning Tuesday while standing in his store door and instantly killed. He leaves a wife and several children.

Adjutant-General McIntosh Kell has issued a call for a convention of the military of Georgia. The meeting will take place at the capitol in Atlanta on Monday, the 15th of July.

The postoffices at Patterson and Homerville, Ga., have been burglarized, but we have not learned full particulars. This is evidently the work of the same party who burglarized the postoffice at Waycross.

During the thunder storm of Wednesday, a house near the Baldwin Fertilizer Works, of Beaufort, S. C., was struck by lightning, and a colored boy, a cow, a hog and some chickens were killed. Several men were in the house at the time, but were only shocked.

Mrs. Ann M. Pierce, wife of the late Bishop George F. Pierce, died at "Sunshine," near Sparta, Ga., on Wednesday, at the age of 78. She was a notable landmark of Methodism, a truly grand exemplar of the religion she professed, and was universally esteemed.

The result of the local option election in Harrisonburg, Va., shows forty-six majority for license. The contest was very exciting and a large vote was polled. Two years ago the district voted dry by a majority of 291. Licensed saloons will be opened in a short time.

Three negroes and one white man made their escape from the jail at Irwinton, Ga., Tuesday. It will be remembered that they made an effort about three weeks ago, but the noise was heard and the attempt failed. By some means they tore the iron bars out of the window in the back of the jail, and as the back of the jail is partly concealed by a patch of corn, the fugitives easily effected their escape.

The supreme court has just decided that the bonds issued to erect a twelve thousand dollar graded school building in Spartanburg, S. C., are valid. This is a fortunate ending to a warm local contest. The work of construction will proceed immediately. The building was never more needed, for eight hundred pupils have been in attendance during the recent year, and the old buildings are uncomfortably crowded.

It is reported that Charles R. McLeod, who lives in Wilcox county, Ga., just across the Pulaski line, killed two negroes Friday. McLeod and a negro tenant had a difficulty. They had grappled and were struggling, when the negro's wife ran up behind and dealt McLeod a fearful blow with an ax back of his head. He was stunned, but recovering himself, saw that she was about to strike again. He drew a pistol and shot her, and then shot her husband.

The safe in the railroad office at Buena Vista, Ga., was blown open Monday night, evidently by professional safe blowers. They effected an entrance into the office by prying the door open, then boring a hole through the top of the safe and inserting the powder. The force of the explosion tore the bolts loose without injuring the lock in the least. The burglars took nothing but the cash. Of this they got about $60. The Central Railroad loses $20, and the Southern Express Company $15, and Mr. E. A. Jackson, the agent, loses $25. No clew whatever to the perpetrators.

S. Lieberman, a barber, who went to Chattanooga, Tenn., about two months ago from Cincinnati, suicided Tuesday morning at the Lookout Mountain Point hotel, taking a deadly dose of morphine and chloroform, mixed. Lieberman made all preparation for his rash act. He went over town and paid up all his accounts; left his watch, money and several diamonds he wore with his wife, telling her he was going on a brief visit and was afraid he would lose them. He went to the Point hotel, where he registered for the night, and in the morning was found dead in his bed. No cause is assigned for his act, except that his business was not good. There are rumors afloat that his domestic relations were not of the most pleasant nature. His wife is a beautiful woman, and they have been boarding at Voigt's Palace hotel.

NOT YELLOW FEVER.

A dispatch from New York says: Surgeon [illegible], of the steamer Colon, was discharged at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning from Swinburne Island hospital. He is the supposed yellow fever patient over whom the recent excitement was raised.

DAWSON'S MURDER.

M'DOW, ON THE STAND, EXPLAINS HOW HE KILLED HIM, AND WHY.

The horrible story of the murder of Captain Dawson, in Charleston, S. C., was told on the stand Wednesday by the only living eye-witness of the tragedy—T. B. McDow, his slayer. "I was sitting in my sitting room; heard the office gong ring; went down stairs and opened the office door; Dawson asked if this was Dr. McDow; I replied yes, and invited him in, closing the door; Dawson said, 'Dr. McDow, I have just been informed that you have been guilty of ungentlemanly conduct to one of my servants.' I replied, 'It is untrue.' Dawson said, 'I give you to understand that I am responsible for that girl, and you must not speak to her again.' I replied I would speak to her as often as I desired until I was convinced that he had authority to prevent me. 'Then,' said Dawson, 'If you do I will publish your conduct in the papers.' 'And if you do,' I replied, 'you infernal scoundrel, I'll hold you personally responsible. Get out of my office.' At that time Dawson struck my hat off with his cane and hit me with his hand, knocking me down to the lounge. The two blows were almost simultaneous. He followed me up and struck me again. I drew my pistol and, raising, fired at him. I had my pistol in my hip pocket. I habitually carry a pistol. Have done so every since I entered the practice of my profession." He fired the shot, he said, because he didn't know but the next blow would hurt him seriously. Immediately after he shot him Dawson turned and began to stagger, syaing, in broken language and almost inaudible: "You have killed me." Witness replied: "You tried to take my life; now I've taken yours." Dawson, he said, fell with the back of his head to the ground. "I stood for a moment; then stooped down and felt his pulse. Next I dragged him by the feet so as to get his body in a recumbent position and thought of calling for medical assistance; but saw death approaching and wondered if I could do anything to revive him. He was dead, however." He professed to have a most indistinct recollection of what took place after the shooting. He remembers seeing a policeman on the corner when he rang the gong. The body was at that time in the closet. He had removed it. He had no difficulty in getting the body into the closet. He broke the nails off and tore open the door. As soon as life had left the body he closed the windows of his office and taking the dead man's hat and cane threw them in the privy, got a spade and returned to the office, picked the body up under the arms and dragged it out of the office through the hallway to the closet and put it in the grave. There were no bruises on the dead man's face when he put it in the hole. Then he tried to take the body out again, but it was too heavy. Then he lay down in his sitting-room to rest awhile; went out and brought the candles, and returning succeeded in getting the body out. He raised the body up, dragged it back, brushed the dust from his clothes, wiped the blood from the face of the corpse and laid it out. Then he went and fished the cane out of the vault, washed it off and put it on the sofa. He hunted for the hat, but couldn't find it. When he had arranged everything he went out to surrender himself. He gave as a reason for removing the body from its grave, that he wanted the benefit of the giving up of the corpse at the same time.

THE OTTAWA.

THE WRECKED NORWEGIAN BARK OTTAWA FOUND BY A PHILADELPHIA TUG.

Shortly before midnight Saturday, the tug "Argus," of Philadelphia, having in tow the wrecked Norwegian bark, Ottawa, arrived at Lewis wharf, Boston. The Ottawa was abandoned at sea about May 15th, while on passage from Pensacola to Buenos Ayres, laden with hard pine lumber. Her crew were received and taken to London. The Argus made an unsuccessful cruise in search of the bark about three weeks ago. She left Boston on a second cruise June 14th, and found the bark on the 19th. The wreck presents a hard looking sight and gives evidence of battling with the elements for some time. Every available spar, with the exception of the foot fore lower mast and mizzen mast, are gone. The fore yard is hanging in the slings, looking as if it might fall at any moment. On it the foresail hangs in ribbons, and that is the only piece of canvas left, except the mizzen gaff topsail, which is furled on the mast. Her cabin is completely gutted, and a lot of boards are piled up in the center of the cabin floor. A portion of the deckload of hard pine lumber remains on deck. The bulwarks are completely washed away, and a portion of the stanchions are broken off. Boats, spars, blocks, a vast amount of ropes, rigging, etc., are strewn about the decks.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

APPOINTMENTS, DECISIONS, AND OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The President on Wednesday appointed William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Germany.

The President on Wednesday appointed the following postmasters: William E. Clarke, at Newberne, N. C., vice Mathias Manly, removed; O. D. Foster, at Fredericksburg, Va., vice Frank T. Forbes, removed.

The pension office on Tuesday made requisitions upon the treasury department for $15,000,000 out of the appropriation to be available July 1st. This amount will be placed to the credit of pension agents on the first or second of the coming month. There are said to be between 8,000 and 10,000 first payment vouchers awaiting the depositing of this money.

An evidence of the fact that the administration will make a number of changes the beginning of the present fiscal year, has been furnished. Attorney General Miller called for the resignation of all but one of the attorneys who represent the government before the court of claims. These resignations are to take effect on the 1st of July next. Among those who will be cut off is ex-Representative Wilson, of West Verginia. Atkins, who was once collector of customs at Savannah, is an applicant for one of the places which will be vacant.

Ex-Senator Bruce and Fourth Auditor Lynch headed a delegation of colored Republicans who waited on the President Wednesday afternoon, and presented an address adopted at the Jackson, Miss., conference, on June 18th, in regard to the political situation in the South, and expressing the utmost confidence in the President's policy towards the colored people in that region. The President thanked them for their confidence, and said that they could rest assured that he would do the best he could towards all classes. He commended the conservative stand taken by them, and said they would have his assistance in every endeavor to improve their political status.

Twenty-seven postmasters were appointed by the President on Tuesday, among them the following: Joseph H. Manly, at Augusta, Me., vice L. B. Fowler, removed; A. W. Shaffer, Raleigh, N. C., vice Samuel A. Ashe, removed; Hansford Anderson, at West Point, Va., the office having become presidential; Louis DeLaRue, at Ashland, Va., the office having become presidential; William Worth Logan, at Woodstock, Va., vice J. H. Rodeffer, commission expired; William H. Gibbs, at Jackson, Miss., vice Wert Adams, deceased; Byron Lemly not having been confirmed by the Senate, James E. Everett, at Yazoo City, Miss., vice Claiborne Bowman, commission expired.

The President on Friday appointed A. T. Wimberly collector of internal revenue for the district of Louisiana. To be United States attorney, William E. Craig, of Virginia, for the western district of Virginia. To be United States marshal, George I. Cunningham, of South Carolina, for the district of South Carolina. Frank Mason, of Ohio, has been appointed consul general at Frankfort; Charles B. Trail, of Maryland, consul at Marseilles, and H. G. Knowles, of Delaware, consul at Bordeaux. The following consular appointments were made later: Oliver H. Simons, of Colorado, consul to Hong Kong; Wm. Monaghan, of Ohio, consul to Chatham, Ontario; Wm. T. Rice, of Massachusetts, consul to Leghorn; Lyell T. Adams, of New York, consul to Horgen, Switzerland; Henry W. Diederick, of Indiana, consul to Nuremberg, and Roland J. Hemmick, of Pennsylvania, consul to Geneva, Switzerland.

LITTLE ENGINEERS.

PHILADELPHIA BOYS KILLED BY THE EXPLOSION OF A HOME-MADE BOILER.

Harry and William Jesser, aged 18 and 17 years, were killed Saturday, and are victims of their mechanical precociousness. They were inventive lads, and employed much of their time running a small engine. They had been generating steam in an old range boiler and conveying it to the engine by means of a gas pipe. They conceived the idea of attaching the engine to the family ice-cream freezer, and thereby doing away with hand turning. They were getting a fire for this purpose Saturday in a small brick furnace under the boiler, when a terrific explosion took place, killing both boys, and injuring Mrs. Flora Kriess and [illegible]

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

MANY LIVES LOST BY A RAILROAD COLLISION IN PENNSYLVANIA.

A triple collision of freight trains occurred near Latrobe, Pa., forty miles east of Pittsburg, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, about 9.30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Thirty cars were wrecked and seven persons killed, four of them unknown. A freight train, west bound, left Latrobe and had just reached a bridge about fifty yards west, when it collided with an extra freight train coming in an opposite direction. Another east bound freight was standing on a side track on the bridge, and the wrecked trains crashed against it, causing one locomotive and a number of cars to go over the embankment into the creek, a distance of fifty feet. Engineer Caldwell and his fireman were supposed to have been killed instantly. Their bodies are still in the creek. Brakeman Miller was terribly crushed. The bodies of four tramps were taken from the wreck. There was nothing about their clothes to identify them. They were stealing a ride and were coming west. The cause of the accident has not yet been learned. A dispatch from Greenburg, ten miles from Latrobe, states that a party of about twenty-five workmen from Johnstown were stealing their way home on a freight train when the accident occurred. The wreck caught fire from lime and the men were cremated. The story is not credited, and Pennsylvania railroad officials know nothing about it. Two men injured in the accident were carried to Pittsburg. One of them, named Flannagon, says that he is a Johnstown laborer, returning to Pittsburg, and that twelve persons were on the car with him when the accident occurred. He knows nothing of their fate. The debris of the wreck was being rapidly cleared away, and up to 8 o'clock Wednesday night ten bodies had been recovered. Thirty-one cars went down over the bridge, and are piled upon each other in the water. A carload of lime in the center of the train was the last to go down, and it was scattered over a pile of shattered cars. Then the debris took fire. It is probable that thirty people were killed in the wreck. The water in the creek at the point where the accident occurred, is about twelve feet deep, and it is expected ten or twelve bodies are in the bottom of the creek.

A TRAGEDY.

GOV. NORWOOD, OF BIRMINGHAM, ALA., AND TWO ITALIANS, KILLED.

Gov. Norwood, of Birmingham, Ala., contractor on the Cumberland Valley extension, was murdered Saturday at his camp near Cumberland Gap, by an Italian, known as Tony Cravasso. Cravasso and his brother were bakers at the south end of Cumberland Gap, and had sold bread to some of Norwood's men, and had requested him to hold the men's pay till they could collect their bills. Norwood told them he could not withhold men's pay except on garnishee, and directed the Italians to a magistrate. Saturday they called on Norwood and asked if he had their money. He told them he did not have any money for them, and walked out of the commissary store and entered a cabin adjoining. Just as he stepped in the door, Tony, who had followed him, shot him in the back, killing him almost instantly. The Italians escaped to the woods, but they were captured Saturday night in Tennessee. They were brought back to Kentucky Sunday, and were being conducted to the Pineville jail, when Judge Lynch took them in charge and gave them a trial, resulting in the hanging of the older Cravasso, and the sending of the brother to jail. The officers started for Pineville with the younger Cravasso, and as they were traveling along the road, a Winchester rifle cracked on the mountain side, and the prisoner fell in the road a corpse.

MURDER CONFESSED.

AN OLD WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE KILLED HER HUSBAND.

On November 12, 1888, Richard O. Allen, an aged farmer living near Washington, Ind., was found tied to a tree near his house with his throat cut from ear to ear. It was thought to be a case of suicide, and no inquiry was made. A few days ago, while laboring under religious excitement, Mrs. Charlotte Allen, the seventy-year-old widow of the dead man, confessed to two colored servants that she committed the crime. She said she and her husband had trouble as to who was the rightful owner of the farm, and in order to settle the dispute she gave her husband morphine in his tea. Allen fell asleep in the garden. She then procured a table knife and rope, and tied the rope around his body, and, making several slashes at his throat, half severed his head from his body. She then dragged the body to a tree and tied it there.

FARMING HINTS,

GARNERED FROM SOUTHERN ALLIANCE SOURCES.

Rose culture is on a boom in the vicinity of Atlanta, Ga.

Griffin, Ga., expects to ship ten thousand bushels of peaches this season.

The Surry county, Va., Alliance are moving the matter of organizing the peanut growers.

The Alliance of Oconee county, S. C., has saved $4,000 in the reduction on the price of fertilizers.

The Summer session of the State Agricultural Society of Georgia will be held in Cedartown, August 11th.

The State Farmers' Alliance of Georgia will meet in Macon on the 20th of August. It will be an important meeting.

The John H. Dent Alliance of Floyd county, Ga., have their scalping knives sharpened for light-weight millers and sellers of corn meal.

The Horticultural Society of Georgia will meet in Griffin, July 31st and August 1st and 2d. President P. J. Berckmans is preparing an attractive programme.

Dr. A. F. Pharr, of Decatur, is one of the most successful grape growers in the state. Major G. A. Ramspeck, of the same town, has a vineyard of twenty acres that yields enormously.

The Atlanta Horticultural Society is investigating the matter of peach yellows in Georgia. This society meets every Saturday in the quarters of the Department of Agriculture in the new capitol.

Hon. W. J. Northen, one of the contributing editors of the Southern Cultivator, is of the opinion that the farmers will stick on cotton bagging and says so in the July number of the Southern Cultivator.

The Interstate Farmers' Association, organized in Atlanta in August, 1887, will meet in Montgomery, Alabama, on August 20th, of this year. Hon. L. L. Polk, of North Carolina, is president of the association. The attendance will be large.

The county Alliance met at Cuthbert, Ga., and after consultation purchased the Rawles & Perry guano house, which they will convert into an Alliance warehouse for the handling of the coming cotton crop. The price paid was seven hundred dollars.

Edgewood (Ga.) Alliance is a plucky organization. They are arranging plans for a co-operative cotton seed oil mill, an extensive cannery, and a grand county exposition in DeKalb county of the work of Alliance men. Major W. B. Henderson is the live president.

The late Road Congress in Georgia is attracting attention. Several Southern states are moving in the matter of holding similar meetings. It is said that one county in Georgia has subscribed for one thousand copies of the proceedings of the Georgia Road Congress.

THE INTER-STATE FARMERS' ASSOCIATION.

This body was organized at Atlanta, Ga., in August, 1887, and is composed of representatives from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. These representatives (five or more from each congressional district) are appointed by the vice presidents of the states respectively. The vice presidents are: R. F. Kolb, Montgomery, Ala.; L. P. Featherston, Forest City, Ark.; J. T. Pettersen, Pensacola, Fla.; John P. Fort, Mount Airy, Ga.; John Dymond, Bellair, La.; J. T. Henry, Greenwood, Miss.; Elias Carr, Old Sparta, N. C.; E. R. McIver, Palmetto, S. C.; L. D. Yarrell, Bellfield, Va.; B. M. Hord, Nashville, Tenn.; G. B. Pickett, Decatur, Texas. The association will meet in the city of Montgomery, Ala., on the 20th of August next. Reduced rates, on all lines of railway, will be secured, as also at the hotels and boarding houses of that city, and will be furnished to delegates in due time by the secretary. Composed of leading practical agriculturists of the south, this body will represent the enterprise and progressive thought, which new conditions and surroundings have evolved, and which must solve the great economic questions now confronting us. Let every state be fully and strongly represented. Important questions, affecting the material advancement and industrial development of the south, and especially the promotion of her great agricultural interests, will be considered.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson [illegible], of Warren county, Ga., were born in [illegible]. They married when each was 18 years old, and have reared a large family of children.

The W. C. T. U. of [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JULY 4, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - - 75
One copy four " - - - - 50

Governor Seay has appointed Mr. J. D. Barron, of Clay county, to succeed the late Col. Langdon as secretary of State.

It is said that Dr. Atticus G. Haygood, an able Methodist divine, will establish, at Sheffield, Ala., a magnificent industrial institution to be called the "Southern University for Girls." Its location will be a beautiful one on the bluff overlooking the Tennessee river. This is a grand scheme which we earnestly hope will succeed.

Two yankee cranks, Sullivan and Kilrain, propose to come south this week and give an exhibition prize fighting at a station on the N. O. and Northeastern railroad in the State of Louisiana. The advanced civilization of the northern and eastern States drives them to the South and it will be a reflection upon the civilization and good name of any Southern State that permits such an exhibition on its borders.

During the work of removing the rubbish from the Methodist Episcopal church of Johnstown a man and his wife were found clasped so tightly in each others arms that it was found necessary to bury them together. Just as the flood struck the city a wedding was going on, and the principals were drowned just as the ceremony was completed. The minister escaped together with nearly all the witnesses.

Busy minds are contented minds, idle minds are discontented minds and workers of mischief. There is an awful warning in the 1,500,000 men, who are tramping over this country begging for bread. Will the statesmen of the country rise equal to the occasion and set them at work, or will they sleep on in fancied security till evils which once were sufferable are sufferable no more, and the most disastrous of all revolutions, a social revolution, bursts upon the country. Men who are fighting for bread have no mercy.—National Free Press, Marrion, Iowa.

A Washington special in yesterday's New Orleans Picayune says:

It is the impression among Alabamians that the appointment of Dr. R. A. Mosely as internal revenue collector for Alabama will be made very soon, at the next treasury day, which is Wednesday.

It is also thought that L. J. Bryan, the colored applicant, will beat Gen. J. E. Slaughter and succeed Gen. W. W. Allen at an early date, as marshal of southern Alabama.

For the Information of Alabamians who contemplate going to Oklahoma, we copy from the Washington Post, a list which it has prepared with much care and circumspection of the agricultural implements which the exigencies of soil, climate and society there suggests as most to be desired. The list is as follows:

Money enough to take you there.
One pistol.
Some whiskey.
Another pistol.
Some more whiskey.
A long box.
Money enough to bring you back in the box.

Alabama public opinion has no tolerance for lotteries, or anything connected with them. The Mobile courts this week are dealing with the evil and have decided not to place the lowest fines, which operate as a license practically, but to pile on burdensome sums as a punishment. Montgomery juries are not likely to be less firm than Mobile's.—Advertiser.

The above reminds us of the petition circulated in Clanton against blind tigers and public drunkenness. The petition we learn was never used. If our Judge and juries are like those in Mobile we are inclined to agree that such a petition would be unnecessary. The remedy is rather extreme, but the number of signatures on the petition indicated that many thought the exigencies of the time and place demanded such a remedy. We believe in charity and think that the courts and juries will apply extreme penalties only where public sentiment and prevalence of crime demand them.

The Press Association.

Last Thursday the State Press Association met in annual convention at Huntsville. It was our pleasure to be one of the assemblage to participate in the festivities and partake of the overflowing hospitality of the people of the famous and delightful "Spring City."

In Huntsville we could never be lonely as we met some twenty old school fellows who were with us at the University in Tuskaloosa, and whose prosperity we were more than pleased to note. They are now prominent and worthy citizens of which their home city should be proud.

This was our first visit to Huntsville and as it is a city of much historical interest to Alabamians, we will endeavor to give our readers the impressions of our trip. When the city was laid off Alabama was a territory of but three or four counties, and Madison county, of which Huntsville is the capital, was larger in territory than the two States of Massachusetts and Connecticutt combined, the southern boundary of the county reaching to within five or six miles of Wetumpka. It was predicted at the time that the city would become a rival of Louisville and other important towns of the western territory as a trade centre. The wealth and resources of the tributary country would justify such a prediction. But there were other cities as Chattanooga, Nashville and Birmingham to spring up and claim tribute from this territory, and the superb efforts of these rivals have more or less interfered with the progress of the city at the foot of Monte Sano. In these latter days towns, like individuals, must hustle and advertise to gain prosperity and trade. There is one feature, however, in which none of the three cities mentioned has yet surpassed Huntsville, that is in building a fine hotel. "The Huntsville" is equal in equipment to the Kimball in Atlanta, which latter is reputed to be the finest hostelry in the South. "The Huntsville" is a place where the visitor wants to remain, in the full assurance that kind attentions will always be extended and the provisions always hold out. True, we had to get acquainted with its plan, and this in itself was interesting. To explain, we remember that on the first day at dinner the menu card, which was very handsome to look upon, but being printed partly in French, was not easily understood by those members of the association who unluckily had not been raised in France. And the majority of us, like most individuals in the rush and hurry of travel, seemed to have forgotten all we ever learned of French. The waiters looked as much like natives of Africa as of Gaul, and seemed to be as much "in the dark" as anybody; yet we returned the card to one at our elbow and requested him to bring us some dinner, promising a quarter if he would select a good one himself. We wanted some just to look at, having but a very uncertain appetite for anything that the card set forth, or did not set forth. He replied in very good "nigger English" and then brought in a dinner which, on account of its excellence, was indescribable in plain English, and that fully explained the demand made upon the language of Paris and Marseilles, and our appetite was again on hand. Afterwards we had no trouble in getting our share of the peculiarly named but rather appetizing rations.

On Friday an excursion was made to Monte Sano, a mountain five miles north of Huntsville, and which has of recent years become a noted summer resort. The mountain is 1700 feet in altitude, and upon its summit is situated one of the best arranged and most picturesque of hotels. We reached the top of the mountain from Huntsville by a railway. The hotel and railway company did the handsome thing by the quill drivers, having arranged for a ball and reception, and we had just as much enjoyment in looking on at the capers of the Birmingham News man and some few others of the fraternity as we would have had at any other wonderful exhibition. If the gang ever gets on the road to the infernal regions, Bro. Rhodes will be on hand to lead with a red hot tongue and a flaming torch. This is not said in opposition to dancing, but to talking. On Monte Sano the thin-skinned brother was more than once seen shivering, and had to sleep under six blankets in June for comfort. From the roof of the hotel some one pointed out the smoke from the Decatur furnace twenty-five miles to the west. We were not prepared to bet against anything we heard at that distance above the murmuring tide, and seeing an immense open space to the south of the smoke which appeared to be a large body of water, we innocently suggested that perhaps that was the Gulf of Mexico, and then nobody would assist us in locating Montgomery between the two points. The scenery from Monte Sano surpasses in variety and beauty that from Lookout Mountain, and it is the resort for all who don't mind the cold in summer.

On Saturday the weird and beautiful Shelta Caverns two miles from the city were visited, and a barbecue at a level of one hundred feet below the surface was a very attractive feature. These caverns are remarkable for many peculiarities not possessed by the mammoth cave of Kentucky, and afford a rare study of nature's wonders.

While in the city we visited the office of the Huntsville Democrat in company with a coterie of members. The Democrat is one of the oldest papers in Ala., and is the only paper conducted entirely by young ladies. They have demonstrated that the field of journalism is one in which the gentler sex can meet with much success.

NEWS ITEMS.

Mr. Thos. H. Clark, of Montgomery, is preparing to write a school history of Alabama. Mr. Clark is well fitted for such a task, and the work can be relied upon to fill its mission.

Gen. Boulanger is coming to the United States. He wearies of his stay in Albion.

The latest is that Cronin is not dead, but will show up in England in a few days.

Governor Nichols, of Louisiana, has issued his proclamation, calling upon the State officers to stop the Sullivan-Kilrain fight.

At Streator, Ill., hundreds of men, women and children are suffering for food. The distress has been caused by the shutting up of the mines, because the miners opposed and resisted a reduction of wages.

It is said that Tulase lake in California which was formerly 20 by 30 miles in extent is now only 15 by 20.

Ellis, a shrewd Texas negro, is negotiating with the Mexican government in regard to obtaining land for settlers. He proposes to lead about 10,000 negroes from the Lone Star State to the Land of the Montezumas.

The Alabama Supreme Court has decided that a county cannot issue bonds to assist in building a railroad bridge. This decision is a serious blow to the building of the Alabama Midland Railroad from Montgomery to Tuskaloosa, as the road was depending upon the counties of Montgomery and Autauga to assist in building a bridge across the Alabama river.

A grand meteoric display occurred in Maryland last week. Superstitious negroes thinking that judgment day had come, fell on their knees and began to pray quite earnestly.

Miss Gracie Wade, a New York actress, has just brought suit against the Duke Manufacturing Company, to recover $40,000 damages on account of immodest pictures of herself, printed and circulated by said company.

Lost Women.

Ladies has it ever ocurred to you what a commentary upon our civilization are these lost women. A child strays from the home enclosure and the whole community is on the alert to find the wanderer and restore it to the mother's arm. What rejoicing when it is found, what tearful sympathy, what heartiness of congratulation! There is no harsh comment upon poor, tired feet, be they ever so miry, no reprimand for the soiled and torn garments, no lack of kisses for the tear-stained face. But let the child be grown to womanhood, let her be led away from the enclosure of morality by the voice of affection, or driven from it by the scourge of want—what happens? Do christian men and women go in quest of her? Do they provide all possible help for her return, or, if she returns of her own notion, do they receive her with such kindness and delicacy as secures her from wandering again! Far from it! At the first step she is denounced as lost—lost, echo friends and relatives—we disown you: don't ever come near us to disgrace us. Lost, says society indifferently. How bad these girls are! And lost, irretrievably lost, is the prompt verdict, bolting every door between her and all respectability. Ah! will not these lost ones be required at our hands in the world hereafter? —Selected.

The street car drivers of Montgomery are on a strike.

Add another one to the many industries of Alabama. Capt. H. H. Cribbs, of Tuscaloosa, has built a furnace and is preparing to manufacture stoneware of various kinds. The clay beds he owns are pronounced by practical potters to be equal to any in the country.

A Tough World for Women.

Binghampton Republican: Flossie is 6 years old. "Mama," she asked one day, "If I get married will I have to have a husband like pa?"

"Yes," replied the mother, with an amused smile.

"And if I don't get married will I have to be a maid like Aunt Kate?"

"Yes."

"Mama."—after a pause—"it's a tough world for us women, ain't it?"

No matter what may be the ills you bear from indigestion, a dose of Ayer's Cathartic Pills will ease you without question. Just try them once and be assured; they have much worse dyspeptics cured. You'll find them nice and amply worth the price.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Friendship diminishes where there is too much happiness on either side and too much misery on the other.

Money to Loan.

Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address
R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,
Jun27 Clanton, Ala.

Notice.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 4th, 1889.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Redding E. Jones, Jr., against General J. Bryant, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 14759, dated October 30th, 1883, upon the e ½ of s e ¼ and s w ¼ of s e ¼ section 36, township 22 north, range 15 east, in Chilton county, Ala., with a view to the cancellation of said entry, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at Clanton, Ala., before Wm. H. Foshee, Commissioner, who takes testimony on the 15th day of July, 1889, and at this office on the 29th of July, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

J. G. HARRIS, Register.
Jun13 WM. C. JORDAN, Receiver.

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County, In the Probate Court of said county.

To the heirs at law and legatees of the estate of M. C. McRee, deceased: Take notice that on the 21st day of May, 1889, A. J. McRee, as administratrix of the said estate filed in said court her petition in writing and under oath, praying for an order of the said court, to sell all the real estate of said estate, described in said petition, upon the ground that a sale of the same is necessary for the payment of the debts of said estate; and take notice further that the said court has appointed Monday, July 29th, 1889, a day for hearing said petition, at which time you can appear in said court and contest said application if you choose so to do.

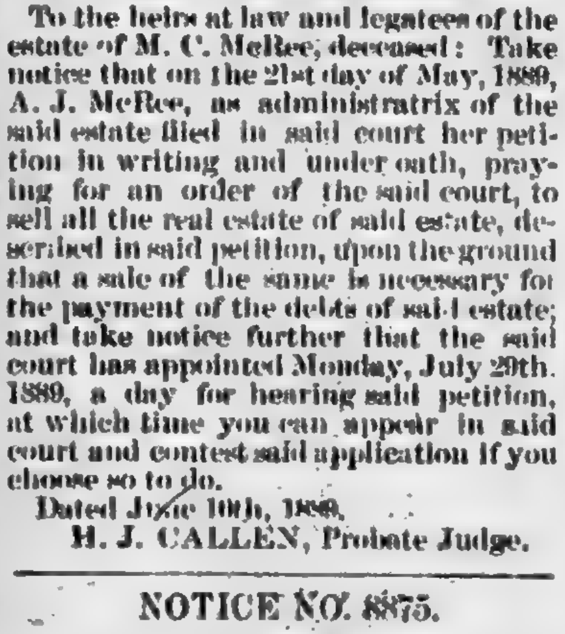
Dated June 10th, 1889.
H. J. CALLEN, Probate Judge.

NOTICE NO. 8875.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 3d, 1889, viz: Willis Young, homestead application 15629 for the s w ¼ of s w ¼ section 10 township 21 north range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Anderson Peoples, James Rasberry, Horace McGee, and Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

Jun27o. J. G. HARRIS, Register.



SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue-Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS
—AND TO—
Cleanse the System Effectually,
—SO THAT—
PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
San Francisco, Cal.
Louisville, Ky. New York, N. Y.
jul19 y

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG.
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N. C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK.
THE ONLY ★
ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
★ INK
"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.
CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.
RETAIL PRICE, 25c.
—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.
THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED [illegible]
ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign, giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle—the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,
R. L. [illegible],
Business Manager.

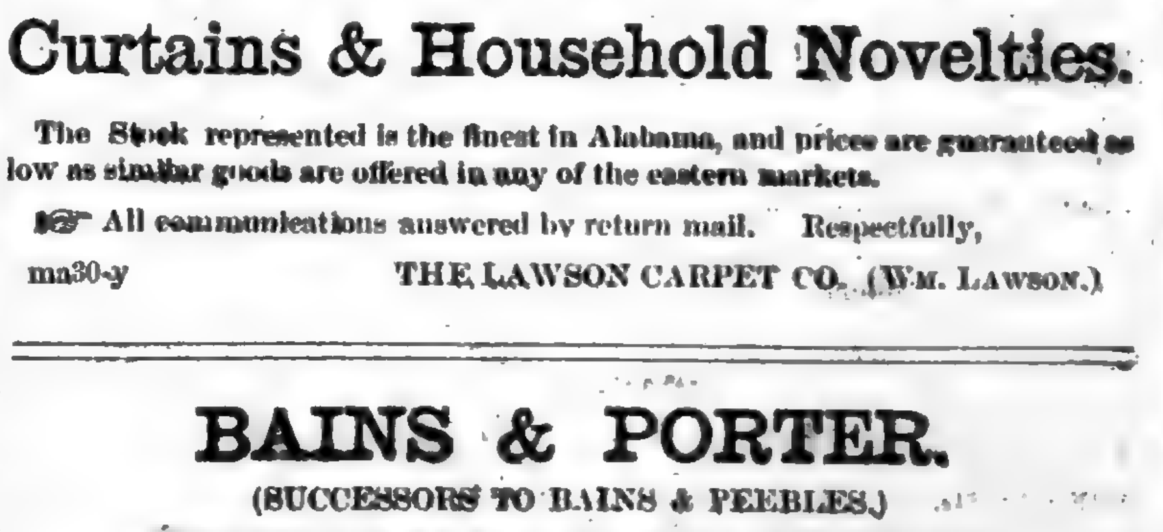
The Lawson Carpet Co.
Birmingham, Ala.
Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of
Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,
Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,
ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜
P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

Marion Military Institute.



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and faculty live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family watch care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish practical and thorough training. Terms moderate.
J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama.

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE.)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.
No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.
H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.
☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
—Manufacturer of all kinds of—
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, Alabama.
nov28-tf

O TO BLANK BROS, LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

HILTON VIEW.

LANTON, ALA., JULY 4, 1889.

Tue View is published every Thur- y morning, and will endeavor to cov- the field of reputable country journ- ism. It will show no quarter to the eitful, the immoral or the ungodly. will always be good natured, Al- ugh it can bite if necessary.

hose answering advertisements will er a favor by mentioning this paper.

cross mark (X) after your name ans that your subscription is due and t we would be glad to have you rehancery—First Thursday after the ond Monday in March and September d continue three days.

COURT CALENDAR.

rcuit—Third Monday after the Monday in February and on the Monday after the fourth Monday July, and continue two weeks each ommissioners'—Regular term sec Monday in February and August, first Monday in April and Novem- Special term second Monday in unty—First Monday in each month.

HEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. ains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
9 Accommodation	7:06 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
4 Express	7:55 p. m.
10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

ing your job printing to this e Masons gave a splendid r here last Saturday.

s Lila Haney, of Montgomery, siting Mrs. DeJarnette's fam-ea Cankey and Lucile Butler, rida are the guests of Mrs.

.Gov. Cobb delivered a speech h was enjoyed by a large d on Saturday.

and Mrs. A. F. Lewis, for- y of this place, visited their old ds last week.

W. L. Sampey has her er, Mrs. Pinkard and children, her at present.

Claude Boykin, of Birming- was down on a visit to rela- the past week.

A. J. Gullahorn, of Rock- Texas, is visiting his pa- in Clanton.

Myrtile Alvis, of Brierfield, in brightening our city with resence. She is visiting rel ew well and a fine wind mill up the water up are the la- provements at our county wind mill at the county jail work of Mr. J. L. Gartman flects credit on him as an nt workman.

John Harrell, Mrs. McCants iss Lucy Harrell, of Bir- um, are visiting Dr. A. E. 's family.

rec. Bowden at Clanton is r a book, the name of it Young Folks Bible. It is book and there ought to in every family.

n Day has gone into busi- Calera. Lucien is a deserv- d energetic young man wish for him all possible

J. Green, Grand Secreta- e Grand Lodge of Alabama & A. M., attended and d in the installation of of- Clanton on the 29th ult.

oung people had a "gay old t the dance given by the en of Clanton. A good isiting young ladies were Miss Rosa West, of Mont- was among the number.

he blood is cleansed of im- it is useless to attempt the any disease. Rheumatism, traceable to an acid in the been cured, in numerous he use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, eatment being of no avail.

's Catarrh Remedy.

Catarrh Remedy, a marvel Catarrh, Diptheria, Canker d Head-Ache. With each is an ingenious Nasal In- the more successful treat- hese complaints without ex- Price 50 cents. Sold by A. Clanton.

pecial Notice.

next few weeks I will Clothing, and Hats at ces to reduce my stock ing for the Fall trade. anything in these lines ce and buy it cheap. ill get them down to

W. L. SAMPEY.

The Verbena Lodge.

The officers of Verbena Lodge A. F. & A. M. installed at Clanton on last Saturday were: M. D. Pinson, W. M.; P. C. Dennis, J. W.; J. W. Moody, Treasurer; J. S. Pitts Sec'y; J. W. Dennis, S. D.; C. G. Carwile, J. D.; W. N. Jones, Tyler; J. L. Farr and E. G. Rollins, Stewards.

Saturday morning the telegrams announced the appointment of J. S. Edwards to be postmaster at Clanton. We had not heard of any vacancy and the appointment came so suddenly that we havn't got our breath yet. The appointee says the appointment was not expected by him. A petition asking for the recall of the appointment has been very generally signed and a graceful thing for Mr. Edwards to do would be to decline accepting honors and emoluments so unexpectedly forced upon him.

Entertainment by the Presbyterian Ladies

At the Academy next Friday night, July 5th. Music by the best local talent, aided by Miss West of Montgomery, and Miss Butler, of Huntsville.

After this entertainment the ladies will serve ices and cake. A new ice will be offered—"congealed matrimony." Admission 25c., children 15c.

Refreshments extra.

An exchange says that the little sentence "help one another" should be written on every heart and engraved upon every memory and practiced as a golden rule, not only in every household but throughout the world. By helping one another we not only remove thorns from the pathways but feel a sense of pleasure in our own bosoms. A helping hand or encouraging word is no less to us but a benefit to the needy recipient. Who has not needed encouragement and aid of a kind friend? How soothing when perplexed with some heavy burden to feel a gentle hand on your shoulder and hear a kind whisper in your ear saying "Don't be discouraged; I know your trouble and will help you." What hope is inspired? What strength is imparted? What gratitude is felt!

The Farmer.

The farmer works harder and gets less return for his labor than any other class, except when the labor is intelligently and properly directed. One of the most gratifying evidences of the progress and prosperity of the South is the fact of the great improvement in the mode and manner of our farming. The Southern Agriculturist very truly remarks:

"The farmers give their farms more hours of labor than any other class; they are the most economical class of people known; they make less profit off their farms than any other class. These facts were doubly impressed upon our mind in our recent trip in Southern Alabama. They used to read more and watch the movements of other professions, and change their course accordingly.

Bury the Croaker.

O, bury the croaker out in the woods in a hole in the ground, where the bumblebee bumbles, the woodpecker pecks. He is no good to the town of push,—too unpractical, selfish and dead,—but he wants the whole earth and all of its crust, and the stars that shine overhead. Then hustle him off to the bumblebee's roost and bury him deep in the ground; he's no use in this day, get him out of the way and make room for a man that is sound.—Cleburne County News.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

THE MIDLAND CAMP.

How Railroad Surveyors Make Merry in the Woods.

Pratville Progress:

They are here.

That is the railroad boys.

Their camps are pitched at the one mile post above here, in the picturesque pine grove in front of the residence of Mr. Frank Killet.

They are now progressing finely with the location, and will probably run into Montgomery some time next week.

The party is composed of J. W. Persons, locating engineer; F. W. Mehl, transitman; H. I. Persons, levelman; W. T. Staton, rodman; P. S. Hobdy, P. E. Allison and E. O. Knox, chainmen. A full corps of colored axmen, etc., accompany the party.

We made a very pleasant visit to the camps several days ago and spent quite a time chatting with the boys, some of whom are old acquaintances. To a spectator who happened to be with the engineers while in camp at this season of the year, when out door life is pleasant, it would seem the civil engineers have a "picnic." And at times they do have a jolly good time, but if you were to follow them day by day over hills through mud and water especially in the winter time you would think their vocation toughest of the tough.

However, on the day of our visit all were in and about camp drawing maps, cracking jokes, playing ball, making music, etc. Several fine dogs belonging to the party were frolicking around, "camp chickens" were feeding near by together with the mules and horses, hammocks hung up here and there between trees, all together making a natural rustic scene hardly surpassable.

The boys have a common chicken hen with them that has been a companion for several months. She now has a brood of pretty chickens just the size of partridges. Pointing them out as they were scratching near the camp one of the party said: "Do you see that hen and chickens? Well, the old hen has been with us a long time. She has been a good layer always laying in the same tent and on some of the beds. We sat her while at Ramer in Montgomery county in a little handle basket and brought her from that point on to Montgomery and Maplesville where we began this survey. We would lift her off the nest and give her water at branches, and after setting three weeks she hatched every egg. Did you ever hear of a hen that could beat her."

They also have a black game rooster "J. W. Woolfolk," or "Dick," that has never been whipped to their knowledge, but since they have had him he has whipped thirty-five roosters with naked feet and killed two out of the thirty-five.

One thing, though that attracted our attention mostly was the sweet music furnished by the "camp band." The performance of Prof. Mehl, an educated musician on the zither was especially good.

Success to the boys.

Mr. E. Slattery, of Delihi, La., says her son, 14 years of age, had a dreadful time with ulcers sores and blotches which followed chicken pox. After using many remedies without benefit, she gave him Swift's Specific which cured him sound and well

We have sold S. S. S. since the first day we commenced the drug business, and have heard some wonderful reports of its effects. Many use it with best results to malaria from the system and for blood poison, scrofula and such diseases it is without a rival.

COLDERWOOD & Co., MONROE, LA.

Mr. W. A. Tibb is a printer in the office of the Jackson, Miss., Clarion-Ledger. He says that three years ago he was a victim of bad blood, which deprived him of health and threatened serious consequences. He further says that he took S. S. S. and it cured him.

I have been subject to painful boils and carbuncles over my body during the spring season, and after much suffering and much useless doctoring I found a permanent cure in Swift's Specific It is the monarch of blood medicines.

E. J. WILLIS, Augusta, Ark.

It is said that over 1,000 farmers from all over the State will meet in Montgomery at the International Farmer's Association, which convenes there on the 20th of August next.

HOW'S THIS!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

WALDING, KINNAN, & MARVIN, Druggists, Toledo.

E. H. VAN HOESEN, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good, it will cost you nothing. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

O, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption Ask yourselves if you can afford, for the sake of saving 50 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. E. Bivings, Clanton.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

BEWARE! BE PRUDENT!

When the proprietors of a blood remedy tell you that iodide of potash is a poison simply because their opponents use it, their assertions are made to deceive, and your use of 100 bottles of inert stuff their object. Iodide of potash is as essential to a true blood remedy, as pure blood is essential to good health. No remedy has proven itself so safe, sure and QUICK an eradicator of mercurial, syphilitic, scrofulous, malarial or other poison, foreign to health, that gets into bone and blood, when all else fails as B. B. B. Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for illustrated "Book of Wonders," filled with convincing proof of QUICK CURES of seemingly incurable cases.

QUICK CURE

A. F. Britton, Jackson, Tenn., writes: "I contracted malaria in the swamps of Louisiana while working for the telegraph company, and used every kind of medicine I could hear of without relief. I at last succeeded in breaking the fever but it cost me over $100.00, and then my system was prostrated and saturated with poison and I became almost helpless. I finally came here, my mouth so filled with sores that I could scarcely eat, and my tongue raw and filled with little knots. Various remedies were resorted to without effect. I bought two bottles of B. B. B. and it has cured and strengthened me. All sores of my mouth are healed and my tongue entirely clear of knots and soreness, and I feel like a new man."

POISON

R. R. Saulter, Athens, Ga., writes: "I have been afflicted with Catarrh for many years, although all sorts of medicines and several doctors did their best to cure me. My blood was very impure, and nothing ever had any effect upon the disease until I used that great Blood Remedy known as B. B. B., a few bottles of which effected an entire cure. I recommend it to all who have Catarrh. I refer to any merchant or banker of Athens, Ga., and will reply to any inquiries."

CATARRH

Benj. Morris, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had no appetite, my kidneys felt sore, my throat was ulcerated and my breast a mass of running sores. Seven bottles of B. B. B. entirely cured me."

SORE TONSILS

[sep27 ew ly]

A. M. RAMBO,

DENTIST,

VERBENA, ALA.

Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.

[ma15 y]

NOTICE NO. 8874.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on August 3rd, 1889, viz: Anderson Peoples, Homestead 15998 for the s w ¼ of s [illegible] and s e ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 10, township 21 n, range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Willis Yancy, James Radney, [illegible] all of Maplesville, Ala.

J. G. HARRIS, [illegible]

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

DRUGS, AND Medicines, FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

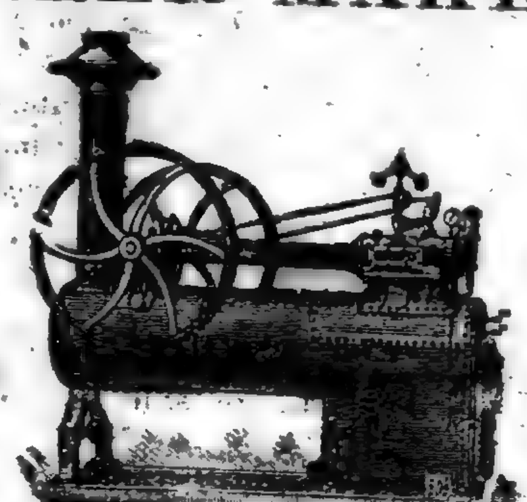
Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times.

[mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,

BOILER MAKERS



Copper and Sheet Iron Workers

Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜

Birmingham, Ala.

mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y

I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.

MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS

Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery OF ALL KINDS.

MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜

nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.

Lyman & Stone.

BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.

SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

Blank Books, - Letter Presses,

PRINTERS' STOCK.

Fine Stationery a Specialty.

2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,

Steam Printers and Binders,

1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay

INSURE WITH

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,

Montgomery, Alabama.

Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.

Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.

W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.

ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!

HAS NO HOOPS!

NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!

NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!

HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.

PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.

LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.

CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.

[illegible]

READ THIS!

I have removed my stock of Confectioneries

—AND—

Fancy Groceries

into the Johnson drug storehouse and respectfully solicit a share of public patronage.

I am also prepared to do sewing and dress making in the latest styl and on short notice.

Very respectfully,

dec12-6 MRS. M. A. BUTLER.

S. P. TRESSLAR,

Photographer,

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Photographs, on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER.

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE

(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken.

[mar24-y

Insure Your Property against Fire.

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky. says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family"

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than ...s.

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.,

(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine.

If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.

The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.

Easy and pleasant to use.

Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

nov22-y

ALLEGER'S

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

PRO[illegible] to $35.

[illegible] Elegant Parlor Organ style 98 containing 5 octaves, 6 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells. Stool and Book free. For only $[illegible]. With right and left couplers. Warranted for 6 years.

It is only necessary to send references as to your responsibility from any banker, postmaster, merchant or express agent and the Organ will be shipped promptly on ten days' test trial.

[illegible]

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

READY-MADE DRESSES.

Dressmakers can thrive no more in St. Louis. Their business is rapidly dwindling, and except in the case of those who cater to the rich, whose prejudices compel them to cling to long established customs, the modistes are generally retiring from business. This is due to the general adoption of ready-made dresses by the ladies of the city; hand-me-downs they are called by sarcastic dressmakers. Before the introduction of ready-made dresses, ladies were in the habit of expending a large amount of money for the material, and then paying from $15 to $25 in having it made up. Now, a dress similar in every detail to one of those made up by a fashionable modiste can be secured at the dry goods stores for $25, and they are made to fit perfectly before they are allowed to leave the store. A lady purchased a black silk dress, recently, exquisitely made and of handsome material. It was procured for $25, and was pronounced by all who saw it to be the best fitting dress the lady had ever worn. Made up at a dressmaker's, the dress would have cost $40, counting the material, thread, buttons, trimming and the like.—Star-Sayings.

COSTUMES OF THE EMPIRE PERIOD.

The Empress Josephine and her ladies always wore light colors—clear yellows, pinks, lilacs, etc. A real Directoire or Empire gown touches the ground, and is painfully scanty, so were it to be made into a short walking dress the effect would be indescribably ludicrous and unbecoming. The French women of that period lay at home on sofas whilst their husbands went to the wars. They were nearly always painted, reclining on couches or standing up—never sitting. Their stockings were invariably white, and when possible ces dames showed the tips of their pretty feet encased in Greek sandals. Any attempt at tight lacing had to be abandoned, for the great art of dress in those days was to appear loosely and simply robed, recalling in every possible way the beautiful Athenian women, even to the wearing of fillets and bands across the hair. In the midst of all this simplicity French feeling asserted itself, and hats were accordingly produced, which any belle Athenienne would have rejected with scorn. Another important and expensive item of that day was the mittens. No Empire gown was complete without these quaint adjuncts, which are found now with great difficulty.—New Orleans Picayune.

BURMESE WOMEN.

The Burmese woman has few of the troubles and pleasures of a New England housewife, writes Frank G. Carpenter. All of her cooking is done out of doors at this time of the year, and her range never gets out of order. She builds her fire on the ground, and her cooking utensils consist of two or three earthen pots. These and a jar of water, with a cocoanut ladle, make up the kitchen furniture, and our Burmese wife is not troubled with table spreading or dish washing. She is never worried about her flour nor her baking powder. The Burmese use neither knives nor forks. Their staple food is rice, and a huge platter of this is cooked for the family and placed upon the floor. In addition there is a bowl of curry, a kind of soup, gravy-like mixture, which is seasoned with fish and pepper, and which is very hot. The family squat around the rice dish, and each has his own little bowl for curry, and a larger one for rice. Everyone helps himself, putting his fingers into the rice platter and taking as much as he can squeeze up in his hands. The food is conveyed from the bowl to the mouth with the hand, and at the close of the meal everyone is expected to wash his own dishes. No drinking is done during the meal, and at the end each goes to the water jar and rinses out his mouth. I have seen many families at meals, and in no case have I seen chopsticks for knives and forks. The Burmese dinner is thus a perpetual picnic.

FASHION NOTES.

Quaint hairpins of transparent amber are in the form of muskets.

Drawn hats and bonnets of black mull will be popular for country wear.

With gossamer gowns silk or satin petticoats will be de rigueur this year.

Some expensive parasols have balls of gold or iron on the points of the ribs.

The novelty in white embroidery this spring is the "hemstitch block effects."

Pale gray and yellow is just now a favorite color combination with blondes.

Black gloves and ribbons are worn with gowns of pale green crepe de chine.

Cotton bunting in dark shades will be utilized for summer gowns for country wear.

Stylish parasols handles are of silver and stained ivory, intermingled in spiral pattern.

Mignonette green, violet and deep orange were combined in a costly Parisian teagown.

The russet-red shades promise to be popular at the seaside and in the country this summer.

Printed India silks are made up into parasols to match the gowns with which they are worn.

The prominent feature of the ribbon trade is the great number of fancy styles that are shown.

The newest blue is Pompeiian, a brilliant shade, particularly effective in velvets and plushes.

Genuine metalic ribbons, gold or silver, are used to trim summer toilets of black or white net.

Velontine, the new gown stuff, has a silk back and stripes of short pile velvet over the right side.

Natural colored pongees will be stylishly trimmed with white lace or embroidery laid on flat.

Romance of Invention.

Some of the pioneers in electrical application have reaped golden harvests. Professor A. G. Bell was at one time walking about Washington anxious to sell telephone stock for ten cents on the dollar. Before that he was teaching a deaf and dumb school in Boston. The telephone brought him fame and riches, and he has now an income of hundreds of dollars a day, and a fortune of $6,000,000. C. F. Brush is said to have been working at $10 a week before he struck the electric light which made him a millionaire.

[illegible]

WORDS OF WISDOM.

A whisperer separates chief friends.

The heart of the wise teacheth his mouth.

Of two evils, the less is always to be chosen.

Early and provident fear is the mother of safety.

Truth is the highest thing that man may keep.

One good mother is worth a hundred schoolmasters.

Grief counts the seconds; happiness forgets the hours.

Silence is worth its weight in gold in many crises of human experience.

Nothing is so strong as gentleness, nothing so gentle as real strength.

Some persons, instead of "putting off the old man," dress him up in a new shape.

One may be better than his reputation or his conduct, but never better than his principles.

Toil, feel, hope. A man is sure to dream enough before he dies, without making arrangements for the purpose.

Gayety is to good-humor as perfumes to vegetable fragrance; the one overpowers weak spirits, the other recreates and revives them.

Private credit is wealth, public honor is security; the feather that adorns the royal bird supports its flight; strip him of his plumage, and you fix him to the earth.

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all easy; and he that riseth late must trot all day, and scarce overtakes his business at night; while Laziness travels so slowly that Poverty soon overtakes him.

Into the "Black Lands" of Russia.

The road stretches over silent and empty plains, where the horizon retreat incessantly before the eyes, without changing in aspect, like the waves in the open sea. It is indeed a sea—a sea of wheat with its golden ears undulating as far as the eye can see. Nothing in our thickly populated country districts can give an idea of the profound stillness of the Russian steppes. At long intervals you come across a peasant seated in his telegue, or astride of his droghi—a primitive cart made of a beam placed on two axles. A few versts further north we leave the last village of Greater Russia, with its black and low cottages built of pine trunks and wattling. As the traveler advances into Ukrania, the houses of Little Russia assume a more comfortable air, with their whitewashed walls. The keeper of the inn where we stop was formerly a serf of La Generale; liberated before the emancipation, he has made a small fortune. Now his two sons are beginning to learn Latin, with a view to obtaining diplomas at the gymnasium of Kiev. At the door one of these boys, in long black coat, black boots and cap, is playing on an accordion. The other is absorbed in a volume of the poems of Nekrasof.

The carriages plunge once more into the corn fields or into the shade of a birch wood. This latter is rarely met with in the "black lands," which are almost entirely cleared and cultivated. Furthur on to the north you often travel for a whole day through an ancient forest, in which are stagnant marshes covered with dazzling flowers—with roses, anemones, orchids, floating islands of orris and of water-lilies. At last we arrive in front of the mill which turns on the river. The Jew farmer salutes and bows to the ground. The peasants that we meet on the road, with their familiar faces, greet La Generale with a respectful "Good-day, little mother." On the hill a flag floating from the top of the turret marks the house of the seigneur; a few more steps and the horses rush at full gallop into a large courtyard surrounded with buildings and dependencies.

Fifty or sixty persons, men, women and children, are drawn up on the steps awaiting the arrival of their mistress. These are the families of the "court," for the seigneur has his court just like the Tsar. These families, employed in his immediate service, and living on his liberality, constitute the aristocracy of the village. Serfdom has disappeared, it is true, but its manners and the obligations it has left still survive. All these people pay their tribute of gratitude by kissing the hands of the benefactress as she gets out of her carriage.—Harper's Magazine.

The Land of Skaters.

"Russia is the land in which to see skating," wrote an Englishman, as he stood over the frozen Moika Canal, St. Petersburg, and saw four-score young skaters, of both sexes, apparently able to go through the same evolutions on the ice that a bat does in the air.

As man is not born a skating animal, even in Russia, this gentleman saw beginners using a large wooden chair to assist their sprawling efforts. The chair is about five feet high, is placed on skates, and has two long, curved arms jutting out in front.

The skaters formed themselves in lines nine or ten persons deep, and keeping time to the music of a band, intertwined in a series of graceful figures, the groups melting off into single couples, which came together in lines of new figures.

The Englishman crossed the frozen Neva in a novel vehicle, a green wooden chair on skates five feet long. In front were two boards on which he rested his feet, while resting his hands on its arms. A man propels the chair by skating and pushing it before him. The motion is pleasant, and so fast that the man has occasionally to act as a drag.

Noted American Trees.

The big tree of California.

"Old Liberty Elm," at Boston.

The "Burgoyne Elm," at Albany, N. Y.

The immense ash trees planted by General Washington at Mount Vernon and now the admiration of visitors.

The weeping-willow over the grave of Cotton Mather in Cop's burying-ground, near Bunker Hill, taken from a tree that shaded the grave of Napoleon at St. Helena.

The Cary tree, planted by the roadside in 1832 by Alice and Phœbe Cary, is a large sycamore, standing on the turnpike from College Hill to Mount Pleasant, Hamilton County, Ohio.

The Washington elm still stands at Cambridge, Mass. It is on Garden street, a short distance from the colleges, and is a large, well-preserved tree. An iron fence is built around it, and on a stone in front is the following inscription: "Under this tree George Washington took command of the American army, July 3, 1775."

WOOLFOLK GUILTY.

HIS TRIAL ENDED AT PERRY, GA., WITH THE ABOVE VERDICT.

On Monday, the jury in the case of the Woolfolk murder declared as their verdict, after having retired for only forty-five minutes, that Tom Woolfolk was guilty. The jury was called, and Foreman Joe Frederick gave it to Solicitor Felton, who slowly and distinctly said: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty." A poll of the jury was asked for by the defense, and so ordered. Each juror said the verdict was his. The verdict was received in absolute silence, very few having left the courtroom while the jury was out. Though the verdict is in accordance with the convictions of the people, there was positively no demonstration of approval when rendered, except possibly the pleased expression on the expectant faces. R. S. and J. W. Woolfolk, cousins of the prisoner, left the courthouse and town after the jury retired and before the verdict was rendered. The aggregate exact time occupied by the argument on both sides, after the evidence was all in, was thirty-one hours and thirty-five minutes; by the prosecution thirteen hours and twenty-nine minutes, by the defense eighteen hours and six minutes.

When court opened on Tuesday morning, Judge Gustin asked the prisoner if he had anything to say, why sentence of death should not be passed upon him. With subdued emotion and hands clasped tremblingly in front, Woolfolk answered: "Nothing, except that I am an innocent man." Captain Rutherford then asked that sentence be postponed until a motion for a new trial could be perfected, as the case would be carried to the supreme court if a new trial is not granted. This request was denied, and Judge Gustin proceeded to pass sentence, which provides that Thomas G. Woolfolk shall be hung in Houston county on the 16th of August next, between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., in an enclosure, to which no spectators will be admitted, save the relatives and friends designated by the condemned, the guards chosen by the sheriff, and Drs. M. W. Hay's and C. R. Mann, examining physicians.

MRS. WHITELING HANGED.

THE WOMAN WHO POISONED HER WHOLE FAMILY IN PHILADELPHIA.

Mrs. Whiteling, who poisoned her husband and two children, was hanged Tuesday morning in the jail yard at Philadelphia, Pa. The drop fell at 10.07 o'clock, and the body was lowered and removed at 10.41. The woman's bearing throughout the terrible ordeal was the most remarkable exhibition of fortitude and resignation to her fate. During the entire morning she never for a moment showed the slightest evidence of weakness, and frequently expressed her pleasure at the prospect of "meeting her husband and children." Several physicians who were present at the execution, and who have, more or less, frequently been with the condemned woman since her incarceration, expressed surprise at the woman's exhibition of calmness in meeting her death, although they agreed in the statement that she has at no time shown any evidence of an unsound mind. Physicians say her death was instant from strangulation, though the heart continued to beat spasmodically for sometime thereafter. The body was turned over to Dr. Alice Bennett, of Norristown hospital, for the insane, for an examination of the brain, after which the body will be buried by the side of the murdered husband and children. The only witnesses of the execution were the sheriff and his deputies, prison officials, physicians, and about a dozen newspaper men. This was the first execution of a female in Philadelphia county. There have, however, been several women hanged in other counties in Pennsylvania.

SIMON CAMERON DIES.

SHORT ACCOUNT OF A VARIED AND EVENTFUL CAREER.

General Simon Cameron died at Lancaster, Pa., on Wednesday, at the age of 90 years. He learned the printer's trade and became editor of a Democratic journal at Harrisburg, about 1822, after which he acquired a large fortune by operations in railroads, banking, etc. In 1845 he was elected a senator of the United States from Pennsylvania. In 1855 he separated from the Democratic party and in 1856 supported Fremont for the presidency, and was again elected senator of the United States in that year. He was secretary of war in Lincoln's cabinet from March 4th, 1861, to January, 1862, and was then appointed minister to Russia. He returned home in 1863 and was again elected to the Senate of the United States from Pennsylvania in 1866. He served several successive terms in the Senate, and was a potent factor in the politics of his state.

WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER.

TROUBLE BETWEEN HUNGARIANS AND NEGROES AT HAVERSTRAW, N. Y.

There was a bloody riot between the Hungarians and colored men working at DeGroat's brick yard, at Jones Point, Haverstraw, N. Y., Monday. Four Hungarians were shot. One is dead, another is dying. The riot was started by the Hungarians trying to drown a colored man. A friend of the colored man, named Morton, drew his revolver and fired seven shots. Then the fight became general, and knives and stones were freely used. Officers from Haverstraw visited the place Monday morning and arrested four of the ringleaders. But the trouble has not ended. Sheriff Shankey has been sent for, as the Hungarians will not allow the colored men to go to work. They have driven them from the banks. The whites outnumber the negroes four to one.

A FAMILY MURDERED.

SHOT IN THE BACKS AND STRANGLED—REMAINS BURNED.

News was received at Helena, Mont., Thursday night, of a most brutal crime committed in Fergus county. On Saturday last, the body of a middle-aged woman, who had been shot in the back, was found by a cowboy in a wild and unfrequented portion of Judith river. On Tuesday, the bodies of two men, a seven-year-old girl and a six-year-old girl were discovered about 100 yards above the same place. All were shot in the back except the child, who was strangled. Near by were found remains burned. Trunks and camp equipage, and everything by which the bodies might be identified, was destroyed. They are supposed to be a family of emigrants from Iowa or Illinois. A hundred horsemen are scouring the plains [illegible] of the murderers.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

WRECKAGE INDICATES A COLLISION BETWEEN TWO STEAMERS.

For several days past there have been evidences of some ocean disaster in washing ashore near Vineyard Haven, Mass., of wreckage. Monday a bundle of woman's clothing, evidently done up in great haste, was picked up on the beach at Edgartown, and a life preserver was also found. Considerable wreckage, painted green and slate color, is coming ashore on the island. Among the things found at Smith Point Monday were gilt moulding in considerable quantities, and one large door, with one ground glass circular top window sash, evidently belonging to some steamer. Wine cards of the Steamship Haytien Republic was washed ashore at Nantucket Monday. A mast about two feet in diameter, square rigged with wire trigging, was also found with the wreck. Everything points to a collision between the Victoria and Haytien Republic, though the life preservers belonged to the city of Rome. There is a mystery concerning the supposed disaster.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A PENNSYLVANIA MAN KILLS HIS WIFE AND HIMSELF.

Walter Hamp, a butcher from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, murdered his wife at Springfield, Illinois, on Wednesday, and then committed suicide by shooting himself. About six months ago Hamp's wife, after possessing herself of as much of her husband's money as she could get hold of, abandoned her home and fled with one Henry Doerr. About three months ago they went to Springfield and opened a butcher shop. They were located there by Hamp, and he put in an appearance, visited his wife at her boarding-house, and requested her to accompany him to a justice's office, to sign certain deeds. The justice went out for a few moments, and during his absence Hamp fired three balls into his wife's breast from a revolver. Then turning the weapon on himself, he fired a ball into his own brain. Both died almost instantly.

HANGED TO A TREE.

A KENTUCKY MOB STRINGS UP A MAN WHO IS CHARGED WITH MURDER.

A mob went to the jail at Shepardsville, Ky., at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning and demanded of Jailer Bowman the surrender of Thomas Mitchell and Charles Ardell, confined there charged with the murder of a pedlar named Joseph Lavine. Bowman refused to surrender the men and took his stand in front of the door with a shotgun, declaring he would kill the first man who tried to pass. Mrs. Bowman, hearing the threats and fearing her husband would be killed, ran forward and gave the mob the keys, begging Bowman not to provoke them. The leaders then unlocked the doors and went to the cell where the prisoners were confined. The jailer followed, begging them at least to spare Mitchell, who he believed was innocent. They yielded to his intreaties, telling Mitchell he might thank Bowman for his life, and binding Ardell they took him to the woods, about a mile and a half from town, and hung him to a tree.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

PITTSBURG leads the League in home runs.

PITTSBURG's recent defeats are due to weak batting.

RADBOURNE, of Boston, has made only one wild pitch this season.

CINCINNATI's poor position is largely due to very weak batting.

ZIMMER, of Cleveland, ranks as one of the best catchers in the League.

NEXT to Brouthers, Joe Quinn is the most timely batter in the Boston team.

YALE comes out of the college championship once more with flying colors.

BROUTHERS's batting has effaced all regrets in Boston for Morrill's release.

FEW pitchers have as good control of the ball as McCarty, of the Kansas Citys.

KEEFE, of New York, leads the League pitchers so far this season in strike-outs.

PITCHER YOUNG, of Princeton, has made a great record in the college championship.

JUST now Pitcher Gumbert, of the Chicagos, is the home run getter of the League.

BOSTON has lost six games by one run; three of these were won by the New Yorks.

BIG JIM WHITNEY has not given satisfaction, and the Indianapolis management has released him.

THERE is nothing in the League to equal the Clevelands' fielding. It is marvelous, and takes lots of batting to beat it.

DURING a game of baseball at Tunbright, Tenn., W. R. Staples, the umpire, stabbed and killed his cousin, Davidson Hall.

NEW ORLEANS is unloading its crack players in order to equalize its strength with that of the other Southern League clubs.

CLARKSON, of Boston, takes great care of his mighty right arm, and directly the inning is finished he carefully tucks it under his red sweater.

FEW players have been more disappointing this season than Hudson, of St. Louis. He has pitched only one game and since then his arm has not been in condition.

IF all the Louisville players were holding up their ends as well as Cook, Stratton, Wolf, Hecker and Weaver, that club would be among the leaders and not at the tail end.

DICK JOHNSTON, of Boston, has not made an assist this year. He had seven in the first twenty games last season. Fogarty has supplanted Dicky as the League's star center fielder.

THE Western clubs are having their annual harassment over Sunday playing, and matters are being made uncomfortable for the St. Louis, Cincinnati, St. Paul, Kansas City and other clubs.

SO frequent have been the rainy days this season that already there have been more interruptions than there were all last season, causing very severe financial loss that cannot be repaired.

MANAGER HART has issued orders requiring all the members of the Boston Club to retire before half-past eleven and to report at eight o'clock. No wet goods shall be sent to the players' rooms.

PRESIDENT VON DER AHE's innovative plan of admitting ladies free in St. Louis when accompanied by escorts, one escort having the privilege of two ladies, is meeting with a great deal of favor in the West.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., and Charleston, S. C., having retired from the Southern League, an attempt will now be made to go on as a four club organization—Atlanta, New Orleans, Mobile and Chattanooga remaining intact.

BOBBY MATTHEWS, the veteran pitcher, has at last caught on. He is coaching two teams of amateur players at Lebanon, Penn., made up of employes of the Cornwall Railroad Company. President Coleman is paying Matthews a good salary.

THE strongest batters of each of the League teams, according to recent averages, are Brouthers, of the Boston; Gore, of New York; Clements, of Philadelphia; Denny, of Indianapolis; Beckley, of Pittsburg; Hoy, of Washington, and Duffy, of Chicago.

WONDER is often expressed that pitchers do not make better batsmen than they do. If anybody is able to judge a curved ball, it seems that the man who is constantly curving it should be. As a matter of fact, however, the pitchers are the poorest batters of the lot.

JAMES MANNING, the Captain of the Kansas City club, is a universal favorite with players and umpires. Besides being a ball player of more than ordinary skill he is [illegible]

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Japan has an electrical society with a membership of 800.

Powerful interrupted voltaic currents have recently been used in surgery to arrest the growth of cancer.

When snow falls the first portions invariably contain greater numbers of bacteria than the subsequent ones.

A unit of heat is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water 1 degree, or from 32 degrees to 33 degrees F.

An eminent physician declares that abstinence from food for a period of from twenty-four to forty-eight hours will alleviate any common complaint or illness.

A rocket has been patented in England designed to carry a charge of high explosive which may be fired without risk of explosion before reaching its destination.

In generating steam, experiments under various boilers show 1000 feet of gas to be equal in heating power to from 80 to 133 pounds of different kinds of coal.

The wire-wound guns are again coming into prominent notice, as they can be made in much less time than built-up guns, and have thus far seemed incapable of being burst.

Archæological researches appear to show that the islands and the coast of Norway were well populated in prehistoric times, but that the cultivation of the soil did not begin until a late date.

English authorities have concluded that dynamic cooling, if not the sole cause of rain, is, at all events, the only cause of any importance, all other causes being either inoperative or relatively insignificant.

The fact has lately been satisfactorily established that asphalt obtained from petroleum and bitumen contains, in addition to an oxidized organic coloring matter, a large percentage of inorganic constituents.

To distinguish steel from iron, pour on the object to be tested a drop of nitric acid of one-half specific gravity. Let it act for a moment, and then rinse with water. On iron the acid will cause a whitish-gray stain, and on steel a black stain.

The life of a wire rope may be doubled by the application of graphite mixed with grease, which prevents rusting and saves the rope from abrasion when coming in contact with hard substances. The graphite finds its way into the space between the wires and is kept there by the grease.

The tensile strength of a wet rope is found to be only one-third that of the same rope when dry, and a rope saturated with grease or soap is weaker still, as the lubricant permits the fibres to slip with greater facility. A dry rope twenty-five feet long will shorten to twenty-four on being wet.

An Englishman has produced a piece of mechanism containing 400 figures representing horses, cannon, artillery, infantry, and a band of fifty-two men, each with an instrument. A tiny windmill turned by the current from burning candles furnish the power to move all the figures automatically.

Looking Into a Cat's Eye.

A gentleman on Blake street until recently had a very exalted opinion of the power of the human eye. He always claimed that a man could, by gazing steadily into the eyes of the fiercest animal, make the beast as docile and harmless as a wax doll.

A grocer on that street has in his store a very large gray cat named Thomas that is not so frolicsome as a little kitten by any means.

The gentleman with the theory proposed to test it on this cat. A number of customers were present at the test. Mr. B. approached Thomas, who sat blinking near the cheese box, and peered steadily at the cat's large dandelion eyes. Thomas was evidently greatly affected by the human eyes so close to his, for he stood on his tail, and suddenly reaching out one leg, planted his claws into the flesh on Mr. B.'s face, with a wild, impetuous plant. This he did twice in rapid succession, and was about to get in his work for a third time, when, with an exclamation that sounded very much like an impious oath, Mr. B. struck the Thomas with his fist and knocked him off into the soft-soap barrel by the counter.

The magnetism of the human eye is a lost art with Mr. B. He now prefers the gentle influence of the catapult for real service.—Indianapolis News.

Whale's Milk for Consumptives.

"Whaloid, Infallible Cure for Consumption. Dispensing hours, 8 to 10 A. M.; 3 to 5 P. M." On turning down Oxford street my attention was attracted to this huge sign on the opposite side of the street, and also by the number of people flocking into the building. Entering the building, I was at a loss what to make of the matter, as all I could see was the crowd and a large tank in the centre of the room. This tank was some seventy feet long, thirty feet wide and as I learned afterward, about thirty feet deep, having been constructed at a great expense. While waiting patiently for developments I found that the liquid was being lowered or let out by some means. Soon a smooth black surface appeared to view, and as the water continued to recede I became aware that a captive whale was on exhibition. Surprised at not having to pay any admission fee, I was soon made aware of the reason. A framework had been constructed on which the animal rested and soon an expert milkman was engaged in extracting for the consumptives whaloid (or whale's milk), which was greedily absorbed at five shillings per glass.—London Druggists' Bulletin.

Production of Salt.

At one time nearly the whole of the salt used as food and for industrial purposes was obtained from the sea, and in many countries where the climate is dry and warm, and which have a convenient seaboard, a great quantity of salt is still so obtained; 250,000 tons are produced yearly in Portugal, and an approximate quantity on the Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts of France. Spain turns out from the Balearic Islands, the Bay of Cadiz and elsewhere 300,000 tons annually, and even the small seaboard of Austria produces 70,000 to 100,000 tons.

The Watson gold medal for the most important discoveries in astronomy was given to Dr. Schonfeld, of Bonn, for his researches concerning variable stars, and [illegible]

A Lost City.

The rushing waters of the Potomac River, in the recent floods, destroyed a city that never existed—Jackson City—at the south end of the long bridge opposite Washington, D. C. The name of the town has been in the mouth of comers and goers at the bridge since the administration of Gen. Andrew Jackson, who laid the corner-stone of Jackson City with much formality, and with a celebration that included all the military and civic organizations of the three District cities. George Washington Parke Custis, of Arlington, the adopted son of Gen. Washington, delivered the oration. Tents were erected and the occasion was the only gala day that Alexander's Island, on which Jackson City was founded, ever had. Years ago a hotel was built near the bridge, and this was the only approach to a town that Jackson City ever made. It was for awhile a roadside inn. Lately it has been headquarters of games forbidden in the District. Long ago the corner-stone was dug up and its contents carried off, and the close of last week the rain came and the flood undermined and ruined Jackson City.

Teeth Drawn by Electricity.

People can have their superfluous teeth drawn by means of electricity. The process in question is very simple, scarce any apparatus being required beyond an ordinary two-cell battery, with vibrator attachment. This attachment is a thin strip of metal fastened at the ends, which is made to vibrate a thousand or more times per second by the electric current. At each vibration the circuit is cut off and renewed again, the effect being to give a perfectly steady flow of the mysterious fluid. The patient in the chair is given a handle to hold in each hand, and the current is turned on gradually until it becomes painful. Then he is told to grasp the handles as strongly as possible, the electricity—having been switched off for a moment—is turned on again suddenly, and the dental surgeon applies his forceps

The instant

well as the electrified pain. Whe socket, the not the slig

A jerk and drops the el less affair is

W

The Indi

of Pythias, apolis, Ind.

to lead to g

lution was, saloon keep membershi discussion

ter feeling, adopted by loon keepe

ately appe is stated t order in I with or in action of t

tained, they der.

Quite a Difference.

In the red parlor of the White House at Washington, D. C., a photographer took a picture of four generations of the Harrison family. The Rev. Dr. Scott sat on the extreme right of the group, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee came next, and the famous Baby Benjamin Harrison McKee completed the gathering. The latter did his best to make the affair a failure, and if it had not been for what is known as "the instantaneous process," he would have succeeded. There is a difference of eighty-eight years between the generations represented in the picture. Dr. Scott is 88 and Baby McKee only two years of age.

A Reported Miracle.

The celebrated Canon Wilberforce, of London, England, writes to a newspaper that his belief in miracles has been strengthened by a miracle performed upon himself by means of anointing and prayer. "My internal ailment," he writes, "was of such a nature that leading surgeons declared it to be incurable except at the cost of a severe operation. At last I sent for elders—men of God, full of faith—by whom I was prayed over and anointed, and in a few weeks the internal ailment passed entirely away." The canon takes pains to say that he was healed by "the Lord's blessing upon His own word."

Why He Hates 'Em.

Miss Pyrte: "What makes you such a confirmed woman-hater, Mr. Olebach?" Mr. Olebach: "Well, when I was a young man a woman made a fool of me." Miss Pyrte: "And you never got over it."

THE Paris Exposition has brought sadness to a large part of the shopkeepers, the restaurant keepers and the theatrical managers who find that the show drains the boulevards, and that their business is reduced in a manner unknown since the siege. Even in such great restaurants as the Cafe Anglais or Voisin's they find that their patrons dine at the Exposition. So a committee of all these interests lately waited upon the ministry in order to get the Exposition closed at night, but they got refused.

PROFITING by the recent events at Samoa, when the treasure of the wrecked Trenton was recovered by means of a diving apparatus borrowed from the British man-of-war Calliope, the U. S. Navy Department has determined to equip each of our naval vessels with a complete diving apparatus. A submarine diver is also to be detailed as part of the complement of each vessel in commission.

THE Patterson Mills Co., of Chester, Pa., is looking out for a Southern location for a spinning mill of 10,000 spindles. The capital introduced into the city selected will be $250,000, and great impetus will also be given to an industry peculiarly adapted to the South.

THE Piemonte, the latest Italian cruiser, built on the Tyne, England, must be as fast as anything afloat. With an ordinary draught she made 20.4 knots, and under forced draught 22.3 knots per hour.

Are you troubled with a sluggish, inactive liver? Are you bilious? Do you suffer from jaundice? Has your complexion a sickly, yellow tinge? The blood in its passage through the liver does not furnish the healthy action which should result from it. The impurities are stopped, and clogging up the duct, cause a disordered condition, which will produce serious results to your health, unless you take Brown's Iron Bitters at once. It will cure your biliousness and jaundice, and incite to healthy action the sluggish liver.

In the U. S. there are 375 ladies who are ordained as clergymen and preach.

Distanced in the Race.

Why should Dr. Pierce's medicines not distance all competitors in amount of sales, as they are doing, since they are the only medicines sold by druggists possessed of such wonderful curative properties as to warrant their manufacturers in guaranteeing them to cure the diseases for which they are recommended. You get a cure or money paid for them returned. The Doctor's "Golden Medical Discovery" cures all diseases caused by derangement of the liver, as biliousness, indigestion or dyspepsia; also all blood, skin and scalp diseases, tetter, salt-rheum, scrofulous sores and swellings and kindred ailments.

Don't hawk, hawk, and blow, blow, disgusting everybody, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and be cured.

The police of Paris forbid the employment of women in the cafes at the Exposition.

Torpid Liver.

It is hardly possible to prepare a medicine which is pleasant to the palate as are Hamburg Figs, or which is so efficacious in cases of constipation, piles, torpid liver or sick-headache. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.

Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'ig'r't'n Board, Portland, Ore.

ALL diseases and disorders peculiar to women are cured by the timely use of Bradfield's Female Regulator. Sold by druggists.

A Fair Trial

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla will convince any reasonable person that it does possess great medicinal merit. We do not claim that every bottle will accomplish a miracle, but we do know that nearly every bottle, taken according to directions, does produce positive benefit. Its peculiar curative power is shown by many remarkable cures.

"I was run down from close application to work, but was told I had malaria and was dosed with quinine, etc., which was useless. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and am now feeling strong and cheerful. I feel satisfied it will benefit any who give it a fair trial."—W. B. Brashers, 381 Spring St.,

's Sarsaparilla

ggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only

& CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Doses One Dollar

PSY TREATED FREE!

ured with Vegetable Remedies.

many thousand cases. Cure patients peless by the best physicians. From ptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten two-thirds of all symptoms are refor free book of testimonials of mir-

Ten days' treatment furnished free

n order trial, send 10 cents in stamps

DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

DFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

Diseases Peculiar to Women!

O "WOMAN" MAILED FREE.

REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

LD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Plantation Engines

With Self-Contained

RETURN FLUE BOILERS,

FOR DRIVING

COTTON GINS and MILLS.

Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address

JAMES LEFFEL & CO.

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,

or 110 Liberty St., New York.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER

Makes a clean sweep. Every sheet will kill a quart of flies. Stops buzzing around ears, diving at eyes, tickling your [illegible], skips hard words and secures peace at trifling expense. [illegible] 25 cents for 3 sheets to F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

N. C. Y. L.

Nashville, Tenn. College for Young Ladies,

Road Carts! EVERYTHING ON WHEELS.

10 per cent. cheaper than anybody. Buggies!

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU,

SMITHDEAL PRACTICAL Business COLLEGE, Richmond, Va.

MUSIC-ART-ELOCUTION

DETECTIVES

WANTED

INVENTORS

ORATORS

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE?

PEERLESS DYES

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE

Gentlemen and Ladies

Rates of Adve

CA

The g

Announc

THIS WA

Tremendous On

Profits and Hig

GENERAL

CONDENSATION O

AND EXCITING

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 50	$ 11 75
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 11, 1889. NUMBER 37.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S Tremendous Sacrifice OF NEW GOODS.

The great depression in Dry Goods in the Eastern markets, caused by the depression in trade, has forced importers and manufacturers to throw whole stocks of new and desirable goods into the Auction Rooms in New York. Never has there been such slaughter in prices!

Announcement THIS WEEK. Tremendous Onslaught on Profits and High Prices.

We will sell goods Lower this month than other houses pay

2018 and 2020 Ist Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENORMOUS Purchases at Auction. We are the only Birmingham houses represented in these sales.

GENERAL NEWS.

CONDENSATION OF URIOUS, AND EXCITING EVENTS.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE—ACCIDENTS, STRIKES, FIRES, AND HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST.

Queen Christina, of Spain, ascended 1,000 feet in an army balloon on Friday. It was her first ascent. The balloon was christened "Maria Christina."

Large quantities of gold coin from South America are passing through Antwerp for Russia and Austria, the same as during the Franco-German war.

Maria Mitchell, the noted astronomer, died at Lynn, Mass., on Friday morning. She was for a great many years a member of the faculty of Vassar college.

Leaders of the striking miners who took part in the riot at Dortemunde, Germany, May 10th, last, have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from two to five years.

Thursday, at Lima, O., while playing in a wheat bin, which was being drawn off into a car, Ben Marks and Judson Horton, two young boys, were drawn into the chute and smothered to death.

Thirty-six buildings, with a large quantity of machinery, were destroyed by fire at Luneburg, Berlin, Sunday. Loss, 12,000,000 marks. Six hundred workmen are thrown out of employment.

A waterspout broke over the city of Altoona, Pa., Tuesday, doing great damage. The rain came down in torrents, overflowing the streets and bursting sewers, and causing widespread damage.

The new cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, the seat of the Roman Catholic diocese, of Providence, R. I., was consecrated Sunday. It is a large sandstone structure, and has been eleven years building.

Tunis Labee was hanged in the county jail, at Patterson, N. J., Thursday morning, for the murder of his wife. The murderer wrote a farewell letter, in which he forgave everybody, and expressed the hope that everybody would forgive him.

The miners employed in the Bennett vein of the Woodward shaft, at Wilkesbarre, Pa., operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, struck Tuesday. They claim that they are being unjustly docked for "boney" coal mined.

The fourteenth annual four-mile eight-oared race between the crews representing the universities of Yale and Harvard was rowed Friday evening at New London, Conn., and was won by Yale by six boatlengths. Official time: Yale 21.30, Harvard 21.55

A dispatch from London, England, says: One person was killed and two dangerously injured by a balloon, in which they were making an ascension, catching in the machinery gallery at the Paris exposition grounds Sunday, and detaching its fastenings.

The new rules providing for trading in petroleum futures went into effect on Thursday at Pittsburg, Pa., and completely upset things at the petroleum exchange in that city. The brokers did not seem to understand the new system and but little business was transacted.

Mail advices from west Africa confirm previous reports of shocking privations to which Stanley, the explorer, has been subjected. It is stated that his hair has turned snow white; that his clothes are rags, and that he is without shoes, being obliged to use skins to cover his feet.

The official vote of the recent election in Harrisburg, Pa., as received and computed at the state department is as follows: For the prohibition amendment, 236,617; against, 484,644; majority against, 188,027. For the suffrage amendment abolishing poll tax qualification, 183,371; against, 420,324; majority against, 236,952.

Joliet, Ill., has a happy son of St. Crispin in the person of John Ryan, who on Friday won the international prize of $500 offered by the "Boot and Shoe Journal," of Boston, for the best essay on boot and shoe making in all its branches. Every state in the Union contested for the prize, together with Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Eauclare, Wis., held its first election for a board of education, Monday. It brought out a heavy woman's vote, prominent society ladies spending the whole day with their carriages taking women to the polls. The anti-Catholic question was made very prominent in several wards, but the candidates alleged to represent the Catholic side were elected.

A large cave near Hermosa mining camp, sixty miles from Las Cruces, N. M., has been opened up, and its interior is lined with veins of almost pure silver. It had for years escaped the eyes of old prospectors because there was nothing about the cave to indicate mineral. It is now thought the cave will exceed in richness the famous Bridal Chamber cave at Snake Valley, N. M., from which over $500,000 in silver was taken.

Exports of specie during the week ended June 29th, amounted to $3,416,580, of which $3,047,610 was in gold and $368,970 silver. Of the total exports, $2,611,951 was gold and $340,215 was silver, went to Europe; $2,611,000 in gold bars going direct to Paris, and $435,659 gold and $278,755 silver to South America. Imports of specie for the week amounting to $357,650, of which $309,448 was in gold and $48,202 in silver.

Jack Snyder, of Danville, Ill., died of hydrophobia Monday, on the public highway near that city. He and his family set out in a covered wagon from Lehigh county, Pa., for Missouri. Shortly afterwards, Snyder was bitten by a stray dog. At Danville, his condition was so serious, that the family came to a halt. They were in a destitute condition, and the body was buried in the potters field.

"Red Nosed Mike," who murdered paymaster McClure and the stable boss, Hugh Flannagan, in October last, was hanged Tuesday morning at Wilkesboro, Pa. He gave to one of the clergymen who attended him a confession of his crime, covering fifty-two pages Italian manuscript. The confession has not yet been fully translated, but he admits having killed both McClure and Flannagan, though he asserts that he acted under compulsion.

The World's Sunday-School Convention opened its session in London, England, Tuesday. There were 900 foreign delegates present, including over 800 from the United States. Lord Kinniard delivered an address of welcome, and Count Bernstoff, of Berlin, and Rev. Mr. Cuyler, of Brooklyn, responded in behalf of the delegates from the European and American continents. The convention is sitting in Dr. Parker's "temple," Memorial hall having been found too small to accommodate the delegates.

Judge Cummins, who has charge of the cash relief fund, arrived at Johnstown, Pa., Tuesday. He says all sufferers will not get a share of money, only needy ones receiving funds. It is probable money will be given out on the percentage plan, but the age of person, how many children he has dependent upon him, and the amount of property he still possesses, will all be taken into consideration. Each applicant for cash relief will have to make affidavit as to his loss, and will have to have witnesses to the same.

HORRIBLE FIND.

SIX CORPSES FOUND IN A HOUSE OF ILL REPUTE IN PATERSON, N. J.

Details of the finding of six asphyxiated bodies in a den kept by Godfrey Gerlade at 47 Ryle avenue, Patterson, N. J., on Friday night, are revolting. Three of the victims were young girls less than twenty years old. Their names were Bella and Sarah McNally, sisters, and Emma Wright. Another woman, Kate White, was about twenty-four years old. Gerlade, the seventy-year old keeper of the resort, had evidently died hours before the others succumbed. The body of an unknown Turk, aged about thirty years, was found in a better state of preservation than the others. Broken china and toilet articles literally covered the floor, and filth abounded everywhere, as all had evidently been crazed with drink and had a drunken brawl. Evidently somebody tripped over the rubber tube which conveyed the gas from the iron pipe to the gas range. The windows and doors of the house were fastened. The undertakers and embalmers were overcome in preparing the bodies, which were conveyed first to the fat and hides works of freeholder McCrane, and then to the city pest house, where they now are. The house where the bodies were discovered has been the scene of two suicides and one murder prior to Friday's ghastly find. The most touching incident connected with the affair was the frantic efforts of the mother of the McNally sisters in attempting to see the bodies of her daughters, whom she believed to be virtuous.

FLOODS IN CHINA.

The steamer City Rio DeJaniero arrived at San Francisco from Hong Kong and Yokohoma on Monday, and reported that one of the most destructive rain storms in the history of Hong Kong occurred on May 29th and 30th. The total rainfall for thirty-three hours was 29½ inches, at one time the fall measuring nearly three inches per hour. Hong Kong papers do not venture to estimate the loss to private property, such as residences, stores, etc., but places the estimate of loss to public property at $900,000. Scarcely a house within a area of thirty-two square miles did not suffer. All the roads and streets in the colony were turned into mud-heaps, and innumerable shops and dwellings were flooded. Fifteen lives are known to have been lost when the steamer sailed.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM VARIOUS POINTS IN THE SOUTH.

A CONDENSED ACCOUNT OF WHAT IS GOING ON OF IMPORTANCE IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

A new postoffice has been established at South Atlanta, Fulton county, Ga., with Luther S. Price as postmaster.

In Dawson, Ga., a number of boys are frequently seen peddling frog's legs on the streets, which are readily sold at ten cents a leg.

Frank Smith, of Smith Station, Ga., was struck by lightning Tuesday while standing in his store door and instantly killed. He leaves a wife and several children.

The keeper of Bosa Grande lighthouse, near Jacksonville, Fla., has discovered the skeleton of John Cone, a young man from Jasper, Fla., who was drowned near Punta Gorda last March.

The county court on Tuesday, awarded a contract for building a steel bridge across the Tennessee river at Chattanooga, to cost about $225,000. Work will be begun immediately.

On the premises of C. C. Hallman, near Spring Place, Ga., has been discovered a quarry of very fine black marble. Mr. Hallman sent a sample of the rock to the Chattanooga Marble works, and had it polished, and it proved to be very fine.

The false Christ, who has been a source of so much disturbance among the colored people of Hinesville, Ga., for several weeks, was tried for lunacy and convicted. It is now hoped he will have apartments where he can do less harm.

Reports from Charlotte, N. C., say that the recent heavy rains has done no small damage. Bridges over creeks and rivers are gone and low lands crops are greatly damaged. The rain is said to have been the heaviest known in western North Carolina in some years.

David A. Nunn, the new internal revenue collector at Nashville, Tenn., created a commotion by appointing a negro to one of his best places, a thirteen hundred-dollar position. The appointee is S. W. Crosthwait, for some years principal of one of the city schools, and an intelligent negro.

Ralph Graves, professor of mathematics at the state university, attempted to commit suicide at Raleigh, N. C., on Sunday, by cutting his throat with a pen-knife. He had been in bad health for months, and at times showed symptoms of derangement. He resigned his work at the university last February.

A disastrous fire occurred at Savannah, Ga., Monday night, involving a loss of over $100,000. When the fire was raging firemen had ascended on ladders, when a wall of a building fell suddenly, killing John Weir outright and injuring H. P. Goodson seriously and Richard Hart perhaps fatally. Ed Pacetti, Messrs. Lipinski, Davis, McEvoy and Strobhar and Maurice Butler, were badly wounded.

Natural gas was struck Monday near Cordova, Walker county, about thirty miles west of Birmingham, Ala. It has a pressure of sixty-five pounds to the square inch, and was struck at a depth of 700 feet. It was discovered on the property of the Cordova Coal and Coke Company, and the experts in charge of the work say there is no doubt of the gas existing in paying qualities.

The First Georgia regiment will meet in annual reunion at Perry, Houston county, Ga., on the 7th of August next. Governor Gordon has been invited to attend and deliver an address, and Generals Johnston and Anderson have also been requested to participate in the ceremonies. When the First Georgia was organized it numbered fourteen hundred men; only about four hundred are now living.

At Hawkinsville, Ga., on Thursday night, Charley Horn killed Will Nichols. Both were colored, and about the same age—fifteen years. They had been to church, and while there had quarreled. The quarrel continued after leaving church. After walking some distance, Horn pulled a paling off the fence and struck Nichols on the side of the head over the left ear, crushing his skull. Nichols died within two hours. Horn was arrested.

A vein of iron ore, nine miles in length with an average thickness of seventeen feet, has been discovered in Red mountain, only a few miles from Birmingham. Chemists and experts say it will make Bessemer steel—in fact, has less phosphorus than much of the ore now in use in Pennsylvania for making steel. An analysis made by chemists shows the ore to contain metallic iron 45.67, silicon 23.13, phosphorus 0.26. Several mines will be opened at once, and the ore fully tested for steel making.

A FRIGHTFUL PLUNGE.

AN ENTIRE TRAIN DITCHED, CAUSING A TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE.

A fearful accident, by which a large number of lives were lost, and a large number of people injured, occurred on the Norfolk and Western railroad at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, thirty-one miles above Lynchburg, Va. The rain has been falling almost continuously, and at times very heavily, for about twenty-four hours. Several trains had passed over the road during the night, and it was thought that the line was safe for traffic, notwithstanding the rains, and that no danger need be apprehended. At the place of the accident, however, the water had undermined the road-bed, and caused a washout about eighty feet long and fifty feet wide. The water at that point was eight to ten feet deep. Into this watery gulch the engine made a frightful leap, carrying with it the tender and eight cars. As the engine struck the bottom the boiler exploded. This fact greatly augmented the catastrophe. Debris was thrown in every direction by the force of the explosion, injuring some of those on the train by flying fragments and scattering fire-brands, which ignited the wood work of the coaches. The flames spread and destroyed a large amount of mail and express matter, besides causing a panic among the already terror-stricken passengers. The most reliable estimate places the number of persons killed between twenty-five and thirty. The number of wounded will be far in excess of the number killed. Thirty of the wounded have been taken to Roanoke, thirteen to Bufordsville, and fifty to Liberty. Major J. C. Cassell, superintendent of the Lynchburg division of Norfolk and Western, was on the train and was seriously injured, as were also Baggagemaster Ford and Captain Rowland Johnston, who was in charge of the train. A relief train was made up at Lynchburg late in the afternoon to go to the scene of the wreck, and a number of physicians went down on it to do what they could to aid the wounded. The Norfolk and Western people absolutely refused to allow any newspaper men aboard the train, and several who got on, despite of orders to the contrary, were put off. The railroad men also refused to give out any information in regard to the wreck. The following are known to be killed: Pat Donovan, engineer; Charles Bruce, fireman, Lynchburg; Summers and J. J. Rose, postal clerks, Abingdon; Hopkins, express messenger; A. M. James, traveling agent; John Kirkpatrick, of Lynchburg; J. W. Bell; W. C. Steed, Cleveland, Tenn.; Nathan Cohen, Roanoke; Little Child, daughter of Mrs. Judge Thompson, of Staunton, Va.; Dennis Mellon, of Roanoke. As the postal, express, baggage, smoker, passenger car and two sleepers ran into the washout and burned, it is supposed ten or twelve persons were consumed in the fire.

A HUMAN FIEND.

A WOMAN SAID TO HAVE POISONED HER HUSBAND AND TWO SONS FOR MONEY.

Mrs. Lizzie Brenan was arrested at Holyoke, Mass., on suspicion of having caused the death of her husband and two sons by poisoning their food with arsenic. The Brenans had six children, and Mrs. Brenan succeeded in insuring the lives of all, including herself and her husband, for sums ranging from $300 to $2,000, the policies being made payable to herself. The husband, Michael Brenan, died about ten months ago under suspicious circumstances. James Brenan, a son, died suddenly about six weeks ago. She supposed his life insurance had been increased, but on claiming it at his death, she found the increase had been made by mistake in policy of his brother Thomas. It was Thomas' turn next, and he died on Thursday. Thomas was taken violently sick about two weeks ago, and went into the country, where he rallied. On returning home to board, he was taken sick again and died in great agony. All medicines have been seized by the officers, who believe Mrs. Brenan deliberately poisoned the members of the family.

A MADMAN'S FREAK.

Persons passing along State street, in front of the Palmer house, Chicago, Ill., Tuesday afternoon, were horrified at seeing a man, clad only in a sheet, climb out of a window and deliberately walk along a projecting cornice. Suddenly, with a shriek, he fell to a projection below. A ladder was procured and an attempt was made to rescue him, when, with a scream, he threw himself to the pavement below, fracturing his skull and receiving other injuries, which will probably cause his death. He was evidently insane, and proved to be George W. Howe, a prominent young civil engineer, of Leadville. He was on his way home from Washington, where he had been in attendance as a delegate to the convention of Patriotic Sons of America.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS.

APPOINTMENTS, DECISIONS, AND OTHER MATTERS OF INTEREST FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The president has appointed John G. Watts, of Virginia, marshal of the western district of Virginia.

President Harrison says that he intends to call Congress in extra session for about the middle of October.

Tuesday the Secretary of the Treasury issued warrants in payment of $16,000,000 on account of pensions, being the first payment of this account for the new fiscal year.

The President, on Monday, appointed Augustus J. Ricks to be judge of the district court for the northern district of Ohio. He is a prominent lawyer of that state.

Secretary Windom has rejected the offer to compromise judgment against Holy Trinity Church, of New York city, for the violation of the alien labor contract law, and the case will go to the Supreme Court. The Secretary's action is based on the advice of the Attorney General.

The following postmasters of the fourth class were appointed for Georgia on Thursday: Cordele, Dooly, Ella Logue, Lewis A. Harper removed; Owensbyville, Heard, J. T. Wilson, D. W. Zachry, resigned; Melville, Chattooga, August McLeod, W. O. Eaton, resigned; Stilesborough, Bartow, John E. Hammonds, Riley Milam removed; Camp Creek, M. J. Smith, William Thomas removed.

The president has appointed Frederick Douglass, of District of Columbia, to be minister resident and consul-general of the United States to Hayti; Daniel M. Ramsdell, of Indiana, to be United States marshal for the District of Columbia, vice A. A. Wilson resigned, and Captain Meredith, of Chicago, chief of bureau of engraving and printing, vice E. O. Graves, resigned.

Specifications, just issued by the postmaster-general, for the guidance of bidders under the next contract for postage stamps, provide for two series of stamps of different sizes—one of them being the size now in use, the other about one-third smaller. The color of the two cent stamp is to be either carmine or metalic red, the latter being the color in use when the change to green was last made.

On Monday, First Assistant Secretary Chandler, in the contest for the possession of a tract of land in the Gainesville, Fla., land district, between Senator Wilkinson Call, and a colored man named Robert Swain, decided adversely to Senator Call. The case has been pending in one form or another for many years, and there have been several decisions in it—one by Secretary Teller, in favor of Swain, and a subsequent one in favor of Senator Call.

The President made the following appointments Monday: A. Lowden Snowden, of Pennsylvania, to be minister resident and consul general of the United States to Roumania, Servia and Greece; William Hayden Edwards, of Ohio, to be consul general of the United States at Berlin; Augustus O. Brown, of Rhode Island, to be consul general of the United States at Rome; Eugene Schuyler, of New York, to be agent and consul general of the United States at Cairo. To be consuls of the United States—Wallace Bruce, of New York, at Leith; William Harrison Bradley, of Illinois, at Nice; Edmund B. Fairfield, of Michigan, at Lyons; Irving J. Manatt, of Nebraska, at Athens; William Bowen, of Kentucky, at Tien Tsin; Adolph G. Studer, of Iowa, at Barmen; Enoch J. Smithers, of Delaware, Osaka and Hioga; Alexander C. Moore, of West Virginia, at St. Thomas; Charles F. Johnson, of Ohio, at Hamburg; Silas C. Halsey, of New Jersey, at Sonneberg.

WORKINGMEN ADDRESSED.

THEY ARE CALLED UPON TO STRENGTHEN AND SOLIDIFY THEIR RANKS.

An address was issued from Pittsburg, Pa., to the working people of America, on Tuesday, signed by representatives of all the leading labor organizations. It is a declaration for peace, which is, perhaps, very significant in view of the contests which have been urged during the past year between the Knights of Labor, American Federation of Labor, and other labor organizations. The address says that differences of opinion and matters of detail in methods for the improvement of the laborer's condition have been magnified by interested parties into conflicts of the most belligerent and warlike nature. All labor organizations are called upon to put forth renewed efforts to strengthen and solidify their ranks, and to leave nothing undone to make each society the power for good that it is intended to be.

"NOT GUILTY."

M'DOW, WHO KILLED DAWSON, IN CHARLESTON, S. C., GOES FREE.

The last day of the McDow trial was one of intense excitement and interest. Not even on the day that Dawson's body was found lying in the office of his murderer was the community so worked up. The crowd in the courtroom was somewhat mixed in character. Nearly all the clergymen in the city, including Bishop Northrop, were there, and leading citizens of all professions were scattered around in the crowd. McDow came into court as usual and sat through the argument and the charge of the judge with his usual confident stare. He looked, however, a little less chipper than he did during the examination when Marie Burderyon was telling the story of her shame and his disgrace, and he did not smile quite so frequently save, perhaps, when his eyes rested on the seven negroes in the jury box. Judge Kershaw charged the jury, who retired to their room at about 1 o'clock. Judge Kershaw's charge was short but to the point. The following extracts will give a fair idea. After defining the various grades of homicide, he said: "I can find nothing in the law to assert that a man's home extends more protection than an office, except that only those having a right can enter the house, but the office being public to a certain extent, any one can enter it. If the young lady's connection with the Dawson family was such as she describes, it was a high duty for him to divert her from wrong, and if he went into the office as her guardian, he is not to be regarded as a trespasser. A man, after legally entering an office, may, by offensive conduct, become a trespasser. Angry words are no excuse for homicide. The accused is not the judge of the necessity of taking life, but the jury are the judges on this point." Shortly after two o'clock it was announced that the jury had agreed upon a verdict. The verdict was "not guilty," an announcement that was received with applause by the negroes and McDow's white friends. They had been prepared for the verdict. They knew the negroes on the jury would never convict him, and the worst they apprehended was a mistrial. As soon as Judge Magrath had written out a motion for the discharge of the prisoner, and Judge Kershaw had signed it, the sheriff removed his deputy from beside the dock and told the prisoner he could go free. Then his friends pressed around him with congratulations. He was driven to his house on Rutledge street. The negroes rejoiced in an undisguised manner over the verdict. They regard it as a victory over the white race—a retaliation for Dawson's editorial on the Pickens lynchers.

ENGLISH CAPITAL.

BUILDING A TOWN IN KENTUCKY—BUYING MINERAL LANDS.

A distinctively new era in the south's iron and steel history is marked by the organization of English companies, composed of leading iron and steel makers of Great Britain, to build extensive steel and iron works, including four furnaces, steel rail mill, rolling mill, etc., and a new town at Cumberland Gap, on the dividing line between Tennessee and Kentucky. The name of the town is to be Middlesborough, Kentucky, and for over a year the work of buying mineral lands, preparing for railroad connections, etc., has been vigorously but quietly pushed by the American association (limited), which is the name of the parent company. Over four million dollars in cash has already been paid out, and upwards of sixty thousand acres of mineral land purchased, and over seven million dollars have been pledged for new enterprises. In addition to contracts for four new furnaces, steel works and rolling mills, pipe works, etc., to cost in the aggregate $8,000,000, there will be a $750,000 hotel and sanitarium, in which many of the leading physicians of Europe and this country are interested, three hotels to cost $300,000, four coal mines representing $500,000, and a $505,000 tannery. Other enterprises, including electric light and gas works, saw mills, brick yards, railroad shops, etc., have been arranged, and the total investments already secured aggregate ten millions of dollars in cash.

A RUINED CITY.

A special from Durango, Col., says: Monday afternoon a fire broke out in the southern part of the city, and in an incredible short time the flames, assisted by a strong wind, spread in every direction, leaping from building to building, until half of the town was in ashes. The fire was extinguished after the total destruction of eight business blocks, which includes all the principal business houses and churches, and a portion of the residence portion of the town was also destroyed. [illegible]

WONDERFUL MONSTROSITY.

A CHILD WITH TWO HEADS—ALIVE WITH NO INDICATIONS OF DYING.

The parents of this curious freak of nature are Mr. and Mrs. Jones, who live about five miles north of Kempton, in Tipton county, Indiana. They are young married folks, probably about 30 years of age, and this is the mother's second confinement, the first child being two years old and nothing abnormal about its development. The monstrosity, for such it is, and a wonderful one, too, consists of a single, continuous body, on each end of which is a well formed head. It is provided with four arms and four legs, which are also well formed and about the normal size and shape. The arms are located at the proper place and on natural shoulders, one pair at each end of the long body, but the lower limbs protrude outward each side at the middle of the elongated being. The two heads face the same way, and the legs are so attached as to extend at right angles from the middle of the sides of the body. There is but one umbilicus, that being on the anterior surface and middle of the body, showing that the entire form has been nourished through one and the same cord during the entire period of embryonic life. There is a duplicity in so far as there are two heads, two pair of limbs, two sets of genital organs and that the voluntary movements of the two portions are not in conformity. On the other hand, there was but one umbilical cord, and the junction of the two halves presents no line of original separation to prove that the being has been joined together from the start. One half of the creature may be sleeping while the other is awake, and at such times it is noticed that one leg on each side conforms to the other voluntary movements of the end of the body nearest to them, or, in other words, the two legs on the same side of the body are not controlled by one half. The entire length of the body from head to head is about two feet, and the weight of the creature is twelve pounds, figures which show ample size and weight for two healthy children. Up to the present writing the babe or babes is or are enjoying good health, and the mother, a small sized woman, is doing very well.

LOSSES AT JOHNSTOWN.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE LOST, IS THE ESTIMATE MADE BY THE BUSINESS MEN.

The time-keepers in the Cambria offices estimate that from 400 to 800 of their workmen in the Gautier and Cambria Iron works were lost. Counting the women and children dependent upon them, they put their loss of people at 3,000. They estimate the entire loss of life at 10,000. Mr. Haws, fire brick manufacturer, thinks this guess is about right. He believes at least 500 strangers were in town at the time of the flood. About 200 deposit books of the Johnstown Savings Bank are reported lost by the depositors or their heirs. There were $774 000 on deposit, and much of this is the property of people having no heirs. The work of the sub-committee at Johnstown, whose report of the living and dead was given out Saturday, does not give satisfaction. The list is 15,455 survivors and 1,194 drowned. The morgue lists show that over 3,000 have been buried.

A MOCK MARRIAGE

FOUND TO BE GENUINE—CONSEQUENT TROUBLE OF THE PARTIES.

Mr. J. Fletcher Marcum, of Cattlesburg, and Miss Laura Duke Smith, of Lexington, attended a social gathering in Ashland, Ky., and a young minister and the county clerk were among the guests. After awhile some one suggested a mock marriage, and Mr. Marcum and Miss Smith volunteered to be the bride and bridegroom. The county clerk was appealed to and made out the license, and the minister performed the ceremony. Nothing more was thought of the affair until it was mentioned to a lawyer, who declared that the marriage was a legal one. This view is accepted as correct, and the make-believe bride and bridegroom are intensely distressed. To add to the complication, Mr. Marcum was engaged to an estimable young lady of Ashland. The courts will have to be appealed to for relief.

FATAL RAILROAD WRECK.

The United express, which left Boston at 11 a. m., via Boston and Albany road, was ditched just outside the city limits Saturday afternoon. Three persons were killed and [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JULY 11, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - 75
One copy four " - - - - 50

Now that the Sullivan-Kilrain fight is over, the hoodlums and barbarians of the country will have a dull time of it for a while. Perhaps the Montgomery Dispatch will come to their aid and inaugurate its proposed bull fight and thereby immortalize the paper in a very original and enterprising manner.

The Washington Post makes haste to offer the following apology: If we have ever referred to the distinguished General Hippolyte, of Hayti, as a rebel, we humbly beg his pardon. We didn't know he was going to win. If we had we should have known better than to call him a rebel. Only those who don't succeed are either heretics or rebels.

We learned at the press convention that few of our contemporaries are doing much more than making a living. There are a few that do more and the VIEW is fortunately of these few. Hard work and strict attention to business has counteracted any drawbacks that we have labored under on account of a serious physical infirmity. Our paper is flourishing even at this dull season, and we feel gratefull to those friends who have extended their patronage and encouragement.

Our Mountain Home, of Talladega, agrees with the VIEW in many things and among others in this:

And now the newspapers are loaded to the muzzle with nauseating accounts of the coming fisticuff between the two great brutes, Kilrain and Sullivan. A crowd of thugs and toughs adore these representatives of brawn and brutality and the lowest elements of society compose the audience, who witness the exhibition of two half-naked men mauling each other into a poultice at so much per maul. Such performances have a demoralizing and hardening effect on our people, and we wish that prize fighting could be ranked both in law and public sentiment along with burglary and murder.

The following from The Jasper Eagle is about the most sensible comment we have yet heard made on Dr. Bryce's speech, or essay before the teachers' convention:

The doctrine of evolution, as announced by Dr. Bryce in his paper read before the educational convention at Birmingham a few days ago, is stirring up considerable controversy among the newspapers and the scientists; and one fact has been "evoluted" out of it by the evolutionists, that there are more that believe in this doctrine, than we could have believed to have been. And with whom we do not propose to attempt to controvert this theory of creation. With them it seems to be a matter of taste and we would not deny them this exquisite taste of theirs, that they prefer to trace and boast their ancestry from the tadpole and the monkey rather than to the perfect man formed by the hands of the Creator.

The No Harms.

Alabama Baptist.

Among the many causes that lead Christians to backslide, and go farther from Christ and duty are the so-called "No Harms."

See that young man, he was once a total abstainer but he was persuaded to take a little domestic wine; he was assured that it was made by some of his friends out of their own grapes. He was told there was no harm in taking a glass of that. The result was he became a confirmed drinker. He is invited to join in a game of cards. No harm in that. The result was he became a skillful and constant gambler. He is invited to join a simple parlor dance to the music of the piano. No harm in that. He soon becomes an attendant at the ball room dances, and prefers them to prayer meeting. Thus he is lead down lower and lower by these so-called "No Harms," till all trace of Christian living is gone. These "No Harms" are dangerous. Any act or course of action that needs such an apology is most certain to be wrong.

Who ever thought, in offering a cup of water to a friend, of assuring him there was no harm in it? Avoid the "No Harms" they are never safe.

J. H. CURRY.

A distinguished United States Senator recently said: "There is considerable abuse of me just now in the public prints. It is all owing to a singular fact. I declined to make peace with my enemy at his price. I have always made it a rule to defy persecution. In every man's life there is something which he wants to keep to himself. My life has not been perfect, and I realize it. But when anyone professes to know something damaging about me, I never beg. It is simply a question of when the persecution will commence, and with me the sooner it comes and is over with the better."

He is eminently right. Though he be chaste as ice and pure as snow, no public man can escape calumny at some period of his life.

The Birmingham Evening News has a good word to say for the railroads and we clip the following concerning the L. & N. road, to which this section of the State is indebted for what progress it has made:

While the Louisville and Nashvill has been managed with the purpose of enriching its shareholders, its president and other officers have been statesmanlike. They cannot grow rich by robbery, and only by enriching people and States. Limits to which trusts may go in gathering wealth from universal popular poverty, which they beget, has been nearly reached. The railroad company reversed the policy of the trusts and of the Carnegies. It first compels the prosperity and success of coal and iron mine owners by giving their products the cheapest possible access to the world's markets. It has enabled us to compete with Pennsylvania in all central cities of the Union. It agreed by building these numberless branches, to sell for us all the coal and iron we would exhume. It has contributed quite one-half of the recently augmented wealth of the city and country.

THE LOIL LEGISLATURE.

History of the First Republican Legislature Held in Alabama.

Extracts from the Journal of proceedings and an insight into the manner of bills introduced and the mode of business in those days. One day's session.

Mr. R. W. Offutt is having republished Capt. B. H. Screw's history of the first Republican legislature held in Alabama, 1868, and a proof sheet shows the following one day's proceedings:

SENATE AND HOUSE.

To provide maps, spelling books and McGuffey's readers to the newly elected county surveyors--to prevent the carrying of deadly hostile weapons, except in carpet-bags, were passed.

House Bills — To declare William Bedie, Mary E. McLeon, Saphronia Irving Riley, and Susan Ann May free dealers; provided, they furnish the Senate with $50 and a barrel of butter-milk. Ordered to third reading.

Mr. Nesome, of Clay, asked an indefinite leave of absence. Granted.

Mr. Drawn introduced a bill to regulate the punishment of female convicts. This bill turns over all females convicted of crime, to the Lieutenant Governor, whose duty it shall be to punish them by walking the streets with them in daylight.

Mr. Harris, of Limestone, thought the punishment too severe—he thought it very barbarious. The bill passed.

Mr. McGraw, bill for the removal of disabilities was ordered to be read, but the resolutions could not be found. Both houses proceeded to search for them, and, after four hours fruitless hunt, a gentleman from the Senate offered to produce them for 300 dollars. They were found far away in the same place occupied by Col. Jacob Thompson's papers.

Mr. Coon's bill, directing the Governor to send commissioners to Lower Guinea, to examine the laws of that country, and to obtain copies of the same for the use of the State, was passed. The Governor has nominated Lakin, Sheets, Figures, Bob Pete, (colored) for that important mission. Just as soon as they get their clothes washed, and Pete finds his steers they are going to start.

Mr. Hill's bill to establish a poor house in the county of Bullock, was passed without a dissenting voice. This bill provides for the support of all members of the Loyal Leagues at the expense of the county.

Mr. Carraway's bill to furnish the wives and daughters of all colored leagues with lily white, was amended to include fine tooth combs and passed.

Mr. Columbus Jones introduced a bill authorizing Mr. Sibley, of Madison to take possession of a certain cow, sold by him in Huntsville while Mr. Sibley was in a tight. Referred to committee on cows and bulls.

Mr. Chisholm introduced a bill to establish a free grocery in the city of Florence, for the benefit of the Loyal League. Referred to the committee on bar-rooms, which is the committee of the whole.

Mr. Lentz, of Limestone, introduced a bill to compel loyal ministers of the gospel to pray for the damnation of all men outside of the radical church. Referred to the committee on religion.

Mr. Jennings, of Lawrence, introduced a bill to allow members to whistle during session hours. Referred to the committee on music.

Mr. Smith's bill giving the member from Morgan the right to stick his thumbs in the arm holes of his vest, was read the third time and passed, and the member is enjoying the privilege.

Mr. Hinds introduced a bill which was so artistically written, and so grammatically worded and spelled, that no one could read it, not even the Senator himself after it had dried. The bill passed and will be sent to China for interpretation.

Mr. Oliver, of Jefferson, offered a resolution to remove Doctor Haughey's conscience, so as to enable him to take the last oath. Mr. Farden thought the bill unnecessary, since Dr. Haughey had no conscience. Referred to the committee on prayer.

Mr. Worthy introduced a bill to strike out section 339 of the revised code of Alabama, and insert in lieu thereof the photograph of Grant and Colfax. Passed.

A bill authorizing the governor to commission certain officers of Lowndes county to keep constantly drunk as a warning to young men was passed.

A bill prohibiting the sale of spirituous liquors within two miles of a certain hickory stump, standing near Alfred Collin's was referred to the committee on intoxication.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondent.

Stanton and Shelby Springs.

Your correspondent has just returned from Stanton, where the Farmer's Alliance county meeting was in session on the 3d and 4th inst. In which time there was much important farmer's business transacted, by the many delegates from all over the county, and having the presence of the venerable Dr. Gross, State Lecturer, also our State President, Rev. Samuel Adams, and from each lecture delivered by them, all present surely enjoyed an intellectual feast. We were favorably impressed with the citizens of Stanton, and the progress of the farmer's-store, superintended by the much esteemed, Mr. J. A. Stevens. Upon the whole we felt that it was pleasant to be there.

We have left Jemison for a while in pursuit of health at Shelby Springs, where there are new arrivals on every train. Well may they come to these inviting shades and medicinal waters, and find plenty to eat in any variety. In our little trip, we saw crops looking pretty well, and no scarcity of good rains.

MRS. IRA CAMPBELL.

Maplesville Dots.

Our protracted drought has at last been broken, we are afraid with too much rain, farmers are now fearful of being swamped in grass. Fortunately crops were very clean when the rain set in.

Mrs. Lockheart's country friends are glad to welcome her back for the summer with Mrs. Goodwin.

Much intellect has been added to our town by the return of Miss Fannie Foshee and Miss Bobbie Glover from college.

Mrs. Berry is now with her daughter, Mrs. Thos. DuBose for the summer.

Mrs. Mary DuBose has been enjoying the visit of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Berry.

Miss Marion Kelly is on a visit to her childhood's home at Childersburg.

Messrs. L. H. DuBose and Frank Kelley have been visiting their friends here.

Some of Maplesville's young folks enjoyed the Alliance dinner at Stanton notwithstanding the falling weather, which caused the ladies apparel to look somewhat the worse for wear.

Mr. Ben and Miss Willie Glover, of this place enjoyed the entertainment given by Mrs. Gilliam, of Chilton's Mills in honor of Mr. Claude and Miss Stella Givhan, of Uniontown.

A party from here came near being run over by a northbound freight, while crossing the railroad on their way to Clanton Ford picnic. The young ladies stood not on ceremony in waiting for their escorts to assist them, but every one scrambled for themselves and narrowly escaped a great danger.

RIVOLO.

Stanton Notes.

The Baptist District Convention met here on the 27th of June and lasted four days; the meeting was largely attended, and the discussions interesting and instructive. There were some able preachers in attendance, among whom were Doctors Frost and Cleveland.

On the 3d and 4th inst., there was held here the largest picnic by the members of the Alliance, that it has ever been the fortune of our people to witness. It lasted two days and fully 800 persons were present. The writer could not attend, but from what he can gather, it was simply grand.

We have had an abundance of rain and the crops are looking well but getting grassy. The corn crop I suppose is made, and from present appearances would say that the harvest will be abundant. In southwest Chilton, where the writer has a summer school, the crops of both corn and cotton are very fine.

A few nights ago a skirmish occurred in the coaling part of our city among the brothers and sisters in black in which a dusky Amazon whipped out the whole concern including men and women.

Our Bro. Noble preached a good sermon in the Presbyterian Church here to-day, his subject, "Submission to the Master's Will."

Miss Lallie Caller, of the Tuskegee Female College is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Little.

Miss Carrie Thomas, a beautiful and accomplished young lady is visiting her uncle, Mr. O. H. P. Wright.

Miss Susie McGee and her mother have returned from the Judson. Miss Susie is one of our sweet little flowers just budding into womanhood, and destined to shed lustre and grace in her path through life.

I am glad to see a son of my antebellum friend, Mr. Anderson Givhan, on our streets. How fast time flies. It seems but yesterday when this young man's father and myself were boys.

Jemison Locals.

Quite a number of the Knights of Honor and their friends from Jemison attended the joint celebration of the 16th anniversary of the order by Calera, Montevallo and Jemison Lodges at Calera on Tuesday last. The program embraced an excellent address by Rev. A. E. Burns, and also dinner in profusion.

A movement is on foot looking toward the forming of a company with a capital stock of one hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of building a cotton factory in the town of Jemison. Such an enterprise will add new impetus to the growth of our town, and assure us a material and an enduring prosperity, and it is to be hoped that the project will be encouraged by every citizen in the surrounding country.

We are glad to see our friend, P. C. Bean, Esq., out on the streets again after confinement to his house for some time with a fractured arm. We were just congratulating ourselves that he would soon be all right, when we were informed that one of our physicians said Mr. Bean never would use his arm any more. Because he never did use it, Mr. Editor, and of course you can't expect him to learn new tricks in his old age.

Mr. Frank Crocheron has been appointed postmaster at Jemison, vice Mr. W. E. Lowery.

Mrs. Mollie Allen and Miss Minnie Wells are visiting friends at Verbena and Deatsville.

Miss Mollie Morgan has removed to Jemison and will assist Mrs. M. C. Palmer in the management of the hotel.

Mr. J. M. Brantley has been quite sick, but we are glad to say he is now convalescing. "Uncle Johnnie" is a good citizen and a good man, and we could ill afford to lose him.

Mrs. H. T. Caffey has returned from a visit of several weeks to Dallas Co.

We are glad to see our friend, Mr. L. J. Hand, out again after some day's sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Allen are visiting friends at Bridgeton and Birmingham.

Prof. Ruffin is down looking after the interests of Jemison High School, of which he is principal. This excellent school will re-open in September next, and parents who desire healthy location, moral influences, and thorough instruction for their children cannot do better than to patronize it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wyatt are rusticating in South Alabama.

Miss Leila Parker, of Columbiana, is gladdening the society of our village with her genial, sunny presence.

X. Y. Z.

Mountain Creek.

To-day a good rain, and farmers in this vicinity are laying their crops by.

Several families from Montgomery and Hayneville arrived to spend the summer, and are enjoying the cool breezes. More comers are expected every day. The hotel is opened and we will soon have it lively at this resort.

There are several of Montgomery's fair young ladies here, they make things look cheerful around Mt. Creek.

On July 9, about 10 a. m. there was a wreck on Marbury & Jones log road caused by a scantling supposed to be pulled on the track by a dray crossing. The train running back wards and going around a sharp curve, tilted 4 cars on the top of each other, and made a complete wreck of them. Mr. Duffie Baggett, a log hauler who was on the train, was badly bruised and had 2 ribs broken, a negro brakesman, Henry Moore, was cut badly on the neck. He will perhaps recover. Several white gentlemen riding on the train at the time were badly scared, and in jumping off, made lumber and gravel fly in every direction.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N. C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK

THE ONLY ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle — the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,

E. L. BARLETT,
Business Manager.

The Lawson Carpet C

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention
the people of Chilton county to their larg and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelti

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guarant low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully, ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWS

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt tention.

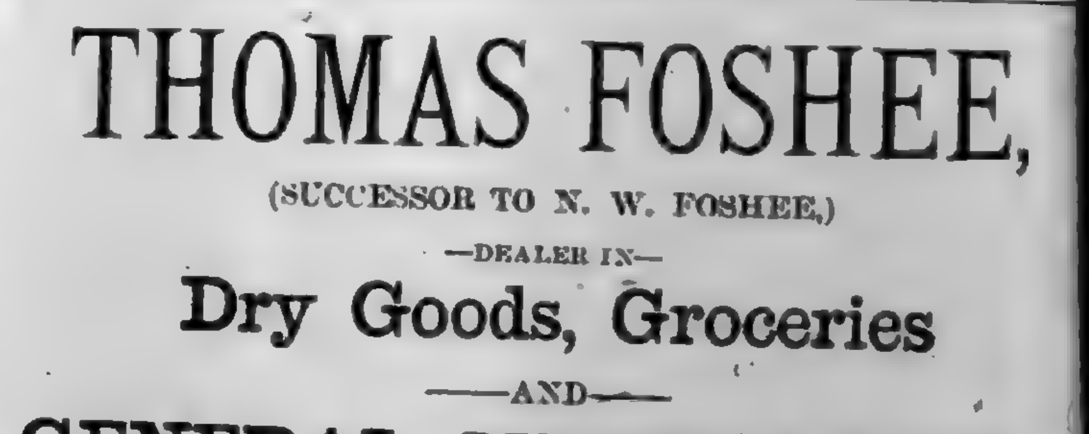
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALT

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

Marion Military Institute.



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and facu live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family wa care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish pract and thorough training. Terms moderate.

J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama.

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofor extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.

H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application.

apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
— Manufacturer of all kinds of —
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK.
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth street,
Birmingham, Alabama.
nov23-tf

Carpet C
, Ala.
g the attention
ty to their large tock of indow Shades,
ld Noveltie
, and prices are guarante
ern markets.
all. Respectfully,
PET CO. (WM. LAWSON

RTER.
EEBLES.)
UGGISTS.
Receive Prompt A S A SPECIALTY
and 20th STREETS,
Ala.
ompany's Prices.
June 19 y

nstitute.

lent, his family and faculty ys who need family watch
l to all who wish practical
J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.
Marion, Alabama.

SHEE, HEE,) oceries
HANDISE.
bama.
atronage heretofore
OMAS FOSHEE.

M,
mery, Ala.,
R ROOMS,
Scouring and dyeing
Street.

PER,
DOW SHADES,
ULDINGS,
—AND—
AL PAPER HANGER.
IA,
Y, ALABAMA.
ents up. Will send apr 11-y

WORKS.
LT, KMAN, Marble.
TONE WORK.
th street,
Alabama.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JULY 11, 1889

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—On the eleventh Monday after the fourth Monday in February, and on the thirteenth Monday after the fourth Monday in August, and may continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. -Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

The county board of revenue met last Monday.

Mr. Claude Powell, of Birmingham, visited friends in Clanton this week.

Mrs. Bishop and children, of Birmingham, are visiting Mrs. Evans and family.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil, of this place is spending some time at Ocean Springs, Miss.

Mrs. C. G. Reading, Misses Camilla and Helene Reid, of Montgomery, visited relatives in our town last week.

Remember we will send the VIEW one year to the person presenting us with the largest watermelon during this season, Tip Mullins has a three months school under way in the Jumbo settlement. He will return to Nashville in the fall.

Prof. J. W. Moore has a fine school at Cooper's Station. He is an excellent teacher and a pleasant gentleman. Sucess to him.

Mr. Jas. A Dudley, one of the most reliable saw mill men of the county, was in town Saturday. His mill keeps him busy and his visits to Clanton are rare.

The time of holding our circuit court having been changed by the last Legislature the next term of the court will not begin until the 25th of November.

The entertainment by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church on last Friday night was very successful and a good sum was realized for furthering the church work.

Our neighborhood correspondents are making their contributions interesting. There is not a country weekly in the State that can claim a more efficient crew of county correspondents.

Some of our sportsmen attended the shooting match and barbecue at Jackson's Lake on the 4th inst., given by the Montgomery Shooting Club. Mr. W. T. Callen, of Clanton won the third prize in the contest.

Cold, cough, coffin is what philosophers term a logical sequence." One is very liable to follow the other; but by curing the cold with a dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cough will be stopped and the coffin not needed—just at present.

Any farmer having a moment's time to spare who will drop the VIEW a postal card giving the crop outlook in his neighborhood will confer a favor upon us. We desire the information in time for publication in the next issue of the paper.

Co. Supt. R. E. R. Hicks was in town paying off the teachers on Saturday last. Prof. Hicks having been re-elected principal will re-open Pleasant Grove Academy in September, and the attendance for the coming session promises to be unusually large.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at actual prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

We are glad to note that the project of building a cotton factory is being agitated at Jemison. Such an enterprise would be a grand one for our county. We trust that it will be pushed to success.

The reporter for R. G. Dunn & Co., gives not a very encouraging outlook for crops in this locality on account of backwardness. In the immediate vicinity of Clanton crops are better than we have ever known them at this season though cotton is small. Encouraging reports have reached the VIEW office from various portions of the county in regard to the crop prospects in the neighborhoods from which they come, and all were good. An immense feed crop can be counted on.

Serious Fire.

Mr. Jno. Milstead, of the Clear Creek neighborhood, lost by fire on Monday night, the 8th inst., his stables, crib and entire crops of wheat and oats.

Card of Thanks.

The Presbyterian ladies return sincere thanks to their friends who patronized so liberally the impromptu entertainment Friday night. Also to the ladies and gentlemen who furnished the music, to the ladies who donated cream and cake, to Miss Butler for her reading and to Mr. Lawrence for notices.

MRS. L. HOLT.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

Rainfall for the past week has been above the average and well distributed throughout the state; only one locality has reported a deficiency, and only one complaint of injurious effects on account of excess of rain.

This season of showers has greatly benefited the crops, especially upland corn, which was thought to have been injured by the previous drought.

The temperature and sunshine have been about the normal and affected the growing crop very favorably. P. H. MELL, Director.

The Southern Exposition.

The ladies in charge of the women's department of the Southern exposition to be held in Montgomery, have issued the following circular to the ladies of the state, asking their assistance in making this feature of the exposition one of special interest and attraction:

Montgomery will have next fall the best exposition ever held in this state. As its name indicates it is to be distinctly a Southern Exposition, displaying the products, manufactures and resources of our southland.

It is desired to make the Women's Department of exposition one of its chief attractions, and your cooperation and personal interest in this enterprise are respectfully solicited. That the enterprising and patriotic women of Alabama are heartily in accord with any movement in their midst tending to encourage and promote the attainment of excellence in art, domestic handiwork and culinary skill, no one will dispute, and the management is already assured of numerous and interesting exhibits in this department. We respectfully request you to prepare an exhibit of your skill for the exposition and write us as soon as possible of your intention, in order that desirable space, for which no charge is made, may be reserved for you.

The exposition will open on November 5 and continue up to and including November 15, 1889. Premium lists will be sent upon application, and any information or assistance in our power will be cheerfully furnished. Very respectfully.

MRS. W. H. WARE, Pres't.
MRS. ROSA GARDNER, Sec't.

A Tennille (Georgia) gentleman caught a number of fish and threw them, with an eel on the grass. Later he prepared to string them, but found that the eel had run his tail through the gill of each fish and tied the end into a hard knot, thus converting itself into a genuine fish string. This item is copied from the Tennille Enterprise.

The inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier should be known to every wife and mother. It corrects irregularities, gives tone and strength to the vital organs, and cleanses the system of all impurities. The best family medicine.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Greeley's Sayings.

Print the facts.

Let the dead rest.

I do not desire any sympathy.

We value facts more than opinions.

Learn to think and not for your self.

Better have a good understanding at the outset.

Let us try to cultivate a generous spirit in all things.

Better do one thing well than several things middling well.

Now about ferocity. I am in favor of it, judiciously applied.

It is not what we intend, but what we do, that makes us useful.

When a thing cannot be done right, do not have it done at all.

I believe the history of human progress is written in inventions.

Let us succeed in what we have undertaken before we try anything more.

I want to have less and less to do with politics and more and more with productive industry.

There are very many things I don't begin to know, but I ought to know something of party controversy.

Oh, my friend, the wisdom which teaches what should not be said that is the hardest to acquire of all.

—From his letters to Charles A. Dana in New York Sun.

The Governor of Mississippi has issued requisitions for the arrest of Sullivan and Kilrain. We trust this is no sham movement.

His name is R. J. McKinney; his residence is Woodbury, Hill county, Texas, his statement May, 1889: My little son was cured by S. S. S. of bad sores and ulcers, the result of a general breaking down of his health from fever. He was considered incurable, but two bottles of Swift's Specific brought him out all right.

Mr. John King, of Miss., says that he was cured of rheumatism in his feet and legs by taking Swift's Specific. This was after he had tried many other remedies both internal and external, and paid many doctor's bills.

Swift's Specific has saved me years of untold misery by relieving a partial paralysis in my left side. This was after I had been treated by the best physicians in St. Louis Chicago. The trouble was caused by some derangement of my blood, which has been corrected by S. S. S.

T. A. SHEPPART,
Sherman, Texas.

B. O. Gillett, of Purdy, Mo., says Swift's Specific cured him of Eczema on his limbs and body. He took only two small bottles.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Notice.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 4th, 1889.

Complaint having been entered at this office by Redding E. Jones, Jr., against General J. Bryant, for abandoning his Homestead Entry No. 14759, dated October 30th, 1883, upon the e ½ of s e ¼ and s w ¼ of s e ¼ section 36, township 22 north, range 15 east, in Chilton county, Ala., with a view to the cancellation of said entry, the said parties are hereby summoned to appear at Clanton, Ala., before Wm. H. Foshee, Commissioner, who takes testimony on the 15th day of July, 1889, and at this office on the 20th of July, 1889, at 10 o'clock a. m., to respond and furnish testimony concerning said alleged abandonment.

jun13
J. G. HARRIS, Register.
WM. C. JORDAN, Receiver.

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul18 y

HOW'S THIS!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN, & MARVIN, Druggists, Toledo.
E. H. VAN HOESEN, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

It Has Never Failed.

Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) has cured hundred of cases of Scrofula, Eczema and other contagious blood diseases, after other treatment had been tried and failed. You do yourself and family great injustice unless you give this excellent remedy a trial. Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for illustrated "Book of Wonders" filled with letters from persons cured by B. B.B.

MR. M. J. ROSSMAN, Greensboro, Ga., writes: "I have a lady friend who has been entirely cured SCROFULA of an ugly scrofulous breaking out of the skin, and the use of two bottles of B. B. B. effected an entire cure. I know of several cases of blood diseases cured speedily by the use of B. B. B.

E. G. TINSLEY writes: My mother and sister used B. B. B. for scrofula and ulcerated sore throat SORE THROAT and received more benefit from its use than all other remedies they ever used.

A. H. NICHOLS, 119 Gray St., Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My wife for several years has been suffering with what physicians term Eczema, affecting her whole body, limbs and scalp. It appeared that her whole skin would shed off in scales about once a week, leaving the surface red and tender, and sometimes cracked open. Her general health failed, and for a while it was thought she would die, as several doctors and numerous patent medicines failed to give ECZEMA any relief. My brother-in-law, Mr. J. B. Cummings, was selling the B.B.B and insisted that I should try it on my wife. I did so, and to our utter astonishment she commenced improving at once, and three bottles, costing only $3, effected an entire cure. It is wonderfully quick in action."

D. M. McRAE, Waynesboro, Miss., writes: "My BOILS sister was aflicted with boils which sadly impaired her health, and she lost flesh and strength each day. One bottle of B B. B. acted like magic and produced a complete cure."

[sep27 cw 1y]

NOTICE NO. 8874.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on August 3rd, 1889, viz: Anderson Peoples, Homestead 15606 for the s w ¼ of s e ¼ and s e ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 10, township 21 n, range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Willis Young James, Rasberry, Horace McGee, Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8789.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., July 10, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 17, 1889, viz: John D. B. McDuffie, Homestead 14772 for the n ½ of s e ¼ and e ½ of s w ¼ sec 15 t 20 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Elizabeth Gordon and Frederick G. Gordon, of Mountain Creek, Ala., Noah Duffee and Mayberry Cooper, of Verbena, Ala.

july11o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8875.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 3d, 1889, viz: Willis Young, homestead application 15629 for the s w ¼ of s w ¼ section 10 township 21 north range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Anderson Peoples, James Rasberry, Horace McGee, and Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

Bring your job printing to this office.

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

DRUGS, AND Medicines,

FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

CRELLIN & NALLS,

BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers

Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜

Birmingham, Ala.

mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.

MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS

Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery

OF ALL KINDS.

MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜

nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.

Lyman & Stone.

BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.

SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

Blank Books, · Letter Presses,

PRINTERS' STOCK.

Fine Stationery a Specialty.

2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,

Steam Printers and Binders,

1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay

INSURE WITH

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,

Montgomery, Alabama.

Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.

Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.

W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.

ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]
FOR SALE BY ALL [illegible]
[illegible]

A. M. RAMBO,

DENTIST,

VERBENA, ALA.

Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.

[mal5 y]

Money to Loan.

Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address

R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,

jan27 Clanton, Ala.

S. P. TRESSLAR,

Photographer,

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER,

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE

(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the

BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.

The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE

TRADE MARK

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family"

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than ....

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Billous Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Billous or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.,

(Successors to Wm. Condall.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISOS CURE FOR

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best

Cough Medicine.

If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.

The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.

Easy and pleasant to use.

Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

nov22-y

[illegible]

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

FROM $45 to $33.

This Elegant Parlor Organ style 70 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells, stool and book free. For only $33.00. With right and left coupler. "Warranted for 6 years."

[illegible]

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

THE WASH OF HILLSIDES.

No farmer can afford to permit the rain that falls on his newly-plowed fields to run off in muddy torrents to the nearest river and bear with it the richest part of the soil. As a general rule, our cultivated fields are more rapidly exhausted by surface drainage than by their annual contribution to growing crops. And again, when the frozen ground has thawed a few inches on top and a heavy rain occurs, the soil is carried away in large quantities, though the inclination be but slight. I have often known it to be swept off by the ton just as deep as it had thawed. And no amount of underdraining would prevent such a result. A copious rain under the circumstances is always dreaded by our farmers. Hillsides should mostly be used for pasture or meadow, and only plowed occasionally when a good bluegrass sod can be turned under. It may then be cultivated in corn one season, followed by wheat or oats, and again seeded to grass.—Indiana Farmer.

PASTURING STOCK.

Throughout the West there is more or less a pest of flies in summer. In the prairie region there are the green heads, and near timber the deer flies, both veritable bloodsuckers. The warble fly—the large black warble flies that deposit their eggs on the backs of cattle and horses—are also not only annoying at the time of ova-positing, but painful and debilitating as the larva grows. The bot-flies, that deposit their eggs on the limbs and on the breasts of horses, occasion much annoyance to the stock.

The general means of avoidance of all these disabilities is a dark place to which the animals may retire when not feeding, and especially that animals during fly-time be allowed to pasture night and morning, and, in fact, all night when possible. Where the flies are very bad, we advise that all stock be driven to dark stables from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M., even at the expense of giving them cut forage during these hours.

Another thing the careful feeder will do well to observe is to pay strict attention that stock have access to water at all times, or, at least, at stated intervals, so that they may never get thirsty. Animals are very much like men in the matter of drinking. Some days they seem to require very little; other days they take what may seem an inordinate quantity. Nevertheless, when required, the water should be accessible, and this in line with the trite saying: "A merciful man is merciful to his beast."—Prairie Farmer.

SMALLER CROPS AND BETTER PRICES.

It is small, not large, crops that we need more of. My minimum crops have invariably been more profitable, and I have heard many farmers make the same remark. Would it not be well for our farmers to combine to produce less for a few years of all staple crops, thereby thoroughly cleaning up the surplus and getting better returns for our labor than we have received for the last decade? Certainly we have the same right to combine to limit production as have coal or oil companies, millers and manufacturers. Some may say that it is our duty to ourselves and our country to do our best in our chosen calling—but best for whom? If we can do better by producing less and getting more for it, why not do it, as long as other producers are doing the same thing and we have to exchange our products for theirs?

Why should farmers be the only class of producers that cannot establish a price for their commodities? When we buy we have to pay the price asked; when we sell we have to take the pittance the purchaser sees fit to offer. Surely, no class of laborers works as many hours for as little pay as the farmer, and it is time our calling was more remunerative. Can this be done by producing more or less? I am of the opinion that General Butler was right when he said that "our trouble is not overproduction, but underconsumption," and the question is, how shall we increase the consumption of farm products? Certainly not by increasing the quantity, but by improving the quality. Every one knows that soggy potatoes, stale eggs, rancid butter, etc., last much longer than good fresh No. 1 articles. If all our food products were the very best, much more would be consumed, thus making a greater demand and more remunerative prices. Many of our wide awake farmers can make a part of their productions an actual necessity to one or more families in our large cities at paying prices by supplying these products regularly, fresh, sweet and wholesome. I know this by experience, for my customers often tell me that they prefer to purchase farm products of the producer, especially eggs and butter.

It is laudable for practical farmers to experiment, investigate and produce maximum crops, but it is more profitable to produce the best and get good pay for them.—American Agriculturist.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Don't feed sloppy food to the little chicks.

Land poor and poor land are evils to be avoided.

Feed often and a very little at a time to small chicks.

Hard workers are usually honest. Industry lifts them above temptation.

Heavy rains have assured splendid crops in western and southern Oregon.

To make a good grafting wax mix one part of tallow with two parts of beeswax and four parts of resin.

Get as nearly as possible the desired number of hens set this month, for July 1st is pretty late for profitable chicks as winter layers.

The silo, practically, is a substitute for pasturage, so far as the succulence of the food and quick digestibility is concerned, without its expense.

Usually the dairymen who succeed best are those who have obtained a good reputation for their butter, and can command a satisfactory price, year after year.

White Wyandottes have taken a strong hold upon many farmers and breeders, displacing the Leghorn, Brahma and Plymouth Rock. They are without a doubt an excellent fowl.

There are four essentials in the making of money at the dairy business. First, good cows. Second, to have them well fed. Third, to have their milk well manufactured; and fourth, to have the product well sold.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

HOW TO MEASURE SOCKS.

A young man stepped up to the counter of one of our furnishing stores the other evening, and called for a pair of socks. "Be sure that you get them large enough," said he, "for when they are too small they always wear through the toes." "Yes sir," replied the polite clerk, "I'll get them right; will you please hold out your hand?" "I said socks, not gloves," answered the young man, somewhat surprised. "I know what you said," continued the clerk, "but I want to see your hand." The customer held out his hand and doubled up his fist as directed. The clerk took one of the socks from the box, wrapped the foot around the fist and guaranteed a perfect fit. "I am just as sure it will fit you as though I measured your foot," said the clerk, "as the distance around the fist is always the length of the foot. A salesman who knows his business always looks at a man's hands and in that way knows the size of the sock he wants."

TO REMOVE SPOTS AND STAINS.

Benzine is the best and cheapest substance for removing grease, resin, stearine, paraffine, tar, or other spots from clothing. For spots of oil it is best to add a little alcohol ether. Indelible ink can be removed, even after a long time, by means of cyanide of potassium applied in a concentrated solution. Rust spots can be made to disappear by treatment with a weak solution composed of one part nitric acid and twenty-five of water, and afterward rinsing with water and ammonia; copper spots by diluted sulphuric acid and ammonia, and subsequently with water and ammonia. Spots of paint, when not soluble in water and alcohol, can almost always be removed by oil of turpentine. For complete removal it is necessary to wash the spot afterward in a good deal of turpentine. Fruit, wine and similar spots are to be treated by sulphurous acid, in the form of gas or dissolved in water; in the first case the substance to be treated is stretched over burning sulphur, and in the latter, moisted with the solution and washed with water.—Courier-Journal.

RIPENED MEATS.

People accustomed to fowl and other meats bought in the markets are apt to be disappointed in the quality of the chicken they raise themselves with great care and expectation. To their surprise they find it not so tender and of less delicate flavor, and pleasant anticipations of rewards of country or suburban life are to this extent cruelly crushed. The principal reason is, the unripe condition in which home-dressed fowl is almost invariably cooked. Caterers who appreciate the advantage of pleasing their customers do not serve them with recently slaughtered meats. Epicures prefer that all meats, especially fowl and game, be kept as long as possible without becoming actually tainted.

If a lady will provide a suitable refrigerator and ripen the meat before she cooks it, she will learn with experience that an old fowl well ripened is a daintier morsel than the finest chicken just slain. One reason, and a very potent one, why Western-dressed beef is crowding domestic meats out of our local markets is that it is more thoroughly ripened. Our local butchers do not provide themselves with the means of perfecting their meats before putting them into the retail markets, while the others come to them already much improved by time. Immense quantities of meat were formerly sold the same day it was slaughtered, and while still unfit for food for anybody but savages.—New York Tribune.

RECIPES.

Turnips—Pare and slice very thin and boil till tender; drain and cover with sweet milk; season with butter, pepper and salt; let boil two or three minutes; serve at once.

Potato Pie—Boil a dozen potatoes and when done mash and rub through a sieve; add to each pint of pulp three pints of milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one teacup of sugar, three eggs, salt and nutmeg; bake with an undercrust only.

Beef Tea—Take a juicy piece of beefsteak, cut into thin slices about one inch in length, place in a glass fruit jar with a pinch of salt; cover tightly and place in a kettle of water; boil until the meat is tender, then strain the liquor from it.

Okra Soup—Scald one pint of tomatoes, skin and cut them in slices, add one pint of okra sliced thin, one carrot, one onion, two potatoes sliced, put all into a frying-pan with a little hot lard, fry and add two quarts of beef broth and a little chopped parsley; season to taste with salt and pepper, simmer fifteen minutes and serve.

Compote of Cherries—Take a quart of early red cherries; boil three-quarters of a pound of sugar until it candies; drop the cherries into the syrup; let stand five minutes; then return to the fire; let boil gently until clear; take out the cherries with a skimmer; lay them in a dish; add a small teacup of red currant juice to the syrup; boil until very thick; pour over the cherries when nearly cold.

Roast Loin of Veal—Remove the kidney and inside fat from a small loin. Soak a small quantity of bread crumbs in cold water; add to it salt, pepper and a little dry herbs; mix and put it where the kidney had been. Wrap the flap over it, tie it up, place the joint in a pan and set it in the oven. Just before it is thoroughly cooked add two pats of butter previously dredged with flour, which will have the effect of making the joint look more appetizing.

Cauliflower au Parmesan—Boil a head of cauliflower, in water slightly salted, fifteen minutes; while boiling put an ounce of butter, a tablespoonful of flour and a pint of water into a saucepan; whisk and simmer ten minutes add half an ounce grated Parmesan cheese and boil a little longer; cut the cauliflower into neat pieces, put them in a deep dish, add salt and pepper and the sauce; sprinkle over it a thick layer of Parmesan cheese, and finally add a pat of butter; bake in quick oven, and send to table on the same dish in which it was cooked.

Cold Scotch Pudding—Soak a pint of grated oatmeal crackers in one and a half pints of milk. Beat the yolks of three eggs with a heaping tablespoonful of powdered sugar, salt spoonful of salt and the grated rind of a lemon; mix with the soaked crackers. Beat the whites of the eggs with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, whisk into the mixture; pour into small moulds a little more than half full, and set them in a pan containing warm water, place on top of range half an hour, then put the pan in the oven and bake forty-five minutes. When cold set them on ice and serve with sauce.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

ALL POWERFUL WOMAN.

What cannot woman do for good or evil?
She is the worst and best of human kind—
Either an angel or a very devil,
Sour and belligerent, or calmly sweet inclined.
As wife and mother she can make home heaven,
Or bring upon it suffering and blight—
By disposition kind and temper even,
Or bosom full of bitterness and spite.

The sweetest, grandest object in creation
Is a good woman in her proper sphere,
Winning the ardent love and approbation
Of loyal husband and of children dear.
Earnest in her work, devout, untiring—
Ever striving some new bliss to plan—
To no great name but that of wife aspiring—
The crowning glory God vouchsafed to man.

And then, per contra, there is no one living
More to be censured, dreaded and despised,
Than a bad woman constant trouble giving
To those who should by her be idolized.
Splenetic, sour, cruel and seditious,
Careless of home, and fond of rout and ball,
Willful, improvident, conscienceless and vicious,
The friend of no one, and the curse of all.
—Francis S. Smith, in New York Weekly.

DOG COLLARS ON GIRLS' WAISTS.

Girls with slender waists have taken to wearing dog collars in the place of belts. Vanity, of course, is at the back of the fad, but it is a go nevertheless. The collars vary in appearance, but most of them are of the mastiff size, and nearly all of them can be let out. In a walk down Chestnut street yesterday afternoon five young ladies with this highly original kind of belt on were counted. Three of them looked as if they wanted to sit down and take a fresh breath, but the other two, who were more slender, were as easy and chipper as you please.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A STORY ABOUT BALTIMORE GIRLS.

One of the latest fads of Baltimore girls is to dress in black from head to foot, with veil and gloves to match, and then, borrowing a neighbor's child, show it around the city. Of course, the natural supposition is that the child is not borrowed, and that the lady is a widow. As a widow is generally supposed to be ready to recontract matrimony, the sympathies of the susceptible young man are readily aroused, first by curiosity as to how long the child's father has been dead; then, what he died of, and, since the widow seems to mourn for him, how she must have cared for the dear departed. And, if she did care for him, why might she not care also for another, and why might not he be the fortunate individual, especially if the first husband left cash enough for the support of two or three, as the case might be. Of course, when acquaintance follows, the apparent widowhood can be easily and innocently explained, and the desired happy result follow.—Baltimore American.

HOW TO KEEP A TRIM FIGURE.

Women who wish to preserve the slimness and contour of their figures must begin by learning to stand well, says a writer in Dress. That is explained to mean the throwing forward and upward of the chest, the flattening of the back, with the shoulder blades held in their proper places and definite curving in of the small of the back. No other women hold themselves so well as the aristocratic English women. Much of their beauty lies in their proud carriage, the delicate erectness of their figures and the fine poise of their heads.

The same aristocratic carriage is within the reach of any American girl who takes the pains to have it; it is only the question of a few years of eternal vigilance, never relaxing her watchfulness over herself, and sitting or standing, always preserving her erectness and poise, the result being that at the end of that time it has become second nature to her, and she never afterward loses it. Another thing to avoid is a bad habit of going upstairs, which most women do, bent forward, with the chest contracted, which, as well as an indolent, slouchy manner of walking, is injurious to the heart and lungs.

MRS. CLEVELAND MET MRS. HAYES.

There was an incident at the Centennial ball which was as embarrassing to Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Hayes as it was amusing to the bystanders. Mrs. Cleveland had expressed a desire to be introduced to Mrs. Hayes, so was led to her box by one of the Four Hundred who was dancing attendance upon her. Mrs. Hayes being engrossed in a conversation at the time and not immediately recognizing her visitor, simply acknowledged the introduction and went on with her conversation. Mrs. Cleveland stood slightly embarrassed for a moment, and then turned and walked out of the box feeling decidedly chagrined. In the meantime Mrs. Hayes, who had supposed all along that her visitor was one of the numerous class of people who seek introductions on such occasions, looked up and discovered that the lady who had just been introduced to her had gone, inquired casually what her name was, and was much amazed as well as chagrined when a gentleman standing by replied: "Mrs. Cleveland—Mrs. Grover Cleveland—Mrs. ex-President Cleveland." And Mrs. Hayes frantically shouted for the General. "Call the General; bring him to me," and when the General arrived Mrs. Hayes was at once led to Mrs. Cleveland's box and was introduced over again to the ex-President's wife, where she apologized for and fully explained the reason for her lack of cordiality.—New York Herald.

FASHION NOTES.

Soft silk is most used for tea gowns.

"Witch stitch" is the newest craze of the crewel-and-silk-floss young woman.

The Princess gown, either short or trained, is the robe of the day in Paris.

The handles of the finest parasols are of silver and gold, set with real jewels.

Tan remains the favorite color for the glove whether it be of Suede, lisle thread, or silk.

Western women who follow the fashions follow them much more closely than Eastern women.

Lace, tulle and gauze parasols are de rigueur with dressy carriage and lawn party toilets.

This season's collection of fans certainly surpasses in beauty and daintiness any before shown.

Hats of coarse braid are trimmed with garlands of wild flowers and grasses, artistically arranged.

All fine umbrellas and parasols have paragon frames, and the paragon frame is an American invention.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

By others' faults wise men correct their own.

Custom is the plague of wise men and the idol of fools.

The power of doing good action is happiness enough.

Jealousy in a lover is a homage; in a husband an insult.

Happiness is like the echo; it answers but does not come.

Maternal love is an instinct; but there are instincts of divine origin.

Forgiveness is almost indifference; who really loves does not forgive.

Seek consolation only in immortal things; in nature and in thought.

In diving to the bottom of pleasures we bring up more gravel than pearls.

Friendship based solely upon gratitude is like a photograph; in time it fades.

Friendship is constant in all other things, save in the office and affairs of love.

A man in love is like an ostrich; he thinks he is not seen because he does not see others.

Friendship diminishes when there is too much happiness on either side and too much misery on the other.

There is but one happiness—duty. There is but one consolation—work. There is but one delight—the beautiful.

A woman does not become a mother; she is one from her birth. A numerous family satisfies her vocation; it does not create it.

A household without children is a bell without a clapper. The latent sound would be beautiful enough were there something to awaken it.

Happiness when at a distance appears so great as to touch the sky. When it enters our door it so dwindles that very often we no longer recognize it.

The Bloodhound.

From an article in the Century we quote the following: "Some few years ago the idea of the use of bloodhounds for detective purposes was mooted in the daily papers, and the howl of horror at the barbarity of such a proceeding that it raised from the uninformed was most amusing to those who know the tractability of the bloodhound. He was associated with the tales of slave-hunting in 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' and 'Dred,' and was supposed to be a ferocious monster, endowed with witch-like attributes, and capable of pursuing his victim successfully under any conditions until caught, when he would certainly tear him limb from limb.

"The horrible murders committed in the East End of London last year and the complete failure of the police to trace the perpetrator of these outrages were the means of calling attention once more to the qualifications of this old time detective. The daily papers were filled with letters advocating his use; but, from the thoroughly impracticable nature of many of these epistles, I fear that the change in public opinion was due more to a strong desire for vengeance on an exceptionally loathsome miscreant than to increased knowledge of the disposition of the bloodhound. At one time the police received about 1200 letters daily containing various suggestions, and of these, some 400 proposed the use of bloodhounds. Some of the newspaper correspondents seemed to believe that the police had only to take a bloodhound of any kind to the place where a murder had been committed weeks or months before, and the animal would at once scent out the trail of the murderer in preference to thousands of others and infallibly run the man down.

"In the beginning of October I was consulted by Sir Charles Warren, then the Chief Commissioner of Metropolitan Police, as to the feasibility of employing bloodhounds to track the Whitechapel murderer, and after some correspondence I took two hounds up to London to experiment with. We ran them repeatedly in the parks for the information of police authorities and various representatives of the press, and sufficiently demonstrated the facts that the hounds will run a man who is a complete stranger to them, that when they have come up to their man they will not molest him in any way, and that although the line may be crossed by others they will not change. While in London I never ran them without the line of the hunted man being crossed (often by quite a number of people), but the hounds never once changed. They could carry the line across and for a short way along the gravel paths in the parks, but the experiments made on the London stones could not be considered as satisfactory as we should have wished. Hunting the clean boot on a London pavement is, I believe, the most severe test that any hound can be put to, and will of course require special and careful training."

The Debts of States.

The eleventh number of the Statistical Abstract of the United States for 1888, just issued from Washington, contains figures concerning the debts and tax rates of the several States. The highest State debt in the list is that of Massachusetts, $31,000,000; the lowest, Vermont, $135,500. (Wisconsin, Colorado, Illinois, West Virginia and Oregon have no State debt). New York's debt is not quite $7,000,000, which is very low, considering her size, population and wealth. The other rich States, by which New York's indebtedness may be compared, are Pennsylvania, whose indebtedness is in round numbers $15,000,000; Ohio, $4,000,000, and Kansas, $1,500,000. Virginia has a funded debt of $23,550,696, and $8,300,000 more unfunded. She stands second only to Massachusetts in the list. Tennessee is third on the roll with $17,000,000. North Carolina is fifth with $13,000,000, followed by Louisiana with $12,000,000, and Maryland with $11,000,000. New York raises more money by taxation, over $9,000,000, than any other State, but the rate of taxation is fair. The State tax on $100 is only 26 2-10th cents. Nevada, in respect to the rate of tax, is highest with 90 cents per $100, while Massachusetts is lowest with 11½ cents, Delaware being an exception with no tax rate at all. New York's rate is about the same as Iowa, Maine, New Jersey, Ohio, Texas and West Virginia, with Pennsylvania four cents higher. In the matter of State debt it is notable that West Virginia is prohibited by constitutional enactment from incurring any debt. The total indebtedness of the States is in round numbers $230,000,000, and the aggregate taxable valuation of property is $23,637,000,000. New York's financial stand ranks with the best.—New York Graphic.

"Two spoonfuls," not "two spoonsful," is the correct expression.

CURIOUS FACTS.

Signatures in lead pencil are legal.

Columbus, in 1493, brought the first domestic to America.

Chain cables were introduced into the English navy in 1812.

Canada was divided into Upper and Lower Canada in 1791.

Albany, Ga., rejoices in the possession of a three-legged alligator.

An English barber recently shaved twelve men in three minutes and forty seconds.

Dan Walker, of Eustis, Fla., has an alligator that he is breaking to drive in harness.

A man in Texas has invented a machine which will husk twelve acres of corn per day.

Santa Rosa, Cal., has a floral curiosity in the shape of a hollyhock bush that bears jet black flowers.

Mountain hunters of Pennsylvania are said to use indigo instead of whisky to cure rattlesnake bites.

An archæologist at Monticello, Fla., has a tree which bears quinces, pears and apples. It does not seem to be a graft.

A pair of swallows have built their nests in the very summit of the Eiffel Tower, right under the flapping folds of the flag of France.

John Allen, a New York hotel keeper, gives a free dinner to every man, woman and child who asks for it. And yet he makes money.

The newest device for killing time invented by the Briton is to make the men at a dinner party write out some account of the ladies' gowns after the dear creatures have left them to themselves, and later, when the efforts are read aloud in the drawing room, to give prizes for the best and worst descriptions.

A cement, said to be capable of use where resistance to the action of both water and heat is required, is composed by mixing ordinary glycerine with dry litharge, so as to constitute a tough paste. For uniting the joints of steam-pipes and other similar applications, this preparation is said to be very satisfactory.

They have a great unknown in the St. Joseph (Mo.) work house. He was run in as a vagrant and is doing time on the rock-pile. He is way up in the law, medicine, literature, politics, theology and science, but is completely silent as regards himself. In Shakespeare and the Bible the strange being is said to be a giant.

The Peculiar Caribs.

A peculiar sort of individual is encountered at Puerto Cortez, South America, whose color, physiognomy, language and entire demeanor marks him a distinct race from those around him. He is the Carib, whose ebony hue, bushy hair, flat nose and thick lips at once strike you as a pure African. But his origin from this latter race is denied. He is rather shy in demeanor, possessing but few if any of the traits of the other people among whom he lives. Rather in contrast to other natives around him, who are more or less inclined to indolence and laziness, he is thrifty and energetic, and, though ignorant, he would seem to constitute a very substantial element of Spanish America. We were informed that they are one of the most peaceful elements on the coast, never taking any part in the civil wars which have so often agitated these republics. Their favorite occupation is fishing and manufacturing boats, oars, etc., as most of the little pitpans, dories and other small craft sailing the sea to which they have given their name, are the work of their hands. Their strange tongue was for a long time undistinguishable, but of recent years it has been carefully and earnestly studied, and one missionary has undertaken the laborious task of compiling a grammar. It is undoubtedly one of the most difficult languages spoken in this country, and the labor of collecting its difficult phrases, disjointed terms and strange gibberish is by no means an easy task.—Chicago News.

Thomas Jefferson's Death Bed.

Although Thomas Jefferson was a skeptic he frequently spoke in the same strain as the reputed last words, which were: "To God I commit myself; my daughter to my country." In his "Summary Review of the Rights of North America," he says: "The God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time." In the Declaration of Independence he speaks of nature's God and after the celebrated phrase that all men are created equal, he says, "that they are endowed by their Creator with unalienable rights." The phrase that Jefferson is alleged to have used sounds very well, nevertheless Thomas Jefferson did not use it. His last word was "Ah." There is nothing very striking about that, but it is the truth and that is one advantage. Jefferson knew he was dying and he wanted to die on the Fourth of July. As the time wore on toward morning he said to Mr. Trist: "This is the Fourth?" Mr. Trist nodded. "Ah," murmured Jefferson with an expression of satisfaction. Then he sank into unconsciousness.—Detroit Free Press.

Queer Inventions.

There are as many patent cranks in St. Louis as anywhere else, and about the same proportion of them succeed with their ventures as in other towns. A North End man has just patented a shoe scraper to the end of a blacking brush. The patentee is a traveling drummer, and it was while knocking about in small hotels that he noticed how natural it came to take the handle of his blacking brush to scrape the clay off his boots with. Then an idea occurred to him that a small knife scraper could be made to come out of the end of the blacking brush, and he invented one, and the thing was done. There are a thousand and one little designs lying around St. Louis that, if patented, would bring in good money to the inventors. A German crank, who had patented a gun, and was out of means, one day last winter shot and wounded a prominent St. Louis house owner because he would not lend him money to further his schemes, and the same night killed himself in a cheap lodging house on North Third street.—St. Louis Star-Sayings.

A Unique Sign.

The following unique advertisement hangs in front of a table news-stand at the corner of William and Fulton streets in New York:

[illegible]

Human Beings Sold.

The Japan Mail speaks of the traffic in women and children among the destitute as follows: The sale of women and children has become a regular occurrence in the famine-stricken districts of China. "It is as much a matter of notoriety," writes a missionary, "as the selling of mules and donkeys." The women and children are not brought to market, however; the traffic takes place privately. A woman between 20 and 30 years of age is sold for from $5 to $10; a child under 10 for $1 to $1.50. What is the meaning of this traffic? Is it entirely owing to the demand for female chattels in the great cities, or has it a more direct connection with the famine? Some people incline to the latter view. They declare that the famished people, in their pressing need, have resorted to cannibalism, and that though parents will not kill and eat their own children, they are less scrupulous about selling them to other persons to kill and eat. It is impossible to credit this. If we were told that a family, reduced to utter destitution and brought face to face with death by starvation, had eaten one of its members, the thing might be credible. But that money, with which other food might be bought, should be spent on the purchase of human flesh, is wholly beyond the limits of belief. The strong probability is that the famine regions are merely supplying cheap victims for the brothels of the cities.

Princess Kaulani, of Hawaii.

The Honolulu steamer, which arrived recently at San Francisco, brought Princess Kaulani, the fourteen-year-old niece of King Kalakaua, of the Sandwich Islands. She is on her way to Europe to be educated and see the world. She is the daughter of A. S. Cleghorn, a wealthy sugar planter, and was called Princess Like-Like. She is a rather pretty girl of chocolate color and speaks English fluently. She expected her uncle Kalakaua to accompany her to Paris, but this monarch had to postpone the trip to the next steamer, as he was so afflicted with boils that he was confined to his bed. The princess's mother is regarded as a martyr in Hawaii, as it is reported that she jumped into the crater of a volcano to stop the lava flow that was ruining the islands. The natives believe that such self sacrifice will appease the wrath of the goddess who has charge of the volcano. Simultaneous with the death of the princess's mother the eruption stopped. The missionaries scouted the idea, as it tended to keep alive the belief in a heathen god.—[Chicago Herald.

Chinese Etiquette.

Etiquette requires, in Chinese conversation, that each should compliment the other and depreciate himself and all his belongings. It is affirmed that the following is not an exaggeration: "What is your honorable name?" "My insignificant appellation is Chang." "Where is your magnificent palace?" "My contemptible hut is at Luchau." How many are your illustrious children?" "My vile, worthless brats are five." "How is the health of your distinguished spouse?" "My good-for-nothing old woman is well."

HUSBAND of a popular actress—My wife has decided to retire from the stage.

Friend—Indeed! At once?

H.—N'—no, not exactly at once. We have not yet decided upon the exact year, but she will begin her first farewell tour next season.—Boston Courier.

Every third person you meet is troubled more or less with biliousness and don't know how to get rid of it. The causes are easily recorded. A lack of sufficient exercise, eating too much by persons of sedentary habits, indulgence in too rich food, a sluggish torpid liver where the blood does not do its duty, and bile is allowed to accumulate; these cause the whites of the eyes to turn yellow, the skin to look thick and coarse, and the complexion yellow or dark. These are sure indications of biliousness. Brown's Iron Bitters is the remedy you want. It acts directly upon the blood, cleanses and purifies it, and sends it on its journey through the channels of the liver, giving to it activity and clearing out the bile. It will remove the yellow tinge from the eyes and the complexion leaving the latter fresh and clear.

There is no reason in the world why a "baby show" shouldn't be a howling success.

Why They Lead.

Dr. Pierce's medicines outsell all others, because of their possessing such superior curative properties as to warrant their manufacturers in supplying them to the people (as they are doing through all druggists) on such conditions as no other medicines are sold under, viz: that they shall either benefit or cure the patient, or all money paid for them will be refunded. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is specific for catarrh in the head and all bronchial, throat and lung diseases, if taken in time and given a fair trial. Money will be refunded if it does not benefit or cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets—gently laxative or actively cathartic according to dose. 25 cents.

The fastest pair on record—The City of Paris on land and the City of Paris on water.

Positively Delicious.

So delightful to the taste are Hamburg Figs that they could be placed upon the table for dessert, and no one would suspect that they were more than very superior crystalized fruit. This property is what makes them so popular with ladies and children for the cure of constipation, piles, indigestion and sick-headache. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

A 10c. Smoke for 5c.—"Tansill's Punch."

True Economy

It is true economy to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, for "100 Doses One Dollar" is original with and true only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for loss of appetite, dyspepsia, and general languor. It did me a vast amount of good, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it."—J. W. WILLEFORD, Quincy, Ill.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

Be of Good Cheer.

There is one remedy that has brought health and strength to many a failing constitution, and restored many suffering blood-diseased men to lives of usefulness and joy. It has been tried with success after extensively advertised specifics and sarsaparillas had miserably failed to bring relief. If you suffer from ill health, brought on by an impure state of the blood, you do yourself and your friends great injustice if you fail to try this proven cure. It is called B. B. B., or Botanic Blood Balm, and can be obtained from any druggist. Should your druggist not keep it for sale, insist on his getting it for you. Do not be persuaded to take anything else for your blood. B. B. B. is the best. It is the only safe, quick and complete cure. Send to the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for book filled with certificates. If you suffer from sores, aches, weakness, lameness, dyspepsia, catarrh, etc., B. B. B. is the remedy you need, and the only remedy that will restore you to perfect health, mentally as well as physically. Try it.

Scientist—"Do you believe in spirits?" Kentuckian—"Thanks, don't keer ef I do.

WHAT do you chew?
"LUCY HINTON!"
Why?
Because it is the best I can find.
Who makes it?
T. C. Williams Co., Richmond, Va.
Who sells it?
All dealers.
How can I recognise it?
The name Lucy Hinton is on every plug.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.

Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'igr't'n Board, Portland, Or.

1,000 CASES TINWARE.

$15.00 Per Case, Freight Prepaid. RETAILS FOR $25.00.

CONTENTS AND RETAIL PRICES:

Item	Price
6 Coffee Pots, 1 quart	@ .10
12 Coffee Pots, 2 quart	@ .15
6 Coffee Pots, 3 quart	@ .20
6 Stamped Wash Basins, 10 in	@ .05
6 Stamped Wash Basins, 11½ in	@ .10
6 Stamped Wash Basins, 13 in	@ .15
48 Cups, 1 pint	@ .05
12 Cups, 1 quart	@ .10
12 Covered Buckets, 1½ pint	@ .05
24 Covered Buckets, 2 quart	@ .10
6 Covered Buckets, 3 quart	@ .15
6 Covered Buckets, 4 quart	@ .20
6 Milk Buckets, 4 quart	@ .10
6 Milk Buckets, 8 quart	@ .25
12 Stamped Dippers, ½ pint	@ .05
12 Cocoa Shape Dippers, bl'k handle	@ .10
18 Stamped Plates, 9 in	@ .05
12 Stamped Milk Pans, 8½ in	@ .05
12 Stamped Milk Pans, 11 in	@ .10
6 Stamped Milk Pans, 13 in	@ .15
6 Stamped Milk Pans, 15 in	@ .20
3 Dish Pans, 8 quart	@ .10
6 Dish Pans, 10 quart	@ .20
3 Dish Pans, 12 quart	@ .25

Total Retail Selling Price....... $25.

Shipped promptly to any point in your State and FREIGHT PREPAID, on receipt of $15.00.

L. F. BROWN, Charleston, S. C.
Importer and Jobber of Earthenware, Tinware, Glassware.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER

Makes a clean sweep. Each sheet will kill a quart of flies. Stops buzzing around ears, diving at eyes, tickling nose, skips hard words and secures peace at trifling expense. Send 25 cents for 3 sheets to F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

Dr. Lobb, 329 N. 15th St. PHILA., PA.

After ALL others fail, consult

Twenty years' continuous practice in the treatment and cure of the awful effects of early vice, destroying both mind and body. Medicine and treatment for one month, Five Dollars, securely sealed from observation to any address.

Book on Special Diseases free.

N. C. Y. L.

Nashville, Tenn. College for Young Ladies,

Is the leading school of this section. Began with 50 pupils, without grounds or buildings of its own. Now has 3 buildings, 100 rooms, 30 officers, pupils from 15 States. Full course in Literature, Science, Art, Music, privileges in Vanderbilt University, fully equipped Gymnasium, and all modern conveniences. For catalogue address President. Rev. GEO. W. F. PRICE, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.

Plantation Engines

With Self-Contained RETURN FLUE BOILERS FOR DRIVING COTTON GINS and MILLS. Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address JAMES LEFFEL & CO., SPRINGFIELD, OHIO, or 110 Liberty St., New York.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. Please state age and business experience. Never mind about sending stamp for reply. B. F. J. & Co.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU

COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors,
923 I Street N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished.
Correspondence solicited.

MUSIC—ART—ELOCUTION and General Culture. Desirable Positions open to progressive students. All interested will receive valuable information Free, by addressing E. TOURJEE, Boston, Mass.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 65½ Whitehall St.

FREE Large MARRIAGE PAPER and particulars of our association that pays over $1,000 AT MARRIAGE. Address THE CORRESPONDENT, Toledo, Ohio.

$25 AN HOUR made by our Agents. THE DR. PERKINS MEDICAL CO., Richmond, Va.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you want to buy? If so address CURTIS & WRIGHT, 25 Broadway, N. Y.

Agents wanted. $1 an hour. 50 new articles. Outfit and sample free. C. E. MARSHALL, Buffalo, N. Y.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia. Scholarship and positions, $50. Write for circulars.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

BIG G. Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D.,
Amsterdam, N. Y.

We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO.,
Chicago, Ill.

Each $1.00. Sold by Druggists.

A. N. U.......................Twenty-seven

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

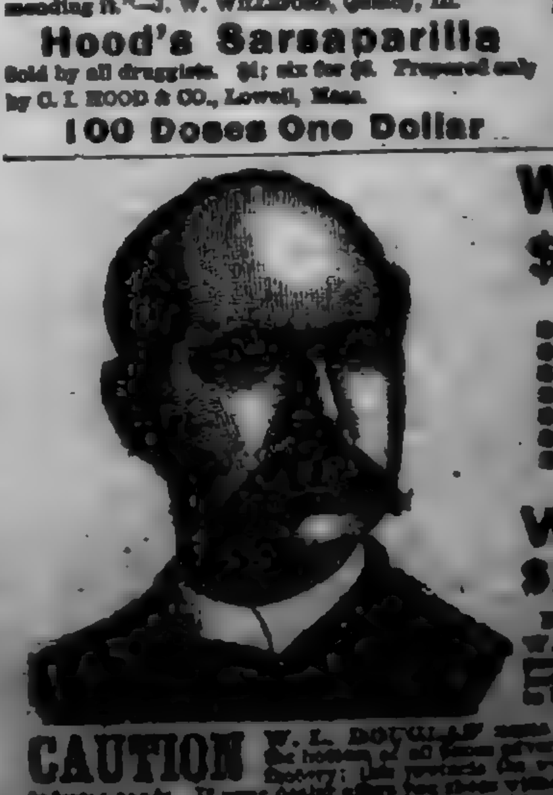
Best in the world. Examine his

$5.00 GENUINE HAND-SEWED SHOE.
$4.00 HAND-SEWED WELT SHOE.
$3.50 POLICE AND FARMERS' SHOE.
$2.50 EXTRA VALUE CALF SHOE.
$2.25 WORKINGMAN'S SHOE.
$2.00 GOOD-WEAR SHOE.
$2.00 and $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
All made in Congress, Button and Lace.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $2 SHOES FOR LADIES.

Best Material. Best Style. Best Fitting.

W. L. Douglas' $3.00 Shoe, shown in cut below, is made of fine Calf, on lasts modelled for the foot; smooth inside as hand-sewed shoes, and no tacks or wax thread to hurt the feet. Every pair warranted.



CAUTION W. L. DOUGLAS' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all shoes advertised by him before leaving his factory; [illegible] Dealers [illegible] W. L. DOUGLAS [illegible]

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

Rates of

One Dollar per a one or less, for Cents for each su

CA

Eve mingha for for f

It Could Not

Ere country ways had
And long ere we w
A lad and lass wou d
And often she'd neglec
The willows bowed to
The cowslips nodde
And he would look and
And both would lo
Yet each—and this is s
Would dream abou
And she would never b
To that good dame
Our girls are w
'Twas very quaint, 'tw
Extremely strange,
Dear me! how modes
It could not ha
Next day, that idle, na
Woul i rearrange h
And ponder long befor
Which bow she oug
"Why do you blush li
And seldom care t
And make her mother
"Why do you bl
And now she'd haunt
That mead with c
Down which she'd met,
That stupid, starin
Our girls are w
'Twas very quaint, 'tw
Extremely strange,
Dear me! how modes
It could not ha
And as for him, that fo
He'd hardly close a
And look so woe-begon
He'd make his m th
"He goes" she said, "fr
My boy so blithe an
Last night I found him
About a lonely gra
And, lo! next d y her n
With laugh and so
And there!—she'd find
Wrapped up in tiss
Our b ys are w
—F. Langbridge in Fr

A Positive Li

BY MARY B.

Mrs. Prindle stoo pier-glass trying on a was a plump little w baby-like face, and her for gazing at complacency, for t millinery perched ov bang was exceeding
"There'll be nothi inville," she said to h of pride, and her fing tread like humming trimmings, touching there a loop.

She was going to next week, for the marriage, to spend a mother, and the bonn
ed from Madame Le G portations with a vie rural friends.

"I only hope nothi it before I get there,"
as she turned at last f

She even denied h of wearing it to chu fearing a shower, fo lowering. To face ance for one more Su that she had already been required far less than to take her seat i inville church consci
net, robbed of its pris being pounced upon b congregation; but she putting it on to le liked it.

"It's pretty well said Jack, viewing it hands behind him;
the fashion is b
And really, on your looks remarkably well

Mrs. Prindle press
before the glass.
seemed to come ing plush on the own padding.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 50	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1889. NUMBER 38.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S AS USUAL

Will Begin Bright and Early Monday Morning

—THEIR GREAT—

MIDSUMMER COST CLEARING SALE!

FIRST AVENUE, ... BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Everything has been arranged to make this in all probability one of the greatest sales in the history of Birmingham. Remember you will have a stock of over $100,000 to select from and these goods were purchased for for first-class class city trade and were not intended for any snide catch-penny business.

A TERIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

It Could Not Happen Now.

Ere country ways had turned to street,
And long ere we were born,
A lad and lass would chance to meet,
And often she'd neglect her task;
The willows bowed to nudge the brook,
The cowslips nodded away,
And he would look and she would look,
And both would look away.
Yet each—and this is so absurd—
Would dream about the other
And she would never breathe a word
To that good dame her mother.
Our girls are wiser now.
'Twas very quaint, 'twas very strange,
Extremely strange, you must allow;
Dear me! how modes and customs change!
It could not happen now.

Next day, that idle, naughty lass
Would rearrange her hair,
And ponder long before the glass
Which bow she ought to wear;
"Why do you blush like that?"
And seldom care to chat,
And make her mother frown and ask,
"Why do you blush like that?"
And now she'd haunt with footsteps slow
That mead with cowslips yellow,
Down which she'd met, a week ago,
That stupid, staring fellow.
Our girls are wiser now.
'Twas very quaint, 'twas very strange,
Extremely strange, you must allow.
Dear me! how modes and customs change!
It could not happen now.

And as for him, that foolish lad,
He'd hardly close an eye,
And look so woe-begone and sad,
He'd make his mother cry.
"He goes" she said, "from bad to worse
My boy so blithe and brave,
Last night I found him writing verse
About a lonely grave!"
And, lo! next day her nerves he'd shock
With laugh and song and caper;
And there!—she'd find a golden lock
Wrapped up in tissue paper.
Our boys are wiser now.

—F. Langbridge in Frank Leslie's Monthly.

A Positive Little Woman.

BY MARY B. SLEIGHT.

Mrs. Prindle stood in front of the pier-glass trying on a new bonnet. She was a plump little woman with a fair, baby-like face, and no one could blame her for gazing at herself with some complacency, for the dainty bit of millinery perched over the curley brown bang was exceedingly becoming.

"There'll be nothing like it in Hutchinville," she said to herself, with a thrill of pride, and her fingers meanwhile fluttered like humming-birds among the trimmings, touching here a flower and there a loop.

She was going to Hutchinville the next week, for the first time since her marriage, to spend a few days with her mother, and the bonnet had been selected from Madame Le Grande's latest importations with a view to dazzling her rural friends.

"I only hope nothing will happen to it before I get there," was her thought, as she turned at last from the mirror.

She even denied herself the pleasure of wearing it to church the next day, fearing a shower, for the skies were lowering. To face her city acquaintances for one more Sunday in the bonnet that she had already worn a whole season required far less strength of mind than to take her seat in the little Hutchinville church conscious that her bonnet, robbed of its pristine freshness, was being pounced upon by every eye in the congregation; but she could not resist putting it on to let Jack see how he liked it.

"It's pretty well up in the world," said Jack, viewing it critically, with his hands behind him; "but that seems to be the fashion in head-gear nowadays. And really, on your head, my dear, it looks remarkably well."

Mrs. Prindle pressed for a moment before the glass. She was almost tempted to wear it, after all, but a warning plash on the window kept her from yielding.

"I won't risk it," she said; and putting the bonnet back in its nest, she stood on tiptoe and pushed the bandbox in place on the upper shelf of the wardrobe.

[illegible]

Mrs. Prindle, in terror of sea-sickness, decided to defer her trip; but with the waning of the afternoon the wind suddenly shifted, the clouds parted, and the sun burst forth like a monarch newly crowned. If it was going to be a fair night, it would be too bad to disappoint her mother, who she knew would be looking for her the next morning, and ordering a carriage at the last moment, she hastily gathered up her baggage and departed.

She was a methodical little woman, and even for the short time that she was to occupy her state-room she wanted "a place for everything and everything in its place;" but on boarding the boat she met an invalid friend who detained her for half an hour or more in the ladies' cabin, and before she could arrange her belongings in her state-room the capricious wind had veered again. She stood for a moment at the window trying to persuade herself that there was no cause for uneasiness, but the rain was already driving against the deck, and the increasing roughness soon compelled her to take refuge in her berth.

To all those on board who were predisposed to sea-sickness it was a night of woe, and when the next morning Mrs. Prindle took the stage for Hutchinville, the little village being about three miles inland, she was too exhausted to give a thought to her baggage, even the precious bonnet had for the moment drifted out of mind, and it was not until she alighted at her mother's door that the discovery was made that the bandbox was missing.

With hasty greetings and equally hasty directions as to where to find the box, her brother Tom was despatched on horseback to the boat, and in a disturbed state of temper and nerves Mrs. Prindle seated herself at the breakfast-table.

"I wouldn't worry about it, Phebe," said her mother; "It'll be all right if you left it in your state-room."

But Tom shortly came galloping back with the information that the state-room had been searched in vain; not a box of any kind was to be found.

"Then that maid must have taken it," Mrs. Prindle declared. "She had to go rummaging among my things last night for my bottle of salts, and I dare say the bandbox took her eye."

"More likely it slipped overboard when they were bringing your traps ashore," remarked Tom, with a boy's repugnance to having people suspected.

But Mrs. Prindle, convinced that the bandbox was in the waiting-maid's possession, insisted on going herself to see the captain.

The captain who had just risen from breakfast when the carry-all stopped at the gate, listened to Mrs. Prindle's story with courteous patience. Mrs. Bates had been on the boat for thirteen years, he said, and he had never had cause to suspect her honesty; but he was more than willing to investigate the matter. It was possible that Mrs. Bates had taken the box to her own room simply for safe-keeping, he suggested.

But Mrs. Bates, who had just finished putting in order the state-room Mrs. Prindle had occupied, denied all knowledge of the bandbox, and was so indignant over Mrs. Prindle's implied suspicion that the captain had some difficulty in preventing a scene.

"It's very strange," said Mrs. Prindle, stiffly, as the captain helped her over the gang-plank. "A box like that couldn't have gone off without hands. Somebody must know something about it, and if it isn't the maid it must be some of the passengers."

But all the passengers had left the boat, and Mrs. Prindle herself had to admit that to send a search-warrant after them would be an unwarrantable proceeding. Beyond question the bonnet was lost, and she returned to Hutchinville feeling that the pleasure of her visit was already at an end. Even the fact that her travelling hat was a pretty [illegible] afforded her little consolation. Still, she could have worn the travelling hat in a more resigned state of mind had the weather been such as to make the other seem a trifle in advance of the season; but from the hour of her arrival until she turned her face homeward, scarcely a cloud marred the serene azure of the skies. The air was full of subtle hints of bursting buds, and robin songs filled the perfumed dawns, while up and down the streets from morning till night the merry children trundled their hoops, and high above the tree-tops soared the inevitable kite; but to Mrs. Prindle, bereft of her bonnet, these unmistakable signs of spring served only to intensify her sense of loss, and she was scarcely sorry when the time came for her to return to town. The loss, trifling in itself, took the beauty out of the velvet lawns.

Jack, like the dutiful spouse that he always proved himself to be, was at the landing to meet her the next morning, and on the way home she poured into his sympathetic ears the story of a missing bonnet.

"You are sure you took it with you?" he asked, when the recital was ended.

"Jack! Of course I'm sure! You don't suppose I'd have gone off without it, after buying it on purpose to wear it when at home?"

"Hardly; but never mind, dear; all you have to do is to go to Madame Le Grade's and duplicate it," said Jack, eager to comfort her.

"I may go to Madame Le Grande's and order another, but I shall not duplicate it," said Mrs. Prindle, with much dignity. "I've no wish to have my bonnet a companion piece to Mrs. Bates'. That woman ought to be brought to justice, and as soon as we're through breakfast, Jack, I want you to take a description of the bonnet to some detective and put him on the watch for her."

"Wouldn't it be better—" he began; but the stopping of the street car in front of their own door served to change the subject. "I feel like a famished hunter," said Jack, as he turned the latch-key.

Mrs. Prigdle too was hungry, and when Jack had deposited her parcels she asked him to tell Bridget to put breakfast on the table at once.

"I'll be down in a moment," she added, as she pulled out her hat-pins.

Jack started to obey, but before he was half-way down the stairs a cry from Mrs. Prindle caused him to face about, and on regaining their room he found her standing in front of the wardrobe gazing in a dazed way at the upper shelf.

"Jack," she whispered, huskily, "is that a bandbox up there?"

Jack himself seemed a little dazed. "It looks very much like one, my dear," he said, slowly; "but of course it is not the one you took away with you."

"I'm—oh, I'm afraid it is, Jack!" gasped Phebe, as Jack took down the box; "or rather I didn't take it, after all. I remember now telling Bridget to put it with the other things in the carriage—she had my bag and umbrella in her hand at the time—and just then the door-bell rang, so I told her to go on and I'd bring the box, but I didn't think of it again till I was at the gate, and then Bridget came running out with it, or at least with something that I supposed to be it, and stowed it into the carriage; but now I think of it, it must have been the lunch box. Oh, Jack, what a goose I've been!"

"Moral," said Jack, taking the bonnet from the bandbox and perching it on his own head.

"Please don't, Jack," entreated Phebe. "Well, then, let's have breakfast," said Jack, hungry enough to be glad of a truce.

But though the subject was not alluded to again that day, whenever Mrs. Prindle shows a disposition to be a little over-positive, Jack, with a masculine memory for [illegible]

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

No physician can heal the wounds of the tongue.

Friendship is the highest degree of perfection in society.

Censure is a tax man pays to the public for being eminent.

He who says what he likes must bear what he does not like.

A guilty weight upon the heart takes the sun out of the sky.

The highest exercise of charity is charity toward the uncharitable.

He who thinks his place below him will certainly be below his place.

It is no honor or profit to appear in the arena. The wealth is for those who contend.

True goodness is like the glow worm—it shines most when no eyes but heaven are upon it.

We are more apt to use spectacles to behold other men's fault's than looking glasses to survey our own.

A man should never blush in confessing his errors, for he proves by avowal that he is wiser today than yesterday.

A homely man of merit is never repulsive; and as soon as he is named his physiuue is forgotten; the mind passes through it to see the soul.

Frogs as Food and Drink.

Frogs are eaten all the world over, and especially in France and in French colonies, like Canada. It is said, however, that this practice—which long ago gave the English nickname "Johnny Crapaud" to the Frenchman—is no older as a fashion, than the end of the fifteenth century; and it seems probable that it rose from the efforts of the fasting, or non-flesh-eating, monks, to get something as near flesh as possible. Hence they always reckoned amphibious animals, including the otter and beaver, as fish, not flesh. But I think the common people of Europe had eaten frogs since there were any people there.

In the winter and spring all city restaurants in the United States put frogs' saddles on their bills of fare. These are chiefly of the species Rana sylvatica. Our native Indians ate them, and preserved them dried and smoked. Savages elsewhere do the same; South Australians even relish tadpoles, but only a few most brutish tribes ever eat the hideous toad.

In New Zealand it appears that certain frogs furnish drink as well to the natives. Drought sometimes lasts there for many months at a time, yet when a rain falls, the water-hollows suddenly swarm with living frogs. This mystery was explained to a traveler who was once in bitter need of water. A native lad, learning of his distress, began to examine the dry surface of the water-holes, and finally detected and followed an indistinct trail left on what had once been mud until it ceased in the shade of a small bush.

He then began to dig with a sharp stick, and in a short time turned out a ball of clay about eight inches in diameter, quite dry outside, which, when broken, disclosed a frog shut up in its cavity, containing besides more than half a pint of clear, cool water.

Fogs Are a Terror to Railroaders.

Dense fogs are a perpetual nightmare to London railway managers. The erratic character of the fogs is what makes the chief trouble. No one knows whither the fog comes or whence it goes, and it gives no notice of its appearance or departure. The sun may be shining in Hyde Park and Cannon street may be wrapped in palpable gloom. On the first appearance of the fog men are stationed near every railway signal, to place explosive wafers on the line, and so convey to the ears of the drivers the warning which they cannot see with their eyes. A [illegible]

The Alaskan Glacier.

The most accurate information yet obtained concerning these glaciers is that gathered by Mr. William P. Blake in 1863. According to him "there are four large glaciers and several smaller ones visible within a distance of sixty or seventy miles from the mouth" of the river. The second of these larger ones has attracted most attention. This "sweeps grandly out into the valley from an opening between high mountains from a source that is not visible. It ends at the level of the river in an irregular bluff of ice a mile and a half or two miles in length and about one hundred and fifty feet high. Two or more terminal moraines protect it from the direct action of the stream. What at first appeared as a range of ordinary hills along the river proved on landing to be an ancient terminal moraine, crescent-shaped and covered with a forest. It extends the full length of the front of the glacier."

This glacier has never been fully explored. A number of years since a party of Russian officers attempted its exploration and were never heard from again. Mr. Blake reports that, as usual with receding glaciers, a considerable portion of the front as it spreads out in the valley is so covered with bowlders, gravel and mud that it is difficult to tell where the glacier really ends. But from the valley to the higher land it rises in precipitous, irregular, star-like blocks, with smooth sides, and so large that it was impossible to surmount them with the ordinary equipment of explorers. The glacier is estimated to be about forty miles long.

Peculiarity of Clock Dials.

Probably not one person in ten can name off hand the numerals on a watch or clock dial. The unlearned nine will usually declare that they can, and will proceed confidently to enumerate them according to the old Roman system—I, II, III, IV. This is wrong. Watches have IIII where one might expect to see IV. All the big public clocks have their dials numbered in this way, including old Trinity and St. Paul's. There is probably only one exception to the rule in this city, and that is the stone dial of St. George's Episcopal Church in East Sixteenth street. A reporter asked the watchmakers in Benedict's why IIII were used instead of IV, and they said they didn't know, but surmised that it was because IV and VI look somewhat alike at a cursory glance, especially to a left-handed man; IIII were substituted to prevent confusion. On the cruise of the American Yacht Club three years ago twenty bottles of champagne were lost by yachtsmen who were willing to back their declaration that they could name the numerals. Only one man won his bet, and he had an old-fashioned watch.—New York Sun.

A Mind Reader's Early Pranks.

A good many stories are told of Washington Irving Bishop, the dead mind reader. One of the best relates to his early youth. When a lad he was engaged in a drug store on Broadway as a soda water boy. He was, even at this time, full of tricks. He would hand out a glass of soda water, and as the drinker caught hold of the glass the contents would turn scarlet and foam in a violent manner. The small boy would laugh immoderately and make another soda that was all right. So frequently did Young Bishop play these tricks that the druggist was compelled to discharge him.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Syllable Slip.

Dr. Carpenter was noted for the quickness of his wit, and it was a common saying in the town in which he lived that he always had an answer ready when it was required. He was once introduced as "Dr. Carter." [illegible]

ROBERT GARRETT'S SISTER.

She Controls $20,000,000, and Would be President of the B. and O. if She Were a Man.

[From the Philadelphia Record.]

"Miss Mary Garrett, the daughter of the founder of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad system, is an extraordinary woman," said a gentleman well acquainted with the facts, "and, but that she is a woman, would to-day be president of that road." Miss Garrett has never obtruded her individuality in the management of the great property which her father left at his death, but her influence and capacity have nevertheless been felt and recognized by every one who has come in contact with the financial management of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. For many years before her father's death she was his chief assistant. Her love for her father was the ruling passion of her life, and her devotion to him was the admiration of her friends and the despair of those who sought to win her hand in marriage.

Miss Garrett to-day, although few persons know it, controls and manages the Garrett interest in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and has for some time been the most potential factor in the manipulation of the interests of that great corporation. She is thoroughly acquainted with all the details of the business of the road and its financial status, and has always been looked upon as one of its most sagacious advisers.

Although personally directing the management of a property worth not less than $20,000,000 Miss Garrett is almost unknown to business men, because her fine sense of modesty and true womanly reserve will not permit her to assume an individual and personal control which both her capacity for financial affairs and her direct control of millions of money would enable her to do.

There is no woman in the United States that can command more ready cash than Miss Garrett. When her father was living Miss Garrett was his private secretary, his best adviser, and his most trusted friend, even above any of the old gentleman's sons. It was in this capacity that she obtained her knowledge of the road and her insight into its financial affairs. After the death of her father Miss Garrett's influence over her brother, Robert Garrett, was so marked that it became a matter of current talk in Baltimore. But there were certain theories held by her brother which even the influence which she held over him could not successfully combat. When the schemes which led to the invocation of the aid of the Drexel syndicate culminated, Robert Garrett saw the wisdom of her counsels, which he had failed to follow, and practically surrendered to her the management of his interest in the road. When he started on his tour around the world his sister followed and overtook him at San Francisco, where he was induced to give to her the control of all of his interests in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Recently, when the syndicate which had helped the Baltimore and Ohio out of the difficulties in which it had unwittingly been plunged began to haggle about the commissions and threatened to place the road in an embarrassing position, Miss Garrett quietly brushed them all aside, put up the needed cash, and saved the credit of the company. Since the recent death of her brother, T. Harrison Garrett, Miss Mary Garrett's control of the Garrett estate has become practically unlimited during Robert Garrett's absence.

Miss Garrett is a most unassuming lady, and would never be taken for a great financier, as she is, at first sight. She is not fond of notoriety, and in manners and habits is a most domestic and home-loving woman. She worshipped her father, and her most ardent hope is to see the great road which he built and brought to such great importance kept up to the position where he left it, and perpetuated as one of the greatest institutions of the country.

Took the Anchor for a Pickaxe.

[illegible]

AN AWFUL DISCLOSURE.

Mr. Magruder Catches a Thief in His House and Punishes Him.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

Three short, blissful months had passed over the heads of Callithumpian W. Magruder and his bride, and not a cloud had dimmed the brightness of their domestic sky. The angel of peace hovered over their household its full ten hours a day, and the cricket of connubial joy chirped contentedly about their hearthstone the rest of the time. There was nothing the proud young husband thought a task if it gratified the slightest wish of his heart's idol or brought a smile to her lovely face. Time and time again he had arisen in the dead of night to drive some low spirited cat off the premises, or to bathe his head in rosewater or diluted carbolic acid if the odor of the cigars smoked in his down-town office during the day was found to have lingered about him. For her sake he had subscribed for four Boston magazines, sold the most promising bull terrier pup in the Seventh ward, joined a Society for the Advancement of Ethical Culture, and had determined with all his soul to get the hang of Browning or perish in the attempt.

The Fourth of July had come and gone. With bloodshot eyes Callithumpian W. Magruder sat at breakfast trying with unsteady hand to lift a cup of coffee to his lips.

"Darling," said the young wife, observing for the first time that her husband appeared indisposed, "what is the matter with you? Are you ill?"

"I—I am rather rocky this morning, Elfieda," he responded, "but it will pass. I shall be all right again."

"Callithumpian," rejoined the wife, with that tender anxiety that leads woman—Heaven bless her!—to minister to a sick man by trying to stuff him with food, "won't you have some eggs and a larger piece of steak?"

"Elfieda," was the reply, as he put up a trembling hand to ward off the proffered consolation, "I shall have to tell you what the trouble is. It will come out sooner or later at the coroner's inquest! You slept well last night, of course?"

"Certainly."

"Overcome by the excitement of the day and the disturbed slumbers of the night before, your sleep was sound and dreamless as that of a tired child. You heard no noise down cellar in the middle of the night?"

"I did not, Callithumpian," replied Elfieda, turning pale with apprehension.

"Well, I did. It aroused me from a restless and unquiet sleep, and, without waking you I dressed myself quietly, seized a heavy cane, and stole softly down stairs. I found a man in the cellar—do not start, Elfieda. He was a little, dried-up, withered, insignificant, sneak thief, not half as dangerous as a setting hen. He was helping himself to your finest canned fruit. I lifted the little rascal out of the cellar on the toe of my shoe."

"I am glad nothing worse happened, my love. But why are you so unnerved? It is all over now."

"No, it is not all over," exclaimed the husband, as he looked off into vacancy with a hollow-eyed, despairing gaze. "Remorse is left."

"Remorse!"

"Yes—bitter, gnawing, agonizing remorse. Listen. Before I kicked the thief out I looked about for some means of inflicting a punishment upon him that he would remember, and a temptation from the Evil One came into my mind. On a plate upon one of the hanging shelves was something you had prepared with your own hands——"

"Yes, I remember; it was a pudding I made myself. "Why——"

"Elfieda," said the husband, hoarsely, as he looked at her in stony despair, "I made him eat that pudding!"

Legal Advice.

Ex-Gov. Roberts, of Texas, is at present a Professor at the University of Texas, and has charge of the Law Department. He is very particular in requiring the attendance of all the law students. Before beginning his lecture a few days ago, he asked one of the students:

"How did you come to miss my lecture yesterday afternoon?"

"[illegible], I was very seriously ill yesterday."

"That's not so, for I saw you at the theater yesterday. Now, young man, don't begin to lie already. You will have plenty of time to do that after you have passed your examination as a lawyer, and been regularly admitted to the bar."—Texas Siftings.

[illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JULY 18, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

The Georgia Senate has recently decided by a vote of 22 to 6 that there shall be no dancing in the new capitol.

Several of the parties who aided in bringing about the Sullivan-Kilrain prize fight have surrendered to Gov. Lowry.

The saw mill men of the State held a meeting in Montgomery last Thursday. Their efforts were in the direction of securing lower freight rates on lumber.

The Alliance exchange is at last located in Montgomery, and this fact has caused the resignation of Dr. Bone, the President. President Bird will manage the exchange.

The State of Georgia has a new capitol building costing $1,000,000. It was proposed to have a ball and reception on the eve of its dedication, but the Legislature stepped in and passed a resolution to prohibit dancing on the occasion. Dancing seems to be getting some hard licks all around.

Sullivan the slugger, was arrested in Nashville last Thursday, by Chief of Police Clack, of that city. Immediately after the arrest he was given a hearing upon a writ of habeas corpus, and the court decided that the authorities of the State of Tennessee had no right to restrain him, and he was released. A pity that laws are so lax.

In 1816 it took just one bushel of corn to buy one pound of nails, now one bushel of corn will buy ten pounds of nails. Then it required sixty four bushels of barley to buy one yard of broadcloth, now the same amount of barley, will pay for twenty yards of broadcloth. It then required the price of one bushel of wheat to pay for one yard of calico, now one bushel of wheat will buy twenty yards of calico.—Exchange.

A Southern Exploring Expedition.

The Manufacturer's Record of Baltimore, which is ever working for the advancement of the South, has undertaken one of the greatest enterprises of the day. With a view to making known to the world the vast wealth of the unexplored mineral and timber regions of the South, which railroads have not yet opened up to public investigations, that progressive journal has organized a fully equipped exploring party, under the management of Major Goldsmith Bernard West, of Birmingham, a noted expert in the exploration of mineral regions. In making this announcement in its last issue the Manufacturer's Record says, "we have arranged to place at once in the field an expedition scientific and practical, whose duty it shall be to visit, investigate and report upon all the mineral districts of the Southern States. This expedition has been organized solely by the Manufacturers' Record and the reports of its work will appear in this journal. It is estimated that the mission will last six or eight months. Major West will be assisted by a scientific staff of his own selection, and will remain in the field for the next six months. Outside of the several districts with which Major West has been intimately connected, he will carry with him a regular force, and proceeding on horseback, camp by the way. Generally, he will have the assistance of an engineer and geologist, a timber expert, a secretary and servants. The idea of the expedition is not to jump from place to place by rail, but to go through the country in a leisurely way, study its climate, conditions, resources and opportunities, and to give the public an unprejudiced and intelligent report." This is undoubtedly one of the most remarkable instances of enterprise which any paper in this country has ever undertaken, and is far ahead of anything of the kind ever before projected by any weekly journal in America. The Manufacturers' Record has done a great work for the South in the past, and to that it now adds this brilliant scheme to accomplish still more for this section. The heavy expense of this Exploring Expedition will be borne solely by that journal.

THE CROP OUTLOOK

Very Encouraging Throughout Chilton County—Responses from all Points Favorable to the Farmer.

In response to our request of last week the following very encouraging information concerning the crop outlook in the county has been received at the VIEW office:

COOPER'S.

The present prospect for crops is good, so far as I can see and learn through my customers.

P. C. DENNIS.

Crops are fine in this locality. Rain being plentiful has caused all plants to get full benefit of all vegetable food available to the plant. Corn is fine throughout the country, so far as I have been and is making very rapidly. Yet if rain were to cease just at this time, corn would be badly damaged, because the stalk has grown to over average size and more dampness would be required to support the stalk and also more food than would be if the stalk were smaller, and it is supposed that the greater part of plant food under corn has been taken up. It is too early to decide what cotton will do yet.

E. G. ROLLINS.

VERBENA.

While I am not a farmer I feel as much interest in farming as any one, and will say in reply to your request that crops in this neighborhood are very fine, and if no disaster from this date, a very large crop can be expected.

J. T. MULLINS.

Corn here is good. Cotton backward. Area in sweet potatoes less than usual. Sorghum and hogs promise to be more plentiful than for years.

L. MOORE.

Crop prospects about Verbena are good. Well up to 100 or over an average, and in good condition.

K. WELLS.

ENERGY.

Crops in this locality are better than they have been for many previous years. The outlook for a cotton crop is especially flattering. Cane small but promising. Potatoes excellent.

W. C. DAVIS.

PROVIDENCE.

Crops particularly good. Corn crops first-rate and cotton crop will justify a prediction for a good yield.

J. M. PARISH.

MACEDONIA.

Crops in our section very good—the best we have had in a long time.

R. E. R. HICKS.

CLEAR CREEK.

The crops in this section of the county though small are clean and looking well. Prospects best for several years.

J. P. VANDERVEER.

STANTON.

Crops in this section the best we have had in many years.

J. A. STEPHENS.

STRASBURG.

The crops are generally good in this neighborhood. They have been well worked and haven't suffered for want of rain yet.

J. C. WOOLLEY.

LILY.

Crops in our settlement are fine, best we have seen here in some time.

C. G. BROWN,

We have the best prospect for a crop that we have had for several years. I have not seen a better prospect since the war. Corn, cotton, cane and potatoes all promise well.

S. J.

DIXIE.

In my judgment the crops in my locality are as good as the land will grow. Some complain of a little too much rain.

J. R. PARNELL.

MINERAL SPRINGS.

Crops very good in this settlement. Corn crop is better than cotton.

CLECKER.

MOUNTAIN CREEK.

Good seasons and crops promising. Farmers are laying by.

T. J. H.

LOMAX.

The crops are looking fine through this section of country. Plenty of rain for a while. The saw mill at this place is running steadily. Capacity 12,000 ft. per day. It sounds like old times in this locality.

C. J. S.

SHEEPSKIN BRANCH.

We have the prettiest crops in this settlement that I have seen any where between this point and Birmingham.

S. A. BLASINGAME.

KINCHEON.

The crop prospect is the best ever known. At least 25 per cent. above an average. The rain fall the past few days secures early corn against drouth.

W. I. MULLINS.

The Prize Fight.

Interest in the prize fight between Kilrain and Sullivan from a public point of view centres in the efforts of the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi to prevent it. One of them issued a solemn proclamation, and the other called out the militia to prevent it.

One might infer from these proceedings that there was no crime in Louisiana and Mississippi bigger than a fisticuff between a brace of professional athletes. It would perhaps be safe to say, however that houses of lewdness and of gambling exist under the very shadowes of the state houses at Baton Rouge and Jackson. That there should be so much activity to suppress a mere fisticuff between two men therefore smacks of hypocricy.

Really, what does it all amount to? Why should this fisticuff be invested with so much public concern? Certainly it is not refined or perhaps decent that two men should beat and bruise each other; but what harm is it to the public there should be such a noise made about it.

The fact is that it would be a great deal better if our people at the South would learn to use their muscles instead pistols. A few gymnasiums and fewer hip-pockets would improve us. The English and Yankees are far ahead of us in physical vigor. The use of fire-arms is certainly as cowardly as any brute force could be, and yet we hear of the daily use of it in the South, without the attendance of proclamations and other actions of governors.—Hayneville Examiner.

A Comparison.

A woman's devotion to those whom she has promised to "honor love and obey" often reaches a point far beyond the comprehensibility of the sterner sex. Ancient history chronicles an instance in which a woman willingly volunteered to die instead of her husband who had been sentenced to suffer the death penalty by the courts. This circumstance was long regarded as the zenith of conjugal devotion. But this devoted wife has now lost her laurels by the act of an Irish woman at Bessemer on the 2nd inst., her husband was in jail and she had started to carry him his dinner, and a long freight train was standing in her path and in her zeal to reach her husband with his dinner before it got cold she undertook to crawl under one of the cars, rather than walk around the train and just as she got well under the car, the train started and she was caught under the wheels and crushed lifeless. The ancient woman died that her husband might live. The modern one lost her life in her effort to give her husband a warm dinner. The latter takes the cake.—Ex.

Men Who Followed the Plow.

Adam was a farmer while yet in Paradise, and after his fall he was commanded to earn his bread by the sweat of his face.

Job, the honest, upright and obedient was a farmer, and his stern endurace has passed into proverbs.

Socrates was a farmer; and yet wedded to his calling the glory of his immortal philosophy.

Cincinnatus was a farmer and the noblest Roman of them all.

Burns was a farmer, and the muses found him at the plow and filled him with poetry.

Washington was a farmer, and retired from the highest earthly station to enjoy the quiet of rural life at Mount Vernon and present to the world a spectacle of human greatness.

To these names may be added a host of others who sought peace and repose in the cultivation of their mother earth. The enthusiastic LaFayette; the steadfast Pickering; the scholastic Jefferson; the fiery Randolph; all found a consolation from life's cares and troubles in the green and verdant lawns that surrounded their homestead.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

The rainfall for the past week has been about the average and well distributed throughout the state. The heavy rain that passed across the southeastern portions of the state on the 30th of June ended the drought and wet the earth so thoroughly that the showers since have been sufficient to keep everything growing.

The temperature has been about an average and the amount of sunshine has been amply sufficient for all demands of the plant. All crops are growing rapidly and in those sections of Alabama where the drought prevailed during the month of June, the recent rains have greatly benefited the crops and they are recovering from the effects of the dry weather On very thin lands, however, there is very little hope for an average yield. In North Alabama the yield of wheat has been good and there is a large corn crop in sight.

P. H. MELL, Director.

Woman's True Sphere.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox says: "To be queen of a happy home, loved and appreciated by a kind husband and little children, to live only for their approbation and respect, surely this is the grandest and truest sphere possible for woman. It is the only genuine happiness which earth affords—all else is mere imitation. In no reform can a woman do a work so beneficial to mankind as increasing the number of happy homes in the land. But this work is not given every woman to do. Good husbands, who will love, respect and appreciate their wives are not to be found every day. Had I a daughter, I should teach her some method of self-support as religiously as I should teach her to love God. But my daily prayer would be that she might never go forth from the shelter of the paternal roof save as the queen of a good husband's home."

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Notice!

OFFICE JUDGE OF PROBATE,
Clanton, July 15, 1889.

To the Tax payers of Chilton county: Take notice that the Assessor's book for the year 1889, has been prepared and is now on file in the office of the Judge of Probate for the inspection of the Tax payers of said county. And that the Board of Revenue will sit on the second Monday in August to hear objections to the assessments as appear upon said book.

H. J. CALLEN,
Judge of Probate.

jul18

COUNTY TREASURER'S REPORT

From Jan. 1, 1889, to June 30, 1889.

RECEIPTS.

Jan. 2, Amount of B. M. Gentry Tax Col.	1,229 28
Feb. 1. Amount of B. M. Gentry, Tax Col.	457 30
Mar. 2, Amount of B. M. Gentry Tax Col.	3,596 19
April 1, Amount of B. M. Gentry, Tax Col.	185 65
May 2, Amount of B. M. Gentry, Tax Col.	520 12
June 1, Amount of B. M. Gentry, Tax Col.	407 34
July 1, Amount of B. M. Gentry, Tax Col.	205 64
Feb. 1, Amount of H. J. Callen, Probate Judge, on Estrays	5 00
Feb. 1, Amount of H. J. Callen, Probate Judge, from County Court	6 50
July 1, Amount of H. J. Callen, Probate Judge, from County Court,	5 75
July 1, Amount of H. J. Callen, Probate Judge, License fees,	165 65
July 1. Amount of H. J. Callen, Probate Judge, Redemption fees	6 35
Total	$6,799 77

DISBURSEMENTS.

Amount paid H. J. Callen, Probate Judge, Registration Lists for Election	35 00
Amount paid for making tax abstract	60 00
For Ex-officio services	72 50
Support of Paupers	212 50
Building Bridges	326 30
Printing Expenses to W. H. Lawrence	66 50
Election Expenses	42 66
Stationery Account	49 00
Board of Revenue ex.	24 00
Jail Expenses	33 50
Sundries	170 81
B. M. Gentry Tax Collector,	50 00
Road expenses, Mile posts, &c.	11 00
Ex-officio services, Lee Hays, Sheriff	89 45
Ex-officio services, W. H. Foshee, circuit clerk,	50 00
Expenses carrying Allen Benson to Asylum, &c.,	57 00
Expenses of Grand Jury for Spring term 1889	198 25
Expenses of Petit Juries for Spring term 1889	416 75
Expenses for Bailiff	11 50
Total	$1,977 22

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. B. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK
THE ONLY
ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle—the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,

R. L. HARLEY,
Business Manager.

The Lawson Carpet Co.
Birmingham, Ala.
Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of
Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,
Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

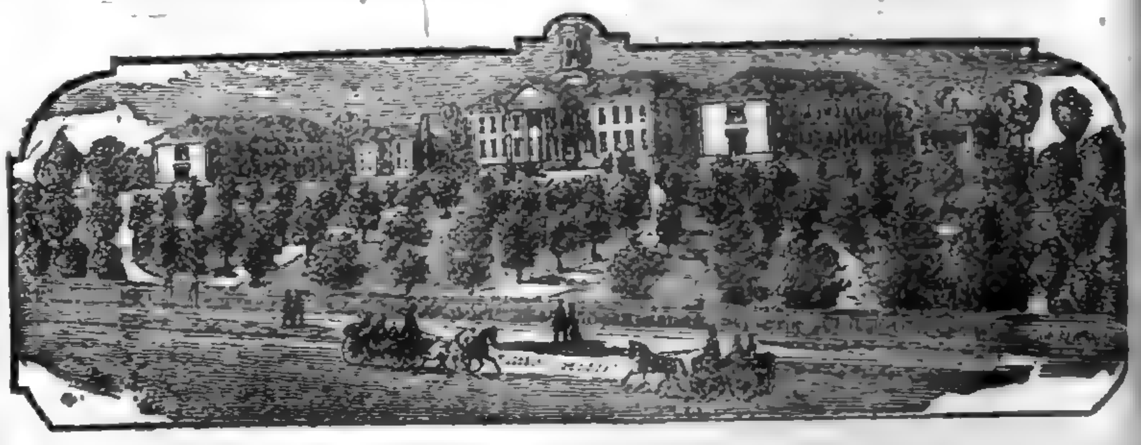
ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

Marion Military Institute.



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and faculty live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family watch care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish practical and thorough training. Terms moderate.

J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama.

THOMAS FOSHEE,
(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries
—AND—
GENERAL MERCHANDISE.
Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—HAS OPENED—
THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,
With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dying done.
No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—
PRACTICAL PAPER HANGER.
H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application.

apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMAN,
—AND DEALER IN—
American and Italian Marble.
—Manufacturer of all kinds of—
CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK
Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Birmingham, Alabama.

GO TO BLANK BROS, LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA

pet Co.
a.
attention of their large
of w Shades,
Novelties.
prices are guaranteed as
kets.
Respectfully,
O. (WM. LAWSON.)

TER.
LES.)
NISTS.
ive Prompt At-SPECIALTY.
h STREETS,
la.
's Prices. June 19 y

stitute.

lty tch cal
, his family and faculty who need family watch all who wish practical
Y. MURFEE, Sup't,
Marion, Alabama.

SHEE, teries
ANDISE.
atronage heretofore
OMAS FOSHEE.

M,
mery, Ala.,
ROOMS,
Scouring and dying
Street.

PER,
DOW SHADES,
ULDINGS,
—AND—
ICAL PAPER HANGER.
HA,
RY, ALABAMA.
0 cents up. Will send apr 11-y

E WORKS.
OLT, RKMAN,
an Marble.
STONE WORK
Fourth Street,
Alabama

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., JULY 18, 1889

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—On the eleventh Monday after the fourth Monday in February, and on the thirteenth Monday after the fourth Monday in August, and may continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Miss Annie Maull, of Srasburg, spent Sunday in Clanton.

Mr. W. A. Collier and family are visiting relatives in Troy.

Miss Carrie Fair, of Gainsville, Ga., is visiting relatives in our town.

Mr. Willie Ashley is visiting his brother, Mr. F. L. Ashley, in Clanton.

We are glad to note the recovery of Mr. W. H. Burton after a severe attack of fever.

Miss Lila Haney has returned to Clanton after spending a pleasant visit in Strasburg.

A barbecue and shooting match at Pratt Saw-Mill on to-morrow. Cards of invitation are out.

Mrs. Dr. Patton has returned to Montgomery after making quits a visit to Mr. Collier's family.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil has returned home after spending a pleasant time at Ocean Springs, Miss.

A specimen of buckwheat raised by Mr. N. Watts near Clanton is on exhibition at the drug store.

Miss Rosa West has returned to her home in Montgomery accompanied by Miss Annie Lou Duke.

Dr. Burkhead, of the Presbyterian Church, held a three days meeting in Clanton during the past week.

The young men of Clanton are preparing for another ball to take place on the night of the 26th inst.

Capt. W. A. Smith has a summer school in the Mineral Springs neighborhood. He is trying the water of the Springs for his health.

The many friends of Mr. G. W. Bains, of Birmingham, will be grieved at the news of the death of Mrs. Bains, which occured in Mississippi Monday night.

Mr. C. G. Brown, of Lily, has opened a three months school. These summer schools are of great advantage to the farming community and should be well patronized.

The new music house of Grambs & Buchanan, at 2017 Sec. Ave., Birmingham, call attention to their elegant stock of musical instruments and musical goods through our advertising columns.

We regret very much to learn that Mr. A. J. Brooks, of Verbena, has suffered to such extent with a wound in one of his ankles that the amputation of his leg was found necessary.

A negro by the name of John Collins was arrested Monday on a charge of embezzlement. Mr. W. Willson was the complainant in the case. Collins had a hearing before Judge Callen on Tuesday and was bound over to appear before the court the first Monday in August.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at special prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

Rev. J. L. Thompson formerly pastor of the Clanton and Verbena Baptist Churches, has been engaged in a great work in Montgomery during the past eighteen months as pastor of the Adams Ctreet Baptist Church. Mr. Thompson has succeeded in bringing order out of chaos and has placed his church in fine condition spiritually and financially.

We call attention to the new advertisement of the State Normal College at Florence, which appears in another column. It sets forth in terse language many of the advantages of this institution for the training of teachers. But no advertisement, no notice, can give an accurate idea of the work done. To this end, visitors from all parts of the State go there when in town. Scarcely a day passes during the session without a visit from some one, patron or teacher, on observation bent. All are cordially welcomed by President Powers and his able corps of teachers.

"Keep Me Close to Thee."

"Keep close to me, my God,
Keep close to me!
The storm is beating on me fierce and wild,
Thy face is hidden from thy weary child,
On me the billows heavily do roll
And threaten to engulf my fainting soul!
Oh, be thine arm my sure support and stay,
Or else the flood will sweep me far away!
Keep close to me, my God,
Oh! close to me!

"I hide me close to thee, my God,
Aye, close to thee!
None else can know my bitterness of grief,
Nor any heart save thine can bring relief,
I fear my hands may slip from off their hold,
The winds are keen, the storm is very cold,
But if thou hold me I can still endure
Till night is past and morning breaketh sure—
Oh! keep me close to thee, my God!
Aye, close to thee."

—Charleston News and Courier.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

Weather showery, with enough sunshine to benefit the crops a great deal. Grass has been kept at bay without much effort. Cotton and corn are remarkably good. Great scarcity of peas caused by the rain rotting pea seed last year. Sweet potatoes are rather late caused by the drought when set out, but good prospect now for a fine crop.

Mr. Ben. Glover has had the pleasure of entertaining his Wilcox friend, Mr. Claude Givhan.

Miss Lula Mosely is a guest of Mrs. Thos. DuBose.

Mrs. Glover is enjoying the pleasure of Mrs. Reeves, Miss Lotta and Master Fred Reeves visit.

The railroad men are here again in as much earnest about the road as ever. The prospect now is we will have a new road in course of time.

REVOLG.

Cooper's Locals.

As we are always pleased to see the locals especially from our county, we naturally suppose your readers are interested about us. I will therefore ask for space in your excellent paper to say to your readers that the health of our neighborhood is very good, and the crops of both corn and cotton above an average. The present prospect is better than for several previous years at this season. We had more rain in the latter part of June and first of July than in many other places, which has caused the crops to get grassy, but the farmers have put forth their energy, and crops are being laid by in very good order. The news also comes from West Coosa that crops were never finer.

Prof. Moore is conducting an interesting school here, as he is wont to do wherever he holds forth. His patrons are well pleased.

There is no church here but the Baptist Church. The pulpit is filled once a month by Rev. A. E. Burns, whose ministerial ability needs no comment. The moral status here is very good. There is a slight detriment to religion sometimes in the way of a dance.

The Mr. Guilahorn's are running their saw mill in full blast, building up the county and furnishing employment to many, and the beauty is they are paying their hands promptly as they have done hitherto.

Mr. Dennis is at his old stand with a variety of goods, always in good humor, gentlemanly and courteous, ready at all times to wait on customers.

We send good wishes for the success of the CHILTON VIEW and its editor, together with all of its readers. Every family ought to read it.

H. J.

From reports it would seem as if Alabama and Georgia are on a race to see which can have more hangings than the other. Let the work go on if they cannot get along without it. This rope line is a splendid way to clean out evil doers. No danger of them troubling their respective communities after a few minutes hanging.—Florence Banner.

The man who will not yield to disaster and disease, who makes the best of his poverty who finds something to laugh at in all his misfortunes will not only draw more friends to his side than his melancholy brother, but actually live longer.

Ayer's Hair Vigor has long held the first place as a hair dressing in the estimation of the public. Ladies find that this preparation gives a beautiful gloss to the hair, and gentlemen use it to prevent baldness and cure humors in the scalp.

Words cannot express the gratitude which people feel for the benefit done them by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Long-standing cases of rheumatism yield to this remedy, when all others fail to give relief. This medicine thoroughly expels the poison from the blood.

Over four years ago, Swift's Specific cured me of a troublesome eruption which covered my shoulders, back and limbs. This was after I had been treated by six doctors, some of whom said I never would get well.

E. M. HUBSEY, Sherman, Tex.

Dr. Benj. Dillard, druggist, at Aurora, Mo., says: I sell a great quantity of S. S. S. for Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, and have never heard of a case of failure to cure.

Pimples, blotches and eruptions on the skin evidence the fact that the blood is in bad shape, and these symptoms show that nature is trying to throw off the impurities, in which effort it should be assisted by a reliable vegetable blood remedy, as is Swift's Specific.

Mr. John B. Harrison, says that he had blood trouble for quite a while his tonsils were swollen, eruptions over his hands and face, followed by paralysis of the face, which was all relieved by Swift's Specific, and after a lapse of seven years there has been no sign of a return of the disease.

Job Printing.

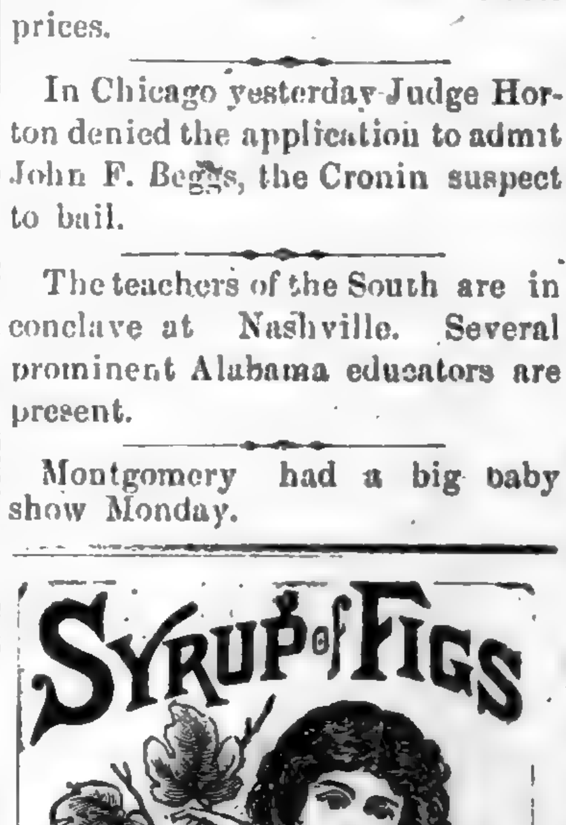
We would remind our home merchants and others that we have an excellent job printing out fit and as we desire their patronage in this line, we propose to give them the best work at the lowest prices.

In Chicago yesterday Judge Horton denied the application to admit John F. Beggs, the Cronin suspect to bail.

The teachers of the South are in conclave at Nashville. Several prominent Alabama educators are present.

Montgomery had a big baby show Monday.

SYRUP of FIGS



Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
jul19 y

State Normal College,
FLORENCE, ALA.
JAS. K. POWERS, A. M. President.

THE COURSE OF STUDY embraces all the branches required in the public schools of the State.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE of teaching receive careful attention throughout the course.

DRAWING, VOCAL MUSIC AND CALISTHENICS are taught. No teacher is thoroughly equipped for his work without training in these branches.

STATE CERTIFICATES are granted to graduates, entitling them to teach in any public school in Alabama, without further examination.

TUITION IS FREE

to teachers and those preparing to teach and good board costs only ten to fourteen dollars a month.

Fall Term Opens Sept. 17, 1889.

For catalogue or further information, apply to the President.

HOW'S THIS!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

WALDING, KINNAN, & MARVIN, Druggists, Toledo.

E. H. VAN HOESEN, Cashier Toledo National Bank, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Prop., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

DID YOU KNOW IT?

Did you know catarrh is a blood disease? Well it almost invariably is, and frequently is a symptom of inherited blood poison. The tendency to catarrh may lay dormant in the system half a man's lifetime and then suddenly become active and the disease at once severe and troublesome.

N. C. EDWARDS, Lampassas Springs, Texas writes: "For over four years I have been a great sufferer from a terrible form of Nasal Catarrh. I was greatly annoyed with a constant roaring in my head and my hearing became very much impaired.—

The discharge from my nose was profuse and very offensive, and my general health impaired. I tried most all prominent physicians, but they did not cure me and I used various advertised preparations without result.

I then sent to the drug store of T. E. Smith & Bro., and purchased B. B. B., and to my utter astonishment and satisfaction, the use of ten bottles has restored my general health, stopped the roaring sensation, entirely healed and cured the nasal catarrh, and I am proud to recommend a blood remedy with such powerful curative properties.

The business men of our town know of my case."

W. A. PEPPER Fredonia, Ala., writes: "I can not refrain from telling you what a glorious medicine you have. For two years my mother has suffered with a severe Catarrh of the head and ulcerated sore throat. She resorted to various remedies without effect, until she used B. B. B., which cured her catarrh, and healed her sore throat."

CATARRH

R. C. KINNARD & SON, Towaliga, Ga., write: "One of our neighbors has been suffering from catarrh for several years, which resisted all treatment and medicine resorted to. We finally induced him to try the efficacy of B. B. B., and he was soon delighted with an improvement. He continued its use, and was cured sound and well."

CATARRH

☞ Write to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for "Book of Wonders" sent free. (10)

[sep27 cw 1y]

NOTICE NO. 8874.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on August 3rd, 1889, viz: Anderson Peoples, Homestead 15606 for the s w ¼ of s e ¼ and s e ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 10, township 21 n, range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Willis Young James, Rasberry, Horace McGee, Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8907.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Montgomery, Ala., July 10, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 17, 1889, viz: John D. B. McDuffie, Homestead 14772 for the n ½ of s e ¼ and e ½ of s w ¼ sec 15 t 20 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Elizabeth Gordon and Frederick G. Gordon, of Mountain Creek, Ala., Noah Duffee and Mayberry Cooper, of Verbena, Ala.

july11o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8875.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 3d, 1889, viz: Willis Young, homestead application 15629 for the s w ¼ of s w ¼ section 10 township 21 north range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Anderson Peoples, James Rasberry, Horace McGee, and Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

Bring your job printing to this office.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

BUY YOUR PIANOS and ORGANS
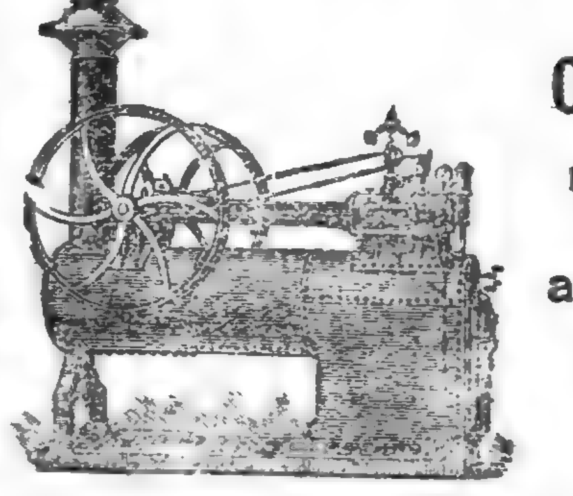
—FROM—
GRAMBS & BUCHANAN,
—2017 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

THE VERY LOWEST CASH PRICES, or on easy installments. Sohmer, Cranich & Bach, Gabler, Wheelock and Newby & Evans Pianos, and the world renowned Wilcox & White organs. Mail orders for sheet music or musical merchandise given prompt attention.

☞ Write for Catalogue. ☜ jul18

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers



Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜
nov 8-y

W. F. LYMAN. R. I. STONE.
Lyman & Stone.
BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS.
SCHOOL & MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.
Blank Books, - Letter Presses,
PRINTERS' STOCK.
Fine Stationery a Specialty.
2014 SECOND AVENUE [jan17] BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec8 ay

INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]
FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.
FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.
Apr25 6

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Dentsville.
[ma15 y]

Money to Loan.
Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address
R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,
jun27 Clanton, Ala.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs, on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wire, of Boston, Ky says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than [illegible].

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine.

If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

CONSUMPTION

PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.

The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.

Easy and pleasant to use.

Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

nov22-y

[illegible]
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $85. to $45.

[illegible]

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

PREVENTIVE OF MILDEW.

Take three pounds each of flowers of sulphur and quick-lime. Slack the lime and boil with the sulphur in six gallons of water until reduced to two gallons. Allow this to settle, then pour off the clear liquid and bottle it for use. An old iron pot will answer to boil it in. A gill of this liquid, mixed with five gallons of water, is an excellent prevention and cure for mildew upon plants—showered upon them as soon as the mildew appears. —American Agriculturist.

PEACH YELLOWS.

According to my observation, says Josiah Hoopes, in the New York Tribune, the peach is less liable to disease under high culture than when neglected, or on poor soil. On the principle that yellows will appear under all conditions, many growers give trees little or no attention, depending upon one or two good crops for profit before the disease attacks them. This is opposed to systematic good culture, and to the careful orchardist is specially repulsive. More than one scrupulously clean orchard is to-day showing a far greater degree of health and profit than their neglected competitors. It has been asserted that by heavy manuring and liberal applications of potash in some convenient form, yellows will in a measure be warded off, on account of the consequent strong healthy growth. If cultivators generally would study the practical part of the subject, and note the conditions under which the disease appears, and is increased, they might render valuable assistance. A prejudice formerly existed against planting yellow-fleshed peaches, under the impression that they were more easily contaminated, but more extended experience disproved this view. The yellows is no respecter of varieties or places. Where it finds proper conditions for development there it operates, and continues its work of destruction. However, we can unite upon the heroic rooting-out and burning of any infected trees as soon as the disease is discovered. The malady may have been communicated to other trees, but as a diseased tree is worthless, the sooner it is removed the better.

SEED CLOVER.

Seed clover is, year after year, one of the most profitable crops of the farm, where the conditions are favorable to its growth. The crop of the country is never so large as to glut the market. The man who has to buy clover seed in the spring invariably pays what seems like a stiff price. Not infrequently the seed clover brings more than the first crop cut for hay.

One reason (perhaps the principal one) why the crop of seed clover is so small, is that, as usually handled, it is most disagreeable. Generally it is mowed away, as it is not thought possible to keep it in stacks; and the wheat can be threshed out of the mows by the time the seed clover is cut. There are few more disagreeable jobs than hulling clover in the bar. The dust is stifling. Men who suffer little inconvenience in threshing grain under cover, find that their lungs and throats will not endure the dust in the barn where clover is hulled. Besides, every corner of the barn is fouled. It is impossible to keep the dust within bounds.

This objection is obviated when the clover is stored in barracks, where it may be kept as well as in a mow. The barrack is simply a roof, with the sides open. Seed clover may also be kept in good condition in stacks topped with timothy or straw. As the straw or hay is put on the wagon, let it be wet down with the garden hose; it can then be put on top of the seed clover stack much better. The clover haulm and chaff may be used for feed or as an absorbent in the stables; but it is so dirty and disagreeable to handle that it is as well to use it at once as a fertilizer. The barracks or stacks may be put in the center of the field to be manured, and the stuff be spread as the seed is hulled.

It is the opinion of many that if the hulling is deferred until cold weather more seed will be obtained; but if the clover is perfectly dry, hulling need not be delayed. We have known seed clover to be hulled clean right from the field, but the weather is so uncertain that this is usually too risky. Some think, also, that it is better to let the seed clover rot somewhat. This makes the hull remove easily, but quite as much seed can be got without, and rotting is risky. The better plan is to let it lie as mown until well cured. When it is well cured, rake it up and put in baracks or stacks at once.—American Agriculturist.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Prepare for the rural fairs.

Buttermilk is a good summer beverage.

Well-planned summer work is half done.

Drive the work or it will drive you, and with a drag, year in and year out, no one is satisfied or happy.

While we do not recommend putting all one's eggs in one basket, we do suggest the growing of but few crops and mastering all the details connected with them.

The big milker needs a strong constitution or she will fall by the way when parturition invites the perils of milk fever and the other ills that attend upon mothsrhood.

Men lacking energy, don't usually "get there" in time to save things at their best stage of growth; it takes them so long to start that the job generally is left unfinished.

Late seeding often lacks moisture, starts slow, becomes a prey to insects, so is unprofitable. Late cultivation in worked crops prevents the securing of the hay before it becomes too ripe.

Too many unsuccessful farmers are unskilled in their business; they do no better than the average; think too little and are not ambitious nor hopeful. They are without faith in their business; they do not believe there is any money in it.

The gooseberry is one of the first fruits the farmer may enjoy, and good housewives have ways of serving it in pies, etc., that make it very fine eating. Prune the old bushes and give them some manure, or plant if you have none growing.

There should always be a piece of corn growing for green feed for the cows. It is better that it be drilled in, and a sufficient amount should be planted to fill out any lack in the pasture. If there is too much for that, the surplus will make the best kind of fodder.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

RESTORING STONE STAIRS.

To restore stone staircases, of which the steps have become worn, the worn parts should be moistened with a solution of silicate of potash (soluble glass), and then that the step be given its original form by means of a paste composed of hydraulic lime and silicate of potash, to which fifty per cent. of fine silicious sand is then added. The durability of the steps thus restored, it is claimed, is comparable to that which would be obtained with the best stones, and the adhesion of the added part is perfect.—Brooklyn Citizen.

TO CLEAN CANE-SEAT CHAIRS.

To clean cane-seat chairs, turn them upside down, and with hot water and a sponge wash the cane-work, soaking it thoroughly; if very dirty use a little soap. Let it dry in the air and it will be as bright and firm as when new, if the cane is not broken.

If the cane is broken so that it looks unsightly cut it entirely away with a sharp knife. Thread a long, stout darning needle with thick twine of any color desired, knot the ends, loop it through the holes backward and forward, crossing from side to side, right and left, every hole being filled; work them back again, weaving as you would in darning stockings, being careful not to draw the threads very tight the first time over, as it is more difficult to weave.—Detroit Free Press.

COVERINGS FOR PARLOR FLOORS.

The latest thing in floor decorations for parlors is a variety of matting with checkered figures. It has become very popular, and promises to supersede all the material this summer as a floor covering. Many of the designs are striking and attractive, and the stuff is quite durable. In purchasing it, however, care must be taken to select only that which is closely woven. Loosely woven straw matting, like loosely woven ingrain carpets, wear out very rapidly, and the trifling amount additional which will be paid for matting closely woven will be made up by its durability.

Handsome rugs are almost indispensable adjuncts to the straw matting. Also wicker chairs and settees, tastefully decorated with chair scarfs, while the piano cover must be of heavy material of light colors.—St. Louis Star-Sayings.

THE FAMILY WASHING.

This seems to be the bugbear of all houskeeping, and in fact there is nothing that seems to upset the whole household machinery as wash day. It always seemed to me that Monday, of all days, was the worst possible day to select for this.

Many ladies have stepped out and down from the old custom; some have selected Saturday and others Tuesday.

The advantage of Saturday is that it is next after sweeping day, when the bed linen is changed, and then, too, it is a day that so many housekeepers take to scrub their kitchen; if the washing is done the same day one scrubbing day is entirely done away with. Then, too, Sunday following it gives one day of rest between the washing and ironing. If the washing is done on Monday, no matter how much is provided on Saturday in the way of baking and cooking, it is all gone by Monday, and finds you on that day with only "pickups" for dinner.

The advantage of Tuesday is that you have all day Monday to prepare for your washing. To repair any serious rents, which are much better done before the starch is in; any patching, which, after it is ironed, is scarcely noticeable.

In many families too much preparation for Monday is done upon the Sabbath evening, a time I never like anything to encroach upon.

To all young housekeepers I would say —order your own houshold to suit yourself, and do not act entirely to please your neighbors.

For a family of six put on the boiler two-thirds full of soft water, two tablespoonfuls of coal oil, two-thirds of a bar of soap, let it come to a boil.

Wet your clothes in clear water, wring out, putting the cleanest clothes in first, let boil for thirty minutes, put your wringer on the boiler and wring out, and so on, until all the white clothes are boiled, putting in more oil and soap each time. Be sure and have the water boiling hot before putting in the clothes.

Rinse thoroughly, blue, starch, and hang out. Should there be any very soiled places, rub on a little soap and put upon the board.—Sunshine.

TESTED RECIPES.

Vegetable Soup—One pint of vegetables, including turnip, carrot, onion and celery; cut into small pieces and boil one hour in water enough to cover. Add one quart of clear stock, a little more salt; boil a few minutes and serve.

Shad Baked in Milk—Fix the shad ready to bake, open, lay flat in pan. Season pepper, salt and butter. Ready to bake, cover with milk. Bake slow. If a large, thick fish, bake one hour and a half. It will be brown and delicious. Butter gravy.

Almond Jumbles—One pound of sugar, one-half pound of butter, one pound of almonds blanched and chopped fine, two eggs, flour enough to mix stiff. Roll thin; moisten the top of each one with the white of egg, and sprinke with sugar; bake quickly.

Corn Gems—One-half pint of finely-bolted corn meal, one-half pint of flour, one tablespoonful white sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt and two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder; mix together thoroughly while dry; then add two well-beaten eggs and cold sweet milk, or milk and water to make a moderately thin batter; bake in gem pans or muffin rings.

Caramel Cream—Have on the fire in a pan one pound of maple sugar; let it boil two or three times, sufficient to brown but not to burn it. Beat six eggs and one pound of white sugar very light; stir this into two quarts of boiling milk, and stir constantly until it comes to a boil; then pour in the boiling sugar, and mix thoroughly. When perfectly cold, add one quart of cream, sweetened with a cupful of white sugar. Put it in a freezer and freeze the same as ice cream.

Egg Snow—Put into a saucepan a pint of milk, adding two dessertspoonfuls of orange water, and two ounces of sugar and let it boil. Take six eggs, separate the yolks from the whites, beat the latter to a froth or snow (hence the name), and put into the boiling milk by spoonfuls; stir the whole, about with a skimmer. When done take the eggs out and dress them on the dish for serving. Thicken the milk over the fire with the beaten yolks, and pour this over the frothed eggs; let the whole cool before serving it. —American Rural Home.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

LONG-HANDLED EYEGLASSES.

Do you know the reason long-handled eyeglasses spring into favor with the ultra fashionable? Well, you know ladies lace, don't you? Yes, everybody knows that, and those who know it from experience know it to their very great discomfort; for, with the sleeves made as tight as the skin, and the entire dress waist as close-fitting as compressed flesh and bones will permit, to lift the hand up to the level of the eyes, if it is a possibility (and sometimes it isn't), is certainly a dangerous thing to attempt—dangerous because the tightly strained silk of the dress may split. Besides it is a painful exertion. The expansion of certain muscles in an elevated position of the arm and shoulder beyond the narrow limits of the dress is positive torture. Hence the long handle to eyeglass and opera glass was a perfect boon. You will always see the slim waist, tight sleeves and long-handled eyeglass together.

THE ARTIST QUEEN.

Carmen Sylva, the beautiful white-haired, talented Queen of Roumania, possesses the rare charm of a musical voice, so sympathetic and melodious that a celebrated French author who heard her read aloud from one of his works declared that she had revealed him to himself. She is a most picturesque figure, always delicately and artistically dressed, and with eternal youth in her smile. Elizabeth of Roumania was educated as befitted her rank and, naturally gifted, she mastered many languages in her girlhood, and now paints her graceful word pictures with equal ease in almost any tongue. She is known in Europe as the Artist Queen when she is not spoken of as Scheherezade—a name which has clung to her since the season she passed at Westerland, by the North Sea, and every day gathered the children about her on the sands to listen to her tales of fairies, goblins, elves and gnomes. The children were devoted to her and used to throw up a fortification of sand about her camp chair, plant their toy flags on the summit and defy even the sea himself to lay a finger on their beloved Marchentante (fairy-tale aunt). Carmen Sylva's writings command almost any price from the European magazines and she is besieged with offers from editors, entreating her to name her own terms. In only one known instance did she comply with such a request, and this was in the case of a Styrian editor and her terms for the article were that he should plant a bed of Alpine flowers in one of the royal gardens at Bucharest.

"TIGHT-LACING" DISEASES.

The Medical Annual, a scientific record of the medical progress of the year, devotes a good deal of space to those diseases of women which are generally believed to originate from tight lacing. "During the last few years," says the Annual, "several affections which are found in women with much greater frequency than in men have been claimed by independent writers in different parts of the world as the result of compression. The most important are anæmia, ulcer of the stomach, gall-stones, movable kidney." This is a formidable array, and it must be noted that it is not a catalogue of all the diseases said to be produced by tight lacing, but only a list of a few which have been recently added to a very much longer series. "Anæmia" itself, in its "pernicious" form is, as a rule, rapidly and hopelessly fatal. But even when it is not "pernicious" it is the prolific parent of manifold diseases, some of which are fatal, while almost all are extremely disabling and distressing. "Ulcer of the stomach" has an alarming sound even to the "lay" ear; but the sound is not nearly so alarming as the reality. When a doctor is convinced that he has met with a case of undoubted ulcer of the stomach he anticipates weeks or months of misery for the patient and of harrassing care for himself. He knows that recovery is possible; but he knows also that in many instances the chances are largely in favor of death. Treatment in many cases is quite powerless. One day the patient may be walking about, filling the air with complaint of her troubles. The next day she may be dead, with a small perforation in the wall of the stomach as the result of the ulcerative process. "Gall-stones" it is unnecessary to dwell upon. The pain and danger of these are known almost universally.

"Movable kidney," though less immediately painful and dangerous, is a condition which no woman who wishes to be well should for a moment run the risk of becoming acquainted with. This is the barest summary of facts, which might be so set forth as to appear truly appalling. Will any woman reader be frightened into reason? The answer, unhappily, is not even doubtful. She will not. But in case such a phenomenon should occur, the following suggestions of the Annual are worthy of her consideration: "The one thing that is most objectionable is the formation of an artificial waist. To simply order the removal of stays will be found altogether insufficient for stays are undoubtedly a protection against the tight ligature of skirts which accompanies their use. The only satisfactory way is to abolish both. Every article of clothing, whether of upper or under garments, is to be made in combination, or without division at the waist. The weight of each garment is then borne mainly by the shoulders and bust, and no constriction of the waist is necessary." It is useless to appeal to the wearers of ladies' clothing, the case must be carried to the makers. Will Worth do anything? If he will not, will those educated and titled ladies who are said to have devoted their talents to the art of dressing their sisters come to the rescue? There is a splendid field for enterprise and originality of mind.—The Hospital.

FASHION NOTES.

Coral is said to be a coming rage.

Let accordion-plaited skirts have their day, by all means. It won't be a long one.

Twenty-one is the orthodox age for a girl to resume the responsibilities of a bonnet.

Ten breadths of ordinary dress material are required to construct an accordion-plaited skirt.

Bedroom furniture of white wood has been lavishly indulged in for summer houses this season.

Flower brooches are the daintiest and prettiest of anything in jewelry to be worn at the throat.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

The love of money is the root of all evil.

The man diligent in his business shall hold four kings.

It is better to have a permanent income than to be fascinating.

If it is not right, do not do it; if it is not true, do not say it.

Flattery is a sort of bad money to which our vanity gives currency.

To have what we want is riches, but to be able to do without is power.

He that winketh with his eye should take heed lest he become slewed.

If there is to be any fibre in our character, there must be a Spartan discipline to make it.

Good manners, as we call them, are neither more or less than good behavior, consisting of courtesy and kindness.

Wealth governs in the interest of the rich; intelligence takes advantage of the ignorant; righteousness does justice to all.

Choose the course which you adopt with deliberation; but when you have adopted it, then persevere in it with firmness.

He who does a good deed is constantly ennobled; he who does a mean act is by the action itself contracted and self-degraded.

The man who sits down and waits to be appreciated will find himself among uncalled for baggage after the limited express train has gone by.

High minds are as little affected by unworthy returns for services as the sun is by those fogs which the earth throws up between herself and his light.

We understand what we ought to do, but when we deliberate we play booty against ourselves; our consciences affect us one way, our corruptions hurry us another.

Docking Horses.

People from other parts of the country who visited New York a year or two ago were surprised to see that the fashion of docking horses had been revived there. Half the carriage horses in the Central Park had been deprived of the greater part of their tails. Instead of the luxuriant and beautiful appendage which nature gives, the animals exhibited a horse-hair brush, short, abrupt, ugly and useless.

This fashion has not proved to be a mere passing fancy of "the British dudes," but now appears to have become fixed, and is spreading over the country, and there is reason to fear that the entire class of people who live but to differ from the mass of their fellow-citizens will not be able to respect themselves this summer while riding behind long-tailed horses.

The spirit of fashion works in two ways: It makes some of us aspire to be both like and unlike our fellow-mortals. The victims of this mania wish to be obviously unlike the mass, and conspicuously like a class. Chinese parents torture their girls for five years, converting their pretty feet into hideous little lumps of bone and flesh, because those lumps are recognized as the sign of social rank.

For a similar reason the rich shop-keepers of Gotham cut off their horses' tails. They have been told that the fashionable people of Europe think it a mark of high breeding to be indifferent to the sufferings of the creatures that serve them.

Several writers lately have taken the ground that horses do not much mind losing their tails, not even in fly-time if they are protected by nettings.

It seems folly to reply to such a statement. Any one who closely observes the ways of horses becomes aware that the swishing of their long tails is a tranquilizing and pleasant occupation to them, aside from its utility in driving away insects. It relieves their minds and mitigates the monotony of their existence. The operation of docking is cruel beyond conception.

We should all wish to frown upon this cruelty to helpless brutes. How shall we do it? There is, perhaps, no better way than to act upon the wise and timely suggestion that all who are opposed to it shall not merely not disfigure their own horses, but shall refuse to hire docked horses, or even to ride in an omnibus, cab or car drawn by them.—Youth's Companion.

The Kissing Habit.

A writer in Good Housekeeping vigorously condemns the kissing habit, and calls for its abandonment in this wise: "The kissing habit has been carried to its greatest extreme among English-speaking people, and the people of other blood are often amazed and amused by the universality and cheapness of the kiss among the English nations. It is not necessarily an argument in its favor, however, that it is thus found to be an accompaniment of the highest civilization, for it may be promptly retorted that vice and crime also increase with civilization, and that even civilized and refined peoples often keep alive barbarous practices inherited from savage ancestry. The kiss, in its proper functions, has a fine significance, and may be made the vehicle of the purest emotions, the honest expression of legitimate feeling, a greeting full of genuine, voluntary sympathy and love. The kissing habit is an abuse and a misuse. It has brought the kiss into disgrace and made it vulgar, cheap and hypocritical. Be it the province of this generation of refinement and education to rescue it from its degraded estate and restore it to its natural elevated and elevating place and use in the social economy."

Writing 28,305 Words on a Postal Card.

It is said that the champion microscopic penman of the world lives in Belfast, Waldo County, Me. His name is Rila Kittredge, and, although past seventy-seven years of age, his hand is as steady and his sight as keen as ever. He wrote one of President Cleveland's messages to Congress—about 15,000 words—on the back of a postal card; but lately he has done some fine scribbling which throws that performance in the shade. He has written the Lord's Prayer eight times on a space the size of a five-cent piece, eighteen columns of the Boston Post upon a postal card, and is now engaged in the work of putting 28,305 words upon another postal card. The work is so fine that a powerful microscope has to be used in reading it, but then every letter appears distinct and beautiful. Mr. Kittredge uses a common steel pen and wears spectacles. He has autograph letters from several Presidents and other distinguished men who have received samples of his work, President Garfield having sent him his photograph and a kind letter, which are highly prized by the old man.—New York Sun.

CURIOUS FACTS.

A Chinaman cannot become a citizen of the United States.

A child born of Chinese parents in this country may become a citizen.

In Baltimore they call ball throwing in the public streets "barking and catching."

Taming crows is a new fad in Georgia. The birds are intelligent and easily taught.

The word "vinegar" is derived from two French words, vin aigre, meaning sour wine.

Nine petrified frogs were found in a solid rock at High Springs, Fla., during a recent day.

A hairless calf is owned by Mr. Freeland, of Howe Township, Dauphin County, Penn.

J. A. Schuyler, of Pottstown, Penn., has a piece of amber from the Baltic Sea inclosing a petrified beetle.

A West Virginia electrician has invented a wire fishing rod with an electric bell which will ring for every nibble.

If all the telephone wires in this country were stretched in a continuous line they would reach seven times around the earth.

W. Shelly, of Milford Square, Ill., has a Newfoundland dog ponderous enough to do all the family washing by a tread power.

A recent count of money in the United States Treasury revealed a shortage of $35. The amount counted was $184,000,000.

Pete Nutt, of Dade County, Ga., has a chicken eating mule. He eats them raw, and will chase a fat hen for a mile, if necessary.

The law of Wisconsin requires that all logs put into water shall be marked. Just as cattle are marked on the plains, so that every one will know his own.

Among the Chinese, should the lily blossom on New Year's Day, it is regarded as a most happy omen, presaging the best of luck to the fortunate owner of the plant.

Up to 1884 the English Postoffice had issued 31,302,000,000 postage stamps. That would cover 3762 square miles, and would reach to the moon and back if placed end to end.

Warden Toner, of the New Castle (Del.) jail, has received a bushel of plug tobacco for distribution among the prisoners. The donor signs himself: "One who has been there."

A milk white horse that was ridden by General Grant during the war is now owned by D. B. Flint, of Boston. The animal is twenty-nine years old and is frequently driven by Mr. Flint.

One mode of selling turquoises at Nijni-Novgorod, Russia, is peculiar. A person, on payment of a certain sum, is allowed to plunge his hand into a bag full of them and to retain all he can seize.

According to M. Mace, the ex-Chief of the Surete, four hundred or five hundred pockets are picked daily in Paris, even when there is no universal exhibition to attract both the wolf and the lamb.

The Chinese have a practical way of giving a testimonial. When a few villages appreciate the kind offices of a magistrate, the natives subscribe together and present him with an official umbrella.

A French fisherman who was reported lost, and whose property was divided up, returned all right after an absence of two years, but the French courts hold that he is dead, and he has got to take a new name and be somebody else.

The "Colombophile Congress and Monster Toss" will take place at Paris. This is not a species of bull fight, with pigeon fanciers as picadores, matadors, etc., but a great flight of 100,000 pigeons, to be started from the Trocadero August 4.

The word "teetotal" had its origin through a stuttering temperance orator, who urged on his hearers that nothing less than "te-te-te-total" abstinence would satisfy temperance reformers. Some one at once adopted "teetotal," and it sprang into general use.

Real Roquefort Cheese.

Lovers of Roquefort cheese will not be pleased to hear that they often do not get the real article, thanks to the quantity of illegal imitations. Real Roquefort cheese has been made since the middle ages at Rodez, in Southern France, where the natives in olden times paid a heavy tribute of cheese yearly to the abbey of Conques. The industry occupies an immense number of persons in this district, and is worth $2,000,000 yearly, most of the cheese being exported to England and America. But so many rival manufacturers have sprung up in the neighboring departments as to seriously injure the original industry, so Rodez and its manufacturers are going to prosecute their imitators.—London Standard.

The Bottle Industry.

The bottle industry of the world is a very large one. The quantity produced per day in the respective countries being estimated as follows: Great Britain and Ireland, 6206 gross; Sweden, 960 gross; Norway, 600 gross; Denmark, 360 gross; Germany and Belgium, 30,039 gross; France, 100 gross; Austria, 7000 gross; United States, 840 gross; Canada 120 gross; Australia, 207 gross; total, 46,431 gross. With 300 working days this gives no less than 15,929,600 gross per year.—New York Sun.

The Broad and Briny Deep.

FIRST DAY.

Heave ho! yoho! for the raging sea,
On the fast Atlantic liner;
The ocean is the place for me—
Naught e'er was made that's finer.

SECOND DAY.

Oh, me! oh, my! oh, woe! oh, woe!
Alas for the raging sea, sir!
Dear me, I die. Oh hay! heave ho!
'Tain't what 'tis said to be, sir.

THIRD DAY.

Oh, Captain, put me on the shore,
In China, Russia, Burmah;
I don't care where it is—oh, lo—
So long's it's terra firma.

FOURTH DAY.

• • — — — ! ! ! ! † † † — — • •
? ? ? ? — ! ! † † ! ! ! — — • •
: † — — ! ! ! — — — ! ! ! † — —
[ ] — † † ! ! ! — — • — • •
• • • — — • • •

LAST DAY.

I'll cable to my family they'll see me never more
Back in our lovely mansion in New York,
Until there's built from Coney Isle to haughty
England's shore
A bridge whereon yours truly home may walk.
There's no more brine
in mine.

—Carlyle Smith, in Harper's Bazar.

The Next Census.

In taking the next census, there will be one supervisor for each district, who will be nominated by the President and whose nomination will be acted upon by the Senate in next December. The enumerators will be named to the superintendent of the census by the supervisors. The enumerators will work only during the month of June, 1890, when the actual counting is to be done. They will be paid according to the number of names they turn in upon their lists, with the limitation that no enumerator can make more than $5 a day. Their general average will be about $60 for the month during which they work. The supervisors will commence preliminary work in January next. Their work, which will continue to the first of the following July, will not, except for a very short time, be in any degree arduous. Their pay will be according to the population of their respective districts.

Bernhardt's Grievances.

Madame Sarah Bernhardt says: It is not because I am extravagant that I am always in want of money, but because I am always being robbed by my directors. Shamefully robbed! I have been cheated out of millions upon millions. One trusts the rogues, does not read over the engagement as carefully as one ought to do, and signs. Then there is always a line about a forfeit or something else which one has overlooked, and it is there that the director is in ambush. Between the thieves on one side and the small prices paid in Paris on the other, I often wonder how I get a piece of bread to put between my teeth. Of all countries, France is perhaps the one where an actress earns the least. Look at what Ellen Terry, Bernard-Beere and Mary Anderson earn. Why they make as much, I am sure, in a week, as I do in a season.

Is it Cruel?

The case of Kemmler, the Buffalo murderer, who was condemned to suffer death by electricity, was up on appeal in the Supreme Court of Auburn, N. Y. The appeal was taken on the ground that the State Constitution prohibited cruel and unusual punishment, and the counsel for the murderer contended that execution by electricity was cruel and unusual. The case was argued at considerable length by both sides, and the court finally decided that testimony would have to be taken as to the effect of an electric current on the human body, and appointed Tracy C. Becker, a lawyer of Buffalo, to take testimony and report to the Court.

Laughter.

People who laugh in a broad Latin "A" are open-hearted, honest, fond of noisy jocundity, but perhaps of a voluble mood. Excessive jerking laughter, however, is an evidence of vulgarity. Those laughing in a dry "A" are respectable, but little expansive, and a hard lot of people. When the Latin "E" prevails, there prevails also a phlegmatic, melancholy temper. Timorous, unsteady people, also those imbued with malignity, always laugh in a kind of swelling "I." Laughter in "O" is the utterance of proud, bold, imperative, somewhat bantering people. Beware of those that laugh in "oo" (o). They are traitors, haters, scorners.

Mrs. Livermore humorously tells this about herself: She went to a town in Maine to deliver a lecture. A young minister, who felt greatly his importance in having to introduce so large a light, announced her in these words: "Ladies and gentlemen, you have all heard of the illustrious man across the water, so beloved by his people, and who is known by the sobriquet of 'the grand old man.' I have now the honor of introducing to you a lady beloved in Boston, and known there as the 'grand old woman!'"

A neat bit of proverbial philosophy, said to be of Japanese origin, is, "Be like the tree which covers with flowers the hand that shakes it."

Brown's Iron Bitters furnishes aid to the stomach to accomplish its work. Only a medicine which has a specific action upon the stomach will do you any good, and Brown's Iron Bitters will act directly upon that organ, toning it up and giving it strength to do its work, relieving the pressure upon the nervous system, strengthening the nerves, quickening and improving the appetite, removing flatulency and heartburn, restoring the appetite and dispelling the dizzy spells which are so annoying, and may prove very dangerous.

An expert carpenter in Michigan has constructed a settee out of an ordinary hen.

"Stick to your business," is very good advice, but still there are a great many people in the world who have no regular and profitable business to stick to; and there are others who are following a line of business which is manifestly unsuited to them. Now, when such is the case, you had better write to B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va., and see if they cannot give you a pointer. They have helped a great many men and women along the way to fortune, and now stand ready to assist you, too.

What do you chew?
"LUCY HINTON!"
Why?
Because it is the best I can find.
Who makes it?
T. C. Williams Co., Richmond, Va.
Who sells it?
All dealers.
How can I recognize it?
The name Lucy Hinton is on every plug.

No Rival in the Field.

There is no remedy which can rival Hamburg Figs for the cure of habitual constipation, indigestion, and sick-headache. Their action is as prompt and efficient as their taste is pleasant. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

Bradfield's Female Regulator will cure all irregularities or derangements peculiar to woman. Those suffering should use it. Sold by all Druggists.

Oregon, the Paradise of Farmers.

Mild, equable climate, certain and abundant crops. Best fruit, grain, grass and stock country in the world. Full information free. Address Oreg. Im'igr't'n Board, Portland, Ore.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c per bottle

Weak and Weary

Describes the condition of many people debilitated by the warm weather, or disease, or overwork. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed to overcome that tired feeling, to purify and quicken the sluggish blood and restore the lost appetite. If you need a good medicine be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My appetite was poor, I could not sleep, had headache a great deal, pains in my back, my bowels did not move regularly. Hood's Sarsaparilla in a short time did me so much good that I feel like a new man. My pains and aches are relieved, my appetite improved."—George F. Jackson, Roxbury Station, Conn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. [illegible]

$25 [illegible]

Hold Your Own.

"I see you're holding your own," said a sitting friend to a sick man. "Yes, [illegible] pull through if my hands don't slip," [illegible] reply; and he did pull through. [illegible] and will-power will assist an invalid's [illegible] in a remarkable degree, and we should [illegible] determined and hope, no matter what doctors may say. There are hundreds [illegible] would still be suffering the horrors of [illegible] poison, that surely was bringing them [illegible] and nearer to the grave, if they had given up hope when their doctors pronounced them incurable, or when many extensive advertised decoctions proved inert and worthless, [illegible] they would not give up, and so good fortune would have it, finally gave B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial, which proved to be the very remedy they needed, and restored them to perfect health; curing some of running sores, others of rheumatism and swollen joints, [illegible] of pimples and annoying skin blemishes, [illegible] of catarrh, others of weak kidneys and [illegible] tion, others of lame back and general debility. Try it. Try it now!

Why is a physician a good linguist? Because he understands all tongues.

The Wisest Gift.

"I bought my wife a ve vet sack."
Thus proudly boasted Mr. Brown,
"She'll be, with that upon her back,
The best dressed dame in town."
But velvet sack or diamond ring
Can bring no balm to suffering wife;
Favorite Prescription is the thing
To save her precious life.

The great and sovereign remedy, known the world over, for all female troubles, inflammation, cruel backache and internal displacements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only guaranteed cure. See guarantee on every bottle-wrapper.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets—gently laxative or actively cathartic according to dose. 25 cents.

Scientist—"Do you believe in spirits?" Kentuckian—"Thanks, don't keer if I do."

One by one the roses fall, but "Tansill's Punch" 5c. Cigar outlives them all.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR
IS A SPECIFIC FOR PAINFUL PROFUSE SCANTY SUPPRESSED AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION OR MONTHLY SICKNESS
IF TAKEN DURING CHANGE OF LIFE GREAT DANGER TO SUFFERING WILL BE AVOIDED
BOOK TO "WOMAN" MAILED FREE
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Constructed entirely of best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock, they are unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable cast-iron imitations which are often sold for the genuine article and are not only unreliable, but dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON Revolvers are all stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents and are guaranteed perfect in every detail. Insist upon having the genuine article, and if your dealer cannot supply you an order sent to address below will receive prompt and careful attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices furnished upon application.
SMITH & WESSON, Springfield, Mass.
Mention this paper.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS
RED CROSS DIAMOND BRAND.
[illegible]
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

ARE YOU THINKING OF BUYING A Cotton or Hay Press? We manufacture a Cotton Press and two Hay Presses. Will send Circulars and full List upon application.
ROANOKE IRON WOOD WORKS,
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.
P. O. Box 265.

Patronize HOME INDUSTRY
BUY SOUTHERN-MADE
PRINTING INK
—FROM—
FRANK J. COHEN, General Agent,
23 East Alabama St., ATLANTA, GA.

Plantation Engines
With Self-Contained RETURN FLUE BOILERS FOR DRIVING COTTON GINS and MILLS
JAMES LEFFEL & CO.
SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,
or 110 Liberty St., New York.

JONES
HE PAYS THE FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales
Iron Levers Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Dr. Lobb, 329 N. 15th St., PHILA., PA.
After ALL others fail, consult
Twenty years' continuous practice in the treatment and cure of the awful effects of early vice, destroying both mind and body. Medicines and treatment for one month, Five Dollars, sent securely sealed from observation to any address.
Book on Special Diseases free.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER
Makes a clean sweep. [illegible]
F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

MILLERSBURG Female College
Located in the heart of the beautiful "Blue-Grass" region of Kentucky. [illegible]
REV. C. POPE, MILLERSBURG, KY.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU
COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors.
[illegible] St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

MUSIC—ART—ELOCUTION
General Culture. [illegible]

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Business Forms, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Shorthand, etc., thoroughly Taught by MAIL. [illegible] Bryant's College, [illegible] Buffalo, N. Y.

$5 to $8 a day. [illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the Best.

Rates of Advertising.

One dollar per square, of one inch or less, for the first, and fifty cents for each subsequent insertion.

[illegible]	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
[illegible]	$ 5 00	$ 7 50	$ 11 75
[illegible]	7 00	11 25	16 00
[illegible]	10 00	15 00	22 50
[illegible]	12 50	20 00	27 00
[illegible]	15 00	22 50	33 00
[illegible] Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
[illegible] Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1889. NUMBER 39.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S AS USUAL

Will Begin Bright and Early Monday Morning

-THEIR GREAT-

MIDSUMMER COST CLEARING SALE!

FIRST AVENUE, - - - - BI ALA.

Everything has been arranged to make this in all probability one of the greatest sales in Mb mingham. Remember you will have a stock of over $100,000 to select from and these goo for for first-class class city trade and were not intended for any snide catch-penny business.

A TERIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

The Return of the Tide.

ast night our boats lay drifting, late,
Upon the sea's unmoved expanse,
hen, lo! some eddying swirl of fate—
Some current of capricious chance—
oke chain from chain and heart from heart,
And we were borne apart.

ou southerward, to drift or lie—
I know not how, nor when, nor wher underneath this northern sky—
A frozen heart in frozen air—et soothed by one sustaining thought
Mine eyes to me have brought.

or this I know; all tides converge,
Through dark and light, through calm and stress;
e southern swell and northern surge
Some day shall meet and coalesce;
nd all the freights these currents bear
Shall meet some day somewhere.

h, what though black clouds hide the sky,
And desolate, trackless wastes divide?
me day, somewhere, our boats shall lie
Within the harbor, side by side, here sorrow nevermore, nor pain,
Shall sever us again.

—John W. O'Keef

GISELE'S CAPRICE

The salon was lighted by a single amp which shed a soft radiance throughut the room. It was simply furnished, ut was adorned with a profusion of owers and plants. Three persons were n the salon—Mme. de Bainy, Gisele, er daughter, and the latter's betrothed, obert de Gilis who was soon to be her usband.

Gisele, who was in her eighteenth ear, was very beautiful. She was a atural blonde. Her smile had the ouble advantage of showing pretty eeth and two charming little dimples n her rosy cheeks. Her eyes were very andsome, but their glance was somehat imperious. She was, dressed in a obe of a soft, white, clinging material hat set off to advantage her girlish eauty.

Gisele was an only daughter. She ad been reared by an indulgent mother, r father having died during her incy. Although Mme. de Bainy's income was barely sufficient to support elf and her daughter she managed to tify Gisele's every whim, and her hims were many, for she was a child caprice.

Many admirers paid suit to Gisele, t she smiled on none until Robert de ilis threw himself and his fortune at er feet. In Robert Gisele found her upreme triumph, for by his unselfish evotion he gave her the greatest satisction a woman can have—to be loved r her beauty, which was Gisele's only ower. Robert had every qualification be desired in a lover. He was twentye years old, handsome, manly and ry wealthy.

While Mme. de Bainy was working at r embroidery and Robert and Gisele ere holding a tender conversation, the or of the salon was opened and orges Langle was announced.

"Good evening, my dear Madame," the new-comer, as he entered, wing to the mistress of the house.

"Ah, good evening, my dear ngle," said Mme. de Bainy, welcoming the guest. "This is, indeed, an reeable surprise."

When the others had welcomed him, ning to Robert, Langle said:

"I knew that I would find you here, that is why I called so late, wishing have you present to second a proposion which I desire to make to these ies."

"Ah! tell us. What is it?" exclaimed ele.

"My mother's cottage at Saint-Cloud just been put in order for the Sum," replied Langle. "We are going drive there to-morrow morning, and desires that you will accompany us. shall leave Paris in good season so avoid the heat of the day. Breakwill await us on our arrival. We spend the warm part of the day nging in our hammocks and gossipunder the elms. We will dine al o, and then, if Mlle. Gisele aproves of the plan, we will attend the of Saint-Cloud at which, among other attractions, will be the great lion-tamer, the illustrious Bidel, with his menagerie. That is the prosposition I have to offer."

"Bravo!" cried Gisele. "Your plan is charming! charming! Is it not, Robert?" she added, turning to her lover.

Robert agreed with Gisele that their friend's plan was faultless, and it was adopted with enthusiasm.

Accordingly, the following day found Mme. de Bainy, her daughter and Robert at Saint-Cloud, as the guests of M. Langle and his mother. The day was spent in those delightful ways which people escaping from the city in the early Summer find for passing the time in the country. Gisele, however, was all anticipation in regard to the approaching fete, and especially in regard to the lion-tamer, Bidel, of whose exploits she had heard a great deal. Immediately after dinner, therefore, Gisele, Robert and Langle went to the fete the elder ladies preferring to remain at the cottage.

They first attended Bidel's performance with his lions, which Gisele watched with the liveliest interest. As the performance drew to a close Gisele became so enthusiastic in rgard to Bidel's bravery that Langle said jokingly, she ought to marry a lion-tamer.

"Such is my intention," replied Gisele, "for I am sure that Robert will not deny the first request I have ever made of him. Will you?" Robert, she added, turning to him.

"What!" exclaimed Robert. "Do you wish me to enter the lion's cage?"

"Yes. Does that surprise you?"

"A little, I confess."

You ought to have as much courage as a vulgar tamer of animals," said Gisele, who seemed to be put out by her lover's backwardness in bearding the lions to please her whim.

"But to do what you ask me to do would by no means be a proof of courage," answered Robert. "It would be a ridiculous act on my part, for I would be exposing myself for no purpose."

"You speak lightly of the prospect of being devoured," said Langle laughing.

Langle wished to laugh Gisele out of her caprice. Gisele, on the other hand, did not really wish her lover to enter the lions' cage but she wanted him to seem ready to do even that for her.

"Then you refuse?" she asked Robert with an air of disdain.

Langle, without giving Robert an opportunity to reply, said:

"Certainly he refuses, for the conditions are not the same for him as for Bidel, who has been long accustomed to being among wild animals and has made a careful study of their character."

"You seem to take great interest in a matter which does not concern you," said Gisele' who was vexed by Langle's opposition.

"But," replied Langle gravely, "what you ask Robert to do is very dangerous. Besides you forget that his mother adores him and that she will never forgive you if you make him expose himself in this perilous manner."

But Gisele insisted.

"Very well," said Robert coldly, "I will enter the cage, if Bidel will allow me to do so, as soon as the spectators have departed. I do not wish to give a public exhibition of my courage," he added with a tinge of sarcasm in his tone.

"Ah! I knew you would consent!" exclaimed Gisele with apparent delight.

"I will arrange the matter at once," said Robert.

He went to Bidel with whom he held a short conversation, then returned, saying:

"The Lions will be fed in a few minutes. I will enter the cage then with Bidel."

By this time the spectators had departed. Robert, Langle and Gisele approached the cage. Presently the lion-tamer joined them. He told Robert, that he was ready to feed the lions and invited him into the cage.

"No, Robert, do not go," said Gisele. "I do not wish you to enter the cage. I asked you to do so only because I wanted you to seem ready to expose yourself to any danger for my sake."

"Pardon me, Gisele, for no-acceding to this new caprice of yours as to the first," replied Robert. "I have resolved to enter the cage and I shall do so."

Robert turned away from Gisele, and a moment afterward he and the lion-tamer entered the cage. The lions, eight in number, moved hither and thither, obeident to the command of their master, but their large golden eyes showed their astonishment at the presence of this intruder who accompanied him.

Gisele and Langle looked on in silence and in agony. Gisele, who was very pale, was only prevented from giving voice to her anguish by the fear of aggravating her lover's peril. Her eyes, which were big with fright, were fixed on Robert. He, on the other hand, was quite calm, at least in appearance. Like Bidel he was armed with a bar of iron and a raw hide. He was thus doubly prepared to repel the lions if they came too near him.

Robert was in the cage about five minutes. Then he left it and rejoined Gisele, who, radiant with joy, her hands extended, exclaimed.

"Oh, Robert! how I admire you! how I——"

Robert took one of Gisele's hands in his, and, interrupting her, said in a calm voice.

"Do not praise my exploit so much, for the act which you applaud was performed for my own sake rather than yours. If I am brave, as now you evidently think me, I confess that I am not without fear that I shall not always be able to accede to your desires, and as it would pain me to cross so charming a woman I renounce the honor of being your husband."

As soon as they returned to the cottage the party started for Paris. When they reached Gisele's home Robert bade her good-by with a profound bow. On entering the house Gisele found the superb boquet which she was accustomed to receive each day from Robert; it was the last.

Gisele has never married.—Translated for The Epoch.

A Dog's Queer Fancy for Eels.

Alonzo Stevens, the colored man at Gifford's who supplies fishermen with shrimp, is one of the most enthusiastic experts with the rod along the Staten Island coast. What he doesn't know about the habits of each particular fish isn't worth knowing. He says that the fishermen should pull the sand crabs and sea spiders into their boats, then take them ashore and kill them if they ever expect to get rid of them. It will take a long time to get entirely rid of them, but it can be accomplished, according to Stevens. When time hangs heavily on his hands Alonzo bobs for eels.

He has the trick of catching and throwing them on the big float faster than two men can pick them up. When assistance is not at hand, however, many of the eels get back into the water again. To prevent this he trained Carlo, the big St. Bernard dog owned by James C. Collins, to catch the eels and bite them through the back, thus preventing them from getting away. Recently the dog made a rush for a big fellow which Stevens threw on the float, but he slipped and dog and eel fell into the water. The eel wound itself around Carlo's neck and nearly choked him. Since then Carlo has had no use for the frisky eel, and you can't get him to touch one of them.—New York Sun.

It has recently been proved conclusively that there exists a relation between phenomena of a volcanic nature and telluric and atmospheric electricity.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Nothing so immutable as truth.

Any kind of courage is desirable.

A great, strong heart is never overcome.

Hypocrisy and knavery are Siamese twins.

We are always the martyrs of our own faults.

Let your anger set with the sun, but never rise with it.

Misfortune may make us proud; suffering makes us humble.

Great misfortune lends greatness even to an insignificant person.

One must be indeed unhappy to attempt suicide a second time.

When misfortune happens to a friend, look forward and endeavor to prevent the same thing from happening to you.

Marriage is a singularly severe test of human nature—far more severe than celibates imagine—under the auspicious circumstances.

The respect people show you in your misfortune diminishes long before you have begun to outlive it, and you are irritated at being treated as before.

There is a sort of instantaneous brotherhood between victims of misfortune. When you have long been in mourning you feel attracted by every black cloak you meet.

If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repair.

An Army of German Birds.

A short time ago 700 German singing birds were liberated in the grounds of Cedar Hill, Mrs. H. D. Green's beautiful home on the hills west of Portland, Oregon. This was the consummation of a plan formed several months ago by German residents of the city, who subscribed a sufficient amount of money to send a man to Germany and secure a thousand singing birds of different species. On his return passage the attendant was sick for four days, and 300 of the birds died from want of care. The rest arrived all safe last week, and have been on exhibition at the industrial fair building. Among the different species are song quails, the black thrush, song thrush, cross-beaks, linnet, starlings, bullfinches, nightingales (two varieties, one singing in the day, the other at night), greenfinches, goldfinches, chaffinches, skylarks, etc. Most of them came through in excellent condition, and when liberated they made the beautiful grounds of Cedar Hill a veritable aviary, fairly reveling in the warm sunshine. For the most part they are modest-looking little fellows, in sombre plumage of gray and green. The bullfinches alone wear bright liveries. They are fine little fellows, looking like red-coated Britishers, with their red breasts and black caps and trim military bearing.

Ancient Boycotting.

In the seventh year of Henry III the archbishop of Canterbury and the bishop of Lincoln enjoined the faithful not to sell victuals to the Jews nor have any communication with them, whereupon the king ordered the sheriffs and mayors to issue counter injunctions and to imprison anyone who refused to supply the necessaries of life. Thirteen years later the bishop of London followed the course adopted by his Episcopal brethren, and the king thereupon issued a writ to the mayor and sheriffs of London to stop the evil.

In the reign of Edward I the archbishop of Canterbury threatened to excommunicate every one in the province of Canterbury who should have any intercourse with the archbishop of York or supply him or his servants with the necessaries of life. He was subsequently obliged by the king and parliament to revoke his threats.

Making a List of Hotel Arrivals.

"How do the morning papers get the lists of prominent hotel arrivals?" asked a visiting statesman of me. He went on to say: "I have been in and out of New York for ten years, and on about one-half of my trips I have desired not to have the fact of my presence known. You see I was sure to be bothered with visitors at my hotel if a public annoucement was made that I was here, and I have sought to avoid the callers. But somehow or other my name always gets printed." The man who gathers these hotel arrivals is "Joe" Lennon. He is in the daytime a proofreader on the Mail and Express. Every night about 9 o'clock, for seven or eight years, he has started in at the Buckingham Hotel on Fifth avenue and Fiftieth street and trudged downwards through the city, stopping at each prominent hotel, running over the register, inquiring of clerks for guests to arrive, and keeping a watchful eye on the corridors for guests who have not registered and desire to be "on the quiet." He has a five-mile trip to make before he reaches the Astor House, near the Post Office, and it is well on to midnight when his duplicate lists are sent round to the newspaper offices. He is a perfect encyclopedia of the names and titles of prominent men. He knows every hotel clerk and half the bell boys in the principal hotels, and has means of knowing whether a public man is in hiding about town quite outside the record of the registers, and that is the way their names get into print when they least expect it.—New York Graphic.

A Panic at a Mock Bull Fight.

At a performance recently given in the circus at Kattowitz, in Upper Silesia, three trained Spanish bulls were led into the ring to go through certain tricks. The applause and shouts of the public excited the creatures to such an extent that they broke loose, and leapt over the barriers among the terrified audience. A panic ensued. Many persons were gored by the animals, whose madness was increased by the shrieks and the stampede that was taking place. Other persons were knocked down and crushed in their efforts to escaped Finally some courageous spectators succeeded in literally "grasping the bulls by the horns," and, aided by the circus employes, overpowered them and led them to their stalls.

One Way to Pay For an Education.

A Harvard man tells a good story of how a poor but ambitious young fellow managed to stay at the law school. The student in question lived in a sparcely settled Western village, where school advantages are few, and opportunities to follow higher studies unknown. After getting what education he could at the irregular country schools, he bought and borrowed the books used in fitting for college and mastered them. Then deciding to enter the law, he looked about for friends to loan him money enough to go to the Harvard Law School. But since he could find no one who would loan him a considerable sum without security, he had to resort to a not uncommon, but unpleasant plan. He had his life insured and the policy made over to the money-lender, who therefore advanced him $1000.—Boston Advertiser.

Will Bore a Square Hole.

Mr. Young, a telegraph operator of Charles City, Iowa, has invented a square hole-boring machine. His patent has been granted in thirteen claims. He is backed by two moneyed men of that town. An exhibition of the machine was given before prominent mechanics. It was pronounced a perfect success in every way, the machine boring an even square hole of any dimensions. It is possible the business men's association may organize a syndicate to manufacture the machine.—Chicago Herald.

THE NATIONAL GAM

WILLIAMSON is back in Chicago.

LOUISVILLE has released Billy Glea

BALTIMORE has released Goetz and F

COLUMBUS pays Billy George $300 a m

ANDREWS now captains the Omaha

GALVIN appears to be Pittsburg's mainst in the box.

THE Dallas Club of the Texas League h suspended.

LOUISVILLE is after Joe Gerhardt, of the Jersey Citys.

CHICAGO is no longer the great baseball city that it was.

CONNOR, of the New Yorks, has so far made eight home runs.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., has American Association aspirations.

HATFIELD is now the only "colt" left on the New York team.

TIERNAN, of the New Yorks, is once more batting in his old form.

DALRYMPLE now plays infield positions for Denver in emergencies.

WORCESTER, Mass., is favorably spoken of as an Association city next season.

CLEVELAND has already made enough money to clear the season's expenses.

HARTFORD, Conn., has taken the lead in the Atlantic League from Jersey City, N. J.

LITTLE HOY, of Washington, the deaf mute, has few superiors as an outfielder.

THE Denver team is now known throughout the West as "Rowe's umpire killers."

CUB STRICKER, of Cleveland, so far has outplayed all the League second basemen.

CAPTAIN DUNLAP, of Pittsburg, has become one of the best sacrifice hitters in the League.

CHICAGO is being entertained by "the champion young lady baseball players of the world."

IT certainly looks as if interest in the national game among the Western people is on the wane.

RUNNING the baseball diamond bids fair to be added to the list of field events at athletic meetings. In Rhode Island it is being adopted.

DENNY, of Indianapolis, is the only player in the League who has been at the bat six times in a game and made a hit at each appearance.

P. B. LYNN has been elected captain of the Harvard baseball nine for next year. He has played right field on the 'Varsity nine for three years.

WHAT a surprise it would excite if the "babies" assumed a winning gait and captured the pennant. America wouldn't be big enough to hold Cleveland.

TWICE this season has the feat of knocking out three doubles in the same game been accomplished, and O'Rourke, of New York, has won the honor on both occasions.

PITCHER O'BRIEN'S success in the League is a mystery. When Cleveland was in the Association he was considered a "soft snap," and was always punished hard and often.

BY common consent Indianapolis is the greatest home umpire city in the land. There the spectators want everything—even the decisions that are not close at all being howled for.

MARTIN SULLIVAN, of the Indianapolis Club, has had hard luck since he began to play ball. He has lost two children, and arrived home recently to find that his wife was dead.

CONNER, the big first baseman of the New Yorks, was the first man to knock a ball over the centre field fence at their new grounds. The feat was rewarded with a gold medal, given by an evening paper.

WASHINGTON is getting rid of its men rapidly. First Myers, second baseman, went to Philadelphia. Now the third baseman, Sweeney, has been sold to Denver, and Morrill has gone home to Boston.

THE Southern League has disbanded owing to a lack of patrons. An eight club league, consisting of Nashville, Memphis, Atlanta, Louisville, Evansville (Ind.), Chattanooga, New Orleans and Mobile, is talked of for next year.

WHEN the Louisville players demanded their pay from President Davidson, that functionary handed to Hecker a slip of paper with this inscription: "Sand bank, inside Baltimore Baseball Park; please pay to Gus J. Hecker, or bearer, any sum he wishes to collect."

DECENT sports are a powerful check to brutal and immoral physical contests. In Cleveland, for instance, the baseball "craze" has unquestionably deadened public interest in prize-fighting to a remarkable degree, and has, therefore, exerted a moral influence of no small importance.

LEAGUE RECORD.

	Won.	Lost.	Percentage
Boston	38	20	.655
Cleveland	40	24	.625
New York	36	22	.621
Philadelphia	33	29	.532
Chicago	30	33	.476
Pittsburg	26	34	.433
Indianapolis	23	37	.383
Washington	15	42	.263

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION RECORD.

	Won.	Lost.	Percentage
St. Louis	47	22	.681
Brooklyn	41	24	.631
Athletic	36	[illegible]	.594
Baltimore	36	30	.545
Cincinnati	37	31	.544
Kansas City	30	37	.448
Columbus	26	42	.382
Louisville	13	56	.187

Reflections.

Folly must hold its tongue while wearing the wig of wisdom.

When poverty comes in at the cottage door, true love goes at it with an ax.

A vein of humor should be made visible without the help of a reduction mill.

The reformer becomes a fanatic when he begins to use his emotions as a substitute for his reasoning faculty.

All the paths of life lead to the grave and the utmost that we can do is to avoid the short cuts.

Iowa
Illin
Indiana
Inter-state
J. S. L
Kansa
Kent
Louis
Maine
Maryland
Mass.
Michigan, W
Minnesota, Ha
Minnesota, Sou
Missouri, Sedal
Montana Agr
ical & Mech
Nebraska, Lincoln
Nevada, Reno
New England, W
New Era Exp'n, St
New Hampshire Gra
New Jersey, Waverly
New York, Albany
North Pacific Indust land, Ore.
Ohio, Columbus
Omaha, Omaha, Nebra
Ontario Central Agricult
Live Stock Ass'n, Pern
Ontario Provincial, L
Oregon, Salem
Penn., Western, Washing
Rhode Island, Providence
St. Louis, St. Louis
South Carolina, Columbia
Southern Exp'n, Montgomery
Tennessee, Nashville
Texas State Fair & Dallas Exp
tion, Dallas
Tri-State Fair, Toledo, O.
Utah, Salt Lake City
Washington and Idaho Fair Ass'n,
Spokane Falls
West Virginia, Wheeling
Wisconsin, Milwaukee Sept
Wyoming, Cheyenne Sept 17

PROMINENT PEOPLE.

PRESIDENT HARRISON is very fond of fish

QUEEN VICTORIA has reigned fifty-on years.

MEISSONIER, the French painter, was married recently.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE has produced twenty-nine novels.

GOVERNOR FORAKER, of Ohio, is forty-three years old.

THE Prince of Wales is quite a successful breeder of cattle.

GENERAL BOULANGER thinks of visiting the United States.

HERRMANN, the magician, has his life insured for $800,000.

MRS. A. D. T. WHITNEY, the writer, is George Francis Train's sister.

R. W. GILDER, editor of the Century, gets $90,000 a year for his services.

THE late General Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, left a fortune of $1,500,000.

ALLEN G. THURMAN is again suffering considerably from inflammatory rheumatism.

THE Earl of Zetland, the new Viceroy of Ireland, has an income of over $1000 a day.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW, President of the New York Central, has gone to Europe for the summer.

A DAUGHTER of James G. Fair, the $4,000,000 Californian, will marry a penniless young army surgeon.

THE Sultan of Turkey has 474 carriages, and the cost of attendance, fitting and repairs is $460,000 a year.

JEFFERSON DAVIS has received an offer from a Northern publisher to write a history of the Confederate States.

THOMAS NORTH, the English capitalist, was a poor boiler riveter twenty-three years ago. Now he is worth $10,000,000.

TAMAGNO, who in the musical world abroad is considered the most perfect tenor, is over six feet in height and well built.

PRINCE BISMARCK, takes more pleasure in recounting the duelling and drinking feats of his student days than in relating any of his triumphs in the field of statesmanship.

JOHN DILLON, member of Parliament for East Mayo, Ireland, will soon sail for America. He goes to Denver, Col., and thence to California and expects to be absent a whole year.

THE widow of N. P. Willis, the poet, is living in Washington. She is a pleasant, attractive woman of sixty, and is occasionally seen in society. Her son, Bailey Willis, is a member of the corps of the geological survey.

ARABS in large numbers have swarmed down upon the villages in East Central Africa, burning and pillaging the houses and robbing and murdering the people. The women and girls have been subjected to the grossest indignities, and several babies were roasted alive in the presence of their parents.

THEODORE [illegible] dent of [illegible], Pa., says he has [illegible] dence that this continent was settled about 650 years after the [illegible] tants were highly [illegible]

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch or less, for the first, and Fifty cents for each subsequent insertion.

[illegible]	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
[illegible]	$ 5 00	$ 7 50	$ 11 25
[illegible]	7 00	11 25	16 00
[illegible]	10 00	15 00	22 50
[illegible]	12 50	20 00	27 00
[illegible]	15 00	22 50	33 00
[illegible] Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
[illegible] Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
[illegible] Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1889. NUMBER 39.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S

AS USUAL

Will Begin Bright and Early Monday Morning

-THEIR GREAT-

MIDSUMMER COST CLEARING SALE!

FIRST AVENUE, - - - - BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Everything has been arranged to make this in all probability one of the greatest sales in the history of Birmingham. Remember you will have a stock of over $100,000 to select from and these goods were purchased for for first-class class city trade and were not intended for any snide catch-penny business.

A TERIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

The Return of the Tide.

Last night our boats lay drifting, late,
Upon the sea's unmoved expanse,
Then, lo! some eddying swirl of fate—
Some current of capricious chance—
Broke chain from chain and heart from heart,
And we were borne apart.

You southernward, to drift or lie—
I know not how, nor when, nor wher
Underneath this northern sky—
A frozen heart in frozen air—
Yet soothed by one sustaining thought
Mine eyes to me have brought.

For this I know; all tides converge,
Through dark and light, through calm and stress;
The southern swell and northern surge
Some day shall meet and coalesce;
And all the freights these currents bear
Shall meet some day somewhere.

Ah, what though black clouds hide the sky,
And desolate, trackless wastes divide?
Some day, somewhere, our boats shall lie
Within the harbor, side by side,
Where sorrow nevemore, nor pain,
Shall sever us again.

—John W. O'Keef

GISELE'S CAPRICE

The salon was lighted by a single lamp which shed a soft radiance throughout the room. It was simply furnished, but was adorned with a profusion of flowers and plants. Three persons were in the salon—Mme. de Bainy, Gisele, her daughter, and the latter's betrothed, Robert de Gilis who was soon to be her husband.

Gisele, who was in her eighteenth year, was very beautiful. She was a natural blonde. Her smile had the double advantage of showing pretty teeth and two charming little dimples in her rosy cheeks. Her eyes were very handsome, but their glance was somewhat imperious. She was, dressed in a robe of a soft, white, clinging material that set off to advantage her girlish beauty.

Gisele was an only daughter. She had been reared by an indulgent mother, her father having died during her infancy. Although Mme. de Bainy's income was barely sufficient to support herself and her daughter she managed to satisfy Gisele's every whim, and her whims were many, for she was a child of caprice.

Many admirers paid suit to Gisele, but she smiled on none until Robert de Gilis threw himself and his fortune at her feet. In Robert Gisele found her supreme triumph, for bye his unselfish devotion he gave her the greatest satisfaction a woman can have—to be loved for her beauty, which was Gisele's only dower. Robert had every qualification to be desired in a lover. He was twenty-five years old, handsome, manly and very wealthy.

While Mme. de Bainy was working at her embroidery and Robert and Gisele were holding a tender conversation, the door of the salon was opened and Georges Langle was announced.

"Good evening, my dear Madame," said the new-comer, as he entered, bowing to the mistress of the house.

"Ah, good evening, my dear Langle," said Mme. de Bainy, welcoming the guest. "This is, indeed, an agreeable surprise."

When the others had welcomed him, turning to Robert, Langle said:

"I knew that I would find you here, and that is why I called so late, wishing to have you present to second a proposition which I desire to make to these ladies."

"Ah! tell us. What is it?" exclaimed Gisele.

"My mother's cottage at Saint-Cloud has just been put in order for the Summer," replied Langle. "We are going to drive there to-morrow morning, and she desires that you will accompany us. We shall leave Paris in good season so as to avoid the heat of the day. Breakfast will await us on our arrival. We will spend the warm part of the day lounging in our hammocks and gossiping under the elms. We will dine al fresco, and then, if Mlle. Gisele approves of the plan, we will attend the fete of Saint-Cloud at which, among other attractions, will be the great lion-tamer, the illustrious Bidel, with his menagerie. That is the prosposition I have to offer."

"Bravo!" cried Gisele. "Your plan is charming! charming! Is it not, Robert?" she added, turning to her lover.

Robert agreed with Gisele that their friend's plan was faultless, and it was adopted with enthusiasm.

Accordingly, the following day found Mme. de Bainy, her daughter and Robert at Saint-Cloud, as the guests of M. Langle and his mother. The day was spent in those delightful ways which people escaping from the city in the early Summer find for passing the time in the country. Gisele, however, was all anticipation in regard to the approaching fete, and especially in regard to the lion-tamer, Bidel, of whose exploits she had heard a great deal. Immediately after dinner, therefore, Gisele, Robert and Langle went to the fete the elder ladies preferring to remain at the cottage.

They first attended Bidel's performance with his lions, which Gisele watched with the liveliest interest. As the performance drew to a close Gisele became so enthusiastic in regard to Bidel's bravery that Langle said jokingly, she ought to marry a lion-tamer.

"Such is my intention," replied Gisele, "for I am sure that Robert will not deny the first request I have ever made of him. Will you?' Robert, she added, turning to him.

"What!" exclaimed Robert. "Do you wish me to enter the lion's cage?"

"Yes. Does that surprise you?"

"A little, I confess."

You ought to have as much courage as a vulgar tamer of animals," said Gisele, who seemed to be put out by her lover's backwardness in bearding the lions to please her whim.

"But to do what you ask me to do would by no means be a proof of courage," answered Robert. "It would be a ridiculous act on my part, for I would be exposing myself for no purpose."

"You speak lightly of the prospect of being devoured," said Langle laughing.

Langle wished to laugh Gisele out of her caprice. Gisele, on the other hand, did not really wish her lover to enter the lions' cage but she wanted him to seem ready to do even that for her.

"Then you refuse?" she asked Robert with an air of disdain.

Langle, without giving Robert an opportunity to reply, said:

"Certainly he refuses, for the conditions are not the same for him as for Bidel, who has been long accustomed to being among wild animals and has made a careful study of their character."

"You seem to take great interest in a matter which does not concern you," said Gisele' who was vexed by Langle's opposition.

"But," replied Langle gravely, "what you ask Robert to do is very dangerous. Besides you forget that his mother adores him and that she will never forgive you if you make him expose himself in this perilous manner."

But Gisele insisted.

"Very well," said Robert coldly, "I will enter the cage, if Bidel will allow me to do so, as soon as the spectators have departed. I do not wish to give a public exhibition of my courage," he added with a tinge of sarcasm in his tone.

"Ah! I knew you would consent!" exclaimed Gisele with apparent delight.

"I will arrange the matter at once," said Robert.

He went to Bidel with whom he held a short conversation, then returned, saying:

"The Lions will be fed in a few minutes. I will enter the cage then with Bidel."

By this time the spectators had departed. Robert, Langle and Gisele approached the cage. Presently the lion-tamer joined them. He told Robert, that he was ready to feed the lions and invited him into the cage.

"No, Robert, do not go," said Gisele. "I do not wish you to enter the cage. I asked you to do so only because I wanted you to seem ready to expose yourself to any danger for my sake."

"Pardon me, Gisele, for no-acceding to this new caprice of yours as to the first," replied Robert. "I have resolved to enter the cage and I shall do so."

Robert turned away from Gisele, and a moment afterward he and the lion-tamer entered the cage. The lions, eight in number, moved hither and thither, obeident to the command of their master, but their large golden eyes showed their astonishment at the presence of this intruder who accompanied him.

Gisele and Langle looked on in silence and in agony. Gisele, who was very pale, was only prevented from giving voice to her anguish by the fear of aggravating her lover's peril. Her eyes, which were big with fright, were fixed on Robert. He, on the other hand, was quite calm, at least in appearance. Like Bidel he was armed with a bar of iron and a raw hide. He was thus doubly prepared to repel the lions if they came too near him.

Robert was in the cage about five minutes. Then he left it and rejoined Gisele, who, radiant with joy, her hands extended, exclaimed.

"Oh, Robert! how I admire you! how I——"

Robert took one of Gisele's hands in his, and, interrupting her, said in a calm voice.

"Do not praise my exploit so much, for the act which you applaud was performed for my own sake rather than yours. If I am brave, as now you evidently think me, I confess that I am not without fear that I shall not always be able to accede to your desires, and as it would pain me to cross so charming a woman I renounce the honor of being your husband."

As soon as they returned to the cottage the party started for Paris. When they reached Gisele's home Robert bade her good-by with a profound bow. On entering the house Gisele found the superb boquet which she was accustomed to receive each day from Robert; it was the last.

Gisele has never married.—Translated for The Epoch.

A Dog's Queer Fancy for Eels.

Alonzo Stevens, the colored man at Gifford's who supplies fishermen with shrimp, is one of the most enthusiastic experts with the rod along the Staten Island coast. What he doesn't know about the habits of each particular fish isn't worth knowing. He says that the fishermen should pull the sand crabs and sea spiders into their boats, then take them ashore and kill them if they ever expect to get rid of them. It will take a long time to get entirely rid of them, but it can be accomplished, according to Stevens. When time hangs heavily on his hands Alonzo bobs for eels.

He has the trick of catching and throwing them on the big float faster than two men can pick them up. When assistance is not at hand, however, many of the eels get back into the water again. To prevent this he trained Carlo, the big St. Bernard dog owned by James C. Collins, to catch the eels and bite them through the back, thus preventing them from getting away. Recently the dog made a rush for a big fellow which Stevens threw on the float, but he slipped and dog and eel fell into the water. The eel wound itself around Carlo's neck and nearly choked him. Since then Carlo has had no use for the frisky eel, and you can't get him to touch one of them.—New York Sun.

It has recently been proved conclusively that there exists a relation between phenomena of a volcanic nature and telluric and atmospheric electricity.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Nothing so immutable as truth.

Any kind of courage is desirable.

A great, strong heart is never overcome.

Hypocrisy and knavery are Siamese twins.

We are always the martyrs of our own faults.

Let your anger set with the sun, but never rise with it.

Misfortune may make us proud; suffering makes us humble.

Great misfortune lends greatness even to an insignificant person.

One must be indeed unhappy to attempt suicide a second time.

When misfortune happens to a friend, look forward and endeavor to prevent the same thing from happening to you.

Marriage is a singularly severe test of human nature—far more severe than celibates imagine—under the auspicious circumstances.

The respect people show you in your misfortune diminishes long before you have begun to outlive it, and you are irritated at being treated as before.

There is a sort of instantaneous brotherhood between victims of misfortune. When you have long been in mourning you feel attracted by every black cloak you meet.

If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repair.

An Army of German Birds.

A short time ago 700 German singing birds were liberated in the grounds of Cedar Hill, Mrs. H. D. Green's beautiful home on the hills west of Portland, Oregon. This was the consummation of a plan formed several months ago by German residents of the city, who subscribed a sufficient amount of money to send a man to Germany and secure a thousand singing birds of different species. On his return passage the attendant was sick for four days, and 300 of the birds died from want of care. The rest arrived all safe last week, and have been on exhibition at the industrial fair building. Among the different species are song quails, the black thrush, song thrush, cross-beaks, linnet, starlings, bullfinches, nightingales (two varieties, one singing in the day, the other at night), greenfinches, goldfinches, chaffinches, skylarks, etc. Most of them came through in excellent condition, and when liberated they made the beautiful grounds of Cedar Hill a veritable aviary, fairly reveling in the warm sunshine. For the most part they are modest-looking little fellows, in sombre plumage of gray and green. The bullfinches alone wear bright liveries. They are fine little fellows, looking like red-coated Britishers, with their red breasts and black caps and trim military bearing.

Ancient Boycotting.

In the seventh year of Henry III the archbishop of Canterbury and the bishop of Lincoln enjoined the faithful not to sell victuals to the Jews nor have any communication with them, whereupon the king ordered the sheriffs and mayors to issue counter injunctions and to imprison anyone who refused to supply the necessaries of life. Thirteen years later the bishop of London followed the course adopted by his Episcopal brethren, and the king thereupon issued a writ to the mayor and sheriffs of London to stop the evil.

In the reign of Edward I the archbishop of Canterbury threatened to excommunicate every one in the province of Canterbury who should have any intercourse with the archbishop of York or supply him or his servants with the necessaries of life. He was subsequently obliged by the king and parliament to revoke his threats.

Making a List of Hotel Arrivals.

"How do the morning papers get the lists of prominent hotel arrivals?" asked a visiting statesman of me. He went on to say: "I have been in and out of New York for ten years, and on about one-half of my trips I have desired not to have the fact of my presence known. You see I was sure to be bothered with visitors at my hotel if a public annoucement was made that I was here, and I have sought to avoid the callers. But somehow or other my name always gets printed." The man who gathers these hotel arrivals is "Joe" Lennon. He is in the daytime a proof-reader on the Mail and Express. Every night about 9 o'clock, for seven or eight years, he has started in at the Buckingham Hotel on Fifth avenue and Fiftieth street and trudged downwards through the city, stopping at each prominent hotel, running over the register, inquiring of clerks for guests to arrive, and keeping a watchful eye on the corridors for guests who have not registered and desire to be "on the quiet." He has a five-mile trip to make before he reaches the Astor House, near the Post Office, and it is well on to midnight when his duplicate lists are sent round to the newspaper offices. He is a perfect encyclopedia of the names and titles of prominent men. He knows every hotel clerk and half the bell boys in the principal hotels, and has means of knowing whether a public man is in hiding about town quite outside the record of the registers, and that is the way their names get into print when they least expect it.—New York Graphic.

A Panic at a Mock Bull Fight.

At a performance recently given in the circus at Kattowitz, in Upper Silesia, three trained Spanish bulls were led into the ring to go through certain tricks. The applause and shouts of the public excited the creatures to such an extent that they broke loose, and leapt over the barriers among the terrified audience. A panic ensued. Many persons were gored by the animals, whose madness was increased by the shrieks and the stampede that was taking place. Other persons were knocked down and crushed in their efforts to escaped Finally some courageous spectators succeeded in literally "grasping the bulls by the horns," and, aided by the circus employes, overpowered them and led them to their stalls.

One Way to Pay For an Education.

A Harvard man tells a good story of how a poor but ambitious young fellow managed to stay at the law school. The student in question lived in a sparcely settled Western village, where school advantages are few, and opportunities to follow higher studies unknown. After getting what education he could at the irregular country schools, he bought and borrowed the books used in fitting for college and mastered them. Then deciding to enter the law, he looked about for friends to loan him money enough to go to the Harvard Law School. But since he could find no one who would loan him a considerable sum without security, he had to resort to a not uncommon, but unpleasant plan. He had his life insured and the policy made over to the money-lender, who therefore advanced him $1000.—Boston Advertiser.

Will Bore a Square Hole.

Mr. Young, a telegraph operater of Charles City, Iowa, has invented a square hole-boring machine. His patent has been granted in thirteen claims. He is backed by two moneyed men of that town. An exhibition of the machine was given before prominent mechanics. It was pronounced a perfect success in every way, the machine boring an even square hole of any dimensions. It is possible the business men's association may organize a syndicate to manufacture the machine.—Chicago Herald.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

WILLIAMSON is back in Chicago.

LOUISVILLE has released Billy Gleason.

BALTIMORE has released Goetz and Fulmer.

COLUMBUS pays Billy George $800 a month.

ANDREWS now captains the Omaha Club.

GALVIN appears to be Pittsburg's mainstay in the box.

THE Dallas Club of the Texas League has suspended.

LOUISVILLE is after Joe Gerhardt, of the Jersey Citys.

CHICAGO is no longer the great baseball city that it was.

CONNOR, of the New Yorks, has so far made eight home runs.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., has American Association aspirations.

HATFIELD is now the only "colt" left on the New York team.

TIERNAN, of the New Yorks, is once more batting in his old form.

DALRYMPLE now plays infield positions for Denver in emergencies.

WORCESTER, Mass., is favorably spoken of as an Association city next season.

CLEVELAND has already made enough money to clear the season's expenses.

HARTFORD, Conn., has taken the lead in the Atlantic League from Jersey City, N. J.

LITTLE HOY, of Washington, the deaf mute, has few superiors as an outfielder.

THE Denver team is now known throughout the West as "Rowe's umpire killers."

CUB STRICKER, of Cleveland, so far has outplayed all the League second basemen.

CAPTAIN DUNLAP, of Pittsburg, has become one of the best sacrifice hitters in the League.

CHICAGO is being entertained by "the champion young lady baseball players of the world."

IT certainly looks as if interest in the national game among the Western people is on the wane.

RUNNING the baseball diamond bids fair to be added to the list of field events at athletic meetings. In Rhode Island it is being adopted.

DENNY, of Indianapolis, is the only player in the League who has been at the bat six times in a game and made a hit at each appearance.

P. B. LYNN has been elected captain of the Harvard baseball nine for next year. He has played right field on the 'Varsity nine for three years.

WHAT a surprise it would excite if the "babies" assumed a winning gait and captured the pennant. America wouldn't be big enough to hold Cleveland.

TWICE this season has the feat of knocking out three doubles in the same game been accomplished, and O'Rourke, of New York, has won the honor on both occasions.

PITCHER O'BRIEN'S success in the League is a mystery. When Cleveland was in the Association he was considered a "soft snap," and was always punished hard and often.

BY common consent Indianapolis is the greatest home umpire city in the land. There the spectators want everything—even the decisions that are not close at all being howled for.

MARTIN SULLIVAN, of the Indianapolis Club, has had hard luck since he began to play ball. He has lost two children, and arrived home recently to find that his wife was dead.

CONNER, the big first baseman of the New Yorks, was the first man to knock a ball over the centre field fence at their new grounds. The feat was rewarded with a gold medal, given by an evening paper.

WASHINGTON is getting rid of its men rapidly. First Myers, second baseman, went to Philadelphia. Now the third baseman, Sweeney, has been sold to Denver, and Morrill has gone home to Boston.

THE Southern League has disbanded owing to a lack of patrons. An eight club league, consisting of Nashville, Memphis, Atlanta, Louisville, Evansville (Ind.), Chattanooga, New Orleans and Mobile, is talked of for next year.

WHEN the Louisville players demanded their pay from President Davidson, that functionary handed to Hecker a slip of paper with this inscription: "Sand bank, inside Baltimore Baseball Park; please pay to Gus J. Hecker, or bearer, any sum he wishes to collect."

DECENT sports are a powerful check to brutal and immoral physical contests. In Cleveland, for instance, the baseball "craze" has unquestionably deadened public interest in prize-fighting to a remarkable degree, and has, therefore, exerted a moral influence of no small importance.

LEAGUE RECORD.

	Won.	Lost.	Percentage
Boston	38	20	.655
Cleveland	40	24	.625
New York	36	22	.621
Philadelphia	33	29	.533
Chicago	30	33	.476
Pittsburg	26	34	.433
Indianapolis	23	37	.383
Washington	15	42	.263

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION RECORD.

	Won.	Lost.	Percentage.
St. Louis	47	22	.681
Brooklyn	41	24	.631
Athletic	38	26	.594
Baltimore	36	30	.545
Cincinnati	37	31	.544
Kansas City	30	37	.448
Columbus	26	42	.382
Louisville	13	56	.187

Reflections.

Folly must hold its tongue while wearing the wig of wisdom.

When poverty comes in at the cottage door, true love goes at it with an ax.

A vein of humor should be made visible without the help of a reduction mill.

The reformer becomes a fanatic when he begins to use his emotions as a substitute for his reasoning faculty.

All the [illegible]

THE FAIRS OF 1889.

Where and When the Independent and State Fairs Will be Held.

The Prairie Farmer publishes the following list of independent and State Fairs for 1889, with the dates on which they will be held:

Alabama, Birmingham	Oct 21–Nov 2
Alabama, Eastern, Eufaula	Oct 31–Nov 6
Alabama, South, Greeneville
American Dairy Show, Chicago	Nov 12-21
American Fat Stock, Chicago	Nov 12-21
American Poultry Show, Chicago	Nov 12-21
American Institute, New York	Oct 2–Nov 30
American Horse Show, Chicago	Oct 30–Nov 9
Buffalo International, Buffalo, N. Y.	Sept 3-13
Canada Industrial Ass'n, Toronto	Sept 9-21
Central Canada Fair, Ottawa	Sept 9-14
Colorado, Pueblo	Oct 3-9
Connecticut, Meriden	Sept 17-20
Dakota, North, Grand Forks	Sept 17-21
Dakota, South, Ashton	Sept 23-27
Delaware, Dover	Sept 30–Oct 5
Detroit Exposition, Detroit	Sept 17-27
Georgia, Macon	Oct 23–Nov 1
Great Central, Hamilton, Ont.	Sept 23-27
Iowa, DesMoines	Aug 30–Sept 6
Illinois, Peoria	Sept 23-27
Indiana, Indianapolis	Sept 23-28
Inter-State Fair, Elmira, N. Y.	Sept 17-21
J. S. L. Ass'n, Trenton, N. J.	Sept 23–Oct 4
Kansas, Topeka	Sept 16-21
Kentucky, Lexington	Aug 27-31
Louisiana, Shreveport	Oct 8-14
Maine, Lewiston	Sept 10-13
Maryland, Pimlico	Sept 9-14
Mass. Horticultural, Boston	Sept 17-20
Michigan, Western, Grand Rapids	Sept 23-27
Minnesota, Hamline	Sept 6-14
Minnesota, Southern, Rochester	Sept 2-7
Missouri, Sedalia	Aug 20-24
Montana Agricultural, Mineralogical & Mechanical Ass'n, Helena	Aug 26-31
Nebraska, Lincoln	Sept 6-13
Nevada, Reno	Sept 30–Oct 5
New England, Worcester, Mass.	Sept 3-6
New Era Exp'n, St. Joseph, Mo.	Sept 3–Oct 5
New Hampshire Grange, Tilton	Sept 10-13
New Jersey, Waverley	Sept 16-20
New York, Albany	Sept 12-18
North Pacific Industrial Ass'n, Portland, Ore.	Sept 26–Oct 26
Ohio, Columbus	Sept 2-6
Omaha, Omaha, Nebraska	Sept 2-6
Ontario Central Agricultural and Live Stock Ass'n, Perry	Oct 2-4
Ontario Provincial, London, Ont.	Sept 9-14
Oregon, Salem	Sept 16-21
Penn., Western, Washington	Sept 17-20
Rhode Island, Providence	Sept 23-27
St. Louis, St. Louis	Oct 7-12
South Carolina, Columbia	Nov 11-15
Southern Exp'n, Montgomery, Ala.	Nov 5-15
Tennessee, Nashville	Sept 16-21
Texas State Fair & Dallas Exposition, Dallas	Oct 15-27
Tri-State Fair, Toledo, O.	Sept 9-13
Utah, Salt Lake City	Oct
Washington and Idaho Fair Ass'n, Spokane Falls	Sept 24-[illegible]
West Virginia, Wheeling	Sept 9-[illegible]
Wisconsin, Milwaukee	Sept 16-20
Wyoming, Cheyenne	Sept 17-20

PROMINENT PEOPLE.

PRESIDENT HARRISON is very fond of fish.

QUEEN VICTORIA has reigned fifty-one years.

MEISSONIER, the French painter, was married recently.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE has produced twenty-nine novels.

GOVERNOR FORAKER, of Ohio, is forty-three years old.

THE Prince of Wales is quite a successful breeder of cattle.

GENERAL BOULANGER thinks of visiting the United States.

HERRMANN, the magician, has his life insured for $800,000.

MRS. A. D. T. WHITNEY, the writer, is George Francis Train's sister.

R. W. GILDER, editor of the Century, gets $20,000 a year for his services.

THE late General Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, left a fortune of $1,500,000.

ALLEN G. THURMAN is again suffering considerably from inflammatory rheumatism.

THE Earl of Zetland, the new Viceroy of Ireland, has an income of over $1000 a day.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW, President of the New York Central, has gone to Europe for the summer.

A DAUGHTER of James G. Fair, the $4,000,000 Californian, will marry a penniless young army surgeon.

THE Sultan of Turkey has 474 carriages, and the cost of attendance, fitting and repairs is $450,000 a year.

JEFFERSON DAVIS has received an offer from a Northern publisher to write a history of the Confederate States.

THOMAS NORTH, the English capitalist, was a poor boiler riveter twenty-three years ago. Now he is worth $10,000,000.

TAMAGNO, who in the musical world abroad is considered the most perfect tenor, is over six feet in height and well built.

PRINCE BISMARCK takes more pleasure in recounting the duelling and drinking feats of his student days than in relating any of his triumphs in the field of statesmanship.

JOHN DILLON, member of Parliament for East Mayo, Ireland, will soon sail for America. He goes to Denver, Col., and thence to California and expects to be absent a whole year.

THE widow of N. P. Willis, the poet, is living in Washington. She is a pleasant, attractive woman of sixty, and is occasionally seen in society. Her son, Bailey Willis, is a member of the corps of the geological survey.

ARABS in large numbers have poured down upon the villages in [illegible] Africa, burning and pillaging [illegible] robbing and [illegible] women and girls have been [illegible] [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., JULY 25, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

They have discovered a man in New York who has been married forty times. His excuse was that he wanted to make as many women happy as possible.

Trying to write, or speak, or move or look, like some one else, is a poor way of striving for a high attainment. He who would be at his best must be himself. As an eminent art-critic has said concerning imitation in the realm of art, it may also be said concerning imitation in every other realm: "Nothing but peculiarities can ever be repeated, and he who follows will always be behind."

The Florence Banner says:

We noticed in an exchange a few days since the name of eleven gentlemen who were announced as candidates for Governor. Of this number ten of them were styled "colonels." Our present governor ran without a title against some eight or ten "colonels" three years ago and we thought that knocked the bottom out of the "colonel" business. Why not for the sake of variety announce a few majors?

Or perhaps it would be just as well to try a "plain Mr." again.

It is undoubtedly true that the growth of the daily press of Alabama has lessened the demand for the country weekly among all classes save the farmers. We were reminded of this by one of our farmer readers coming in to say that he didn't want to raise a fuss, but the mail had failed to bring him the VIEW, and though he was getting other papers the VIEW was the best paper printed for him, and he didn't want to miss it. The growth of the daily press is an evidence of progress for which the State is to be congratulated.

An Ohio editor says that if his paper was printed on gold and with ink of pure gold, and the subscription price was put down to only 10 cents a year, some poor specimen of humanity would kick because there was not a diamond set in every corner of each paper.

That's the way it is in Texas. A newspaper is the cheapest thing on the market, but some people are never satisfied with anything. If they were offered gold dollars for 80 cents each, they would want two for $1.50.—Whitesboro News.

The power to converse well is a very great charm You think anybody can talk. How mistaken you are! Anybody can chatter, anybody can exchange idle gossip. Anybody can recapitulate the troubles of the kitchen, the cost of the last new dress, and the probable doings of the neighbors. But to talk wisely, instructively, freshly, and delightfully is an immense accomplishment. It implies exertion, observation, study of books and people and receptivity of impression. Plato banished the musicians from his feasts that the charms of conversation might have no interference but in our later fashions many prefer music rather than the gossip of the hour which often degenerates into trivialities wearisome and common-place.

The Bessemer, of Bessemer, Ala., pokes lots of fun, in a good natured way, at Mobile, because somebody in that city has had the temerity to suggest that the next democratic state convention is to be held there. It says, among other things, that Mobile is one of the most peaceful old villages in the world; the streets are as quiet as a country church on Sunday; the people yawn by way of exercise, and rush to a fire at the rate of a mile an hour and the fire is always out when they get there. Our contemporary continues in this sarcastic way: "Still we want Mobile to have something that would be appropriate, and that it could enjoy, and we suggest that it have a season of long undisturbed repose such as it has been blessed with during the last century, with only here and there a break." This is all very amusing, and what is said about Mobile being a sleepy town is true, but it strikes us that the true policy for Alabama is to make Mobile the great seaport of the vast iron region about Birmingham, Bessemer, Anniston and other places in that section. Mobile habor is capable of being made at small expense, the best one on the Gulf coast, and if Alabama ever exports iron, it will naturally be by way of Mobile. The late John Roach said—and whatever may be thought of his methods every body will admit that he knew how to build iron ships—that if he were a young man and about to start over again, he would locate his ship yards on the Gulf, where he could get cheap Alabama iron, and defy the world. Mobile is sleepy, but if we were to hazard a guess as to which Gulf port would be the busiest, say twenty-five years from now we should say Mobile.—Malden, (Mass.) Evening Ent.

The Southern Exposition.

We call attention to the announcement of the great Southern Exposition to be held in Montgomery beginning Nov. 5th, next. $20,000 in premiums will be awarded at this exhibition, and we would like much to see Chilton county have a display of substantial character upon the grounds. Excursions will be run from the northern and eastern States in order to give capitalists and prospectors the full benefit of this exposition of our products and wonderful natural resources. The exposition will undoubtedly be the greatest on record in Alabama.

The Prospects of the Alabama Midland Extension.

There can be no doubt of the fact the recent litigation of the Midland road below Montgomery and the Supreme Court decision adverse to the river bridge, embarrasses the directory, and threatens to delay the progress of the work to some extent. This is the natural if not necessary result of the situation, and no ordinary foresight could have anticipated it. But the litigation seems to be settled favorably to the progress of the Midland, unless the authorities of the Moblie & Girard road persist in a factious and fruitless spirit of litigation which may ruin both themselves and their adversary, after the manner of Sampson in pulling down the columns of the temple in olden time. Every arrangement, however, is perfected to get the road completed to Montgomery either on time by November first, or very soon afterwards.

As to the Tuskaloosa extension our information is that the purpose of the authorities remains firm to push the work to completion on time, unless some unforeseen event intervenes to prevent it. The survey, as we have stated is being made between Tuskaloosa and Maplesville, that from the latter point to Montgomery having been heretofore made. We have information that a force will be put to work on the grading within the time provided for by Tuskaloosa subscriptions, which is August first.

The bridge, we understand, will be constructed by the company the estimate cutting it at eight miles of road, and thus increasing the cost to this extent.

There is no doubt of the fact that New York capitalist are ready to back the enterprises with the requisite amount of money, by taking the bonds of the road. This difficulty is known to be the paramount one in all such improvements and its solution is nine-tenths of the battle to be fought.—Tuskaloosa Gazette.

Cure For Love.

The following receipt for the cure of lovesickness is furnished by two of Greensboro's young men who have tried it, and say: We will forfeit our future prospects if it fails to cure when directions are fully carried out.

5 parts "pint blank rejection.

3 parts bitter disappointment.

2½ parts wounded vanity,

19 parts recollection of former "solidity."

31 parts realization of present position.

Put these five ingredients into a large open vessel manufactured by the "grand disgust" Co. and stir quickly with a well braced back bone of a real-sure-enough-man. Take large doses before and after seeing the object of your affection adding to each dose one teaspoon full of old fashioned "spunk," and after each dose a few "sour grapes" to take away "the unpleasant farewell."

Work hard all day, retire early at night, and strenuously avoid the moonlight. Always carry the $135.00 livery bill in your pocket over the heart.—Greensboro Beacon.

Mr. J. E. Evans returned Tuesday from a business trip to Selma.

AMONG THE GUN MEN.

A Splendid Shoot Friday at Pratt Saw Mill.

CLANTON, July 20.—One of the grandest affairs of the season was witnessed at the Pratt Saw Mill on yesterday. The Clanton and Pratt Saw Mill Shooting clubs had their annual barbecue and prize shoot. Both clubs were well represented, and also visiting members of the Capital City and Jemison clubs present. Shooting commenced at 8 o'clock, and eight consecutive matches were shot. The following is a list of those winning prizes, viz:

First match, six birds—Foshee first money; Marcus, second, Knox, third.

Second match, six birds—Harrison, first money; Bivings, second; Knox, third.

Third match, ten birds—Harrison, first money; Foshee and Marcus divided second; Callen won third.

Fourth match, ten birds—Williams and Wells divided first money; Harrison and Oscar Boykin, second; Marcus wins third.

Fifth match, ten birds—Barnette, first money; Boykin, Foshee and Wells divided second; Harrison and Williams divided third.

Sixth match, six birds—Wells and Marcus divide second; Williams won third.

Seventh match, double entry, six birds—First money was divided between Williams, Barnette and O. Boykin; J. B. Boykin wins second: Lee Sampey, third.

Eighth match, single entry, six birds—First money was divided between Barnette and Harrison; Oscar Boykin wins second; Wells and A. J. Gullahorn divide third.

There were present about forty men, and nearly every one participated in the shoot. It was very difficult to ascertain who was doing the best shooting, as all was extraordinary, but on comparing the score your correspondent finds that Barnette of the Capital City club and O. Boykin of the Pratt Saw Mill club, stood first; Foshee of the Clanton club, and Wells of the Pratt Saw Mill, stood second and Harrison of the Jemison club and Marcus of the Clanton, stood third counting the entire score.

The dinner, under the efficient management of Judge H. J. Callen, was thought to be one of the best barbecue dinners ever spread in Chilton county, and full justice was given it by all present. The best of order prevailed throughout the day, and every one left the grounds of pleasure with reluctance.

Stanton Notes.

Mrs. J. D. Rhodes nee Miss Mamie Harwood, is paying her first visit to her parents since her marriage. Her host of friends were delighted to welcome her back to her old home.

Mr. John Coe, a student of the Oxford college is at home again. John is a good boy and we are all proud of him, and glad to have him return to his happy home.

Stanton has now another new store, recently built and stocked by Capt. A. A. Dyer, one of our enterprising business men, where there is a soda fount dispensing a most delightful beverage these hot days.

Mr. Oscar Dyer has just completed a beautiful cottage building on his lot where he and his good wife and little brood, can sit in peace under their own vine and fig-tree, enjoying one of God's greatest blessings, a happy home.

Mr. R. Coe, continues to beautify his home, and has just completed a neat bay window to his residence. We sometimes think he is preparing this beautiful cage for a beautiful bird. What would be more appropes?

The crops in this section could not be better, and won't it be a happy time for the poor farmer next fall if he can make a big crop and get a big price for it, and pay out of debt. It looks to us that when God cursed Adam and made him a farmer that he has continued to curse his seed even to this day. But as we shall reach heaven at last through much tribulation, then will come the farmer's triumph if through toil and hard living he is making sure a place in Abraham's bosom.

Your correspondent is putting in some good work in "teaching the young idea how to shoot" in south west Chilton and has received some very encouraging and complimentary letters from Supt. Hicks in regard to getting his best teachers to go to the country to teach summer terms. Prof. Hicks is a live and progressive teacher as well as a most excellent county Superintendent and knows well what the country people need, he sets us the example by taking a country school himself. When the time rolls around to elect his successor the people of Chilton county will not forget his faithfulness, but will say "Thou hast been faithful over a few things we will make thee ruler over many"—succeed thyself.

Bro. McCord intends holding a protracted meeting from to-day. We wish him God speed in his noble work in trying to save the lost sheep.

Miss Jessie Coe, a bright and accomplished young lady from New York, is visiting her uncle Mr. R. Coe.

Charleston, S. C., July 18—Dr. McDow, the slayor of Captain Dawson was expelled from the South Carolina Medical Society to-day. At a special meeting of the society the following resolutions were passed:

"Whereas, it has been brought to the notice of the society that Dr. T. Ballard McDow has been proven, by his own confession, guilty of immoral conduct, and that after due notification the said Dr. McDow has failed to appear before the society to exonerate himself from said charges.

Resolved, That he be expelled from this body,

The Second regiment A. S. T. is in camp at Highland Park near Montgomery.

THE ALABAMA MIDLAND EXTENSION

Will Break Dirt at Clanton Ford on the 25th,

Col. H. G. Townsend, attorney for the above named road was cooling himself in our town a few days ago. The Colonel is securing the right of way for his road, and he is authority for the statement that a force will break dirt on the extension to Tuskaloosa at Clanton Ford in this county, the 25th inst.

This is certainly good news. The railroad and a cotton factory looming up in the distance, we hope, means a great deal. The new railroad means increased value to timbered and farming lands, rapid development of farming interests, fruit and dairying in the western part of the county, and last, but not least, twenty more miles of railroad subject to taxation.

The road will strike Chilton near Mr. Sam. Falkner's and cross the Mulberry at Clanton Ford, and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia at Maplesville.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

To Be Held in Clanton for the Fifth Congressional District.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,
Mongomery, Ala., July 22d.

ED. CHILTON VIEW:—Dear Sir—Advertise institute for August 19, and urge all teachers to attend that week. Hope to have a large attendance and do much good. It will be a Congressional Institute for one week.

Yours Truly,
SOLOMON PALMER.

Mr. D. M. Graysons, of Cronville, Franklin parish, La., says I think Swift's Specific is the best blood remedy in the world. I have known it to make wonderful cures of persons with blood diseases, some cases which had been regarded as incurable.

Dr. B. T. Coppedge, of Verona, Mo., says he has sold a large quantity of Swifts Specific, and to a great many customers, and knows it to be most succerfully used for maladies of the blood.

Swift's Specific is not one of the old potash sarsaparilla, or mercury mixtures. It contains no potash, no mercury, or any poisonous substance. It relieves the system by forcing the impurities out through the pores of the skin, and builds up the patient from the first dose.

We sell great quantities of S. S. S., and the sale holds up well no falling off, or prospect of falling off. While many are loud in its praises, not one complaint has been heard from our customers.

J. E. SEARS' DRUG STORE, Waco, Texas

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Notice!

OFFICE JUDGE OF PROBATE,
Clanton, July 15, 1889.

To the Tax payers of Chilton county: Take notice that the Assessor's book for the year 1889, has been prepared and is now on file in the office of the Judge of Probate for the inspection of the Tax payers of said county. And that the Board of Revenue will sit on the second Monday in August to hear objections to the assessments as appears upon said book.

H. J. CALLEN,
Judge of Probate.

jul18

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Probate Court 10th day of July, 1889.
Estate of Frank Bandy, Hubert Bandy and Wilson Bandy, Minors.

This day came John S. Leeper as Administrator of the estate of James T. Leeper, deceased, and filed his statement, accounts, vouchers and evidences for a final settlement of the guardianship of James T. Leeper of the estate of said minors. It is ordered that the 12th day of August, 1889, be appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

H. J. CALLEN,
Judge of Probate.

July [illegible]

Coughing

Is Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne. No other expectorant or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in ejecting the mucus, allays irritation, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none, within the range of my experience, so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted, I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and feel comparatively secure." —Mrs. L. L. Brown, Denmark, Miss.

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continual use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Horace Fairbrother, Rockingham, Vt.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S TREATMENT BY INHALATION

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. B. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK.

THE ONLY ★ ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE ★ INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle—the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,

[illegible]

The Lawson Carpet Co.

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

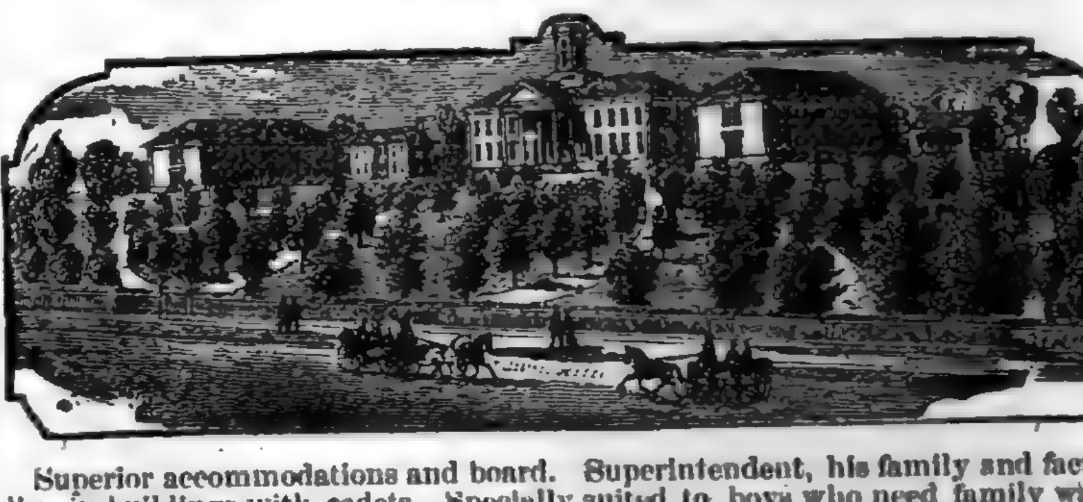
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS.

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices.☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

Marion Military Institute.



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and faculty live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family watch care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish practical and thorough training. Terms moderate.

J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama.

THOMAS FOSHEE,

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE.)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.

—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dyin done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,

MOULDINGS,

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER HANGE

H. M. MANCHA,

204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will s samples on application. apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.

THOS. H. HOLT,

PRACTICAL WORKMAN.

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Marble.

—Manufacturer of all kinds of—

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WOR

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, Alaba

O TO BLANK BROS, LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE BIRMINGHAM, ALA

rpet Co.
Ala.
e attention of o their large k of ow Shades,
Noveltics.
d prices are guaranteed as markets.
Respectfully,
T CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

RTER.
EBLES.)
GISTS.
ceive Prompt A
A SPECIALTY.
d 20th STREETS
Ala.
mpany's Prices.
June 19 y

nstitute.

lent, his family and faculty ys who need family watch
d to all who wish practical
J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama.

SHEE, SHEE,) oceries
HANDISE.
labama.
patronage heretofore
HOMAS FOSHEE.

M, omery, Ala.
OR ROOMS,
Scouring and dying
t Street.

APER,
WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS,
—AND—CTICAL PAPER HANGE
CHA,
MERY, ALABAMA.
10 cents up. Will se
apr 11-y

LE WORKS.
HOLT,
ORKMAN.
lian Marble.
nds of —
D STONE WOR
ty-Fourth Street,
Alaban

CHILTON VIEW.

LANTON, ALA., JULY 25, 1889

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the profligate, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—On the eleventh Monday after the fourth Monday in February, and on the thirteenth Monday after the fourth Monday in August, and may continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Town was flooded with drummers Saturday.

Dog day fights opened up last Sunday.

Mr. F. J. Davis has moved into the Adams residence.

Mr. John Foshee, of Maplesville, was in town Wednesday.

The dance on the 26th, promises to be a grand success.

Miss. Bessie Ponder of this place is visiting relatives in Georgia.

Mr. L. C. Day, of Calera, spent Sunday with his girl in Clanton.

Mrs. Pinkard and children, of Tuskegee, returned home last week.

Miss Lila Haney, who has been on a visit to Strasburg, has returned.

Mr. Tom Thornton, of this place, has gone into business in Birmingham.

Mr. Phillip Hesman furnishes the Clanton market with excellent vegetables.

Mr. R. Ehrman is building an elegant wind mill, which will soon be in operation.

Mr. L. E. Guliahorn, of Wayback, was quite sick, and spent the week in Clanton.

Col. R. M Williamson has gone to Hayneville, Lowndes county to attend Chancery court.

Mr. W. A. Childs, of the Southern Building Loan Association was in Clanton Tuesday.

Miss Cora Tarver, after spending a most delightful visit in Clanton, has returned to her home in Montgomery county.

Miss Leah Watts, one of Clanton's belles is on a visit to relatives in Lowndes county. We wish her a pleasant trip.

Mr. Mit Montgomery, of Talladega, on his return from the encampment of the third regiment at Selma, stopped over in Clanton awhile.

Mr. Oscar Mullins is again behind the counter at Sampeys. He is a gentleman whose residence in our town we would like to see permanent.

The evils resulting from habitual costiveness are many and serious; but the use of harsh, drastic purgatives is dangerous. In Ayer's pills, however, the patient has a mild but effective aperient, superior to all others, especially for family use.

Thousands have been relieved of indigestion and loss of appetite by a single bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The use of this medicine, by giving tone and strength to the assimilative organs, has made innumerable cures of chronic dyspepsia. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

Miss Rosa Gullahorn, one of Clanton's most charming young ladies, left yesterday to spend encampment week in Montgomery, the guest of Miss Rosa West.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at special prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

It is said that there is a dead dog in the court house well.

Mr. R. E. Brown, of Birmingham, is visiting the family of Mr W. H. Fushee.

The Presbyterians in our town are thinking of erecting a church here. Let the good work go on.

Mr. J. R. Kemp, of Kinceon, came in to say that crops were never better in his neighborhood.

Mrs. Harrell and daughter, who have been visiting Dr. A. E. Biving's family for the past month, have returned to Birmingham.

Misses Laura Butler and Bettie Hunt, two of Jemison's charming young ladies are visiting the family of Mr. J. H. Hunt, of this place.

Mr. Jay Hall, of Montgomery, spent Tuesday with his parents(?) in Clanton. He left on Tuesday night for Pensacola, Fla., his future abiding place.

Lumber is being placed on the ground for the building of a Methodist parsonage. This is a good move and we trust our community may soon be blessed with the residence of a ministerial household.

Miss Georgia Lowe has our thanks in profusion for a basket of luscious grapes and peaches. Her father is one of the most experienced and successful fruit growers in this part of the country.

A handsome young friend has a lovely sweetheart to whom he has decided to send the VIEW. That is sensible and if his case is serious, we hope it may terminate like the novels—"they all got married in the end."

A paper is to be established in Birmingham to be called The New Capitol. Its project is to move the State Capitol from Mougomery to Birmingham. If the paper survives until its project is achieved it will be getting old.

Misses Delany and Mattie Duke, who have been in Buffalo, N. Y., for some months past, arrived in Clanton on yesterday morning accompanied by their brother, Mr. John Duke, the health of Miss Delany is considerably improved.

The Allen store building is now about complete and presents a neat and handsome appearance. The work was done by the Durham brothers of Jemison. The second story of the building contains a number of nice rooms for offices.

The devil notices the people always bringing the editor watermelons, peaches and all such things and never saying "turkey" to the devil. The man who brings the devil the largest watermelon will get the devils best wishes for one year, that is all he has to pay them. When they bring in watermelons to the editor he always says, "well I'll take this to my wife," and consequently the devil never gets any melons.

Waxahatchie Bridge.

Mr. C. R. Bruce has just returned from a business trip to Shelby Iron Works. He reports that town on a general boom. He says the bridge acoss Waxahatchie creek which cost Shelby county about $2,000 has fallen in and he had to ford the creek. He reports fine crops all along the route.

A Good Season Ahead.

The prospects are that we will have a fine business season the coming fall and winter. The drummers have been in town in full force the past week and our Clanton merchants are preparing to lay in heavy stocks to meet all demands of the trade. The drummers speak well of the Clanton merchants and relish the kind treatment they always meet with at the Thornton House.

How True This Is.

When a subscriber wants a paper to jump on somebody, offer him space for a "card," bearing his signature, and see how quick he will be to jump out of the editorial office to the free and openair without.—Exchange.

Teacher's Institute.

State Superintendent of Education, Hon. Solomon Palmer, has a card in the VIEW calling the Congressional Teacher's Institutson for the fifth district to be held at Clanton on the 19th of August. Ample provisions will be made for the entertainment of the teacher's by the citizens of Clanton, and they are all urged to attend, and will meet with a cordial welcome.

The Presbyterians of Clanton are hopeful of building a church shortly. A beautiful lot we learn has already been donated.

Mr. Lewis, of Birmingham, formerly of Clanton, came down on Tuesday evening for the purpose of plastering the Episcopal church.

We have to thank Mr. C. R. Bruce for the first prize watermelon. It is a fine specimen, and the man who beats Mr. Bruce's melon will get the premium.

Mr. Jim Forsythe left last Thursday night for Florence, Ala., via Birmingham. A large crowd of his friends were at the depot and there was many a hand-shaking and well-wishing. As the train rolled off there was many a heart the sadder for during his stay of one and a half years in Clanton, Jim had shown qualities that are appreciated everywhere and which won for him a host of friends here. Clanton has lost one of her truest and most companionable gentlemen, but we hope not for long. T.

We were pleased to see Mr. K. Wells, of Verbena, in town last week. Mr. Wells honored our county as a useful member of the general Assembly some time since, and it would be well for the county to send a practical farmer and business man like Mr. W., again to represent us in that body a year hence; though the Democratic members of the body have said that they would as soon have us send Bro. Dykes again as anybody else, as they had a peck of fun out of the gentleman last session. As the big pay was full compensation for Bro. D., we have no doubt but that he could be prevailed upon to place his name before "the dear people" again. And with Wells or Hicks or Moses Robinson in the field we could elect him to stay at home if the Democracy will only take proper interest in having such an important position well filled. Is it funny to see chilton's representative made "a laughing stock" by the rest of the State?

Thomas Jefferson was hung at Memphis, Tenn., last Friday; Daniel Webster and John C. Calhoun met a similar fate in Georgia a few days ago. All three had been convicted of murder in the first degree; and now comes the sad intelligence that George Wrshington, Andrew Jackson, Jeff. Davis, Henry Clay Alexander Stephens, Robert Toombs are serving out long terms at Coalburg, Ala.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the
KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS
—AND TO—
Cleanse the System Effectually,
—SO THAT—
PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH
Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
jul19 y

State Normal College,
FLORENCE, ALA.
JAS. K. POWERS, A. M. President.

THE COURSE OF STUDY embraces all the branches required in the public schools of the State.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE of teaching receive careful attention throughout the course.

DRAWING, VOCAL MUSIC AND CALISTHENICS are taught. No teacher is thoroughly equipped for his work without training in these branches.

STATE CERTIFICATES are granted to graduates, entitling them to teach in any public school in Alabama, without further examination.

TUITION IS FREE
to teachers and those preparing to teach and good board costs only ten to fourteen dollars a month.
Fall Term Opens Sept. 17, 1889.
For catalogue or further information, apply to the President.

Catarrh Can't be Cured
with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best topics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Prop., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT.

When physicians fail to give relief in cases of chronic ailments, resulting from poison blood, how gratifying to the sufferer to obtain at last the right remedy. Where every other treatment miserably fails to cure, Botanic Blood Balm invariably gains a victory.

SAN SABA, TEXAS, February 9, 1882.
Our little daughter became effected with some form of scalp disease, supposed to be ringworm or eczema. It first began in white scabs or dandruff and then formed in small sores all over the front part of her head with rough patches on SORES her forehead and face, and then run an ugly eating sore on her head which continued to spread until a neighbor insisted on me trying B. B. B. After using a bottle and a half the sore is healing nicely and the child's health much improved and she is getting fat. I believe B. B. B to be an excellent blood purifier and very quick in its action. MRS. BETTIE GRAVES.

WILLOW CITY, TEXAS, April 9, 1888.
Blood Balm Co.: I was taken with paralysis, the doctors said caused by a tumor TUMORS that is attached to the bowels, and had a bad case of dyspepsia. B. B. B. has done me more good than all the doctors. WM. SHELTON.

BARSWORTH, CHAMBERS CO., ALA., February 6, 1888.
For the last six years I have been a great sufferer from blood poison; could not get anything that would do me any good. The doctors thought I would die. Two years ago I was stricken down with cancer of the lower extremities CANCER and was not able to walk out of my room, the cancer causing me to suffer great pain. A month ago I commenced taking the B. B. B. and was able to walk a half mile before I had taken two bottles. The cancer is healing up nicely, and I think the use of this remedy will cure me. (11) K. M. SMITH.
[sep27 cw 1y]

NOTICE NO. 8643.

Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., July 24, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on September 7, 1889, viz: William H. Mills, homestead No. 15149 for the n w ¼ of n e ¼, the n ½ of n w ¼ and s w ¼ of n w ¼, sec 14 t 20, north, r 13 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James T. Chambers, Henry A. Sewell, John Hamilton, and Thomas Anderson, all of Kincheon, Ala.

jul25° J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8874.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on August 3rd, 1889, viz: Anderson Peoples, Homestead 15806 for the s w ¼ of s e ¼ and s e ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 10, township 21 n, range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Willis Young James, Rasberry, Horace McGee, Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8907.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Montgomery, Ala., July 10, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 17, 1889, viz: John D. B. McDuffie, Homestead 14772 for the n ½ of s e ¼ and e ½ of s w ¼ sec 15 t 20 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Elizabeth Gordon and Frederick G. Gordon, of Mountain Creek, Ala., Noah Duffee and Mayberry Cooper, of Verbena, Ala.

july11o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8875.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 3d, 1889, viz: Willis Young, homestead application 15629 for the s w ¼ of s w ¼ section 10 township 21 north range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Anderson Peoples, James Rasberry, Horace McGee, and Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper,

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.
I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

BUY YOUR PIANOS and ORGANS
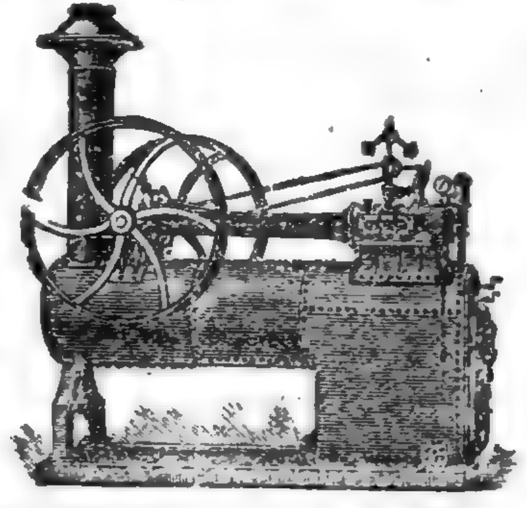
—FROM—
GRAMBS & BUCHANAN,
—2017 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—
THE VERY LOWEST CASH PRICES, or on easy installments. Sohmer, Cranich & Bach, Gabler, Wheelock and Newby & Evans Pianos, and the world renowned Wilcox & White organs. Mail orders for sheet music or musical merchandise given prompt attention.
☞ Write for Catalogue. ☜ jdl18
When ordering please state in what paper you saw our advertisement.

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS
Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.



Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R..)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.
☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜
nov 8-y

THE SOUTHERN EXPOSITION

Opens Nov. 5, and Closes Nov. 15, 1889.

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

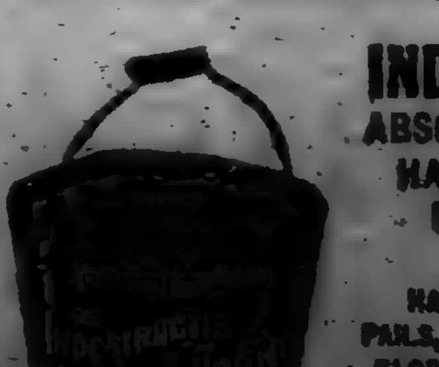
The best ever held in the State. Displaying the products, manufactures and resources of the State, with varied and interesting exhibits, all of which will afford a splendid opportunity to gain a thorough knowledge of the State and her people in the shortest time, and in a most enjoyable manner.

Agricultural, mineral and timber products will be grouped in attractive display, and the people from the mountains on the north to the gulf on the south will meet in happy and joyous throngs.

A number of excursions will be run from the east, west and north, and large numbers from these sections are confidently expected.

W. F. VANDIVER, President; P. B. BIBB, Vice-President; M. C. BURKE, General Manager; W. B. DAVIDSON, Treasurer; W. C. BIBB, Jr., Secretary.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay



INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.
FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.
Apr25-6

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST.
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Dentsville.
[ma15 y]

Money to Loan.
Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address
R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,
jun27 Clanton, Ala.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar21-y]

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than pills.
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine. If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov22-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $85, to $53.
This Elegant Parlor Organ style 78 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells, stool and Book free. For only $53.00. With right and left couplers. "Warranted for 6 years."

H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, Warren County, New Jersey.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

SALT FOR BLACK WEEVIL.

I will state for the information of all interested, says a Texas farmer in the New York Herald, that the common black weevil can be kept out of corn after it is gathered, or killed if already in it, by mixing salt through the corn as it is put in the crib and occasionally sprinkling the corn with water to cause the salt to dissolve. It is not necessary to dissolve all the salt at the time of cribbing the corn as it will continue to dissolve, except in dry and windy weather, and will do so even in dry weather if it is very warm. Do not throw the water on in quantities, as is the custom of some persons in this section. This causes the water and salt to run through to the bottom in large quantities, resulting in damage to the corn at the bottom, also to the flooring and foundation of the crib; beside, it may not leave enough salt in the upper portion of the corn. Some years since I noticed here a small brown weevil in cottonseed meal. The same weevil, or one very much resembling it, is now to be found in corn here. The salt and water remedy does not entirely exterminate the brown weevil, but lessens their numbers. This weevil damages corn very little. I also had mites in my corn the past fall, which the salt and water exterminated as well as the black weevil.

TO GET RID OF SHEEP TICKS.

The ticks which are so numerous on lambs after the ewes are sheared are the cause of the lambs nibbling themselves and of their failure to do well. These insects annoy the young animals exceedingly and should be got rid of at once by the following means: Procure a tight box or vat large enough to hold a lamb, and another with a sloping floor, from which the drainage can flow into a pail; make a decoction of tobacco stems, one pound to a gallon of water; pour boiling water on the stems and steep them until the heat is reduced to 120 degrees; add two ounces of sulphur to the gallon of water with the tobacco. Put sufficient of the liquid in the first vat to cover the lamb all over but the head and put the lamb into it, taking care to get the liquor thoroughly into the wool, put the lamb into the draining box and squeeze the liquor out of the wool. So proceed through the flock. Keep some of the liquor hot in a kettle to replenish the vat. Sometimes buttermilk is poured on the back of the lamb and spread all through the wool for the purpose of killing these pests. Where there are but a few lambs the ticks may be killed with a pair of sharp-pointed scissors, as they are found by parting the wool on the sides of the animal.—New York Times.

HAY MAKING AND CARE OF MEADOWS.

In making hay, farmers are apt to become too much hurried with drawing in, so that they do not give the hay time enough to cure and sweat; hence it becomes mowburnt, musty and discolored. It has been my observation that the best way to harvest hay is to cut early, so as to secure a good, green color. Let the hay lie and have plenty time to dry; use the tedder and then rake and cock it. Loading from the windrow is a bad practice. The hay may appear dry after the hot rays of the sun have poured upon it five or six hours, but it is so only on the outside. It should be cocked up and have time to sweat before it is put in larger masses. The markets demand hay of good color, and it pays well to use extra efforts to secure such. Hay that is cut early will bring two dollars per ton more than that cut later and allowed to become yellowish.

Though hay-making is important, the care of the meadow is equally if not more so. It is best to seed with fall crops at the time of sowing or in the ensuing spring. Do not pasture much, and if the meadow is seeded to timothy, don't pasture at all, or the meadows will soon "run out." Pasturing will cause June grass to start and there will soon be no timothy. I know of meadows ten or twelve years old that yielded from one-and a half to two tons per acre last year. They were never pastured, last spring were harrowed, and where thin, new seed was sown. Every two or three years a quantity of phosphate was sown, at the rate of a few dollar's worth per acre. This enriches the land and gives a good growth of grass. If the fall is wet there will be quite a growth after cutting. In spring where this autumn growth dried it is burnt over. This warms the ground and gets rid of the old dead grass, which would otherwise be raked up and spoil the sale of the hay. The ashes act as a fertilizer.

I have been speaking of timothy meadows. With clover a good crop of seed can often be secured as a second crop after haying. As to which is the better, clover or timothy, it depends upon the soil, etc. Timothy brings the best price—the coarser and longer the better—while clover makes the best pasture. It is better to put hay in barns or sheds than in stacks, as stacked hay is liable to become dusty. There cannot be too much care taken in raising and harvesting hay. Human beings want their food to be well prepared, and so also do the dumb beasts.—American Agriculturist.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Toads are the gardener's friends.

Clover stubble is good chicken pasture.

The cedar bird is a great devourer of canker-worms.

Excitement reduces the milk flow. Don't let the cows be hurried from pasture.

A quart of oilmeal and bran a day will make a marketable lamb out of a poor one in a month or two, affirms Farm Journal.

A beekeeper says he knows of no other single plant from which the bees gather so much pollen as from the box elder.

A crop of beans will ripen in time to escape the late frost if planted June 20, says W. H. Bull in American Garden; then string beans are assured to September 15.

Unless you have some choice birds from which you wish to breed next year, dispose of all cocks as soon as the breeding season is over. They are only an expense and an annoyance.

Steer clear of leaky roofs, broken windows and drafts generally, and all other conditions that generate roup, unless you are studying for the veterinary profession and want lots of practice.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

ODOR PREVENTION IN COOKING.

An ingenious device for preventing the odor of cooking from escaping into a room has been patented. The invention is of the simplest description, and consists of a hood with folded sides or leaves, which covers the sides of the stove. The odor passes into the hood and is carried directly into the chimney.

THE WASTES OF COOKING.

America wastes enough yearly to feed the thousands who are now said to be out of employment. The time may yet come when it shall be considered practical somewhere in the course of the education which a State gives to the people to teach girls how to extract the greatest amount of nutriment from the common material of food, and a careful statistician justly remarks that "whoever can teach the masses of the people how to get five cents' worth a day more comfort or force out of the food which each one consumes, will add to their productive power what would be equal to one thousand million dollars a year in value."—Courier-Journal.

HOW TO WASH WOOLENS.

There are other fabrics beside prints and muslins which can be very satisfactorily washed if a little pains be bestowed upon them, although they do not strictly come under the name of washing fabrics. Among these may be mentioned merino, llama and serge, alpaca, mohair, linsey, etc. Goods of this description should invariably be picked to pieces before they are washed. The way to cleanse them is to put the breadths one at a time into a strong lather (lukewarm) and press it against the sides of the vessel or pass it through the hands until it is free from dirt, but refrain from rubbing it unless this is absolutely necessary. When clean it should be rinsed in another thin lather, squeezed, not wrung, as dry as may be, and ironed on the wrong side before it is quite dry. If the fabric thus washed be black, a little ammonia should be put into the rinsing water with it, and this will greatly improve it. But ammonia should not be used for anything but black.—Cassell's.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Toast-cloths are something new. They are a large square of linen, fringed and etched, large enough to set under the plate of toast, and cover the corners over the dish.

To have cheese-cloth curtains retain their creamy look, put a little strong coffee or saffron tea into the water in which they are rinsed; lace can be given the same creamy hue by the same process.

Vegetables with a strong flavor, such as onions and turnips, will be much improved by putting them to boil in cold water, renewing this from a kettle of boiling water as soon as it comes to a scald.

Warm bread or cake can be cut without becoming moist and heavy, if the knife, a thin, sharp one, is dipped into boiling hot water, wiped quickly, and the bread cut immediately, before the knife has time to cool. A napkin should be laid double on the plate where the warm slices are laid.

APPETIZING SALADS.

Nothing is more pleasing to the appetite on a warm day than a well-made salad, which, with thinly-sliced bread and butter and cold coffee or tea, forms a most appetizing lunch. An excellent salad is made of cabbage: Chop very fine first, remove the core as if left in it will impart a bitter taste. Take a lump of butter the size of an egg and melt, place in a saucer and mix with it one-half teaspoon each of mustard and salt and one-fourth of a teaspoon of black pepper; when all has been mixed smooth, pour in one cup of vinegar and set on the stove to boil; when it has boiled up good stir in two eggs well beaten, stirring it constantly; when cold pour over the chopped cabbage. It is a good plan when making chicken salad to boil the chickens one day and prepare the dressing the next, as the meat can be left to harden and thus produce better salad. Chop the meat of one large fowl, being careful to remove all the skin and fat. Add to it the same quantity of white celery chopped fine. For the dressing beat together two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two teaspoonfuls each of mixed mustard and salt, and one teaspoon of white pepper. Beat to a cream and stir in the yolks of eight eggs well beaten; set on the fire and when it comes to a boil add one-half cupful each of vinegar and sweet cream; after it has cooled pour over the chicken. When ready to serve garnish with celery tops. This dressing may also be used for potato salad. Slice cold boiled potatoes very thin to cover the bottom of a salad bowl, pour over a little of the dressing, then another layer of the potatoes and so on till the bowl is full. If liked a little grated onion and chopped parsley may be mixed with the potatoes.

Cucumber Salad—Select three cucumbers of a medium size and be sure they are fresh. Put them in a basin of cold water for half an hour, then peel and slice very thin, commencing at thick or blow end, or they are likely to be bitter; let the slices drop into a pan of cold water, in which let them lie for ten or fifteen minutes; pour off the water and replace once or twice; finally cover them with ice and set in a cold place until they are wanted for the table, then pour over them a little salt and pepper, a teaspoonful of melted butter and a cup of vinegar. A delicious salad is made of shrimp. If fresh shrimps are used remove the shells and the small black line which runs through them. It is very slow work to shell them and canned fish will do as well. Make a dressing the same as chicken salad, mix well and put a tablespoonful into lettuce leaves arranged as a cup. For a delicious dressing for lobster: Mash fine one large boiled potato, add to it one-half teaspoonful of mustard and salt, and pepper to taste; mix smooth, then add the yolks of two eggs well beaten, place in a cool place for half an hour then pour in gradually, one-half cup of vinegar and one tablespoonful of melted butter. It is then ready to pour over the lobster, which should be kept in a cool place until ready to serve. To prepare egg salad: Take six hard-boiled eggs and cut in halves; remove the yolks and mix with them three rolled crackers, one teaspoon of mustard, salt and pepper to taste, and enough vinegar to moisten, make into balls to fit the places formerly occupied by the yolks, then serve.—Detroit Free Press.

Hereafter women will be admitted to the Hartford Theological Seminary on the same terms as men.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

AN INTERESTING WOMAN PREACHER.

Miss Carrie J. Bartlett, the first woman to occupy a pulpit in Dakota, and who has been for three years minister of All Souls' Church, of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, has recently accepted a call to the Unitarian Church at Kalamazoo, Mich. Miss Bartlett, who was for about two years a member of the Minneapolis Tribune staff, is well known in this city. She resigned her charge in Sioux Falls a short time ago, and will be the first woman to occupy a pulpit in the State to which she goes. Miss Bartlett was born at Hudson, Wis., and was educated at the college at Carthage, Ill., receiving the degree of A. B. in 1879 and carrying off the valedictory honors of her class. She spent the next year in special study, and later was honored with the degree of A. M. She taught a year as Principal of the schools at Montrose, Iowa, and was then, on account of an injury received, an invalid for two years. The last six months of this period was spent on a claim near Ellendale, in Dakota. So beneficial was the wonderful Dakota ozone, breathed constantly because of a life spent mainly out of doors, that the broken down young woman grew well and strong. About this time she sought and obtained employment on the Minneapolis Tribune and remained with the paper two years. Her work, whatever it was, was done thoroughly and well.—Minneapolis Tribune.

SHE, TOO, LIVED IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

I saw a lady sitting in the parlor of the Ebbitt House the other morning that in her day was very much written about by the press all over the country.

Her sixty-four years sit lightly upon her She is tall for a woman, and her figure is still excellent; in her youth it must have been admirable. Her hair, originally brown, even now has few silvery threads in it, and the fact that she is reading a paper without the aid of glasses indicates that the sight of her gentle blue eyes is still unimpaired. This lady was dressed all in black, a white lace collar fastened with a brooch containing a likeness of her late husband being the only relief to the sombre color. There was no jewelry to be seen about her except her wedding ring and its guard, which contained a single diamond.

It was Mrs. President John Tyler, the first bride of the White House. When Mrs. Tyler, then Miss Gardner of New York, married Mr. Tyler, in 1843, she was but a few months over eighteen years of age. Notwithstanding her youth, she made a most gracious mistress of the Executive Mansion, and proved herself fully equal to the exigencies of her high social position. Mr. Tyler died in Richmond in 1862 while a member of the Confederate Congress. Since then she has divided her time between Richmond and her plantation on the James River. Besides Mrs. Tyler there are six former mistresses of the White House living, namely, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Johnson (Harriet Lane) Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. Cleveland.—Washington Press.

INDIAN WOMAN AND BEAR.

Richard Powless, who spent his time logging until a school could be given him, writes that he is "trying to roll the logs of knowledge into the children's heads as well as he rolled the logs a few months ago into the river," and we have no doubt he will. He also encloses an article giving an account of the brave deed of one of his neighbors, an Oneida Indian woman, whose courage seems only equaled by her pride of race.

Driving into the fields one day where her husband and others were at work, she encountered a log lying across the road in such a way that she could not pass. As there was no one near to help her, and the log was beyond her strength to move, she proceeded to cut it in two with an axe she had in the wagon. To her surprise she found she had disturbed a mother bear and her family of cubs. The bear more frightened than hurt took to the woods, and the woman walked in search of the men and their firearms. Finding them, she conducted her relief party quickly back to the log, to find that the bear had also returned. When all were stationed ready for action she again used her ax on the log and the bear made her second appearance, this time angry and vengeful. The man who stood ready for just this emergency, missed his aim, dropped the gun, and with all his other masculine companions took to his heels. Left alone with the infuriated beast, with only an ax for defense, the Indian woman coolly waited until the bear came near enough, and, letting the ax fall with all her might upon its head, killed it with that one stroke. The same weapon applied to three of the little orphans effectively prevented their ever realizing their loss, and the other she kindly adopted and carried home with her. Reaching her home she found her husband, son, and others assembled there, anxiously speculating as to what could have been the result of the encounter they had failed to see ended. Standing before them, with the cub in her arms, she scornfully surveyed them from head to foot and exclaimed. "Cowards, you have no Indian blood in your veins!"—Hampton (Va.) School Record.

FASHION NOTES.

The latest of the new Oriental laces are mixed in ecru and white.

Saxony piece lace, white, is made up over skirts of colored silk.

Epaulets made of flowers grace some of the summer ball costumes.

Bracelets are often used to decorate the head instead of the arms.

The sleeves of bodices made of thick stuff are only slightly puffed.

Very broad-brimmed, nearly flat hats are worn with muslin gowns.

The white cotton dresses are gayly decorated with white ribbons.

Gloves worn on voyage are loose fitting mousquetaires without buttons.

Ecru, blue and gray are the colors selected for taffeta silk underskirts.

Cotton dresses are not unfrequently made up over a foundation of silk.

Japanese cottons are used for entire costumes—the dress, hat and parasol.

White, green and rose are the most fashionable colors for evening toilets.

Charming house dresses are finished with wattes of black and white lace.

The flower bonnets are the prettiest of the novelties in dainty French millinery.

Sashes of surah can now be obtained complete, even to the knotted silk-fringed ends.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

A lie is black even if it is a white lie.

The post of honor is the post of duty.

"I can't," is a humbug and a nuisance.

Wishes at least are the easy pleasures of the poor.

You believe that easily which you hope for earnestly.

When you assist the needy don't do it ostentatiously.

Don't say "I am a gentleman;" it is never necessary.

Be loyal to death to those who have befriended you.

The only disadvantage of an honest heart is credulity.

When there is room in the heart there is room in the house.

People who are disposed to complain never find a lack of subjects.

Charity and personal force are the only investments worth anything.

If you should escape the censure of others, hope not to escape your own.

It is right to be contented with what we have, but never with what we are.

Without content, we shall find it almost as difficult to please others as ourselves.

The covetous man pines in plenty, like Tantalus up to the chin in to water, and yet thirsty.

Violent zeal for truth has a hundred to one odds to be either petulancy, ambition or pride.

The denial of man's immortality involves a violation of the general normal consciousness.

Most people would succeed in small things if they were not troubled with great ambitions.

In matters of conscience first thoughts are best; in matters of prudence last thoughts are best.

He who receives a good turn should never forget it; he who does one should never remember it.

Beauty is always precious, but after all it is light in the balance when opposed to gracious manners.

We do love beauty at first sight; and we do cease to love it, if it is not accompanied by amiable qualities.

A child that stayeth at one stature, and never groweth bigger, is a monster. Unless we go forward, we slip back.

Candor is the seal of a noble mind, the ornament and pride of man, the sweetest charm of woman, the scorn of rascals and the rarest virtue of sociability.

The Sargasso Sea.

The name Sargasso Sea is applied to a region of the Atlantic covered by a peculiar floating seaweed, sometimes in tangled masses of wide extent and sometimes only in scattered plants, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean. These fields of seaweed were noticed by Columbus on his first voyage, to the alarm and amazement of his companions. Since that time observation has shown that the number of these plants and their geographical position are practically unchanged. The principal bank of these plants, as located by Captain Leps, of the French navy, one of the most accurate of observers, is between latitude 21 degrees and 23 degrees north and longitude 29 degrees and 45 degrees west. A smaller bank lies between the Bahamas and the Bermudas.

The Sargasso Sea corresponds to the great centre or eddy of the North Atlantic system of currents, of which the Gulf Stream forms so important a part. Concerning the plant which is found growing in this curious manner, it may be noted that it is usually four or five inches in length, with a main stem branching into secondary ones, and there is no trace of root in the plant. Between the long, pointed leaves there are small round air vessels about as large as currents, supported on short stems. These air vessels were at first thought to be fruits, and the plant thus received its name from a Portuguese word meaning grapes, but investigation has shown that these small bubbles are meant to serve the purpose of floats, as when they are cut off the plant sinks. Examination of several thousand specimens under a microscope also shows the plant to be as absolutely destitute of fructification as of roots, and it is now accepted as a fact that the plant propagates only by division. There is a Sargasso sea in the Pacific Ocean, north of the Sandwich Islands, but very little is known about it.

Selling Jewelry on Speculation.

"How much?" inquired a tall, stylishly dressed man, holding up a diamond scarf-pin and addressing the principal of a New York wholesale jewelry firm.

"Thirty-five dollars—bottom price; it's cheap at that."

"Good until when?" queried the man.

"Not later than two P. M."

"Then she goes," and the stylishly dressed man placed the pin carefully in his case, deposited it in his inside pocket and walked out.

To a reporter the principal said:

"That's one of our many customers who take jewelry to sell on speculation. At this time of year it is quite a common thing for such persons to buy articles on speculation in that fashion.

"I shall know that if he does not return that pin by two o'clock he has sold it, and will bring me $35. He may get $45 or $50 for it. That, however, is his affair."

"And a commission besides?"

"No; we don't allow any commission on such transactions. See here," and he brought out his memorandum book, "we have no less than fourteen transactions entered precisely of the same kind, varying in amount from $35 to $150."

When asked if he lost any articles by letting them out in this way the principal responded:

"It is so rare that I cannot tell you when the last case occurred. Men like him make $2000 and $3000 a year quite readily."—Philadelphia Record.

"Home Sweet Home's" Birthplace.

One by one our cherished traditions are destroyed. Among the latest to go is the beautiful legend that John Howard Payne wrote "Home, Sweet Home" in a London garret as he pined for his beloved America. It turns out that the immortal song was composed on the bank of the Potomac, in the suburbs of Washington, and that Payne reclined on a rustic bench, beneath a chestnut tree with a mint julep by his side. The tree still stands, though it has been severely hacked by relic-hunters; the bench is preserved in a Washington residence, but there is no trace of the julep. It probably disappeared before the poem was half done.—Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.

No oleomargarine is imported into the United States.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Salt Lake, Utah, has lost nine per cent. of its saltness in the last five years.

Fire clay is composed mainly of alumina (clay), silicic acid (combined), and quartz sand.

An electric system of signaling trains is to be adopted on the Union Pacific and C. B. & Q. lines.

One of the growing industries of San Diego County, Cal., is the manufacture of asbestos goods.

Edison's phonograph is "the lion of the hour" in French scientific circles. Many curious experiments are being made with it.

Iron shafts have been known to do duty for a quarter of a century, doing good service long after the fissure began to yield.

The new second-class English cruisers are to be either of steel alone or steel sheathed with wood and coppered, and their engines are to develop 9000 horse power.

Major Powell states that material has been gathered showing seventy-three different stocks of languages and 800 dialects among the Indians of North America.

A project is being considered for adding 250,000 acres to the irrigated area in Egypt, the water being taken from a point so high up on the Nile that the canals shall never run dry.

The large steam hammers in use in England and on the continent for making the forgings required for artillery and machinery are to be quite generally replaced by hydraulic presses.

Two steel blocks, one weighing 150,000 and the other 170,000 pounds, to form a part of the armament of an Italian iron-clad, were recently shipped from the Gruson Foundry at Magdeburg.

The new vegetable, "Cougalou," introduced into France by M. Paillieux, is a sort of turnip with the form of a radish and is covered with a skin of bright red hue. The flavor is similar to that of a turnip.

Leprosy is increasing in Russia. During the last ten years forty-nine patients were treated in the St. Petersburg hospitals, half of whom were natives of the city. The Baltic provinces suffer most from the disease.

A New York chemist declares that every remedy for tobacco smoking and chewing and the opium habit contains morphine and opium in dangerous quantities, and that those who sell them ought to be prosecuted.

The friends of the new smokeless powder claim that if this summer's experiments prove successful it will be adopted by all military powers for use with all classes of guns for which fixed ammunition is made.

The carcass lately introduced by a Russian naval officer, when fired with a percussion fuse against a solid target, bursts, deluging everything in the neighborhood with a liquid which at once bursts into flame and cannot be extinguished by means of water.

The taste for ice water is acquired and its use is purely a habit as is that of alcohol or tobacco. Give a little child ice water and it will make a wry face and probably cry; induce an Indian in his aboriginal state to drink a glass and he will sputter for five minutes. To the unaccustomed drinker it gives actual pain and brings to all undoubted injury.

A device has been introduced to prevent the inflaming of cotton bales. It consists of wrapping the bales in wire gauze in place of the customary jute bagging. It is a question whether this will work as when cotton becomes inflamed by storing in the hold of a vessel it will ultimately burn the gauze away, it is suggested that a fireproofing used on jute would be much better, such as silicate of soda to render the material non-inflammable.

The Cork Tree.

The cork tree, which is a species of oak, grows about the Mediterranean under climatic conditions such as California specially offers. It needs a dry climate, which we have, and does not flourish in regions where the winters are severe. It is reproduced either from the acorns or from plants raised in nurseries, and after once started requires little attention till the time comes for it to yield its bark to commerce. Its bark begins to be valuable when it is twelve years of age, so that it does not require that the capital invested in it should long lie idle. Thereafter it yields its product every three years till it is 150 years of age, after which the tree is useless except for fuel. The tendency of our trees to produce a thick and heavy bark is a peculiarity that scientists have already noted. It is possible then that the cork oak, transferred to this State, would not only be productive at an earlier age, but would produce cork of finer quality than that found in Europe and Africa. At a time when the afforestation of this coast is being discussed, and in the introduction of the most useful trees seems desirable, persons who have spare capital, and are at the same time interested in the welfare of California, would do well to consider the claims of this valuable and interesting tree to consideration.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Ancient Artificial Teeth.

Several museums of antiquities have been established at Rome, among which is one outside of the Porto del Popolo, in which are kept all the objects of interest found without the city limits. Among additions to this exhibition is one which possesses a peculiar attraction for dentists who are disposed sometimes to fancy that their profession has made great strides. This object is the skull of an old Roman in which all the teeth of the upper jaw have been lost or removed and replaced with artistically made teeth of solid gold. These teeth are set into the cavities left by the natural ones, and in some respects at least are superior to the modern style of attachment to plates.

Insuring Elevator Passengers.

A recent phase of accident insurance is the taking of risks on passenger elevators, which cover not only damage to the elevator itself but promise to indemnify the owner of the elevator for such sums of money as he may be compelled to pay to people who have been injured or killed by any accident to the "lift." The amount of this indemnity is, of course, limited, in proportion to the premium paid and the holder of the policy is expected to allow the elevator to be examined by the company's inspector at any time and to conform to certain regulations and requirements in running it.—New York Tribune.

Not the Necklace.

A young man in New York City presented his lady love with a necklace, and soon after took her to a ball, on which occasion she was ornamented with his present. After the first dance there was a commotion in one corner of the room, and the rivals of the girl were tittering among themselves and whispering about her. The young lady looked in the glass and almost fainted at the sight. Her beautiful neck was almost black from the friction of the necklace. She changed her mind about fainting, returned home with her brother, and sent the necklace back to her young man with a note saying she did not like his brass. Mad with rage, the mortified lover rushed to the man who sold him the bauble, denouncing him as a swindler. The jeweler tested the necklace in his presence and proved to him that it was full fourteen karats. About that time a young physician called to purchase a scarf pin. He had overheard part of the story and asked to hear the balance, as he believed he could throw some light on the subject. Pretty soon he laughed outright and said: "Why, sir, the trouble is with your girl and not the necklace. She has too much sulphur, iron, mercury, salt or acid in her blood, and as any of these substances has an affinity for gold the explanation is clear. I have patients for whom mercurial medicines have been prescribed, and the result is that their fingers upon which rings are worn discolor at once.—Waverly.

Wonders of a Mirage.

A wonderful photograph of an arctic mirage has just been received at San Francisco from Professor Richard D. Willoughby, the pioneer miner scientist of Alaska. It was taken at Glacier Bay, and represented a mysterious aerial city. The view is apparently taken from some spot on a hill. In the foreground is a gravel walk, a stone fence, a rustic seat and a child at play. Beyond the stone wall are the roofs of houses with clumps of trees at the sides. In the distance are the half completed towers of a cathedral and several tall public buildings, while far away, enveloped in what appears to be a cloud-like atmosphere, are tall smokestacks and towers of churches. The style of architecture is decidedly modern. More than a hundred people were shown the photograph. Some regarded it as a fraud, while others believed it the general photographic result of a mirage. The mysterious town has been named the Silent City. The best informed people in San Francisco say the picture may be that of either Victoria, B. C., Halifax or Montreal—most likely the latter, as there is a cathedral there resembling the one in the view. Some photographic experts think that the picture was produced by a trick similar to the so-called spirit photographs. This, however, is stoutly denied by those who know Professor Willoughby. He was the first American who found gold in Alaska, and for fifteen years has been a prominent resident of that territory.

A Tailless Vermilion Monkey With Red Hair.

Naturalists will be interested to learn that there is at present in this city an excellent specimen of the South American saki, or red monkey. It is thought to be the first of its species ever seen in the United States. The animal is fifteen inches in height, with a non-prehensile tail resembling a ball of hair. Its fur is of a reddish color, the face a deep vermilion. The features are a perfect copy of the human face, while the top of the head is bald. The specimen was bought by Donald Burns, importer of rare birds and beasts, from a party of Indians from the Upper Amazon on their way to the Paris Exposition.

The red monkeys are described as gentle in disposition, intelligent, slender of form and partially nocturnal in their habits. They live in couples or small families. The males share with the females the task of raising the young. The latter, however, when they have attained maturity, are ruthlessly driven out to shift for themselves. The species was discovered by the naturalist Paul Corjello, but his report was discredited by his colleagues.—[New York World.

Catfish Are Good Mothers.

Dr. Abbott, of Trenton, N. J., is a warm admirer of the catfish, not so much on account of its culinary excellence as because the females of the tribe are good mothers. He has studied the habits of the fish long and carefully, and he knows this to be a fact. He says that on one occasion he captured an entire brood of little catfish in a hand-net, letting their mother, who was swimming with them, escape. She would not leave the spot where she had been bereaved, and when the doctor put the fry into a glass jar and placed it in the river where she could see it she dashed herself furiously against the obstacle that separated her from her young ones. When the jar was drawn slowly from the water she followed it to the surface, and then absolutely left the river and wriggled twelve inches up the sloping beach in her frantic efforts to recover her progeny.

A NEAT bit of proverbial philosophy, said to be of Japanese origin, is, "Be like the tree which covers with flowers the hand that shakes it."

Ladies, from all the diseases from which you especially suffer, from all the weakness—physical and mental, which tortures you, from your nervous prostration and bodily pains, there is relief in Brown's Iron Bitters. Many ladies now living healthy, happy lives, having been freed from chronic difficulties peculiar to their sex, who bear cheerful testimony to the value of this sovereign remedy for mental and physical suffering; this sure cure for nervous depression and bodily weakness known as Female Complaints.

When a strong brain is weighed with a true heart, it seems like balancing a bubble against a wedge of gold.

Climate for Consumptives.

The several climates of Florida, Colorado and California have each been much prescribed for sufferers from lung disease, yet thousands of the natives in those States die of this fatal malady. A far more reliable remedy is to be had in every drug store in the land, and one can be used at home; a remedy which is sold by druggists, under the manufacturers' positive guarantee that, if taken in time and given a fair trial, it will effect a cure, or money paid for it will be promptly returned. We refer to that world-famed remedy for consumption (or lung-scrofula) known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the only remedy for this terrible disease possessed of such superior curative properties as to warrant its manufacturers in selling it under a guarantee.

Don't hawk, and blow, and spit, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Of druggists.

We judge ourselves by what we feel capable of doing, while others judge us by what we have already done.

WHAT do you chew?
"LUCY HINTON!"
Why?
Because it is the best I can find.
Who makes it?
T. C. Williams Co., Richmond, Va.
Who sells it?
All dealers.
How can I recognize it?
The name Lucy Hinton is on every plug.

We recommend "Tom-tit's Punch" cigar.

The Blood Balm Co.

The Blood Balm Co., of Atlanta, Ga., are a modest set of men. You never see a big, startling advertisement of their justly celebrated Botanic Blood Balm—better known as B. B. B. The public learn of the curative virtues of this compound by what others say of it. Their truthful statements are sometimes published in concise form, and what the remedy is doing and has done for others it will do for you. We never read of a person cured of hydrophobia, or a horse cured of pink-eye, by B. B. B., although we have seen it stated that some other blood specific would do it. The proprietors of B. B. B. do not aim to scare people into taking their remedy for every complaint imaginable, merely for the sake of increasing their sales. They know it will eradicate from the system every vestige of blood poison and to persons so suffering B. B. B. is a priceless boon. Try every other remedy for impure blood, weakness and declining health, then give B. B. B. a trial. When you find other remedies inert and worthless, you will find B. B. B. powerful, stimulating and healing. Write to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for their illustrated book. It is sent free.

A BID FOR LAUGHTER.—A new society game consists in making the gentlemen at a dinner party spend some of the time after the ladies have retired in writing out descriptions of their costumes, to be read aloud later in the drawing-room. Prizes are given for the best and worst descriptions.

A Hamburg Fig.

There is no longer need to force children to take castor oil for constipation. A Hamburg Fig, which is like preserved fruit, will be taken by them with relish. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

A Fair Trial

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla will convince any reasonable person that it does possess great medicinal merit. We do not claim that every bottle will accomplish a miracle, but we do know that nearly every bottle, taken according to directions, does produce positive benefit. Its peculiar curative power is shown by many remarkable cures.

"I was run down from close application to work, but was told I had malaria and was dosed with quinine, etc., which was useless. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and am now feeling strong and cheerful. I feel satisfied it will benefit any who give it a fair trial."—W. B. BRAMEY, 311 Spring St., New York City.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

DROPSY
TREATED FREE.

Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured thousands of cases. Cure patients pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two-thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten days' treatment free by mail. If you order trial, send 10c. in stamps to pay postage. DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER

Makes a clean sweep. Every sheet will kill a quart of flies. Stops buzzing around ears, diving at eyes, tickling your nose, skips hard words and secures peace at trifling expense. Send 25 cents for 6 sheets to F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

Plantation Engines
With Self-Contained
RETURN FLUE BOILERS,
FOR DRIVING
COTTON GINS and MILLS.
Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address
JAMES LEFFEL & CO.
SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,
or 110 Liberty St., New York.

Dr. Lobb, 329 N. 15th St. PHILA., PA.
After ALL others fail, consult

Twenty years' continuous practice in the treatment and cure of the awful effects of early vice, destroying both mind and body. Medicine and treatment for one month, Five Dollars, sent securely sealed from observation to any address.
Book on Special Diseases free.

ARE YOU THINKING OF BUYING A
Cotton or Hay Press?
We manufacture a Steam Press and two Hay Presses. Will send Circulars and Price List upon application.
ROANOKE IRON AND WOOD WORKS
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.
P. O. Box 281.

MILLERSBURG Female College.

Located in the heart of the beautiful "Blue Grass" region of Kentucky. Health unexcelled. Superior instruction. The best school for your daughter in the South. Art, Music, Literary, Scientific and Phonographic departments. First-class board. Reasonable terms. Apply early to
REV. C. POPE, MILLERSBURG, KY.

N. C. Y. L.
Nashville, Tenn. College for Young Ladies,

Is the leading school of this section. Began 1880 with 30 pupils, without grounds or buildings of its own. Now has 3 buildings, 100 rooms, 20 officers, 350 pupils from 18 States. Full course in Literature, Science, Art, Music, privileges in Vanderbilt University, fully equipped Gymnasium, and all modern conveniences. For catalogue address President.
Rev. Geo. W. F. Price, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS.
Red Cross Diamond Brand.

The only reliable pill for sale. Safe and sure. Ladies, ask Druggist for the Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Send 4c. (stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by mail. Name Paper.
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Philada., Pa.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU,
COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors.
932 F Street N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished.
Correspondence solicited.

MUSIC—ART—ELOCUTION and General Culture. Desirable Positions open to progressive students. All interested will receive valuable information Free, by addressing E. TOURJEE, Boston, Mass.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. N. B.—Please state age and business experience. Never mind about sending stamp for reply. B. F. J. & Co.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 65½ Whitehall St.

WESTERN RESERVE SEMINARY AND NORMAL COLLEGE, W. Farmington, O. 60 years. Seven departments. Board and Tuition $ per year. REV. E. B. WEBSTER, A. M., President.

$25 AN HOUR made by our Agents. THE DR. PERKINS MEDICAL CO., Richmond, Va.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you wish to buy a farm? If so address CURTIS & WRIGHT, 25 Broadway, N. Y.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia. Scholarship and positions, $40. Write for circulars.

AGENTS wanted. $1 an hour. 50 new articles. Catalogue and sample free. C. E. MARSHALL, Buffalo, N. Y.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS.
Manufactured only by the Evans Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D.,
Amsterdam, N. Y.

We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO.,
Chicago, Ill.
$1.00. Sold by Druggists.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Space	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
[illegible]	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
[illegible]	7 50	11 25	16 00
[illegible]	10 00	15 00	22 50
[illegible]	12 50	20 00	27 00
[illegible]	15 00	22 50	33 00
[illegible]	18 00	27 00	40 00
[illegible]	27 00	40 00	60 00
[illegible]	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1889. NUMBER 40.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S AS USUAL

Will Begin Bright and Early Monday Morning

-THEIR GREAT-

MIDSUMMER COST CLEARING SALE!

FIRST AVENUE, - - - - - BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Everything has been arranged to make this in all probability one of the greatest sales in the history of Birmingham. Remember you will have a stock of over $100,000 to select from and these goods were purchased or for first-class class city trade and were not intended for any snide catch-penny business.

A TERIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

Striving Is Winning.

t it a triumph if your venture fail;
Only a coward may bewail defeat.
Pick up the broken flag-staff at your feet;
g to the winds again its tattered sails:
r a brave man fails.

y not to feebly reckon up your loss;
In the great battle nothing counts but gains.
Talk not of wounds, and prattle not of pains;
g of the Crown the while you bear the Cross;
ards but count their loss.

r to strive is the soul's strongest joy.
What though you miss—fall bleeding in the strife—
Still in your hands you carry the God's life, dge of the conquest that naught can destroy;
iving is joy—is joy!

ilure may be the measure of success.
Lo, the great captain leading in the fight
Seeth the victory beyond your sight.
at are your gains or losses, more or less?
here may be a success?

—Frank Leslie's.

"Rough Jack's Little Lad."

STORY OF THE ENGLISH COLLIERIES.

"Rough" enough he looked, indeed, s great black-bearded fellow, with s greasy cap pulled down over his rd, surly, bull-dog face. And he s rough by nature as well as by name. ose hugh bony hands of his, which uld swing the heaviest pickax for urs without tiring, and could toss out great lumps of coal which other n could hardly lift, were always ady to knock down any one who displeased him; and many a sturdy fellow the Blackpool Collieries wore scars d bruises enough to make him sorry r having ever tried his strength ainst the terrible Jack.

But there was one person to whom n Rough Jack never said a harsh word; d that was his little Jim, the only ild he had. Jim's mother had died n after he was born, and his aunt, ho kept house for Jack, was a big bony, llen-faced woman, almost as untidy d coarse-looking as the rough collier mself. But no mother could have en more tenderly careful of the little llow than they were. However dirty d untidy they might be themselves, ey did their best to keep Jim's face ean and his clothes in order; and oss-grained Aunt Susan, who was lways grumbling at having "sitch a wer o' work to do," sat up at night everal times, after her day's work was er, to knit a little pair of socks as a rthday present for him.

Jim had been a pet of the whole eighborhood ever since he could remember; and these savage, wild-looking en, fierce and surly with every one lse, always had a kind word for Rough Jack's little lad," as they alled him. Every day he used to carry s father's dinner to the works in a ittle basket, going fearlessly among the olliers' savage bulldogs, which seemed know him quite as well as their masers, and would wag their stumpy tails nd put up their flat-nosed heads to be atted whenever he went by.

Indeed, the "little lad" seemed to ave such perfect trust in every one, and be so sure that nobody would hurt or ex him, that it was not easy for any ne even to think of doing so. The ough collie lads, whose great sport as to pelt each other with heavy lumps f coal which made a bruise wherever hey hit, shouted to one another to stop he moment they saw the little fairaired head in the distance, and once, hen Rough Jack and his mate—who d been great friends hitherto—quarelled about something, and were going o fight, little Jim stepped in between hem and, taking hold of his father's acket, looked up at them both with an [illegible] of such piteous astonishment, that he two fierce men, after eying him lankly for a moment, turned their backs nd slouched off in a shame-faced kind f way; and the next morning they were s good friends as ever.

But after a while troubles began to come upon Blackpool Colliery. Business grew slack, and wages had to be reduced, which bore very hard upon these reckless fellows, who spent their money as fast as they got it, never thinking of laying anything by. There was plenty of grumbling and growling against young Harry Forrester, the great man of the district, whom his father's death about a year before had left sole owner of the colliery; and the quiet people of the neighborhood began to fear riot, and to talk of sending for soldiers from the nearest large town.

But amid all their trouble the rough men were still as loyal as ever to their "little lad." Many a grumbler went without his dinner to buy something good for Jim; and Rough Jack as he danced the little fellow on his broad shoulder, wore something as nearly approaching to a smile as his iron face could assume.

At last it began to be whispered one day among the colliers that a number of them were to be discharged. No one knew how the report had arisen, or even whether it was true or not; but the mere thought of it was quite enough for these wild fellows, ripe as they already were for mischief.

"We mun [must] strike," muttered a big, sullen-looking pitman.

"Ay, we mun strike—but not as thou mean'st," growled Rough Jack, clinching his sledge-hammer fist with terrible emphasis. "I'se not let my little lad starve for a' th' gentle folks i' England. We mun strike Mester Forrester's yed [head] so as he'll feel. Who'll join, lads?"

"I will."

"And I."

"And I."

"And so'll I."

In fact every man there was as eager as Jack himself; and it was soon agreed that they should watch for a chance of attacting young Forrester, and then beat him within an inch of his life—"and mayhap a bit farther," as the burly pitman muttered, with a cruel gleam in his eyes. Two sharp lads were at once chosen to keep watch upon "young Squoire Harry," who had come down from London a few days before; and, on the third morning, one of the scouts came running in to report that Harry had gone to see a friend a few miles from the colliery, and had sent the groom home with his horse, saying that he would walk back in the evening, the road being too rough to risk a good horse on after dark.

The looks exchanged by the colliers at this news said more than any words could do. All was soon settled. Midway along the road which Forrester must take lay a patch of bare, lonely moorland, well known to Rough Jack as his little boy's favorite playground. Here they would hide in a deep hollow overgrown with bushes, and pounce upon their victim as he passed.

Night drew on. One by one (for they knew that it would not do for many of them to be seen together), Jack and his gang came stealing up to the fatal spot, and, crouched down amid the bushes, waited for their prey. But as time went on, and it grew darker and darker, and still there was no sign of him, they began to get uneasy. Could he have changed his mind and stayed all night? or could their plot have been discovered? No—there at last was a firm step approaching, and the rising moon showed them the tall, active figure and handsome face which they all knew and hated.

The savage men clutched their heavy cudgels, and drew themselves together, like tigers crouching for a spring. But just then there was a rattle of wheels and hoofs in the opposite direction, and a light dog cart came rushing along the highway like a whirlwind, evidently driven by some wild young fellow, who thought it fine fun to risk breaking his neck. At the same moment there appeared, slowly crossing the road, right in the path of the maddened beast and the reckless driver, the figure of Rough Jack's little lad!

With a cry that made the air ring, the colliers burst from their hiding-place, forgetting everything but the peril of their little pet. As they ran they saw the child stumble and fall in trying to escape, and Harry spring forward to catch him up; but then horse and dog-cart came dashing down upon them both, and everything vanished in a whirlwind of dust.

But as the dust cleared away, Harry Forrester was seen rising slowly to his feet. There was a thin streak of blood stealing down his smooth, white forehead, and his left hand was sorely bruised and cut; but his right arm was still firmly around the child, who was looking up in his face with round, wondering blue eyes, as if hardly knowing whether to be frightened or not.

Jack sprang to his child like a tiger whose cub has been wounded, and, finding him quite unhurt, took the tiny face between his huge, black hands and kissed it passionately again and again.

"God bless thee, my little lad," said he, in a broken voice; "God bless thee!'

Then his mood seemed to change, and, flinging his cap on the ground at Forrester's feet, he folded his arms on his brawny chest and looked the young man full in the face.

"Look'ee here, Mester," said he firmly; "we coom out this neet [night] to beat and hammer thee—mayhap to kill thee outright; and thou'st nigh killed thysel' to save yon little lad, as I'd gi' my heart's blood for onny day. Now, here I stand; knock me down if thou wilt, or gi' me over to the police, or what ye loike. I'se ne'er lift hand to stop thee, for I ha' done a craddently [cowardly] thing."

"And so say we a', ivery mon of us," cried the other men, gathering round their leader.

It was a strange scene upon which the full moon fell in all its brightness: the wild waste of dark moorland in the background; the slender, handsome, gayly dressed young man, with little Jim's tiny face nestling against his shoulder; the sooty skins and savage faces of the grim giants around him, and in front the mighty figure of Rough Jack, silently awaiting his sentence.

But the sentence came in a form which Jack little expected. With one hand Forrester put the little boy into his father's arms, while with the other he gave the great collier's black hand a cordial grasp.

"If you've been wrong, my man, I daresay I've been wrong, too," said he heartily; but, luckily, it's not too late yet to set things straight. We must just try and understand each other a little better after this, and, please God, we'll do it, with the help of this little peacemaker here."

He spoke truly, for from that day there were not three better friends in all England than Harry Forrester, "Rough Jack," and "Rough Jack's little lad."

A Clever Automatic Machine.

The latest addition to railway-station automatic machines—if it stands the test of work—is likely to prove the most useful. It is a "message cabinet," whereto every class of hurried, forgetful, or amatory passengers may confide their thoughts for a small charge with the certainty of secrecy, and of impartial delivery to the right recipient when he or she arrives and moves this ingenious modern oracle. An individual who proposes to intrust a note to the receptacle places himself in front of it. He then propitiates the shrine with the modest offering of a penny, and in return a desk-like flap falls down and discloses a convenient slip of paper. On this the message is written. Whatever the message the clever little machine takes it down into its interior and on receiving another "copper" shows the scrap at any time during the day to the inquirer who turns a convenient handle and can recognize his missive in a column of others, grave, frivolous or gay.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Charity thinketh no evil.

Without hearts there is no home.

Be not simply good—be good for something.

We can have many wives, but only one mother.

How much the wife is dearer than the bridal.

The mind which is free from passion is a citadel.

Love is the brightest ray which lights the pathway of life.

It destroys one's nerves to be amiable every day to the same human being.

Confidence of success is almost success; and obstacles often fall of themselves before a determination to overcome them.

There is no man at once either excellently good or extremely evil but grows either as he holds himself up in virtue or lets himself slide to viciousness.

Socrates was esteemed the wisest man of his time because he turned his acquired knowledge in morality, and aimed at goodness rather than greatness.

Hope nothing from luck, and the probability is that you will be so prepared, so forewarned and forearmed, that all shallow observers will call you lucky.

John Bright's Sincerest Mourners.

Among John Bright's sincerest mourners in this country was Edward Finch, a mule spinner at Providence, R. I. While a corporal in a British regiment Finch fell under the displeasure of a superior officer, a vindictive young sprig of nobility, who finally had him tried by court-martial and sentenced to be flogged. Finch's brave young wife hurried to London and told her story to Mr. Bright, who used his influence with the war department so successfully that the soldier was released. Later Mr. Bright furnished him the means for obtaining his discharge, and Finch and his family came to this country.

Training Dogs for Military Service.

A French paper gives some interesting particulars with regard to the daily training which is being given to seven dogs which are attached to the 55th regiment of infantry, quartered in Nimes. Two men are sent out as orderlies, and placed at first at a distance of about half a mile from the camp. One of them holds the dog by a chain, while the other returns to his post. The dog is then set loose in the direction of this post, upon reaching which he returns to his starting point. The man whom he is sent in pursuit of often hides, but the dog invariably finds him out. These dogs are made to carry dispatches, and they always come up, with outstretched neck, to have the small bag in which the dispatches are placed attached to it. As sentinels these dogs are found to do their work very well, indicating by a pricking of the ear a bark or growl, the presence of anyone in strange dress at a distance of 100 yards or more. But they are easily quieted, either by a caress or a sharp reprimand. As scouts they also do their work very well, the mode of procedure being for several men to take them out and pretend to be searching for the enemy, taking care not to let them get too far away. All of a sudden, some men who have been dressed in strange uniform, and placed in concealment, jump up before the dogs, which hurry back barking to those who have brought them out. In the same way they are made to search for wounded men and for those who have fallen out of the ranks from fatigue, while it has also been found possible to make them carry cartridges, inclosed in waterproof bags. They are also employed at the rifle practice of the regiment to convey the results of the shooting at each target, and are being utilized in other ways which were never thought of until quite recently.

Possibilities of Aluminum.

"Aluminum may yet revolutionize the world," said Superintendent Powell of the geological survey, as he dandled a piece of the bright metal in his hand.

"Isn't it a beauty?" he inquired, his eyes dancing with enthusiasm as he thought of the possibilities in store for it.

"Why," continued the professor, "there is aluminum in every clay bank, in every plain, in every mountain side. It is present in earth everywhere. There are today as many chemists devoting their days and nights with a view to discovering processes by which aluminum may be furnished to the public cheaply as there are scientists delving into the possibilities of electricity. I've known the time when the metal was more precious than gold. Then it fell to $8 per pound; now it is $2 per pound. This fall in cost has been reached by the discovery of new affinities which cheapen its production. When it reaches a cost of 25 cents per pound it will be generally used. It is about as light as oak wood, four times as light as iron and has more resistance than the very best steel. It will be used in the construction of houses, superseding wood and stone and brick. It will take the place of iron and wood in shipbuilding. Just think of a ship constructed of a meta that will but just sink in water. The ocean steamer of to-day built of iron and wood will be as a canal boat compared with a vessel built of aluminum. Such a one will fly as a bird over the waves," said the professor, his enthusiasm becoming unbounded as he contemplated the possibilities of the metal.—Washington Star.

A Novel Statistical Fact.

Here is something for the Statistical society. It has been calculated by a most devoted amateur of statistics that if the late M. Chevreul, who lately died at the age of 103, had never cut his nails they would have obtained, on the day of his death, to the length of 203 inches. This calculation is founded on the fact, which, according to physiologists, may be safely accepted as correct, that the nails of the average mortal grow every year to the extent of an inch and two-thirds. Strange to say, however, the nail on the middle finger grows a little more quickly than the others, and annually adds close on two inches in its length. It therefore follows, states the statistician, that M. Chevreul in the course of his protracted life must have grown in all on his ten digits no less than 56 yards 1 foot of finger nail. Having thus intimated a new path along which the inveterate statistician may ride his pet hobby, I will leave him to extend this interesting inquiry as he may think best.—London Figaro.

Method of Removing a Tight Ring.

Use the finest silk or thread consistent with strength—ordinary housewife thread is strong enough. Pass the end between the finger and ring, keeping the spool or unlimited end at the side near the finger-tip; then wind downward toward the tip of the finger for about a quarter of an inch; then wind off from above by the short end about half this amount. Proceed alternately winding on and on, always leaving about one-eighth of an inch in breadth wound beneath the ring. When the knuckle is passed, the ring comes off easily. Oil or soap the thread well, and push up the ring before commencing to wind. This method, it is believed, will remove any ring.

Politics Do Look Serious for Elliott.

Colonel Elliott F. Shepherd of the Mail and Express asks: "Can an editor be a Christian?" When it comes to the point that an editor himself has doubts on this matter, things begin to look pretty serious.

The universe [illegible] transformation; life is opinion.

A WILDCAT'S AWFUL LEAP.

It Was to Death, But Through No Fault of the Animal's Agility.

"I've seen it disputed in the papers that a wild cat, or catamount, can make a leap of twenty-five feet," said a resident of Sullivan county, N. Y., "and I would like to mention what I saw a wildcat do once. I was trout fishing on one of the upper tributaries of the Beaverkill, and had clambered down into a deep ravine to get at a tempting pool at the foot of a fall, where I was sure my casts would be rewarded by the killing of some big trout. I was not mistaken as to that. I had landed four trout, the smallest one eighteen inches long, and sat down to 'rest the pool.' Both sides of the ravine were perpendicular walls of rock, probably 25 feet high. The summit of the wall on the side of the creek opposite to me sloped back gradually from its edge for several feet to a heavy growth of pine.

"As I was sitting at the bottom of the ravine I happened to glance up to the top of the rocks opposite me, and saw a pheasant accompanied by her newly-hatched brood come out of the pines and scratch and peck her way along the sloping open space, hunting food for her young, which clustered closely about her. The pheasant came very close to the edge of the precipice, and it seemed to me that she was placing her brood in a most dangerous position, when she turned as if to walk back with them to the pines. The instant she turned something like a shadow flitted across the top of the ravine, and half a second later I saw an enormous wildcat clinging to the edge of the opposite wall by his fore feet, holding the pheasant between his jaws. The wildcat struggled for a moment to drag himself from the edge of the abyss to a sure footing on the top of the rocks, but his effort was in vain, and he came crashing down the face of the precipice, still holding the luckless pheasant in his jaws. He fell with a splash in the water, and lay motionless at the edge of the pool.

"I supposed that the animal had been watching the pheasant from the bushes on top of the rocks opposite where the bird had appeared with her brood, and at his opportunity had leaped across to seize her, but had misjudged the distance and fallen short, with the result so fatal to him.

"The whirl of the water brought the wildcat around in a short time to the side where I was standing, and as I was bending down to examine him I saw a man with a gun scrambling down the rocks. The man soon reached my side, and I then learned that he had shot the wildcat as the animal was flying across the chasm upon his prey. Sure enough, just at the base of the animal's brain was the hole made by the rifle ball. The hunter had been following the wildcat for some time, and had lost track of him but came near the edge of the ravine in time to see him make his leap and follow him with the bullet. It was that which had stopped the animal short in the tremendous leap it had calculated on, or it would have cleared the space with safety and doubtless with ease. The wildcat was in reality almost in his death throes when he struck the pheasant, which he clung to with the clutch of death, and still held in his mouth when we dragged him out of the water. We measured the width of the chasm across which the wildcat had made his death leap. The measurement was forty-three feet."—[New York Sun.

Fearfully and Wonderfully Made.

One of the reasons why horses shy in Central Park.—New York Life.

Sheeps and lambs taken together show this year in Great Britain a decrease of 701,519 as compared with 1887, distributed in a reduction of 419,303 sheep and of 282,516 lambs, the total number being now 18,957,149, and the decrease being respectively 2.2 and 3.0 per cent.

The High Priest of Irish "Bulls."

Perhaps a few particulars about Sir Boyle Roche, the high priest of Irish "bulls," might be interesting to your readers. He was of the ancient family of the De La Russes, of Fermoy, was member for Tralee from 1775, and was created a baronet in 1782. He began one of his speeches in the Irish House of Commons, as follows: "Mr Speaker, it is the duty of every true lover of his country to give his last guinea to save the remainder of his fortunes." "Sir, misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all national calamities, is generally followed by one much greater." A letter of his is still preserved, supposed to have been written during the rebellion of '98, though it is doubtful if he ever put so many "bulls" together on paper. It is as follows:

"Dear Sir: Having now a little peace and quiet, I sit down to inform you of the bustle and confusion we are in from the bloodthirsty rebels, many of whom are now, thank God! killed and dispersed. We are in a pretty mess, can get nothing to eat and no wine to drink, except whiskey. When we sit down to dinner we are obliged to keep both hands armed. While I write this I have my sword in one hand and my pistol in the other. I concluded from the beginning that this would be the end, and I am right, for it is not half over yet. At present there are such goings on that everything is at a standstill. I should have answered your letter a fortnight ago, but I only received it this morning. Indeed, hardly a mail arrives safe without being robbed. No longer ago than yesterday, the mail coach from Dublin was robbed near this town; the bags had been very judiciously left behind, and by great good luck there was nobody in the coach but two outside passengers, who had nothing for the thieves to take. Last Thursday an alarm was given that a gang of rebels in full retreat from Drogheda were then advancing under the French standard; but they had no colors nor any drums except bagpipes. Immediately every man in the place, including women and children, ran out to meet them. We soon found our force a great deal too little and were far too near to think of retreating. Death was in every face, and to it we went. By the time half our party were killed, we began to be all alive. Fortunately the rebels had no guns, except pistols, cutlasses and pikes, and we had plenty of muskets and ammunition. We put them all to the sword, not a soul of them escaped, except some that were drowned in an adjoining bog. In fact, in a short time nothing was heard but silence. Their uniforms were all different, chiefly green. After the action was over, we went to rummage their camp. All we found was a few pikes without heads, a parcel of empty bottles filled with water, and a bundle of blank French commissions, filled up with Irish names. Troops are now stationed round, which exactly squares with my ideas of security. Adieu! I have only time to add that I am yours in great haste. "B. R.

"P. S.—"If you do not receive this, of course it must have miscarried; therefore I beg you to write and let me know."—London Spectator.

Says the Philadelphia Inquirer: "It is not generally known that Dr. Cronin, the victim of the murder which is now agitating two continents, was once a resident of the town of Clearfield, Pa., and that he has many mourners there. In 1867 the doctor, then a young man of twenty-two, was employed as a clerk in a large Clearfield store. Cronin was then of distinguished presence, with a tenor voice that was the envy of every Clearfield singer, and he soon became a general favorite in the town. A year or two thereafter he started for the West, stopping at St. Louis, where he studied medicine. Not much was heard of him for a number of years, until marked copies of the Celtic-American, which he published, were received by several of his former friends."

She Saved the Train.

The people of Illinois point with pride to their heroine, Kate Greyson, who walked several miles at night in a storm, crawling over trestles and embankments in order to warn the engineer of an excursion train that the bridge across the river had been washed [illegible] its moorings by the flood tide. She [illegible] the station in time and the danger signal was raised. The train stopped and hundreds of lives were saved. By a special act of the legislature she was substantially rewarded for her bravery.—[New York Press.

HIS PROPOSAL.

Edgar—Miss Edith, I—ah—have something awful important to ask you. May I—that is—Edith (softly)—Where is it, Edgar?

Edgar—Miss E—[illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., AUG. 1, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

Stop Ranting.

The Age-Herald, in regard to the efforts made by some fanatics in Pennsylvania to prevent the extradition of a negro preacher who committed murder in South Carolina some years ago, says:

All this is suggestive of the fugitive slave trials of ante-war times, but it need not disturb the quiet of the South and the Nation as those trials did. The North will suffer from making itself a place of refuge for negro criminals, and that's what it will do when the fact becomes thoroughly advertised that such criminals cannot be extradited from the Northern States for crime committed in the South.

A few raskals more or less will make no difference in the State of Pennsylvania as the aforesaid fanatics very well know.

Now as regards the race question as so frequently discussed by the Age-Herald and other papers both North and South. The question is one that will in the long run decide itself better than all the newspaper talk can decide it. The discussion of it unavoidably brings into play sectional politics and tends to make the matter seem worse than it really is.

Let Pennsylvania have all the negro preachers that she will take. If we can get rid of the preachers we can manage the rest easily.

All that the North can do or say cannot put the negro above the intelligent white people of the South, nor can all that the Southern papers say, even if they were of one mind, colonize or disfranchise the negro, either one of which, in fact, would be unrepublican, unjust and foreign to the interest of the South.

So why not let the matter rest as it is? If a few fools, knaves or fanatics, no matter which, choose to stir up the negro to murder and riot the most we can do is to punish him. If the negroes rise as one man, as one man will they be put down.

In the meantime the South will secure all the capital and imigrants from the North that she can and as the white population will be continually swelled by the Northern imigrants, who invariably fall into our way of thinking on this subject, and the negro's vote and labor grow to be of less consequence, the respective races will assume each its true station.

Waste of Fruit.

The fruit yield for this year is greater than any crop has been for many years. Thousands of bushels have rotted on the trees in this county and some has been shipped, but having been found unprofitable the shipments have been discontinued. A great deal of fruit still remains on the trees and it is not yet too late to save it.

If every farmer who has an orchard will turn in and dry all the fruit on his trees as fast as it ripens, not only will he find that this fruit will save a great deal in the way of provisions in winter, but will sell readily in the market.

Most all farmers will save a little fruit in this manner but very few ever save even enough for their own use. Verily we need a few enterprising Yankees in every industry to teach us economy.

The Geogia Senate has passed the bill prohibiting the sale or furnishing of cigarettes to minors. It is likely to meet with no opposition in the house, and will therefore soon become a law. This is an example well worth following by the Legislature of Alabama.

Among other donations to the prize shoot in Selma on the 6th and 7th of next month is a quart of good whisky to be given to the sickest competitor on the field. There should be a donation in connection with this for the erection of a hospital tent on the grounds.

The Burrows gang of outlaws are again creating a disturbance which will no doubt cost the State a good sum of money. These desperadoes should be gotten rid of the shortest way and it is hoped that they will not be taken alive.

The Jacksonville Times-Union says it hopes that as yellow fever has reached Colon it will soon come to a full stop.

Mr. Cowborn has just died in Georgia. Notwithstanding his name he lived to be 86 years old.—Dispatch.

"Know Thyself"

Is an inscription over the entrance to a so-called heathen temple, and is one of the most important duties in life and the least heeded. Exagerated ideas of our importance as individuals, or as a nation leads but to mistakes and mortification and hinders greatly the possibility of learning.

The first Napoleon was a great warrior, statesmen, and jurist, but nature has been taking a long rest since and the very best need not expect to be great on so many lines of distinction and the average man can posess but a moiety of agregate knowledge and the hinderance to the aquisition of that moiety, is the tenacity which he holds on to preconceived ideas acquired in youth.

We should have no fixed opinions on any subject, but open to evidence that we may know ourselves at all times. It is only in the way we can get knowledge of our own at all

All nations have an exagerated idear of their importance, and in proportion to that exageration is the possobilities of their learning from each other. It is just as true that nations can lern of each other as individuals and the great expositions that have grown so popular late of years, where all the nation are invited to compete in the great exhibition of knowledge; are doing more to break down prejudice and enable us to learn of each other then all other means combined,

I am reminded of this fact in every paper every day "Bill Nye" the great American humorist writing from Paris Exposition says of the poor dispised nations of earth: "Lots of the countries to which we are sending missionaries brings the delicate flush of shame to the cheek of the American, with their wonderful fabricks and diversified industries." and so it is the world over. We could learn something profitable from all nation if we could first learn to know our selves how littlewe do know. Dr. Monroe says in his quaint way: "It would be much better to know less than to know so much that we don't know."—X

Advetise Your Town.

Nine years ago, Chattanooga, Tenn., raised a large sum of Money for the purpose of advertising its advantages. The money was well spent, although it did not bring in an immediate return. It made the town talked about induced capitalists and investors to go there and examine its advantages and as it was built on solid foundations, these visits resulted in large investments and immigration. The result is seen to-day in a city and nearly 50,000 people where nine years ago there but 12,000, and a seesing hundreds of profitable industries. Chattanooga has proved what great advantages come from advertising; and every southern city will reap similar rewards from making resources.—We have noticed a disposition on the part of some of them to expect too immediate return from and investment of this kind. They expect to see capital and immigrants pouring in the very moment the appeal for them is made. Chattanooga has learned better, has discovered that it takes some years for this advertising to have any effect, but that if the advantages of a town are really all it claims it need have no fear that capital will not ultimately find it and build it up. Chattanooga was one of the first of southern cities: it is consequently one of the first to secure the benefits of advertisements. —Times-Democrat.

The Great South Says: We want white immigrants who have means sufficient to get them a home, to come South. There is room enough here for as many of this class as can come. Besides there is a living chance here, and that is what cannot be said of the West. Not only can a good home and a fair chance in life be found here, but a warm welcome at the hands of all our people.

We have the negro here, it is true, but with white immigration we can prevent him from doing any injury in the future. All danger from him disappears when he ceases to be in a majority. He is in the majority in only portions of this section now, and as white immigration comes he will be shorn of this power in those localities. The ballot is the chief agency of mischief with him, and this will probably soon be taken from him in some way by the general consent of all parties. He is really not in the way of the white immigrants as those from the North who have located here have discovered.

The white people of the South are sincere in all the promises in regard to immigration they make. They have not, in fact, told the half there is here in the way of attractions. If immigrants are in doubt, and still disposed to conclude that the wild West is the better country for them, we would urge them, in their own interests to investigate and learn the truth.

Grenada county, Mississippi, comes up confidentialy with the report of a young man who had been in wretched health for years swallowing a hook and line. On being pulled out it was attached to a live and writhing snake twenty-one inches long. It is supposed to have inhabited his interior since childhood. His health is improving rapidly. This snake story should make the snake editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat turn green with envy.

A CONGRESSIONAL INSTITUTE.

To be Held at Clanton, Beginning August 19, and Lasting one Week.

The exercises for this institute for the white teachers of Chilton, Autauga, Bibb, Tallapoosa, Elmore, Coosa, Macon, Chambers and Clay counties will begin Monday morning at ten o'clock. Prominent educators and teachers will be present and take and active part in making the institute both interesting and instructive to teachers as well as patrons of schools. It is very important that every teacher in the district should attend and assist in making this institute a grand and glorious success. Free and hospitable entertainment has been offered by the refined and cultivated people of Clanton, and we hope to obtain reduced rates on rail roads so that no teacher need stay on account of expense of attending this educational enterprise, the greatest of training schools and the future prosperity of our schools. There will be an interesting address each night during the week, delivered especially to all the patrons and friends of education. It is especially desired that all should attend these night sessions of the institute.

Let us hear from you immediately so that houses can be procured for you. Very respectfuly,

A. J. SCOTT.

The Ruling Passion.

Courier-Journal.

The ruling passion is strong in death. James Averill and his female partner, Kate Maxwell, have just been lynched in Wyoming for cattle stealing. Averill was the postmaster at Sweetwater, and when he was under the tree with the rope around his neck, and only a horse between him and death, he like most men in similar circumstances, said he had one last request to make. He was told to speak out, he spoke. He said that there was one man whom he hoped would not succeed him as postmaster at Sweetwater. He would try to get it, but he was not the man for the place and therefore he (Averil) begged his lynchers to use their influence against the aspirant.

The lynchers were acquainted with the man who would wish to become Averill's succor as soon as his death at the rope's end should make the office vacant, and they pledged themselves to use their influence with Mr. Clarkson against him.

Averill had always been an ardent politician, and when his lynchers promised that his wishes should have something to do with naming his successor, he seemed satisfied—ready to meet death. The horse upon which he was sitting was driven from under him. The rope, with a jark, stretched taut, and the position of postmaster at Sweetwater, Wyoming territory, was vacant.

Harper's Bazar.

It is recorded that Queen Anne, who reigned from 1702-1712, was the last sovereign of England who really performed the ceremony of "touching for healing." One of the small gold coins so used by her had upon one side figures of St. Michael and the dragon, and upon the other a ship. Upon another coin there was upon one side a hand descending from a cloud toward four heads, with "He touched them" traced around the margin, and upon the other side a rose and thistle, with "And they were healed," in delicate tracery. Dr. Johnson was among the persons touched by Queen Anne in 1772; he was then a little over two years old, but could recall late in life "a confused and solemn recollection of a grand lady in diamonds and wearing a long black hood." Some of these "touch pieces" of Queen Anne's reign may be seen in the British museum.

MR. JAS. J. McCALLEY, Monet, Mo., says he had dyspepsia for eight years, which made him weak, sick and suffering during the whole time. After trying all the remedies, including all the doctors, in reach, he discarded everything and took Swift's Specific. He increased from 111 to 158 pounds and was soon a sound and healthy man.

Mr. Ralph Elkins lives at Marionvile, Mo., and is a successful farmer. He says he has been a great sufferer from impurities of the blood which made his limbs stiff and gave him pain in the lungs; but that he took Swift's Specific, and it soon relieved him entirely.

We have sold Swift's Specific for six years in quantity lots, and the goods have been entirely satisfactory and whitout a complaint from a single customer.

HUTCHERSON & ELLIOTT, Paris Tex.

It is said that the first cross eyed man was made so while riding between two ladies and trying to look at them both at the same time. How about the second cross eyed man?

Tom Woolfolk's wife wants a divorce from the noted criminal. She ought to have it.

A Disappointed Audience.

Merchant Traveller.

"How are you getting along?" asked a traveling man of an acquaintance who had gone on the stage.

"Oh, I have met with a share of success. I played Hamlet for the first time."

"Did you get through all right?"

"Yes except that I happened to stumble and fall into Ophelia's grave."

"That must have been embarrassing?"

"It was but I wouldn't have minded it if the audience hadn't seemed so disappointed when I got out."

A Charlston druggist advertised that the milk of a coconut would remove freckles, and 4,000 of the nuts were sold at retail in two days to women folks. He got a commission on all sales. The freckles still occupy their respective positions.

A Kentucky man who was dying alone left his will in lead pencil on the head of a whisky barrel, and it is held to be valid. The only thing he left, however, was a gallon of whiskey in the barrel, Swift's Specific has a brisk and constant sale with us, and the universal verdict is, that as blood medicine it has no rival.

LANFORD & TOYMAN, Druggists, Sherman, Texas.

The dreaded cotton worm has made his appearance and farmers around Wetumpka are preparing to poison the cotton crop.

Chandler can let up on Southern outrages for awhile and amuse himself nearer home, Grafton county, in New Hamshire, has an almhouse and a superintedent named Brown, who corrects those unfortunates in his charges who displeases him in the most brutal manner. Investigation promises to reveal atrocities equal to those that have made Tewesbury a term of reproach.—Advertiser.

Thousands have been relieved of indigestion and loss of appetite by a single bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The use of this medicine, by giving tone and strength to the assimilative organs, has made innumerable cures of chronic dyspepsia. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

Sheriff's Sale.

To satisfy a fieri facias in my hands, issued from the Chancery Court of the northeastern division of the Seventh District of Ala., against James Nix, Ezekiel Nix, Mewis Waldrap, S. E. Waldrop and Rebeca Jane Smitherman, and in favor of Jonse L. Gardner et als, I will proceed to sell on 1st Monday in September, 1889, at Courthouse door of Chilton County, Ala., between the legal hours of sale, at public outcry, the following-described property, levied on as the property of the said James Nix, Ezekiel Nix, Lewis Waldtop, S. E. Waldropand Rebeca Jane Smitherman, to-wit: The n ½ of s e ¼ of Section 28, Township 22, Range 12. The n w ¼ of Section 9, and the w ½ of the s e ¼ of Section 16 in Township 22, Range 12, all lying and being in Chilton County, State of Alabama.

LEE HAYES,
augist Sheriff Chilton County.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Clerk's office of the City Court of Birmingham, Jefferson county, Ala., in favor of Wm. P. Baird and against The Taylor Manufacturing Co., I will proceed to sell, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., between the legal hours of sale at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, September 2nd, 1889, the following described real estate, levied upon as the property of the said Taylor Manufacturing Co., to-wit: The n w ¼ of n e ¼ of Section 2, and n ½ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of n w ¼ of Section 11, all in Township 21, Range 15, and lying and being in Chilton county, Ala.

LEE HAYES,
Sheriff Chilton County.
auglst

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

To Be Held in Clanton for the Fifth Congressional District.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION,
Mongomery, Ala., July 22d.

ED. CHILTON VIEW:—Dear Sir—Advertise institute for August 19, and urge all teachers to attend that week. Hope to have a large attendance and do much good. It will be a Congressional Institute for one week.

Yours Truly,
SOLOMON PALMER.

All kinds of blank deeds and waive notes for sale at this office.

Notice!

OFFICE JUDGE OF PROBATE,
Clanton, July 15, 1889.

To the Tax payers of Chilton county: Take notice that the Assessor's book for the year 1889, has been prepared and is now on file in the office of the Judge of Probate for the inspection of the Tax payers of said county. And that the Board of Revenue will sit on the second Monday in August to hear objections to the assessments as appears upon said book.

H. J. CALLEN, jul18 Judge of Probate.

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Probate Court 10th day of July, 1889.
Estate of Frank Bandy, Hubert Bandy and Wilson Bandy, Minors.

This day came John S. Leeper as Administrator of the estate of James T. Leeper, deceased, and filed his statement, accounts, vouchers and evidences for a final settlement of the guardianship of James T. Leeper of the estate of said minors. It is ordered that the 12th day of August, 1889, be appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

H. J. CALLEN,
July 25, 1889. Judge of Probate.

Save Your Hair

BY a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair.

"I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. H.

"Some time ago I lost all my hair in consequence of measles. After due waiting, no new growth appeared. I then used Ayer's Hair Vigor and my hair grew Thick and Strong.

It has apparently come to stay. The Vigor is evidently a great aid to nature."—J. B. Williams, Floresville, Texas.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past four or five years and find it a most satisfactory dressing for the hair. It is all I could desire, being harmless, causing the hair to retain its natural color, and requiring but a small quantity to render the hair easy to arrange."—Mrs. M. A. Bailey, 9 Charles street, Haverhill, Mass.

"I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years, and believe that it has caused my hair to retain its natural color."—Mrs. H. J. King, Dealer in Dry Goods, &c., Bishopville, Md.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis. Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever. Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N. C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK
THE ONLY
ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE
INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle—the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,

F. L. RAXLETT,
Business Manager.

The Lawson Carpet Co

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention
the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

BAINS & PORTER.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt A tention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY

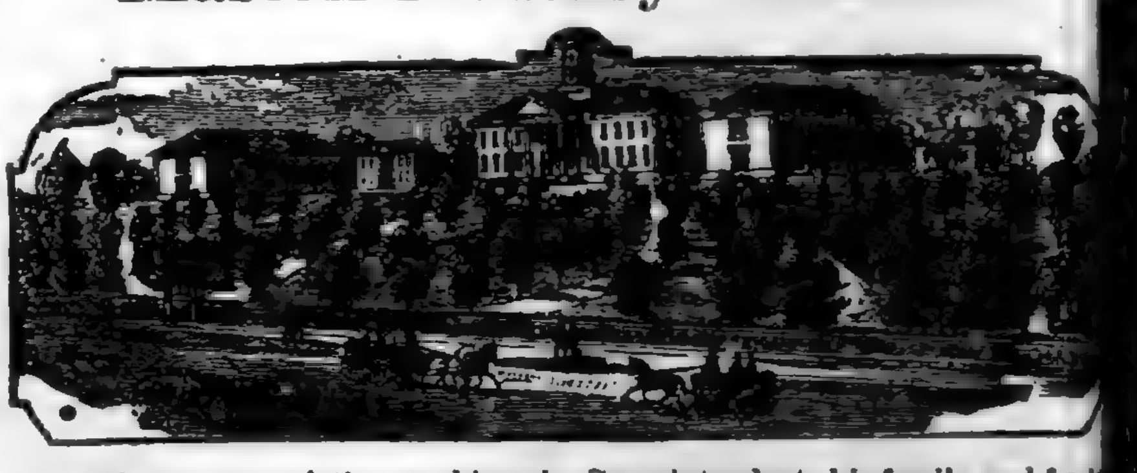
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

Marion Military Institute.



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and facu live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family wat care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish practi and thorough training. Terms moderate.

J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama

THOMAS FOSHEE,

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofo extended our house. Respectfully, feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE.

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala

—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dyi done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER,

WINDOW SHADES,

MOULDINGS,

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER HANG

H. M. MANCHA,

204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will s samples on application.

apr 11-y

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.

THOS. H. HOLT,

PRACTICAL WORKMAN

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Marble

—Manufacturer of all kinds of—

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WO

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, Alabam

arpet Co

Ala.

the attention o

y to their large

tock of

ndow Shades,

ld Novelties

, and prices are guaranteed

rn markets.

ail. Respectfully,

PET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

RTER.

(PEEBLES.)

UGGISTS.

Receive Prompt A

S A SPECIALTY

h and 20th STREETS

Ala.

Company's Prices.

June 19 y

Institute.

endent, his family and faculty boys who need family watch and to all who wish practical
J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama

OSHEE,

FOSHEE,)

roceries

CHANDISE.

labama.

ral patronage heretofore
ly,
THOMAS FOSHEE.

M,

gomery, Ala.

LOR ROOMS,

s, Scouring and dying

urt Street.

APER,

WINDOW SHADES,

MOULDINGS,

—AND—

ACTICAL PAPER HANGE

CHA,

OMERY, ALABAMA.

om 10 cents up. Will

apr 11-y

BLE WORKS.

HOLT,

ORKMAN.

lian Marble.

kinds of —

D STONE WOR

nty-Fourth Street,

Alabam

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., AUG. 1, 1889

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will render a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—On the eleventh Monday after the fourth Monday in February, and on the thirteenth Monday after the fourth Monday in August, and may continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks was in town Monday.

Mrs. T. G. Holt visited Montgomery Monday.

Miss Jennie Freman is visiting Mrs. W. K. Welch.

Mr. W. H. Foshee was in Montgomery one day last week.

The court house well has been thoroughly cleaned out.

Miss Myrtle Alvis returned to Brierfield Monday last.

Mr. W. H. Foshee, went to Birmingham yesterday on business.

The Editor of the VIEW is off recuperating at Shelby Springs.

Mr. Tom Harrison, of Strasburg, was in town Tuesday attending court.

The dance on last Friday night was much enjoyed by those who attended.

Mr. Frank Davis takes his place today as clerk in the store of R. Ehrman.

Mrs. Prescott, of Montgomery, visited her sister Mrs. Dr. Johnson last week.

Mrs. Wright and Miss Mattie Wright, of this place, are visiting in Columbus, Ga.

Mrs. Bulger, of Birmingham, is visiting the family of Mrs. Hester near here.

Mr. Sumner Ashley, of Birmingham spent Sunday with his parents in Clanton.

Miss Sankey Butler, who has been visiting here has left for a trip to Florida.

Mr. J. T. Anderson, of Birmingham, was in Clanton recently on business for his firm.

Rev. J. M. Scott preached a good sermon at the Baptist church on Sunday night.

Dr. W. E. Stewart left Sunday for South Pittsburg Tenn., to visit his wife and children at that place.

Messrs. Boykin and Wingate came up from Verbena on Friday night to the dance.

Rev. J. M. Scott and wife, of Elmo, are visiting the family of Capt. W. A. Middleton.

Mr. W. A. Collier and family have returned home from a pleasant visit to relatives in Troy, Ala.

Mrs. E. F. and Miss Jennie Chilton are expected home soon. Miss Jennie will open a music school here.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus, of the Jumbo neighborhood, visited their son Mr. G. W. Marcus last Sunday.

Miss Cora Phillips, one of Syllacauga's charmers, is visiting the family of her uncle Mr. Tom Phillips.

Mr. Stonewall Warner, of Montgomery, came up on Friday night to the dance. He is an "old Clanton boy" and consequently always welcomed by his old friends here.

That distention of the stomach which many people feel after eating, may be due to improper mastication of the food; but, in most cases, it indicates a weakness of the digestive organs, the best remedy for which is one of Ayer's Pills, to be taken after dinner.

The vicissitudes of climate are trying to most constitutions, especially to people having impure blood. For all such (and they constitute the majority), the best safeguard is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the use of which cleanses the blood and strengthens and invigorates the system.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at special prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. SAMPEY.

Mrs. Johnson, of Mulberry, is visiting her daughter Mrs. Dr. Mathews, of this place.

Mr. Dunk Timberlake, of Louisville, stopped over in Clanton a few days last week, the guest of Mr. Foshee.

Miss Lila Haney returned to Montgomery last Thursday, much to the regret of her friends here who are numerous.

The VIEW received some fine sweet potatoes last week from Mr. C. R. Bruce, the first of the season. Mr. Bruce has our thanks.

Misses Anna Lou Duke and Rosa Gullahorn, who have been visiting Miss Rosa West in Montgomery have returned to Clanton.

Messrs. Woodyard, Candler and Marlow all brought the devil a watermelon for which the devil offers his stomach-felt thanks.

Mr. George Lewis, of Birmingham, stopped over in Clanton Friday night on his way back to Birmingham from the encampment in Montgomery.

Duke's Mill is being rebuilt on a more substantial and larger scale and, we understand, will be running by the 15th of August. The mill will have a capacity of six carloads of lumber per day.

Messrs. G. C. Hanks and J. W. Gullahorn, Jr., visited Montgomery last week. Montgomery has an unusual attraction for Clanton's young men of late.

Miss Minnie Phillips, who has been visiting in various parts of the State for the past nine weeks, has returned. We are glad to welcome Miss Minnie back to Clanton where she has been much missed during her long absence.

There will be a dance at the residence of Mr. Johnifer Headly, who resides on Sheepskin branch, on next Saturday night. Mr. DeVane Middleton, one of the managers, takes this opportunity of inviting the Clanton crawd.

Mr. R. Q. Lane, who lives about a mile and a quarter from here, did a good day's work towards laying by his crop on last Sunday under the impression that it was Saturday. Last week must have seemed a long one to Mr. Lane.

Mr. C. R. Bruce was the first man who responded to the devil's complaint of last week. Mr. Bruce brought the devil a fine melon for which he has the promised one year's thanks, and as he was so prompt in his response and in consideration of the superior quality of the melon, we will throw in six months for good measure.

Family Gathering.

Mr. W. A. Wells, who reached his eightieth birthday on Friday last, gave a family dinner, at which were present eighty-seven of his descendants. There were twenty-one members of the family absent and twenty dead.

The Entertainment at Dr. Bivings'.

A sociable was given at the residence of Dr. Bivings on Tuesday night which was attended by a select crowd of Clanton's young people. Cards, dominoes, music and the serving of refreshments made the evening pass off very pleasantly indeed. Clanton has not a better host and hostess than Mr. and Mrs. Bivings.

Death of Joseph Ellison.

Mr. Joseph Ellison, whose family lives about fifteen miles north of Clanton, was killed on last Thursday evening by falling from a tree.

Mr. J. L. Marcus, of that neighborhood, gives us the particulars and says that on last Thursday evening about 2 o'clock Mr. Ellison left his house accompanied only by his dog, telling his wife that he would return in an hour or so and that he was going squirrel hunting. About half an hour later Mrs. Ellison heard the report of a rifle and again soon after. As night drew on he did not return and his family began to be somewhat uneasy which was increased by the return of the dog who whined piteously and seemed to wish to make something known. However, nothing was done 'till next morning when Mr. Ellison still being missing a party was organized and started in search of him.

He was found about a mile and a half from his house quite dead. Close by stood a very tall tree one limb of which about forty feet from the ground was broken and immediately under this limb the ground was considerably torn up as though a heavy body had fallen there. It is supposed that Mr. Ellison killed a squirrel in the tree which lodged and that he was climbing after the squirrel when he fell.

The dead man was found about forty yards from where he fell with both shoulders, his left arm and his neck broken. That a man in this condition with his senses about him would have crawled so far is absurd and the only likely supposition is that he rolled there in the agonies of death.

Jemison Locals.

At a meeting of the citizens of Jemison and surrounding country on Wednesday last, called for the purpose of considering the adversibility and practicability of erecting a cotton factory at this place, Mr. J. P. Allen was elected chairman and H. T. Caffey, secretary. Several enthusiastic speeches were made and it was resolved that we take steps at once to organize and incorporate a stock company with a capital of $100,000, with shares at $25 each, to erect and operate a factory in the town of Jemison for manufacture of cotton goods.

H. T. Caffey, B. F. Robinson and J. J. Honeycutt were appointed as a committee to collect subscriptions for stock, and a committe consisting of Col. V. S. Murphy, Dr. J. A. McNeil and R. H. Gaines was appointed to ascertain and make estimates of the cost of machienry, buildings, &c. Said committee are to report to a meeting of all parties taking interest in the matter at Jemison on Wednesday August 7th, inst., at 2 p. m. Everybody, and especially citizens of this and adjoining counties, are cordially invited to be present. With a high, dry location, and an ample supply of the purest free-stone water in the world, transportation at hand, located just south of the great coal and iron regions of North Ala., and just north of the far famed "black belt" of the State, thus insuring an ample supply of raw material at our very doors. There is no reason why cotton cannot be manufactured in Jemison as cheaply and to as much natural advantage as anywhere in the world.

We are glad to state that P. D. Bean Esq., notwithstanding his broken arm and the prediction made a few weeks since that he would never do any more work, is out on our streets, talking and working like a Trogan for the factory; and we begin to think there is yet somethiing good in him.

Prof. Ruffin, our efficient teacher, attended the national teachers association which convened at Nashville.

Mrs. Moss, of Bullock Co. is visiting Mr. S. T. Haviland's family.

Mr. Pruitt, of Syllacauga, has been visiting Dr. McNeil's family.

Mrs. Allen Givhan has returned from a protracted visit to Stanton.

X. Y. Z.

The evils resulting from habitual costiveness are many and serious; but the use of harsh, drastic purgatives is dangerous. In Ayer's pills, however, the patient has a mild but effective aperient, superior to all others, especially for family use.

The queen has been suffering acutely from lumbago and sciatica for the last ten days, and has had very great pain at night which prevented her from sleeping. Indeed, some nights she was hardly able to go to bed at all from the increase of pain. It has weakened and tried her, and she is looking much pulled down. But she takes drives and does her work during the day.

Barber Shop.

Mr. H. A. Logan, who has his barber shop in the Farmer's Alliance Building, solicits the patronage of the good people of Clanton. He does good work and is well fixed up for the business.

SYRUP of FIGS

Combines the juice of the Blue Figs of California, so laxative and nutritious, with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, forming the ONLY PERFECT REMEDY to act gently yet promptly on the

KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

—AND TO—

Cleanse the System Effectually,

—SO THAT—

PURE BLOOD,
REFRESHING SLEEP,
HEALTH and STRENGTH

Naturally follow. Every one is using it and all are delighted with it. Ask your druggist for SYRUP OF FIGS. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

jul19 y

State Normal College,

FLORENCE, ALA.

JAS. K. POWERS, A. M. President.

THE COURSE OF STUDY embraces all the branches required in the public schools of the State.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE of teaching receive careful attention throughout the course.

DRAWING, VOCAL MUSIC AND CALISTHENICS are taught. No teacher is thoroughly equipped for his work without training in these branches.

STATE CERTIFICATES are granted to graduates, entitling them to teach in any public school in Alabama, without further examination.

TUITION IS FREE

to teachers and those preparing to teach and good board costs only ten to fourteen dollars a month.

Fall Term Opens Sept. 17, 1889.

For catalogue or further information, apply to the President.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Prop., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

A RUINED HOME.

Our house is on fire! Our home is burning up!! What cry so piercing to the soul! Fire, indeed, is terrible when it destroys inanimate things we love, but how much more terrible when it destroys the living tissues of the flesh! Fire in the blood, how cruel in its effect! Covering the fair skin with spots and blemishes. Twinging the limbs and joints with aches and pains, creating ulcers and running sores. Singeing the very roots of the hair and causing it to fall dead away. Cramping the functions of the liver and kidneys with internal swellings and sores, Disfiguring form and feature. Thank Heaven, in the midst of such fearful contemplation a

QUICK CURE

CURE, safe, sure and QUICK in its effect, comes to mind. It is Botanic Blood Balm, made in the beautiful city of Atlanta, Ga. An illustrated "Book of Wonders" sent free by the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., is filled with most convincing proof of its remarkable merit.

☞ Robert Ward, Maxey, Ga., writes: "For twelve or fourteen years I have been a great sufferer from a terrible form of blood poison. My head, face and shoulders became almost a mass of corruption, and finally the disease commenced eating away my skull bones. I became so horribly repulsive that for three years I absolutely refused to let people see me. I used large quantities of most noted blood remedies and applied to nearly all physicians near me, but my condition continued to grow worse, and all said that I must surely die. My bones became the seat of excruciating aches and pains; my nights were passed in misery; I was reduced in flesh and strength; my kidneys were terribly deranged, and life became a burden to me. I chanced to see an advertisement of Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) and when eight or ten bottles had been used I was pronounced sound and well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me, looking like a man who had been burned and then restored. My case was well known in the county."

BAD BLOOD

Lew Johnson, Belmont Station, Miss., writes "My ears and scalp were covered with sores and all my hair came out. I lost my appetite and became a mere skeleton. I am now taking B. B. B., and the sores are going away and my strength is coming back." (13)

[sep27 ew 1y]

NOTICE NO. 8941.

Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., July 24, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on September 7, 1889, viz: William H. Mills, homestead No. 15149 for the n w ¼ of n e ¼, the n ½ of n w ¼ and s w ¼ of n w ¼, sec 14 t 20, north, r 13 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James T. Chambers, Henry A. Sewell, John Hamilton, and Thomas Anderson, all of Kincheon, Ala.

jul25* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8874.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court Clanton, Ala., on August 3rd, 1889, viz: Anderson Peoples, Homestead 15606 for the s w ¼ of s e ¼ and s e ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 10, township 21 n, range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Willis Young James, Rasberry, Horace McGee, Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8907.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Montgomery, Ala., July 10, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 17, 1889, viz: John D. B. McDuffie, Homestead 14772 for the n ½ of s e ¼ and e ½ of s w ¼ sec 15 t 20 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Elizabeth Gordon and Frederick G. Gordon, of Mountain Creek, Ala., Noah Duffee and Mayberry Cooper, of Verbena, Ala.

july11o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8875.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 3d, 1889, viz: Willis Young, homestead application 15629 for the s w ¼ of s w ¼ section 10 township 21 north range 11 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Anderson Peoples, James Rasberry, Horace McGee, and Fed Latham, all of Maplesville, Ala.

jun27o I. G. HARRIS, Register.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

A. E. BIVINGS,

—DEALER IN—

DRUGS, AND Medicines,

FAMILY Groceries, ETC.

Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar20]

BUY YOUR PIANOS and ORGANS
—FROM—
GRAMBS & BUCHANAN,
—2017 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

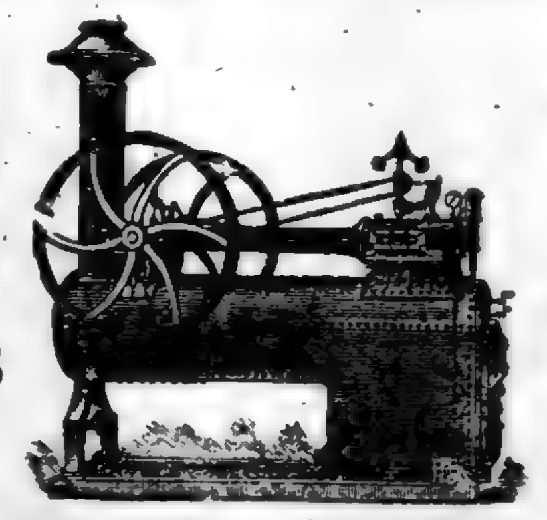
THE VERY LOWEST CASH PRICES, or on easy installments. Sohmer, Cranich & Bach, Gabler, Wheelock and Newby & Evans Pianos, and the world renowned Wilcox & White organs. Mail orders for sheet music or musical merchandise given prompt attention.

☞ Write for Catalogue. ☜ jul18

When ordering please state in what paper you saw our advertisement.

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers



Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.

Saw Mill Work a Specialty.

☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜

Birmingham, Ala.

mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.

(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)

—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.

oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.

☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜

nov 8-y

THE SOUTHERN EXPOSITION
Opens Nov. 5, and Closes Nov. 15, 1889.
MONTGOMERY, ALA.

The best ever held in the State. Displaying the products, manufactures and resources of the State, with varied and interesting exhibits, all of which will afford a splendid opportunity to gain a thorough knowledge of the State and her people in the shortest time, and in a most enjoyable manner.

Agricultural, mineral and timber products will be grouped in attractive display, and the people from the mountains on the north to the gulf on the south will meet in happy and joyous throngs.

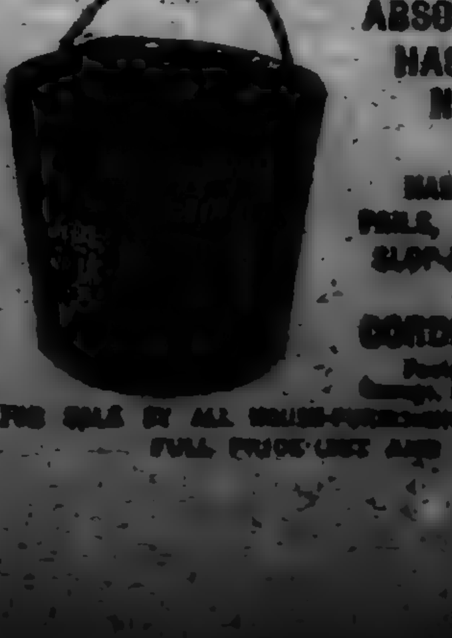
A number of excursions will be run from the east, west and north, and large numbers from these sections are confidently expected.

W. F. VANDIVER, President; P. B. BIBB, Vice-President; M. C. BURKE, General Manager; W. B. DAVIDSON, Treasurer; W. C. BIBB, Jr., Secretary.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.

dec5 ay



INDURATED FIBRE WARE,
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
[illegible]
FOR SALE BY ALL HOUSE-FURNISHING, HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS.
FULL PRICE-LIST AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.

Apr25-6

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.

Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.

[mal5 y]

Money to Loan.

Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address

R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,
jun27 Clanton, Ala.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.

Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜

Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.

[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire
Insurance Company
of Montgomery, has a record for reliability
unsurpassed.

Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE

TRADE MARK

After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES-take notice-not simply helps but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.

Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIA troubles.

Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky., says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."

Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family."

Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than pills.

Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.

It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by

The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell.) St. Louis, Mo.

mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine. If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.

CONSUMPTION

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions. The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.

CATARRH

A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost. Easy and pleasant to use. Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.

E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.

nov22-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $85. to $33.

This Elegant Parlor Organ style 79 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells, stool and Book free. For only $33.00. With right and left couples. "Warranted for 6 years."

It is only necessary to send references as to your responsibility from any banker, postmaster, merchant or express agent and the Organ will be shipped promptly on ten days' test trial.

Circular free to all.

Be sure to write me, and save money. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, [illegible]

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

REMOVING STUMPS.

It is no easy matter to remove green stumps from a newly cleared field, and to do so at once for any considerable number will be found to cost more than the use of the land they occupy will be worth, until they have decayed so that their removal by fire or otherwise will be comparatively easy. Stumps that have partly decayed roots can often be twisted out by placing the largest end of a long and stout piece of timber against the side of the stump and chaining it fast, then with a team at the other end of the lever pulling in the direction of a circle around it. A method that has been recommended is to bore a hole as deep as you can down to the centre of the stump in the fall, and put in two ounces of saltpetre and plug it up. In the spring remove the plug and fill with kerosene oil, and afterward ignite it. This, it is said, will cause the stump to smoulder away entirely. The experiment is one that can be easily tried. There is no doubt that saturating a seasoned stump with oil by boring into it or otherwise will greatly facilitate its burning. As a general thing it will be found best to leave green stumps to season and then destroy them as fast as you can with fire. Stumps are expeditiously blown out with dynamite, but few farmers care to handle this explosive. When expense is no object patent stump pullers may be resorted to.—New York Sun.

TREATMENT OF YOUNG CHICKENS.

The young chickens should not be stinted in their diet until after the downy coverings have gone, and a good coat of feathers has appeared. The moulting season is another critical time in their lives, and if they are not generously supplied with good wholesome food they are liable to sicken and die from little exposure or change in the weather. The strong tissues of the body are now being formed, and they should be liberally supplied with egg-shells, oyster-shells, or bones. Their craving for such food will manifest itself at once. The egg-shells should be dried before the fire, and then ground as finely as corn-meal. The oyster and clam-shells should be pounded and crushed in the same way. The bones should be burnt and crushed as far as possible, and the whole mixed up together. If distributed around the yard where the chickens have been accustomed to find food they will eat freely of this mixture every day. To be very particular about the food it would be an improvement upon this plan to mix the ground shells and bones with corn-meal, and cook the mess before the fire. Add a little linseed meal, and feed the chicks with it every morning. Such a diet as this supplies the chickens not simply with fat, but with the elements necessary for the growth of feathers, bone and muscle. If they are not allowed to roam about in woods and fields they should have chopped-up fresh vegetables. Usually the tops of vegetables that are thrown away before using on the table will do for this. Such a diet, I think, will answer all purposes, and give the young chickens a good start in life, which is necessary for their future growth.—Washington Star.

CELERY IN BEDS.

The ordinary distances at which celery is planted is in rows from three to three and a half feet apart, with at least three plants to the foot in the rows. At these distances celery large enough for all practical purposes can be raised, provided the soil is sufficiently rich, and proper attention is given in the cultivation and earthing-up. As will readily be seen, a row of twenty-five feet will give as many stalks as will be required for an ordinary family. But there are cases where the land for even this quantity cannot well be spared, or where the celery is not so much wanted for the table as for soups, stews, and the like, where size of stalks is no object. In this case we have succeeded well in growing a part of the crop in beds. For example, a piece of land selected, say, 3x20, can easily be made to grow 150 celery plants of quite sufficient size for the purposes mentioned, and, indeed, that will also do for the table, at a pinch.

First, the soil may as well be taken out three or four inches deep and laid to the side two feet six inches wide. This will afterward be useful in furnishing soil for partial earthing up. Except in very rich soil, a good coating of manure should be spaded into this trench, and then the bed is ready for the plants. The planting will be time enough in July. Three rows may be planted in this bed one foot apart, and the plants set four inches from each other. All that is necessary during the summer is to keep the weeds down, and the soil occasionally stirred.

As it is supposed that this crop is mainly for fall and winter use, it is not necessary to do anything until the end of September or October, and then only sufficient to keep the stalks well together, it being well known that for late keeping, celery is better not to be thoroughly bleached when put away. As a part of the crop may be wanted for first use, there is nothing to prevent one end of the bed from being earthed up and got ready for use first, selecting as many as are likely to be wanted. Of course, where a great quantity is grown, where land is no object, this method is not likely to be much followed. But among such as have only little land, and yet want to make the most of it, we commend the foregoing to their consideration. It will be seen that land for this purpose is not wanted until some of the early crops are ready to clear off.—Prairie Farmer.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Do not allow the early lambs to stop growing, you cannot afford it.

If the hen lays one egg a week she will pay all expenses of keep. Every egg over is profit. The greater the number of eggs secured the lower the cost of each egg proportionately.

Farmers who have never trained themselves to be methodical, exact and intelligent in their ways of doing farm work, might as well give up the dairy business first as last, or adopt method.

Last year when the price of potatoes was very low a Dundee farmer put a lot of them among chaff at the bottom of a silo. When it was opened the other day they were as fresh as when they were dug.

Prices for choice mutton, especially for well fatted spring lambs, have been quite good during the past year, and the prospect of an increased consumptive demand augurs well for the future of the skilfully managed flock.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

JELLIES AND MARMALADES.

For making jelly and marmalade, it is of the greatest importance that the fruit should be only just ripe, for if it is not, all efforts to make good jelly will be in vain. If jelly does not "form" the first twenty-four hours, it is useless to cook it over or waste time with it. Sometimes to set it in the sun a day or two may improve it. The best loaf sugar should be used, and fruit juice should be well boiled, before adding the sugar, as it retains both color and flavor better. Twenty minutes is usually sufficient time to cook jelly, but sometimes it requires much longer. Acid fruits make the best jelly, but almost every variety will make good jelly.—Courier-Journal.

HOW MILK SHOULD BE KEPT.

Consumers of milk are too often indifferent to their ways of keeping milk after it reaches them. When delivered in cans it is a common custom for many people to draw from the same as they need it, and possibly a can may not be emptied until a fresh supply is received. As soon as the milk is bought it should be poured into a glass or earthen pitcher, and when this is emptied it should be made absolutely clean and then well aired. Those who have young children dependent upon milk food ought to receive a fresh supply of milk both morning and night; otherwise, in the warm months, it is extremely liable to become unwholesome. With but few in cities is this possible, and, therefore, in summer it will be well to scald the supply when received, to prevent its becoming sour.—Journal of Health.

GREENS.

The following plants and portions of young vegetables make good greens: Young beets, beet tops, cowslips, chicory, chevel, dandelion, dock, horseradish tops, young turnips and tops, young milk weed, and many others peculiar to different localities. The dandelion and dock are especially fine, producing marked effects as blood purifiers and in clearing the complexion.

They should always be cooked in salted water, to which should be added a little soda or a pinch of carbonate of ammonia, to preserve their green color. All greens should be very thoroughly washed in several waters, after removing the roots and any dried or dead stalks which may have been gathered. They should be either cooked in soft water or water freshly drawn, and put in at its first boiling.

The time required is indefinite, depending upon how young they may be, or the variety used; are done always as soon as tender, and should then be taken up, and very thoroughly drained by placing in a colander, and squeezing with a wooden spoon.

BAG FOR SOILED CLOTHES.

Fancy bags of all descriptions are used, and some are very elaborate, says Mrs. Curtis in the Prairie Farmer. I use a fine towel for soiled clothes; cutting it in two in the middle for a bag for collars and cuffs, making two bags of one towel, and using a whole one for the larger clothes. A few outlined figures improve the bag, and with drawn work and knotted fringe a very pretty bag may be made. For the large bag, cut the towel in two in the middle cross-wise, and seam it on all the edges except the draw edge that is left for the opening of the bag and hemmed; after which a draw-string may be run in twice to close it. The smaller bags are cut in same the way, and closed so that the fringe will hang at the bottom, just as it does in the larger bag; this makes a long, narrow bag. To lessen the length, I turn a deep hem at the top, and stitch in this a casing of the proper width for the draw-string. For the string I use a cast-off ribbon, that at a little distance does not show that it has been washed. I also made a bag for dust-cloths, using a brown linen towel, and ornamenting it with different shades of wool in rows of cross-stiching, between which are scroll patterns worked in outline-stitch. The towel-fringe I discarded, and substituted one made of the wool used in the embroidery.

RECIPES.

Soup Balls—Boil five eggs until hard, remove the shells and pound the yolks to a powder; add the whites of two uncooked eggs, with a little flour and salt; mix into balls, boil in water and drop into the soup.

Biscuit—One quart of flour, three teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt; sift all together three times; add enough sweet milk to form a dough, role out an inch thick, cut in round cakes and bake in a quick oven.

Ragout of Onions—Cut a couple of bunches of young onions in slices; add double the quantity of potatoes, peeled and sliced; season with salt and pepper, and cover with broth of any kind; simmer until the pototoes are done; add a tablespoonful of butter and eat very hot.

Chicken Salad—Boil one chicken tender, and chop fine; chop fine the whites of twelve hard-boiled eggs; add equal quantities of chopped celery and cabbage; mash the yolks fine; add two tablespoons butter, two of sugar, one teaspoon mustard; pepper and salt to taste; and lastly, one-half cup good cider vinegar; pour over the salad and mix thoroughly.

Stuffed and Roasted Pork—Take a small loin, three tablespoons of bread crumbs, one chopped onion, half a teaspoon of chopped sage, pepper and salt, one-fourth of a cup of chopped beef suet, one tablespoonful of butter. Separate with a cleaver each joint of the loin and make an incision with a knife into the thick part of the meat in which to place the stuffing, which prepare as follows: Mix the bread crumbs with the onion, add the suet, sage, pepper and salt, press into the incision in the pork and sew together with coarse thread the edges of the meat; dredge the meat with flour, place in a baking-pan with a cup of hot water. Allow twenty minutes to the pound for baking.

A Warning.

The Christian Intelligencer says that an Iowa farmer, who believed in having two strings to his bow, put up in his garden this sign:

BOYS, DON'T TOUCH THESE MELONS, FOR THEY ARE GREEN, AND GOD SEES YOU.

A fifteen-year-old boy of Pitchville, Conn., has trained six sheep to harness and drives them daily about the village.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

WOMEN AS BEE KEEPERS.

I wish for the benefit of many women who are desirous of supporting themselves, or aiding in the support of their families, to cite them to an employment by the aid of which many women make money, and do it independently and easy, says an Atlanta lady in the Sunny South. In this avocation I know women who have regained lost health, and at the same time made money in abundance. Indeed, I know women who make as much as fifteen hundred dollars per annum, and do no work during the winter, in what I conceive to be the most enobling, profitable and pleasant of all businesses—that of keeping bees—scientifically. And what more pleasant place is there than a well kept apiary where the hum of the ever industrious workers make music in their flight, and where vines and flowers lend an enchantment to the scene?

Every lady who has a rod of ground should have an apiary, and more especially those who live in the suburbs of cities, in villages and in the country, where blooming flowers constantly exude their sweetness which would be otherwise lost except for the industry of these pets. What is more fascinating than producing comb honey in all its purity and whiteness in one pound sections for home use or sale at home or abroad, or in rearing Italian queens for the market where there is a constant demand at prices ranging from $2 to $5 each?

A colony of bees will give twenty-five queen cells weekly, which can be hatched in little hives having frames 4x5 inches. A queen will lay two thousand eggs daily, from each of which a queen can be reared in twenty-one days, and if we have enough little hives we can rear hundreds of queens. As is said in Root's standard work on bees: "One hundred of these little hives will give us ten laying queens each day," from April to September. In honey one thousand pounds per colony has been reached.

What business is more beautiful than this which as has been truthfully said is "the poetry of labor?" Ladies who will start with Italian bees and in a proper manner will reap success, and to all who wish to embark in this and will write me enclosing a stamp for reply, I will cheerfully give full particulars. Or if desired, and the editor wishes it, I will answer in a general way through the Sunny South.

LATEST STYLES OF DRESSING THE HAIR.

The coiffure is at present in that delightful state of transition which forbids the making of arbitrary laws and allows a woman to dress her hair high or low, according to her caprice. The one thing requisite to stylish hair dressing is that the hair shall be loose and fluffy. The wise women barber up town with the wicked eyes and the winning dimples, says that about one woman in one hundred has the kind of hair that by careful washing will possess the requisite fluffyness, and that that one woman never likes it. The effect is usually produced with curling irons and with artificial additions of curly hair. The coils of braids so frequently seen below round hats, on the street are very often put on and taken off with the hats, for they are really becoming to few faces and more suitable for the street than for more dressy occasions, and ladies prefer to dress their hair high when it is becoming and pin on the braids at need.

The two extremes of styles are the Empire coiffure and the catogan braid. The latter style is a simple loose plait looped low in the neck and fastened with a ribbon or a single long pin of gold or silver.

The Empire headdress is mostly used with evening gowns, and has three prominent features—curls, bunch of ribbon and flowers. The hair is combed very high up on the head, and twisted in a small knot to be completely covered with short, soft curls falling toward the forehead and also toward the back. One long curl is combed out and covers the back of the head with waves, until a little way above the neck it twists into a curl again. Flowers are to be very much worn with this coiffure, and fillets of gold and silver, diadems of precious stones, or a bunch of ribbon will be also used on dressy occasions. Ultra-fashionable women adopt a style of headdress in which the hair is worn very high. The front tresses are parted in the centre to form two crimped bandeaux, over which rests the Watteau wreath, encircling the cluster of loops of hair arranged on top of the head.

There are some prophecies concerning the abandonment of bangs, but their decline will be slow, as few faces are so perfect in outline as to dispense with them. Since Mrs. Cleveland has lost the prestige of her high place the style of tossing the bangs up in front in a puff has been losing favor and is rarely seen. The short pointed or rather square bang are most in favor loosely curled, and for youthful faces the light fringe of hair upon the forehead, the rest of the wavy mass being combed straight back, is very popular.

Now that the pretty Hading has sailed away, leaving only a delicious memory of grace and loveliness, the style of coiffure she inaugurated has fallen into desuetude. This consisted in combing the loose hair over the tips of the ears and twisting it in a loose knot at the back. A woman with small, pretty ears could never be prevailed upon to hide them, and the size of large or prominent ears was emphasized and rendered yet more noticeable by that style of headdress. One of the most effective and pleasing arrangements now worn is that which is neither high nor low, but covers the back of the head with loose, soft coils and folds reaching from the crown of the head to the neck, a style affected by Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., and Miss Otis, the pretty society star actress.

Young girls will return to the old-time popular fashion of leaving the hair loose and flowing, tied back from the face with a simple ribbon and ornamented with a simple flower, which accords well with the picturesque and juvenile style of dressing now in vogue. All the styles seem to be based on Grecian ideals and picturesque models, and perhaps the greatest boon to womankind that the change will bring about is that the stylish "fluffiness" can only be effected in hair that is frequently washed, and a general cleanliness will prevail for a time.—New York Sun.

A rustic chair, bought by a citizen of York, Penn., was made of green sassafras wood, and a few warm days have caused it to put forth many sprouts, some an inch long.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

It is not selfish to be correct in your dealing.

The value of a thing depends on our use of it.

Honesty is better capital than a sharper's cunning.

A true man never frets about his place in this world.

Conscience, dead as a stone, is a heavy thing to carry.

Love cannot enter the heart without bringing with it a train of other virtues.

The innocence of the intention abates nothing of the mischief of the example.

The way to do good is to be good. There must be light, then it will shine.

The crow of conceit in man is often overcome by the cackle of importance in woman.

Ability is as worthless as hard coal when it is so deep as to be confined to its own bed.

The wise man who knows when to keep silent will alwaysy sa something when he does speak.

If there is any one thing that will discourage a man it is to try to act aristocratic naturally.

The great men of the ancients understood how to reconcile manual labor with affairs of State.

There is not a particle of "free speech" in an expression or an idea a person may be taught to utter.

A person always exposes their pretended virtue by taking offence when another differs with them.

A man will progress in proportion to his courage to seek knowledge, that can only be taught by experience.

A Spanish Bull Fight.

We arrived at Madrid on time for a bull-fight, writes Mrs. Sherwood in the New York World. The first sight of the crowded circus, the grand Coliseum, the thousands of spectators, the music, the flags, is all very inspiring. The entrance of two cavaliers on horseback with their hats and collars a la Velasquez is extremely pretty. They ride round the ring, and crying to the Governor, they demand of him the key to the cell where the bull is kept. This is sent down by a personage in gaudy attire.

Then the trumpets are sounded, and the picadores, matadores and torreadors enter, two and two, in their beautiful dresses—one of the most picturesque groups possible. Then come the mules, gayly caprisoned, who are to drag out the bulls and dead horses. The picadores, on their sorry steeds, not unlike Rosinante, are then placed at intervals along the sides, while the men advance with a moreturi te salutant air and bow to the Governor. It is all very gladiatorial, very pretty, quite touching. Then the trumpets sound and the gentleman with the key advances to the cell from which have been issuing ominous groans and bellowings. The door is opened; the man jump over the wall.

The bull enters.

A magnificent creature, fresh from Andalusian pastures, and his surprise as he stopped and looked around was most innocent and touching, and babylike. My heart was for him from the first. Then the matadores began to frighten and enrage him by throwing their red shawls at him and putting arrows in his back. Then the cruel sport of sending the picadores at him. He disemboweled the poor horses; we saw three left dead on the sand. Finally the Grand Toreador arrived, and we saw him really perform some acts of desperate courage with the crazy, enraged animal, whom he kills with his sword. By this time we were too sick and faint to move, but the populace was in raptures, ladies threw their handkerchiefs to the handsome torreador, who wrapped himself in his cloak and smoked a cigarette. Then the mules came in and dragged out the dead horses and the poor dead bull.

Then the doors opened again, and a bull so beautiful that he might be he who carried off Europa—a mouse-colored bull, perfectly full of anger and fight—was led into the arena. He was destined to be killed by Frascuelo, the darling of Madrid, the prize bull-fighter, the man who makes $60,000 a year. We did not stay to see this; we were dragged out, almost as ignominiously as the poor dead horses and bull, and some of us have been ill ever since. But if you come to Spain to see the people, the institutions, the local color, you must see a bull-fight—a horrible, brutal, cowardly business; a wretched degradation of humanity, but throwing a light on the poverty, the cruelty and the lack of civilization of a peeople who should stand at the head of European civilization, but who stand at the very foot of it, so far as the lower classes are concerned. I am very glad I shall never see another.

Camels and Turkeys of Smyrna.

At Smyrna I saw camels for the first time outside of the menagerie, writes a correspondent of the Mail and Express. They go in single file carrying burdens in bags or boxes, six or eight together, led by one driver. The ship of the desert is a venerable quadruped and his measured, leisurely, shuffling gait is in strong contrast to the rapid steam train and represents the old order of affairs which must give way to the new civilization. Time is a cheap commodity in the East. The people have a proverb that haste is of the devil, their philosophy tallying with their tastes. But the time will pass when the slow locomotion of the camel can compete with the railroads as carriers of freight for long distances, and the people will have a proverbial expression corresponding to our "slow as a stage coach." One of the odd sights on the streets of Smyrna is the turkeys. The Smyrnese drive them in flocks as we do sheep and keep them in order with long rods.

Human Leather.

An officer of the marine infantry, who commanded the penitentiary of St. Mary a la Comte, in New French Guiana, lately died of diseases contracted at that insalubrious station. The inventory of the objects he left behind him comprised a very curious cuirass, with straps and other accessories. On examination it proved to be of human skin. A convict had died whose breast was covered with extremely beautiful tattooing. The commandant of the station knew this, and had the man flayed before he was buried. For a moment it was thought that this human relic would have been put up for auction with the officer's other effects, but, fortunately, it occurred to somebody that it was rather too disgusting. It was known that the officer had worn the cuirass several times when fencing with his comrades.—Notes and Queries.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Astronomical photography is booming just now.

The annual production of chemicals in France is said to have reached the great value of $300,000,000.

A pressure of one pound per square foot is caused by a wind of a little more than seventeen miles an hour.

A mixture of finely powdered mica and crude petroleum is said to be giving remarkable results as a lubricant.

Four ten-ton converters in the Edgar Thompson Steel Works at Pittsburg, Penn., turn out nine rails per minute.

By mixing chloride of zinc with the pulp, European manufacturers are producing papers as tough as wood or leather.

In Philadelphia, in localities where the houses are scattered, the death rate from consumption is only ten per cent. In thickly settled localities it is thirty-three per cent.

A New York physician is reported as saying that during an epidemic of diphtheria in that city there were five times as many cases on the shady side of the street as on the sunny side.

A fine quality of bleached paper is now being made out of sugar cane. It is probable that sugar cane will be utilized for this purpose instead of sugar-making as the production is too large already.

The gulf stream, between the coast of Florida and the Bahama Group, has a velocity of four miles per hour and a temperature of eighty-two degrees Fahrenheit. Both decrease to the northward.

Carpets and upholstery fade when exposed to the sun because of the actinic or chemical power of the sun's rays, which decompose the dye-stuffs. The process is closely analogous to that which occurs in the taking of photographs.

Dr. John Gibson has made the important discovery that two chemically distinct kinds of sea water are present in the North Sea. One is rich in chlorine, and comes from the Atlantic to the south; the other has less chlorine and flows from the Arctic Ocean.

From 50,000 analyses in a German laboratory, it appears that fluctuations in the solids of milk depend almost entirely on variations of the fat. The evening milk is richer than that of the morning, and the November and December milk than that of other months.

A remarkable phenomenon was witnessed at Cardiff, England, lately. After a fall of rain it was noticed that the pools of water in the thoroughfares were tinged with red. The phenomenon is known as "bloody rain," and was in ancient times regarded as a sure precursor of plague.

An invention to prevent collisions at sea is being successfully tried on the Thames, London. The contrivance consists of a small iron plate at the side of the wheel. Electricity is the acting agent, and the approach of another vessel within two miles causes a bell to ring, and an indicating arrow shows the direction whence it comes.

It is proposed by a French scientist to get up a universal telegraphic language, in which often recurring words shall be designated symbolically by letters or figures which shall be the same for all languages. It is easy to see that such a plan if carried out would greatly facilitate international communication, yet it would be a task so difficult that few would care to undertake it.

A Living Corpse.

A strange and hideous monstrosity exists in Portland in the person of a six-year-old boy, the lineaments of whose features and the pallor of whose countenance have an exact similitude to those of a corpse. During a critical period previous to the child's birth his mother, receiving intelligence of the dangerous illness of her father, hurried to his bedside only to find him a corpse. The shock to her in her delicate condition was great, and when the child was born it had the mark of death on its face.

The boy though now six years old is very small and withered up and has a shrill piping voice. His nose is pinched, his eyes and cheeks sunken; on the temples and beneath the eyes the skin is discolored, while the whole countenance has the dull pallor of a corpse. The hands, feet and limbs are very small and bony. The child is bright and precocious and answers questions with an intelligence that is rather startling. However, the same pallid, set expression of countenance always greets the eye. He never smiles or changes his facial expression under any provocation. A person not acquainted with his history would suppose him to be in the last stages of some wasting disease, but the father says the boy was never unwell a day in his life.—Salem (Oregon) Statesman.

An Eel Yarn.

One of the most novel sights in the spring of the year at the rocks of the Willamette Falls is the swarms of gyrating eels. They are friskiness itself, and show a low order of intelligence. If you put your hand in the water over the eels, or spit on it, instantly they are gone. But poke a stick down among the shaky things and they will not notice it. The sense of smelling seems to be their main guard against danger. Like salmon, they do their level best to dart up the rocks in order to ascend the river, and with good success. Says a fisherman: "I have seen as many as a hundred bushels of eels hanging on the rocks at one time by the suckers of their mouths. They would wiggle and fling up their tails and by the momentum thus obtained, letting go with their suckers, jump up about six inches higher. I caught about forty barrels last season, that I salted and sold to the Columbia fishermen for bait. I picked them off the rocks with a fishhook tied to a pole. I started at the bottom row of eels and would pick off barrels of them. The upper rows hadn't sense enough to perceive the enemy. I have caught eels in the headwaters of the Santiam, in the Cascade Mountains. Suppose they had swum up the Willamette.—Salem (Oregon) Journal.

Cultivation of the Sweet Cassava.

It is predicted that the cultivation of the sweet cassava, from which is made starch, glucose and tapioca, will at no very distant date become one of the important industries of Florida. If all that is claimed by those who advocate its introduction be true, it is one of the most productive, easily cultivated, and remunerative of crops, and its cultivation will add much to the resources of the State. It is excellent for feeding stock, and it is also valuable as an addition to the list of vegetables for human food.

A CHALLENGE TO THE WORLD.

GOOD POSITIONS—GOOD SALARIES—PRACTICAL BOOK-KEEPING—LIGHTNING CALCULATIONS—FAST MONEY COUNTING.

Jennings' Business College, Nashville, Tennessee, though yet in its infancy, has on its register more than six hundred students from seventeen states and territories, 90 per cent. of these have secured good positions in localities scattered from New York to Mexico, and from Washington Territory to Florida. Many of these young men are receiving salaries from $900 to $1,500 per annum.

The students of this school are taught not only practical book-keeping and commercial usage, but are also taught to calculate interest by the shortest rule ever discovered, and by this rule many of them have been able to get the interest at 6 per cent. per annum inside of five minutes on one hundred examples of $1,000 each, the time to run in each case was years, months and days, and no two periods of time alike; this is at the rate of three seconds to the example.

The principal of this school having had experience as a bank teller, teaches his students the art of rapid money counting. The rule is to take a package amounting to $500, composed of thirty-nine bills as follows: Twenty bills in 5's, ten bills in 10's, five bills in 20's and four bills of 50's, then secretly remove one of the bills, either a five, a ten, a twenty, or a fifty, and require the student to count the package twice correctly in succession, taking the slowest time of the two counts for a record. Many of the students have accomplished this in 10 seconds, and one of them in 9½ seconds. Now, therefore, believing this time of 9½ seconds to be extraordinary, I challenge the students of any other business college in America (or out of it) to equal this time, and I challenge any bank teller in America (or out of it) to beat the time one second; I also challenge the students of any other business college, or any person who has not attended this school, to equal the time in interest calculations above mentioned. A copy of this has been mailed to the business colleges and bank tellers throughout the country.

R. W. JENNINGS,
Principal Jennings' Business College,
Nashville, Tenn.

A Long-Lived Turk.

Those who are anxious to remain in the flesh beyond the ordinary duration of this mortal life will be interested in the habits of the old Turk, who recently died at Haddatha, aged 130 years. Old Hadji Soliman Saba had seven wives, all of whom died before him, he was the father of sixty sons and nine daughters, who have also gone the way of all flesh, and the year before his death he was thinking of marrying again, but could not obtain the necessary funds to buy a bride. Saba was a farmer unto his life's end; his diet consisted mainly of barley bread, beans and water, and only twice a year in high festivals, did he eat meat. His clothes were even more simple than his diet, consisting of a shirt only, and when he traveled, a pair of trousers. His bed was a mattress and straw mat, and it had never been a "bed of sickness" till three days before his death.

At Last.

One of the oldest engineering schemes projected in the world is now gradually approaching completion, and the work will, in all probability, be finished during the present year. This is the canal through the Isthmus of Corinth, in Greece. Work was actually begun on the canal under the Emperor Nero, so that over seventeen hundred years will have passed between its beginning and its final completion. As finally excavated, the canal will be four miles long, with a depth of eight metres, or sufficient for the largest vessels which usually navigate the adjacent seas.

Value of Silk-Worms.

The value of silk-worm cocoons grown in the world annually is enormous. The last great estimate of the world's silk product it was calculated that it reached the grand total of 67,000,000 lbs., which, at an average value of about 10s. per pound, realized over fifty-three and a half millions sterling. China contributed 28,000,000 lbs., value over eighteen and a half millions; Japan to the value of £8,400,000; India, £7,000,000; Italy, £12,000,000, and France, £6,200,000.

"BEAUTIFUL LAND."—The first baby born in Oklahoma City, a wee girl, was named Oklahoma by the highest bidder at an auction for the privilege of naming the first baby born in the new territory. The auctioneer was a gambler, and the bids were offered by a company of boomers, cowboys and land speculators. $58 dollars was paid to secure to the baby her remarkable name, and the money was at once handed over to her poverty-stricken parents, who received it with tears of gratitude. The frail little visitor had already proved to be their mascotte.

Our Girls.

Kitty is witty,
Nettie is pretty,
Lottie is cute and small;
Irene is a queen,
Annette is a pet,
Nell is the belle of the ball;
Diantha is wealthy,
Bertha is healthy,
And health is the best of all.

Perfect health keeps her rosy and radiant, beautiful and blooming, sensible and sweet. It is secured by wholesome habits and the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Bertha takes it, and she also "takes the cake." The only guaranteed cure for those distressing ailments peculiar to women. Satisfaction or your money returned.

For Constipation or Sick Headache, use Dr. Pierce's Pellets; Purely Vegetable. One a dose.

The greatest of fools is he who imposes on himself, and thinks certainly he knows that which he has least studied, and of which he is most profoundly ignorant.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle.

A pocket mirror free to smokers of "Tansill's Punch" 5c. Cigar.

Vigor and Vitality

Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. That tired feeling is entirely overcome. The blood is purified, enriched and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are roused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the nerves strengthened. The whole system is built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I was all run down and unfit for business. I was induced to take a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it built me right up so that I was soon able to resume work. I recommend it to all."—D. W. Bratt, 4 Martin Street, Albany, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

BRYANT & STRATTON Business College

[illegible] LOUISVILLE [illegible]

Brown's Iron Bitters is a specific in all cases of swamp fever, intermittent fever, and malaria of any name. Low marshy ground, stagnant pools of water, decaying vegetable matter, changes of climate while suffering from general debility, all produce malaria. Brown's Iron Bitters cures all forms. Don't use quinine. It creates constipation, produces headache, and not infrequently rheumatism and neuralgia; Brown's Iron Bitters never does. It will cure them.

In all evils which admit of a remedy, impatience should be avoided, because it wastes the time we might use in removing the cause.

"Stick to your business," is very good advice, but still there are a great many people in the world who have no regular and profitable business to stick to; and there are others who are following a line of business which is manifestly unsuited to them. Now, when such is the case, you had better write to B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va., and see if they cannot give you a pointer. They have helped a great many men and women along the way to fortune, and now stand ready to assist you, too.

WHAT do you chew?
"LUCY HINTON!"
Why?
Because it is the best I can find.
Who makes it?
T. C. Williams Co., Richmond, Va.
Who sells it?
All dealers.
How can I recognize it?
The name Lucy Hinton is on every plug.

Indigestion.

A recent attack of indigestion or constipation is easily cured if the right remedy is applied, but every medicine except Hamburg Figs is so disgusting to taste or smell that a person prefers to let the disease take its course if the above laxative cannot be obtained. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

"MOTHERS' FRIEND"
MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY
SHORTENS LABOR
LESSENS PAIN
DIMINISHES DANGER TO LIFE OF MOTHER AND CHILD
BOOK "TO MOTHERS" MAILED FREE
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA GA
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER purchase one of the celebrated SMITH & WESSON arms. The finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. Manufactured in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Constructed entirely of best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock, they are unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable cast-iron imitations which are often sold for the genuine article and are not only unreliable, but dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON Revolvers are all stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents and are guaranteed perfect in every detail. Insist upon having the genuine article, and if your dealer cannot supply you an order sent to address below will receive prompt and careful attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices furnished upon application.
SMITH & WESSON,
Mention this paper. Springfield, Mass.

DUTCHER'S FLY KILLER
Makes clean sweep. Every sheet will kill a quart of flies. Stops buzzing around ears, diving at eyes, tickling your nose, skips hard words and secures peace at trifling expense. Send 25 cents for 5 sheets to F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

JONES
HE PAYS THE FREIGHT.
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Patronize HOME INDUSTRY!
BUY SOUTHERN-MADE
PRINTING INKS
—FROM—
FRANK J. COHEN, General Agent,
23 East Alabama St., ATLANTA, GA.

Plantation Engine
With Self-Contained
RETURN FLUE BOILER
FOR DRIVING
COTTON GINS and MILLS.
Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address
JAMES LEFFEL & CO.
SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,
or 110 Liberty St., New York.

After ALL others fail, consult
Dr. Lobb, 329 N. 15th St.
PHILA., PA.
Twenty years' continuous practice in the treatment and cure of the awful effects of early vice, destroying both mind and body. Medicine and treatment for one month, Five Dollars, sent securely sealed from observation to any address.
Book on Special Diseases free.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS.
Red Cross Diamond Brand.
The only reliable pill for sale. Safe, sure. Ladies, ask Druggist for the Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Send 4c. (stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by mail. Name Paper.
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

WANTED. One Agent in each County. Make $5 to $10 a Day Selling the FARMER'S GIN SHARPENER. New way of sharpening gins. Make your old gins new; keep your new gins so. No files. Anyone can use it. Commission paid agent on ALL sales in county, whether made by us or him. 200 machines in use since September. Machines and satisfaction guaranteed. Write at once to J. G. FALLS & CO., Memphis, Tenn.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU
COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors,
932 1 Street N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished.
Correspondence solicited.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D.
Atlanta, Ga. Office 65½ Whitehall St.

MUSIC—ART—ELOCUTION General Culture. Desirable Positions open to progressive students. All interested will receive valuable information Free, by addressing E. TOURJEE, Boston, Mass.

WESTERN RESERVE SEMINARY AND NORMAL COLLEGE, W. Farmington, O. [illegible] years [illegible] sexes. Seven departments. Board and Tuition [illegible] per year. REV. E. B. WEBSTER, A. M., President.

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Business Forms, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Short hand, etc., thoroughly taught by MAIL. Circulars free. Bryant's College, 457 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 FREE. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

OLD and Outlawed accounts collected in all parts of the world. Send stamp for circular, &c., to UNITED STATES COLLECTING AGENCY, New Haven, Conn.

$25 AN HOUR made by any Agent. THE DR. PERRY MEDICAL CO., Richmond, [illegible]

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. Sold by Druggists.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by druggists or sent by mail, 50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio.
I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D., Amsterdam, N. Y.
We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO., Chicago, Ill.
$1.00. Sold by Druggists.

A. R. U. [illegible]

Bitters is a specific in all cases intermittent fever and malaria.
Low marshy ground, stagnant decaying vegetable matter, mate while suffering from ... produce malaria. Brown's res all forms. Don't use qui-es constipation, produces head-infrequently rheumatism and own's Iron Bitters never does.

which admit of a remedy, impabe avoided, because it wastes night use in removing the cause.

ur business, is very good advice.
are a great many people in the ve no regular and profitable busi-and there are there who are ne of business which is manifest-to them. Now, when such is the ll better write to B. F. Johnson & nd, Va., and see if they cannot inter. They have helped a great d women along the way to for-w stand ready to assist you, too.

n chew?
NTON!"
s the best I can find.
it?
ms Co., Richmond, Va.

recognize it?
Lucy Hinton is on every plug.

Indigestion.
tack of indigestion or constipa-cured if the right remedy is ap-very medicine except Hamburg gusting to taste or smell that a s to let the disease take its course laxative cannot be obtained.
one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

"MOTHERS' FRIEND"
AKES
D BIRTH EASY
SHORTENS LABOR
NS PAIN
SHES DANGER TO LIFE OF OTHERS" MOTHER AND CHILD
D REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA GA
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

SMITH & WESSON
the cele-
TH & WESSON
finest small arms factured and the
of all experts.
in calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Sin-action, Safety Hammerless and
s. Constructed entirely of best qual-ht steel, carefully inspected for work-and stock, they are unrivaled for finish, and accuracy. Do not be deceived by able cast-iron imitations which d for the genuine article and are not able, but dangerous. The SMITH & volvers are all stamped upon the barm's name, address and dates of patents aranteed perfect in every detail. Inving the genuine article, and if your supply you an order sent to address receive prompt and careful attention.
catalogue and prices furnished upon ap-
SMITH & WESSON,
this paper. Springfield, Mass.

DUTCHER'S
FLY KILLER
Makes clean sweep. Every sheet will kill a quart of flies.
Stops buzzing around ears, diving at eyes, tickling your nose, skips hard words and secures peace at trifling expense.
Send 25 cents for 5 sheets to
F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

JONES
HE
PAYS THE FREIGHT.
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers Steel Bearings, Brass
Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

HOME
ronize INDUSTRY!
BUY SOUTHERN-MADE
INTING INKS
-FROM-
K J. COHEN, General Agent
st Alabama St., ATLANTA, GA.

Plantation Engines
With Self-Contained
RETURN FLUE BOILERS,
FOR DRIVING
COTTON GINS and MILLS.
Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address
JAMES LEFFEL & CO.,
SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,
or 110 Liberty St., New York.

. Lobb, 329 N. 15th St.
PHILA., PA.
After ALL others fail, consult years' continuous practice in the treat-nd cure of the awful effects of early estroying both mind and body. Medicine atment for one month, Five Dollars, sent sealed from observation to any address.
on Special Diseases free.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS.
Red Cross Diamond Brand.
The only reliable pill for sale. Safe and sure. Ladies, ask Druggist for the Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Send 4c.
(stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by mail. Name Paper. ster Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Philada., Pa.

NTED. One Agent in each County.
Make $5 to $10 a Day Selling
FARMER'S GIN SHARPENER.
sharpening gins. Make your old gins new;
new gins. No files. Anyone can use it. Comed agent on ALL sales in county, whether made r him. 200 machines in use since September and satisfaction guaranteed. Write at once.
J. FALLS & CO., Memphis, Tenn.

SHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU
COLE & DEBLE, Proprietors.
Street N. W. Washington, D. al information furnished.
Correspondence solicited.

PIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE.
B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D.
Atlanta, Ga. Office 66½ Whitehall St.

USIC-ART-ELOCUTION
General Culture. Desirable Positions open to progressive students. All interested will receive valuable information Free, by addressing E. TOURJEE, Boston.

STERN RESERVE SEMINARY AND NORMAL
LLEGE, W. Farmington, O. 60 years.
Seven departments. Board and Tuition
r. REV. E. B. WEBSTER, A. M., President.

OME STUDY. Book-keeping, Business Forms,
Penmanship, Arithmetic, Short hand, etc.
thoroughly taught by MAIL. Circulars free.
yant's College, 457 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free.
Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

and unclaimed accounts collected in all parts the world. Send stamp for circular, &c., to Union es COLLECTING AGENCY, New Haven, Conn.

25 AN HOUR made by our Agents.
THE DR. PERKINS
MEDICAL CO., Richmond.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
50c. E. T. Hazeltine, Warren, Pa.

Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS.
Guaranteed not to cause Stricture.
Mf'd only by the
Evans Chemical Co.
Cincinnati,
Ohio.
I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D.,
Amsterdam, N. Y.
We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO.,
Chicago, Ill.
$1.00. Sold by Druggists.

TON Business College
LOUISVILLE

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
Inch	$ 5 [illegible]	$ 7 00	$ 11 75
Inches	7 [illegible]	11 25	16 00
Inches	10 [illegible]	15 00	23 50
[illegible]	12 [illegible]	20 00	27 00
[illegible]	15 [illegible]	22 50	33 00
Column	18 [illegible]	27 00	40 00
Column	27 [illegible]	40 00	60 00
Column	[illegible]	[illegible]	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1889. NUMBER 41.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S

AS USUAL

Will Begin Bright and Early Monday Morning

-THEIR GREAT-

MIDSUMMER COST CLEARING SALE!

FIRST AVENUE, - - - - BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Everything has been arranged to make this in all probability one of the greatest sales in the history of Birmingham. Remember you will have a stock of over $100,000 to select from and these goods were purchased for for first-class class city trade and were not intended for any snide catch-penny business.

A TERIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

The Ride of Collins Gray.

incident of the flood in Massachusetts,
May 16, 1874.]

ong of a soldier riding down
he raging fight from Winchester town;
ong of a time that shook the earth
h the nation's throe at a nation's birth;
t the song of a brave man, free from fear Sheridan's self or Paul Revere; risked what they risked, free from strife its promise of glorious pay—his life!

peaceful valley has waked and stirred,
the answering echoes of life are heard;
dew still clings to the trees and grass,
the early toilers smiling pass, they glance aside at the white-walled homes,
up the valley, where merrily comes,
brook that sparkles in diamond rills
the sun comes over the Hampshire hills.

at was it that passed like an ominous breath—
a shiver of fear or a touch of death!
at was it? The valley is peaceful still,
the leaves are afire on top of the hill.
was not a sound—nor a thing of sense—a pain, like the pang of the short suspense
t thrills the being of those who see their feet the gulf of eternity!

air of the valley has felt the chill;
workers pause at the door of the mill;
housewife, keen to the shivering air, rests her foot on the cottage stair, tinctive taught by the mother-love, thinks of the sleeping ones above.
y start the listeners! Why does the course the mill stream widen? Is it a horse—k to the sound of the hoofs, they say—t gallop so wildly Williamsburg way!

! what was that, like a human shriek m the winding valley? Will nobody speak?
l nobody answer those women who cry the awful warnings thunder by?

ence come they? Listen! And now they hear sound of the galloping-horse hoofs near;
watch the trend of the vale and see rider who thunders so menacingly, h waving arms and warning scream the home-filled banks of the valley stream, draws no rain, but he shakes the street a shout and the ring of the galloping feet;
this the cry he flings to the wind:
the hills for your lives! The flood is behind!"
cries and is gone; but they know the worst—breast of the Williamsburg dam has burst!
basin that nourished their happy homes hanged to a demon—It comes! It comes!

onster in aspect, with shaggy front hattered dwellings, to take the brunt he homes they shatter—white maned and hoarse,
merciless Terror fills the course he narrow valley, and rushing raves h Death on the first of its hissing waves, cottage and street and crowded mill crumbled and crushed.

But onward still,
ront of the roaring flood is heard galloping horse and the warning word, nk God! the brave man's life is spared!
m Williamsburg town he nobly dared ace with the flood and take the road ront of the terrible swarth it mowed.
miles it thundered and cracked behind,
he looked ahead with a steadfast mind;
ey must be warned!" was all he said,
way on his terrible ride he sped.

n heroes are called for, bring the crown his Yankee rider; send him down the stream of time with the Curtius old;
deed as the Roman's was brave and bold,
the tale can as noble a thrill awake,
he offered his life for the people's sake.

—John Boyle O'Reilly.

CKSON'S LOVE TEST.

BY M. C. WILLIAMS.

His name was rightly Andrew Jack- Moore, but he outgrowed the An- 'bout the time he did petticoats, wus jest plain Jackson all up and n the Bush Creek settlement. Good in' chap, too, tall and slim, with blue eyes and curly yaller hair, an' like a gal, whenever it wasn't sunt. His pappy, ole Squire , wus richer'n cream-and-peaches. ad a big farm, money ahead, and cattle, dumb critters and sheep ye could shake a stick at. And s jest crazy for Jackson, the t chile he had, ter up and marry. he kep er silk dress and er bran- side saddle, ready and waitin', fur his daughter-that-wuz-to-be. Jackson hisself wuz nigh erbout as bad; he jest natcherly doted on the fa'ar sect, but he couldn't make ch'ice betwixt the Grady gals. There wuz three on 'em, Ellen, Anne and Maria, half sisters all. Ole Major Grady had luck at bein' er widderwer; he married four times in six years, and each of the three foremost that he lost left him a gal baby. When he up and married Louizy Stringfellow, thet had been struck by lightenin', and didn't mind it, we all knowed he had got ter the end of his row, and that his olphun family would be fetched up in proper style. Hit wuz troo there warn't no smarter ner better lookin' gals in three counties, and they'd all a-been married before you could say Jack Robinson, only the old madam wouldn't have it so. No siree er, she hadn't no notion of havin' her house turned topsy turvy with courtin' and marryin' three times, when once would do as well. So she kep Ellen and Anne in short dresses tell Maria wuz big enough ter wear long clothes, then sent 'em all out ter onct at Flat Rock quarterly meetin'. Wuth lookin' at they wuz, let me tell ye. Ellen had the whitest sort of skin, and lips like cherries. Anne wuz round and pink, and soft as a peach, and Maria wuz jest a growed-up baby, with yaller curls, and the littlest feet that ever trotted merrily.

Ole Madam had her eye on Jackson from the word go, and she managed it so that pretty soon he wuz over thar so constant that the rest er the boys narated it round that him and the Major's big hound fought o' nights as ter which should sleep on the door-mat. Ye see he'd fell in love with all three, and as Mormon docterins warn't popular thereabout, the trouble wuz ter love one well enough to do without the others. Like as not he'd a-got gray-headed studyin' over it ef it hadn't been fer Bulger, his cousin, jest fifteen, the tor-r-r-mentinest boy, but sharp as a whole patch er briars, and not mean, jest sorter mischievious like. He went ter Major Grady's too, not courtin', but jest becase it suited him.

One mornin', in the fall, as him and Jackson wuz ridin' over thar, he ups an' sez, sez ee, "Ole pard we orter have a weddin' ter Christmas, but you're sech er ole poke-easy. I'll have to fetch hit round myself."

"How?" ses Jackson.

"Ask yo gal fer you," ses Bulger.

"Findin' is before askin'. Show her ter me and I'll ask her quick enough," ses Jackson.

Bulger rid erhead whistlin' "On Jordan's Stormy Banks." That wuz Madam's favorite hymn. When he seen Jackson wuz a-laughin' he turned round, solemn as er preacher, ter say, "I reckon you wouldn't know the truth from er yaller dog ef you met it squar in the middle er the road. Why hits knowed from Dan ter Biersheby that Major Grady keeps his gun loaded, thinkin' you're erbout to slope with his fambly, fer Salt Lake City. Ef you had the spunk of er hoss-fly or er turkey-buzzard you'd go and let him know which one hit is you're arter."

"Bulger! can you keep er secret?" ses Jackson, sorter low.

"Fust rate," ses Bulger. "Fire erway, ole man."

"Well," ses Jackson, "I love the Gradys all well ernough ter marry any on 'em; the trouble is I'm afeard they keer er blamed sight more erbout whut goes erlong o' me—the farm and stock and all—than they do erbout plain Jackson. If you can help me find out erbout that you shall have the best colt in the pasture."

"Shore you don't love nary one best?"

"I love 'em all best when I'm with 'em."

"You'll marry the one that loves you best?"

"I will, if I can find out."

"That's easy as fallin' off er log."

"How?"

"Why! let's go ta'arin' up thar now like Injuns wuz after us, and you fall off yo horse and kick and howl and cavort, and I'll run in, and tell 'em you've got er fit, and I believe hydrophoby, 'cause you're always foolin' with dogs. Then the one that comes ter ye will keer erbout ye shore 'nough."

"I'll try it," ses Jackson out loud, then low ter hisself, "O, deary! s'pose Maria shouldn't come."

'Bout five minutes arterwards the Grady gals seed them two come ta'arin' up ter thar front fence, and long before thar bangs wuz outen papers, Bulger wuz lammin on the front do', and yellin' like er Camanchy Injun, "Miss Grady! Miss Grady!! O! Miss Grady!!! ole Jackson's got er fit; I blieve he's runnin' mad; come out yere all on ye and help me tote him in the house."

That raised a rumpus, shore's you're a foot high. Ole Elvy, the deaf cook, thought Jackson had religion, and she sot in ter shoutin', "glory;" ole madam went ter yowlin', "Go way with yo mad dog; go way, go way." Major Grady ketched his bad hound Romerlus by the tail and sot in ter bellerin', "Hold 'im fer yo life, Bulger, till I git this dog in the smoke-house; I wouldn't have him bit fer the best yearlin' in the county."

Romerlus wuz howlin' fer er dozen. Anne wuz boo-hooin' and Ellen screechin', "Why don't somebody vaccinate him?"

Nobody heard Maria or even saw her move, but in less'n a minit Jackson felt her little hands on his and seen her pink cheeks white as she knelt down by him, sayin', "Don't give up, Jackson, darling, while there's life there's hope."

"Now you're talkin'," ses Bulger, comin' out with er glass in his hand. "Drink this ole man and maybe you'll live till the doctor gits here."

With that he made Jackson swaller the awfullest dose—caster ile, yipercac, number six and sperets turpentine—that he'd gone and fixed up out er ole Madam's medicine closet. Jackson had ter face the music; 'twould a-gin the whole thing erway ter say he wouldn't take it, and by the time the doctor got thar he wus sick enough ter need him, and ter swa'ar he'd thrash Bulger fust thing when he got well.

He wanted ter do it the worst sort when ole Madam put the weddin' off a whole year, so as ter see whether or no he wus gwine ter run mad; but when at last he did git Maria, and found her a treasure and remembered that she faced what she thought wuz certain death for him, he got mighty fergivin', and had Bulger to come over the same as ever. Ter this day Maria thinks thar ain't nobody like the boy, but ef you don't want ter see three mad women don't ye say "Bulger" ter the rest er the Gradys.

—Drake's Magazine.

A Delicate Distinction.

Agnes (in a deeply injured tone)—I don't think you need call your sister's best friend bold, even if you don't want to marry her.

Harry—I didn't call her bold; I merely said her chin was the only retiring thing about her!—Time.

The Only Solution.

"I'm so indignant that I cannot properly express myself!" cried the speaker.

"Then put a stamp on yourself and go by mail," was the unsympathetic response.—Bazaar.

To remove paint—Sit on it.

Accurately Described.

"Now that's what I call a blow in the dark," said a Dakota man to his wife.

"What is?" she asked.

"That hurricane that came along last night."

Disinterested Division.

"Did you divide your bon-bons with your little brother, Mollie?"

"Yes, mamma; I ate the candy and gave him the mottoes. You know he is awfully fond of reading."—Time.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Tomorrow may never come to us.

Do not mistake notoriety for fame.

One fib is oft the cause of ten more.

Do not let others spend the money you earn.

Apprehension of evil is often worse than evil itself.

A false grounded hope is but a waking man's dream.

Mean fortunes and proud spirits act like fuel and fire.

Don't do work unworthy of you if you can avoid it.

Virtue and a trade are the best portions for children.

The most manifest sign of wisdom is continued cheerfulness.

Our acts make or mar us; we are the children of our own deeds.

A woman's vanity is like the immensity of space—you can scarcely comprehend it.

Man is a fool and he knows it; although he rarely has the courage or the candor to acknowledge it, even to himself.

Don't be afraid of wild boys and girls. They often grow up to be the very best of men and women. Wildness is not viciousness.

In family government let this always be remembered that no reproof or denunciation is so potent as the silent influence of good example.

There are a great many men whose only capital, on which they do sometimes a considerable business is their fine clothes and their dashing manners.

Attend to the Horses' Teeth.

Dr. J. C. Curryer thinks that dentistry, which has done so much for the human race, is especially called for in the case of horses. Often the bad state of their teeth is sufficient cause for poor condition, and more frequently, of much, but unsuspected discomfort. Here are a few specifications communicated through Farm, Stock and Home.

"Many young horses do not thrive and grow nicely because of imperfect second dentition (shedding their teeth). Middle-aged and old horses very often suffer from decayed, ulcerated, broken, or elongated teeth, and irregular wearing of them. Broken and elongated teeth prevent masticating food perfectly, and many old horses almost starve for want of food ground to suit the teeth. Other horses are unable to chew properly from their teeth wearing down on the inner portion of the upper teeth and outer portion of the lower teeth, leaving sharp spines or points of enamel on the outedge of the upper teeth to abraid and cut the cheeks, and inside the lower teeth to chafe and rake the tongue. Many horses get to pulling one rein in driving, because of the teeth cutting the cheek on the opposite side."

Any one, Dr. C. says, can examine a horse's dentine by backing him into a stall, or even against a fence, with head toward sunlight, and halter removed:

"Have an assistant stand so as to place one hand on top of the horse's neck and the other on nose, to prevent throwing the head up; place your thumb and hold it against the roof of the mouth, between the molars (grinders) and the incisors (nippers), and he will instantly open his mouth; with the other hand grasp the tongue and pull it (not hard) to one side and see just what condition the teeth are in on one side; then change hands and examine the opposite side. If there are any ulcerated or elongated teeth they should be attended to by a competent veterinary denist. If the teeth have sharp and jagged edges, they should be rounded with a rasp; but the grinding surfaces of the teeth should not be touched with a file. Rasp the upper teeth from the outside and the lower from the inside.

A Monument to Marlowe.

It is nearly 300 years since Christopher Marlowe was killed in a tavern brawl in London at the early age of 30 years, and at this late day funds have been raised in England to build a monument in his memory. There have been long periods since Marlowe's death during which he has been almost forgotten. Unluckily for his fame the dazzling luminary of Shakespeare rose, just after Marlowe's taking off, to throw into deep shadow all the products of literary genius which had preceded him. But this is above all an age of research into and appreciation of what may be called the antiquities of English literature. The old authors are emerging from their long obscurity into light. New editions of their works are being published. The names of Marlowe and Ben Jonson, of Beaumont and Fletcher, of the gentle Decker and fiery old John Webster are appearing in reviews, and are revived in the acute and profound literary criticisms of the day.

And of all the splendid group of Elizabethan dramatists, with one exception, the genius of Marlowe is the most surprising. Amid a brief life of almost constant debauchery, he produced dramas of which Shakespeare himself might not have been ashamed. He wrote at a period when the English drama was in its puniest infancy and Shakespeare had this signal advantage over Marlowe, that he had Marlowe as a prototype and model. There is no question that Shakespeare was rising into fame. Shakespeare's historical plays were suggested by Marlowe's "Edward the Second," and his Shylock bears a close family resemblance to the "Jew of Malta." It is not too much to say of Marlowe that he was the founder of the English drama. It was his fiery and impassioned genius, his "mighty line" which stirred and inspired the noble band of his immediate drama-writing successors.

It is most fitting that even so late as this the fame of Christopher Marlowe should be commemorated by monumental honors; that Englishmen should be reminded by this visible and enduring memento and wonderful brain which amid the fumes of dissipation, could evolve such splendid works of literary art as "Edward the Second," "Tamburlaine," "Doctor Faustus," and the exquisite fragment, "Hero and Leander."

—New York Press.

The Cost of a Menagerie.

This tigress in that cage, said an animal keeper to a St. Louis Globe-Democrat man, is worth $3000 spot cash, and those little cubs there are worth $500 apiece. It takes money to buy lions and tigers; most other animals are drugs in the market—elephants, camels, panthers, monkeys and animals as common as those. You can buy a whole tent full of these for a few thousand dollars. A fine hippopotamus is the most expensive animal a circus can carry around; one will cost anywhere from $5000 to $15,000, and then they are so delicate, although they don't look so, to be sure, that they are likely to die at any minute from some little ailment like a toothache or a fit of indigestion brought on by a lack of exercise. People don't come to a circus to see the animals as much as they used to, and I think it will not be long until shows will stop carrying a menagerie with them.

Discovery of a New Fuel.

What promises to be a very valuable discovery has been made by Dr. W. M. Tetts, of Estabutchie, Miss., and with Mr. C. W. Robinson, of Meridian, he is now manufacturing the product, which he calls volatile carbon. The compound is made of sawdust, fat pine or common resin and charcoal, and has the appearance of coal, though it is not so heavy. It has been tested on the Northwestern Railroad on three different coal burners, and 100 pounds of volatile carbon equaled 200 pounds of stone coal.—Times-Democrat.

Four New Stars to the Flag.

The flag of the United States is continually getting out of order. Thirteen stripes and thirty-eight stars compose the flag at the present moment, but in a few months four Territories will become States, and the flag will be wrong again. Nor is it so very easy a matter to add four stars to a constellation which is already inconveniently large. At the distance of a quarter of a mile, it is often impossible to make out that the part of the flag called the "union" is composed of stars.

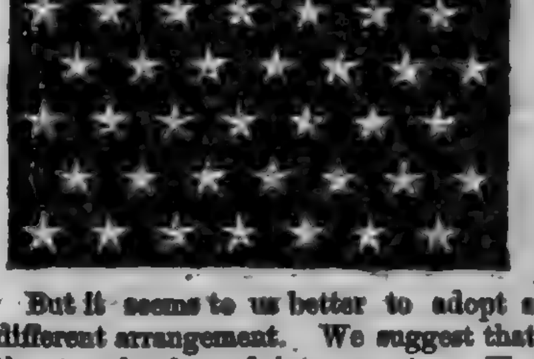
When four new ones are added, the stars will have to be still smaller, and, before many years have passed away, the number may be increased to fifty or more.

Our flag-makers are already considering how to arrange the stars in the new flag. The law leaves it to their own taste, merely saying that, on the admission of a new State to the Union, one star shall be added to the union of the flag, and this addition shall be made on the Fourth of July following such admission. As the States will not be "admitted," in a legal sense, until after the autumn elections, the flag-makers will have a full year to consider the subject.

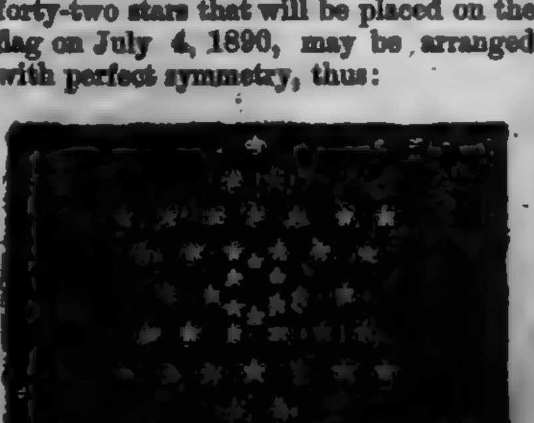
All our naval officers are of opinion that the arrangement of the flag ought to be fixed by law, not left to the fancy of individual flag-makers. Admiral Preble, author of the wonderful book on the Flag, mentions that, some years ago, a gentleman in New York, on the Fourth of July, counted nine different ways of arranging the stars on the flags flying in honor of the day, and few of them had the right number. Some flags had the stars arranged in regular rows; others had them strewn over the surface; some had them in a circle, diamond, lozenge, star or anchor; and one exhibited stars in the form of the letters U. S. Foreigners might well ask: "What is the American flag?"

If beauty and convenience were alone to be considered, nothing could surpass the old flag of thirteen stripes and thirteen stars. Yet there is something in the idea of each State being represented on the flag that is extremely captivating.

Now that the number of stars is so large that the white spots modify the blue of the union, it seems necessary to do one of two things; either to scatter the stars uniformly over the space assigned to them, or to arrange them into a figure which shall give character to the flag at a distance. Here, to illustrate the first plan, are are the forty-two stars of the coming flag arranged in six rows, of seven each.



But it seems to us better to adopt a different arrangement. We suggest that the stars be formed into one star. The forty-two stars that will be placed on the flag on July 4, 1890, may be arranged with perfect symmetry, thus:



The very idea of all the stars representing States forming one great star is agreeable to the sentiment of nationality, and the flag thus arranged would be very beautiful at a distance. If the stars are more crowded at the centre, that only gives the impression of a nucleus. In many ways this arrangement is excellent.

How shall new stars be added? There is no great difficulty about that. A forty-third star can be placed in the centre. When there are forty-four or forty-five, the inner circles may be re-arranged. It is to be hoped that the next Congress will contain some member who will make a hobby of the Flag Question, and carry through an act to supply what the lawyers would call a casus omissus.

—Youth's Companion.

The emancipation of slaves in Brazil is said to have one very curious consequence, that of exhausting the supply, and greatly raising the price of corsets. All the negro women and girls don the corset as an insignia of deliverance from bondage, although in so doing, they resign themselves to another kind of bondage.

Cost of Government.

One of the annual duties of Congress which cannot be evaded is that of making appropriations for the support of Government. When any one of the regular appropriation bills fails—excepting only that for rivers and harbors—in consequence of a disagreement between the two branches, or between Congress and the President, it becomes necessary to summon Congress in extra session in order to make the appropriations. Not a dollar of public money can be paid out until the expenditure has been authorized by law. There are some appropriations which are permanent, such as the sum, whatever it may be, needed to pay the interest on the national debt. All other appropriations must be made annually, and for the most part they can neither be drawn upon before the fiscal year begins, nor expended after the year has closed. For example: Congress neglected to make sufficient provision for the pay of the clerks in the New York Custom House, and there was no money appropriated for their salaries for the month of June last. New York bankers advanced the money on the chance of Congress appropriating money to supply this deficiency, and the clerks got their pay. The new fiscal year began with July, and the clerks receive their salaries regularly for this year.

One hundred years ago, in 1785, the United States Government had no power to lay any taxes at all, and could only obtain money by calling upon the States for it. How much did it need? The requisition for 1785 included, besides the amount necessary to pay interest on the debt, a sum of but little more than four hundred thousand dollars for all the ordinary purposes of Government. The national expenditures at present, excluding payments of principal and interest of the debt, averaged more than two hundred million dollars. Then a sum of twelve and a half cents represented the annual cost of the General Government to each person; now the corresponding sum is little less than four dollars.

Was that early government excessively niggardly, or is the system of to-day enormously extravagant that this difference exists? Neither statement is true. The government of Congress under the articles of confederation was so weak that it was hardly worthy of the name of a government. Small as was the sum asked of the States, Congress could not get even that.

No doubt some appropriations are now excessive, and a certain amount of money is wasted; but the extravagance is by no means as great as it is popularly supposed to be. It is for the most part a fiction invented for party purposes. We get much more for our money than our great-grandfathers did. To illustrate this fact: The postoffice department stands in the appropriation table for nearly fifty million dollars. How is this paid? Mostly by postage on letters and papers. The man who sent by mail two letters a month in 1785 paid as much toward the support of government as the present average cost of our National Government; that is to say, he could not have sent his twenty-four letters for less than $4. The same service now costs 48 cents.

Again, the money expended by government not only nominally but really protects our property on land and sea, at home and abroad. In the days of national poverty and weakness our sailors were liable to be impressed for service on foreign ships. Our ships engaged in peaceable commerce might be seized and condemned for fancied violations of regulations decreed by other governments. Conflicting laws of States harassed merchants in domestic trade, and prevented them from collecting debts due them. Great Britain held many forts and posts in our territory, and the red Indian was a constant enemy. So, although government seems to cost a great deal, we get our money's worth. Were the country to be allowed a chance to choose between paying 12½ cents per head for such government as that of 1785, and paying $4 for that which exists to-day, it would instantly prefer the latter. There would be no more hesitation than there would be if one were asked to make choice between going to California in an emigrant wagon drawn by oxen, and passage by railroad express train.—Youth's Companion.

THE SUMMER GIRL.

She dresses now in linen or pique,
Or muslin light or lawn;
With ribbons bright, the charming sprite,
She's fairer than the dawn.

I sometimes meet her in the lane,
Where lilacs scent the breeze—
Her lovely face, her sprightly grace,
And other [illegible]

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., AUG. 8, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

We hope to see Jemison build her cotton factory. If it ever gets in operation under good management there can be no doubt of its success.

John L. Sullivan, the prize fighter, was arrested in New York, carried to Jackson, Mississippi, and jailed. He has by this time made bond and will doubtless have a trial and a fine on hand next.

The first bale of the new crop of cotton has been received in Montgomery. It classed as low middling stained, and brought 10 cents. The Advertiser says:

The month of August but rarely sees the arrival of more than one thousand bales. The exception was in 1882, when 3,100 bales were brought in.

The business season opens with this bale, and the money which flows through the channels of commerce on account of the great staple will begin to move and the farmers will be happy for a season. Let the ball move on and joy for a season reign supreme.

The New York World prescribes the following for a person who desires to gain flesh:

But if one is distressed by excessive leanness, the observance of a few simple rules will usually correct the trouble. The rules are: Let your food be wholesome, in order that your digestion may be good; drink pure water freely; use sugar and starchy foods rather than meats; take plenty of sleep and not too much exercise of body or mind; avoid all irritability of temper, cultivate deliberation in action, and above everything else, don't worry. Thus shall you acquire as much flesh as is good for a person of your constitution.

A Glance at the Organizations Among the Farmers.

Birmingham Age-Herald.]

The history of the farmers' organizations in Alabama is a history of uniform success or of uniform failure, according to the standard chosen by which to measure them.

They have been a success in that all have done good.

They have been and are all failures in that all have and must and will fall short of what they promise.

Their essential strength is that they enlighten the people and make them naturally hopeful.

Their essential weakness is that they depend for length of days on enthusiasm.

The soldiers had hardly gotten back from the war before the farmers began to organize into neighboring clubs. The situation was new. Labor was free. Many vexed questions came up. So the farmers used to get together and talk over their difficulties, whether the rent or wage or share system was the better, and they tried for a long time to reach some concert of action for regulating labor under the new conditions. In the way of drawing the farmers together in sympathy, teaching them their mutual dependence on one another and causing the spread of new ideas with consequent enlightenment, these clubs were a conspicuous success. But as to getting everybody or many of anybody to agree and stand by some common plan of dealing with the newly freed negroes, they were conspicuous failures. In the light of his own experience and the experience of his neighbors every farmer proceeded to work his lands and his hands after the fashion that seemed best to himself.

THE GRANGE.

Away back in the seventies the price of cotton had fallen from 50 cents a pound to 30 cents, to 20 cents, to 15 cents. Under the higher prices extravagant habits had been learned. Retrenchment became necessary, loss was almost a rule and dissatisfaction became universal. The farmer's income fell first, and faster than that of the man he traded with. He couldn't force the price of cotton up, but the middle man could continue to exact the same warehouse and commission charges. There was a storm against the middle man. The grange came along and swept the country.

In addition to bringing down the middle man's charges on their products and holding a number of successful state fairs, the great grange movement is directly responsible for many laws now on the statute books. The railroad commission owes its existence absolutely to the grange movement, and so does the state agricultural department. And yet, in spite of such a record of achievement, the grange gradually fell away until it now consists of a dozen or so of subordinate granges, which last week held a state grange meeting at Clayton. It is the merest ghost of its former self.

The trouble was, the enthusiasm died out. The great promises that had aroused that blaze did not materialize into anything so tangible as actual money in pocket. The railroads kept on charging freights and the middle man would collect his tolls, and then politics crept in and going beyond its legitimate impress on legislation, it got to discriminating among individual office seekers.

THE CLUBS.

The state agricultural society was organized under the direct inspection of the agricultural department sometime about 1884, and steps were at once taken to organize neighboring clubs in all the counties. But it was a slow go. There were no grips and signals and paraphernalia—nothing to appeal to the imagination. The parent state society kept on and flourished, because it became a grand gathering when all the lesser organizations were merged into one. It is made up of representatives from them all, and moreover, it has secured a lease on life by securing an appropriation from the state to more than pay all its expenses. It rests on this appropriation bill, while the subordinate clubs, on which it first proposed to rest, being purely voluntary, have about gone to sleep with the great majority. The club system is nearer dead than the grange.

THE ALLIANCE.

Next came the alliance. It is secret and has all that brotherhood and mystery that captures the imagination and which made the granges so popular. In addition, it has a constitution and by-laws that propose to avoid the rocks on which the grange stranded. Its peculiar mission is to stand between the producer, consumer and the usurpations of capital in every form—a popular and praiseworthy work. It proposes to improve the home life, promote education, do away with middlemen, procure needed legislation, build factories. In fact, its platform is as broad as the interests of the farmer, and the farmers of Alabama have turned it to 80,000 strong. It is about to begin the work of building factories. It has already brought one trust to terms. It is in its hey-day now. Will it last? Perhaps so. Let us hope so. After all their trying the farmers will surely some day find a method of organization that will be permanent. Whenever they find one that is not founded on enthusiasm, but which brings them a tangible profit, like organizations in any other business, that one will have come to stay.

THE WHEEL.

Of the wheel little is known. It was peculiarly secret and had some socialistic proclivities that made its success among a landholding class impossible. And then it had too much to do with politics.

THE RALLYING POINT.

But whether the alliance, now supreme, has come to stay or not, organization among the farmers has. If they don't succeed at first, they will try and try again. The state agricultural department is a rallying point, and as long as the appropriation holds out the state society will keep the ball rolling.

Will you please give notice in your paper that I will conduct the Congressional Teachers' Institute in Clanton, beginning Aug. 19, and continuing one week. Please urge upon all the teachers within reach, the importance of attending the Institute.

Thanking you heartily for your kindly assistance in giving other editorial notices in your excellent paper. I remain yours, &c.,

J. A. B. Lovett.

Editor McCall, of the Calera Sentinel, says the editor of the View "has never prostituted his columns by the publication of matter that would commend it to the vitiated taste of modern newspaper readers." That is a very high compliment and one which we shall always strive to deserve. We believe our readers here at home prefer a clean paper—one in which may be found something of the good rather than a mass of the bad which the news world daily unfolds.

NEWS ITEMS.

Culled From the Bad, Bad Newspapers.

A train on a Kansas road was robbed by two men on Sunday. The robbers went through the pockets of the passengers and secured $175 in cash and two gold watches.

Mr. F. O. Sherrod, a wealthy citizen of Birmingham, who is a sufferer from mental trouble, recently escaped from the Insane Hospital at Tuskaloosa. He was captured in Birmingham, and was found to be so much improved that he was permitted to have liberty.

Mr. Julian Bingham gets Maj. Harris' place in the U. S. Land Office at Montgomery. He is a son of ex-State Treasurer, Arthur Bingham.

Nathan Alexander, a mulatto, will hereafter receive the public moneys at Montgomery.

J. F. Schillio, a Birmingham music house man has skipped, leaving bills unpaid.

Birmingham is considering the matter of electric street cars. A dangerous mode of locomotion though cheap.

Montgomery has organized a new military company. This is the seventh company in the capital city. She can have a regiment of her own after awhile.

John L. Sullivan has been sent to the county in Mississippi in which the prize fight took place, where he will be tried.

About twenty thousand negroes have gone crazy on religion in Liberty county Ga. They claim to have seen the Christ in the person of a negro preacher.

Montgomery Advertiser: Up to date the people of Alabama have been blessed in their efforts to make a crop. They have been spared great floods, ruinous droughts, the destructive rust and the consuming caterpillar. Other sections of the country have been terribly stricken, but we have been spared from great disasters. If the good fortune continues, the horn of plenty will be emptied on our people.

The Livingston Journal rises to remark: "The farmer seems to be the special object of attention by those who wish to 'air' their learning. There are few too modest to think they cannot give him valuable advice respecting his calling, and not many more not ready to pronounce him an ass if he does not adopt their suggestions. Yet the farmer continues to feed them all—just as he did before they knew so much."

The Nashville Banner says: A man named Wise, who lives on the Lebanon pike, just beyond the "Last Chance" saloon, attempted to commit suicide last night. Shortly after dark he was found in his stable hanging by the neck from a joist." Nothing remarkable in that. There are thousands of old bums in this sublunary vale of tears, who if they thought they had passed "The Last Chance" saloon, would go and do like Wise.—Birmingham News.

The same paper says in regard to the bursted trusts: The salt trust having collapsed, the poor everywhere, rejoice even as cotton planters, if they honestly stand by one another, will be happy in the reflection that they have destroyed the jute bagging swindle. But the planters and negroes should never forget that the cost to which they are subjected might have been saved if the late Republican Congress had repealed, as requested, the duty on jute bagging. But the Republican party is the party of trusts and of the government-aggrandized nobility, having neither sympathies nor interests in common with the masses of the people. Why Cuffee, born in a cotton patch, adheres to his most remorseless, rapacious and insatiable plunderers, we never could understand.

In a recent issue of the Boston Journal we find the following information: "The White Republican Protective Tariff League moves apace in Alabama and other Southern States, in spite of Bourbon efforts to discredit it by slander and misrepresentation. The leaders in the movement are too much in earnest to be frightened, and too prominent in public life to be assassinated with any safety. So we do not see what the free traders are going to do about it."

There is an old saying that you have to go away from home to hear the news. It holds good in the present case. If the White Republican Protective Tariff League is moving apace in Alabama, nobody in the State is possessed of the information. It is moving at a very slow pace if it is moving at all. No "Bourbon efforts" are needed to discredit this movement. It has discredited itself. It was hardly organized in this state when it degenerated into a scramble for office. That is what it is now.—Mobile Register.

Concerning the shooting match at Pratt Saw Mill our friends of the Jemison Gun Club are kind enough to send us a table and they say:

Mr. Editor: By the above tabulated from the report in last week's View, you will see that Mr. Harrison of the Jemison Club stands first in number of wins, and the aggregates of per cent. won by each man is as follows, viz: Foshee 70 per cent. Marcus 80, Knox 40, Harrison 150, Bivings 40, Callen 20, Williams 81 2-3, Wells 49, O. Boykin 70 2 3, Barnette 91 2-3, J. B. Boykin 30, Sampey 20, Gullahorn 10. The first of 6th match is not reported but giving it to any other man, no one will understand how your reporter gets Harrison in the 3rd grade, when he should stand at the head of the list.

We don't fully comprehend the raison d'etre of this controversy, but think that if Mr. Harrison won 150 per cent., there is no club in the country that can beat him shooting. There must be some mistake.

Gossip.

What a pity there is not a tax on words. What an income the State would get from it. But alas! talking pays no toll. And if lies paid double the government might pay off the national debt. Hearsay is half lies. A tale never loses in the telling. As a snow ball grows by rolling so does a story. They who talk much lie much. If men said what was true what a peaceable world we should see: Silence seldom makes mischief, but talking is a plague to the parish. Silence is wisdom and by this rule wise men and women are scarce. Still waters are the deepest, but the shallowest brooks brawl the most; this shows how plentiful fools must be. An open mouth shows an empty head. If the chest had gold or silver in it, it would not always stand wide open. Talking comes by nature but it needs a good deal of training to learn to be quiet, yet regard for truth should put a bit into every honest man's mouth, and a bridle upon every good woman's tongue. If we must talk, at least let us be free from slander; let us not blister our tongues with back-biting. Slander may be sport to tale bearers but it is sometimes death to those whom they abuse. We can commit murder with the tongue as well as with the hand.

Think much, but say little; be quick at work, but slow at talk; and above all ask the great Lord to set a watch over your lips.

What is the cure for gossip? Simply culture.—Selected.

That distention of the stomach which many people feel after eating, may be due to improper mastication of the food; but in most cases, it indicates a weakness of the digestive organs, the best remedy for which is one of Ayer's Pills, to be taken after dinner.

The vicissitudes of climate are trying to most constitutions, especially to people having impure blood. For all such (and they constitute the majority), the best safeguard is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the use of which cleanses the blood and strengthens and invigorates the system.

Mr. W. C. White is engineer on a boat on the Aarkansas river, and his address is Little Rock. He says that S. S. S. has relieved him of blood poison, which was the result of malaria, and that it prevents chills and fever by toning up the system. He takes it in the spring and summer months to prevent sickness from the malaria of the swamps on the river.

Mr. L. M. Geuella, of Vicksburg Miss., says that his system was poisoned with nicotine from the excessive use of tobacco in smoking cigarettes. He could not sleep his appetite was gone, and he was in a bad fix generally. He took S. S. S. which drove out the poison and made a new man of him.

Sheriff's Sale.

To satisfy a fieri facias in my hands, issued from the Chancery Court of the northeastern division of the Seventh District of Ala., against James Nix, Ezekiel Nix, Lewis Waldrap, S. E. Waldrop and Rebeca Jane Smitherman, and in favor of Jonse L. Gardner et als, I will proceed to sell on 1st Monday in September, 1889, at Courthouse door of Chilton County, Ala., between the legal hours of sale, at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following-described property, levied on as the property of the said James Nix, Ezekiel Nix, Lewis Waldrop, S. E. Waldrop and Rebeca Jane Smitherman, to-wit: The n ½ of s e ¼ of Section 28, Township 22, Range 12. The n w ¼ of Section 9, and the w ½ of the s e ¼ of Section 16 in Township 22, Range 12, all lying and being in Chilton County, State of Alabama.

LEE HAYES,
augist Sheriff Chilton County.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Clerk's office of the City Court of Birmingham, Jefferson county, Ala., in favor of Wm. P. Baird and against The Taylor Manufacturing Co., I will proceed to sell, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., between the legal hours of sale at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, September 2nd, 1889, the following described real estate, levied upon as the property of the said Taylor Manufacturing Co., to-wit: The n w ¼ of n e ¼ of Section 2, and n ½ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of n w ¼ of Section 11, all in Township 21, Range 15, and lying and being in Chilton county, Ala.

LEE HAYES,
Sheriff Chilton County.
augist

Probate Notice.

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Probate Court 10th day of July, 1889.
Estate of Frank Bandy, Hubert Bandy and Wilson Bandy, Minors.

This day came John S. Leeper as Administrator of the estate of James T. Leeper, deceased, and filed his statement, accounts, vouchers and evidences for a final settlement of the guardianship of James T. Leeper of the estate of said minors. It is ordered that the 12th day of August, 1889, be appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

H. J. CALLEN,
July 25, 1889. Judge of Probate.

Coughing

IS Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne. No other expectorant or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in ejecting the mucus, allays irritation, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none, within the range of my experience, so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted, I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and feel comparatively secure." —Mrs. L. L. Brown, Denmark, Miss.

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continual use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Horace Fairbrother, Rockingham, Vt.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN

COMPOUND OXYGEN NOT A DRUG

1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa.

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 49,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. Moore, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE

TRADE MARK

INDELIBLE INK

THE ONLY ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.

NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—

Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY.
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember

The View Job Office

When you want

First-class Job Printing done.

FOR ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

You can secure for one year the Montgomery Weekly Dispatch, the great weekly newspaper at the State capitol. It is an eight page, forty-eight column newspaper, made up from the cream of the daily, and is complete in all its departments. It has a complete telegraphic service, State, Domestic and Foreign giving news and history of events transpiring in all parts of the world, political, social and industrial.

Despising hypocrisy it never gives out an uncertain sound; its editorials are incisive, piquant, to the point and honest; and having a corps of experienced newsgatherers and newspaper men, it hopes to fill a want long felt, not only for the casual reader, but for the home circle—the fireside, where nothing but that which is chaste should ever go. Agents and correspondents wanted everywhere. Address,

R. L. Barlett,
Business Manager.

The Lawson Carpet Co.

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention of the people of Chilton county to their large and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelties.

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaranteed as low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully,

ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (Wm. Lawson.)

BAINS & PORTER.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY

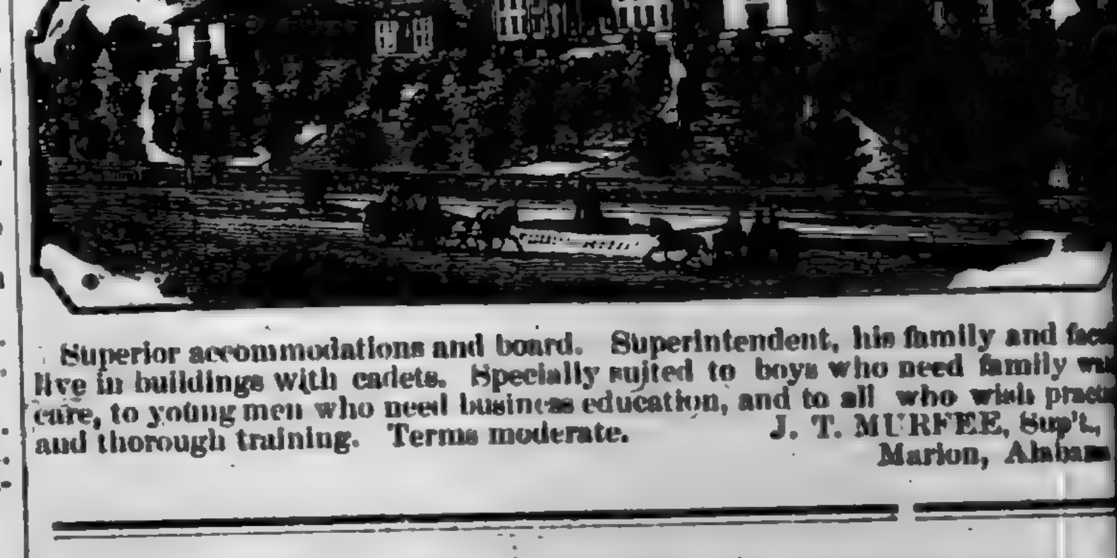
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

Marion Military Institute.



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and faculty live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need family watch-care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish practical and thorough training. Terms moderate. J. T. MURFEE, Sup't, Marion, Alabama.

THOMAS FOSHEE,

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE,)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore extended our house. Respectfully,

feb 28-y THOMAS FOSHEE

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.

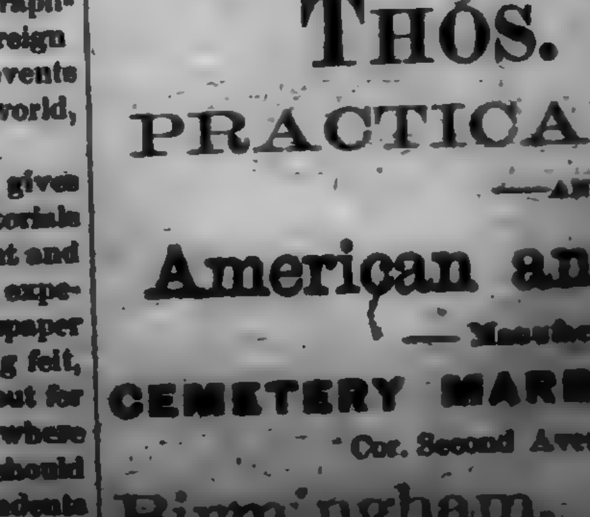
—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS,

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and dyeing done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER



WINDOW SHADES

MOULDINGS

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER HANGING.

H. M. MANCHA,

204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA.

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up. Will send samples on application.

apr 11-

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORKS.

THOS. H. HOLT,

PRACTICAL WORKMAN

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Marble

—Manufacturer of all kinds of—

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE WORK

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, Alabama.

arpet Co.
Ala.
the attention of y to their large ock of ndow Shades,
ld Novelties.
r, and prices are guaranteed as
ern markets.
all. Respectfully,
PET CO. (WM. LAWSON.)

RTER.
PEEBLES.)
UGGISTS.
Receive Prompt At-
RS A SPECIALTY
th and 20th STREETS
, Ala.
Company's Prices.
June 19 y

Institute.

ntendent, his family and faculty to boys who need family watch n, and to all who wish practic
J. T. MURFEE, Sup't.,
Marion, Alabama

OSHEE, FOSHEE,)
Groceries
CHANDISE.
Alabama.
eral patronage heretofo fully,
THOMAS FOSHEE.

D M, tgomery, Ala
ED—AILOR ROOMS,
ods. Scouring and dy
urt Street.

APER,
WINDOW SHADES,
MOULDINGS
—AND—PRACTICAL PAPER HAN NCHA, TGOMERY, ALABAMA.
from 10 cents up. Will
apr 11-y

ARBLE WORKS.
HOLT,
WORKMAN
ER IN—Italian, Marble
all kinds of —
AND STONE WO
Twenty-Fourth Street,
Alaba

U TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA

HILTON VIEW.

ANTON, ALA., AUG. 8, 1889

e View is published every Thursmorning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the wicked, the immoral or the ungodly. ... always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—On the eleventh Monday after the fourth Monday in February, and on the thirteenth Monday after the fourth Monday in August, and may continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in ...

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:08 a. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Mr. Ray has moved into town.

Mr. Johnston, of Selma, has been visiting Dr. Mathews.

Jabe Wocley of Strasburg, visited Clanton this week.

Mrs. DeJarnette and children returned home last Tuesday.

Mrs. M. K. Welch went to Jemison last Monday on business.

Paton Wilson was in Clanton the past week recuperating.

Mr. John N. Thornton visited Wayback one day last week.

Miss Bessie Ponder has returned from a pleasant visit to friends Georgia.

Mrs. John Duke and children, of Montgomery, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. W. A. Collier has returned home after attending the Bar Association meeting at Huntsville.

Capt. Miles Collier, of Memphis, Tenn., is visiting Mr. W. A. Collier and family.

Rev. J. P. Sanders delivered an able sermon on last Sunday on dancing.

The Methodist parsonage is now well under-way and will be pushed to completion without delay.

Mr. J. M. Ponder, of Clanton, is shipping LeConte pears to Chicago. He has raised a bountiful supply.

On Friday night a party of young people spent the evening at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart and family have returned from their visit to South Pittsburg Tenn.

Mr. F. R. McCary, of Coopers, came up with a number of others to attend the funeral of Mr. J. W. Gullahorn.

Mr. Isiaah Gullahorn, of Maplesville, came to attend the burial services of his brother, Mr. J. W. Gullahorn.

Dr. A. E. Bivings' baby was burnt very badly last Monday by upsetting a vessel of soup and scalding its hand.

Mr. Eddie Harris, one of the most successful farmers of Montgomery county, is spending some time with the family of Mr. F. L. Ashly.

Mr. J. M. Parish has been raising German millet the past year for his stock. He brings a beautiful specimen to us. This is a crop that ought to be more generally cultivated.

We paid a visit to Columbiana last Thursday. The place shows considerable growth since we last visited it. We were pleased to note the prosperity of the Chronicle which is conducted by Mr. C. C. DuBose, an experienced and capable editor.

Special Notice.

For the next few weeks I will sell Shoes, Clothing, and Hats at special prices to reduce my stock before buying for the Fall trade. If you need anything in these lines come at once and buy it cheap. The cash will get them down to bottom prices.

W. L. FAMPEY.

Master Hill Foshee, of Maplesville, visited the family of Mr. W. H. Foshee last week.

Miss Gamma Midleton is on a visit to friends in Tuskegee. We wish her a pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brown, of Birmingham, are visiting friends and relatives in Clanton.

Mrs. Wright and daughter, Miss Mattie, have returned home after several days' absence visiting friends in Columbus Ga.

Our handsome, energetic and talented devil "spread himself" on locals and watermelons last week, and deserves due credit for his success in each line.

Messrs. Brittle and Long came down to take a hunt with members of the Clanton gun club on Thursday. The rain drove the hunters back to town.

Prof. A. J. Scott, who has been traveling around canvassing for his school during vacation, has returned to Clanton to take charge of the Clanton High School the first of September.

Our community was much saddened by the death of Mr. John W. Gullahorn, Sr. Mr. Gullahorn was a liberal and a public spirited citizen. He was about forty-six years of age. He leaves a wife and five children. He died Monday afternoon of heart disease, and the remains were interred the following afternoon at the Clanton cemetery.

In passing through Calera recently, we found that pleasant gentleman, Mr. W. C, Copes, still holding forth in the Sentinel office. The genial and kindly editor, Mr. McCall, was absent, and he was met later at Shelby Springs. An energetic Clanton boy is still at Calera. Glaucus Evans holds the responsible position of ticket agent for the two railroads.

We have received a neatly printed catalogue, of the Marion Military Institute. We notice from its pages that our worthy young townsman, Lucien Day, won first honors in all of his studies and among 115 students only two were mentioned for special excellence in book keeping, and Lucien was the first of these two. These were honors worthily bestowed, and they bespeak for our young friend a useful career.

Wedding at Stanton.

On Thursday, the 1st inst., Mr. Richard Coe, of Stanton, this county, was married to Mrs. Mary M. Stewart, of Cross Plains, Alabama, Rev. I. T. Smith, of Talladega, officiating. Mr. Coe is a partner in the Gregory-Coe lumber company, of Stanton, and the bride is pronounced by all who know her, to be a most lovely woman.

After the ceremony the couple took a train immediately for an extended northern tour. We wish them good luck and a happy life.

A Good Farmer.

Mr. J. M. Ponder has a fine farm at Clanton, and it is probably the best farm on the S. & N. railroad. This year he has sixty acres in cotton, which yields a bale of cotton to the acre. He has 30 acres in corn, and raises all the corn he needs. Of small crops he has several acres in sweet potatoes and Spanish goober peas. This year has been a prolific fruit year, and his fruit crop is worth $700 or $800. With one quarter of an acre in LeConte pears, he will realize sixty bushels of pears worth $60. This fruit sells well. His market at present is Chicago. At this rate one acre in LeConte pears would bring in $240 and no cultivation needed. Compare this with cotton. In addition his farm has yielded between 300 and 400 bushels of peaches and apples. It cannot be denied that this part of Alabama is a productive country.

A couple were over taken by a cat on their return from the party last Friday night. The cat insisted on following, but like all "third parties," it was not wanted. The young man exclaimed "I'll kill it," so he struck at it with his cane, when it suddenly disappeared; but much to their displeasure, only for a short while. When the house was reached, there was the cat, the young man asked the young lady to please hold it until he was out of sight. After obeying his command she entered the hall, closed the door very hurriedly, left the cat on the outside; she then went to her room, was there alone, meditating over what "he" had said, when Oh, horrors! the cat appeared. She grabbed it instantly, and the last she saw of "that cat" it was going out the window. But the young lady has heard it was a sign of "good luck" to be followed by a cat.

Death of John W. Gullahorn.

Mr. John W. Gullahorn, died at his home in Clanton on the 5th inst., at the age of 46 years. In the death of Mr. Gullahorn, our town has lost one of its most substantial citizens, and the business community an enterprising and progressive member. He was a native of Alabama, and during the late war served faithfully in the Confederate army. At its close, in partnership with his brother, he engaged in mercantile pursuits, and from a small beginning, by industry and pluck, rose to be one of the most prominent lumber manufacturers of the state.

Mr. Gullahorn was noted for his kindness of heart, and his careful consideration for the rights and feelings of others. He was > "The tender father, and the generous friend."

We tender our sympathies to the stricken family.

County Court.

At the county court on Monday, Judge Callen presiding, the following cases were tried and disposed of:

State vs. Henry Dupree, assault and battery. Guilty. Fined $1 and costs.

State vs. Briant, colored, petty larceny. Not guilty.

State vs. J. M. Dawson, public drunkenness Guilty and fined $5 and costs.

State vs. Rant Headley, cruelty to animals—two cases. Not guilty in first and guilty in second case, in which last case an appeal was taken to the circuit court.

To The Teachers.

A Teachers' Institute, for the Fifth Congressional District, will be held at Clanton, beginning August 19th. Every teacher is invited and expected to attend.

Respectfully,
R. E. R. HICKS,

Mr. W. F. Midleton Esq., who has recently taken courses of lectures at Louisville, Ky., yesterday passed a successful medical examination and will hereafter be known as Dr. Midleton, with headquarters at Dr. Sloan's. The young Doctor is a man of worth and talent and we predict for him a brilliant future.—Corsicana (Tex.) Courier.

Mr. G. W. Marcus and family have been visiting the Yellow Leaf neighborhood, their old home.

Plantersville Locals.

Your correspondent hasn't been to Stanton for over a week, but he learns that Mr. Richard Coe of the firm of Gregory-Coe Lumber Company was married on Thursday last to Mrs. Maggie Stewart and left for the North and East where they will take in the large cities of those sections.

There has been rain in this neighborhood daily for nearly two weeks, and as the fodder pulling time is approaching the farmers would like to see less rain and more sunshine.

The farmers out here are solid for cotton bagging. The peach and apple crop is immense. Why don't some one in Chilton county start a cannery, there is a fortune in it.

Mrs. J. A. Harwood is visiting her daughter in Eufaula and therefore your correspondent feels sad and lonely today although there is a crowd around, his heart is far, far away. Havn't you felt lonely on the streets of a large city?

We are glad to know that the Teachers District Institute will be held in your town. Surely Clanton is an enterprising and hospitable place and our young brother A. J. Scott a team in himself. We would like to have an Institute at Stanton this Summer, but our people are a migratory class and many of whom leave every Summer to return in the fall.

I have used S. S. S. for debility resulting from chills and fever, and have found it to be the best tonic and appetizer that I ever took. It also prevented the return of the chills.

A. J. ANYLIN, Eureka Springs, Ark.

Dick Hornbooker is a respected and well-to-do colored citizen of Springfield, Mo. He says that one bottle of Swift's Specific cured both himself and wife of troublesome eruption of the skin.

Barber Shop.

Mr. H. A. Logan, who has his barber shop in the Farmer's Alliance Building, solicits the patronage of the good people of Clanton. He does good work and is well fixed up for the business.

State Normal College,
FLORENCE, ALA.
JAS. K. POWERS, A. M. President.

THE COURSE OF STUDY embraces all the branches required in the public schools of the State.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE of teaching receive careful attention throughout the course.

DRAWING, VOCAL MUSIC AND CALISTHENICS are taught. No teacher is thoroughly equipped for his work without training in these branches.

STATE CERTIFICATES are granted to graduates, entitling them to teach in any public school in Alabama, without further examination.

TUITION IS FREE

to teachers and those preparing to teach and good board costs only ten to fourteen dollars a month.

Fall Term Opens Sept. 17, 1889.

For catalogue or further information, apply to the President.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.,
Prop., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

BUSINESS LOCAL NOTICES.

Insure in the Commercial Fire Insurance Co. of Montgomery.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The VIEW job office is prepared to do all kind of job work at short notice. Let us know what you want and we will give you extra low figures.

HELP
FOR THE SUFFERING.

How often a home is made sad by the suffering of some member of the family. How keenly the good wife sympathizes with her invalid husband, how greatly the kind husband hopes for his sick wife's recovery. Blessed be the men that furnish sick and aching humanity with a remedy that brings sure relief.

Isaac H. Oxlaw, Mt. Olive, N. C. writes: "I was troubled with skin disease and was broken out in running sores. I had been afflicted for ten years SKIN DISEASES and usually got worse in hot months. Eight months ago I got a bottle B. B. B. at John R. Smith's drug store at Mt. Olive, and it has entirely cured me, and I have had no symptoms of the disease since."

Kennesaw, Ga., Sept. 11, 1887.

Blood Balm Company. My Dear Sirs: I take great pleasure in acknowledging the great benefit my wife has derived from your great and wonderful medicine, B. B. B. For two years she was a great suffer from Scrofula or some blood disease which had lain dormant all her life; we had attention SCROFULA from some of the most skillful physicians in the country but all to no effect until we had all despaired of her recovering. Her mouth was a solid ulcer and for two months or more her body was broken out with sores until she lost a beautiful head of hair, also her eye-lashes and eye-brows. In fact she seemed to be a complete wreck. Now comes the great secret which I want all the world to know, and that is that three bottles of Blood Balm medicine has done the work, which would sound incredible to any one who did not know it to be so. To day my wife is perfectly healthy and clear from any scrofulous taint, and she now has a three months old babe also perfectly healthy. Very Respectfully,

H. L. CASSIDY.

☞ If the reader will send to the Blood Balm Co Atlanta, Ga., for their illustrated "Book of Wonders," it will prove of further interest. (1)

[sep27 cw 1y]

NOTICE NO. 8941.

Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., July 24, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on September 7, 1889, viz: William H. Mills, homestead No. 15149 for the n w ¼ of n e ¼, the n ½ of n w ¼ and s w ¼ of n w ¼, sec 14 t 20, north, r 13 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James T. Chambers, Henry A. Sewell, John Hamilton, and Thomas Anderson, all of Kincheon, Ala.

jul25* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8907.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, Montgomery, Ala., July 10, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on August 17, 1889, viz: John D. B. McDuffie, Homestead 14772 for the n ½ of s e ¼ and e ½ of s w ¼ sec 15 t 20 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Elizabeth Gordon and Frederick G. Gordon, of Mountain Creek, Ala., Noah Duffee and Mayberry Cooper, of Verbena, Ala.

july11o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8988.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., August 6, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the Circuit Court, Clanton, Ala., on September 14th, 1889, viz: Abner C. Poole, Homestead 15360 for the n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 32, township 21 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: William I. Mullins, Robert S. Owen, James Owen, and John W. Scott, all of Kincheon, Ala.

aug8o J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 8989.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on September 14th, 1889, viz: Ely Garner, widow of Dick Garner, deceased, Homestead 9816 for the n e ¼ of n w ¼ of sec 2, township 21 north range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: Henry Young, Ben Talley, Noah Coleman, Aaron Talley, all of Maplesville, Ala.

aug 8* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

Bring your job printing to this office.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper.

A. E. BIVINGS,
—DEALER IN—
DRUGS, AND Medicines,
FAMILY Groceries, ETC.
Clanton, Alabama.

I can furnish you anything you may wish in the way of DRUGS AND MEDICINES. I also handle THE BEST GROCERIES TO BE HAD, and you will find my prices to suit the times. [mar29]

BUY YOUR PIANOS and ORGANS
—FROM—
GRAMBS & BUCHANAN,
—2107 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

THE VERY LOWEST CASH PRICES, or on easy installments. Sohmer, Cranich & Bach, Gabler, Wheelock and Newby & Evans Pianos, and the world renowned Wilcox & White organs. Mail orders for sheet music or musical merchandise given prompt attention.

☞ Write for Catalogue. ☜ jul18

When ordering please state in what paper you saw our advertisement.

CRELLIN & NALLS,
BOILER MAKERS

Copper and Sheet Iron Workers
Chimneys, Tanks, and Repairing of All Kinds.
Saw Mill Work a Specialty.
☞ AVENUE C AND TWENTY-SECOND STREET, SOUTHSIDE, ☜
Birmingham, Ala.
mar21 y

I. N. LANGSTON,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries, Family Supplies, &c.
(Contractor for Cross Ties for the L. & N. R. R.)
—JEMISON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.—

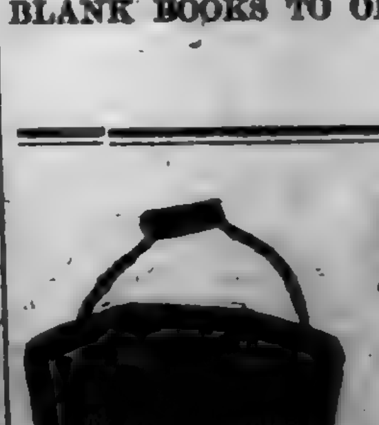
I have been out of business for the past year, but I am now before the public with a full and Complete Line of Goods for the General Trade. I invite the Farmers of Chilton county as well as my old customers, to give me a call and examine my stock. I will please you every time both in quality of goods and low prices.

☞ Highest market price paid for Cross Ties, Cotton and Country Produce.
oct 18-y I. N. LANGSTON.

MONTGOMERY IRON WORKS.
MACHINISTS & FOUNDERS
Dealers in Fittings, Supplies and Machinery
OF ALL KINDS.
MAKERS OF ENGINES, CANE MILLS, COTTON SEED CRUSHERS, SAW MILLS, LIVE ROLLS, LOG HAULUPS, &c.
☞ ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO WANTS OF SAW MILL MEN ☜
nov 8-y

INSURE WITH
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company,
Montgomery, Alabama.
Capital $100,000. Surplus $146,578.
Directors:—P. J. Anderson, C. A. Lanier, H. C. Tompkins, A. M. Kennedy, M. P. LeGrand, S. C. Marks, J. H. Clisby, C. W. Buckley, Frank Duncan.
W. H. Lawrence, Agt., Clanton.

Roberts & Son,
Steam Printers and Binders,
1918 FIRST AVENUE, BET. 19th & 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
BLANK BOOKS TO ORDER. WORK PROMPTLY DELIVERED.
dec5 ay



INDURATED FIBRE WARE.
ABSOLUTELY ONE PIECE!
HAS NO HOOPS!
NEITHER PAINTED OR VARNISHED!
NOT AFFECTED BY HOT WATER!
HAS APPEARANCE OF POLISHED MAHOGANY.
PAILS, TUBS, BASINS, PANS, KEELERS, SPITTOONS, SLOP-JARS, WATER-COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, &c., &c.
LARGE VARIETY OF GOODS.
CORDLEY & HAYES, New York, Sole Agents.
FOR SALE BY ALL ... HARDWARE, GROCERY AND CROCKERY DEALERS ... AND CATALOGUE FREE ON APPLICATION.
Apr25-6

A. M. RAMBO,
DENTIST,
VERBENA, ALA.
Will respond to calls along railroad between Calera and Deatsville.
[ma15 y]

Money to Loan.
Loans can be negotiated on first mortgage security on improved farming lands. Call on or address
R. M. WILLIAMSON,
ST. CLAIR THORNTON,
jun27 Clanton, Ala.

S. P. TRESSLAR,
Photographer,
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials.
Portraits in Crayon, Pastile, India Ink and Water Colors.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
Always glad to have you call at the gallery, and examine specimens of the work on exhibition.
[jan21-tf]

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

Insure
Your Property
against Fire.
The Commercial Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery, has a record for reliability unsurpassed.
Insure through the Local Agency at Clanton, and save expense.

HERBINE
After ten years exclusive sale, can now be obtained of all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. It CURES—take notice—not simply helps, but CURES LIVER COMPLAINT, Biliousness and Dyspepsia.
Is a strictly vegetable preparation and will CURE MALARIA, and all MALARIAL troubles.
Dr. S. H. Wise, of Boston, Ky says: "Have practiced medicine 15 years, and find no equal to HERBINE as a Liver Regulator."
Dr. W. A. Baker, of Madison, Fla., says: "A bottle of HERBINE is worth more than $5.00 worth of Quinine in any family"
Acting on the Liver in a different way from any other medicine; it is a positive cure for Chronic Constipation and is cheaper than ...
Its peculiar composition is such, that we guarantee to cure any case of Chills and Fever or Bilious Fever with one bottle.
It costs but 75 cents and each bottle contains over 40 average doses, making the cost less than two cents a dose. Would you ask for cheaper medicine? It is not a cure-all. But will cure any Liver, Bilious or Malarial Complaint. Manufactured by
The Herbine Co.,
(Successors to Wm. Condell,) St. Louis, Mo.
mar 14-y

PISO'S CURE FOR
TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
Piso's Cure for Consumption is also the best Cough Medicine. If you have a Cough without disease of the Lungs, a few doses are all you need. But if you neglect this easy means of safety, the slight Cough may become a serious matter, and several bottles will be required.
CONSUMPTION
PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH gives immediate relief. Catarrhal virus is soon expelled from the system, and the diseased action of the mucous membrane is replaced by healthy secretions.
The dose is small. One package contains a sufficient quantity for a long treatment.
CATARRH
A Cold in the Head is relieved by an application of Piso's remedy for Catarrh. The comfort to be got from it in this way is worth many times its cost.
Easy and pleasant to use.
Price, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
E. T. HAZELTINE, Warren, Pa.
nov22-y

ALLEGER'S
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!
FROM $85. to $58.
This Elegant Parlor Organ style 70 containing 5 octaves, 4 sets of reeds, 10 stops, 2 knee swells, Stool and Book free. For only $58.00. With right and left couplers. "Warranted for 6 years."
It is only necessary to send references as to your responsibility from any banker, postmaster, merchant or express agent and the Organ will be shipped promptly on ten days' test trial.
Circular free to all.
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, Warren County, New Jersey

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

PICNIC COURTSHIP.

When summer fair her charms displays
And wild flowers gem the leas,
And musical are woodland ways
With song birds' melodies;

The gentle maid, in white arrayed,
Then to the picnic hies,
And helps to make the lemonade
And carve the custard pies.

She walks with John o'er mead and lea
And plucks the daisies white,
And hears his vows of love, and she Returns engaged at night.
—Boston Courier.

GIRLS' BIRTHDAYS.

An old astrological prediction gives the character of a girl according to the month she is born in, as follows:

If a girl is born in January, she will be a prudent housewife, given to melancholy, but good tempered and fond of fine clothes.

If in February, an affectionate wife and tender mother, and devoted to dress.

If in March, a frivolous chatterbox, somewhat given to quarrelling, and a connoisseur in gowns and bonnets.

If in April, inconstant, not very intelligent, but likely to be good looking and studious of fashion plates.

If in May, handsome, amiable, and given to style in dress.

If in June, impetuous, will marry early, be frivolous, and like dressy clothes.

If in July, possibly handsome, but with a sulky temper and a penchant for gay attire.

If in August, amiable and practical, likely to marry rich and to dress strikingly.

If in September, discreet, affable, much liked, and a fashionable dresser.

If in October, pretty and coquettish, and devoted to attractive garniture.

If in November, liberal, kind, of a mild disposition, and an admirer of stylish dress.

If in December, well proportioned, fond of novelty and extravagant, and a student of dress effects.—Harper's Magazine.

A MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION ROOM.

Here is a description of Mrs. William B. Astor's reception room in New York, "the wide window of which," says the writer, "is cased in ebony wood and smothered in hangings of turquoise blue silk and indigo-tinted lace. The walls are hung in turquoise silk, with a decorative dado and a canvas-painted ceiling, and the ebony finish of the woodwork is as beautifully polished as a piece of onyx. In the centre of the parquetry floor is an odd design of small Persian rugs, inlaid as it were in a field of garnet terry. Precious rugs drape the small divans, and superb specimens of needle paintings are shown in the chair coverings. The most attractive article of furniture is a small upright piano of light mahogany, beautifully embellished with panels of carved silver, symbolic of music and song.

"Figures of cupids and busts of children fill the corners of the room with beauty, and as the visitor enters, she passes under the glossy green branches of a small palm tree that stands on a pedestal of polished green marble. All the ornaments are of Dresden china, and the fantastic beauty and grace of the figures, the variety of design and brilliancy of color produce an effect both novel and agreeable. On the walls hang brackets, baskets and pockets of the flowery porcelain, and about the metal cabinet, along the edges of small stands and fairly crowding the piano shelf, are shepherds and shepherdesses, troubadours, peasant girls and court figures, no two alike, and each outrivaling the other in gayety and color. Another feature of this room is the splendid army of artificial flowers, a variety of decoration, by the way, that Mrs. Astor is very fond of.

"Violets, lilies, lilacs, feverfews, hyacinths, buttercups and little wildernesses of field flowers are knotted together in clustering bouquets and freight the wheelbarrows, vases and jardinieres of Dresden china, while in the slender forms of crystal and jeweled wares are roses, asters, japonicas and magnolias of such a remarkable composition as to challenge detection in a flower show without the assistance of touch or smell. The linen blossoms were brought from France last summer, and the sum paid for them would have procured a very nice supply of cut flowers for an entire season. All the hangings about the room are made of rich blue silk canvas, handsomely worked in silver threads. The family crest, done on a field of scarlet and white in silk, silver and gold, and mounted in banner form, is the glory of an east corner.

FASHION NOTES.

The skirts of tulle dresses are made in fan plaits.

Black velvet ribbons, in all widths, are much used to trim gowns of all colors.

Black India silks, with floral patterns in rose color or bright yellow, are in high favor.

The low toque without strings is the favorite for morning and general wear in the city.

Surah and India silks are combined with sateens, ginghams and other fine cottons.

A French waist has the neck cut a little low and in square tabs, which lie over frills of lace.

Many bonnets are worn without strings and there is thus an opportunity of showing scarfs and cravats.

Metal belts, gold and silver not excluded, are among the pleasing novelties of the present moment.

Large flowers are used for flower bonnets, and so few that the elaborate hairdressing is not concealed by them.

Some of the new silken hosiery is rather pronounced in color. Black and dark-brown stockings lead, however.

The fashionable gowns of this season are either extremely simple or very elaborate. There is no middle course.

Bonnets of colored tulle are lightly puffed on gilded wires, and trimmed with flowers held by small bows of black velvet ribbon.

In spite of the fiat of fashion that only puffy sleeves are permissible many women who have plump, pretty, arms cling to the tight sleeve.

Insertions of black Chantilly lace, two or three rows, are used to trim the draperies of fine woolens in both pale and bright colors.

For evening wear toilets are made up in combinations of velvet and almost any other material. In fact, velvet is a feature of the evening dress.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Mockery never degrades the just.

One fib is oft the cause of ten more.

The poorest are the most charitable.

Let none wish for unearned gold or honor.

Let nothing be undone which ought to be done.

Small profits, little risk; large profits, great risk.

Do not be benevolent with other people's money.

Better to die at the post of duty than to live elsewhere.

Employ no one to do what you can easily do yourself.

Whatever power there may be superior to nature it is safe to say if man would prosper he had better be obedient to her laws.

We often hear the phrase: "Put not your trust in princes!" quoted from the Bible, but the rest of the verse, "for they are men," is overlooked.

To be the friend of a sovereign you must be without passion, without ambition, without egotism, clear sighted and far sighted; in short, not a man.

A person who is satisfied to appear great can accomplish it by imitating another who is really great, from the courage to act independent and enjoy a conscious self respect.

Information is but the pretence of knowledge, for it may convey deception and untruth, while to know is only possible by the sense of experience, which is never untruthful.

Clam-Fishing With Bare Toes.

Judged by the quantities of Little Neck clams that are sold in New York restaurants and fish markets and are shipped to Western cities, that little part of Long Island must have the most prolific shell-fish beds in the wide world in proportion to its size. The truth is, however, that more "Little Neck" clams come from Sandy Hook Bay and the Shrewsbury River than from the whole of Long Island. In fact, the Sandy Hook clam "chuggers" extenuate their deception of a confiding public by urging that while "Little Neck" has the name, after all Shrewsbury has the flavor, and the people who are deceived into buying Sandy Hookers for Little Necks really get a better bivalve for their money.

These clam "chuggers," as the fishermen are called, form little colonies by themselves, at least during the summer months, and the men, women and children join in the industry. Most of the clams are taken at low tide with hand-rakes and dredges, but the industry is pursued so laboriously, and the remuneration is so low, that little vestige of sport remains about it. The farmers are the people who make merry over it, however. Almost any fine day a picnic party of farmers, with their wives and sons and daughters, may be seen winding down to the beach in their wagons for a day's sport. The horses are tied to the wagon-boxes, plentifully provided with hay and oats, and the men and women divide into separate parties and seek shelter to dress for the fun. The men soon appear in old shirts and trousers; the women in old gowns. All are barefooted. The only implements provided are two or three tubs, no tongs, pitchforks or rakes. Laughing and shouting they run down to the beach where the tide has gone out, and are soon wading around in the water, dragging the tubs after them.

The clams are waiting for them, nestled in the mud, and the waders feel for them with their bare toes. Many a squeal goes up from the women and girls who are not used to the sport, before they can withstand the ticklish feeling of grasping a cold clam-shell between the toes and lifting him to the surface; but the practised ones quickly detect the clams from gravel, empty shells or sea weed, and bring them up with a quick jerk and a kick, within reach of the hand, when they are tossed into the tubs. If the water is deep, and it often is up to the chin of the waders, it takes some expertness to bring the clam up without having to go right under water for him, head and all, but the older hands do it readily, and the girls push the tubs about within reach of the best fishermen and make up for their lack of skill by unlimited laughter, splashing and fun. This is called treading for clams.

When the tide gets too high all hands seek the shore. Dry clothes are the next thing on the programme, and then an old wagon-wheel tire is brought out from somewhere and laid on the ground. Inside this the clams are packed, hinges up, and a light fire of brushwood and dried seaweed is made on top of them. Meantime the girls have brought out the luncheon baskets, with pickles, sauces and good hard cider. In fifteen minutes the hot coals are swept off the clamshells, which are now all open and gasping for air, their steaming, luscious contents are quickly put on plates, and the whole party enjoys a clam-feast in its perfection.—New York Tribune.

Waited Ten Years to Marry.

Martin George and Caroline Jenkyn were schoolmates in the old town of St. Ives, Cornwall, England, twenty years ago, and became engaged, but neither had money. Martin decided to come to America to seek his fortune, and Caroline said she would wait. That was ten years ago. Martin was a miner in Cornwall, and he went directly to the mining regions in California. He worked hard, saved his money and at last settled down in San Francisco as a broker in mining stocks, and found himself rich enough to marry. Mr. George arrived in New York a few weeks ago by previous arrangement and waited impatiently for his bride, who was expected to arrive on the Cunarder Gallia. Miss Jenkyn came to New York in charge of First Officer John Stevens, who had known her family for many years. When she arrived a tall young man about thirty years of age, in a fashionable cutaway coat and silk hat, was down on the Cunard pier. He was the first to rush up the gangway, and in the cabin there was an affectionate meeting between the bride and 'groom, who had not seen each other for ten years. There was no need for delay about the wedding, because George had engaged Rev. Mr. McAnney a week before to perform the ceremony, and the bride and groom, with Officer Stevens, were driven in a carriage to the minister's residence. Mr. McAnney and his wife were just going out for the evening, but it didn't take more than a minute or two to tie the knot. The bride was married in her traveling costume. She is twenty-eight years old and the bridegroom is thirty. Mrs. McAnney and Officer Stevens were witnesses to the marriage.—Chicago Herald.

The picnic belle should wear ringlets.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

THE GAPES—HOW TO CURE.

When a large number of chicks have gapes it is a difficult task to handle each one seperately so as to force a feather tip, or horse hair, into the windpipe in order to pull out the thread-like gape worms, though such is the usual practice, as cures are not always reliable without physical aid. The best remedy is to give each chick a drop of spirits of turpentine on a bread crumb. If the chicks are numerous, mix a teaspoonful of spirits turpentine with a quart of corn meal, make into a stiff dough and feed it to the chicks. A wholesale method of curing gapes is to put the chicks in a box with a wire partition; on one side of the partition the chicks are to be placed, and on the other side of the wire a hot brick or stone. Pour a little carbolic acid on the hot brick, shut the lid of the box and compel the chicks to breathe the fumes of the carbolic acid. It will cure the gapes at once, but care must be taken not to suffocate the chicks. This remedy is also excellent for roup, or where adult fowls are suffocating with the well known difficult breathing. Once or twice at practice will enable you to handle the chicks just as it should be. To prevent gapes, keep the chicks on clean, board floors.—Farm and Fireside.

EFFECT OF HORN CUTTING.

What effect has the growth of a horn upon an animal, and what would be the results of its removal? This question has come up in regard to the now prevalent practice of dishorning cows and other cattle, and it is thought by some persons concerned, that cows may be injured as milkers and bulls as stock getters by the operation. This matter—strangely enough, it seems—has occupied so much attention that Professor Law, the Veterinary Professor of Cornell University, has been called upon to give an opinion upon it, which he does by saying that the loss of the horn can have no affect upon the ability of a cow to give milk, or upon the quality of the milk. The opinion cannot be questioned. Any reasonable person could scarcely ask for it. A horn is made up of hair closely aggregated in a solid but fibrous substance. It grows from the skin as hair does, and if the cutting off of a horn should affect the milking of a cow the clipping of the switch from the end of her tail should do the same. On the contrary the removal of the cow's horns has largely increased the product of milk and butter, because it has given the weaker cows rest from the persecution of the stronger ones, leaving them to eat and rest in peace and ruminate upon the better condition of affairs more usefully and profitably.—New York Times.

YOUNG FRUIT TREES.

If the young trees are to make a good thrifty growth, considerable care must be given them. It is not good economy to purchase and set out a lot of trees and then expect them to grow as they should without giving them good care. When once well established, they can easily be kept growing, but a tree or plant that is stunted will not make as good a growth afterward.

Close contact with the soil is always an important item, especially during the first summer. If in setting out proper care has been taken to press the soil firmly around the roots, a considerable portion of the risk of damage is avoided. The winds that we usually have in the spring will often loosen up the roots, and care should be taken to press the soil around the stem before hot dry weather sets in.

It is a good plan to stir the surface and keep it stirred, killing out the weeds and keeping the soil in good tilth. Weeds and grass allowed to grow around the stems of the trees will tend to prevent a good growth, and one important item in the treatment of young trees is to give reasonably good cultivation at least.

While a considerable part of the pruning should be done when the tree is set out, yet it will pay to go over the trees and rub off any extra growth that may start up where it is not desired. This can be done much easier now than when the wood has hardened.

One of the worst things to contend with is the borer that so often attacks the young trees, and the surest plan is to protect them in advance, as often the tree is practically ruined the first year by this pest.

A good mulch will often prove very beneficial through the hot dry months in keeping the soil moist, and if applied after giving good cultivation, can be made profitable in the better thrift and growth of the trees. Once the tree gets well established, it will stand considerable drouth without injury, but during the earlier stages of growth, mulching is very beneficial.—Farm, Field and Stockman.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Put the trusty team to the mower.

Forethought is one good harvest hand.

It is highly extravagant to use low-priced mower oil.

Keep the little chicks cooped up until the dew is off the grass.

Do not feed fowls on corn alone, nor fail to provide clean grit to help digest the corn.

There is no luck in leisure in harvesting; procrastination is the thief of grain and grass.

Many a vigorous, fruitful tree owes its existence to a mulch at this season, when it was young.

Beauty always attracts, and it is not dishonest to send clean, bright berries and fruits to market.

Outworms do not like buckwheat, according to Orchard and Garden, and may be driven off the field or starved out by planting it with that crop.

Poultry farming conducted with system and managed in a business-like manner should pay well, the profits being considerably increased by growing food on the farm.

Mulching with anything is regarded as favorable to plant growth by many people, and the benefit is of course increased when the mulch itself has fertilizing properties.

After turkeys are ten days old, they may be turned out every morning after the dew has disappeared from the grass, and may remain out all day if the weather is warm and bright.

The temperature of water for horses is not so much of an object as the purity of it. While it is best to have the water cool, it is more important to have it free from all impurities.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

HOW TO WAGE WAR ON MOTHS.

In packing away either summer or winter clothing it should be thoroughly aired out of doors for several hours. The best method for doing this is to hang the clothes on a line in a rather shady place. Each garment should be inspected, and any dust that has accumulated in the folds or in the pockets removed. Give a thorough brushing, and where moths are suspected place a clean, damp cloth over the spot and press with a hot iron. The steam will penetrate every fiber and kill whatever life is hidden there. If the garments are to be placed in a chest, fumigate it with sulphur. Place a dish of bright coals inside, sprinkle plentifully with sulphur and close the lid. When the coals have become cold remove and place in the clothes. Treated in this way they will remain free from moths any length of time. It is useless to pack goods away if the moth eggs are in them, as they are certain to eat their way through in time.

To prevent moths from attacking upholstered furniture fasten under the seats small bags filled with camphor. If it is known there are moths in the hair filling the only way to get rid of them is to send them to a furniture dealer to take apart, put through a benzine bath and re-upholster. Furniture stuffed with hair is seldom found free from moths. The hair is allowed to lie in warehouses without any precaution being taken to keep it free from these pests, and when wanted for use is seldom looked over; so it goes into the furniture filled with eggs.—Detroit Free Press.

REFRESHING SUMMER DRINKS.

Ginger water, which is simply water sweetened with molasses, with two tablespoonfuls of cider vinegar added to each cup of molasses, and the whole spiced with ginger, is a very palatable drink, and one which may be safely used by farm laborers unless indulged in too freely when overheated.

Cocoa tea is healthful and inexpensive. It is made from the shells or nibs, which cost three cents per pound. Wet two ounces with a little cold water, and pour over them a quart of boiling water; cook one and a half hours; strain and add a quart of milk heated to boiling. It should be slightly sweetened.

Buttermilk—Farmers' families seldom appreciate what a delicious and healthful drink they have in home-made buttermilk. It was the fashionable drink in New York last summer, and brokers, bankers and merchants indulged in it at three cents a glass, from street stands or wagons. Ice is not an essential where a beverage can be stood to cool in a porous earthen jar in a cold cellar or milk-room, such as belongs to every farm-house.

Oatmeal water is the cheapest and one of the most healthful hot-weather drinks. It is simply oatmeal stirred into cold water, and allowed to settle before drinking. This is sold in New York at a penny a glass, giving the vender about ninety-nine per cent. of profit. It makes a pleasanter drink if a very thin gruel is made, using one tablespoonful of oatmeal to a quart of water. Boil for an hour, strain, and let it get very cold. Still another improvement is to add the juice of one lemon, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar to each quart.

Ginger Beer—A ginger beer costing about fifteen cents a gallon is a good standby. There are many different recipes for this, but the following is one of the simplest: Pour four quarts of boiling water over three-fourths of a pound of white sugar; add the minced yellow peel of one lemmon, and an ounce of ground ginger. Let this stand covered until lukewarm, then add the juice of a lemon and a gill of good yeast. Mix thoroughly, cover and stand in a warm place over night. Next day strain, bottle and cork, tying down the corks securely. Lay the bottles on their sides in a cool place.

Raspberry vinegar is a luxury that may be indulged in by families living in the country who have an abundance of fruit. Put four quarts of berries in a stone jar, with one quart of the best cider vinegar, and mash to a paste with a wooden pestle. Set in the sun for twelve hours, and then place all night in a cool place. Strain off the juice the next day and pour it over four quarts of fresh berries. The second day strain, and to each quart of the juice allow one pint of water and five pounds of granulated sugar. Heat over a slow fire until the sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil slowly, kimming off the scum. As soon as it reaches the boiling point, strain and bottle while warm, sealing the corks with wax. This syrup, or cordial, although too expensive for ordinary use, is a delightful drink for summer evening gatherings. Put two tablespoonfuls in a glass of ice water, and embellish with any fruit in season.

Lemonade is economical if the opportunity of making a lemon syrup is seized when lemons are cheap. Grate the thin yellow rind of twelve large lemmons over six pounds of granulated sugar. Add two quarts of water and stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil and boil until it thickens, skimming as fast as the skum rises. Add the juice of the twelve lemons and simmer fifteen minutes longer. Bottle and cork tightly and keep in a cool place. Two tablespoonfuls of this syrup will make a delicious glass of lemonade. We must agree with tipplers that the lemonade of church fairs is usually not a "nice drink." But if you will rub the rind of a lemon with a lump of cut sugar, extract the juice of half a lemon with a squeezer that will keep out the pulp and seeds, fill up the glass with cold water, add a strawberry, two or three lucious blackberries or a stem of currants, and will further furnish it with two straws, you will have a drink pleasing to both eye and palate. Lemonade made as above, substituting tea, weak or strong, according to taste, for water, is both stimulating and refreshing.—American Agriculturist.

The House-Fly.

Professor Riley says: "The house-fly is in itself not poisonous, but may endanger our lives by carrying disease germs on its feet and hairy body. Moreover, flies are capable of eating the ova of various parasite worms, discharging them unchanged in their fæces. The distribution of the human parasite, tricocephalus dispar, as Dr. Grassi has proved, is aided by the agency of the common house fly. Even the eggs of the tape worm, tænia solium, may be thus distributed."

But do not condemn them too hastily on the above score, for they are excellent scavengers—"buzzards on a small scale" eating great quantities in their larval state, of decaying animal and vegetable matter, scattered thoughtlessly by man where it may become the breeding place of disease germs.—Prairie Farmer.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

It is said that Russia has lately been using gun cotton as the explosive compound for shells.

A new agricultural machine distributes manures and insecticides, and sows grain by means of an air blast.

The deepest artesian well in Russian opens with a depth of 2000 feet. The sinking operations took two years.

A wonderful pump has just been introduced, which weights 700 pounds and occupies three feet square, and will pump 10,000 gallons per hour.

The infant mortality ranges from twenty-one to fifty per cent. In other words, out of every eight children born from two to four will die, before the age of five.

The Russian army will soon be provided with breech-loading rifles which will carry a distance of 6000 feet. Noiseless powder will also be used in future by the army.

The quality of the effects produced by aluminium and copper diaphragms for telephones is very remarkable, as they give the timbre of sounds and articulate speech far better than iron.

One of the most interesting features in the coming electrical exhibition in England will be an introduction of the new system of transportation by electricity, whereby such almost fabulous speed is said to be possible.

Very few consumers of wheaten products are aware of the fact that crackers are the oldest form of bread. Fragments of unfermented cakes were discovered in the Swiss lake dwellings, which belong to the neolithic age.

Mr. Wallace considers the complexion found in Asia, the Mongolian, which is midway between the black of the African and the white of the Caucasian, to be the natural primary color of mankind. Climate turned this color into black in Africa and into white in Europe.

In a recent paper on the hygiene of Japanese houses the common idea that dwelling houses in that country are very unhealthy was distincly disproved. The remarkably small infant mortality among the Japanese shows that their houses are healthy and suited to their modes of life.

It is said that a patent has been taken out to abolish sand in casting pipes. Pipes are cast "in superheated steam or gas-jacketed metal molds" and are said to have many excellent qualities. Beyond not being porous the pipes are uniform, sound, and true as if turned or bored by a lathe.

An ingenious device for preventing the odor of cooking from escaping into a room has been patented. The invention is of the simplest description, and consists of a hood with folded sides or leaves which covers the sides of the stove. The odor passes into the hood and is carried directly into the chimney.

The wisdom of planting willows has been justified during the recent floods. The Government Engineer in charge of the Potomac River improvements states that where willows were planted the land was protected from washing, and practically no damage was done, while in the improved lands not so protected there was great loss.

M. Boule has shown the French Academy that animals having affinities with the dogs existed in France in the Miocene epoch, and that the Quaternary epoch had species identical with those of to-day. This makes it difficult to admit, as has often been done, that our races of domestic dogs are all modifications of their congeners, the wolves and jackals.

There is a little consolation in the queer fact that great epidemics do not increase the annual death rate of a city. Although there were upward of seven hundred deaths from the cholera scourge in Philadelphia some years ago, the total number of deaths during that year were nearly three hundred below the previous year. The same strange fact is noticeable during the last epidemic of smallpox.

Mrs. Harrison's White House Methods.

The meal hours at the White House, which constitute the basis of a well ordered household, to suit President Harrison's convenience, were arranged as follows: Breakfast in summer at 8:30 o'clock, and in winter at 8:45 o'clock. The lunch hour was fixed at 1:30 o'clock, except on cabinet days, when the adjournment of the council of ministers would fix the time. The dinner hour was set for 6:30 o'clock.

In the morning, after breakfast, or about 9:30 o'clock, Colonel Wilson, the engineer in charge, calls at the Executive Mansion and receives his directions from Mrs. Harrison. She mentions any improvement, repairs or alterations desired in the interior of the mansion, her wishes for any entertainments which require floral decorations, and consults with him in regard to improvements which are contemplated to put the apartments in proper conditions for the season of gayeties. After the departure of the engineer in charge the steward of the household is summoned. Mrs. Harrison gives him her directions in regard to the number of guests expected to luncheon or dinner; makes suggestions in regard to special articles of diet and receives his reports respecting the general condition of the household effects for which he is responsible, and suggests matters of reform in the kitchen or laundry. After disposing of the steward the housekeeper is summoned and receives her directions in regard to the sleeping apartments, which are under her special care. The parlors and apartments on the first floor are under the direction of the engineer in charge. The stables are under the personal direction of the President through his private secretery.—Washington Star.

Where Bears Roam the Streets.

Mr. T. W. Blackhart, formerly of this city, but now a resident of Helena, Montana, is in Louisville. Mr. Blackheart says Montana is full of large game, and is the finest hunting ground in the United States. He tells the following bear story, and says it is no fish yarn either: A short while before coming to Kentucky he was at Cook City, a small town in southern Montana, adjoining the Wyoming line and Yellowstone Park. While he was there a party of hunters who had been out only three days returned. During that brief absence they killed fifty-six bears, grizzly, cinnamon and black, and brought with them the fresh skins as evidence. Last autumn five big bears were killed in the streets of the town, having come down from the mountain, probably with the intention of making a good meal off the inhabitants. In the mountains the grizzly bears are exceedingly numerous, very ferocious, and more frequently the hunter than the hunted.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Chiropodist Has His Say.

"Year before last I had two women patrons to one man," said a chiropodist. "But last year, and so far this year, the falling off in the former patronage has been more than one half. But there has been no decrease in the number of my male customers. How do I account for all this? Easily. Fashion in shoes is responsible for it. A year and a half ago the high, narrow French heels were the fashion in woman's shoes, and they are one of the best friends a chiropodist can have. They are regular and rapid breeders of corns. No woman can wear a pair of such shoes long without looking up a corn doctor.

But the low flat heel is now the fashion. If the rest of the shoe fits the foot, the heels are the natural enemy of corns and the chiropodist has to suffer. It is generally believed that woman are more vain of their feet than men are of theirs, but my experience has shown me that quite the contrary is the fact. Men will insist in making their foot look small, and any shoe that will do that is the fashion for them. The narrow-toed or "toothpick" style of men's shoes, worn now as much as ever, will always insure the corn doctor a living, especially if the shoes are patent leather. A patent leather shoe, for some reason, will call a corn into being much quicker than an ordinary shoe:

The fellows who don't have corns are those who wear roomy-toed shoes. But they mustn't be too large. A shoe too large is as bad as one too small. An oversized shoe makes corns on the bottom of the feet, and they are the worst kind. The late war was the greatest corn-curer ever known. I never knew of a single case of a soldier in that war who suffered from corns, and I was all through it. If a law should be passed that no shoe should be worn in this country but the pattern army shoe of the rebellion, the corn doctor's occupation would be gone."

The Prince Imperial of Japan.

Compared to his imperial father, even at the present day, Prince Haru is much more emancipated, and none of the old traditions seem to have any weight in regulating his conduct. There was no precedent to follow in the education of a Japanese prince in the modern way, and Prince Haru has made many laws for himself. He is a wonderfully bright and precocious little fellow, and his small, twinkling black eyes are full of mischief and see everything. He is hardly taller than an American boy of six years of age, but he has at times the dignity, the pride of birth, and consciousness of station and power, of a man of sixty. His eyes are not slanting, nor indeed does one often see in a Japanese face the wonderful oblique eyes beloved of the caricaturists. The peculiarity in the expression of their eye is given by the eyelids being fastened in either corner, as if a few stiches had been taken there. This makes it impossible for them to lift the eyelids as high as we do, and gives the narrower slits, through which they gaze, the peculiar Oriental look. One often sees Japanese with as round, wide-open eyes as those of our race, and it gives an especial beauty to their countenances.

Prince Haru has the exquisitely smooth, fine yellow skin that is one of the points of greatest beauty in Japanese children, and a bright color sometimes shows in the pale yellow of his little cheeks. He has the rank of a colonel in the Japanese army, and wears his military uniform and his cap with the gold star all the time, his clothes being dark-blue cloth in winter and white duck in summer. He is fond of riding, and, when mounted, the miniature colonel trots along at a fine gait, giving and returning the military salute as he passes an officer or a sentry, like a young martinet.—[St. Nicholas.

Women Jugglers of India.

I saw two women jugglers at Jeypore, writes Frank G. Carpenter. They were bright, intelligent-looking girls, one of whom appeared almost old enough to be the mother of the other. They did many wonderful things, one of which was mixing up sand in water and then putting the hand into the discolored fluid. they brought a handful of sand, which they filtered hrough their fingers as dry as before it went in. The youngest fo these girls was perhaps fifteen. She was tall, well-formed and fine-looking. She had bracelets on arms and on feet, and her eyes were as beautiful as those of a gazelle. One of her tricks was the lifting of a heavy chair by her eyelids, the thought of which almost makes my eyes sore. The chair was a heavy mahogany one, which belonged to the room in which I was staying. She tied two strong strings to the top of this and affixed the ends of these strings to her eyes by little round cups, each about the size of a nickel. These fitted over the eyeballs and under the lids, and she bent over while they were so fastened. Raising herself, she pulled up the chair with these strings with the muscles of her eyelids and carried it from one side of the room to the other. It was a horrible sight, and as she took the metal cups from her eyes they filled with water and she almost sank to the floor. I told her the trick was disgusting, and that she ought never to try it again. Still for all this she and the rest of the show these girls were well satisfied with two rupees or about 70 cents.

Costly.

"If I gave you a pound of metal and ordered you to make the most out of it, what kind of metal would you select?" asked a well known jeweler. "Gold, of course," was the prompt reply. "I'd prefer a pound of steel," said the jeweler, "and I'd have it made into hair springs for watches. A pound of such springs would sell for an even $140,000."—Buffalo Express.

THE world is casting about for cheap raw materal for paper. The discoverer will be in rare luck while he will bestow a favor on mankind.

Ask your druggist for "Tansill's Punch.

Do You

Have that extreme tired feeling, languor, without appetite or strength, impaired digestion, and a general feeling of misery it is impossible to describe? Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, promoting digestion and toning up the whole system, giving strength and activity in place of weakness and debility. Be sure to get Hood's.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla every year as a tonic with most satisfactory results. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who have that miserable tired feeling."—C. PARMELEE, 349 Bridge St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

Pimples, Sores, Aches and Pains.

When a hundred bottles of sarsaparilla or other pretentious specifics fail to eradicate born scrofula or contagious blood poison, remember that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood has gained many thousand victories, in a seemingly incurable instances. Send to Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga., for "Book Wonders," and be convinced. B. B. B. is the TRUE BLOOD PURIFIER.

G. W. Messer, Howell's X Roads, Ga., writ "I was afflicted nine years with sores. All medicine I could take did me no good. I tried B. B. B., and 6 bottles cured me sound

Mrs. S. M. Wilson, Round Mountain, Tex writes: "A lady friend of mine was troub with bumps and pimples on her face and She took three bottles of B. B. B., and her got soft and smooth, pimples disappeared, her health improved greatly."

Jas. L. Bosworth, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "S years ago I contracted blood poison. I had appetite, my digestion was ruined, rheumatis drew up my limbs so I could hardly walk, throat was cauterized five times. Hot Spring gave me no benefit, and my life was one of tor until I gave B. B. B. a trial, and, surprising it may seem, the use of five bottles cured m Belgium's zinc manufacturing industry has developed until one-third of all the zinc used in Europe is made in that country.

It Don't Pay

To use uncertain means when suffering from diseases of the liver, blood or lungs, such as biliousness, or "liver complaint," skin diseases, scrofulous sores or swellings, or from lung scrofula (commonly known as consumption of the lungs) when Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is guaranteed to cure all these affections, if taken in time, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

$500 offered for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head, by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy.

An English firm has just brought out a new sensitive flame burner, which can be extinguished entirely by a loud noise.

WHAT do you chew?
"LUCY HINTON!"
Why?
Because it is the best I can find.
Who makes it?
T. C. Williams Co., Richmond, Va.
Who sells it?
All dealers.
How can I recognize it?
The name Lucy Hinton is on every plug.

How Nice!

A child who has once taken Hamburg Figs as a cathartic will never again look on them as medicine, but will be likely to ask for them under the impression that they are simply preserved fruit. 25 cents. Dose one Fig. Mack Drug Co., N. Y.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
TULANE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
[Formerly, 1847–1884, the University of Louisiana.] Its advantages for practical instruction, and especially in the diseases of the South-west, are unequaled, as the law secures it superabundant materials from the great Charity Hospital with its 700 beds, and 20,000 patients annually. Students have no hospital-fees to pay and special instruction is daily given at the bed side of the sick, as in no other institution. For catalogue or information, address
Prof. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., Dean,
P. O. Drawer 261, New Orleans, La.

N. C. Y. L.
Nashville, Tenn. College for Young Ladies.
Is the leading school of this section. Began with 50 pupils, without grounds or buildings of its own. Now has 8 buildings, 180 rooms, 20 officers, 351 pupils from 15 States. Full course in Literature, Science, Art, Music, privileges in Vanderbilt University, fully equipped Gymnasium, and all modern conveniences. For catalogue address President.
Rev. Geo. W. F. Price, D. D., Nashville, Tenn.

MILLERSBURG
Female College
Located in the heart of the beautiful Blue Grass region of Kentucky. Health unexcelled. Superior instruction. The best school for your daughter in the South. Art, Music, Literary, Scientific and Phonography departments. First-class board. Reasonable terms. Apply early to
REV. C. POPE, MILLERSBURG, KY.

Plantation Engines
With Self-Contained
RETURN FLUE BOILERS
FOR DRIVING
COTTON GINS and MILLS
Illustrated Pamphlet Free. Address
JAMES LEFFEL & CO.
SPRINGFIELD, OHIO,
or 110 Liberty St., New York.

DUTCHER'S
FLY KILLER
Makes a clean sweep. Every sheet will kill a quart of flies. Stops buzzing around ears, diving at eyes, tickling your nose, skips hard words and secures peace at trifling expense. Send 25 cents for 5 sheets to F. DUTCHER, St. Albans, Vt.

Dr. Lobb, 329 N. 15th St. PHILA., PA.
After ALL others fail, consult
Twenty years' continuous practice in the treatment and cure of the awful effects of early vice, destroying both mind and body. Medicine and treatment for one month, Five Dollars, sent securely sealed from observation to any address.
Book on Special Diseases free.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS.
Red Cross Diamond Brand.
The only reliable pill for sale. Safe and sure. Ladies, ask Druggist for the Diamond Brand, in red metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Send 4c. (stamps) for particulars and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by mail. Name Paper.
Chichester Chemical Co., Madison Sq., Phila., Pa.

WANTED. One Agent in each County to sell the FARMER'S GIN SHARPENER. New way of sharpening gins. Make your old gins new, keep your new gins so. No files. Anyone can use it. Commissions paid agent on ALL sales in county, whether made by us or him. 300 machines in use since September last. Machines and satisfaction guaranteed. Write at once to J. G. FALLS & CO., Memphis, Tenn.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va. N. B.—Please state age and business experience. Never mind about sending stamp for reply. B. F. J. & Co.

WASHINGTON INFORMATION BUREAU.
COLE & DEEBLE, Proprietors,
932 F Street N. W., Washington, D. C.
General information furnished.
Correspondence solicited.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga. Office 65½ Whitehall St.

MUSIC—ART—ELOCUTION and General Culture. Desirable Positions open to progressive students. All interested will receive valuable information Free, by addressing E. TOURJEE, Boston, Mass.

Local Agents Wanted
in Town and County to sell our FILTER and COOLER. Warm, filthy water is made pure and wholesome and pleasantly cold without ice.
J. C. ELLIOTT & SONS, Kirkman, Ohio.

$25 AN HOUR made by our Agents. THE DR. PERKINS MEDICAL CO., Richmond, Va.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 Free. Lines not under horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

IS YOUR FARM FOR SALE or do you wish to buy a farm? If so address GURNEE & WRIGHT, 233 Broadway, N. Y.

Agents wanted. $1 an hour. 50 new articles. Cat'l'g and sample free. C. E. MARSHALL, Buffalo, N. Y.

PALMS BUS. COLLEGE, Philadelphia, Pa. Scholarship and positions, $50. Write for circulars.

PEERLESS DYES Are the BEST. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

SINGERS who have used Piso's Cure for Consumption say it is BEST OF ALL. Sold everywhere. 25c.

I prescribe and fully endorse Big G as the only specific for the certain cure of this disease.
G. H. INGRAHAM, M. D.,
Amsterdam, N. Y.
We have sold Big G for many years, and it has given the best of satisfaction.
D. R. DYCHE & CO.,
Chicago, Ill.
Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS.
Guaranteed not to cause Stricture.
Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio.
$1.00. Sold by Druggists.
A. N. D.

BRYANT & STRATTON Business College LOUISVILLE, KY.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty cents for each subsequent insertion.

INCHES	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
[illegible]	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
[illegible]	7 00	11 25	16 00
[illegible]	10 00	15 00	22 50
[illegible]	12 50	20 00	27 00
[illegible]	15 00	22 50	33 00
Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor and Publisher. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1889. NUMBER 42.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be treated as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

CAHEEN'S AS USUAL

Will Begin Bright and Early Monday Morning

—THEIR GREAT—

MIDSUMMER COST CLEARING SALE!

FIRST AVENUE, - - - - BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Everything has been arranged to make this in all probability one of the greatest sales in the history of Birmingham. Remember you will have a stock of over $100,000 to select from and these goods were purchased for for first-class class city trade and were not intended for any snide catch-penny business.

A TERIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

Deferred Hopes.

ne year ago, on budding bough
The robin gayly singing,
he laughing stream, the budding flowers,
The fine green grass blades springing,
ound me with Sorrow as my guest,
And Fear and Pain attendant; had but tears wherewith to greet
Spring, and his train resplendent.

ut as she closer came, and bent
To me with lips all smiling, could but lend a willing ear
To accents so beguiling.
Fear to ignoble souls!" she cried,
"Come, let us laugh at trouble;
nother year thy hopes shall see Fulfilled in measure double."

h me! That year too swift has sped;
As then the grass is springing;
s then the robin's cheery note
From budding bough is ringing.
nd Spring! I hear her joyous voice
In far-off cadence trilling, er light foot passed my darkened door
Faintly my dull ear thrilling.

ut still grim Sorrow is my guest,
And Doubt and Fear attending offer the bitter brimming cup
Of pain and care unending.
en here's to thee thou constant friend!
Thou dear familiar Sorrow!
is tear-wet bread together share
To-day and e'en to-morrow.

nd after that, the bitter end,
And then—the rest eternal!
God, forgive the weary soul
That asks no joy supernal;
at only craves surcease of pain,
And fret, and strife, and weeping;
at only longs for folded hands,
Closed eyes and dreamless sleeping.
—Julia Schayer in Independent.

JESSIE'S PLOT.

"May I enter?" asked a clear, sweet ice at the door of Jessie Vane's om.

The brown head was lifted instantly, pile of letters which had claimed sie's attention was pushed back on table, and a laughing light of welme beamed in the girl's dark eyes.

"Come, Janet," she called merrily. lways welcome, cousin mine, but bly welcome now; for I have letters e which I think I will ask you to lp me to answer."

Such a sweet, winsome face! such a nging, flower-fresh face, with its cy red lips, and its starry gray eyes, d its ever-varying expression.

Jessie, to whom it was very dear, ked at it with loving, laughing eyes, ich laughed the more when they read petulance and mutiny upon it.

"He who runs may read," she said, ly. "Something has gone wrong."

Janet Graves tossed a card into her sin's lap, and flung herself into a ir.

"Yes," she said in that fresh, clear ce, which neither anger nor petulance ld render less than musical, "something has gone wrong, and unless you I find a way to turn the tables on clever aunt, our summer here will be iled. Read the name on that card, then perhaps you will understand."

Jessie lifted the innocent-looking , and read the name upon it; but did not seem to comprehend.

"Royal Sandford?" she said, musing. "The name is pretty, but I never rd it before. Who is he, dear? and should a call from him alarm you our season?"

"I'll tell you!" burst out Janet hurly. "I always hate to even think him"—with a spiteful little push to card—"but now I'll have to, and him, too, and be civil to him, ch will be abominably hard. It is family romance, but romantic as it ds it has become a nightmare to My mother and Royal Sandford's er were lovers. Something parted and he married somebody else. ma, did so, too, but neither of forgot, and I don't think they very happy."

She sighed softly, and leaning toward cousin, laid her young head against 's dark coils of hair.

"It was sad—sad," she said, after a "But when he was dying, he her mamma, who was then a widow, and bade her bring me with her. I will never forget that wan, worn face, which lighted so as mamma entered the sick-room, nor the sobs that shook her as she knelt beside his bed. I was twelve years old and did not understand it all until long after; but I felt dimly then that in some way I was expected to atone for a sin committed, an injury done before my birth."

"You, Janet?" Why, how could you patch up the broken lives, dear?"

"It was a man's dying fancy that, as he had loved the mother in his youth, so must his son love the daughter in a few short years; and he bade my mother promise that I should marry his son when I was 18."

"Janet! And you said nothing?"

"Oh, yes, I did. When he took my hands in his cold, trembling ones, and begged me to love his son and to wed him some day, I burst out sobbing and said I would try to if—if he asked me."

Jessie laughed a low, soft laugh.

"Why, you are as free as air," she said, lightly. "All you have to do is not to let him fall in love with you. But perhaps I give my warning too late. Is he ugly, and does he woo you?"

"I haven't seen him yet," answered Janet, pushing back her soft hair impatiently. A few months after his father's death, I lost my dear mamma; then you know I was always at school, until now that I have graduated. I would have been with aunt, only for the children's having the scarlet fever, and her sending us here with Mrs. Price to chaperone us. I was so happy when we came yesterday; and now he has come, too, and is in the parlor, waiting to look me over, and see whether or not he will like me. Oh!" with a wrathful motion that did not ill become her girlish, graceful beauty, "I do hope he will hate me as much as I hate him already. Then he will never ask me. He promised to marry me, mamma said, if he loved me. Will you just think of it, Jessie? He will look me over, study me, and take me if I suit him. Was ever anything so abominable? How I envy you!"

"And I you, you little goose!" laughed Jessie. "Why, what an amount of amusement you can have out of all this, if you wish to turn it into a joke."

"If I wish to! Now, Jessie, if you have a single idea—"

"My child, I have a dozen. See here!" with a merry ripple of mirth in her voice. "Why not change names with me while he remains here? I won't in the least mind his looking me over, and—"

"Oh, you priceless darling!" and Janet caught her in an embrace that threatened suffocation. "If you only will, I'll never forget it—never! And he is in the parlor now. Go down at once, while I find Mrs. Price and explain to her. She is as fond of a joke as either of us, and won't mind a bit. Go, go, Jessie! You may change your mind if you wait another moment."

And the impulsive girl drew her cousin—laughing softly, and really beginning to wish she had not made the offer—from her chair and across the threshold; then, leaving her to go down alone, flitted off in search of the easy, good-natured woman with whom Jessie's mother had sent niece and daughter to a farm-house for the two months of summer.

The parlor was a long, shady room, against one window of which a climbing rose-bush was trained.

At this window a tall form was standing as Jessie entered, and she crossed directly toward it, her newly-arranged and impulsive plot making dimples come and go in her cheeks, and causing the dark eyes under her lashes to glow and gleam with laughter.

"Mr. Sandford!" she said, softly.

He turned with a start, and met the merry, lovely eyes; his own were blue and keen, but she found a beauty in them never found before in human eyes by her, as their owner took the hand she extended, and bent over it with the grace of a courtier.

"And this is Miss Graves," he said, in a voice she liked as she had liked his eyes. "Your aunt assured me that no formal introduction would be necessary between your mother's daughter and my father's son."

Jessie bowed.

"Let me present my friend and classmate, Mr. Glynn; he and I are hoping to enjoy a few weeks' fishing in this neighborhood, and you will, no doubt, see a great deal of us."

Jessie turned. Yes, there were two of them, and the one whom she had not noticed was rising from a great chair, and bowing to her with a chill but graceful courtesy.

"Slight and dark, with a proud, cold face," thought Jessie. "I shall like Janet's lover best."

"He's lovely!" said Janet, in a soft little voice, when the two girls stood alone on the veranda, watching the evening shadows gather and fall.

"Isn't he handsome?" asked Jessie, in the same low tone. "I never saw such expressive eyes in my life. I knew as soon as I had spoken to him that you would like him—you couldn't help it."

"But I thought you preferred Mr. Sandford."

"Of course I did. Of whom else have we been speaking?"

"I was speaking of Mr. Glynn."

"Oh, were you?"

What days they were that followed! If four people ever left the world and its cares behind them and basked in the glory of paradise, those four could be found in that out-of-the-way country place, where every hour was shod with light, and every day dropped from them as softly, as gently as the leaves drop from the rose when it is overblown.

A month had gone since that day when Jessie and Janet had exchanged identities, and now, when they were happiest, Mrs. Vane had written that she would be with them on the morrow, and they knew that before the morrow an explanation must be made.

"I do not care; Roy Sandford is fathoms deep in love with Jessie, and he cannot ask me to marry him now," thought Janet, as she strolled in the orchard with Valroy Glynn, and wondered how she would tell him the hateful story, that must be told at once and by her, lest he should not perfectly understand it.

"I must tell you something," she said, hurriedly. "Please do not say a word until I have finished."

"Not a word," he answered, prisoning the soft little fingers on his arm in his, and looking down on her as each man looks but once on any woman.

So she told her story, much as she had told it to her cousin; and when she had told all, the fingers on her own were hot and shaken.

"You say you hate Roy Sandford; my dearest—do you hate me?"

"She gave a brief but eloquent upward glance.

"You know I do not."

"Then never say that you hate Roy Sandford, for—I am he. Nay, dear, do not look so indignant; it was done on the impulse of the moment by Valroy. When your cousin called him by my name, he knowing all, caught at the joke, and it has been kept up since. Tonight he is to tell her all about it, and something more, my Janet; he will say to her what I have so long wished to say to you but could not until now that I know how true a prophet my father was, when he said that some day his son's happiness would be in your hands. Dear, I love you; do you care at all for me?"

Did she care? The tremulous gladness in her eyes, the shy, sweet curving of her lips, the nestling of her hand in his, all told their tale; and when, an hour later, they met Jessie and her lover, I doubt if this whole world held four beings happier than they.—Saturday Night.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Today is all the time we absolutely have.

A single fact is worth a folio of argument.

It is not selfish to be correct in your dealings.

Small profits little risk; large profits great risk.

The worth of a thing depends on the want of it.

Let nothing be undone which ought to be done.

The more we study, we the more discover our ignorance.

One can acquire a vast amount of useful knowledge out of school.

Don't introduce a lady's name where you wouldn't introduce the lady.

In ninety-nine cases in a hundred the man you wish dead outlives you.

Silence is the best weapon to use against a vulgar and spiteful tongue.

He who is false to present duty breaks a thread in the loom, and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten its cause.

Be it true or false, what is said about men often has much influence upon their lives, and especially upon their destinies, as what they do.

Extremes meet in almost everything; it is hard to tell whether the statesman at the top of the world, or the plowman at the bottom, labors hardest.

Whatever the number of a man's friends, there will be times in his life when he has only one enemy, he is lucky indeed if he has not one too many.

Discretion of speech is more than eloquence; and to speak agreeably to him with whom we deal, is more than to speak in good words or in good order.

He is a great simpleton who imagines that the chief power of wealth is to supply wants. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it creates more wants than it supplies.

Right actions for the future are the best explanations or apologies for wrong ones in the past; the best evidence of regret for them that we can offer or the world receive.

A Child With Seven Grandparents.

Francis Smith Marlowe is the name of a two-year-old little gentleman on Capitol Hill, who, in addition to certain graces and jolly ways, is distinguished. He is the proud possessor of seven grandparents, four on the mother's side and three on the father's, there being two great-grandmothers and one great-grandfather. The aggregate of the ages of the child, father, mother and grandparents is just two hundred and fifty years. Four generations are represented, and a short time ago in the same family five generations were living at the same time. The young gentleman doesn't make any claim for a premium in the grandparent class, but is clearly entitled to it unless some one can show an additional great-grand.—Washington Star.

Queer People on a Japanese Island.

Nujima, a small island about five miles from Mitageris, Japan, has about 800 inhabitants who live in a most primitive manner. Not more than one-sixth till the soil, the others being fishermen, and, although the island is very fertile the people draw their supplies of rice, wheat, etc., from the mainland. Azaleas are extremely plentiful, all the hillsides being covered with them—in fact in olden times the place was known as Azalea island. There are neither horses nor dogs on the island, and consequently the children, when shown a picture of one of these animals, mistake it for a cow. The young people pass the time dancing and amusing themselves and are without care. Quarrels are rare, and when they do happen the offender makes his peace by smashing an earthen ware pot in front of the injured party by way of apology.

Medicinal Plants.

The cathartic jalap is the powdered root of a convolvulus or bindweed, C. jalapa; root large, full of milky juice; flowers red and purple, a native of Mexico; name derived from Xalapa, a province of Mexico.

Squill is obtained from a plant called scilla by botanists. This word is derived from the Greek, meaning to disquiet, it being a strong emetic. It is a native of the south of Europe. Its flowers, like many of the class, spring up before the leaves. The flowers are on spikes, white and green; the bulbs are long, tunicated roots, as large as the human head.

The common senna is obtained from a plant called cassia senna, a native of Egypt and Barbary. Another, C. Fistula, is a native of the West Indies, where it is much cultivated for the sake of its pulp, which is a mild and pleasant laxative. The East Indian variety, however, is of very old repute, and, in the time of Avicena, the Arabian physician, was known by the name of cassia solutiva. These plants are totally different from laurus cassia, or bastard cinnamon, the bark of which was, as a spice or perfume, so much in favor with the ancients.

Oxalic acid used to be obtained from and is the basis of our common wood-sorrel. The family have the leaves of a trefoil or clover, the flower of a geranium and the taste of sorrel, but the flavor is more grateful, nearer to lemon, and is sometimes used cut up in salad. It is called in Italy lujula, which has been corrupted into altenia. Old English authors name it cuckoo-meat, it flowering there at the time of the arrival of that bird. Oxalic acid is useful to take iron-mold out of linen, and under the name of the essential oil of lemon used to be obtained from this plant as well as from others. It is now, however, obtained mostly from the action of nitric acid upon sugar.—Prairie Farmer.

Eelskins for Rheumatism.

"Give me two large eelskins," said a young woman who entered a North End drug store at the time a Globe man happened to be quenching his thirst at the soda fountain.

"Eelskins!" said the reporter to the clerk, when the young lady had left with her purchase. "What does she want with eelskins?"

"Rheumatism," said the drug clerk. "You'd be surprised at the number of people who use eelskins for rheumatism. I know an old man whose arms and legs are completely strapped with them, and he believes that they prolong his life. We have more or less call for them, but I understand that uptown stores don't keep them, although once in a while their customers ask for them. We get our skins of a fish dealer on Atlantic avenue. He purchased them from South Boston people, who sell the skinned eels for food, and when the skins are dried, sell them to various customers. In many of the fish stores on Atlantic avenue you will see a bunch of the skins suspended from the wall by a hook. They are very oily and soft and while I don't take much stock in them, numbers of people have implicit faith in them. I am told that there is a German family in South Boston that sells these eelskins to various people throughout the United States, and realizes a snug little income therefrom." —Boston Globe.

He Won His Suit.

Smith (enamored)—"Darling, I bring you a few miserable diamonds. I love you—"

Girl—"I hate the sight of you!"

Smith (calmly)—"Here is a piece of lamb's liver for your darling cat and a sweet-bread for your doggie."

Girl—"You can ask my hand of papa."—Epoch.

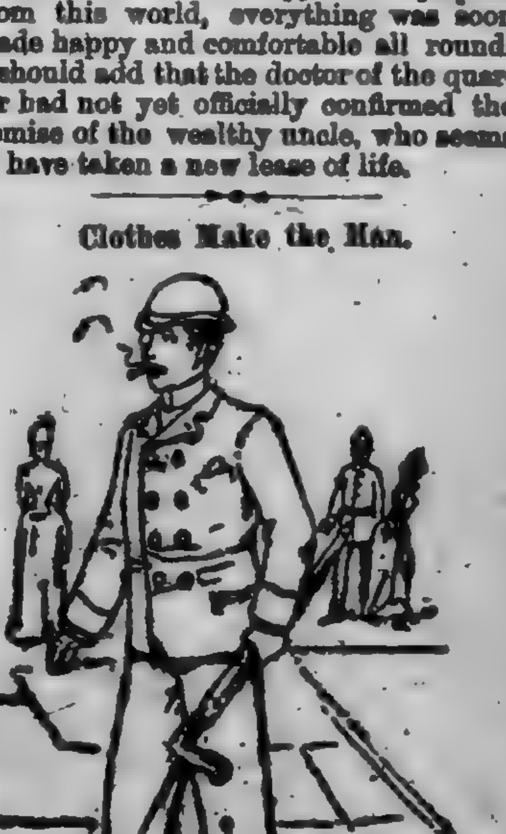
The eel fattens by feeding upon itself.

Alive Instead of Dead.

According to a Paris letter, an elderly gentleman residing in the Rue Rochechouart, who was supposed to be dead, has suddenly come to life. He has a nephew in Paris, who, being duly informed of his demise, repaired at once to the house, with his wife, to keep watch over the mortal remains of his uncle until they should be borne to their last resting place. Next evening, as the lady was tired, her husband sent her to the drawing room to take some repose on a sofa, and a servant having placed some wine and broth on a table, he threw himself into an armchair in the bedroom and soon went soundly to sleep. On awaking at 4 in the morning he found that the broth had disappeared and that the bottle of wine was half empty. Becoming alarmed, he went to his wife in the drawing room, roused her, and told her what had happened. She returned to the bedroom with him, but the pair had hardly reached the door when they heard a noise. They paused on the threshold, and, to their consternation, a voice bade them not to be afraid but to come in. The husband entered the room, but soon rushed out with his hair standing on end. He had seen his uncle's ghost. The old man was sitting, enveloped in a sheet, on the side of his bed. The supposed corpse had the utmost difficulty in getting his panic-stricken relatives to understand that he was not dead after all. "I am alive!" he repeated, adding that the preparations for his funeral had not escaped his notice. He had been in a lethargy, and, waking up, had helped himself to the broth, which had done him good. Hearing someone approaching he had jumped into bed, as he was anxious not to cause any alarm; but Richard was himself again. He felt perfectly recovered, and certainly on closer examination the uncle's appearance by no means belied his words. The refreshments had come in most opportunely to restore him, and, as he was much pleased with the affectionate attention which his relatives had shown him after his supposed departure from this world, everything was soon made happy and comfortable all round. I should add that the doctor of the quarter had not yet officially confirmed the demise of the wealthy uncle, who seems to have taken a new lease of life.

Clothes Make the Man.



The style of his city clothes.

And of his country outfit.—New York Herald.

Spoiled by being Lionized.

Off the stage as well as on Mr. Warren won the affections of those with whom he came in contact. Not a few stories are told of him which show him in the pleasant light of a genial and kindly gentleman, and often as a witty one. His retort to a lady who remonstrated with him for not going more into society is worth recording: "Why should I go about?" Mr. Warren demanded. "Because everybody wants to meet you," was the reply. "If you would only give us a chance we should be delighted to lionize you." "Oh, well," rejoined the comedian, "it's much better as it is. I never heard of but one man who was not spoiled by being lionized. [illegible]

"The Bon Vivant."

Der doctor says I dassent smoke
  Anudder cigarette,
'R else my name is Mud. Der bloke!
  I'll give 'm soup, you bet!

Der dry ol' fossil! Wot's he know
  About der juice o' life?
He's nut'n but a holy show,
  'N' t'inner den a knife!

I wouldn't be dat dry ol' cuss
  Fur all der world cud give!
Der ain't nobody knows, but us
  Young fellows, how to live!
—New York State Camp Journal.

He Poisoned His Wife.

Louis Hill, a negro fugitive from justice in Union County, Miss., was arrested by the Sheriff of Union County, who came upon him accidentally. Five years ago Hill resolved to get rid of his wife in order to wed another woman who had enslaved him, and consulted a voodoo priestess, who told him to extract the poison from a moccasin snake in the dark of the moon, and administer it to the woman in the seventh hour of the seventh day following. He succeeded in capturing a moccasin, but the reptile was so vicious that he was afraid to extract its poison bag. He therefore cut off its head and boiled the head in a pot of coffee, of which his wife drank at breakfast. She was immediately taken violently ill, and for a week lingered between life and death, but finally recovered. The snake's head was found among the coffee grounds which Hill had thrown on the ground beside his cabin, and he was arrested and indicted for attempt at murder.

Hill's cell companion in the jail at New-Albany, Miss., was George Townsend, a notorious horse thief. A few days after the negro joined him Townsend obtained from the jailer a pocket knife and a piece of hard wood for the ostensible purpose of making a trinket for a present to the jailer's little daughter. Out of this wood he fashioned a key, and one dark night he fitted this key in the lock of the cell door and succeeded in partially turning the bolt. Then he and the negro threw their weight against the door, forced it open and escaped. Hill came to the neighborhood of Memphis, where he has been ever since. Townsend was recaptured and is now serving a long time in the Mississippi penitentiary.

Young Harry Hartley, of Boston, had a narrow escape from death at Niagara Falls while climbing an ice mountain. Describing his experience to a correspondent, he said he stopped at Niagara on his way from his brother's wedding in Chicago. He went to the Falls on the American side, and by the instructions of a guide obtained a pair of creepers and started to climb a hill of ice formed on some rocks. He had not been informed that this was a foolhardy undertaking. As he was about to step on the summit of the hill he lost his foothold, and, slipping down an icy descent of about forty feet, plunged into a sort of pool where there was no current. The accident was witnessed by several persons, and there was much excitement. One man obtained a long rope, but he did not have to use it, as Mr. Hartley succeeded in getting hold of the edge of the ice and lifting himself out of the water. Then, by means of his creepers, he climbed to a place of safety. The only ill effects of the accident were some rather painful bruises on his right side. The guides at the Falls, he says, told him that a sightseer some time ago lost his life by a similar accident.

[illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., AUG. 15, 1889.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

Maj. J. G. Harris has filled the position of Register at the U. S. land office most acceptably and satisfactorily. He has made many warm friends by his uniform courtesy and kindness to those who had business with his office, and he will retire from the position with the satisfaction of knowing that his work has been "duty well performed."

The Montgomery Advertiser has purchased the Montgomery Dispatch. The demise of the Dispatch was to be expected. The newspaper business in many cases is like "pouring your money into a hole," and such was evidently the case with the Dispatch, though none will deny that it was an ably edited and newsy paper, and did a good work while here.

The Ala. Farmers' Alliance in convention assembled last week denounced the Montgomery Advertiser for making publications inimical to the interests of the Alliance. What strange ideas the warm summer days do propagate. The Advertiser has been almost an Alliance paper for the past year, and its publications, so far as we have noticed, have been particularly partial to that organization.

A Birmingham special to the Montgomery Advertiser says:

Twenty-three murder and three rape cases, making twenty-six capital cases, are set for trial at the present term of the criminal court, and the grand jury now in session is grinding out indictments for murder at the rate of two per day. In addition to these cases there are four persons in the county jail who have appealed to the supreme court.

A large number of murder mysteries have recently been cleared up the guilty parties arrested; and at least twenty hangings are expected to take place during the next six or eight months.

What The Country Needs.

The man who trades in politics for the pecuniary gain there is in it, is the greatest of all curses to free America, as little as may be thought about it—and the land is full of this class of men. What the country needs just now, more than all things else, are men who have the courage to tell the truth in politics and stick to it—men who do not seek to keep up with the popular tide by keeping mum on all questions of public interest—men who are fearless enough, brave enough, to differ with the great majority when they are satisfied from their own convictions that majority is wrong. Give the country such politicians and a political millenium would dawn upon America, and the prosperity and peace that would pervade the whole land would be like a benediction.—Eutaw Whig.

Advertise Your Business.

This is the season of the year when merchants expect an increase in their daily sales, because it is the season when the people have, as a rule, a little more money than at other times. In consideration of this desire it is the time to advertise your business. No one denies the efficacy of advertising, but there are a great many different opinions as to the best mode to be used. It is the purpose of this article to show that newspaper advertising is the best and cheapest.

That it is the best may be seen from the fact that the people are reading more newspapers than ever before, and an advertisment inserted in their columns reach with the readers, a higher degree of respectablity than one scattered about the streets on a poster.

If you stand on a street corner and watch the boys giving out circulars, you will notice that scarcely one person out of a hundred ever reads them, but if they take them they wad them up and shoot them away. The same advertisement in a newspaper catches their eye week after week until they are constrained to read it. When they read it the fact that it is published in the paper gives it an air of respectability and assures a perusal of its contents.

If you don't think it is cheaper just go figure a little: An advertisment in a weekly newspaper with a circulation of one thousand in a years time will obtain a total circulation of fifty-two thousand copies. A double column advertisement will cost in the Blade about one hundred dollars, or fifty two thousand copies for one hundred dollars. A circular that size printed in the cheapest job office in the state will cost at least three dollars per thousand or one hundred and fifty six dollars for the fifty two thousand copies. Smaller sizes will show the same proportion.—Bibb Blade.

Some of the Trials and Tribulations of the Fair Sex.

A vigorous, but unknown writer who has evidently had an experience, writes:

"It is a dreadful bother to be a woman and do the business up in good shape. In the first place you've got to look well or else you are nobody. A man may be ever so homely and still be popular. Whiskers cover up the most of his face, and if he has a big mouth nobody mistrusts it, and if he does wrinkle bad on the forehead, his friends speak of his many cares and thoughtful disposition, and tell each other that his wrinkles are lines of thought. Lines of thought, indeed, when in probability his forehead is wrinkled by the bad habit he has of scowling at his wife when the coffee isn't strong enough.

A woman must always be in good order. Her hair must always be banged and frizzed, as fashion demands and she must powder if she has shining skin; and she must manage to look sweet, no matter how sour she may feel; her dress must hang just so, and her boot buttons just in place, and then she musn't whistle nor climb fences, stone cats, nor scold when she's mad.

She can't go out alone, because ladies must be protected. She can't go out when it rains, because her hair won't stay frizzed, and she'll get mud on her petticoat and things; she can't be a free Mason, because she would tell their secrets and everybody would know about the goat and gridiron. She can't smoke, because that would be unfashionable; she can't go courting, because that would be unwomanly. But she must get married before she is 25, or everybody will feel wronged. People will sigh over her, and wonder why it is that men "don't seem to take" and all the old maids and widows will smile and keep quiet. Oh, these smiles and significant looks! They are ten times worse than open slanders.

It is terrible to be an old maid.—Everybody knows it, and the women who are married to husbands and who manage to quarrel with them six days out of seven, will live in agony of spirit over the single woman and call her the poor old maid.

A woman must marry rich or she don't marry "well." And to marry well is the end and aim of a woman's existence, judging the view which people in general take of this matter. It is everybody's business whom a woman marries, The whole neighborhood put their heads together and talk over the pros and cons, and decide whether she is good enough for him. (There is nothing said about his being good enough for her.) And they criticise the shape of her nose and relate anecdotes how lazy her grandfather was, and how her aunt Sallie used to sell beans and buttermilk. A woman must wear No. 2 boots on No. 3 feet, and she must manage to dress well on 75 cents a week, and she mustn't be vain, and she must be kind to the poor, and she must go regularly to the sewing society meeting, and be ready to dress dolls and make tidies and aprons for church fairs. She must be a good cook, and she must be able to do up her husband's shirts so that the Chinese washerman would groan with envy and gnash his teeth with the same unholy passion at the sight of them.

She must always have the masculine buttons of the family sewed on so they will never come off while in use, and she must keep the family hosiery so that nobody would ever mistrust there were toes in the stockings while there were not. She must hold herself in constant readiness to find everything her husband has lost and a man never knows where to find anything. He will put his boots away carefully under the parlor sofa, and when he has hunted for them a half hour he will suddenly appeal to his wife with a countenance like an avenging angel and demand. "What in the thunder has she done with his boots." She must shut all the doors after her lord and master, and likewise the bureau drawers. It would be as natural for him to do it as for a hen to go in swimming for recreation. But he sits to "just finish this piece in the paper," and waits till she has got the sheets in a comfortable temperature. Ah, there are a great many tricks in the trade of living together. A woman is expected to take care of the baby even after the first infantile wonder has multiplied into a round half dozen.—And if he doubles up with the colic or trials of cutting teeth, or the necessary evils of mumps and measles and whooping cough and scarlet fever and rash and throat distemper and short sleeves and bare legs and pins sticking into him and too much candy and bad temper, why her husband tells her that he "does wish she would try and quiet her baby," as if he thought she alone was responsible for its existence and as if she was considerably to blame for it, too. And when she has the headache nobody thinks of minding it—a woman is always having the headache. And if she is "nervous enough to fly," nobody shuts the door any quieter and no body tucks her on the lounge with a shawl over her or cuddles her to death as a man has to be cuddled under such circumstances.

We might go on indefinitely with the troubles of being a woman, and if there is a man who thinks a woman has an easy time of it, why just let him pin on a pound of hair and get inside a pair of corsets, and put on a pull back overskirt and be a woman himself and see how he likes it."

How a Town is Made to Progress.

Towns and cities are not built up by one man. It takes a good many to do that. They must work together and not selfishly, each for himself. If you want business men to settle down among you, encourage those who want to come. Do not try to sit down on them by asking double prices for your building sites, or lots, or by telling them there are already more engaged in their line of trade than the situation will justify. Do not show them that you are jealous and prefer that they should stay away. Welcome a wide-awake, progressive man, whenever one comes along. Show him that you appreciate his energy and pluck and lend him a helping hand when occasions offers, Do not discourage him by relating the failurs of other men. Let him alone. If he is the right kind of a man he will be able to take care of himself. Do not be eternally discussing why your town is slow. Better take off your coat and do a little something towards making it prosper. It takes a number of people to make a town prosperous. Be one of them yourself, instead of watching to see how your neigbors are going to accomplish it. It cannot be done by sitting down with your hands folded and wishing for some one to do your share of the work. When you have anything to buy, do not go to a big city to get it, and then denounce the home dealers for not having it on hand. They know your ways and are not going to invest in any thing which you and others go elsewhere to buy. No, sir, do not wait for strangers to build up your town. Help do it yourself and do not wait until the last moment either when all hands are disheartened, but come forward at once. If you can help your town, remember you can help your town, and at the same time help yourself. Shake off your sleepiness and go to work as though you meant to do something for the town in which you live and stop wishing and waiting for strangers to come and do it for you.—Eutaw Whig and Observer.

Money.

In 1866 we had in circulation $58 for each head of population, in 1889 we have $21, and that includes every dollar in actual circulation among the people, held in the treasury as redemption funds, hoarded as surplus, etc. The actual circulation is in the near neighborhood of half that amount. That is the cause of depression in business—stifling it by reducing the circulation of the life-blood of trade.

It is for the people to correct this great evil, and that they can do only in their sovereign capacity as citizens of a free government. The government is only the agent of the people. What the people's representatives have done can be undone at the will of the people. The encroachments made on the rights of the people have been great, and the tendency towards a centralized government is growing daily. It is time for the people to act.—Alabama Mirror.

NEWS ITEMS.

Culled From the Bad, Bad Newspapers.

Dick Clark, who shot and killed a negro in Montgomery several months since for insulting a white lady was tried and acquitted in the Montgomery city court on Monday.

The Montgomery Dispatch died in a good humor. Among other things it said: "Tutt's pills, turpentine and castor oil" may be fired into convicts all at one time on county farms, and there will be no Dispatch to raise its voice against such medical liberality.

Two Georgia railroad men fought a duel in Cherokee county, Ala., last week. Six shots passed and no one hurt. Suspicions are that the duel was a sham, but it was probably due to dog-day hydrophobia or "mid-summer madness." The authorities of this State propose to bring the principals over and have a trial in the courts.

Whites and negroes came near having a serious riot in Atlanta Monday night. It grew out of a negro being placed in the postoffice to work along side of a white lady. The negro was burned in effigy by the whites, which caused a public demonstration by negro Odd Fellows, and as the next step in the racket the negroes were calling upon the Governor to protect them against 1000 armed white men. The Governor addressed the crowd and trouble was averted.

Another sensation is exploded, and the man in jail at Scottsboro, Alabama, on suspicion of being ex-Treasurer Tate, of Kentucky, has gone on his way rejoicing, The photograph sent to Frankfort was not sufficiently like the defaulter to warrant Governor Buckner in sending to Alabama for him.

Seven milch cows got into a patch of sorghum cane last week and eat as much as they wanted while water from the rain was on it, and some of them died on the spot, while most of them only survived a short time. Farmers who raise sorghum cane should make note of this and be careful not to let their cows get it green. It's good forage when cured.—Troy Enquirer.

Montgomery is to have a new evening paper to be called The Daily Capital, with James Irving Crabbe and Alya Fitzpatrick, late of the Dispatch, as editors. First issue on Sept. 2d.

Maplesville Dots.

We have been spiritually refreshed by some most excellent sermons by Revs. Sanders, of Clanton, Price, of Randolph, and J. D. Nobles, of Plantersville.

Maplesville certainly is noted for hospitality to strangers as many can testify during our protracted meeting.

Capt. Townsend still has this for headquarters, which is a sure sign that our railroad will not linger long out of sight, but is coming right on.

Mr. J. McCary and wife are visiting Mrs. N. Goodwin.

Miss Kate Todd and Miss Sallie Lile have treated Mrs. Mary DuBose to a visit. We regret very much that Miss Sallie ever left us. She is very popular as a teacher everywhere.

Misses Pearl, Bessie and Annie King and Master Frank King are visiting Mrs. Glover.

Much injury is done by the use of irritating, griping compounds taken as purgatives. In Ayer's Pills the patient has a mild but effective cathartic, that can be confidently recommended alike for the most delicate patients as well as the most robust.

No medicine in the world is in better repute or more widely known than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a safe and certain remedy for all manner of blood disorders, leading physicians and druggists everywhere recommend it in preference to any other.

Notice!

Sealed bids will be received by the Judge of Probate until the 2d of September for the taking care of, clothing and feeding the county paupers.

Notice.

I am the sole owner, and have been for years of lands levied on and described in section 11 and section 2 and township 15, range 21 as the property of the Taylor Manufacturing Co., and am now suing for trespass after notice of the same. J. P. ROBINSON.

Sheriff's Sale.

To satisfy a fieri facias in my hands, issued from the Chancery Court of the northeastern division of the Seventh District of Ala., against James Nix, Ezekiel Nix, Lewis Waldrop, S. E. Waldrop and Rebeca Jane Smitherman, and in favor of Jonse L. Gardner et als, I will proceed to sell on 1st Monday in September, 1889, at Courthouse door of Chilton County, Ala., between the legal hours of sale, at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following-described property, levied on as the property of the said James Nix, Ezekiel Nix, Lewis Waldrop, S. E. Waldrop and Rebeca Jane Smitherman, to-wit: The n ½ of s e ¼ of Section 28, Township 22, Range 12. The n w ¼ of Section 9, and the w ½ of the s e ¼ of Section 16 in Township 22, Range 12, all lying and being in Chilton County, State of Alabama.

LEE HAYES,
Sheriff Chilton County.

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

tma16

DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN'S
TREATMENT BY INHALATION

TRADE MARK REGISTERED.
DRS. STARKEY AND PALEN
COMPOUND OXYGEN
NOT A DRUG
1529 Arch Street, Philad'a, Pa

For Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Debility, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all Chronic and Nervous Disorders.

Drs. Starkey & Palen's office records show over 50,000 cases in which their Compound Oxygen Treatment has been used by physicians in their practice, and by invalids independently. Over 1000 physicians and more than 40,000 invalids.

Drs. Starkey & Palen have the liberty to refer to the following named well-known persons who have tried their Treatment:

Rev. O. A. Darby, Columbia, S. C.
Col. T. B. Crews, editor Herald, Laurens, S. C.
Rev. John L. Gerardeau, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. Sidi H. Browne, editor Christian Neighbor, Columbia, S. C.
Rev. H. F. Chreitzburg, Chester, S. C.
Mrs. Wm. H. Johnstone, Tarboro, N.C.
Rev. S. P. Richardson, Athens, Ga.
John J. Mason, M. D., Columbus, Ga.
Rev. W. F. Cook, D. D. Augusta, Ga.
Mrs. Ella R. Tennent, Home Magazine, Marietta, Ga.
Rev. T. R. Kendall, Macon, Ga.
Rev. W. A. Candler, President Emory College, Oxford, Ga.
W. H. Lawrence, Editor Chilton View, Clanton, Ala.
Rev. Henry D. Moore, Montgomery, Ala.

Would you like to know whom it has cured, where these restored and vitalized people live and what were the diseases removed? Return mail will bring you a brochure of 200 pages containing these points if you will drop a postal to

Drs. STARKEY & PALEN,
1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Or Mrs. A. W. MOORE, Camden, S. C.

MELANINE
TRADE MARK
INDELIBLE INK

THE ONLY ★ ABSOLUTELY INDELIBLE ★ INK

"THE ETHIOPIAN CAN NOT CHANGE HIS SKIN NOR THE LEOPARD HIS SPOTS."
MARKING DONE WITH this INK is EQUALLY UNCHANGEABLE.

CAN NOT BE REMOVED WITHOUT DESTROYING THE FABRIC.
NO HOT IRON OR SUNLIGHT REQUIRED. CAN BE USED WITH STAMP OR PEN.

RETAIL PRICE, 25c.

—ALSO MANUFACTURERS OF—
Writing and Copying Inks, Sealing Wax, Mucilage, Wafers, Etc.

THADDEUS DAVIDS CO.,
127-129 William Street, NEW YORK CITY
ESTABLISHED 1825.

ma30-6

Remember
The View Job Office
When you want
First-class Job Printing done.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Clerk's office of the City Court of Birmingham, Jefferson county, Ala., in favor of Wm. P. Baird and against The Taylor Manufacturing Co., I will proceed to sell, at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., between the legal hours of sale at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, September 2nd, 1889, the following described real estate, levied upon as the property of the said Taylor Manufacturing Co., to-wit: The n w ¼ of n e ¼ of Section 2, and n ½ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of n w ¼ of Section 11, all in Township 21, Range 15, and lying and being in Chilton county, Ala.

LEE HAYES,
Sheriff Chilton County.

aug1st

Barber Shop.

Mr. H. A. [illegible], who has his barber shop in the Farmer's Alliance Building, solicits the patronage of the good people of Clanton. He does good work and is well fitted up for the business.

The Lawson Carpet C

Birmingham, Ala.

Take pleasure in directing the attention
the people of Chilton county to their lar
and attractive stock of

Carpets, Oil-cloths, Window Shades,

Curtains & Household Novelti

The Stock represented is the finest in Alabama, and prices are guaran low as similar goods are offered in any of the eastern markets.

☞ All communications answered by return mail. Respectfully, ma30-y THE LAWSON CARPET CO. (WM. LAW

BAINS & PORTER.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & PEEBLES.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt
tention.

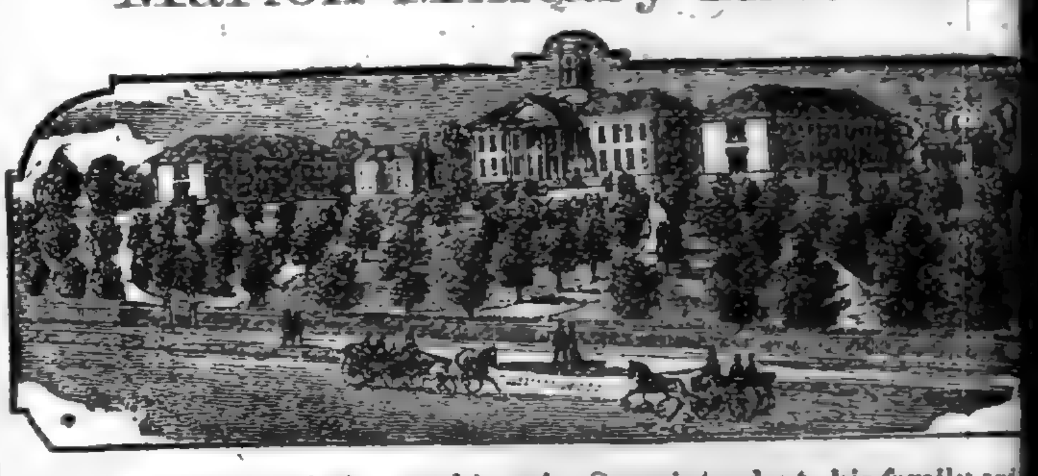
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIAL

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS
Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chas Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 1

Marion Military Institute



Superior accommodations and board. Superintendent, his family and live in buildings with cadets. Specially suited to boys who need famil care, to young men who need business education, and to all who wish and thorough training. Terms moderate. J. T. MURFEE, Su Marion, Ala

THOMAS FOSHEE

(SUCCESSOR TO N. W. FOSHEE.)

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries

—AND—

GENERAL MERCHANDIS

Maplesville, Alabama.

I solicit a continuance of the liberal patronage her extended our house. Respectfully,
feb 28-y THOMAS FOSH

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, A

—HAS OPENED—

THE MERCHANT TAILOR ROOMS

With a Large Stock of New Goods. Scouring and done.

No. 7, North Court Street.

WALL PAPER

WINDOW SHAD

MOULDIN

—AND—

PRACTICAL PAPER

H. M. MANCHA,
204 DEXTER AVENUE, MONTGOMERY, ALABAM

☞ Papers furnished at any price from 10 cents up.
samples on application.

BIRMINGHAM MARBLE WORK
THOS. H. HOLT,
PRACTICAL WORKMA

—AND DEALER IN—

American and Italian Mar

—Manufacturer of all kinds of—

CEMETERY MARBLE AND STONE

Cor. Second Avenue and Twenty-Fourth Street,

Birmingham, Ala

Carpet C
n, Ala.
ng the attention
unty to their larg
stock of
Window Shades,
hold Noveltie
intings, and prices are guarant eastern markets.
m mail. Respectfully, CARPET CO. (WM. LAW

PORTER.
& PEEBLES.)
RUGGISTS. ill Receive Prompt
ORS A SPECIAL
N 19th and 20th STREETS
m, Ala.
at Company's Prices.
June 10

y Institute.

perintendent, his family and to boys who need family and to all who wish p
J. T. MURFEE, Sup
Marion, Ala

FOSHEE,
W. FOSHEE.)
Groceries
RCHANDIS
Alabama. liberal patronage here
ectfully,
THOMAS FOSHE

OM,
ontgomery, A
TAILOR ROOMS.
Goods. Scouring and Court Street.

PAPER WINDOW SHAD
MOULDING
—AND—PRACTICAL PAPER H
ANCHA,
ONTGOMERY, ALABAMA
rice from 10 cents up.

MARBLE WORKS
. HOLT,
WORKMA
EALER IN—Italian Marb
of all kinds of—
AND STONE W
and Twenty-Fourth Street,
Ala

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., AUG. 15, 1889.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the second Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—On the eleventh Monday after the fourth Monday in February, and on the thirteenth Monday after the fourth Monday in August, and may continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 Express at	5:55 a. m.
No. 3 Mail	5:37 p. m.
No. 5 (Passenger)	6:17 p. m.
No. 9 Accommodation	7:06 a. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2 Fast (Don't Stop)	2:20 a. m.
No. 6 Mail	9:16 a. m.
No. 4 Express	7:55 p. m.
No. 10 Accommodation	7:22 p. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

The county board of revenue met Monday.

Mr. W. H. Marcus, of Jumbo, was in town Monday.

Mr. M. A. Watts reports caterpillars in his cotton.

Mr. S. J. Heath, of Jemison, visited Clanton Monday.

Mrs. H. J. Callen is visiting relatives in Selma.

Mr. J. P. Allen, of Jemison, spent Monday in Clanton.

Mr. Willie Pou, and family, returned home last Tuesday.

Mr. Will Mullins, of Kincheon, was in town last week on business

Our kind friend, Mr. J. F. Maull, of Strasburg, was in town last Friday.

Miss Dedie Maull, of Strasburg, spent Sunday with friends in Clanton.

Mr. Moore, of Clear Creek, spent several days with friends in Clanton.

Mr. L. B. Cast, of this place, went to Birmingham last Monday on business.

Mrs. Dr. Johnson, of this place, visited relatives in Verbena the past week.

Mrs. J. B. Boykin, and Mrs. Wallace Glover visited friends in Clanton Sunday.

You will often find the first and fourth pages of the paper replete with interesting reading matter.

Mr. Geo. D. Whitson, of Fort Deposit, is spending some time in our town on business and pleasure bent.

Mrs. McCou and daughter, of Montgomery, are spending some time in our town the guests of Mrs. Hannon.

Mr. C. R. Bruce brings the VIEW the first open bolls of cotton. Mr. B. means to lead in other things than watermelons.

Capt. Miles Collier who has been visiting relatives here left for Troy Tuesday on a visit to his brother at that place.

Mr. Burnette Hurst, of Birmingham, stopped over in Clanton a short while last week on his way to Lowndes county.

WANTED:—An energetic man to represent us in Clanton as Sales Agent.

WANAMAKER & BROWN,
Philadelphia.

The largest Clothing and Merchant Tailoring House in America.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson, of Fort Worth, Texas, visited her sister, Mrs. W. H. Lawrence, in Clanton last week, and left Thursday evening to visit her old home in Montgomery.

New Goods.

W. L. Sampey has been receiving some very nice goods lately and the prices are very reasonable Shoes are crowded and need to be sold to get them out of the way. Some nice saddles are priced at very low figures. A few suits of Spring clothing will be sold at cost to make them go. Lots of little things have been added to the stock.

Clanton, Aug. 14, 1889.

Mrs. Prescott, of Montgomery, visited her sister, Mrs. Dr. Sam Johnson, in Clanton, Tuesday.

Remember that the VIEW job office has the newest and best job printing outfit in central Alabama.

Mr. E. W. Chapman, of Jemison, has moved to Shelby Iron Works. We wish him success in his new home.

Three open bolls of cotton gathered from one stalk in the Sheepskin Branch neighborhood, were sent in by Mr. S. A. Blasingame on Monday.

Mrs. and Miss Jennie Chilton, who have been spending the summer in traveling returned home last Tuesday, much to the delight of their numerous warm friends.

Mr. Jno. C. Lawrence, editor of the West Alabama Breeze at Northport, visited Clanton the past week. He is in good spirits over the encouraging prospects in his part of the State.

We desire all the citizens of Clanton to meet us at the Academy Monday morning to receive your guests during the Institute. It is very important that you should.

A. J. SCOTT.

The board of revenue advertise for bids to take care of the county paupers. The annual expense for paupers has heretofore been about $1,200 to the county and the board hope to cut this expense down some by putting them out to the care of the lowest bidder.

WEST CHILTON.

Barbecue at Clanton Ford—The M. T. & M. Railroad.

A party from Clanton composed of Clerk W. H. Foshee, Durwood Foshee, Tom Thornton, Tom Gullahorn, G. C. Hanks and a VIEW man took in the barbecue at Clanton Ford, on Saturday. Sheriff Hayes and family were also along from Clanton to look after the crowd and keep the boys straight.

On the way out we stopped at the residence of ex-Tax Collector, D. A. White. We found that Mr. White grows the best fruit and makes as good apple cider as any deep-water Baptist with whom it has been our good fortune to stop. Further on we reached the cosy and comfortable home of Mr. W. H. Brown, where we met Mrs. Brown and some of her boys. Mrs. B. is the mother of Circuit Clerk Foshee, and it was in this neighborhood that that worthy gentleman spent his boyhood days, like Cincinnatus of old, behind the plow.

Before twelve o'clock the crowd gathered three or four hundred strong. Clanton Ford is a very pleasant location on a branch of Mulberry creek, and also on the Gregory & Coe tram road. The location is within two hundred yards of the proposed line of the Montgomery, Tuskaloosa and Memphis railroad, now under construction.

The barbecue passed off pleasantly and without incident, being preceded by a speech from the editor of the Alabama Sentinel, the State organ of the Knights of Labor. We did not hear the speech, but afterwards heard criticisms passed upon it by Democrats who were present and listened to it. One characterizing the orator as a gimlet-head from Yankeedom; and another, speaking of his denunciations of the Democratic and Republican parties, thought the speaker knew "as much about Democracy as a pig knows about geometry." The Democratic party is the laboring man's party, and is the only party through which the laboring man in Alabama can expect any assistance, as it is the party that will have the making of all the laws in its hands for some time to come, and antagonism to it by the laboring man will result to his injury rather than to his good. The Democratic party is the party of the common people or the people collectively as distinguished from the Republican party, which is the party of monopoly, cod-fish aristocracy and general cussedness. The orator would do well to take down his little dictionary and hunt up the definition of the word Democracy before he again attempts to "go it blind" to an intelligent audience.

The address, we understand, was an attempt to arouse the passions and prejudices of his hearers. Instead of a discussion of the principles and purposes of the Knights of Labor, it was a denunciation of the Democratic and Republican parties, especially the Democratic party. The majority of those to whom he spoke we believe to be possessed of too much intelligence for him to have made any impression other than that he was either very ignorant, or wilfully made misstatements.

